LAST week marked the close of the second year of the Vitagraph V-L-S-E organization. Reports of gains during the last eight months were made that it is claimed set a new record.

These claims are regarded as significant, when it is considered that since the absorption of V-L-S-E by Vitagraph, the product of that distributing company has been materially reduced in footage.

In other words, the company claims it has gone ahead substantially despite the fact that it is releasing approximately fifty per cent. fewer features than it did this time last year. Then its product amounted to an average of two features released a week, while at the present time it is putting out but a single five-reel picture weekly.

Walter W. Irwin, general manager of Vitagraph V-L-S-E, had this to say in accounting for the reported progress:

"There are a number of factors responsible, but I think they may all be summed up into the one prime factor, namely, the efficiency, service and merit which are made possible through the control of the distributing agency by a single manufacturer."

"The success which V-L-S-E has attained as the selling department of Vitagraph shows that the moving picture industry has grown too big and the standards of the screen advanced too far for a producer to work in combination with other independent producers in the distribution of his product.

"The carefyl scrutiny is extended to every Vitagraph picture weeks before it is put out for release, and has been the means of materially strengthening the product."

"Many innovations also have been made in our sales and advertising service, which the complexities of a multi-controlled selling organization make impossible. In other words, we have been free to shape our course to the best advantage of all concerned, and to form and concentrate the energies which were formerly divided in advancing the interests of four companies upon promoting the maximum results for the patrons of one organization—an organization controlling its entire service from script to screen."

"We approach our third year, therefore, with the utmost assurance that it will be one of even greater progress for our exhibitors and for ourselves, and we look forward to that further expansion of service and strengthening of our product, through additional innovations which have been in process of preparation, that will insure Vitagraph exhibitors to Vitagraph-V. L. S. E. permanently at the crest of the wave of even greater prosperity."

Plaque of Alice Brady a "Maternity" Souvenir

An artistic plaque of Alice Brady, in the central role of "Maternity," a new photoplay, with birth-fear as its psychological background, has been issued as a souvenir by World-Pictures Brady-Made. The plaque was made by Miss Renee Prharah, an American sculptress, who has specialized for a number of years abroad in what are known as bust portraits, very widely affected by members of the British aristocracy.

The "Maternity" photoplay contains as one of its spectacular features the burning of a huge hospital from which the heroine rescues the child of a woman of whom she is jealous.

Author of "Loot" to Write Story for Houdini

Arthur Somers Roche, widely read author is to apply his talent on mystery story writing to construction of a script for Houdini, the escape artist who has been signed by William Goetz Brothers to appear in a drama with an under-sea flavor.

Three Cahill Comedies

Marie Cahill is to appear in three comedies, each two reels in length, for the Mutual Corporation. The title and release dates are: "Chevy's Day Dream," April 30; "When Betty Bets," May 14, and "Patsy's Partner," May 28.

French Theatre Actress Debuts in "The Recoil"

In the Gold Rooster play, to be released by Pathé on May 13, "The Recoil," an Astra production, William Courtenay is featured, and Lillian Greuze, the French theatre star, makes her screen debut.

"The Recoil" is a typically modern play and tells the story of a girl who, against her inclinations, is married to a coarse grained and brutal man of wealth, who utterly underestimates her and against whom she has to turn in self-defense. She is saved from the consequences by her former fiance, played by William Courtenay, and by her brother.

No More Release Dates on Selznick Pictures

In future there will be no release dates on Selznick Pictures. When a Selznick picture is finished it will go immediately to the company's branches and be placed on the open market, and the exhibitor can get it whenever he wishes to. In announcing this departure, Lewis J. Selznick said:

"To set a certain date for the release of a picture all over the country is to say that conditions are the same everywhere at the same time. This is ridiculous. A declaration of war, a local reform wave, a political campaign, a great disaster, a State going dry or adopting woman suffrage—any one of these things and hundreds of others can make it advisable to postpone a feature in a certain territory from the date set by the manufacturer."

"This decision to abandon release dates is in line with the policy I have established of meeting the wishes of the exhibitor whenever possible."
The Subjects Your Patrons are Demanding

Stamped with the success brand of BLUEBIRD—the four patriotic pictures here described are the last word in that brand of military picture which the public is demanding today. Each is a masterpiece of its kind. "The Eagle's Wings" is as far ahead of the average jingo, sham battle and studio "war" picture as it is possible to imagine. It received the heartiest endorsement of the highest officials in Washington, D.C. when shown them at a private view. It has received through their National President from 1500 Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a pledge to give it their strongest support wherever shown. Here is a ready made opportunity for you—and strong local co-operation. Write your BLUEBIRD Exchange for particulars.

"The Bugler of Algiers" is one of the most notable pictures ever filmed, regardless of subject. It is from that intensely absorbing story by Robert H. Davis and Perley Poore Sheehan, called "We Are French." It reaches the greatest heights of heroic patriotism, and will thrill and sway any audience that ever attended a theatre. Book this and you will want to play a return date.

"Behind the Lines" featuring Harry Carey and Edith Johnson, is a timely picture of Mexican intrigue, love, adventure and of actual conditions along the Mexican Border. It is thrilling; abounds in the truest atmosphere, faithful in every detail; it will make a hit in any community. It will go over big. Splendid paper and heralds on all these productions to help you put them over.

"Treason" is a tremendous picture that for real heart interest; for tense scenes that will thrill the emotions to their depths; for convincing and faithful pictures of modern warfare—will perhaps never be surpassed. Featuring that brilliant young BLUEBIRD star Allen Holubar; beautiful Lois Wilson and stalwart Joe Girard, it presents a story that will get the sympathy of the audience at the very start and hold it to the finish. A true lesson in patriotism and a brilliantly executed production throughout.

Now is the time for you to get in touch with your nearest BLUEBIRD Exchange and get the full particulars regarding these big box-office attractions. NOW—before your competitor beats you to them. With these booked in advance you can get all kinds of co-operation from local military and patriotic organizations, Boy Scouts, etc. Get busy now with your local Bluebird Exchange or BLUEBIRD Photoplays, Inc.

1600 Broadway, New York

Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
Psychic Fakes Exposed by Bray-Pictograph

Under the title “Unmasking the Mediums.” The Bray Studios, Inc., announce an interesting series of releases as part of their screen magazine, Paramount-Bray Pictographs.

Hereward Carrington, the American authority on psychic research, a man who has spent a lifetime in the study of the science, will co-operate with the Bray Studios in this work, and many of the tricks that have fooled eminent scientists will be disclosed.

Mr. Carrington has been able to prove that more than ninety-eight per cent. of all so-called phenomena are fake, pure and simple, and that the remaining two per cent. are in no wise of spiritual origin, but are merely due to an as yet unexplained power on the part of the possessor which permits of accomplishing the somewhat startling effects which follow the bringing into play of such powers.

In the sixty-fifth release of Paramount-Bray Pictographs, lace-making, the most remarkable of all peasant arts, also is shown. This art flourished, at least before the war, to the highest degree in Flanders, and the lace made in that picturesque country has always commanded the highest prices because of its wondrous beauty. The picture was made possible, only because some of these women, driven from their homes by the invading German armies, came to America to find peace and harmony, where, undisturbed they could pursue the work they loved.

The results obtained through proper training of the bodies of youthful Americans during their school days as well as the carrying out of the methods employed, is also embodied in this issue of Bray-Pictograph.

The Bray Studios have diverged somewhat from their regular cartoon subjects in order to help exhibitors do their “bit” in this national crisis. The cartoon in this release is political and touches on the submarine question, the point that brought the United States into the war.

Two Selig Releases

The latest releases to be announced by the Selig Company in General Film Service include “A Social Climber” and “Rescuing Uncle.” “A Social Climber,” according to the Selig Company is a noteworthy drama conveying the lesson that the love of a good man is worth more than a title of nobility. “Rescuing Uncle” is another of the Selig Comedy series, and is said to be replete with laughter.

Warwick Company in South

With Elaine Hammerstein, his leading woman, and a cast of twenty-five players, Robert Warwick is in Richmond filming exteriors for “A Modern Othello.” A stay of at least a week will be made, with most of the scenes taken at Billings’ Currie’s Neck estate, about ten miles below Richmond. The production is being Special Release of Metro's Big Ethel Barrymore Feature

Metro is to specially release the first of its seven-part pictures, "The Call of Her People," in which Ethel Barrymore stars, on April 30.

Adapted from Edward Sheldon's play, "Egypt," by June Mathis, this feature has been elaborately made under the direction of John W. Noble.

Miss Barrymore is seen throughout the photodrama as a gypsy girl, Egypt. First she is shown living the life of her tribe, a true child of the caravan and the open road, in love with the son of the gypsy chief. Then she is sent to live among conventional people in a great mansion, and the star has an opportunity to depict the struggle of the gypsy girl's untamed nature against the superficial restraints and restrictions of civilization. The part is said to give Miss Barrymore scope for the emotional powers which have placed her at the top of her profession.

Robert Whittier, William B. Davidson, William Manderville, Frank Montgomery, Hugh Jeffrey, Mrs. Allan Walker and Helen Arnold are seen in the cast.

Four French Films Follow "Mothers of France"

World-Brady Secures Series of Pictures Made by Mercanton with Almost Same Casts as "Mothers"—On Interchange Plan

World Pictures Brady-Made is in possession of four more French photoplays produced by Louis Mercanton, director of "Mothers of France," in which Sarah Bernhardt had the leading role. The same cast, with the exception of the famous actress, as was in the first picture enact the principal roles of the new productions. Albert Signer is the male lead, and Susan Grandaisc and Regina Badet in the starring feminine roles. Both of these actresses will shortly come to America to act for World Pictures under the direction of William A. Brady.

This latter move is part of the interchange plan by which several of the World stars will be sent to Europe at the close of the war to make pictures there under the direction of Mr. Mercanton. The two French actresses are regarded as the foremost screen actresses in the old world. Mile. Grandaisc is known under the nom-deplume of "the sweetest girl in Europe," and Mile. Badet is termed "the vampire of France."

The quartette of picture plays, which probably would be distributed as separate "specials" in other circumstances, will be issued under the title Brady-International Service—World Pictures, observing conditions similar to those which governed the Clara Kimball Young Service and also Mme. Sarah Bernhardt in "Mothers of France."

"We went into this undertaking," said Director General William A. Brady, "primarily for the reason that it afforded an opportunity to perform a very valuable service for American exhibitors, particularly the great and increasing number of these who show World-Pictures. We have always insisted that the program was the spine of the motion picture industry, and we are clinching our frequently demonstrated proof by placing upon our program all of these important productions, each one of which could have been sold as a special at a very large profit had we so desired."

Modern Romance Subject Next for Frederick Warde

Frederick Warde is announced by Pathe as the star of "Hinton's Double," the Gold Rooster play, to be released May 6. For the first time Mr. Warde leaves classic productions and becomes the central figure of a modern romance.

"Hinton's Double" was written by Lloyd Lenergan, creator of "The Million-Dollar Mystery," and author of a number of successful Gold Rooster plays from the Thanhouser Studios.

"Hinton's Double" is a story based upon mistaken identity, and the law in which Mr. Warde has to assume practically three different characterizations. First he is Joshua Stevens, a tender-hearted old clerk; secondly, J. Evart Hinton, a get-rich-quick Wall Street operator; and, thirdly, when he as Hinton is trying to escape the police, he so perfectly disguises himself as to be a different person entirely.

Frederick Warde is announced by Pathe as the star of "Hinton's Double," the Gold Rooster play, to be released May 6. For the first time Mr. Warde leaves classic productions and becomes the central figure of a modern romance.

"Hinton's Double" was written by Lloyd Lenergan, creator of "The Million-Dollar Mystery," and author of a number of successful Gold Rooster plays from the Thanhouser Studios.

"Hinton's Double" is a story based upon mistaken identity, and the law in which Mr. Warde has to assume practically three different characterizations. First he is Joshua Stevens, a tender-hearted old clerk; secondly, J. Evart Hinton, a get-rich-quick Wall Street operator; and, thirdly, when he as Hinton is trying to escape the police, he so perfectly disguises himself as to be a different person entirely.

Duo of Fox Stars Presented on Program Week of April 30

Farnum and Pearson grace the Fox bill for the week of April 30 in two multi-part productions. "American Methods" is the male star's vehicle, his third super de luxe production of the year.

Frank Lloyd directed the production which is based on the book by George Ohnet, published under title of "The Ironmaster." Jewel Carmen will again appear opposite Mr. Farnum, and is said to give an exceptional performance in her role. The supporting cast includes Bertram Grassby, Willard Louis, Alan Forrest, Josef Swickard, Lilian West, Genevieve Blinn, Florence Vidor and Marc Robbins.

The story portrays a great-hearted man's struggle for the right and his ultimate triumph through use of "American Methods." Virginia Pearson appears in "Royal Romance," which is described as an operetta of the screen, a romance of an emperor and princess wooing each inco. To get proper atmosphere for the picture, Director James Vincent had his cast spend several weeks in Tampa, Fla., and the mountains about Hendersonville, N. C.

Irving Cummings, Boyce Coombe, Nora Cecil, Nellie Slattery, Alex K. Shannon, Emil de Varny and Charles Craig are chief among the players. The scenario was written by Adrian Johnson.
WITH the formation of the Ziegfeld Cinema Corporation, the name of one of the theatre's most prominent men becomes identified with the picture producing field.

Known almost to every theatre-goer who has an eye for the beautiful in face, figure and raiment, the name of Ziegfeld is now to exert an influence in behalf of a visualization of beauty on the screen — and there is no limit to the promise made for establishment of a standard of pulchritude and righteousness.

Far-sighted business men of national reputation have combined to form the Ziegfeld Cinema Corporation, which has just been incorporated under the laws of Delaware with a capitalization of $3,000,000.

Valuable options have been obtained on real estate in Florida and South America, in either or both of which localities the concern will operate as soon as a contemplated cinema colony, to be known as Ziegfeld City, has taken material shape.

Plans to this end are now being formulated, and it is anticipated that shortly there will be a Ziegfeld City, with all its studios, laboratories, hotel, clubhouse, homes and shops going full blast.

"The Curse of Eve" Will Be Shown to Trade Soon

ADVICES received this week from the Coronet Cinema Company are to the effect that its massive multiple-reel production, "The Curse of Eve," rapidly is nearing completion and shortly will be presented in New York City for the general inspection of the trade. The film, it is stated, now is in the hands of the cutters, who promise to have the completed subject ready by the end of the month, and all claim it to be a masterpiece.

Because of its theme, "The Curse of Eve" has occasioned more discussion in film circles of late, than has any other feature since "The Clansman." It was written by Wycliffe A. Hill, and drives home with sledge-hammer blows a mighty protest against the double standard of morals. Given a most elaborate production by President F. E. Keeler, under the direction of Frank Beal, the play, it is predicted, will cause a sensation, at its forthcoming showing, which is being scheduled to ensure an early release.

Already the company has been swamped with inquiries concerning the picture's premiere, and bids for territorial rights, for the conduct of which business additional offices have been reserved in the Baker-Detwiler Building, of Los Angeles. At what New York playhouse the subject will be given its maiden performance is yet to be determined, but President Keeler is now conducting negotiations for the use, it is said, of one of the best theatres in the metropolis.

The cast in "The Curse of Eve" consists of some of the best-known and best-liked players in the west coast colony. It is headed by Enid Markey, for several years an Ince star, and includes in other principal roles, Jack Standing, Ed. Coxen, Marian Warner, Clarissa Selwyn, Eugenie Besserer, W. Quinn and Arthur Allardt.

Stellar Anniversary Bill

Three pictures "The Pride of Clan" with Mary Pickford; "Broadway Jones" with George M. Cohan and "The Girl Philippa" with Anita Stewart are on the tenth anniversary bill of the B. F. Keith interests at the Imperial theatre, St. John, N. B., the weeks of April 23 and 30.

Latest Pickford Film May Set High Popularity Mark

Advance indications are that the newest Arctraft Picture of Mary Pickford, "A Romance of the Redwoods," will attain ever a more far-reaching popularity than "A Poor Little Rich Girl," which established the star's name. Miss Bennett, the lately-discovered star of the Ince-Triangle forces, will make her next appearance on the screen when she is presented by Thomas H. Ince in a new Triangle-Kay Bee comedy-drama by C. Gardner Sullivan, entitled "Happiness." This vehicle constitutes her third performance before the camera since Ince recruited her from the speaking stage several months ago, and it is said to be her supreme achievement. "Happiness," tells about a sad little heiress and a red-blooded collegian, who opened the portals of her palatial prison and smashed the fetters that bound her to unhappiness.

Miss Bennett's support is contributed principally by Charles Gunn, who, as "Robert Lee Hollister," is the other party to the romance. Others in the cast are Thelma Salter, Andrew Arbuckle, Gertrude Claire, Adele Belgarde and Jack Gilbert.

Despite Delays "The Planter" Is Finished

"The Planter," twelve-reel production of the Nevada Motion Picture Corporation, in which Tyrone Power has the lead, will be finished this week after having been delayed by the fire some time ago which destroyed studio, costumes and sets. Strangely enough the final scenes will also be fire scenes.

The film will go into the cutting room the latter part of the week and will be rushed through to completion in order to get to the market the middle of May. The cost of the production is estimated at $250,000.

A Boost to Max

After seeing the first Linder-Essanay picture "Max Comes Across," P. S. MacMahon, of Keeney's theatre, New Britain, Conn., booked up the remaining eleven for six days each. This is said to be but one instance of the hit made by the Linder comedies reported to K-E-S-E.
JUST FOR FUN
By LONGACRE

We have with us this week the likeness of Harvey F. Thew, of the Lasky scenario department. Inasmuch as Harvey's classic features were drawn with agony every week not so long ago when he pounded out witty little paragraphs for this very page, the valuable space has been given over to him. There was no line reading, "having a fine time here, wish you were with us," on the reverse side of the photograph, and he didn't take the trouble to disclose the identity of the member of the opposite sex. However, we hazard a guess that she is Mrs. Harvey F. Thew.

The automobile is, in all probability, Harvey's very own, which goes to prove that the scenario business is lucrative.

A. KRACHT, formerly advertising manager of the Motion Picture Mail, has blossomed forth in a parental manner. The Lasky story department excited Mr. Kracht's interest, and in April, Mrs. Kracht presented him with a baby boy. The infant will be named after his father, and apparently didn't take the trouble to disclose the identity of the member of the opposite sex. However, we hazard a guess that she is Mrs. Harvey F. Thew.

There was something lacking at the Alumni Studio's "The Spring Idyl," one that has not only impressed John Gilbert as in "Sadie Thompson," but his mistress, Mrs. J. Stuart Blackton to become a star, the big Boston bull amply fulfilled the confidence placed in his intelligence, and, unlike many actors, dispensed with temperamental tarts in favor of hard, obedient work. Request your friend in Chicago.

THE sweet young thing was being presented to Bennett Zedman at one of the recent social affairs and made reply thusly:

"Oh yes, Mr. Zedman, I've heard of your father, Douglas Fairbanks' representative." And Bennett only smiled thinking of all those front covers and page spreads he has coming out this month.

REED HEUSTIS claims that Crane Wilbur is the handsomest star of the screen world which ought to go a long way in starting an argument.

GEORGE WALSH received a check for fifty dollars from a woman desiring to obtain his signature. No doubt she is the same woman recently reported as insisting on taking her soup with a fork and chewing it.

It seems rather futile for a pretty ingenue like Agnes Eyre to wear diamonds in her teeth. Of course, her inspiration to say brilliant things, but even so a wedding ring on the fourth toe would be rather inconspicuous.

"Mickey," favorite of picture fans, is dead. His last appearance was in "The Spring Idyl," one of the Paula Blackton series. Ordained by his mistress, Mrs. J. Stuart Blackton to become a star, the big Boston bull amply fulfilled the confidence placed in his intelligence, and, unlike many actors, dispensed with temperamental tarts in favor of hard, obedient work. Request your friend in Chicago.

A question that has been burning us for the last few months, is why motion picture poker hands never contain anything lower than a full house. Some one once won a pot on a pair of deuces.

A forthcoming Vogue release contains one of the best hits of the season, the grand march. It is, indeed, marvellous what some fish can be trained to do.

The automobile is, in all probability, Harvey's very own, which goes to prove that the scenario business is lucrative.

The automobile is, in all probability, Harvey's very own, which goes to prove that the scenario business is lucrative.

Few cameramen or producers seem to realize that there is any art in photographing a scenic. As yet this type of picture is the least developed and standardized of any. Robert Bruce and the photographers of the Comitance pictures going out on the Pathé program appear to be the only ones who have a clear idea of their business. Looking over some of the scenes and travelogues of recent release and some of these were exhibited in the best theaters, one flaw in particular looms up. The "pan-around" was worked to excess and employed when utterly out of place. The horizontal or diagonal movement of the camera was never instituted to show just a plain hill or mountain side or water front or other landscape. The "pan-around" should be employed only when there is something definite to "pan-around" to. But in these scenes it was evidently used just because the photographer knew he could do it. After looking at the remarkably good scenes and then viewing half a dozen old poor ones, this missus of the camera is only too obvious.

A forthcoming Vogue release contains one of the best hits of the season, the grand march. It is, indeed, marvellous what some fish can be trained to do.

Editorial

Few cameramen or producers seem to realize that there is any art in photographing a scenic. As yet this type of picture is the least developed and standardized of any. Robert Bruce and the photographers of the Comitance pictures going out on the Pathé program appear to be the only ones who have a clear idea of their business. Looking over some of the scenes and travelogues of recent release and some of these were exhibited in the best theaters, one flaw in particular looms up. The "pan-around" was worked to excess and employed when utterly out of place. The horizontal or diagonal movement of the camera was never instituted to show just a plain hill or mountain side or water front or other landscape. The "pan-around" should be employed only when there is something definite to "pan-around" to. But in these scenes it was evidently used just because the photographer knew he could do it. After looking at the remarkably good scenes and then viewing half a dozen old poor ones, this missus of the camera is only too obvious.

Local News

Quite a few from here were at the "Wake Up America" parade held in N. Y. City last week.

Frank Carriere was a member of the "Wake Up America" parade held in N. Y. City last week.

Robert Edson was also a member of the parade as were many others.

Leah Baird auctioned off her pictures at the latterly famous "Spring Idyl."

another remarkable thing is recovering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Spring weather seems to have come at last.
Haag Selected Secretary at Reel Fellows Meeting

The Reel Fellows Club held their fortnightly session on Friday, April 13. Included to be a little supertitious with the combination of day and date, there was little new business or plans projected. The main business of the evening was the selecting of a secretary to take the place of Gene Hamburger who resigned. The selection resulted in the naming of Jack Haag, a popular member and manager of the Bandbox theatre to fill the vacancy.

A membership campaign along organized lines was discussed. Just upon the voluntary efforts of the members in the past month more than sixty-five new members have been added to the rolls. This progress resulted in the decision to start an organized membership campaign.

As a "boomer" to this idea, a beefsteak dinner will be served at the next meeting.

Adverse Decisions Set Illy on Funkhauser

Disturbed and chagrined at the untoward— to him—turn of events, Major Funkhauser, local censor "car" threatens retaliation, judging from recent moves.

He is darkly hinting at connivance and undue influence by and upon certain members of his board, is reported to be looking for three scalps, and has Chief of Police Schuettler with him. No charges have yet been preferred, but the major is insistent on a "clean out."

The fly in the ointment, is of course, as picture men point out the recent unfavorable court decisions which have lowered Funkhauser's colors. Until a short time ago what the censor head said, went. Pink and white permits were law. Then came the decision when the Epoch Producing Company appealed one of his "pink permit" edicts, and Judge David ruled in favor of the banned picture. For ... on the first, when J. E. O'Toole of the Fox Company subpoenaed the entire censor board, when Funkhauser had been kept out. He was left to run his house unassisted.

The proposed measure is accounted for as an emergency or "wax tax. Ever since its announcement, Chicago exhibitors have given it wide discussion. Many are protesting against it, and all fear the extra burden and expense it will entail. Aaron Jones of Jones Linick and Schaeffer, owners of a chain of theatres throughout Chicago, said in reference to the proposed tax: "If it comes about it is going to work for all sorts of distress, labor and expense among exhibitors. All other grievances—deposits, licenses, etc., can be forgotten for the time being, when we have a burden like this ahead of us."

Many Darkened Houses Laid to "Daily Change" Program

It was announced on good authority last week that 42 motion picture theatres of the "neighborhood type" are standing dark and marked as failures at present in Chicago. While none of these houses are large and not one with a seating capacity of more than five hundred, the underlying cause of the failure of the majority to produce results and keep going is said to be the "one-day change." Some of them have just been victims of competition, however. One or two cases show the effect of too many houses trying to make it go in a limited neighborhood.

The main portion of them, however, are dark because they insisted upon running the "daily change" program. In a number of cases they had been advised and often appealed to by their clientele, but assured by their own false pride that they knew what they were doing, the managers and owners of these particular houses eventually found themselves up against a "Eliver."

Big Loop Firm Moves

Jones, Linick and Schaeffer announce that they will move into new quarters this week. The new pivot of activities of this bustling firm is to be splendidly appointed offices on the fifth floor of the Rialto theatre building, State and Van Buren.
K. C. Art Dramas Distributor Hot After Business

The Standard Film Corporation, which distributes Art Dramas for Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska, has a snappy way of getting business, said to be fostered by R. C. Cropper, president of the company, who "believes in advertising."

Some choice bit of literature emerges from his offices every week. One of his most effective devices was a brilliant red-bordered letter, which contained in snappy form all the inducements offered to exhibitors in the Art Dramas Program. This struck the eye as soon as the envelope was opened, and pithy, convincing, short sentences led the reader on till the end. Theatres in Chicago, "Only pictures ever contracted for by two first-run downtown houses in Kansas City." "... Loew, Alfred Hamburger and William Fox." "First program to be shown regularly for four days in Omaha, at "Sure-Fire 'Longer Runs' Success" Tom Thumb Exhibitors Come Into Own with V-L-S-E Exchanges SALIENT instructions have been issued to the V-L-S-E salesmen, following revelations made recently during discussion at a meeting of Vitagraph's Advisory Council. "These are to the effect never to pass up a town even though it is hard to find on the map, "Watch the small town exhibitor."

It was revealed during the discussion that some roadmen fixed their schedules by what their predecessors had done in the territory, and according to population of the municipalities. Reports were read of towns of 85 and 86 population, respectively, which had signed contracts for Blue Ribbon features, one of which Mackley, Kansas, had also booked "The Battle Cry of Peace" for two days.

Subsequent investigation showed that the theatre owners of these two towns are progressives from start to finish. They do not consider the towns, proper, as their territory, but they take into consideration the surrounding population. On Vitagraph special Blue Ribbon features they bill and snipe the surrounding country in a radius of ten miles with the respective towns as the hub. For "sniping" purposes they use a long narrow sheet, not more than six inches in width, and usually about five feet in length. These are "sniped" on fence rails, tree limbs, sides of barns and in some cases arrangements have been made with neighborhood farmers to allow the use of their wagon boxes as moving bill boards.

Following the investigation it was decided by Vitagraph V-L-S-E, that there is no such thing in the country as a town "too small to consider, nor an exhibitor too small to receive every possible cooperation from the Greater Vitagraph organization."

Mutual and General Offices in Spokane Closed

The offices of two of the big film companies, long established in Spokane, have been closed. They are the General and the Mutual. The two corporations are now without representatives in Spokane.

Distribution of films for these companies in the Spokane territory will be handled in future from Seattle or San Francisco.

Garner with Consolidated

Leo Garner, former manager for the Sidney B. Lust Pictures, Inc., has resigned to accept a position with the Consolidated Film Corporation, to manage the Bluebird Department, Atlanta branch.

New Canadian Distributing Firm Makes Changes

Prior to his departure from St. John, N. B., to Montreal, George N. Perkins, president of the Perkins Electric Company, and sole owner of the Independent Film and Theatre Supply Company, Limited, holding Canadian rights for the Art Dramas, announced important changes in the local staff.

R. Allan Christie, who has been assistant manager of the St. John office of the Canadian Universal Film Company, Limited, for the past three years has resigned to accept the position of resident manager for the Independent, and S. Starfield, who has been in charge for Mr. Perkins, since the purchase of rights from the Standard Film Service, Limited, is to go on the road as general Canadian representative, covering the entire dominion in the interests of the Art Dramas.

Exchange Organization Talked of in Cleveland

A new Cleveland organization, composed solely of exchange men is under way. While it has neither name nor form, as yet, this much is certain: all members will also be members of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, which body will foster the new organization, and help to overcome some of the serious difficulties which at present are hampering the exchanges.

Quick Move by Mack

W. A. V. Mack, who resigned as sales manager of the Buffalo branch of the General Film, assumed a similar position with the Mutual Film branch at Buffalo on April 16, succeeding G. H. Christoffers, who resigned.
May Have Women on Federal Board in Canada

Amending the proposal of the executive of the Women's Council of Canada, the women of New Brunswick went on record at their last meeting as being in favor of the establishment of a Federal Board of Censorship, to which two women should be added. The resolution as submitted by the national executive urged the women to press upon the theatre owners the necessity of providing suitable pictures such as fairy tales, industrial pictures and wholesome comedies for Saturday afternoon performances, and to add the name of a woman to each provincial board.

The New Brunswick Council after taking the matter up with members of the Maritime Provinces Motion Picture Exhibitors' League, declared in favor of the suggestion.

All Ready in Baltimore for Movie Dance

Final details of the Baltimore Movie Dance, to be held at the Lyric theatre, that city, on April 23, are being completed.

In addition to the stars already secured, including among them Pauline Frederick, Thomas Meighan, Anita Stewart, Edward Earle, Peggy Hyland, Earle Williams, Antonio Moreno, Robert Warwick, Alice Brady, Carlyle Blackwell, Ethel Clayton, Gertrude McCoy and Violet Morsereau, efforts are now being made to secure another stellar light in the film world. The name of this star is being withheld until an acceptance has been received.

Full Advantage Taken in Key West of Sunday Victory

Juan Carbouneil, owner of the Monroe theatre, Key West, Fla., knows how to take advantage of everything that comes his way. In the Sunday issue of the local paper, which publishes a full-page report of the victory for Sunday pictures at the Monroe, is an editorial commending Mr. Carbouneil on celebrating this victory by giving all his first Sunday receipts to a local charity. A full-page display advertisement for the Monroe makes the Morning Journal almost appear as if it were Mr. Carbouneil's theatre house organ.

Conquests Given Pre-Release Showing in Albany

The first public showing up-state of the new Edison-Conquest Films, attracted a capacity audience to Proctor's Ithaca theatre, Albany, last Saturday morning. Mrs. F. W. Clark, executive secretary of the Albany Drama League, arranged with Forum Films, Inc., distributors of Edison Conquest Pictures, for the exhibition, which was held under the auspices of the league, one of the objects of which is the promotion of the "Better Pictures" movement.

Undersea Spectacle Goes Big in Northwest

On the opening day, a Sunday, 8,107 persons saw the picture, although the price of admission was raised for the one attraction to 25 cents.

Cleveland Against War Tax

The Cleveland branch of the Exhibitors' League has fallen into line in protest against the proposed war tax on exhibitors. At a meeting Tuesday, April 17, the danger was freely discussed, and it was decided to offer the wholehearted support to national headquarters in their efforts to suppress legalization of the tax.

A Tribute to Chaplin

Playing next door in opposition to "The Birth of a Nation" at the Opera House, Cleveland, and close by the Stillman theatre, where "Joan the Woman" was running, both pieces at dollar and a half top prices, the Chaplin picture, "Easy Street," ran for an uninterrupted forty days to capacity houses.

Court Favors "Purity"

Opposition to the exhibition of "Purity," the Audrey Munson picture, by Cleveland city officials was broken down last week by court decision in favor of the feature. In spite of the fact that it was passed by the Ohio censors the officials of the Sixth City sued to stop its exhibition.

Leaks in the Loop (Continued from page 2844)

One hundred and seven prints of Charley Chaplin in "The Cure," were let loose in Chicago, Monday, April 16, to tickle the risibilities of the Windy City dwellers. All during the week the electric lighted signs, three sheets and lobby displays of the majority of the Loop houses screamed that Charley was back again. On Monday almost every house in the Loop carried the Chaplin picture.

"Enlighten Thy Daughter" replaced "The Black Stork" at the La Salle last week. "The Black Stork" went into the Bijou Dream and is enjoying as much business as it did in the center of the Loop.

The Albany Park theatre, is having a stage built that will fit it for vaudeville as well as pictures. The vaudeville policy is planned for the near future.

Hazel Daly, the charming "Honey" of "Skinner's Dress Suit" will appear and greet the audiences at all the Chicago theatres, showing "Skinner's Bubble" this week.

The Pastime theatre on Madison street, scored a scoop in patriotism by hanging out a sign: "All soldiers in uniform admitted free." The invitation was well accepted and appreciated it seems.

Abe Tague is the new manager of the Strand at 3031 Lincoln avenue.

Louis Samish, manager of the Amusit theatre at Cleveland, Iowa, has installed a Bartola in his house.

Jones, Linick and Schaefter, it is announced, have arranged with Comstock and Gest of New York, to run a regular brand of musical comedies in the La Salle theatre after July 1. The popularity of Nora Bayes and her company, there a few weeks ago, brought this decision, it is said. Until that time the La Salle will be the starting place of all the Jones, Linick and Schaefter feature pictures.

The E. S. Film Service, of which E. Schwartz is manager and which is now located in the Mallers building, will move to the fourth floor of the Schiller building.

"Joan the Woman," opened at the English theatre, Ind., this week. "Joel Holmes of the Jones, Linick and Schaefter Company paved the way for it.

The "all night" motion picture houses in the Loop have been doing a better business than ever, since the declaration of war. Soldiers and sailors abroad on the streets are paying them regular visits.

The Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company has completed a new movie production to be used by a well-known vaudeville headliner. It is stated to be a novelty set for the big time vaudeville houses, and is distributed as "Maude of the Movies." E. H. Hibben, director of the Rothacker Company, produced and originated this screen augmentation.
IN THE STATE RIGHTS FIELD

Paralta Entertains Southern State Rights Men

Carl Anderson, president of Paralta Plays, Inc., and General manager Nat Brown will meet several prominent Southern and Western state rights men at the offices of the Paralta corporation in the Godfrey Building on Thursday, April 26, to discuss the application of the Paralta Plan to territories in which they are interested.

A meeting was held in the offices of the Paralta corporation Thursday, April 19, at which several local exhibitors were present. The Paralta Plan was outlined to them in full detail by Mr. Anderson. He showed them how the entire business was being bled by waste and extravagance in production and distribution, and how this burden is ultimately placed on the shoulders of the exhibitor.

Ginsburg Leaves Mutt and Jeff to Head New Exchange

Henry Ginsburg, who for the past nine months has been head of the sales department of the Mutt and Jeff Film Company, under Harry Grossman has resigned from that concern, to enter upon a new enterprise. With other film men he is now laying plans for the formation of a Greater New York exchange to be known as the Short Features Exchange. Mr. Ginsburg and his associates believe that the full value of the short comedy and the cartoon is seldom if ever realized when handled by a house doing its biggest business on five-reel pictures.

Mr. Ginsburg asserts that the line of pictures he will handle in the Short Features Exchange will be identical in every respect save as to length of feature character.

Hiller and Wilk Move

Hiller and Wilk, Inc., finding that the state rights field is beginning to crowd their present quarters, have decided to move across the hall in the Longacre building, and occupy the offices formerly used by the New York Motion Pictures Corporation.

The change was necessary due to the rapidity with which the business of the young concern has expanded. Hiller and Wilk are now handling "The Whirl," "A Morning Maid," "The Battle of Gettysburg," "The Wrath of the Gods," and King Bee Comedies.

King Bee Comedies Selling

The King Bee Comedies, according to the firm of Hiller and Wilk, which is conducting their sale, have been met with enthusiasm by state rights buyers. Only semi-private showings have been given.

Arvid E. Gillstrom, director of production, was formerly with Keystone. With Billy West in the cast are Ethel Burton and Bebe Hardy.

Sheehan Tests New Booking Method for Fox

New York and New Jersey Rights to "The Honor System" to Be Sold Direct Before State Rights Plan Is Definitely Accepted

WILLIAM FOX, while offering "The Honor System" on a state rights basis, is booking it direct in the city and state of New York and in New Jersey. The booking offices are in charge of Carey Wilson at No. 128 West Forty-sixth street. Winfield Sheehan, general manager of the corporation, is handling the state rights end of the business which the New York and New Jersey test is being conducted. He is said to have already received offers aggregating $400,000, and has sold two territories at record prices.

The demand for dates for "The Honor System" is said to be as strong throughout the states of New York and New Jersey as it is in the great metropolitan district. It is estimated that not less than 250,000 persons have seen "The Honor System" since it opened at the Lyric theatre, early in February. So great has been its success that it has enabled William Fox to accomplish the feat of occupying a first-class Broadway theatre for an entire theatrical season with two spectacular films of his own production. These two pictures were "The Honor System" and "A Daughter of the Gods." The Fox regime at the Lyric began early in October, 1916, with "A Daughter of the Gods" and ran continuously until it was succeeded by R. A. Walsh's "The Honor System."

New York Critics Unite in Praise of "Deemster"

New York and New Jersey Rights to "The Honor System" to Be Sold Direct Before State Rights Plan Is Definitely Accepted

The success of Hall Caine's "The Deemster," at the Broadway theatre, gave a decided impetus to state rights sales at the Arrow Film Corporation's office. Buyers visiting in the city read the daily paper criticisms and recognized the interest created by Hall Caine's first "best seller" in picture form.

Hereewith is presented a resume of the reviews:

"One of the most absorbing and powerful photodramas ever seen."—N. Y. American.

"All of the stirring situations are utilized. . . . The screen play becomes a real thriller."—N. Y. Evening Mail.

"There was capital movie material in "The Deemster" with the rush of its story and its abundance of picturesque incident, and the director has not overlooked it. A more thrilling scene than the struggle on a high cliff could scarcely be devised."—N. Y. Times.

"Gained in absorbing interest as the play progressed."—N. Y. Herald.

"The characters are so well chosen that they might have stepped out of the book . . . Nothing more impressive has been seen on the screen. The Deemster's daughter, his fight with her brother, his trial for murder, his strange penance . . . There is a fire at sea, a shipwreck and other vivid incidents to add thrills to the picture."—N. Y. World.

The director has failed in no point to bring about the necessary love scenes, fight scenes and heart-breaking thrills that pictures must have to please the public."—N. Y. Evening Journal.

"There are many impressive moments in the production and these are presented with great skill."—N. Y. Morning Telegraph.

"Absorbing in interest."—N. Y. Evening Telegram.
Ince Productions Sell Several Territories

THAT the independent market is in a healthier state than ever before, is claimed by the Ince Productions, Inc., the new organization headed by Ralph and John Ince, which closed most of the Middle Western territory and disposed of the rights to their productions in the Dominion of Canada last week.

Metro Pictures Service of Pittsburgh, secured Ince Productions for Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana, and will control for a period of two years the twelve seven and eight-act features to be made in the two yearly period by the Ince concern.

J. S. Skirboll of Pittsburgh, representing the Clarke interests, and Harry Reichenbach of the Ince concern, consummated the deal in a period covering twenty minutes of actual conference.

For the Dominion of Canada, Peter F. Griffin of the Griffin Amusement Corporation, with headquarters at Toronto, Montreal and the West Coast, secured the Canadian rights. Mr. Griffin controls three highly successful exchanges in Canada, and personally operates sixteen important theatres throughout the Dominion.

The Ince Productions, Inc., will begin active production work April 28, and it is now contemplated that the first release will occur June 10.

Ralph Ince, now at work on a production of "Today" with Florence Reed in the leading role, will begin his work May 1, in the interest of his own organization. Ralph is the second son of the Ince trio, and was the first of the family to take up motion picture directing. He began over eight years ago and during the time he has been actively engaged turned out several hundred multiple reel affairs. His "A Million Bid" was the first big special production to reach the market bearing the Ince name, and his most recent feature, "The Argyle Case" is by far his best.

The entire country will be closed for the output of Ince Productions before next Monday. The most important buyers in the country have wired for reservations and secured options, and according to Mr. Ince, the demands cover twice the supply.

Middle-West Firm Changes Name

The concern, formerly known as the Missouri Valley Film Company, with headquarters at Lincoln, Nebraska, is henceforth to be titled the High-Art Feature Company.

Offices will remain the same and under the same management. The territory covered by the High-Art concern is Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, and only high-class features are handled.

Detroit Firm Opens Office

The Consolidated Features has opened for business at 97 Woodward avenue, Detroit. Messrs. Cleever and Sturgis are the proprietors. Among the pictures they are offering to Michigan exhibitors is "War's Women."

"Christus," Big Cines Picture, Presented Here

The latest production of the Cines Company, of Rome, "Christus," a picture which is said to have met success on the other side of the ocean, will be given its first American presentation at the Criterion theatre, New York, April 30.

Historic Features, Inc., will handle the subject.

More than 1,000 performances of "Christus" have been given in Paris, Rome and Madrid, and it is still running. The product of the Italian writer, Fausto Salvatori, the story deals with the life of Christ, and for the production, Count Giulio Antamoro, one of the best known European directors, and a company of Cines players journeyed to Egypt and the Holy Land for actual locations.

Many months were spent in filming historic occurrences from Bethlehem to Golgotha. One scene showing the baptism of Jesus, by John, was enacted in the waters of the river Jordan. The late Lord Kitchener provided several thousand men and camels for big desert scenes.

A musical setting has been prepared for the American presentation and will be rendered by orchestra and organ under direction of Edwin Franko Goldman.

"Price of Her Soul" Scenario

LOUIS ROSENBLUH, head of the Variety Film Corporation announced this week, his intentions of devoting attention sole of the future to the production of special features, the first of which is now being exploited on a state rights basis under the title of "The Price of Her Soul."

Twenty-four prominent independent state rights distributors were queried with complete copies of the play in its synopsis form and requests made for suggestions to what would make the story more attractive as a special feature.

Twenty-one of the buyers made radical suggestions and eighteen suggested a happy ending. Originally, as submitted by Reed Amended by State Rights Men Heustis the author, the man and woman who are thrown together through the man's spirit of vengeance, were not happily married and when the majority, or in fact when ninety-two per cent. of the buyers demanded a happy ending, the point was conceded and the story rewritten.

The other changes were made at other buyers suggestions, and four months taken in actual production. Of thirty important buyers, who have seen the picture, only two have dissented in their opinion of the ending.

Mr. Rosenbluh will announce the buyers in forthcoming display announcements in Motion Picture News.
Prominent Persons at "Deemster" Opening

"The Deemster," the Arrow Film Corporation's feature, based on Hall Caine's novel, opened at the Broadway theatre, New York, Sunday, April 15. Among those present were Baron and Baroness de Meyer, Geraldine Farrar, Miss Anne Morgan, Miss Elsie De Wolfe, Mrs. Lewis J. Selznick and party, Ruth Crosby Dimmick, Miss Emma Steiner, Miss Margaret I. Macdonald, Miss Elizabeth Marbury, Nell Brinkley, Ada Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Phillips Dodge, Mr. Lee Shubert, Congressman Jos. L. Rhinock, Julia Dean, Mark M. Dittenhous, Bartley Guthing, Joe Brandt, F. F. Proctor, Jules V. Bruletou, Britton Bush, Mrs. Paul Armstrong, "Wid" Gunning, Mrs. Gunning and mother, Robert Paton Gibbs, Mrs. Aimiss Gouraud, William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. L. Lawrence Weber, Arthur Brisbane, Maurice Turner, Eugene Brewster and others too numerous to mention.

"Deemster" Ambitious Plans for Sunshine-American Combine

The consolidation of production force and activities by the Sunshine Film Corporation and the American Standard Motion Picture Corporation of Chicago, sends the reputation of the Windy City up several more notches as a motion picture producing and distributing center. The arrangement for the combination of forces was made by K. M. Scoville, general manager of Sunshine and M. G. Watkins, general manager of the American Standard. The Sunshine Company had previously been making weekly releases on the American Standard Program.

They come together now and have in the making a multiple reel feature subject, that it is said will cost $65,000 to complete. The title of the picture is being kept secret for the present, but it is announced that the theme is that of an eugenic marriage. While embracing the subject named it is declared not to be a propaganda picture in any sense.

The story was written by Samuel Quinn, president of the American Standard. It was adapted for the screen by Mildred Considine, and the interior scenes are now being made at the Rothacker Studios. Entire supervision of the productions is in charge of Mr. Scoville. Richard "Dick" Travers, assisted by William N. Buckley, is directing the making of the feature. Mr. Travers, who was for five years with Es-sanay and is well-known to film fans, spent five weeks in New York on research work preparatory to beginning production. Mr. Buckley was formerly a Griffith assistant.

It will be handled on territorial rights basis, and will be released early in May, according to Mr. Quinn.

Hiller Explains "Selective Distribution"

As a sequel to an article recently published under his name in the trade-papers, L. L. Hiller of Hiller and Wilk, Inc., desires to explain the selective methods adopted by his firm in placing pictures with their clientele.

"It is not the simple matter it may appear to be," said Mr. Hiller. "We have been studiously careful to guard our reputation since the moment we entered the field. In the first place we had to combat one of the greatest dangers which menace the open market method of handling pictures."

"We have rejected enough pictures to supply exhibitors with mediocre productions for months, but we realize that, as selling agents, our reputation is bound up in offering only pictures that have merit and individuality."

"I mention these matters to indicate that selection is possible in the open market. It naturally throws a greater burden of responsibility on our judgment, but the future of the industry depends upon judgment and not on haphazard methods of being able to realize that exchanges are entitled to ideas plus pictures and not merely footage alone."

"These operations of ours," concluded Mr. Hiller, "are but the prelude to our future plans. We aim to build up, we are building up (modesty forbids me to say that we have already done so) the greatest state right selling agency in the world. No production is too big, none too small, for us to handle. Our buyers are located in all countries of the globe. The term 'state rights' is a localism; and Americanism, adapted to the needs and exigencies of United States business only."

Southern "Libertine" Campaign

E. T. Peters and Dave Reed of Dallas, Tex., owners of "The Libertine," featuring John Mason and Alma Hanlon, have opened offices in Atlanta, Ga., to handle the above feature in this territory.

Boston Concern Gets New England Rights to Educational

Louis B. Mayer of the American Feature Film Company, Boston, Mass., has closed a contract for the New England territory with E. W. Hammons, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation.

This exchange will handle all the releases of Ditmars Animal pictures—"The Living Book of Nature," each subject of which is 500 feet in length, also the regular educational and Robert C. Bruce American Adventure and Scenics, 1,000 feet each.

Mr. Mayer was attracted by the demand which is steadily increasing in this territory for scenic and educational films of the better kind.
The Eastern Studios

William Christy Cabanne is claiming a speed record in production of "Cyclone Higgins, D. D.," in which the Bushman-Bayne combination will be seen. Rehearsal was held on March 29, and the following day work on the picture began in the Metro-Quality Studios. In the meantime a staff of workmen constructed an entire village in the mountains about Nyack. Exactly twenty-three working days were required before the crank turned on the last scene. Which might be considered "going some" on a five-reel picture.

Still Mr. Cabanne looks back to the time when he completed "One of Many," with Frances Nelson, in seven days.

Through poor guesswork on the part of director Joseph Levering, Marion Swayne, Erbograph star, had the doubtful pleasure of spending a five-hour term in jail recently. The poor facilities of a small New Jersey town, where the company was taking some scenes, led Miss Swayne to enter the nice, white cell—the only one in the jail, by the way—to change her costume. Mr. Levering amused himself by investigating the medieval locking system to find out how the bolts worked with the result that he pulled a chain, and the actress was a prisoner. The police force was in New York, and it was five hours before he arrived and released the fair, but unwilling prisoner.

Strange as it may seem, Roscoe Arbuckle still smiles, and in the face of a blow at the hands of the merciless insurance men. The rotund comedian was turned down flatly by an insurance company last week, on applying for life, health and accident policies. So far as the life and death gamblers are concerned, Roscoe is an undesirable alien inasmuch as they figure him too fat for his height and age. And yet, as has been said before, "Fatty" still smiles.

Fresh from her migration from the Lasky to the Famous Players Studio for the purpose of finishing "The Primrose Ring," Mae Murray has not begun work on her next Paramount Studio under the direction of Robert Leonard. After taking preliminary scenes, the company will move across the river to the new studio at Fort Lee, recently acquired by F. P.

For three years Mr. Lewis was working for Uncle Sam, and saw actual service as one of the crew of the "Wasp" during the Spanish War, and also as one of Admiral Sampson's crew on the flagship New York. He declares the roving sailor spirit still stirrers him at times, so, in all probability, he will be numbered among the Jackies in case of eventualities.

The Fox players have banded together, formed a baseball team, and announce they are open to competition with any film organization. In particular they desire the challenge to be accepted by the World Film Hit-and-Run Squad. M. Altmann at the Fort Lee Fox Studios, will receive any communications in regard to games.

Ethel Clayton's next World Picture, which has had "Pretty Polly Pollard" as a working title, has undergone a change in name to "Yankee Pluck," which it is felt indicates the character of the heroine in the story. Montagu Love plays opposite Miss Clayton in this picture.

Wartime upheaval has brought to light the fact that Mitchell Lewis, who has attracted unusual attention by his work in "The Barrier," has not always been an actor.

Prominent in support of Ethel Barrymore in her forthcoming Metro play, "The Greatest Power," is W. W. Black, who has appeared in many Famous Players, Fox and Edison Pictures, and before his screen work was in musical comedy.

Willard Mack's playlet, "The Dream Girl," has been obtained for the use of Viola Dana, Metro-Columbia star, and work on the picture will be begun shortly after June Mathis makes the screen version.

Matrimony and the movies have clashed again, and as a result pretty Josephine Stevens, Roscoe Arbuckle's new leading woman, is to become the wife of Edward Ellis, the actor, immediately upon the completion of "Fatty's" next picture for Paramount, "The Butcher Boy."
THOMAS H. INCE plans to put Triangle on the map for keeps, and so has made arrangements for Ruth McCord, who has been a member of his stock company for three or four years, to ride a motor-cycle to the four corners of the country, and there supervise the building of a concrete monument to be erected on the international boundary corner. The extended trip will require more than a year, and while the actress is on route, she will spend considerable time at each city visiting Triangle exhibitors, and appearing before audiences each evening. She plans to leave the southwestern corner of the country shortly after the first of May.

Mr. Ince will contribute a part of the picture he is making for the Government to use in the training of troops. The film will cover forty miles from Los Angeles, where scenes for the photoplay were taken.

The first Olive Thomas-Ince Picture was put in production this week. It is from a story by R. C. Smith, with the opening scenes laid in a college dormitory, where the former Broadway star and her pals spent the past week in preparing for a coming Ince play. The players have forty miles from Los Angeles, where scenes for the photoplay were taken.

Transportation facilities of the Ince-Triangle Studio were taxed to capacity this week, and will continue so until the present subject starring Dorothy Dalton is completed, for in most of the scenes of this photoplay, which is by Monte M. Katterjohn, a large number of extra people take part. Many of the exteriors, as well as some of the interiors are being taken at the eighteen-thousand-acre-ranch at Inceville.

Director Walter Edwards having filmed the last scenes for the Louise Glauam Picture, spent the past week in preparing for the filming of a new subject, in which he will have William Desmond as star. The story for this was prepared by John Lynch and J. G. Hawks, both members of the Ince staff.

The need of small-town scenes for the coming photoplay, which will star Edith Bennett, took Director Roy Neill and an organization of forty people to Norwalk, Cal., this week, where a great many exteriors were taken. The story for this is by C. Gardner Sullivan, and principals of the supporting cast are: Walt Whitman, who appears as the father, and Marjory Bennett, the sister of the star, as the sister.

Robert Kane of the Paralta Plays has been in Los Angeles several weeks making arrangements for the opening of a studio here some time in May. He is being aided in this work by Director Oscar Apfel, who will be in charge of making the J. Warren Kerrigan subjects. It is stated Mr. Kane has selected all players, and technical members of the staff, and an ideal studio is shortly to be put into construction.

The fourth of the new William Russell-Mutual American series has been completed and titled "Shackles of Truth." Francelia Billington takes the role of a governor's daughter in this subject which was made under the direction of Edward Soman.

The need of small-town scenes for the photoplay near Palm Beach in which a monument has been made and disposition will be made of the monument, put into the Chase Illinois of the city, known as Boyle Heights.

Four productions are now being made at the Lasky Studio. One under the direction of Frank Reicher, with Sexual Hayakawa and Fritzie Brunette as principals; another by George Melford with Fannie Ward and Jack Dean as principals, and the third by Lou-Tellegan who has Louise Huff and playing opposite Mr. Hayakawa, has been especially engaged for this part, following the completion of her work under Director C. B. De Mille will be the other Art Craft subject starring her. Miss Brunette, playing opposite Mr. Hayakawa, has been especially engaged for this part, following the completion of her work under Director C. B. De Mille will be the other Art Craft subject starring her. Miss Brunette, playing opposite Mr. Hayakawa, has been especially engaged for this part, following the completion of her work under Director C. B. De Mille will be the other Art Craft subject starring her. Miss Brunette, playing opposite Mr. Hayakawa, has been especially engaged for this part, following the completion of her work under Director C. B. De Mille will be the other Art Craft subject starring her.
Morosco Studio Manager, Charles Eyton, Director Donald Crisp, George Beban and a company, are spending two weeks in the Northern part of California, securing scenes for a coming Morosco-Pallas subject. The company will be absent about two weeks.

Myrtle Stedman, Morosco star, has been invited to preside at the opening of the Lyric theatre, Stockton, California, at an early date. She has just completed work in a Morosco subject filmed by William D. Taylor.

The five-reel feature "The Eye of Envy," which stars Crane Wilbur, who is also the author, has been completed at the Horsley Studio under the co-direction of Mr. Wilbur and Harrist Ingraham. The supporting members of the cast include Gene Crosby in the feminine lead, Jode Mullally, Edgar Sherrod and others. "The Eye of Envy" is scheduled for release on the Mutual Program, May 14.

With the completion of the fiftieth one-reel comedy made by the Nestor Company with Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran as the featured players, Louis Chaudet, who has been the director since last June, leaves the organization to direct a comedy-drama of three, four and five reels. Roy Clements, who was formerly affiliated with the Universal as director, is to succeed Mr. Chaudet, and is now lining up a series of pictures for Messrs. Lyons and Moran, in which Edith Roberts will appear with them. Mr. Clements will be remembered as the director of the Snakewell Comedies made for the Essanay Company at their Niles Studio, and released for a longer period than a year. Recently he has been associated with a company he formed, and has made a series of ten pictures of one-reel, which will shortly be released. Mr. Clements has proven himself a very successful comedy director, and it is believed his affiliation with Lyons and Moran will make a very happy combination.

From Universal City comes the announcement of new records. The largest shipment of negative film to leave Los Angeles at one time was sent by the film editors of the municipality to New York. It consisted in all of sixty-seven reels, which included comedies of one-reel length and a number of five-part dramas and comedy dramas. Previous to this time the greatest shipment of any one week was fifty reels. The number of directors employed at the present time numbers twenty, which is lower than any time since shortly after the opening of the city in March, 1915.

A number of changes are announced from Universal City this week. One is to the effect that Allen Curtis is to resume the making of Joker Comedies with Jack Dill and Gale Henry as principals. The other members of the Jeker Company will continue under the direction of W. W. Beaudine. Each organization will make one-reel comedies.

Ruth Stonehouse, whose contract with the Universal Company expired last week has accepted a new contract and is to remain with Universal for another year. For the present she will give up directing her own company at least for the summer months, and during this time will be featured in a series of five-reel comedy dramas made by Louis Chaudet.

Elmer Clifton, former director at Fine Arts Studio has been assigned to the direction of five-reel subjects, featuring Jack Mulhall and is now making his first subject entitled "The Great Adventure," which is from a scenario written by McGrew Willis and Walter Wood.

Director Joseph DeGrass has taken up the filming of a five-reel Western photoplay titled "The Vengeance of the West." Dorothy Phillips is the featured player, and the supporting principals are Wm. Stowell and Lon Chaney.

The novel "Loot" by A. Somers Roche is to be filmed in a fifteen episode serial, to be released under the title "The Mystery of the Gray Ghost." The story is in preparation, and the technical staff is now working on properties, wardrobe and sets which will be required for this. The cast includes Priscilla Dean, Emory Johnson, Harry Carter and Eddie Polo. The latter of "Broken Coin" and "Liberty" serials fame are to play the leading roles.

Harry Carey and a company of Universal Western players are at Newhall making scenes for "The Golden Bullet." This picture will consist of two reels.

Allen J. Holubar is making final scenes for the five-reel civil war drama "The Field of Honor" in which Louise Lovely plays the feminine lead opposite Holubar. A feature of this will be a number of thrilling battle scenes made in the foothills near Universal City.

Wm. Worthington is back at Universal City Studios after a two weeks vacation, and has taken up the making of the picture "The Cleanup." This is a story written by Waldemar Young, and like former subjects made by this director, will have Franklyn Farnum and Brownie Vernon as the leads.

The Fox Studio battalion of Home Guards continues to increase almost daily, and the membership now reaches near the 200 mark.

Officers are now being selected, and William Fox will head the list as major of the battalion as long as he remains on the coast. When he returns East, it is understood, that General Manager A. Carlos, will succeed him to the title of major. The battalion is to be divided into four companies, captained by John J. Glavy, George Grenier, R. A. Walsh and Frank Lloyd, respectively. An attempt was made this week by William Fox to purchase uniforms for all members of the company. At the time he gave the order there were but a few over a hundred enlisted. By the time the order was fulfilled the number had increased to more than one hundred and fifty. Manager Brown of the Western Costume Company learning of this condition, made the battalion a present of fifty complete uniforms, making the total number supplied, one hundred and fifty. The costume company has also loaned the battalion sufficient Springfield rifles and other accoutrements to meet all necessary needs.

Charles Ray in "The Pinch Hitter" (Triangle-Ince)
Another feature of the Fox battalion is the troupe of independent scouts under command of Tom Mix. This consists of twenty-five cowboys, who are trained by years of experience in scout duties, and range riding. Another feature of the Fox battalion is the fact that the organization has fifteen automobiles and four auto trucks at its disposal at any time, making it possible to transport the troups to any given point with great speed.

IT is told about the Fox Studio that Theda Bara is shortly to come West for the making of several pictures. She will be accompanied by J. Gordon Edwards. At the same time it is planned William Farnum shall go to the New York studio of the Fox Company, and it is more than probable he will be accompanied by his present director, Frank Lloyd, and his staff of Billy Foster, cameraman, and Harry Weil, assistant director.

The Fox producing organization was increased this week by plans for the Franklin Brothers, Sidney and Chester, who heretofore have co-directed, for each one to have his own individual company. These directors in the past have specialized in making pictures in which child parts predominate. They will continue along this line, and both will shortly begin the making of five or six reel subjects with an individual cast of well-known child players. S. A. Franklin is now filming the last few scenes for "Hansel and Gretel" and Chester Franklin will shortly take up the making of an adaptation from Stevenson's story "Treasure Isle."

WILLIAM PARKER, who has a long list of successful photo plays to his credit, and who was recently affiliated with the Ince Studio as writer, has been added to the Fox staff which has been rapidly increased in the past few weeks. The corps of writers now include Ben Colm, E. McGrew Wills, Chester Clapp, John Clavey and others.

Five comedy companies are now at work at the Fox Studio in Hollywood. One company is headed by Charles Parrott as director, who has Charlie Conklin as his featured comedian. Hank Mann, Billy Mason and Max Asher make up another company, while Tom Mix has Rema Rogers as his new leading lady, and his usual bunch of cowboys. The other two companies are those making Sunshine Comedies under the supervision of Henry Lehrman, who is also the director of one, which is composed of Billie Ritchie, Gertrude Selby, Victor Potel and Harry Ham. David Kirkland is director of the second company, and has Dot Farley as the featured comedienne, supported by Ernie Shields and Sam Beverly. It is announced two additional companies will shortly be put to work under the supervision of Harry Lehrman, whose subjects are to be released on the Fox Program.

The Hank Mann story now being filmed has been titled "Suds of Love," and the Western one being made by Tom Mix will be known as "The Romantic Cowboy."

Charles Conklin is working under the direction of Charles Parrott in "His Bomb Policy."

May Bush, former Keystone leading comedienne, has been engaged by the Fox Company and is making her debut under this brand in the Farnum subject. Jewel Carmen is playing the lead opposite Wm. Farnum.

VITAGRAPH DIRECTOR LAWRENCE SEMON and four members of his company were this week called to the Eastern studios of the Vitagraph by Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, where the remaining ten of the "Big V" series will be completed. Those in the party besides the director, were James Aubrey, Leonard Smith and Joseph Basil.

The Vitagraph Company under the direction of William Wolber, filming the "Lady Sheriff," returned this week from Randsburg, Cal., where for a week they made scenes in the gold mines of that locality. Antonio Moreno and Mary Anderson are the featured players in this future, the principal supporting player being Otto Lederer.

Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph is expected in Los Angeles shortly to spend a week before he returns to the East.

THE Lone Star-Chaplin Company this week took up the eleventh Chaplin subject for the Mutual, which will be laid in the Latin quarter of any city of the present day. For several weeks there have been many rumors concerning Edna Purviance, but it was stated with emphasis by Manager H. P. Caulfield, that this actress would remain with the Lone Star Company, playing the lead opposite from Mr. Chaplin.

The producing staff of Vogue Films, Inc., is to be re-organized, according to advice received from the Chicago office of the company this week. All of the present employees were given vacation of two weeks, and during that time, contracts for players will be made. It is understood a number of the former employees will be retained. It is the plan of the managers to greatly improve the products, and big stars are to be engaged for this company.

WHAT is spoken of as the thrills of thrills was accomplished this week when a member of the Helen Holmes-Signal Company leaped the gap between a dock and an ocean-going ship in an automobile. The jump of eighteen feet was successfully made without injury. This scene is for the ninth episode titled "The Knotted Cord" of the Railroad Raiders, and is but one of the melodramatic stunts, the episode including an international intrigue, a bomb plot and a number of water feats, including the destruction of a barge by explosion. A portion of this episode was filmed under the direction of Helen Holmes herself, she taking up the megaphone duties to permit Director J. P. McGowan to give all his time to editing the episode so that the company could leave for San Francisco and Yosemite Valley, where the tenth and probably other episodes will be filmed. The company will use its private car "Signal" on the trip to San Francisco and during its stay in the North.

H. L. Snyder, an English writer, known under the pen name of Archilless, has been added to the Signal Staff, and is now busy preparing adaptations for the screen version of a number of novels purchased by the company. These shall be filmed immediately after the completion of the serial "The Railroad Raiders."

THE Harold Lockwood-Yorke Company now has a complete cast selected for the next production, "The Haunted Pajamas" adapted from the novel of the same name. Lester Cuneo who has been playing heavies, will take the character role of that of an elderly judge of wealth. Paul Willis will take a juvenile part. Big Ed Sedgwick is the jovial college pal of Harold Lockwood, who characterizes Richard Hudson. Another player is Harry DeRoy.
The leading woman is being kept a secret.

The L-Ko Company under the direction of Vim Moore, has completed a picture titled "Dry Goods and Damp Doings." Philip Dunham is the featured player of the subject.

Another picture just completed is that featuring Dan Dusset in the role of a life-saver. This has been titled "Beach Nuts." The direction was in charge of Noel Smith.

The possibility of war has culminated a romance. It began about two years ago. Earnest Shields, late exponent of vamp roles, has left Universal City Zoo. The troop of youngsters there includes a leopard, three lions, eight huskies, seven wolves, camel, cinnamon bear and three goats, all under four weeks of age.

President Wilson's plea for all to become soldiers or farmers has been answered by Helen Holmes. Yes, she has started a garden in the backyard and so advent it is to be able to look every fruit and vegetable peddler in the eye and tell him to go on! -MORE NEWS-

FRANK ABBOT, W. L. SCANOR of IVEYSTONE;

Margaret Gibson Appearing in Christie Comedies

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED TOURS IN FLICKERVILLE

With a pocket full of nerve soothing tablets, our trusty notebook and an Ever-Sharp pencil, H.O.O.K.I.N.L. editor journeyed out Pasadena avenue in search of a thrill at Signal Studio. Expecting to find the Railroad Raiders' yards all littered up with box cars, the tdy scene that constituted the landscape at forty five sixty was a great disappointment.

Coming upon Helen Holmes' goats at the entrance, we surmised the cause of everything being spic and span. Another probable answer is the speedy movements of J. Pep. McGowan for scientists tell us suction is fully as powerful as hydraulic pressure. After an hour of chasing we—a beardless youth who is known far and wide as Ford Ingersoll Beebe, because of his ability to keep the laughs coming—saw Oliver in perfectly sanitary condition from use, who served as our guide and the editor—came up with McGowan. One scene wind came on us twenty minutes before, but Mac was as cool as a cucumber on the shady side of the vine.

At the psychological we arrived. A string of cars and maybe some players were to be shunted into oblivion or another probable answer is the speedy movements of J. Pep. McGowan for scientists tell us suction is fully as powerful as hydraulic pressure. After an hour of chasing we—a beardless youth who is known far and wide as Ford Ingersoll Beebe, because of his ability to keep the laughs coming—saw Oliver in perfectly sanitary condition from use, who served as our guide and the editor—came up with McGowan. One scene wind came on us twenty minutes before, but Mac was as cool as a cucumber on the shady side of the vine.

At the psychological we arrived. A string of cars and maybe some players were to be shunted into oblivion or another probable answer is the speedy movements of J. Pep. McGowan for scientists tell us suction is fully as powerful as hydraulic pressure. After an hour of chasing we—a beardless youth who is known far and wide as Ford Ingersoll Beebe, because of his ability to keep the laughs coming—saw Oliver in perfectly sanitary condition from use, who served as our guide and the editor—came up with McGowan. One scene wind came on us twenty minutes before, but Mac was as cool as a cucumber on the shady side of the vine.

At the psychological we arrived. A string of cars and maybe some players were to be shunted into oblivion or another probable answer is the speedy movements of J. Pep. McGowan for scientists tell us suction is fully as powerful as hydraulic pressure. After an hour of chasing we—a beardless youth who is known far and wide as Ford Ingersoll Beebe, because of his ability to keep the laughs coming—saw Oliver in perfectly sanitary condition from use, who served as our guide and the editor—came up with McGowan. One scene wind came on us twenty minutes before, but Mac was as cool as a cucumber on the shady side of the vine.
THE BAR SINISTER
(Edgar Lewis Productions—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

The BAR SINISTER, Edgar Lewis's first independent production, is an original picture written by Anthony P. Kelly, presenting a strong drama set in a theme offering the doctrine that the dividing line between peoples of the white race and the black does not of a necessity trace the color line. There is good and bad in both races; there is good and bad in all the cross-races, avers Mr. Kelly, and, building on this foundation of truth, he has evolved a very strong story, worthy in every respect of its multiple reelage. It never tires and the action always maintains the remarkable degree of suspense introduced by the ominous events of the prologue.

Mr. Kelly has for the most part handled deftly the abundance of dramatic material resulting from the clash of the races and has shown skill in the handling of his crises, of which there are not a few. There are no deliberate attacks aimed at the negroes, ill-concealed beneath the surface of the picture. Special pains were evidently taken to avoid giving offense, as there is a series of flashes when the drama is well under way showing two whites, virtue in the story, the other arranged on the side of evil. The point between the races, one really does confront a problem after all is said and done. One's opinion must be uttered on the state of relaciones of Negro with the Nation, in his 'surmise that she is of white parentage, and of Ben Swift, her devoted admirer, a mixture of white, black and Seminole Indian. Mr. Lewis took his company to the actual locations, and so has obtained an atmosphere of the utmost realism. The plot unfolds logically and offers two terrific fights, one fierce affair between Page and "Buck" Moe, who employs the razor, and the other waged between Swift and a pack of angry, gin-soaked blacks. Mr. Lewis has handled both of these admirably, deriving from them the utmost in suspense.

HEPINCH HITTER
(The Pinch Hitter
(Heidelberg—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

The Pinch Hitter, revolvings around a "booth" who goes to college and is kidded. His one act of brilliance is to lace out a home run in the last reel and the last inning. One man is on, two are out, and the count is two and two on the wild throw, when Lindy dies. The superintendent of the turpentine works (J. R. Chamberlain), nursing a grudge against Warren, imploits Moe (Jules Cowles) to put him out of the way. Moe incurs Warren's enmity by openly insulting Belle. A fight ensues, in which Moe is worsted. His followers rise up with intent to wipe out all the white people of the neighborhood. Swift covers the retreat of Belle and Warren by meeting the mob single-handed. It costs him his life, and later, after the uprising has subsided, Belle and Warren return to mourn the loss of the true friend.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Obadiah Parker (Joseph J. Dowling), a grubby old farmer, sends his son Joel (Charles Ray) to college because it was his wife's dying wish. For full three reels he is constantly the butt of various jokes which the student body headed by Slater (Jerome Storm) choose to inflict on him. Even Abbie Nettleton (Sylvia Bremer), keeper of the college bakery, is unable to stir him up. He is allowed to act as mascot for the baseball team not because the coach (Louis Durham) believes there is luck in nincompoops. In the final game of the season, when all the substitutes have been brought into the game, Joel is allowed to bat for the pitcher on a desperate chance. And the result is a home run.

"The Mystery of the Double Cross"
(Pathe—Eighth Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

This episode, called "The Stranger Disposes," goes on with the attempts of all parties to gain possession of the papers containing the secret of Philippa's birth. Annesley, the reporter, has a prominent part and is again a welcome addition to the cast due to the good acting of Gladden James.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Hale (Leon Bary) and Annesley (Gladden James) investigate the rooms of Bentley (Ralph Stuart). They are captured by the villain's henchmen, despite the assistance tendered by the Masked Stranger. Peter escapes and hastening to the Brewster home confronts Bentley as he is rifling the safe for the papers. Bentley overcomes Peter and when Philippa (Molly King) arrives, she accuses him of attempting to rob her and has him arrested. The Masked Stranger steals the papers from Bentley. In the evening Bentley takes Philippa to a rectory where they plan to get married. The girl is left alone in a room for a moment and when Bentley returns he is confronted by the Masked Stranger, who informs him there will be no wedding that night.

Pathe's British War Pictures

Under the title of "Official British War Pictures," Pathe Exchange will release a series of pictures dealing with the war in Europe. These were first put on the market under the title of "The Battle of the Somme" and were reviewed in the October 14 issue of Motion Picture News, page 2398.

They are without a doubt the best war pictures ever offered, inasmuch as they show in addition to the army routine, scenes of actual fighting and the desolate battlefield after the fighting is done. Pathe will offer two reels of these pictures each week.

"Patria"
(International-Pathe—Fifteenth Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"For the Flag," as this episode is entitled, brings "Patria" to a close. For the most part, the final two reels are filled with the scenes of trench warfare, glimpses of which were seen in the fourteenth episode. Trenches and bridges are blown to atoms, bombs burst right in front of the camera, there are charges innumerable, and the men drop as if real bullets were fired instead of blanks. The spectator is also treated to a sight of the armored motor tractor, known as a "tank" or "caterpillar," breaking through barbed-wire entanglements and bridging trenches. In fact, few of the incidents of actual warfare have been left to the imagination.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
After much fierce fighting, the forces of Patria (Mrs. Castle) put the invaders under command of Hirooki (Warner Oland) to rout. This arch-fend retreats to his private chambers and there commits suicide. Captain Parr (Milton Sills), who has been wounded in the battle, receives congratulations from Patria on his fight, and also gets the embrace he so justly deserves, which closes the serial.

"The Valentine Girl"
(Famous Players-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

Two things are always assured in a Margaret Clark picture: the winsome, innocent charm of the star herself, and an entirely novel and different plot. Naturally, with a star so versatile as Miss Clark, the Famous Players would have no legitimate excuse for neglect in furnishing variety in story, but few stars have essayed so completely differing roles as Miss Clark.

Frankly, we like "The Valentine Girl" as much for its strength in story and the support of the capable surrounding cast as for the inimitable way in which Miss Clark personates first a little child and then a young woman. And yet we know that without Margaret Clark the story would not carry through the introductory part without boring some, and even the best scenes might have seemed a bit strained. For it requires Margaret Clark to make this story real. Yet we have seldom seen a better vehicle offered in light, clean drama. Laura Sawyer, who is credited with the story, has done her work well.

Only once do you catch the slightest resemblance to any of Miss Clark's previous characters. When she tells the white lies about her parentage that gain her adoption by the kind minister into whose church she skips to escape from the pursuing policemen, you think instantly of "Miss George Washington." It is really equivalent to a "comedy touch," if not perhaps intended by the author; but all Clark "fans" will appreciate it.

Frank Losee as Marian's father added very materially to the dramatic effectiveness of the production. Director Dawley is to be accorded credit for the usual number of fine touches which always characterize his productions—for example, the splendidly handled rescue scenes in which the life-saving crew were introduced.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Marian (Marguerite Clark), a pretty, innocent child of twelve, who has never seen father nor mother, is adopted by her father Marian Watches the Next-Door Children in Their Happiness.
“The Law of Compensation”
(Talmadge-Schneck—Six Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION,” in which Joseph Schenck presents Norma Talmadge, is an adaptation of a story by Wilson Mizner. As pictured it makes a rather tiresome production, from which one is obliged to absorb a conventional “lesson.” It presents a story within a story, the second being told a daughter by her father when he discovers his child about to take the fatal step made by her mother. Of course, there is considerable similarity between the two stories, the second one repeating much of the first and acting as something of a danger to the plot. Julius Steger, who directed, has attempted to become sentimental too often during the course of the picture. His subtitles are sometimes preachments aimed at the audience, and we think the average audience cares more about being entertained than preached at. Mr. Steger often bursts into rhyme in the insert, but instead of pathos he most always produces bathos. In fact, the printed matter appearing in “The Law of Compensation” is, to an intelligent audience, one of its greatest drawbacks.

Miss Talmadge fulfills the requirements of her dual role in her usual highly satisfactory fashion. Frederick Esmelton is rather a stiff father. The production is not at all praiseworthy. A piece of continuity that jumps considerably was made from the story. The settings are rather cheap, and there is not enough difference in the scenic detail of the two periods to create the required illusion. The photography hardly measures up to the average of the day.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Ruth (Norma Talmadge) permits herself to receive the attentions of Wells (Edwin Stanley), who promises to make a musical comedy star of her, providing she will furnish the money, despite the objections of her husband (Chester Barnett).

When matters have reached a critical stage her father (Frederick Esmelton) tells her the tragic story of her mother (Norma Talmadge). How she deserted him for Trevor (John Charles), how he in turn deserted her, and how he, after her death, sought out Trevor and killed him. This story convinces Ruth of the foolishness of her contemplated course, and she remains in the happy home provided by her husband.

“The Flower of Doom”
(Edward-K.-E.-S.—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE first reel taken by Robert Bruce on his tour round United States, entitled “Henry Thaddeus Tinklebottom,” starts off as a comedy and winds up as a scenic. Bruce encountered roads at least three feet deep with munto his auto trip to Florida, and his car is turned into a veritable plow. Motorists will specially appreciate Mr. Bruce’s hardships on the soft roads. The latter portion of the reel shows some beautiful views of Florida. “Tree Animals,” a Ditmars subject, is immensely valuable in an educational way. The average audience knows little about such animals as the honey bear, the Brazilian opossum, and the Flying Phalanger. Interesting things are told in connection with each family, while the pictures themselves show many of their habits.

“Tree Animals”
(“Henry Thaddeus Tinklebottom, Motorist”—One Reel. “Tree Animals (Split Reel)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

“Skinner’s Bubble”
(Essex-K.-E.-S.—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE WORTS

SKINNER’S BUBBLE” contains many of the elements which made “Skinner’s Dress Suit” a success, concerning the business adventures of a young man, a part which is capably handled by Bryant Washburn. The second of the “Skinner’s” series will appeal to the American audience because it deals in amusing detail with the healthful longings of a youth in married conclave.

We like to see anybody bluff anybody else, if the job is done humorously, and that is the business angle taken up by the picture. The titles are clever, and the photographer has made effective use of the double exposure. Harry Beaumont was director and author, the play being presented by arrangement with Henry Irving Dodge, who contributed a series of “Skinner” stories to Saturday Evening Post.

“The Story and Players”

Bryant Washburn, as Skinner, desires more prestige in business and society, and hopes to accomplish it by taking an expensive apartment in town. He branches out for himself, but business declines to pursue him. He grows tired of blufing, dislikes the too attentive valet, butler, etc., of his fashionable apartment, and at this point the bubble bursts. In conclusion, he goes back to the old home in Mendville, where Honey, his wife (Hazel Daly) can be happy, and takes up his work again with the firm.

The cast is well selected. James C. Carroll is the senior member of the firm, Marion Skinner his wife, and U. K. Houp, the firm’s secret agent.

“Skinner’s Bubble”
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE first reel taken by Robert Bruce, as Skinner, is immensely valuable in an educational way. The average audience knows little about such animals as the honey bear, the Brazilian opossum, and the Flying Phalanger. Interesting things are told in connection with each family, while the pictures themselves show many of their habits.

“The Bubble”
(REX INGRAM shows his ability as a director in this feature, but not as a writer. His story contains no central plot. The footage is divided between two sets of characters only remotely related, the love element is not at all well developed, and there is a scarcity of strong dramatic situations. If atmosphere made the photoplay, then “The Flower of Doom” would be a winner. There is a lot of Chinatown stuff, including a kidnapping, and plenty of scenes laid in the midst of an opium joint, and they are all realistically presented. The photography is good, too, and the acting of the players is quite acceptable.

“The Story and Players”

Charley Sing (Frank Tokonaga) is arrested for killing a member of a rival Tong. Political pull and the sob story written by Harvey (M. K. Wilson), a reporter, result in his release. Harvey meets a cabaret dancer, Neva (Gypsy Hart), and one day takes her on a trip to Chinatown. She wears a pin, the emblem of Sing's tong, and is as a consequence kidnapped by Ah Wong (Gordo Keeno). Sing, grateful to Harvey, kidnaps Tea Rose (Vvette Mitchell), a girl of Wong's, and only returns her when Neva is released. Tea Rose loves Paul Rasnov (Nicholas Dunan), a Russian artist, who frequents Wong's opium joint, and the two plan to elope. But Tea Rose is caught and killed by Wong.

Wedgewood Nowell, Tommy Morrissey and Evelyn Selbie complete the cast.

"Little Miss Nobody"
(Bluebird—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

VIOLET MERSEREAU, as the ignorant little waif of the wilds who is married by a rich young man when her good name seems in jeopardy and who eventually wins his love, is afforded ample opportunity for the full sway of her special talents in "Little Miss Nobody." The story, written by Alfred Solman and Robert F. Rodin, is quite conventional in outline and in detail. The appeal which Miss Merserenu puts in her part, however, and her comedy scenes seem destined to put the entire picture over before her admirers.

Harry Millarde in directing has done work which impresses fairly well. He is apt to overdo the coarseness of the environment in which Bonnie at first appears. Bonnie breaks much china and glassware dodging the blows of Gaskell, her master. Her artlessness doesn't measure well with the length of time she is supposed to have been in his employ. Otherwise the production is satisfactory.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Bonnie (Violet Mersereau) works as slavey in the bar kept by Gaskell (James O'Neill). She meets Wharton (Sidney Mason), a young man who believes himself in love with Elinor (Clara Beyers), the wife of an invalid. He takes an interest in Bonnie and later, when Gaskell makes known his desire that she marry "Bull" Dorgan (John Mackin), she takes refuge in Wharton's cabin. To protect her name Wharton marries her. On the advice of a friend, he leaves her in the care of his sister for a year. When he returns Elinor does her best to spoil their happiness, but is unsuccessful.

"War Prides"
(Flora Finch Film Company—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

This burlesque on "War Brides" is the first comedy offered by Flora Finch's own company. It adheres to the plot of the drama when it wants to, and at other times it branches off on entirely new lines. The story, however, is never much in the foreground. The picture is mostly Flora Finch and tricks of burlesque of a rather crude nature.

One encounters several snags in reviewing "War Prides." Judged by the slapstick standards of the better comedies now being released, such as the Chaplins and Arbuckles and Jokers, it fails to create a very favorable impression. Of course, the producers don't want comparisons of this sort. "War Prides" isn't supposed to be shown before an audience demanding the higher type of slapstick.

It is filled with subtitles twisting words and phrases into puns. If some one sprang one of the lines on you, you would be inclined to groan and shake your head sadly. We are ready to confess, however, that some of them made us smile in self-defense. The action is cluttered with various tricks of photography and numerous gags of a conventional type. The burlesque battle-scenes, with cannon balls and bullets flying over the heads of the "army," which is indulged in a game of poker, are handled with an exaggerated idea of burlesque that might have registered better if the scenes been handled more skilfully in production.

Ever swift in action, the two reels offer Miss Finch in a variety of grotesque scenes that stand a fair chance of pleasing the less discriminating.

"Warfare of the Flesh"
(Edward Warren Production—Sixty-Five Hundred Feet)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THIS most unusual scenario by Lawrence Marston, produced under the personal direction of Edward Warren, has a deep human appeal that will satisfy the most refined audience and reach with especially strong force the middle class which demands what we call a "strong" picture. The women in the audience will find plenty of emotional and sympathetic touches, and the man who is not too cynical to be reached by the sentimental appeal will accept it as good entertainment.

From the allegorical prologue, in which excerpts from Milton's "Paradise Lost" and the Bible are effectively used, to the powerful climax which proves that most women are good, and no good woman's virtue can be bought, the story is one of mental and moral anguish. "Warfare of the Flesh" may refer to some of the violent scenes of caveman vengeance shown as the result of breaking the Seventh Commandment. But it seems to us this title sounds a sensationalism as the picture's dominant note, which the presentation does not justify. The story is based on deepest religious sentiment, a modern representation of the basic principles of good and evil, in which Christ, Satan, and Sin are transposed into roles of everyday modern life. A motion picture within a picture is used as the means of pointing the moral which saves the girl from her contemplated sin.

Charlotte Ives as the good woman, Theodore Friebus as Satan and John Evit, Sheldon Lewis as George Harriott, and Marie Shotwell as Sin and Agnes Sin are well cast, and Miss Ives' work especially was sincere, as it was the leading role in the play. There was no overacting, and at no moment after her entrance into the play did she fail to hold the sympathy of her audience.

Very few in the audience will not be taken by pleasant surprise when the shock of the girl's apparent yielding is relieved by making it all a dream. Her final refusal, even to save her husband's life, is a splendid climax, so much more powerful because the audience is entirely unsuspecting this happy denouement.
THE STORY AND PLAYERS

After an allegorical introduction showing the origin of sin (Fred Radcliffe and Mary Moore as Adam and Eve, Walter Hampden as Christ, Theodore Friedebus as Satan, Marie Shotwell as Sin), the modern characters are introduced at a church fair (Walter Hampden as Mr. Goode, Harry Benham and Charlotte Ives as Mr. and Mrs. Gregory, Marie Shotwell as Agnes Sin, Theodore Friedebus as John Evil, and Sheldon Lewis as George Harmon). Goode bets Harmon a handsome bequest to the Home for Fallen Women that most women are good and cannot be bought to carnal sin under any circumstances. Mrs. Gregory is the woman who has to meet the test.

Reduced by business misfortunes to despair, Gregory, despondent, falls into an areaway and requires an expensive surgical operation to escape death. Goode offers his aid, but Harmon, egged on by Evil and Sin, substitutes an address, and Mrs. Gregory is faced with the alternative, as she supposes, of selling herself to Harmon for the thousand dollars required or letting her husband die. The shock causes her to faint. She, however, agrees to the sin and, accompanying Harmon, stops to rest in a picture show. There she sees enacted on the screen a cave-man drama in which the awfulness of her contemplated sin is shown to her; she screams for help—and awakes. She decides now that her husband would prefer death to life bought with her sin, and returns to him, to find Goode has returned and saved her husband's life.

"The Hawk"

(Vitagraph—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"THE HAWK" never soars high. In fact, it merely flutters along at a surprisingly low level from start to finish. It is an adaptation of a play which enjoyed a long run in Europe and America, but we think an audience will find it somewhat difficult to work up any large show of enthusiasm over "The Hawk" as picturized. It presents a version of the eternal triangle with little to vary the monotony of a pampered wife of a gambler who turns to another man for love and then goes back to her husband because she has sunk to such a low level when deprived of her services. There is little in the makeup of any of the three principal characters to warrant sympathy sufficient to make following their course of real interest.

Garfield Thompson, who scenarioized the play worked under other difficulties too. A single plot, thread with no parallel, necessitated centering the action almost constantly on the members of the triangle. They have heated arguments constantly, and to take up space walk from one side of the set to the other and back continuing their discussions the while. Even to those who seek entertainment and look not for flaws this useless walking will appear obvious. The other characters introduced, though played by a capable supporting cast, have little to do with the actual working out of the plot.

Earle Williams, Ethel Gray Terry and Denton Vane are the leads. Paul Scardon directed, and the picture throughout shows intelligent treatment, although the character of the story has proved a drawback to some extent along directorial lines also.

MAX LINDER brings more of the French type of humor into his third Essanay venture. He has forgone his previous habit of kissing every good-looking girl in sight and concentrates his attentions on a deserving blonde.

The picture's humor depends upon the Frenchness of gesture rather than the American plan of contrast and violence, although a custard pie and several tumbles downstairs are thrown in for the sake of democracy. The most humorous scenes are those in which Mr. Linder hitches a horse to a carriage backwards and gallops down the street with a drunken friend.

During the entire picture Mr. Linder resorted to comedy tricks which are somewhat old-fashioned. The custard pie as a comedy vehicle has seen its better days, and that is only one trick upon which a full-fledged set of whiskers is exposed. However, better results would be achieved if the entire burden of production were distributed on other shoulders besides Max Linder's.

We are given to understand that he writes his own scenarios and directs the plays, as well as taking the leading part in them. This plan of "doubling in brass" has rarely given the expected results on the screen. "Max in a Taxi" is inferior to the two previous Linder comedies.

"Hands Up!"

(Fine Arts-Triangle—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THIS picture, credited to the authorship of Al Jennings, holds up, gets away to a fine start, the promise of which is in no way fulfilled by the finish. It takes up the difficult plot of a brother and sister—who are unaware of their relationship—being in love with one another. At least, such is the supposition.
until a last minute discovery reveals the fact that the relationship came not through blood, but through marriage. The young man, however, after acting like a hero for four reels, suddenly reverts to type and shows his villainous nature. He is killed finally.

"Hands Up!" has a good many loopholes. The fact that the father believes his daughter to be in love with his son is never clearly brought out on the screen. Subsequently one can't quite understand the suffering of the father, although he can guess about it. If one does not, though, there is little suspense left, for the boy, though a railroad bandit, has promised to reform. His change from the hero to the heavy is rather disappointing, too. You are inclined to feel mad at the author for fooling you.

The production given the picture by Tod Browning is otherwise satisfactory. The train holdup in the first reel is well staged, and the Western stuff is handled in good style. Wilfred Lucas as the father and Colleen Moore and Monte Blue in the juvenile roles do acceptable work.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

John Houston (Wilfred Lucas), a railroad president, is traveling over his road with his daughter Marjorie (Colleen Moore) and his fiancee, Elinor (Beatrice Van), when Dan Tracy (Monte Blue) and his band hold the train up. Marjorie overlooks the danger of the situation, thinking it delightfully romantic to be held up by a bandit, and Dan, acting in the same spirit, exchanges rings with her. Later she meets him in a hotel posing as a gentleman. They see a lot of each other. Houston meets Dan and, learning his identity from his fiancee, to whom Marjorie has confided her secret, recognizes him by the ring. He attempts to find him honest employment, but Dan double-crosses him by eloping with Marjorie, installing her in his Western cabin and there attacking her. Houston pursues and rescues her daughter. Dan is shot by his jealous sweetheart, and afterwards Houston learns that he was not his son.

"A Mother's Ordeal"

(Art Dramas—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY GEORGE WORTS

CONSIDERING the standard which has been established in previous Art Drama subjects, "A Mother's Ordeal" leaves an unsatisfactory impression. The story is not strikingly original, and the direction can be passed over with little or no comment.

Many of the outdoor scenes are good, and the photography is well above average. As for the indoor sets not so much can be said. The distance, in most cases, is too great, and the close-ups come at inopportune moments.

With a better story it is probable that the cast would have had an opportunity to rise above the level attained. There was little chance for genuine dramatic action.

In spite of these faults, it is quite likely that "A Mother's Ordeal" will appeal to many audiences because of the sympathy of its theme.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Edith (June Elvidge) marries Ralph Cornwell (Arthur Ashley) to save her father from financial ruin, only to leave him shortly after the ceremony on discovering his bestial character. She is rescued from an attempted suicide by Alan Winthrop (Carlyle Blackwell), the younger son of an English baronet, who is in America to earn a living. Alan secures a position as keeper of Ralph's lodge, and as Cornwell goes under another name in the country, Edith accompanies him as maid. Here the picture plants several persons, Edith, the ex-keeper of the lodge and Ralph's mistress as being justified in killing Ralph. When he is mysteriously shot, Edith is accused of the crime, but Alan shoulders the blame. He is exonerated by the confession of the ex-lodge keeper, who tells of how Ralph caused the death of his wife. But it turns out that the two shots were fired, Ralph's mistress having fired the fatal one.

Frank Goldsmith, Alec Francis, Charles Duncan, Pina Nesbit, Lilah Chester and Albert Hart complete the cast.
"Hinton's Double"

(Thanhouser—Pathe—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"HINTON'S DOUBLE," in which the veteran actor, Fred- erick Warde appears in a dual role, offers a pleasing mix- ture of melodrama and heart interest. The plight in which old

Joshua finds himself, his sacrifice for his daughter and her child, and his difficulty in finally proving his innocence are episodes which awaken great interest. Mr. Warde, as Joshua, creates an appealing and pathetic character, the exact opposite of his Hinton which is rendered with equal skill.

The picture has a number of situations that in their capacities as turning points in the story serve to heighten the suspense. Hinton's defense of the detective from the attack of a new convict brought to the prison and the scene in which Hinton is apprehended in his office are noticeable for their power. In both cases have they been acted with skill by all concerned.

The direction of Ernest Warde is satisfactory. Some of the double exposure work is obvious to be "sure, but the illusion is for the effectiveness of the star's dual performance. While it is profusely punctuated with stage gestures, every point is scored with force.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Joshua Stephens (Frederick Warde) agrees to serve the jail term of his double, Hinton (Frederick Warde), a get-rich-quick operator, with the understanding that his daughter (Kathryn Adams) and her child (Ellden Steuart) will be provided for. Hinton fails to keep to his part of the bargain. Because of his honesty and his heroism in defending a detective (Mayne Arey) from a convict, Joshua is pardoned. Hinton manages to appease him and sends him together with his wards to the country, in- fathoms the whole case, incidentally claiming the hand of the daughter as reward.

"In Again—Out Again"

(Palace—Arctraits—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

All the comedy, all the thrills, all the novelty possessed by Douglas Fairbanks' pictures of the past are incorporated in "In Again—Out Again," his first picture on the Arctrait pro- gram. As Teddy Rutherford, stanch exponent of preparedness, who contrives various means by which he can land in jail in or- der to be near the girl of his heart and who at last is mistaken for a dynamiter of the deepest dye, M. Fairbanks is given a part ideally suited to his magnetic personality, and his abilities as a comedian and athlete. For stunts there is the spectacle of the star leaping nimbly from jail window to jail window in an effort to gain admittance, there is his rapid porch-climbing stunt and last of all there is a chase. No common variety is this chase.

He leaps fences, vaults walls and finally after lassoing a tele- phone pole swings from the roof of a building to a coal wagon and dives down the coal chute. To say nothing of the part of the chase that leads him down manholes and through a sewer (which for pictorial purposes is nice and clean).

In fact "In Again—Out Again" has everything to its credit including a few, nice, sharp digs at pacifism. Anita Loos, who evolved the story, has given the star an ideal vehicle. There is comedy at first and then a quick change to suspense which brings the picture to a close. The scenario has been well handled from Mr. Fairbanks' point of view. John Emerson has given it a pro- duction entirely in accordance with his good record of the past.

Arline Pretty is an attractive foil opposite Mr. Fairbanks. The support mostly of a comedy sort ranges from such a skilled actor as Arnold Lucy to such a crude figure as that supplied by the person of Bull Montana. Both Mr. Lucy and "Mr." Montana get in some excellent humorous bits.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Teddy Rutherford (Douglas Fairbanks) finds that Pacific Ford (Helen Greene) prefers Jerry Pincott (Homer Hunt), a pacifist, as a suitor. He seeks solace in wine, and in the morn- ing wakes in jail with Janie Smith (Arline Pretty), the sheriff's daughter bathing his swollen brow. Janie and jail look very sweet to Teddy. On his release he contrives in various ways to get in again and at last hits upon the idea of impersonating a dynamiter, for whom the whole Jersey side is looking, owing to his penchant for blowing up munition factories. But in again Teddy is really taken for the criminal by an angry horde of gen- tlemen, who organize an impromptu lynching party with Teddy as the guest of honor. It is only through strategy that he es- capes, apprehends the real bomb thrower and wins Janie for his own.

Walter Walker, Albert Parker, Ada Gilman, Frank Llor, Betty Tyrel and Spike Robinson are others in the cast.

Chapin's Lincoln Cycle Pictures

(Charter Features Corporation—Two Reels Each)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE first four of Benjamin Chapin's Lincoln Cycle pictures were exhibited before an invited audience at the Strand last week. Seldom has the writer seen such distinctly human two-reel pictures, each one representing some series of incidents connected with the life of Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln is always an easy figure around which to weave a heart interest film story, but Mr. Chapin's Lincoln and Mr. Chapin's pictures far surpass anything recently attempted along these lines.

Each picture shown abounds in sincere pathos, shorn of all maudlin sentiment, and contains homely humor that is good to see. The stories have been carefully prepared for the screen and the production is as good as could be desired. Acting honors of course go to Mr. Chapin, who in the first numbers plays Tom Lincoln, father of Abe, and in the latter episodes carries the role of the revered national figure.

Mr. Chapin has selected the psychological moment to offer these pictures to the exhibiting public. In "The Call to Arms" does the memory of the past become significant when recalled at the present time.

WANTED

Negatives of new feature photoplays four to six thou- sand feet each.

Must be first class produc- tions in every respect.

P. O. BOX 56
Times Square Station
New York City
Sid Chaplin and Freuler Confer in New York

Sid Chaplin, brother and business manager of Charlie Chaplin, is conferring in New York with John R. Freuler, president of the Mutual Film Corporation.

While Mr. Freuler declined to give out a statement, when approached by a Motion Picture News representative, it is generally believed that the purpose of his meeting in New York, with Sid Chaplin, is to discuss the terms of Charlie Chaplin’s new contract.

The only statement that Mr. Freuler would give was that no decision had been arrived at as yet, and that an authoritative announcement would be issued from Mutual’s Chicago office “in due time.”

Many interesting rumors attend the Chaplin-Freuler conference. Chief among them is that Chaplin is “holding out” for $1,000,000 a year. It is also said that Chaplin wants to stop making two-reel comedies and go in for long features, presumably five reels in length at least.

It is reported that Chaplin’s contract expires on June 1, and if this is the case, it is probable that the news of Charlie’s realignment with Mutual will not be given out for some time.

It is known that various other companies of large backing are in the market for Chaplin, so it is not at all unlikely that his yearly wages will be boosted, this time, well toward the million mark.

Kent Becomes General Film Sales Manager

One of the first official acts of Harold Bolster, newly elected head of General Film Company, is the appointment of Sidney R. Kent as general sales manager. The appointment takes effect at once.

Mr. Kent comes to General Film from the Vitagraph Company of America, with which he had been connected for a considerable period in special constructive work. Mr. Kent went to Vitagraph from the American Druggists’ Syndicate, Long Island City, where he was assistant to the president, with wide executive powers. Before that he was for seven years highly connected with the sales department of one of the largest coal companies of the country. His whole career has been devoted to scientific merchandising.

“Particular attention to the exhibitor is the outstanding motive of my plans,” declared Mr. Kent to a News representative. Therefore, the giving of individual service, the insuring of loyalty to clients and the adoption of common sense sales principles that are good elsewhere will be our object. I think that our platform will be 100 per cent service to the smallest client as well as the largest, and personal encouragement to all.”

Initial King-Bee Subject

A comedy of footlight life, “Back Stage” is the first two-reel comedy release of the King-Bee Film Corporation of which Louis Burnstein is the guiding spirit. Arvid E. Gillstrom is the director of the subject, which while said to be laughable throughout is nevertheless clean. Billy West is, of course, leader of the fun-makers, while Ethel Burton and Babe Hardy are prominent in the cast.

Institutes Picture Page

The Toronto (Canada) Daily News has decided to run a film news page every Saturday. This is the third paper in Toronto to devote a page to motion picture news.

“War Will Cleanse Industry”—Bernstein

Looking into the future and presupposing that the country will be in active warfare for some time to come, Isadore Bernstein, head of the producing company bearing his name, predicts that the effect of the struggle on the motion picture industry will be “good.”

“In the first place,” he said recently, “the theatre is no longer a luxury. Where a family once hesitated to spend a dollar or even two apiece for seats to some mediocre play, they can now see the best possible entertainment for ten or twenty cents.

“At a time such as this, when the heavy hearts of the country need to be lightened by good, wholesome entertainment, when the mothers and wives of our boys who have gone to the front need to forget, for a space, their burden of care, the movies will occupy a not ignoble place in lifting them out of themselves for a little space. “It is at a time like this that clean, wholesome entertainment is most needed and most desired. Not the lurid, sensuous films, reeking with vice and the trail of crime, but simple, human photoplays with dramatic plot and action. Plays which will leave the audience with heightened courage to face the future.

“This is the kind of thing which is playing in England to houses made up of returned soldiers and the brave, strong women who are facing the big things of life; this is the only kind to which a country in the throes of a mighty crisis will turn.”

Mutual Aids Recruiting

To aid the government in its call for volunteers, the “Mutual Weekly,” in its next issue, No. 118, will carry a pictorial appeal for men to volunteer for the Naval Reserve Force.

William Farnum and Jewell Carmen in the Forthcoming Fox Special “American Methods”
May 5, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

TABLOID REVIEWS FOR BUSY EXHIBITORS

General Film Program

"The Secret of Lost Valley," episode of Kalem's "American Girl" series—two reels. This episode maintains, or exceeds, the refreshing quality which predominates in Kalem's western series. Mamie Seale and her little company have selected, as usual, a thrilling story, and played it remarkably well. The story concerns an old man who lives, with his daughter, in Lost Valley. Madge and her followers go in search of the old fellow on receipt of a message of distress. He dies when brought to the hospital. A chest of jewels is formed; it is discovered that the girl, supposedly the old man's daughter, is in reality a princess of royal blood. "Jimmie" Horne supplied the direction, while Reddell's excellent imagination provided the story.

"A Deal in Bonds" episode of "Grant, Police Reporter"—one reel. As usual, the story centers upon the main wall scaling thrill which is accomplished, also as usual, by George Larkin. Larkin, to rescue a wealthy woman, tears down a flag pole on a roof, places the pole across the adjoining roof and lowers himself to the window by a rope dangling from the pole.

"The Detective's Dangers," an episode in "A Daughter of Daring" series—Kalem—one reel. Most of them take place up on the roofs of freight cars. Helen Gibson supplies the main punch by leaping from a saddle horse to the back of one of a team travelling alongside a fast moving train. She climbs to the train and helps to rescue a detective who is tied.

"The Man from Tia Juana," (Episode in Kalem's "American Girl" Series. Two reels)—While this number is not quite up to the level expected, it may be taken as a sign of things to come. The episodes of "The American Girl," can be relied upon not to disappoint any audience. The story is that of Frenchman in Tia Juana, and his colony of cowboys, bandits, et al. The story lacks somewhat in originality, or imagination, the defect is counterbalanced by the usual Kalem shopping scenes, the triumph of right over might and plenty of realistic fight lighting. The plot involves recovery of $25,000 in negotiable road bonds, theft of which is charged to the hero. Lively short cut close-ups, in which every one but the hero miraculously escapes bullet wounds. The players through canyons bring the truant villain to justice.

"Bandits Beware." (Ham and Bud Kalem Comedy. One reel)—This is one of the best Ham and Bud comedies. There are dozens of ridiculous situations in which each of them work several laughers. A bushy-moustached, red-haired, red-eyed bandit is trying to force his way into a dance. Other cops come to the rescue and the two face each other. The bandit, in a huge dress; the cop, in a tiny suit, are shown in round shots. A hooded man; a clown in the character of a policeman; a man in a clay horse suit—each is in a ridiculous situation. Some gags are funny, others are not. It has everything that makes a Kalem comedy a Kalem comedy.

Later, in the same costume, he is imprisoned in an ice-box, which is a riot. Ham, in another room of the house, makes violent love to a dainty young bud (name unknown). As far as we have been able to discover, Ham and Bud comedies never have plot, but that does not mean that they do not hold the interest. Being dull never probably makes them funnier than otherwise.

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

"Our Fighting Forces." (Special. Two reels. Week of April 29.)—This is a timely release giving certain facts and figures about the United States Army and Navy and showing the infantry, cavalry and artillery in drill; with some inspiring scenes of drownings, prayers and shipwrecks closing the last reel. The pictures of President Wilson and some of the Cabinet officials open the picture.

"Max Wies and Loses." (Week of April 29.)—This comedy with Max Linder has never been released before, and is a decidedly worthwhile reel. It has taken in the Swiss Alps and the story that the locale offers in the midst of winter is worth the price of the picture alone. The story is a back-up on "The Explosions of Elaine and contains many laughable moments, not the least of which is Max's ice-skating exhibition. The photography is clear and generally free from static.

"The Horns of the Sea." (International. Split reel. Week of April 29.)*—This is the submarine chasers built in this country and supplied the British; the type of boat which American manufacturers are now building. The subject is interesting and timely. On the same reel with "Krazy Kat, the Cook."

"Krazy Kat, the Cook." (International. Split reel. Week of April 29.)*—Amusing cartoon by Herriman in which Krazy is the cook in a "Ham and Eggs" joint. Some highly laughable lines are interlaced when Krazy and the other animals use arm-chair restaurant in referring to various dishes. The cartoon is produced when Krazy and the other animals use arm-chair restaurant in referring to various dishes.

"In and Around San Diego." (Combizone. Number 6. Week of April 29.)*—Several interesting views of land and water comprise this reel. The scene changes from the collection of sea weed prior to the manufacture of potash is particularly enlightening.

"Smart Modes." (Florencce Rose Fashions. Number 29. Split reel. Week of April 29.)*—Here is a wealth of new fashions, many of them developed by the women in the rear of the car. A mannequin is a fitting stand, and is a sure grouch remover. A mannequin is a fitting stand, and is a sure grouch remover. The only limitation seems to be when the colored ladies try to embrace her white master. The finale, showing the lion in the forest, king of beasts, purring with love to the man who would take the back-tomasure cune is a surprise and gives novelties to an old theme which is always funny.

"The Love Doctor." (Florence Rose Fashions. One reel.)*—This is really very funny. This love dope, in the form of tablets, affects even the old smart set and is a sure grouch remover. The only limitation seems to be when the colored ladies try to embrace her white master. The finale, showing the lion in the forest, king of beasts, purring with love to the man who would take the back-tomasure cune is a surprise and gives novelties to an old theme which is always funny.
Mutual Program

“When Mary Took the Count.” (Strand, Wed., April 18. One reel.)—Miss Billie Rhodes and Jay Belasco put one over in good style in this reel, which is really enjoyable throughout every foot of it. Jay Belasco as Jack the lover, and by the girl’s father put up a joke on “Mary.” The true course of love never did run smoothly, so in their misspent days Jack and Mary have a “fuss” and aniad in a daily paper brings a “Count” to count Mary. But the “Count” is so over polite to everybody, that Mary decides she would really rather have her Jack, and on the day of the wedding Jack appears in the person of the “Count” and simply removes his hirsute appendages and the marriage ceremony proceeds.

“The Gypsy Prince.” (Cub, Thurs., April 12. One reel.)—A madcap action and sketch of comedy in this reel to make a real winner of it. The singing and dancing of course is the main part of the show, and after stealing a policeman’s horse, and being promised the hand of the gypsy chief’s daughter for the horse he is slated, but on learning that he is to get the older and not the younger daughter he withholds and discards. There are a lot of comical situations throughout the film, and Jerry eventually makes good.

“Mutual Tours, No. 23.” (Gaumont. One reel. Tues., April 17.)—A reel replete with the beauty of three European 1906—two cities and one fishing town; the cities are Paris, France, and Lisbon, Portugal, and the fishing town is Volendam, a Dutch fishing village on the IJsselmeer. Two of the chief beauties of the French and Portuguese cities are thrown upon the screen in profusion, and there’s a pretty comparison in the homely Dutch town. It’s a film well worth while from both a geographical and of course educational point of view, and as a filler cannot be discounted.

“Johcd Justice.” (Vogue. Sat., April 14. One reel.)—A reel in which femininity in all its unadorned beauty abounds, and against which is matched the “rube” of the tall, uncut, and the precise feminine gender of the small town type. Addy McQuire as the jaunty justice of Jayville gives his interpretation with the usual high degree of success, and things happen in a hurry. The show is peculiarly good about to pronounce heavy sentences, when evidence of guilt is wanting, and greatly against the dignity of the bench is presented. He is a small town lawyer and has a big heart. It is a highly amusing reel and will be accorded a rousing reception anywhere.

“Somewhere in the Mountains.” (Cub. One reel. Tues., April 16.)—Another number of the “Shorty Hamilton” series with the Philippines as its locale in which Shorty comes out on top as usual. The plot centers around the stealing of the plans of proposed fortifications around Mindanao, and the general’s wife, who has had a past is seen by Shorty to deliver them to her husband by a former marriage. Addy McQuire has been killed by a poisoned dart, and he determines to avenge her death. The two rally to full action and tension and measure well up to the high standard set in this ever popular series.

“Mutual Tours, No. 24.” (Gaumont. One reel. Tues., April 17.)—This series has always been highly interesting, so it is indeed unnecessary to classify, but this particular one dealing with Copenhagen, Denmark, with its picturesque park scenery, its magnificent statuary on the one hand and the driving into the heart of the native充满 certain class. It goes too, over Russian Caucasus and the city of Salzburg on the western Austrian front pointing out the great historic features of these towns and from the viewpoints of history, geography and fine photography this reel will be hard to beat.

“Somewhere in the Mountains.” (Cub. Thurs., April 19. One reel.)—George Oey’s ace camera work and dramatic get-up chances for a full display in the latest comedy wherein he is featured. It’s a winter from the starter’s post to the wire and incidentally Oey helps materially in rounding up a gang of moonshiners. “Somewhere in the mountains.”

Universal Program

“Reel Life, No. 41.” (Gaumont. Thurs., April 19. One reel.)—The wooden leg industry, strange as it may seem, is quite a feature in present day economies, and the making of a wooden leg from the rough hickory log to the finished product is one of the interesting topics dealt with in Reel Life No. 51. Other subjects treated are the very pocket sterilizer and a mock bull fight conducted by school boys of Guatemala, and making iron pipes. This reel is fully up to the standard of its predecessors.

“Somewhere in the Mountains.” (Cub. One reel.)—George Oey’s ace camera work and dramatic get-up chances for a full display in the latest comedy wherein he is featured. It’s a winter from the starter’s post to the wire and incidentally Oey helps materially in rounding up a gang of moonshiners. “Somewhere in the mountains.”

“Little Moccasins.” (Bison. Two reels. Week of April 30.)—Amusing comedy-drama in which a westerner practices the cave man stunt on a city girl, who has come to his country for her health. The romance furnishes the humor and there is a good vein of surprises besides. Harvey Gates wrote the story and M. R. Wilson, Edith Roberts, Malcolm Blairns and J. F. Abbott have the leading parts.

“What a Clue Will Do.” (Nestor. Week of April 30.)—Another comedy by Hoadley and Palmer affording both laughter and mystery. Edith Roberts has the feminine lead. While there are a number of laughs in it the humor is not as varied nor as spontaneous as in the recent productions of this company. Edith Roberts has the feminine lead.

A Message

Cooper Hewitt and Spot Lights Used at Ince-Triangle Studios in Culver City, Cal.

LIFE—LOVE—HOME
FEATURES—CURRENT AND COMING

Art Dramas, Inc.
Mar. 29. The Law That Failed (Alma Han-son). 4
Apr. 12. The Inexorable (Anna Q. Nilsson). 4
Apr. 19. The Great Bradley Mystery (Alma Han-son). 4
Apr. 26. A Mother’s Ordeal (Jean Sothern). 4
May 3. The Auction of Virtue (U. S. Steel). 4
May 10. Little Miss Fortune (Erbograph). 4
May 17. The Mystic Hour (Apollo). 4

Arcturus Pictures
Mar. 5. A Poor Little Rich Girl (Mary Pick- ford). 4
Mar. 26. Broadway Jones (George M. Cohan). 4
Apr. 30. In Again—Out Again (Douglas Fair- use). 4

Bluebird Photoplays
Apr. 2. Susan’s Gentleman (Violet Mer- cer). 4
Apr. 9. The Pulse of Life (Wedge-wood). 4
Apr. 16. A Jewel in Pawn (Ella Hill, Wa-terman and Antrim Short). 4
Apr. 23. The Girl, the Checkers, the Cost (Dorothy Phillips). 4
May 7. Little Miss Nobody (Violet Mer- cer). 4
May 14. Traitor (Alice Holmstedt, Agnes Verno). 4
May 21. The Flashlight Girl (Dorothy Phillips). 4
May 28. Serenade (Myrtle Gonzalez and George Henderson). 4

Butterfly Productions
May 7. Eternal Love (Douglas Gerrard and Ruth Cridford). 4

Fox Film Corporation
Mar. 19. The Blue Streak (Wm. Nigh and Violet Palmer). 4
Mar. 29. High Finance (George Walsh). 4
Apr. 16. The Mystery of No. 7 (Ralph Hayes). 4
Apr. 22. She (Valencia Sagrati). 4
Apr. 30. Agnes of the West (William Blev- inum), Special. 4
May 7. A Small Town Girl (June Caprice). 4

Ivan Feature Productions
Mar. 19. Two Men and a Woman (James Morrison, Christine Mayo, Royce De Remer, Guy Coombs, John Reinhardt and Helen Arnold). 4

Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay
Apr. 2. The Law of the North (Shirley Mason). 4
Apr. 16. Builders of Castles (MacMahan). 4
Apr. 23. Three Babes (Bryant Wash- burn). 4
May 7. The Saint’s Adventure (Henry Wal- thall and Mary Charleton). 4
May 14. The Mystery of No. 7 (Ralph Hayes). 4
May 27. The Tellable Story (Shirley Mason). 4

McClure Pictures*
Feb. 26. Street Sweeper (Shirley Mason and George Le Guerre). 4

Mar. 5. Seven Deadly Sins (Sloth) (Char- lotte Walker, Shirley Mason, 4
Mar. 12. Seven Deadly Sins (The 4th Sin) (Vivian Reed, William Russell and Shirley Mason). 4

Metro Pictures Corporation
Apr. 2. The Waltzing Soul (Mme. Petrova). 4
Apr. 9. The Power of the Hills (Mabel Taliaferro, Royle). 4
Apr. 15. The Power of the Hills (Mabel Tali- aferro, Royle). 4
Apr. 23. God’s Law and Man’s (Violet Dana). 4
Apr. 30. The Millionaire’s Double (Louise Barymore), Royle. 4
May 7. Sowers and Scappers (Emmy Wim- burn), Royle. 4
May 14. The Soul of Magdalen (Marie Pet- rova). 4
May 21. The Beautiful Lie (Francis Nelson), Royle. 4
May 28. The Greatest Power (Ethel Barry- more and Young). 4
June 4. Lady Barnacle (Viola Dana). 4

Mutual Film Corporation
Apr. 2. The Devil’s Assistant (Margaret Hooker, Corinne. 4
Apr. 9. A Daughter of War (May Ward). 4
Apr. 9. Mrs. Ballance (Nance O’Neill), Powell. 4
Apr. 9. High Jinks (William Russell) Amer- ican. 4
Apr. 15. Eternal Love (Douglas Gerrard and Vib- ert Muntz). American. 4
Apr. 16. The Single Code (George West- 4
May 23. The Wild Cat (Jackie Saunders). 4
May 23. The Debt (Marjorie Rambeau). 4
May 30. Whose Wife? (Gail Kane). American. 4

Paramount Pictures Corporation
Apr. 2. The Bond Between (George Be- nard). 4
Apr. 5. The School for Husband (Fannie Madigan). 4
Apr. 9. The Cost of Hatred (Kathyl Wil- liams). 4
Apr. 12. Tides of Barnegat (Blanche Sweet). 4
Apr. 19. The Lonesome Chap (Helen Os- bert). 4
Apr. 23. The Saint’s Adventure (Henry B. Walthall and Mary Charleton). 4
Apr. 26. The Girl at Home (Vivian Martin and Jack Pickford). 4
Apr. 30. Heart’s Desire (Marie Doro). 4
May 3. Sacrifice (Margaret Illington). 4
May 7. The Primrose Ring (Mae Murray). 4
May 10. The Silent Partner (Blanche Sweet and Thomas Meighan). 4
May 14. The Marcellin Millions, (George Be- nard). 4
May 17. The Highway of Hope (Kathyl Wil- liams and George Meade). 4
May 21. Her Better Self (Paula Kane). 4
May 24. The Undying Flame (Mme. Petrova). 4
May 28. Freckles (Louise Huff and Jack Pickford). 4
May 31. Unconquered (Fannie Ward). 4

Pathè Exchange, Inc.
Apr. 1. Mary Lawson’s Secret (Charlotte Gilmer, William Russell and James E. Dubois). 4
Apr. 8. May Blossom (Pearl White and Hal Roach). 4
Apr. 15. When Love Was Blind (France LaBelle, Ossian, Mary Murphy and Harry Her- man). 4
Apr. 29. To Honor Their Country (Douglas Fair- use, Mary Thorpe, Edith Storey). 4
May 6. The Heart’s Desire (Dorothy Gish and George Hernandez). 4
May 31. Unconquered (Fannie Ward). 4

Red Feather Productions
Apr. 9. Mr. Dolan of New York (Jack Hoxie). 4
Apr. 23. The Flower of Dées, M. K. Wilson. 4
Apr. 23. The Hero of the Hour (Jack Mul- hall). 4

Selznick Pictures
Feb. — The Argyle Case (Robert Warwick). 4
Feb. — The Price She Paid (Clara Kimball). 4
Mar. — The Eternal Sin (Florence Reed). 4
Mar. — The Easiest Way (Claire kimball Young and Oscar Treadwell). 4
Apr. — The Law of Compensation (Norma Talmadge). 4
Coming—The Silent Master (Robert Warwick). 4

Triangle Distributing Corporation
Apr. 1. The Dark Road (Dorothy Dalton), Incce-Kay Bee. 4
Apr. 8. Her Official Fakers (Dorothy Gish), Incce-Kay Bee. 4
Apr. 8. Sweetheart of the Doomed (Louise Glum), Incce-Kay Bee. 4
Apr. 15. All That Fashioned Young Man (Rob- ert Harron). 4
Apr. 30. Paddy O’Brien (Edward Wood), Incce-Kay Bee. 4
May 2. Cheerful Ladies (George M. Cohan), Incce-Kay Bee. 4
May 16. The Desert Man (Wm. S. Hart). 4
May 29. High Up South (Lena Fine Art). 4
May 29. The Pinch Hitter (Charles Ray). 4
May 6. Night and the Man (Lincoln and Mat- ters). 4
May 6. The Snarl (Bessie Barricade). 4

Ultra Pictures Corporation
Apr. 2. The Woman Who Dared (Beatrix Michelen). 4
Coming—The Flower of the Nation (Alice Joyce and Harry Moe). 4
Vitagraph V.L.S.E.
Apr. 2. A Million Bid (Anita Stewart and Jules Dron), Special. 4
Apr. 2. Babette (Peggy Hyland and Marc MacDermot). 4
Apr. 9. Apartment 29 (Earle Williams). 4
Apr. 9. Captain Ahab (Ernest Park). 4
Apr. 9. Womanhood, the Glory of the Na- tion (Alice Joyce and Harry Moe). 4
Apr. 16. Sally in a Hurry (Lillian Walker). 4
Apr. 23. The Hawk (Earle Williams). 4
Apr. 30. Her Secret (Alice Joyce and Harry Moe). 4
May 7. The Captain of the GYrse Troop (Peggy Hyland and Marc MacDermot). 4
May 14. The Sixteenth Wife (Peggy Hyland and Marc MacDermot). 4
May 21. Rebellion (Anita Stewart). 4
May 28. The Soul Master (Earle Williams). 4

World Pictures
Apr. 2. Man’s Woman (Ethel Clayton and Rockcliffe Fellows). 4
Apr. 9. The Family Honor (Robert War-wick, June Elrod and Hal Roach). 4
Apr. 16. Forget-Me-Not (Kitty Gordon). 4
Apr. 23. Darkest Dawn (Ralph Bratty, Special. 4
Apr. 30. The Page of Mystery (Carlyle Black- wel, June Elrod and Evelyn Greely). 4
May 7. Mother’s Prize (Sarah Bernard). 4
May 21. Yankee Pluck (Ethel Clayton and Montague Love). 4
May 28. Maternity (Alice Brady). 4
June 4. The Price of Pride (Carlyle Blackwel, Evelyn and Evelyn Greely). 4
Educational Film Corp. of Amer.

- April 30. An Aerial Joy Ride
- May 6. A Roman Cowboy
- April 23. His Love Fight (Hank Mann)
- April 23. Monkey Capers
- The Shooting Star. and Harvesting the Wheat Crop in Alberta, Can.

General Film Company
- BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
  - Past One at Rooneys (1st of O. Henry Series), 2 C. 21859-61
  - Friends in San Rosario (2nd of O. Henry Series), 2 D. 21879-80

Foxfilm Comedies
- Apr. 9. A Footlight Flame (Charles Arling) C
- Apr. 16. The Film Spotters (Class Contests) C
- Apr. 23. It's Hot Here C
- May 3. An Aerial Joy Ride C
- May 5. A Roman Cowboy C

Universal Film Week of April 30, 1917
- SPECIAL RELEASES
  - NESTOR—What a Clin Will Do (Eddie Lyons, Lee Morson and Edyth Roberts), 1 C
  - GOLD SEAL—The Grip of Love (Allen Hough and Louise Lovely), 3 D
  - L-KO—The Cabaret Scratch (Danny Neal and Janet Eastman), 3 D
  - IMP—A Midnight Mystery (Thomas Jefferson and Betty Schade), 2 D
  - UNIVERSAL—Screen Magazine, No. 71, 1 Mag.
  - JOKER—In the Soup (Gale Henry and William Franklin), 1 C
  - POWERS—Cartoon and Educational, Split reel. (Jamboree), 1 C
  - UNIVERSAL SPECIAL—The Voice on the Wire (Episode No. 9), (Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber), 2 D.

Week of May 7, 1917
- NESTOR—The Lost Appetite (Eddie Lyons, Lee Morson and Edyth Roberts), 1 C
- GOLD SEAL—The Grip of Love (Allen Hough and Louise Lovely), 3 D
- L-KO—The Cabaret Scratch (Danny Neal and Janet Eastman), 3 D
- IMP—A Midnight Mystery (Thomas Jefferson and Betty Schade), 2 D
- UNIVERSAL—Screen Magazine, No. 71, 1 Mag.
- JOKER—The Man With a Package (Gale Henry and William Franklin), 1 C
- UNIVERSAL SPECIAL—The Voice on the Wire (Episode No. 9), (Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber), 2 D.

Mutual Film Corporation
- STRAND—And in Walked Uncle (Billie Rhodes), 1 C. 05463
- CUB—The Ransom (George Ovey), 1 C. 05464
- GAUMONT—Real Life; A Tabloid Bungalow, 3 D. 21850-59
- Animated No. Pictorial. No. 5, 2 D. 21872
- Animated No. Pictorial, No. 29 (Cart-C) 21890
- FORTUNE PLAYOFFS
  - The Devil's Bait (Ruth Roland and Wm. Conklin), 4 D. 21843 46
  - The Menace and Pandora, 4 D.... 21866 59
  - Vengeance of the Dead (Henry King and Lilian West), 2 D. 21888 92
- KALEM
  - The Vanishing Bishop (24th of "Grant Police Series), 1 D. 21856
  - The Mystery of the Burning Freight (5th Episode of "Daring of Danger”), 1 D . 21861
  - Doubles and Troubles (Hem Comedy), 2 D. 21871
  - The Skeleton Canyon Raid (6th of "The American Girl" Series), 2 D. 21873 74
  - The Secret of the Borgias (24th of "Grant Police Reporter" Series), 1 D. 21877
  - The Lone Point Creek (4th Episode of "A Daughter of Danger”), 1 D. 21881
  - The Vulture of Skull Mountain (7th of "American Girl" Series), 2 D. 21891 92
- SEJIL
  - The Power of Pin Money, 2 D. 21864 55
  - Sellar, Tribune, No. 28, 1 Top. 21875
  - Mr. Bingo the Bachelor (John Lancaster), 1 D. 21882
  - The Daughter of "Gas House" Dan, 2 D. 21883 84
  - Sellar Tribune, No. 30, 1 Top. 21893
  - Bill and the Bearded Lady, 1 C. 21904

Metro Pictures Corporation
- BURTON HOLMES—Colorful Captions, 1 Trav.
- BLACK DIAMOND—Her Iron Will, 1 C.
- PICTOGRAPH—No. 61, 1 Mag.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
- Pathé Exchange, Inc.
  - Sunday, April 29, 1917
  - Mystery of the Double Cross, No. 7 (Into Thin Air), (Mollie King, Leon Barry and Ralph Stuart), Asta, 2 D.
  - Know America, the Land We Love, No. 7 (Along the Apache Trail—Ariz.), Sc., Combitone, 1 reel.
  - Krazy Kat—The Cook, C-Cart; The Horset of the Sca, Split reel.
  - Max Wins and Loses (Max Linder), Pathé, 1 C.
  - Our Fighting Forces, Pathé, Topical, 2 reels.
  - Wednesday, May 2, 1917
  - Hearst-Pathé News, No. 36, 1 Top.
  - Mystery of the Double Cross, No. 8 (The Strange Case of Helen \( X \) (Leon Barry, Gladine James and Ralph Stuart), Asta, D.
  - Max Is Almost Married (Max Linder), Pathé; Chang Lee's Auto Mule Becomes Unmanageable (C-Cart), Split reel.
  - Florence Rose Fashions, No. 11 (Rose), Fash.
  - The Fairy Godfather (Paula Blackton), C. 21887

Triangle Comedies
- Wednesday, April 29, 1917
  - SKIRT STRATEGY—A Dog's Own Tale, 1 C
  - A Dishonest Burglar—His Criminal Career, 1 C

Vitagraph V.L.-S.E.
- Monday, April 23, 1917
  - Stain and Calico (Paula Blackton), 1 D
  - Rogues and Recklessness (Hughie Mack), 1 C
  - Jeeves and Jealouis (Hughie Mack), 1 C
  - The Fairy Godfather (Paula Blackton), 1 C
  - Chips and Chinks (Hughie Mack), 1 C
STATE RIGHTS—CURRENT AND COMING

Addresses and additional information can be secured by writing State Rights Department, Motion Picture News, Inc.

Anti-Vice Film Company
Is Any Girl Safe?.....................5 reels
Argo Films, Inc.
The Celebrated Stolen Case..............6 reels
Where We Got That Stuff..............5 reels
Dec.—Abinthe (King Baggot), Universal......5 reels
Arrow Film Corporation
The Decorator (Dorothy Hall Cali)........7 reels
George Backer Film Corporation
The Sin Woman (Irene Fenwick, Clifford Bruce and Reine Davies)......7 reels
Bernstein Film Productions
Who Knows?.........................5 reels
The Seven Criminal Virtues.............5 reels
Biograph Company
Her Condemned Sin....................6 reels
Cardinal Film Corporation
Joan the Woman (Gertrude Farrar)....11 reels
Christie Film Company
Apr.—30, Father's Bright Ideas..........1 reel
May—7, With the Mummies' Help........1 reel
May 14, The Magic Maid................1 reel
May 21, The Milky Way................1 reel
May 28, His Last Roll................1 reel
Claridge Films, Inc.
The Birth of Character..................5 reels
The Heart of New York................5 reels
Corona Cinema Company
The Cupid of Eve (Eudie Markey)........7 reels
Cosmofotofilm Company
Incomparable, Marquette Bellairs........4 reels
Liberty Hall........................4 reels
The Black Spot........................4 reels
Victoria Cross......................4 reels
O. B. R.,................................4 reels
His Vindication......................4 reels
The Manxman........................10 reels
Creative Film Corporation
The Girl Who Didn't Think (Jane Gail).....6 reels
Dixie Films
Dec.—Tempest and Sunshine (Evlyn Grocey)....5 reels
Dec.—Just a Song at Twilight..........5 reels
E. I. S. Motion Picture Corp.
Trooper 44..........................2 reels
Emilient Photo Play Corp.
Enlighten Thy Daughter..............7 reels
E. & R. Jungle Film Company
Jungle Brats..........................5 reels
Foul Play, Discovered..................5 reels
When the Clock Went Cuckoo...5 reels
When Jones Went Wrong..............5 reels
Napoloni's Night Out................5 reels
Eskov Harris Feature Film
Alice in Wonderland.....................6 reels
European Film Company
Fighting for Vengeance................5 reels
Exclusive Features, Inc.
Where Is My Father?...................7 reels
Jos. W. Farnham
Race Suicide..........................6 reels
The Awakening of Jesus Morton........5 reels
Frieder Film Corporation
The Bird's Christmas Carol (Mary Louise)....5 reels
Friedman Enterprises
A Mormon Maid (Mae Murray)..........5 reels
Frohman Amusement Corp.
Oct.—10, The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Elsie Ferguson, Helen Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Conner)........5 reels
German Special War Films
Germany and Its Armies Today........6 reels
Gold Medal Photoplays
The Web of Life (Hilda Nord, James Cruze and George scornor)......5 reels
Grand Feature Film Company
Rex Beach On the Spanish Main........5 reels
Rex Beach in Pirate Haunts.............5 reels
Rex Beach, Uncle Capt. Kidd............5 reels
Graphic Features
The Woman and the Beast.............5 reels
The Death of Truth...................5 reels
Intolerance...........................9 reels
Harper Film Corporation
November 16, Civilization.............6 reels
Herald Film Corporation
Around the World in 80 Days...........5 reels
Hippodrome Film Co.
At the Front with the Allies...........5 reels
Jaxon Film Corporation
Stirke (George LeGue)................5 reels
Juvenile Film Corporation
Apr.—1, World War in Kilgore...........1 reel
Apr.—4, & Chip Off the Old Block......1 reel
Apr.—11, Chip's Elbow Room............1 reel
Apr.—24, Chip's Backyard and by Night....2 reels
Apr.—29, Chip's Rivals................1 reel
May—11, For Sale, A Daddy............1 reel
May—27, Chip's Carmen................2 reels
Kinetocaroon Corporation
Cartoons, One Each Week................5 reels
Kurile Features
Germany on the Firing Line.............6 reels
France on the Firing Line.............6 reels
The Unborn (Bessie Bondhill)...........6 reels
Edgar Lewis Productions
The Bar Sinister......................9 reels
Lincoln Motion Picture Company
The Realization of a Negro's Ambitions...5 reels
Trooper of Troop R....................3 reels
C. Post Mason Enterprises
The Wonder City of the World (Great...4 reels
Moral Uplift Society of America
It May Be Your Daughter..............6 reels
B. S. Moss M. P. Corporation
The Power of Evil (Margaret NIchols)....5 reels
The Girl Who Doesn't Know.............5 reels
The Power of Evil.....................5 reels
Boots and Saddles.....................5 reels
The Girl Who Doesn't Know.............5 reels
In the Hands of the Law...............5 reels
One Hour (Sequel to "Three Weeks").....5 reels
Paragon Films
The Whip..............................8 reels
Private Feature Film
Ignorance (Andy Metcalfe).............6 reels
Radio Film Company
Satan the Destroyer of Humanity........7 reels
Ray Comedies
July—12, Casey's Servants.............7 reels
July—19, Casey the White-Wing.........7 reels
Selig Specials
The Ne'er-Do-Well.....................7 reels
Coming, The Garden of Allah (Selig).....10 reels
Sheriott Pictures Corporation
The Black Stork (Dr. Harry J. Kaufm...4 reels
Sherman Elliott, Inc.
The Creed..............................10 reels
Signet Film Corporation
Nov.—1, The Life of St. Francis........7 reels
Standard Newsfilm, Inc.
Demon's of the Air...................2 reels
Sunbeam Motion Picture Corp.
Ty Cobb in Somewhere in Georgia....6 reels
Superior Film Company
The Fauces............................5 reels
The Copunterch.......................5 reels
Donald C. Thompson Film Co.
War as it Really Is...................6 reels
Triumph Film Corporation
Dec.—5, The Liberator..................6 reels
Unity Sales Corporation
June—29, The Treasure Man.............7 reels
July—26, The Lottery Man...............5 reels
July—3, The Marriage Bond.............5 reels
Universal Film Mfg. Company
Tales from 70 Sp. (Ethel Clayton)....5 reels
Where Are My Children?..............5 reels
Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea.........10 reels
People vs. John A. Barnard..........5 reels
Robinson Crusoe (Robert Leonard and Margrittha Fischer)........4 reels
Hell Morgan's Girl...................4 reels
Variety Films Corporation
My Country First.....................6 reels
The Pursuing Vengeance................5 reels
Warner Brothers
Dec.—Robinson Crusoe (Savage)........5 reels
Jan.—Ann Alexander Tamed (Dorothy Farley and Wm. Conklin)......7 reels
Edward Warren Productions
Apr.—The War of the Flesh.............6 reels

Review Your Pictures Without Leaving Your Theatre

Our reports on all new releases reach you the day after their first advance showing. From these reports you can quickly tell whether the picture is suited for your theatre. To convince you of this, we will mail you, free of charge, reports on pictures which you have already run. Note the pictures with your name on the margin of this page and mail it to us.
Vol. IS. No. 18
2868

MOTION

MONTHLY

PICTURE

INDEX

NEWS

OF

RELEASES

AU releases of the month are listed. In the index, C. stands for "Comedy"; Cart., for "Cartoon"; CD., for " Comedy Drama";
reels,
D "Drama"; Juv., "Juvenile"; Sc., "Scenic"; Top., "Topical." The figure before the abbreiaation is the number ofsecond which the picture was reviewed. The Picture
the page
dale is the date of ' release and the figurenumber refers ofto Motion the music
chart News
for theonpicture.
Susan's (Bluebird),
5D, Apr. 2
FEATURES
., 2196
2363 SweetheartGentleman of the Doomed
(Triangle-Ince),
5D, Apr. 8
2687
Test of Womanhood, The (Joseph R. Miles). 5D American
Methods
(Fox Film),
SD,
Apr.
30
■—
.
2196
Tides
of Barnegat
(Lasky-Paramount),
SD,
Apr.
12
Apartment
Twenty-Nine (Vitagraph),
5D,
Apr.
9
Z362
Trooper
44
(E.
I.
S.
Motion Picture Corporation),
5D
AhAs Man
Made Her (World Film).
5D.
Mar.
26
2190
2S40
Men Love (Pallas-Paramount), 5D, Mar. 29
2360 Trufflers, The (Essanay-K.E.S.E.). SD, Apr. — 2361
236S
-—2687- Valentine Girl, The (Famous Players-Paramount), 5D, Apr. 23 23S9
Apr. 2
5D, SEd
(Vitagraph).
Babctte(Eugenic
Birth
Film
Co.).
Waiting
Soul,
The (Metro),
SD
219S
Blue
Streak, TheThe(Fox),
SD, Mar. 19
2196 2364
2220 Web of Life, The (Gold Medal Photoplayers), SD
Bond (Pallas-Paramount),
2
Was Blind 8D
(Thanhouser-Pathe), SD, Apr. IS Bottle Between,
Imp,Jones
The (Artcraft).
(Lasky-Paramount),
5D,SD,Mar.Apr.26
2194 When Whip, Love
The (Paragon),
Broadway
6C,
Mar.
26
2190 Whose WifeThe(American-Mutual),
5D, SD,
Apr. Apr.
30..
Bronze Bride,
The (Red Feather),
SD,
Apr.
2
2192
2712
Wild Cat,
(Horkheimer-Mutual).
237D, Apr. 9. 2512
Builders of Castles (Edison K-E-S-E), SD, Apr. 16
2S18 Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation (Greater Vitagraph),
Woman's Awakening, A (Triangle-Pine Arts), 5D, Mar. 25 2195
Captain
Alvarez
(Vitagraph-Reissue),
5D,
Apr.
9
2361
Cheerful Givers (Triangle-Fine Arts), 5CD, Apr. 22
2690 Yellow Bullet (Fortune Photoplays-General), 4D
2192 Clock,
(Bluebird),
5D. Apr. 30
Cost ofTheHatred,
The (Lasky-Paramount),
SD, Apr. 9
2518
SHORT SUBJECTS Danger
(K-E-S-E).
2684 Adventure of the Signet Ring, The (Imp-Universal), Episode of Darkest Trail,
Russia The(World
Film), 5SD,MD,Apr.Apr.30
23
"TheIndian
PerilsElephants of the Secret Service"
SeriesEd
2D, Apr. 13 2684
2521
Debt.
TheThe(Powell-Mutual),
5D, Apr.
Apr. 16
23 Afric-Ti and (Ditmar),
Split reel.
Derelict.
(Fox Film),
SD.
(Combitone-Pathe), ITop."
2198
Desert Man, The (I nee-Triangle), SD. Apr. 22
2687 Arizona
of Helena Minor, The (Metro-Drew), IC 2367
Devil's Bait, The (Fortune Photoplays-General), 4D
2192 Awakening
Book for Luck, A (Joker-Universal), IC, Apr. 7 2367
2689 Easiest Way,
The (Selznick), 7D,
Apr.
—
.
.
.
. 219S Border Peril,
The (International Pathe), Episode of " Patria ' Senes, 2685
Environment
(American),
SD,
Apr.
16
2D
Even As You and I (Universal Special), 7D.
, 2520 Burning Silence, The (Bison-Universal), 2MD. Apr. 7 2367
Butcher Making
Boy, The(International-Pathe), (Arbuckle-Paramount),
Family Hour,
Honor,TheThe(Cines), (World 6D Film), SD, Apr. 9
2363 Split 2C reel, Ind., Apr. 15 2683
2521
Fated
2686 Button
The (International-Pathe),
Split reel, C Cart. 2198
Flower of Doom,(World
The (Red
5D, Apr. 16
Forget-Me-Not Film).Feather-Universal),
SD, Apr. 16
2S18 Captain
Careless Goes
Cop, aTheFlivving, (Joker-Universal),
IC, Apr. 14
2521 PawSerial
and Scape Goat (International-Pathe), Episode of "Patria 2192 Girl in the Checkered Coat, The (Bluebird), SD, Apr. 23
2363 Cat's
Chubby Takes a Hand (Laemmle-Universal), ICD, Apr. 18
2521
God's Law
and Man's (Columbia-Metro).
SD,
Apr.
23
God's Man
9D
2512 Circumstantial
Evidence (Signal-Helen Holmes), Episode of ' The 2520
Great Bradley(Frohman Mystery,Amusement),
The (Apollo-Art Dramas), SD, Apr. 19 2688
Railroad
Raiders"5C
Series, 2D..
Clock, The (Bluebird).
- 2165
Hands Up (Triangle-Fine Arts),
5D,
Apr.
29
College Boys'
Special,
The (Kalem),
Episode
of "A Daughter of 2190
Hawk
The (Vitagraph),
5D.
Apr.
23
Daring
"
Series,
2D
Heart
s Desire Love
(Famous Players-Paramount),
Apr, 30
Crafty
The (Metro),
Episode of "TheIC, Great
Her Greatest SD, Apr. Arts),
2SD.SD. Apr.
2517
Crooks Hand, and Crocodiles
(L-Ko-Universal),
Apr. Secret"
8 Series, 2D. 2685
2367
Her
Official (Vitagraph),
Fathers(Fox), (Triangle-Fine
8
2364
Cure, The (Mutual-Chaplin), 2C
2366
Her Secret
SD,
Apr.
30
■
Dead
Come Back,
The (Pathe), 6th
Episode
of
"The Mystery
of
the
Her Temptation
(Fox),
5D,
Apr.
9 2689 2712 Double
Cross."
Series
2D
2519
Hero
of
the Hour,
The (Red Feather-Universal),
SD,
Apr.
23
2690
Deadly Doughnut,
Hidden
Children,(Fox),
The SD, (Metro),
Mar. 25
236S
2712
Desert Ghost,
The The (Big (Kalem),
U-Universal)10
, IW, Apr. 12
- 2198
2521
High Finance
Mar. SD.
26 2359
2387
High
Play
(American-Mutual).
SD,
Apr.
9 2519
2359
Double
Steal,
A (Signal Mutual),
Episode
of
"The Railroad Raiders
How Uncle
Sam Prepares (Hanover Film
Co.),
4,200
ft..
Prop
2685 Series,
2D 2690 Doubles
and Troubles
(Kalem).
10
2367
Hunting of the Hawk, The (Astra-Pathe), SD, Apr. 22
2516
The (Metro), Episode of "The Great Secret" Series, 2D 2521 InInevitable.
Again — Out
(Artcraft), 5C, Apr. SD,30
•2519 Escape,
The Again
Apr. 12
the Smaller
Fish Eaters
(Ditmars),
600 Split
ft., Ed
2195
Jewel
in Pawn,
A(Erbograph-Art (Bluebird), 5D,Dramas),
Apr. 16
2689 Feeding
Feeding
the Animals (Ditmars), reel, reel,
Ed
Florence
RoseTracks
Fashions
(International-Pathe),
Split
Fash., Apr. 22. 2692
2521 Magdalene
of
the Hills.
A (Metro).
SD,
Apr.
16
2688
Follow
the (Nestor-Universal),
IC,
Apr.
16
2521
Man and the Woman, A (W. L. Amusement-Art Dramas), SD, Mar. 22. 2191 For Lack of Evidence (Gold Seal-Universal), 3CD, Apr. 17
2521
Nymph, toTheManila
(Gold(International-Pathe), Seal-Universal), 3MD,SplitApr.reel,24
Man's WomanThe(World
Film), SD, Apr.
2 time 2 hours 2515
2193 Forest
Manx-Man, (Cosmofotofilm),
D, running
From Baguio
Top 2591
2198
Mary
Lawson's (Astra-Pathe),
Secret (Pathc),SD,5D,Apr.Apr,8 1
2693
Hair Trigger
Burk (Gold Seal-Universal),
IWest,
April 10
2367
May Blossom
2191
Million Bid, A (New De Luxe Edition Vitagraph), SD, Apr. 2
2362 Hard Times
in Hard Scrapple (Kalem), IC
■■■
2691
HeightHeroof Fashion,
Rose), Split reel. Fash
1)^° Millionaire's 30
(Strand), TheIC, (Florence
Apr. II
More ExcellentDouble, Way, The
The (Rolfe-Metro),
(Vitagraph), SD,SD,Mar.Apr.26
2359 Her
Her
Wayward
Parents
(Victor-Universal),
2D,
Apr.
26
Motherhood
(Frank Powell-Mutual),
SD,
Mar,
26
2194
His Flirting
Family Tree
(Victor-Universal),
IC, Apr. 10
Mother's Ordeal.
A (Art Dramas),
5D,
Apr.
26
His Ways (Christie), IC
Mr. Dolan
York (Red Feather-Universal),
2360
2367 Aquarium (Ditmar),
Split reel, Ed
Mrs.
Balfameof New (Powell-Mutual),
SD, Apr. 9 SD. Apr. 9
2683 Home
Home Wreckers,
The (Nestor-Universal),
IC, Apr. 23
2691
Hubby's Night Out (Christie), IC
Law
of
the North,
The (Kleine-Edison),
5D,
Apr.
2 2684
2691
Law
That Failed,
The (Apollo-Art Dramas),
5D,
Mar.
29.
25IS International Spy,
The (Imp-Universal),
Episode
of
"The Perils
of
Lonesome Chap, The (Pallas-Paramount), SD, Apr. 19
the Air
Secret(Pathe),
Service"Episode Series, of2D."The Apr, Mystery
20of the Double--- ^S-ii
Into Thin
Old Fashioned Young Man. An (Triangle-Fine Arts), SD, Apr. IS., Cross in" Room
Series, 7 2D
25»4
2S1S
It Happened
(Victor- Universal), 2C, Apr. 17
Paddy
O'Hara
(Ince-Kay
Bee), SD. 5D,
Apr. Apr.
IS Page
ofHitter,
Mystery,
The (Vitagraph),
30..
Lady
Detective,
The (Cub-Mutual),
IC,28
Apr. 5
Pinch
The (Ince-Kay Bee),
5D,
Apr.
29
Leak,
The (Joker-Universal),
IC,
Apr.
,
Power of Decision,
The (Variety
(Metro). Films
5D. Apr. 9
Little
Bo-Peep(Drew-Metro),
(L-Ko-Universal),
2C, Apr. 2S
Price
Locked
IC...
Love andOutBlazes
(L-Ko-Universal),
2C, Apr, 18
. „. 2521
Pulse ofof Her Life, Soul.
The The (Bluebird).
SD, Apr. Corp.),
96D
Sally infora Hurry
(Vitagraph),
SD, Apr. 16.
Lone Point
The (Kalem), Episode of "Daughter of Darmg ., 2691
Series,Feud,ID
2198
School
Husbands,
The (Lasky-Paramount),
5CD,
Apr.
She (Fox Film).
SD.
Apr. Backer
23
Magpie, The (Gold Seal-Universal), 3CD, Apr. 3
^■•■Vi ,, 2521
Sin
Woman,
The (George
Film
Corp.),
7D
2367 Man in the
the Trunk, Service"
The (Imp-Universal),
Episode
Single Code, The (Horsley-Mutual), SD. Apr. 16
Series, 2D, IC
Apr,
6of "The Perils ot ^'^L
Max and theSecret
Fair M.D. (Linder-Pathe), %tl?
Skinner's Fires
Bubble(Famous
(K.E.S.E.),
SC, Apr, 23
Sleeping Players-Paramount),
SD,
Apr.
16..
Max,
Lady Killer
(International-Pathe),
Apr. 22
2Wi
Small Town Girl, A The(Fox(Pallas-Paramount), Film), SD, Apr. 30
Mixed theMatrimony
(Nestor-Universal),
IC, Apr.IC, 2
Spirit
of Romance,
SD
Modern Romance,
A (Rolma-Metro),
IC
"
l
'
'
Sunny
Jane (Horkheimer-Mutual),
SD,
Mar.
26 Munitions Plot.
The (Kalem),
Episode
of "Daughter
of Daring
Series. 2D
Sunshine and Gold (Balboa- Pathe), 5CD, Apr. 29


Music Hath Charms (International-Pathe), Split reel, Cart., Apr. 15...... 2691
Mutual Tours Around the World, No. 32 (Gaumont), 1 Top, Apr. 3...... 2691
Mutual Weekly, No. 18 (Gaumont), 1 Top, Apr. 4............. 2691
Mystery of the Burning Freight, The (Kalem), Episode of The "Daughter of Daring" Series, 1D.............. 2198
Mystery of the Double Cross, The (Pathé), 5th Episode, 2D................ 2184
Nabbing a Noble (L-Ko-Universal), I, Apr. 4.................. 2521
Next Victim, The (Universal Special), 4th Episode on the Wire" Series, 2D, Apr. 8........ 2367
Our World as it Appears to the Ant (Ditmars), 600 ft. Ed........ 2195
Railroad Smugglers, The (Kalem), Episode of "Daughter of Daring" Series, 1D.............. 2198
Real Life, No. 49 (Gaumont), I, Top, Apr. 5.................. 2198
Ring Rivals (L-Ko-Universal), 2CD, Apr. 11.............. 2521
Robbers and Thieves (International-Pathe), Split reel Cart, Apr. 22... 2521
Rogue's Nest, The (Imp-Universal), IC, Apr. 4... 2691
Secret of the Borgias, The (Pathe), 5th Episode, 2D............. 2365
Our World as it Appears to the Ant (Ditmars), 600 ft. Ed........ 2195
Next Victim, The (Universal Special), 4th Episode on the Wire" Series, 2D, Apr. 8........ 2367
Our World as it Appears to the Ant (Ditmars), 600 ft. Ed........ 2195
Face That Kills, The (Big U-Universal), ID, Apr. 19............. 2367
Patria (International-Pathe), 10th and 11th Episodes, 2 eachD............... 2365
Pace That Kills, The (Big U-Universal), ID, Apr. 19............. 2367
Rogue's Nest, The (Imp-Universal), IC, Apr. 4... 2691
Beel Life, No. 49 (Gaumont), 1 Top, Apr. 5.................. 2691
Picturesque Postal Cards, Japan (Pathe), Split reel Top........... 2198
Next Victim, The (Universal Special), 4th Episode of "The Voice on the Wire" Series, 2D, Apr. 9........ 2367
Struggle, The (Metro), Episode of "The Great Secret" Series, 2D...... 2521
Selig-Tribune, No. 27 (Selig), 1 Top, Apr. 2.................. 2367
Selig-Tribune, No. 29 (Selig), 1 Top, Apr. 9.................. 2521
Selig-Tribune, No. 31 (Selig), 1 Top, Apr. 15.................. 2521
Skeleton Caron Rad, The (Kalem), Episode of "The American Girl Series, 2D.................. 2198
Somebody Lied (Victor-Universal), 2CD, Apr. 3............... 2367
Spectral Hand, The (Universal Special), Episode of "The Voice on the Wire" Series, 2D, Apr. 9........ 2367
Star Witness, The (Laemmle-Universal), 2D, Apr. 4.............. 2367
Take Back Your Wife (Joker-Universal), IC, Apr. 21.............. 2521
Tell Tale Clue, The (Bison), 2MD, Apr. 21.................. 2521
Test of Death, The (Metro), Episode of "The Great Secret" Series, 2D 2685
Thousand Dollar Drop, The (Victor-Universal), IC, Apr. 4........... 2367
Topsy Turvy Twins, The (Victor-Universal), IC, Apr. 19........... 2367
Trespassers Beware (Kalem), Top (Universal Special), 1D, Apr. 26... 2521
Trail of Hate, The (Bison-Universal), 2D, Apr. 28.................. 2521
Tree Surgery (International-Pathe), Split reel, Ind, Apr. 22....... 2521
Twill: Love and Desire (Laemmle-Universal), 1D, Apr. 23........... 2522 Tyrant of Chirecuma (Kalem), Episode of "The American Girl Series, 2D.................. 2520
Uncle John's Money (Rex-Universal), 2CD, Apr. 12.................. 2521
Under the Bed (Nester-Universal), IC, Apr. 9.................. 2367
Vulture of Skull Mountain, The (Kalem), Episode of "Daughter of Daring" Series, 1D.................. 2367
Wings of Desire (Laemmle-Universal), Episode of "Patria Series, 2D...... 2520
Why Ben Bolted (Vogue), 2C, Apr. 7........................ 2520
Wings of Desire (Laemmle-Universal), Episode of "Patria Series, 2D...... 2520
20,000 Feet Under the Sea (A-Kay Company), 800 ft. Juv.... 2367

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

DON'T BE A SLACKER!

ENTH! FOR THE GOOD CAUSE NOW

Make your arrangements for

The 7th National Exposition and Convention—Exhibitors League of America

Jointly held in the

"CHICAGO COLISEUM"

July 14 to 22, 1917

Don't wait until the last minute. Secure your space reservations at once! They are going fast.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

L. SCHINDLER Exhibition Manager

1116 Masonic Temple

Chicago, 111.

READ WHAT THE CRITICS SAY:

MORNING TELEGRAPH.—A strong and impressive film of facts and will prove a good drawing card, far exhibition, as well as a real power in the Government's recruiting efforts.

BOSTON POST.—A stupendous effort on the part of the Government to stimulate recruiting and increase demand for universal training.

BOSTON RECORD.—There is not an American with red blood in his veins who will not be stirred to the top of his enthusiasm by witnessing this graphic embodiment.

EXHIBITORS TRADE REVIEW (N. Y.).—It is better than reading of preparations mere phrases in newspapers—will stir the emotions as no printed story of facts could ever do.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD.—"How Uncle Sam Prepares" is more than an entertainment. It is a picture with a purpose, and a most patriotic one.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS.—A thrill for every patriot. A most timely offering.

NEW YORK STAR.—No more timely picture than this has, up to the present time, been offered to State Right buyers.

THE HILLBILLY—The scenes coming in natural sequence, their connection making for one of the most stirring spectacles that has been shown.

BOSTON JOURNAL.—War films replete with spectacular interest have been shown on the screen, but none have come to us as does the remarkably interesting series of motion pictures entitled "How Uncle Sam Prepares."

VARIETY.—"How Uncle Sam Prepares" should be on the screen of every exhibitor.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS.—A true film of the hour.

Do you know of a better Box Office Production? Mayors of Cities, Patriotic Organizations, Home Defense Leagues everywhere wiring and writing for opportunities to present this production. Produced by authority of and under the direction of military experts as a special appeal to stimulate the recruiting of our army and navy up to the requirements of this emergency.

HANOVER FILM CO.
Direction S. Grant and Chas. E. Kimball
904 Columbia Theatre Bldg., Phone 9544 Bryant, N. Y. City

READY FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Full Line of Attractive Advertising
Mr. Purchaser of Projecting Machines:

This unsolicited letter is worth dollars to you. It gives proof of what the MOTOGRAPH will do. Permit us to repeat,—

You cannot get a better machine regardless of price.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO.
588 West Randolph St.,
CHICAGO, ILL.
Western Office,
825 Market St.,
San Francisco, Cal.

Controlled by the following States:

Bailto Theatre Supply Co.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Gentlemen:—  With reference to the two Motograph machines that I personally used out of the night that you supplied the Birth of a Nation Co. with, I want to say that I operated those machines, net them up in 106 towns, took them down after the show each night and used them every day, during the period I did not have one stop. There was never a hitch in my show and the up-keep on the two machines was 75% for one set of Centum Springs, which really were not necessary, but as I was under instructions to keep my equipment up to the highest standard of perfection that I could, I made this purchase and I really should have finished my trip without them.

On account of seeing used on the Motograph as a protector, my machine heads that were left outdoors over night many times in 35 and 20 below zero weather and on opening up I found white with frost, never showed the slightest sign of rust.

I was never a booster of the Motograph machine, having only operated one of the old models, but in appreciation of the good results that I had with the machines sold to the Birth of a Nation Co. by you, I am writing this so you may understand that operators are not adverse to giving praise where they think it is due, and the present Motograph machine, I do not hesitate to state will do all the work and in just as perfect a way as any machine on the market and I have run them all.

Respectfully yours,

P.S. I am a booster of the Motograph machine.
"SEVENTEEN YEARS OF KNOWING HOW"

A PROJECTION MACHINE can be no better than its
INTERMITTENT MOVEMENT

A radical advance in "Intermittent" design and construction is the memorable achievement that has placed

POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH

in its present preeminent position

CATALOG D GIVES ALL DETAILS
Mailed Upon Request

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY
NINETY GOLD STREET
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Guarantee Your Projection With This Trade Mark

SPEER "HOLD-ARKS"

Used with a Speer Cored (Upper) Carbon assure Intense Illumination and a Steady Arc

The Essential Requirements of Every Operator
The Carbons That Have Revolutionized the Motion Picture Industry

Manufactured by

SPEER CARBON CO., St. Marys, Penn'a.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Operating Room Regulations

The bill for the regulation of motion pictures which is before the Senate in Albany and which appears to cover every phase of the motion picture industry of which the legislators have heard, is entirely too comprehensive and should in all justice to the various branches of this business be split up into several bills which could be enacted or not as they merit.

One of these separate bills should deal with the operating of the projecting machine and nothing else. Why tie it up with the tax on film or the regulating of the subjects which are to be thrown on the screen? By keeping the various parts separate justice can be done, but by keeping them tied up in one mass there is absolutely no chance of having the legislation enacted so that all parties will be treated fairly.

This operating question is of the greatest importance and must be treated in that way. It must not be a rider attached to something else on which there is no controversy. A man builds a very expensive house—places his projection room in the worst conceivable place, usually up under the eaves or on the roof—shops around for a cut price projector—and then, outside of New York City, is allowed to hire a fourteen year old boy to take care of the projectors with no other justification than that he can be hired for $12.00 per week.

It is wrong.

In Albany last Thursday we heard about eye trouble caused by pictures. Do you wonder when the angle at which pictures are often projected necessitates doctoring in order that they may appear normal to the eye? A law should be passed not allowing a picture to be projected at a greater angle than a given number of degrees which can be determined scientifically. This angle will be measured from the horizontal, which is the perfect line for projection, and the nearer it is adhered to, the less complaint can be brought against motion pictures in respect to the eyes at least.

Some day we are not only going to see the projection room lowered either by law or public opinion, but we will see the operating machine exposed to the view of the audience, just as passengers on shipboard can look at the machinery on the new ocean liners. This hiding away is the cause of at least 90 per cent of the theatre fires, which actually are not as numerous as we are led to believe.

We now come to the main topic of the discussion in connection with the Motion Picture bill—the operator. As we pointed out several weeks ago, we do not believe that any man should be allowed to occupy a responsible position when life and death are at stake without training. Every man should be made to pass a stiff theoretical examination; then he should be made to work under an experienced man for at least six months and after that pass a rigid practical examination. If he gets through satisfactorily he should be entitled to a license, which would entitle him to the distinction of holding a place of trust, which in this case would be the running of an operating room.

Whether a fee is charged for this license makes but little difference if the examinations are conducted properly. A nominal tax or no tax at all could be charged under these conditions, for the only real object of the charge is to keep out a lot of men who get their card and use it or not, as the case may be. If the card is going to continue to be as easy to secure as it is now it would be better to charge a $20.00 fee than one of $2.00 or 10 cents, as ex-Senator Hinman suggested at Albany when he found that this small source of revenue was taking up too much time.

Another important point is the age limit at which a man should be allowed to hold this position of trust. In the first place the man must be mature. He must be able to keep his head in case of trouble. The country has decided that twenty-one years is the age at which a man is considered able legally to take care of himself. It therefore does not seem just nor right that a man should be in a position where the lives of others may depend upon his judgment at less than this age. A younger man should be allowed to act as apprentice or helper, but he should not be placed in actual charge. He can fill in and be the second man in the operating room, for under no circumstances should a theater owner be allowed to run a house without either two licensed men or one with a license and a helper who should have taken the theoretical examination before he is even allowed to assist. There are, therefore, four points which we consider absolutely essential.

1. Actual regulation as to the placing of the projection room.
2. Every licensed operator should pass two different examinations and serve six months apprenticeship before being given his license.
3. There should always be at least two men to operate every projection room.
4. That no license should be issued to a man under twenty-one years of age.

E. K. Gillett.

Copyright, 1917, by Motion Picture News, Inc.
More About Poor Condition of Film

J. A., Jersey City, N. J., sends in several sections of film that have been badly mutilated, and writes as follows: "You gave me permission to break into the department, and therefore I am taking advantage of it. Now, Brother Sherman, I have the question that has been brought to your attention before or not, but I am going to write of something you and all other operators know of, and I am sure it will be of interest to you as well as myself, and that is the bad condition of film. The enclosed pieces of film were taken from a Universal film I ran about three weeks ago; the separate piece is a Metro-Drew comedy about six days old. Glance over them and notice the punch marks. In one piece you will find eleven punch marks, which looks as though some operator had bought a new punch and was trying it out. Then as to running condition, I wish to say that it is certainly shameless the way some exchanges send out their films. I hope the exchanges send to a certain extent, for this condition. Do you think it right for an operator (that is, one who calls himself such) to mutilate a film as shown in the pieces I have enclosed? I should rather blame the exchange in this case, and I think it no more than right to put a stop to this and locate the guilty one, as it is annoying to both operator and patron. About five weeks ago I ran a Fox film, and in part four I made about eight punch marks as well as removing fourteen frame-ups, making a total of twenty-two patches in this one reel. This sounds as though it were a release from the days of Adam and Eve; but no, it was only thirty days old. Who is to blame for this? It is to be hoped that every operator who has a punch in his possession will kindly walk it down the avenue and drop it in "Uncle Bennie's" and co-operate with me in eradicating this evil. I am not an exchange man, nor am I looking for a commission; I am in the same game as you, brother operator, and it is for your own good that I am writing this. Get in the habit of sending your films back to the exchange in better condition than you receive them, as I do. This will help you as well as the next man. That is my policy. I have declared war on bad reels with various exchanges, and have received many letters in reply congratulating me on my campaign. Now, Brother Sherman, I hope this will interest you and that you will lend your co-operation in this matter.

In Reply: Would call your attention to the letter of J. C. P., Gary, Ind. In the department, April 21 issue, there was an article treating upon this subject, and I agree with you perfectly—the punch must go. In my visits to motion picture theatres in and around New York I have been rudely awakened from my pleasant interest in a picture by the flashing of numberless punch holes upon the screen; sometimes these are so numerous as to entirely ruin the climax of a scene. It is not only the operator who is at fault, but the exchange man as well. The exchanges punch numbers, which they say are for identification purposes, in different portions of the film; these, together with the variegated punch marks of various operators, are anything but conducive to good will on the part of patrons. Furthermore, as a rule, punch marks are not thieves. To do away entirely with the punch marks evil it will be necessary for every operator to give their hearty co-operation. There are many good points in your letter, and these should be digested by operators that have the welfare of their craft at heart. It is not right for an operator or any one else to mutilate a film that has cost money to produce. It is a crime, the remedy for which and the punishment thereof lies in the hands of the exchange. Were the exchanges to take note of the condition of films which they send out, and where a film leaves their exchange without a blemish and is returned with punch marks they should make a minimum charge of one dollar for each reel that is so returned, this charge to be paid by the exhibitor whose operator was the guilty one. After several bills of this kind had been rendered and their payment enforced, you can be sure that the exhibitor would see that his operator got rid of his punch; otherwise there would be another man hunting a job. This may seem drastic, but the evil has got to be stopped; drastic measures must be taken to put a stop to it. You do not find the operators who run such productions as "The Birth of a Nation," "The Honor System," and "Joan the Woman" punching holes in film, and if you have seen the work of these operators you will realize that they are Artists of Projection, and not mere machine drivers. Therefore, if these men can avoid punching holes in film, there is no reason why any other operator should not be able to do so.

P. S.—I could not fill in the blank space; will leave that for you to do. Regarding the subscription, will say that you can get the information from the secretary of your local, as I believe he is getting up a club. Glad to welcome you to the department, and hope you will come again.

Look for a Ground

G. McIntyre, New York State, writes: "Have experienced considerable difficulty recently with fuses blowing and have tried everything I could think of to overcome the trouble; some nights I would use as many as sixteen fuses, some would last for from fifteen to twenty minutes, while others would last for hours. The arc would get burned inside, with the result that I had to put in copper wire in place of the fuses and have had no trouble since. Is there any danger in this, and if so what? Also please tell me where to look for trouble and I will try and remedy it."

Answer: There are two things to be considered when a fuse blows in the operating room. Did the fuse blow when striking the arc, or did it blow when the main switch was closed? If the fuse blew when the main switch was closed, you should look for a short, or a ground heavy enough to amount to a short circuit. Where fuses blow as fast as you can put them in, you should trace out your line from the arc lamp back to the main switch and see that it is free from grounds or shorts. The practice of "boosting" fuses, or using copper wire in their stead is not to be encouraged; the fuse is for safety and should not be tampered with. It is quite possible that one of the connections on the fuse block might have become loose and this, heating, has caused a ground that would not be noticeable and yet would be dangerous. It was my experience at one time while having the fuse block made up my mind to examine the fuse block. When this was taken off I found that one of the contacts had become so badly burned that it was necessary to install a new one. I think if you will examine your resistance device and line thoroughly you will find that it is free from grounds or shorts. The practice of "boosting" fuses, or using copper wire in their stead is not to be encouraged, the fuse is for safety and should not be tampered with. It is quite possible that one of the connections on the fuse block might have become loose and this, heating, has caused a ground that would not be noticeable and yet would be dangerous. It was my experience at one time while having the fuse block made up my mind to examine the fuse block. When this was taken off I found that one of the contacts had become so badly burned that it was necessary to install a new one. I think if you will examine your resistance device and line thoroughly you will find the trouble. Remove the copper wire before it does some damage that will be much harder to overcome. There is great danger, principally from fire, nuff said.

Non-Rewinder for Films

Messrs. Collins and Wilson, Terre Haute, Ind., write: "Please advise us if there is a device on the market, or a demand for a device, to attach to a motion picture machine which will not necessitate rewinding of film."

Answer: There is such a device on the market, known as the Feaster Film Feed. The distributors of this device have just begun to push the sale of it, after many months of silence, and the majority of smaller theatres are installing Feaster Film Feeds on their machines. If it is your intention to patent such a device, you would advise you to go careful, and first see that you are set in any way infringing upon the patents already issued for devices of this kind.
Owen Sound, Ontario

R., Owen Sound, Ont., writes for information as to how to determine the size of an objective lens, that is, the equivalent focus in inches. The letter came to me with the black stamp “Censored” on its face, and I thought sure there was going to be something doing, but as there wasn't here is your answer: suggest that you write to any of the machine manufacturers and have them send you one of their lens tables. These tables will screen the light being handled to perfection, this, too, without the Neder. Both members of Moving Picture Operators' Union, Local 306. During the entire run of this picture, which was about one hour and forty-five minutes, there was not a shadow upon the screen, the light being handled to perfection, this, too, without the aid of arc controllers, showing that the operator was constantly watching the picture. The regulation of speed was well timed and helped much in making one forget that they were looking at a "moving picture" and not the real thing. My only criticism is that in the last reel there was an out of focus effect; this might have been due to the presence of oil on the film, but with these two operators on the job that seems unlikely. Perhaps it was from some cause which I have not fathomed, anyway, taken all in all Brother Neder was putting over high-class work, and it is a pleasure to give credit where credit is due. Brother Ross, who came on duty at the beginning of the second show, wanted me to look at a new copy which he was going to use, but I have witnessed his work before and have no apologies to make for saying that I know him to be a first-class operator. (Was not the Speedco arc controllers in use during the presentation of the "Masque of Life"—Ed.)

Condenser Breakage Again

T. M., Jersey City, asks: "Can you help me to prevent condenser breakage? It is only lately that I have had this trouble, but now I am breaking free or three condensers a day.

Answer: In view of the fact that this trouble has only recently developed it must be that you are at fault, and here is my reason for saying that you are the one to blame: Condenser breakage is to a great extent due to excessive heat in the lamp house. With the modern projection machine this excessive heat is carried away through the ventilators, but these ventilators must be kept free from any accumulation of carbon ash, otherwise they are of no use. If you will carefully clean your lamp house, removing all carbon deposit, and ash, taking pains that the wire mesh that covers the top of the bottom of the lamp house is free from this accumulation I think you will find the remedy for your trouble. Remember you cannot get too much ventilation in the lamp house, but you must be careful to avoid draughts. If the above suggestion is carried out I don't think you will have your trouble here eliminated and I would suggest that you get one of the Preedy Condenser Mounts, mention of which was made in this department a short time ago. In either case let me hear from you again.

Light Plant

L. M. Palacios, Austin, Texas, writes: "At received my Motion Picture News under date of April 7, and was surprised to see my letter with the answer to it on page 224, I have been using a generator here for the last but very little hours due to the fact that is my arc is not in working order. My intermittent spark is too small, but most of all it needed adjusting. In regard to the light plant, I would never want to burn more than three or four incandescent lamps while the arc was burning. I want a plant that has an output large enough to enable me to get a good clear picture. About what K.W. would you recommend? What size wires should I use to carry the current from the plant to the arc? Will you kindly give me the names and addresses of firms that make good half-driven light plants? Remember that I want the plant to be run with an engine and not an electric battery. Thanking you for any information that you can give me. I remain very truly yours.

That small town operator, from the language he uses and the troubles that he has, must be located at Hatten Gap, Arkansas, instead of Texas.

Answer: A generator of 6 k.w. capacity should give you first-class results, assuming that you were to use ten 16-c.p. lamps for lighting and fifty amperes at the arc with a 110 volt generator, you would be using 6,010 watts approximately, and as there are 746 watts to the h.p. 6,010 ÷ 746 = 8. The engine should be of that horsepower. A generator of 6 k.w., driven by an engine of 8 or 9 h.p., would be a well-balanced plant. It might not be necessary for you to use the 50 amperes at the arc, you would be able to have the generator loaded up. These generators can be operated with gasoline or oil for fuel, and while I cannot furnish you with the addresses requested, I believe that several manufacturers have sent you booklets on their plants. The wires should not be less than No. 6. The party mentioned is not from Hatten Gap.

Try Two 7½ Inch Condensers

Long Island wants to know what size condenser to use for a 100-foot picture where the throw is 85 feet; uses a Simplex projector, F.i. Wayne Compensare and National carbons. Has had trouble with ghost and has moved his lamp back and forth without results, and wants help quickly.

Answer: The size of your picture seems to me to be a little too small, but of course that depends upon the location of the last row of seats. You are using a lens of long focal length, probably 8-inch. A pair of 7½-inch condensers should fix you up all right, but you will have to move your lamp house back quite a bit, keeping the arc as close to the rear condenser as possible in order to get a spot of proper size. The better way, in my estimation, would be to get condensers of the longer focal length, these are quite expensive, and I think that the two 7½-inch condensers will do the trick, and would recommend that you get a half-size objective lens, which will greatly improve the projected picture.
A FEW OF THE OTHER BEAUTIFULLY HAND COLORED PATRIOTIC SLIDES, 25 Cents Each

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>65</td>
<td>You should not be pro-anything except Pro-American.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>66</td>
<td>Your country needs you, American.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>67</td>
<td>President Wilson.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>68</td>
<td>Spirit 1776.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>Are you too proud to fight?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Order by number—12 slides, $2.50. Add 10 cents for exchange or checks. Send for Patriotic Slide Pamphlet and Catalogue.

EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO.
219 Sixth Ave., New York

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

The Excelsior Illustrating Co. is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

PATRIOTIC film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THES THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.

THE EXCELSIOR ILLUSTRATING CO., of 219 Sixth avenue, New York City, is in the market with a wide and varied display of patriotic slides, including all the Presidents of the United States, army and navy officials, a comprehensive list of the United States battleships of the line, and many patriotic songs.

Accompanying this is a pamphlet containing descriptive matter of these slides, those containing the song matter being of indestructible mica, and this pamphlet may be obtained free of cost by anybody writing for same.

Patriotic film trailers are a hit with moving picture patrons. An excellent selection is offered by the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York. In addition, the Novelty Slide Company is also offering in cooperation with the naval authorities a free selection of slides, designed to increase enlistments in that branch of Uncle Sam's service.

A full line of patriotic slides is now being issued by the E. E. Fulton Company, of Chicago. The slides are all colored and include such subjects as are especially popular at the present moment.
Philadelphia Local 307

T HE Annual Ball of Local 307, Moving Picture Operators' Union of Philadelphia, Pa., was held on the evening of April 18, was one of the most brilliant affairs ever given by the above-named local. International Vice-President Krause, who is also a member of Local 307, was congratulated upon his election to that office. The editor of this department sincerely regrets his inability to be present at 307's ball, but a slight attack of pleurisy kept him at home. From all reports just as good a time was had as though he were present, and that is what every one wanted—a good time.

Wake Up! Wake Up!

Albany, New York, writes: "Why don't you have a page set aside for the purpose of publishing the addresses of different operators for local balls, their secretaries and such other information that would be of interest to other operators? I should think you could put this over, as you are a member of the I. A. Trust you will not feel offended at the suggestion."

Answer: Evidently you do not read the News very thoroughly or else you would have noticed that there has been a column set aside for the use of operators' unions, under the heading Union Announcements. This column is for the very purpose you suggest and it is up to the operators' organizations to take advantage of it. A page you want I Lord, it is all I can do to get a column. If the editors send me dope we will do the rest, but we cannot manufacture news. I am not offended by your suggestion, and to show you that I am not will appoint you a committee of one to furnish me with a news item from your local each week. This goes for any other member of the organization who has news items. Remember me to Brother Sheppard of your local; he is some hustler and I was sorry not to have seen him after the Convention, but may visit your local and him this summer.

Later News of Local 307's Ball

THE work of the various committees who had charge of the Sixth Annual Ball of the Motion Picture Machine Operators of Philadelphia, Pa., Local 307, I. A. T. S. E., has borne good fruit as was attested by the large gathering of exchange men, exhibitors, suppliers and out of town friends who were present and enjoyed one of the most elaborate programs ever presented by this popular local. Eagles Hall was the location, and the company was made up of delegates from Locals 35 and 306 of New York and others too numerous to mention. Jack Clark, a former Philadelphia, again visited his home town for the first time in 12 years. The surprise of the evening was the announcement of the engagement of Vice-president Joseph V. Friel to Miss Marian Nelson. Mrs. Louis Krause, wife of Fifth International Vice-President Krause, and one of the most recent brides in Local 307 circles, ably assisted her husband in making the guests welcome. Leading city officials, including Director of Public Safety Wilson and Superintendent of Police James Robinson graced the occasion with their presence. Among others present were seen such well-known exchange managers as George Levinson and Mark Kaufman, Suprema; Herbert Given and Carl Saulke, Triangle; M. Milder, Selznick; Harold Rodner and F. C. Demin, Peersless; Mark Swaab, of L. M. Swaab & Company; M. C. Bennet, George Pearce, and James Leoby. The World Film Company was represented by Allen May; Selznick by J. M. Flynn; General by Charles Klein; Calheuff Supply Company by Harry Blumberg; Bluebird by Harry Dubin and Ben Harris of Masterpiece. Exhibitors present were Jay Emanuel of Park and Jefferson theaters; Charles Segall, Apollo; Jack Rosenthal, Imperial; Ike Silverman, Strand, Altoona; H. R. Lewis, Tivoli; Milton Hoenig of Jenkintown Auditorium; Arthur Jones, Imperial; Sam Palan of Wilmington, Del.; John Harris, Imperator and Ben Finkerman. It was expected that F. H. Richardson of the Moving Picture World and I. G. Sherman of Motion Picture News would also be present but Mr. Richardson is touring the country and Mr. Sherman was unable to present on account of illness. Among the ladies present were the Misses Margaret Maske, Mildred Nellitch, Lillian Cohen, Jean Cooper, Betty Shengold, Sara Harris and a bowy of others. The various committees were as follows: B. F. Bache, chairman of the ball committee; Joseph V. Friel, floor manager, assisted by H. Brown, H. Blumberg, Joe Jordan, Tony Cristalli, M. Milder, and Louis Krause, chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Nathan Riemann; C. Kizer, John Fitzgerald, A. F. Wezowski and J. J. Stevens, Walter G. Murray, chairman advertising committee, assisted by Michael Halen, D. Katz, G. Elm, H. Singer and Wil...
Are You Getting the Best Results?

Because of the perfection of its optical features and the simplicity and accuracy of its mechanical parts, the Marlux projection lens gives the finest attainable results.

It embodies the very latest developments in the science of projection, transmitting the light so as to brilliantly define the details in every part of the picture.

The Marlux does not rotate in focusing, and so all possibility of a displacement of the image on the screen is avoided.

See your Dealer or write direct to

CROWN OPTICAL COMPANY
Rochester, N. Y.

You Can
Operate Your Theatre Without a RADIUS Gold Fibre SCREEN
But If You're Looking for Perfect Projection

You Won't!

The product we have been making and marketing so successfully for years has been evolved after serious consideration of the common faults of projection which make for bad pictures. We have found a remedy for "ghosts," "fade-away," and distortion. Our screens are in use in the best theatres the country over for the reason that they give the best results.

Putting Lens Together

Ravena, New York, writes: "Can you tell me the proper way to put the lenses back in my lens? They became mixed up and I want to be right. Please publish answer as soon as possible."

Answer: I can and will. Evidently you have taken your lenses apart for cleaning and then mixed them up. This should have been avoided if you had taken one combination at a time, and noticed the way in which the different elements were placed, but that is as it may, here is the answer to your question. The front lenses, one of which is very thick while the other is very thin, are, or should be cemented together with a preparation known as balsam. The two rear lenses, though, are not cemented but are kept separate in their mount by a ring. All lenses should be placed in the mount so that their heaviest curve or bulge will be toward the screen. The cemented lens in front, with the thin lens toward the screen. The thick lens goes in the back end of the lens tube first, its curve being toward the screen, then put in place the dividing ring, and after this the thin lens and its keeper and screw this keeper on firmly so that there is no looseness. I have tried to fulfill your request, and hope that you experienced no difficulty in securing a sharp and well defined picture, and if you did then you must have gotten the lenses back in their right position after all.

Dailey Off on Western Trip

JAMES F. DAILEY, the ventilating engineer of the Typhoon Fan Company, 1544 Broadway, has left on an extensive trip through the Middle West to lay out Typhoon cooling and ventilating systems for some of the largest theatres in the section he proposes to visit.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Move Your Shutter Out

G. W., Pomeroy, la., writes: "I have not been reading the News very long, but find that I cannot get along without it now. (Thanks for them kind words.—En.) I am running a new Power's 6A machine, have a 75-foot throw and a 9 x 12 foot picture. Am using a Bell & Howell inductor on 110-volt 60-cycle A. C. of course. When I focus my picture I find that the lens is right up against the shutter, and when I move my shutter I get a ghost. I have to keep the lens tube nearly out of the jacket. Please tell me how I can remedy this."

Answer: You are probably using a lens of 55/8-inch focus, and there does not seem to be any reason why the lens should set up against the shutter. There should not be any ghost, unless you mean travel ghost, when you move the shutter out on its spindle. If the shutter is so adjusted as to be free from travel ghost in the first place, all you have to do is to loosen the set screw that holds the shutter on its spindle and slip the shutter out on the shaft until there is ample room for the lens to move in either direction, then tighten up on the set screw, taking care that the screw engages again in the V-groove on shutter shaft. It is best to have the lens as close to the shutter as possible. If there is a travel ghost after you have moved the shutter, a slight adjustment should be able to overcome this difficulty. Try this again and let me know the result.

New Simplex Installations in Michigan

A. P. LOMBARD of Detroit reports the sale of Simplex Projectors to the following theatres in Michigan: Oakland theatre, Pontiac, two Type S; Orpheum Duplex, Ann Arbor, two regular type Simplex; Fine Arts theatre, Detroit, two Type S; Iris theatre, Detroit, two Type S; International Bible Students, Detroit, one regular type. Mr. Lombard is known as one of Detroit's liveliest kind of "live wires," and these important installations prove that he lets no grass grow under his feet when it comes to the sale of motion picture equipment.

Stop -- Examine -- Investigate

It is your DUTY before purchasing a Projector to consult mechanical and projection experts and obtain from them their unbiased opinion of the quality of materials used in its construction, the parts involved in its design, its durability and the quality of projection to be obtained therefrom.

We call your attention to a few salient features of the Simplex Projector:

Flickerless
Steadiness of Operation Simplicity
Absolute Fireproofness

Stop -- Examine -- Investigate

Strength Accuracy
Durability of Construction
Low Cost of Upkeep

When you purchase a Simplex Projector, Mr. Exhibitor, you get Full Value for every dollar expended. It is the best machine that Money, Brains and Skill can produce and its parts are manufactured of the highest grade of materials on the most accurate and obtainable.

These are a few of the reasons why it costs more to manufacture the Simplex Projector than any other moving picture machine on the market.

If you want Value Received—INVEST IN A SIMPLEX

Send for Catalog "N"

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
More About the Commercial Practicability of Color Cinematography

UR recent remarks on "The Commercial Aspects of Color Cinematography" (Camera Dept., April 14, 1917, Pages 2384-5), have elicited the following communication from a gentleman of some years experience in the production of ordinary motion pictures.

"The recent remarks on "Natural" Color Cinematography" and your interesting reply contained in the last issue of your valued publication justify this communication.

My active connection with the manufacture and releasing of photo-plays in black and white for upwards of five years has of course placed me in the position of carefully considering any adjunct of the industry or any innovation that would either add to or subtract from the commercial possibilities of a release.

I have just completed three months of a study of what some of the trade papers have been pleased to call the most advanced of all the color processes yet exploited, in fact one that has been publicly exhibited at the Bi-monthly photo-play-house, and my views and present impressions are gained by an actual association with the company using such process. May I therefore express my views on some of the technical defects, but essentially on the commercial disadvantages of "Natural" Color Cinematography as applied in the main to photo-plays.

In order to appreciate my conclusions allow me to set forth a few facts or premises upon which we must all agree:

First: All "Natural" color processes which have made any impression upon the trade or public employ panchromatic negative stock.

Second: The speed of cranking in taking and projecting the picture is increased to a speed from 22 to 32.

Third: All colors are not photographable true to nature. This is true particularly with purple and violet.

Fourth: Rapid and sometimes semi-rapid action within a distance of 25 feet from the camera will cause fringing when the action is directed across the face of the lens.

Fifth: Sunlight changes to an appreciable extent every thirty minutes.

Sixth: All processes require either a special projecting machine or call for an attachment on a standard projector, requiring the use of a color filter or screen.

Now with these established facts, my conclusions follow:

We cannot regulate important dramatic action so as to all times accommodate it to any color process, and avoid fringing.

In rapid or semi-rapid action staged within a fifty-foot line where the "Color" white is employed as part of apparel, fringing will occur.

In order to avoid fringing the speed of cranking is altered by the action being taken and therefore it requires from one hour to three hours of a camera man's time with the attendant suspension of operations on the part of the entire cast.

There is no assurance that the raw negative stock will at all times offer the same sensitization or paperchromatic quality and each roll of negative of a different emulsion number requires a rebalancing of the "taking" color screen or filter.

It requires two and a half times the time to do the same work as is required in black and white. It requires twice the amount of negative and positive stock to make up a color reel to run a required time, as it does in black and white. This is because of extra speed in taking and projecting, tests in balancing screens (negative) and tests in printing (positive). These tests are in addition to those employed in black and white.

But in addition to all of this there is yet an additional reason why color cinematography is commercially impracticable.

People do not see photo-dramas in "Natural" color essentially because of the color. They witness photo-plays largely because of the play, and the employment of "Natural" color photography makes it no additional burden in the subject as a whole. But regardless of how true to nature the color photography may be, in projection the color is accentuated and a sense of eye strain always follows after witnessing two reels or more. In some instances a nervous tension is established.

"Natural" color photography is of exceeding value in seascapes where there is no rapid action of individuals in the foreground, in fashions and educational, but to my mind quite a commercial impossibility in photo-plays.

P. S. Since this is written from a disinterested standpoint and solely for the benefit of the trade and the art which it represents I would prefer that in publishing my remarks you omit my name.

In Reply

We are pleased to give recognition to the foregoing remarks, because the writer's connection with practical film production is known to us, and because the communication is outspoken and evidently made in good faith. Its writer is under considerable limitations as to his knowledge (technical and otherwise) of color photography and cinematography, as will be shortly apparent, however, and regarding the color process which, according to the correspondent, "the trade papers have been pleased to call the most advanced of all the color processes," we would point out that no such statement was made in the Camera Department when we described the process referred to. Before taking up, in their given sequence, the various points touched upon by our correspondent we must furthermore comment upon the fact that his remarks, criticisms and conclusions appear to be based entirely upon his study of one particular process, although, as is generally known, there are a number of "color processes" being commercially developed at present, and the results of several workers have been shown. Moreover, a description of practically all of these processes and an impartial analysis of their theoretical soundness and practicability has already appeared in the Camera Department ("Color Cinematography"—Camera Department, issues from November 4 to December 16, 1916, incl., also January 13 and March 24, 1917).

Let us now analyze in the light of scientific knowledge the premises upon which the correspondent bases his remarks as to the impracticability of the color processes, as contrasted against the technical procedure in producing ordinary (black and white) motion pictures.

First: We concede that panchromatic negative stock is a necessity in a photographic (or cinematographic) color process.

Second: We do not agree at all that natural color motion pictures must invariably be taken and projected at from 22 to 32 exposures per second. While such a rate is necessary in the case of some processes, and an even higher projecting rate was used with a former method, it might interest the correspondent to learn that there are at present not less than three systems of color cinematography by which the taking and projecting rate is Commercially, color films are appreciably and certainly more difficult to prepare than are ordinary (black and white) films. The balancing of color screens to suit changed light conditions requires from one hour to three hours of a camera man's time with the attendant suspension of operations on the part of the entire cast.

In order to appreciate my conclusions allow me to set forth a few facts or premises upon which we must all agree:

Light effects with sunlight are impossible because sunlight effects must embrace a shadow and shadows cause fringing.

Fringing can only be avoided at all times by staging the action at a distance in excess of fifty feet, and at that distance all detail of expression is lost.

There is no assurance that the raw negative stock will at all times offer the same sensitization or panchromatic quality and each roll of negative of a different emulsion number requires a rebalancing of the "taking" color screen or filter.

It requires two and a half times the time to do the same work as is required in black and white. It requires twice the amount of negative and positive stock to make up a color reel to run a required time, as it does in black and white. This is because of extra speed in taking and projecting, tests in balancing screens (negative) and tests in printing (positive). These tests are in addition to those employed in black and white.

But in addition to all of this there is yet an additional reason why color cinematography is commercially impracticable.

People do not see photo-dramas in "Natural" color essentially because of the color. They witness photo-plays largely because of the play, and the employment of "Natural" color photography makes it no additional burden in the subject as a whole. But regardless of how true to nature the color photography may be, in projection the color is accentuated and a sense of eye strain always follows after witnessing two reels or more. In some instances a nervous tension is established.

"Natural" color photography is of exceeding value in seascapes where there is no rapid action of individuals in the foreground, in fashions and educational, but to my mind quite a commercial impossibility in photo-plays.

P. S. Since this is written from a disinterested standpoint and solely for the benefit of the trade and the art which it represents I would prefer that in publishing my remarks you omit my name.

In Reply
16 per second—the customary exposing and projecting rate for black and white subjects. The processes alluded to are described in detail in our articles on “Color Cinematography” (loc. cit.).

Third: If a two-color cinematographic process is considered or, again, a four-color process (combination of two two-color methods of analysis), we agree that all colors are not capable of perfectly truthful reproduction, but with a properly conceived two-color additive process we maintain that natural objects in motion or otherwise may be so well rendered as to be considered by competent judges of color a satisfying approximation to the objects photographed. This was our contention in replying to the former correspondent, and at no time have we ever gone on record as stating that any system of color cinematography was capable of exact reproduction of all colors. We do not claim, however, as a result of what we have seen, and as the result of personal experiments of a comprehensive nature, that it is possible to photograph and exhibit motion pictures which will give a satisfactory reproduction upon the screen of the coloration of the objects photographed.

Fourth: We do not agree that color fringing will always result when rapid action at right angles to the lens is recorded within a distance of 25 feet from the camera. Our correspondent would not have endeavored to make a talking point of this if he had not been thoroughly posted upon the subject. There have been described in this department a number of processes in which the negative records through the various color-filters are made simultaneously, instead of successively, and the amount of movement is identical in each component image of a “color cycle” in the case of such systems. In addition, a modification of the old and well-known two-color successive process has been devised which reduces fringing to an almost negligible quantity. This method has recently been reviewed in the Camera Department.

Fifth: We concede that sunlight changes to an appreciable extent every thirty minutes, but also the apparent hue of every object which the sunlight is illuminating. If, therefore, the apparent hues and luminosities of the sunlit objects in nature are constantly changing, in accord with the changes in solar radiation, we maintain that they may be represented as changing in our color films and still be true to Nature.

Sixth: We do not agree at all that a special projector, or some form of attachment for the conventional projector, is required for all of the cinematographic color processes. We wonder if our correspondent could differentiate offhand between an additive and a subtractive system of color photography. When he has familiarized himself with the distinction, and has seen, by reference to our former articles, how the subtractive principle of color synthesis is being applied to color cinematography, he will perhaps realize that this last premise is by no means tenable.

From the foregoing it is apparent that the correspondent has but slight grounds upon which to base his subsequent conclusions regarding the impossibility of cinematographic color rendition. His conclusions are interesting to contemplate, however, and are such as might occur to any student of black and white film production after a limited acquaintance with the procedure in color cinematography by a successive process.

Before taking up separately the various conclusions arrived at by the correspondent, it should be noted that practically all of his criticisms have to do with color fringing. As all students of the color processes know, this annoying effect is caused by the fact that in a successive process, in which the pictures are taken alternately or successively through two or more color filters of different colors, the position of a rapidly moving object will differ in the successive images recorded through the various filters. When the resultant positive is projected, by the aid of a projecting filter essentially the same as the taking filter, any rapidly moving objects recorded by the camera will be reproduced upon the screen as a multi-colored blur (or fringe), showing all of the colors which are contained in the filter-disc of the projecting machine.

In the case of a former two-color successive process this was an obvious defect, but the two-color successive method has been so improved that color fringing is greatly reduced, as has been previously stated, and fringing can no longer be considered a grave defect of the specific process we have in mind. Our conclusion in this instance is shared by all who have seen the results to which we allude. We have consistently maintained in all our writings upon “Color Cinematography” that fringing can never be entirely eliminated in any process in which negative records are produced successively through filters of different colors.
There are two ways of identifying Eastman film—one by the clearness of the pictures, the other by the stencil mark "EASTMAN" in the margin.

EASTMAN KODAK CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y.

PHOTO CINES NO. 4 CAMERA TRIPOD

fitted with Zeiss Tessar Lens F3.5—
Automatic diaphragm dissolve, single turn and reverse action, film punch, adjustable frame line.

Price $250.00 Complete
SEND FOR COMPLETE CATALOGUE
TOPICAL-PATHE-DEBRIE CAMERAS AND ACCESSORIES
G. GENNERT
24-26 E. 13 St. 320 S. Wabash Ave.
New York Chicago
465 S. Olive St. 693 Mission St.
Los Angeles San Francisco

colors, but in addition to our statement that fringing has, in at least one instance, been largely eliminated, we have again to remark that with some processes there need be no fringing.

It appears, therefore, that with a properly conceived system of color cinematography no special attention need be given to the regulation of dramatic action, or the distance from the camera at which the important action takes place. There would, of course, be a more noticeable fringing in the cases of moving objects near the camera than with more distant objects in the case of a successive process, but the factors governing color fringing are the rapidity of movement of the objects being photographed and the effective exposing speed of the camera shutter. It is by increasing the efficiency of the camera shutter that fringing is reduced in the improved process which we have repeatedly referred to.

Our researches do not confirm the correspondent's further conclusion that objects in shadow are not so faithfully reproduced by color cinematography as by black and white photography. It is entirely possible that objects in shadow may appear more strongly delineated in a black and white picture than in a color picture, but this is a case of grossly inaccurate representation on the part of the black and white film.

The results secured by the color cinematographers are generally more accurate in their representation of tonal values than is the case with ordinary films. This is a natural result of the ability of panchromatic negative stock to correctly define luminosity values, but photography under correct orthochromatic conditions might appear quite incorrect to an observer untrained in correct tonal rendition.

Bearing these characteristics of the panchromatic negative stock in mind, it is at once apparent that no special colors or combination of colors must be adhered to in the preparation of "sets," or for costumes, in the production of color motion pictures. The artistic qualities of a color release may be enhanced by having the staging and costuming supervised by some one well versed in color harmony, but it is not necessary to utilize exclusively some particular color scheme, because a properly worked out process will record most all colors. This is in marked contrast to ordinary (black and white) cinematography, where the film is chiefly sensitive to blue and violet rays and all studio sets and costumes must be carefully selected with regard for the effects of this deficiency.

The limits of space prevent us from considering this phase of the question further, but let us now turn to the merely mechanical, although equally important, aspects of color film production.

In the case of subtractive processes we concur in the correspondent's statement that the finished product is appreciably more difficult to prepare than an ordinary black and white positive. We do not, however, consider that the preparation and development of panchromatic negative film should be difficult for a well-equipped and competently supervised laboratory to cope with, and certainly it is no more difficult to prepare a positive for an additive color process than it is to prepare an ordinary positive.

From our correspondent's remarks concerning the balancing of the camera-filters it will again be apparent that his observations have been confined to one particular process. It is foolish, it is impractical, and it is empirical to continually alter the transmissions of the taking-filters used with cinematographic color processes, and any system which requires such procedure is far from being founded upon correct theory. The frequent alteration of the transmissions of taking-filters will, in the end, only lead to hopeless confusion, and we can state from positive knowledge that this is not necessary in the case of some color processes which have been first developed experimentally until physical and physiological requirements were fulfilled or closely approximated.

By his statement that the negative stock will vary in sensitivity or panchromatic quality the correspondent indicates that the maker of the virgin film stock rather than the color film producer is well known to all practising cameramen that the standard cine negative film does not vary appreciably in speed (Continued on page 2886)
MUSIC AND THE PICTURE

The Star spangled Banner.

America.

Patriotic Songs of All Nations. A collection published by G. Schirmer, containing 87 national hymns and patriotic airs representing 104 countries, compiled and arranged by Gustav Hinrichs. Aside from its value as a novelty and as a handy and useful adjunct to the library of every orchestra leader, this collection makes a particularly strong appeal at this time when the patriotic hymns of the world are not only symbols of loyalty and devotion but also are certain to be a source of keen inspiration.

The Carl Fischer Mammoth Orchestra Collection. Compiled and arranged by M. L. Lake. This is the book which enables you to play any college, or home, song, hymn, patriotic air or favorite melody, of any country, race or creed on earth. No matter what they may ask, no matter from what country, if you have this collection you have the melody.

Musical Review of Latest Compositions Suited for Picture Playing

No. 1—"Russian Dance," by M. Gluck. A very lively characteristic composition in ¾ time, introducing sleighbells (Oliver Ditson Edition).

No. 2—"Canary Cottage," by Earl Carroll. Another new Oliver Morosco Play. A selection, one-step and Fox Trot have now been published by Leo Feist.

No. 4—"Old Refrain," by Fritz Kreisler. A touching characteristic song, made famous by John McCormack during the past year. Its original beauties have all been retained and the orchestration carried out according to the wishes of the composer, can also be used as an accompaniment to a singer. (Carl Fischer Edition.)

No. 5—"My Dreams," by Dorothy Lee. A fine little concert number by this writer of popular favorites. A composition most appropriate for love scenes and themes. (Sam Fox Edition, Cleveland, O.)

No. 6—"Twilight," a reverie by Bendix. Another famous composition which has probably achieved greater popularity than any of Bendix's compositions. An exceptional line number for love themes. (Edition Chappel & Company, New York.)

Drawing for B. S. Moss' New 181st Street Theatre
"THE POWER OF DECISION"
(Reviewed on page 2518)
(Metro Films)

"After Sunset" (4/4 Moderato) by Pryor is the Theme
1— "Silence" until— T: "When the grim reaper, etc."
2— "Berceuse" (4/4 Lento) by Karganoff until T: "Little dreaming".
3— "Continue to action" until— T: "What am I bid, for, etc."
4— "Lonning" (Andante) by Bendix until— T: "Poor child forgive us."
5— "Theme" until— T: "Margaret took up the threads of life."
6— "Heart Secrets" (Melodious) Serenade by Diamond until— T:
7— "Days passed days during, etc."
8— "Continue to action" until— T: "With perfect faith she wore, etc."
9— "Pierrot Serenade" (4/4 Allegretto Moderato) by Randegger T:
10— "Something flowers, etc."
11— "Organ action to T:" Margaret finds Mrs. Halls Home.
12— "Canzonette" (2/4 Allegretto Moderato) by Godard until— T:
13— "Time the great healer."
14— "Romance" (6/8 Allegretto) by Rubens until— T: "Listen I
15— "Continue or repeat pp" until— T: "A year later."
16— "Sweet Ponderinga" (2/4 Andante) by Langey until— T: "1 was an orphan, etc.
17— "Agitato to action" until — S: "Mother looking at her ring.
18— "Continue to action" until— T: "Margaret am I dreaming?"
19— "Continue or repeat pp" until — T: "A year later."
20— "Organ action to T:" Margaret finds Mrs. Halls Home.
21— "Sweet Ponderinga" (2/4 Andante) by Langey until— T: "1 was an orphan, etc.
22— "Agitato to action" until — S: "Mother looking at her ring.
23— "Dawn of Love" (4/4 Allegretto Mederato) by Bendix until— T:
24— "Theme" until— T: "Good bye."
"THE DERELICT" (Fox Production)

"Last Spring" (4/4 Andante) by Grieg is the Theme
1. "Serenade" (2/4 Allegro Grazioso) by César until-T: "Dancing scene."
2. "Good Waltz" to action until-T: "Rose’s mother of the woman, etc.
3. "Organ to action" until-S: "Violin player in view starts to play"
4. "Flirting Whister" (One Step) by Lake to action until T: "Rose’s sister who sees mission in life, etc.
5. "Longing (4/4 Andantino Grazioso) by Florida until T: "Of such a marriage what could be expected."
6. "Home from the Club" (Characteristical) by Laurencéau until-T: "The gulf grows wider, etc.
7. "Theme" until-S: "Interior of studio, Stuart drinking, etc.
8. "Piano Solo" to action until-T: "Morning brings even clearer realization.
Note—A song appearing on the screen and entitled "She is only a bird in a gilded cage," is entirely out of print and not obtainable anymore. Piano player should copy from the screen as much as possible and improvise the rest.
10. "Continue to action until-S: "Woman with baby seated in arm chair."
11. "Theme" until-T: "But it will cost something to get rid of me."
12. "Romance from King Manfred Act IV" (4/4 Andante Sostenuto) by Reinecke until-T: "Ladies, Ladies! does the week divorce, etc.
13. "Under the leaves" (4/4 Poco Adagio) by Thorne until-T: "Ah most wonderful woman, etc.
14. "Allegro" to action until-T: "Mother was right, I scorn you."
15. "Repeat Under the Leaves" by Thorne until-T: "So Teddy takes another step down."
17. "Very short agitato" to action until-T: "Getting ready to beat it.
18. "Organ to action" until-T: "I’ll make all arrangements."
19. "Funeral March" by Chopin.
Note—This number is used in a sarcastic way, as it is not directly suggested by the action of the picture and suggest that you substitute for (4/4 Moderato) if you cannot get away with it—most probably until-S: "‘Old man walking out, leaving Teddy alone."
20. "Heavy Dramatic" by Gebmiller until-T: "‘Gentlemen here the Corset.
21. "Repeat ‘Chopin’s Funeral March’ (in the same number as no. 19) until-T: "A pretty trick to play on a friend."
22. "Organ to action" until-T: "The same weakness that, etc.
23. "Piano Solo improvise to action until-T: "In the meantime Teddy’s child, etc.
24. "Tutu" (4/4 Moderato Grazioso) by Walter Miles (watch for train effects until-S: "Interior of beer saloon.
25. "Piano improvise to action" until-S: "Teddy read address on envelope.
27. "Heavy Right Agitato" (watch action) until-T: "The desk sergeant a regular man.
28. "’El King’ (Aptato) Lister Schubert with ad. lib. Timpany Rolls until-T: "You’re a wise cracking puncher.
29. "Theme F" until-*  END.

"THE HIDDEN CHILDREN"
(Metro Production)

"An Indian Melody" by Bucalossi is the Theme
(Reviewed on Page 2305)
1. "Theme" until-T: "May Allison at Lords.
2. "Continue to action" until-T: "Harold Lockwood, etc.
3. "Scalp Dance" by Lake until (to action) until-T: "The Senecas are rising.
4. "Continue " until-T: "‘Alone and penniless, etc.
5. "Oasis" 4th number from the "Desert Suite" by H. Grun until-T: "Mayara a chief of the Mohican clan.
6. "Morning on the plains" (Indian) by Wheeler until-S: "Girl coming along with beaded girthing by Goldie.
7. "Animato Movement" from "Love’s Sunshine" by Wolff until-T: "In the morning."
8. "Organ to action" short scene, improvise on theme until-T: "It’s only a shower.
9. "Short Furioso pp" with ad. lib. Timpany Rolls during lightning until-T: "Late that night.
10. "Lovers’ Song" (Indian) by Wheeler until-T: "In the morning."
11. "Indian Love Theme" by Winkler (repeat if necessary) until-T: "Why have you followed him?"
13. "Theme" until-T: "At the spring.
15. "Introduction of ‘Silvery Brook’ twice if necessary until-T: "At night.
16. "Blissful Dreams" (Intermezzo) by Meyer Heimund until-T: "Even pomey needs to meet her in the morning."
17. "Organ to action" until-T: "I cannot let you risk.
19. "Lake Sebastian" by Lake pp during scenes not marching
21. "Organ to action" (short scene) until-T: "Senecas break through.
24. "Organ" (short scene) until-T: "Catherine’s town the feast of dreams."

IN CHOOSING AN ORGAN
It should mean much to you that the HIGHEST

Officers and Executives of National and State Exhibitor Asns. use SEEBURG ORGANS.

Fred J. Herrington, Past President National Exhibitors League of America.
Oliver McKee, Former Treas., Exhibitors League, Pittsburg.

ALSO
Jake Wells has a Seeburg in each of his 12 theatres.
Adolph Samuel, Atlanta, Bought 6 Seeburgs.

YOU don’t run any risk when you buy a Seeburg.

J. P. SEEBURG CO.

Manufacturers
1004 REPUBLIC BLDG.
CHICAGO, ILL.

BOSTON NEW YORK PHILADELPHIA
162 Boylston St. 729 Seventh Ave. PHILA

PITTSBURGH ST. LOUIS
Setzer Bldg. 602 Princess Theatre Bldg.

MINNEAPOLIS FARGO N. D.
Stone Bldg. FRANCISCO
80 So. 8th St. 52 Turk St.

SAN FRANCISCO BEAUMONT, TEXAS
52 Turk St.

Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
INFORMATION

I am interested in Motion Picture Photography and would like

Without Obligation

on my part to obtain information on the equipment as checked

CAMERAS
CAMERA ATTACHMENTS
TRIPODS
LENSES
FILM STOCK
STUDIO LIGHTS
LABORATORY APPARATUS
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

(Tear out this advertisement and mail to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Avenue, New York.)

Name .................................................................
Theatre ...............................................................
Address .....................................................................

THE BARTOLA ORCHESTRAL Stops WILL MAKE YOUR PIPE ORGAN UP TO DATE LOW IN COST

ORGAN AND ORCHESTRA WITH ONE PLAYER

Orchestral Instruments and Effects Combined with any Pipe Organ

Write for Particulars Today

Add 100% to Your Music

BARTOLA MUSICAL INSTRUMENT CO.
CHARLES PYLE, Gen. Sales Agent
707-712 Michigan Bldg., Chicago
FACTORY, OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN

28—"Dance of the Red Men" by Wheelock until—T: "Who is that?"
26—"At Dawn from the Indian Summer Suite" by Lake until—T: "Have a care to read truly."
27—"Ramona" (Indian Intermezzo) by Lee, Johnson until—T: "A surprise attack (with ad lib. Tympany rolls)."
28—"Continue ff" with Tympany Rolls until—T: "A daughter finds contentment."
29—"Falcon March" by Chambers to action pp or ff Tympany Rolls during battle scenes until—T: "The death of Amochock."
30—"Heavy Furioso" (short) to action until—T: "Safe and together."
31—"Theme" until—* * * * * END.

Color Cinematography
(Continued from page 2882)

from one emulsion to another, although in color work a slight loss of rapidity is occasioned by the dyeing of the film to render it panchromatic.

If, however, the panchromatizing of the virgin stock is carried out in a scientific manner by those who know how, there should not be sufficient variation in the characteristics of the stock to necessitate any change in the taking-filters.

We have tested this point. Films extending over a range of sixty different emulsions were dyed (in a color sensitizing bath) under constant conditions as to time of immersion, constituency of bathing solution, time of drying, etc. Speed tests were made from samples of each emulsion, dyed and undyed. The speed tests were not empirical camera tests, nor integrating spectrophotometer tests, but H & D sector-wheel exposures, time and temperature of development being constant throughout.

The results showed a satisfactory agreement throughout the sixty emulsions as regards:
1. The decrease in speed due to bathing.
2. The similarity in sensitiveness of the virgin emulsions.
3. The similarity in sensitiveness of the dyed emulsions.

This removes any suspicion as to the existence of appreciable variation in the speed of virgin negative stock of standard make.

We need not discuss at length the correspondent's contention that twice the length of film is required to record a scene of given duration by a cinematographic color process. This is true for a successive process, but does not hold for some systems described in our articles previously referred to.

As a final stumbling-block in the path of the color cinematographer it is claimed that eye-strain always follows after witnessing color projections, and in some instances nervous tension is caused.

It is on record, and was hinted at in our reply to the former correspondent on this subject, that the physiological aspects of retinal color sensibility have been taken into account in at least one color process now being commercialized. By this we mean that it is possible to view the color pictures in question for hours without a bit of eye fatigue. Moreover, we think that any one who would succumb to nervous tension from looking at motion pictures in colors should be carefully kept away from motion picture exhibitions. Some of the happenings in present-day screen offerings would be likely to "take them off" altogether.

A. S. C.

An Attractive Theatre Interior
BUILDING AND FURNISHING

Indiana Theatres

L UNA theatre, owned and operated by the Lucas Amusement Company, at 629 Main street, Lafayette, Indiana, is in the business district of the city. The theatre was designed by W. K. Eldridge, of Indianapolis, and the building was completed in 1913. It is a brick, steel and concrete structure, 35 feet in width by 120 feet in depth. The lobby of the theatre measures 18 feet in width by 28 feet in depth. Several poster display frames and photos furnished by the Theatre Supply Company, of Cleveland, are used here. The interior is neatly decorated. A beamed ceiling has been handsomely finished, with plastic ornament and figurore decorations.

A Buffalo forge blower system and indirect heating are the means of heating and ventilating. Indirect lighting system is used. The seating capacity is 330; opera chairs were furnished by Heywood & Wakefield Brothers. The projection room, which is in charge of C. W. Runsey, contains two of the latest model Simplex projector and a General Electric mercury arc rectifier. The length of throw is 83 feet onto a mirror screen. A Seeburg organ, installed at great expense to the management, furnishes the music for the picture.

There are seven performances daily consisting of from six to eight reels. Vitagraph, World and Fox share the honors of the weekly program. Herald, billboard and newspaper advertising are used extensively, several thousand dollars having been spent within the last twelve months for this purpose.

H. H. Johnson is the manager, and through his progressive ideas and "live-wire" methods has made a big success of this theatre. Improvements are contemplated, the nature of which has not as yet been decided.

THE Gem theatre is owned and operated by W. J. Kirk, at 219 Main street, the business center of North Manchester, Indiana. This theatre is a store remodeled and measures 19 feet in width by 100 feet in depth. The lobby of the theatre measures 8 feet in width by 16 feet in depth, and is adorned by several brass display frames. The interior is decorated very plainly, the side walls being covered with a plain colored paper; ceiling is calssened white.

Electric ventilating system has been installed and this used in conjunction with a hot-air furnace keeps the theatre comfortable at all times.

The theatre has a seating capacity of 250, Peabody School Furniture Company having supplied the chairs. A home-made indirect lighting system is used, this serving its purpose excellently. The projection-room contains a Powers projector and a mercury arc rectifier. The length of throw is 90 feet onto a gold fibre screen. Oscar Ward is the operator. An organ of large dimensions furnishes the music for the picture.

The theatre advertises extensively in the daily newspapers.

THE Idle Hour theatre, one of the leading theatres of Fort Wayne, Indiana, located at 1305 East Lewis street, in the residential section of the city, is owned by J. E. Beiersdorfer, and is under the management of Theo. Beiersdorfer. The building is constructed of brick and concrete, was designed by M. Koerner, a well-known architect. It measures twenty-four feet in width by sixty-four feet in depth. The lobby is spacious and neatly decorated, containing several display frames taking one and three-sheet posters.

A twenty-inch Kimball exhaust fan and fifteen side-wall fans always keep the house well ventilated.

The semi-indirect lighting system is used, current being furnished by the Municipal Traction Company.

Two hundred and thirty opera chairs, furnished by the American Seating Company, are capacity of the theatre. The projection which contains a Powers 6A motor-driven projector is in charge of Lynn Sweet. The length of throw is 90 feet onto a Mirroroid screen.

The management contemplates redecorating the theatre within a short time.

Hamilton Theatre

THE Hamilton theatre, operated by the B. S. Moss Theatrical Enterprises, is one of the leading motion picture and vaudeville houses in Greater New York, and probably one of the most popular.

Located on Broadway at the corner of 146th street, a residential and business district of the Bronx, it is also convenient to the subway and for automobiles patrons. W. F. Meyers, manager at this theatre, previous to his transfer to the Hamilton had a theatre of his own, which he gave up to take over the management of Moss' Brooklyn house, the Flatbush. He has left no stone unturned to provide for the comforts of his patrons at the Hamilton, and the appreciation of his thoughtfulness is shown by the large box-office receipts at the close of each day.

The theatre has a frontage of 110 feet on Broadway and extends back 210 feet on 146th street. It is constructed of brick, concrete and steel, with a white terra cotta front of immense arches three stories high. It was completed during 1912 and is owned by the Lafayette Leasing Company. There are really two separate buildings connected by a passageway. The first building, which houses the lobby, also is occupied by several stores on the ground floor and a dance hall above. The other building is the auditorium. The exterior of the theatre is well lighted by numerous electric lamps and a large electric display sign which bears the name of the theatre. A Norden changeable electric sign has also been installed, and here the name of the feature showing at the house is posted.

The outer lobby is very attractively decorated, the main colors being rose and cream, with gold trimmings. The general style of architecture is on the Gothic order mingled with Adams design. Large plate glass mirrors have been set in panels in the wall, these mirrors not only adding to the attractiveness of the lobby, but also to the size, without mentioning what effect it has on the women patrons of the theatre. The inner lobby is finished in dark brown, tapestry cloth with a flower motif having been employed to cover the walls. Both direct and semi-direct lighting systems are used in the lobbies, the fixtures being a combination of chain suspended bowl type and regular direct lighting fixtures. They are of an odd design, finished in gold, with bowls and shades of amber glass, which give forth a soft and mellow light. The measurements of the lobby are 35 feet in width by 72 feet in depth. Display frames and easels are used largely to advertise current and coming attractions.

The interior of the theatre is most beautifully decorated in tan, cream color with gold, and white Vermont marble trimmings. The side walls are covered with a tapestry cloth of the same design as that used in the lobbies, only it is tan. Marble runs around the walls to a height of four feet; the door frames are also outlined in white marble. The proscenium boxes, and the balcony facade are finished in gold. The hangings in the proscenium boxes and at the rear of the orchestra are of brown velour with gold braid trimmings.

The semi-direct lighting fixture is mostly used in the interior. Lights have been concealed in troughs inside the border of the proscenium, and in the ceiling. Underneath the balcony two light fixtures with amber globes are used. In the proscenium boxes the chain suspended bowl type fixtures have been installed. Along the side walls two electrotors furnish the illumination.
A ventilating system and an Ideal heating system keep the theatre comfortable and ventilated at all times. During the summer months by using the ventilating system the theatre can be cooled.

The seating capacity of the house is 1,889, there being 1,100 orchestra seats and the balance of 789 balcony, loge and box seats. The orchestra and balcony chairs are upholstered with brown velour, the boxes and loges having gilded cane chairs, all furnished by the American Seating Company of Chicago. All doors leading into the theatre are of sheet metal of the latest approved type.

This theatre being fireproof and all different devices having been installed to safeguard against any accident, smoking is permitted in the boxes, loges and balcony.

The projection room, constructed of reinforced concrete, located in the rear of the theatre, is exceptionally well placed. The equipment consists of two Simplex projectors, a spot light and generator set. The projection is very good, being under the care of the competent operator, R. Busch. The length of throw is 116 feet onto a canvas screen. The stage of the theatre measures 80 feet in width by 32 feet in depth. The proscenium opening is 40 feet wide by 28 feet in height. The stage lighting equipment consists of footlights, three series, red, white and blue, and five borders of red, white and blue lamps. Each color can be used separately according to demand. The proscenium lights are twelve 60-watt lamps. These are controlled from a latest type dead-face switchboard, which eliminates all danger of short circuiting and does not leave any bare spots to come in contact with.

A steel fire curtain weighing eight tons has been installed. This is operated by hydraulic power. It takes eleven seconds to lower the curtain. “Billy” Allen is the stage manager.

Feature pictures and a daily change of program, with a careful thought for the class of pictures shown, have been the principal methods employed by E. A. Finch in building up the business. The theatre employs only union people, and all told there are twenty-three employees.

The home spirit already mentioned prevails so generally that the regular patrons have their particular seats, in which they may be found, if not every night, at least three and four nights a week, and the theatre is a friendly neighborhood gathering. It has been said by some of the close friends of families in the vicinity, that if members were not at home certain nights of the week they could be found at the Strand. This shows the regularity of attendance.

Matinees are given Sundays and holidays, and two shows are given each night. Saturday matinees were tried as an experiment, but, not proving successful, they were abandoned. Special pictures are run occasionally. The Strand is one of two picture houses in the city in which a photo pipe organ has been installed at a cost of $10,000. The organ which was entirely inexperienced in the picture business when he opened the Strand in July. He went at it as a business proposition, however, and the seven months just past have more than satisfied him with their results. He has a personality that has a good deal to do with bringing his theatre patronage.

The United States Naval Publicity Bureau, through H. M. Bennett, commander and officer in charge, placed an order with the Minusa Cine Products Co. for a specially constructed Minusa gold fibre, to be used in their projection room.

At the present time this department of the United States Navy is exceedingly active and they have considerable use for moving pictures in the extension of their enlistment work.

The United States Government uses a large number of Minusa gold fibre screens in such as the above projected posts and this fact had a great deal to do with Commander Bennett placing the order with them for the Minusa screen.

The installation of this screen was taken care of by the Picture Theatre Equipment Co., of New York City, the Minusa Construction Co., of eastern distribution.

P. E. Pinkelman, purchaser of a new Quincy, Ill., house and owner of three others, has placed an order with the Minusa Cine Products Co. for Minusa gold fibre screens to go in all of his houses.

Theatre at Evansville, Ind., of the Strand building, was the broker. He will have the management of the building.

DIRECTORY OF NEW THEATRES

ILLINOIS

The old Backmeyer building at Nashville has been converted into a motion picture theatre, which under the name of "The Princess" had a non-theatrical opening a month ago.

Henry Varble, of Kane, has had plans prepared for a new airfield on the site of the K. O. Opera House, and work will be commenced in the immediate future.

The Orpheum theatre on Twelfth street, Lawrenceville, was opened to the public last week. The new theatre will seat 400 persons and is the second theatre in the community. The theatre is lit by a good artificial lighting system, using a soft moonlight effect that does not interfere with the use of the picture machine.

The West side of Chicago has a new theatre to cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. The theatre has been acquired by Louis M. Marks, Julius Goodman, Meyer S. Marks, and Louis H. Harrison from S. B. Lingle for a reported consideration of $40,000. It will be improved with the Marshall Square theatre building, which will contain, in addition to a theatre with a seating capacity of 2,400, nine stores, eighteen offices, and ten apartments. There also will be Turkish and steam baths.

It is stated the building and land will represent an investment of about $75,000. A. W. Levy is the architect and R. L. Roy House, who recently purchased for the same parties the land for the Broadway-Strand theatre building, was the broker. He will have the management of the building.

The Cook’s park salt wells at Evansville will be developed for theatre uses this summer. Jacob H. Weber, a lumber dealer, who has leased the grounds, states, Weber expects to spend as much as $10,000 for moving pictures and a cabaret, and a theatre. The theatre will be erected east of the salt works.

The new Strathmore theatre is to be erected at South Bend by the Alvord. It will seat from 1,000 to 1,000 persons. The present Orpheum with a capacity of 1,900 will be closed and a new lot of stock will go there. The new theatre will be built on the north-west corner of Twenty-second street and Marshall boulevard. The building has been purchased by Louis M. Marks, Julius Goodman, Meyer S. Marks, and Louis H. Harrison.

INDIANA

The new Strand theatre, of Crown Point, is a beautiful photoplay house. The building cost $20,000. It opened on Wednesday, October 6, and has a seating capacity of 630. The decorations of the interior are beautiful and harmonious. Every convenience and comfort is provided for theatre-goers by the management. The heating and ventilating systems are of the latest design.
KENTUCKY

Contractor J. W. Lockwood secured the contract for the remodeling of the Gem theatre for Bright Brothers, who will move into the building in August. Lassiter & Brother are architected for the interior rearrangement and the Langston-O'me Company will furnish lumber material. E. W. Eichman of Decatur, an efficiency man, will have charge of the interior improvements.

Work will begin as soon as possible.

A new theatre is in course of construction at Burnside, on the site of the old Dobbs Hotel which was recently destroyed by fire. The theatre will face Fifth street, right across from the Seven Gables Hotel. It will be a strictly impregnable building with concrete floor and walls and an iron roof. L. M. Lloyd, the owner, says he is going to make it comfortable and roomy, as well as safe. It will be 50 feet long, by 25 feet wide, with a concession store on the first floor in front and a cloak room and ticket on the second floor, accompanied by other modern improvements and conveniences.

MICHIGAN

Announcement was recently made that an addition will be built on the rear of the Orpheum theatre at Hancock, and that the work will be commenced just as soon as it is possible to get started. The intention is to get the job completed at the earliest date possible, the reason for this being that the management wants to take advantage of an improved service that will soon be offered as well as to accommodate the increased patronage which this popular little playhouse has been enjoying for some time past.

Flats for the extension have already been made by W. H. Mason and the managers of the theatre, and when the work is completed the Orpheum will not only be up to date in every respect but will also have a much larger stage as well as a much larger seating capacity than at present. The new addition will admit of 400 more seats, making the total seating capacity of the theatre 1,400. The extension on the rear will also admit of the erection of a new and larger stage.

MINNESOTA

“The New Unique,” formerly the Unique, the oldest vaudeville house in Minneapolis, has been completely overhauled and redecorated and was opened as a moving picture house Saturday, April 14, under management of Kinkelstein and Ruben. Several thousand dollars have been spent in remodeling the house. The best ventilating system obtainable has been installed and the auditorium converted into one of the most modern in the city.

The New Unique henceforth will be the home of the William Hart releases. Kinkelstein and Ruben closed the old Unique last week with Triangle whereby they secure all Triangle releases. Triangle pictures will show in the New Unique the first of the week, the last of the week and will be booked open. The bill will be changed Sunday and Thursday. Five-piece orchestra under the leadership of W. E. Davis, has been engaged for the new house. This will include violin, flute, clarinet, drums and piano. An organ similar to that in the New Daniel is being installed, and will be ready for use in about six weeks.

The New Unique has a seating capacity of 1,000.

MISSOURI

A new theatre is being erected at Gravois avenue and Morganford road in St. Louis by Eugene and Harry Hertz, proprietors of the Cinderella, at Iowa and Cherokee streets; the Peerless, on south Broadway, and the Favorite theatre, and airconditeone.

The theatre will have a seating capacity of 1,500, the theatre occupying the entire lower floor of the building, which will have a lodge hall on the second floor.

NEBRASKA

Work on the new theatre at Wahoo is rapidly being pushed to completion. Half of the walls are now up and the other half is expected to be up within a month.

The old People’s Bank building at Upland has been sold to Charles Johnson, who will move it and immediately start the construction of a modern brick picture theatre, 100 feet by 40 feet.

NEW JERSEY

The Strand theatre at 284-286 Main avenue, Passaic, opened Saturday last to good business. The attractive patriotic program was the feature of the opening night and every seat of the 1,000 provided was filled.

PENNSYLVANIA

“The Colonial” of Reading hailed as the finest photoplay theatre in the state and of the remodeling in the country, which has been in the process of construction during the past year on the north side of Penn street near Seventh, was opened April 15. Mr. O’Neill of Colonial is a testimonial to the brains and energy of the Carr & Schad interests and the motion picture industry, and unquestionably will be a great credit to Reading. The project cost more than $250,000.

TEXAS

Announcement has been made of the closing of a ninety-nine year lease by Karl Holbetsle, president of the Interstate Amusement Company, for a picture theatre on Elm street, near Harvard, which is in course of being equipped and furnished and which will be named a new Majestic theatre building to cost $250,000. The Interstate Amusement Company now operates large vaudeville houses in Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth, and furnishes bookings to several other smaller Texas cities. Pictures are featured in all of the houses.

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, size 8½x11 inches. Front page contains a beautiful full view of a leading player (latest pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theater. Your patrons will be proud to carry this picture frame. You won’t swap any of these programs from your floor.

NOW READY. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby offering a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for sentiments Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

LARGE HAND COLORED PICTURES.

Size 22 x 28 7/8 each. Front page contains a beautiful full view of a leading player (latest pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will be proud to carry this picture frame. You won’t swap any of these programs from your floor.

NOW READY. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby offering a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for sentiments Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.
114th Floor, CANDLER BUILDING."
The Kids in Your Neighborhood Go to the Movies
Who Gets Their Money—You or Your Competitor?

Do you realize that thousands of exhibitors in the United States have greatly increased the earning power of their theaters by making friends with the kiddies? If you let someone else take the children's trade away from your theater, you not only lose their nickels and dimes, but the nickels and dimes of their fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers, because where the kiddies go their parents go.

Movie Rings and Buttons are a mighty aid to the up-to-date exhibitor. They help you get the children's friendship and hold it—and the children bring their folks to the theatre of "The Movie Man who gives rings to them."

Each ring comes packed in a neat envelope, bearing the name and address of your theatre. If you want to see your business begin to jump, let us hear from you at once.

Prices on request
CAHILL IOGE COMPANY
117 W. Harrison Street, Chicago, Ill.

Movie Rings and Buttons

The border of this ad is a photograph of special FABRIKOID purposefully made for Theatre Upholstery

Assures Longer and Better Service
FABRIKOID is an improved leather substitute for upholstering picture houses, theatres and auditoriums. It is very durable, waterproof and sanitary, plant attractive in appearance and its adoption solves the upholstery problem.

FABRIKOID upholstery improves the theatre's appearance, assures longer and better service and reduces the cost of upkeep.

Ask for samples, booklet and prices DU PONT FABRIKOID CO.
Wilmington, Del. Toronto, Ont.

BETTER SATISFACTION

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Architectural Suggestions
2. Arc Controllers
3. Bells
4. Building Materials
5. Controls
6. Controls
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Conversions and Transformers
10. Developing and Printing
11. Developing Tanks
12. disinfectants and Perfumes
13. Economizers and Rheostats
14. Electric Signs
15. Elevators and Escalators
16. Exterior Lighting
17. Film Carriers
18. Film Censers
19. Film Cleaners
20. Film Stock
21. Fire Extinguishers
22. Floral Decorations
23. Generators
24. Gas Engines
25. Heating Apparatus
26. Interior Lighting
27. Interior Telephones
28. Leases
29. Lighting Sets
30. Lobby Display
31. Lobby Novelties
32. Metal Ceilings
33. Motors
34. Musical Instruments
35. Paints
36. Perfuming Machines
37. Printing Machines
38. Projection Machines
39. Projection Machines (Home)
40. Projection Booths
41. Recorders
42. Seats
43. Showcases
44. Slides
45. Slides
46. Studio Lights
47. Ticket Selling Machines
48. Ticket Taking Machines
49. Ticket Holders
50. Ticket Holders
51. Ticket Holders
52. Uniforms
53. Ventilating and Fans
54. Vacuum Cleaners
55. Water Coolers
56. Water Coolers
57. Water Coolers
58. Water Coolers
59. Water Coolers
60. Water Coolers
61. Water Coolers
62. Water Coolers
63. Water Coolers
64. Water Coolers
65. Water Coolers
66. Water Coolers
67. Water Coolers
68. Water Coolers
69. Water Coolers
70. Water Coolers
71. Water Coolers
72. Water Coolers
73. Water Coolers
74. Water Coolers
75. Water Coolers
76. Water Coolers
77. Water Coolers
78. Water Coolers
79. Water Coolers
80. Water Coolers
81. Water Coolers
82. Water Coolers
83. Water Coolers
84. Water Coolers
85. Water Coolers
86. Water Coolers
87. Water Coolers
88. Water Coolers
89. Water Coolers
90. Water Coolers
91. Water Coolers
92. Water Coolers
93. Water Coolers
94. Water Coolers
95. Water Coolers
96. Water Coolers
97. Water Coolers
98. Water Coolers
99. Water Coolers
100. Water Coolers

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above list.

Name.

City.

State.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK
THEY READ THE "NEWS"

Last week's issue of Motion Picture News carried one hundred pages of paid advertising.

For the past four weeks—April 7th issue to April 28th issue inclusive, Motion Picture News has carried a total of 30 pages more than the publication carrying the second largest amount. Much of this excess advertising is exclusive with the Motion Picture News.

The Reason:—a very simple one. Motion Picture News is read—from cover to cover—more than any other trade publication. Editorial pre-eminence makes advertising pre-eminence. And advertising pre-eminence, in turn, makes for the exhibitor and state rights buyer a still more interesting and valuable publication.
MAE MURRAY

one of the most popular and sensationally successful screen stars, with unusual charm and personality, will win greater laurels with a superb adaptation, particularly suited to her talents of

“The Primrose Ring”

Ruth Sawyer’s tremendously popular story, will be one of the signal Lasky successes of the year.

Coming, May 7th

Paramount Pictures Corporation

New York, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation

BLUEBIRD
PHOTOPLAYS INC. PRESENT
"SOUTHERN JUSTICE"
WITH MYRTLE GONZALEZ, GEORGE HERNANDEZ AND FRED CHURCH
THE DRAMATIC FOILING OF A CROOKED PLOT THAT WAS WITHIN THE LAW
DIRECTED BY LYNN REYNOLDS

Book Thru Your Local BLUEBIRD Exchange or BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS INC 1600 BROADWAY NEW YORK
Mr. Burton Holmes, the premier traveler of the world, says—"I lecture to travel, not travel to lecture"—and the unique quality of his Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel Pictures shows the touch of the artist.

Mr. Holmes personally cuts, assembles, titles and edits the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel Pictures which are released, one single reel each week, by Paramount exchanges.
Margaret Illington

famous star of such stage successes as "The Thief," "Kindling," "Within the Law," etc., makes her screen debut under the direction of Jesse L. Lasky in the Paramount Picture, "The Sacrifice."

a gripping story of international politics with a background of war, and the unusual likeness of the daughter of a great general and a notorious dancer, is a great foundation for suspense and big scenes which hold the audience spellbound.

Charles Kenyon

the famous playwright who wrote "Kindling." Miss Illington's greatest stage triumph, wrote the story, which has been adapted for the screen by Beatrice DeMille and Leighton Osmun.

Released May 3rd.

Again exhibitors get one of the biggest stage stars and a stupendous production at the comparatively low Paramount price. Advertise it right and "clean up."

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE
at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Adolph Zukor, Pres., Jesse L. Lasky, Vice-Prex., Cecil B. DeMille, Director-General.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Marie Doro

No one who saw "The Morals of Marcus" on the screen will ever forget it or Miss Doro's charm and dramatic ability—yet here is a play which gives Marie Doro the greatest opportunity to date—it is a Famous Players production and the kind of play that brings your patrons back for more.

"Heart's Desire"

takes its name from a rose bush by which little Fleurette, the flower girl, hopes to gain the favor of her landlord and instead she gains a charge of buckshot from his son's shot gun—all of which gives rise to a very entertaining and charming story of old Brittany.

Released April 30th.

A big star with a string of stage and screen successes back of the name will "draw" a big house, if you don't forget to tell the new people "when and where."

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FOUR EIGHTY FIVE FIFTH AVENUE at FORTY FIRST ST.
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Adolph Zukor, Pres., Jesse L. Lasky, Vice-Pres., Cecil B. DeMille, Director-General

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWE."
Looks like the "fat" woman in the circus but it's "Fatty" Arbuckle.

It's a circus all right, but there's no "canvas top" in the picture—the sky is the limit. Disguised as a school girl "Fatty" wears this costume when he kidnaps his lady love in "The Butcher Boy".

Presented by Jos. M. Schenck

Any exhibitor, anywhere, can have these comedies whether he is now doing business with the Paramount exchange or not.
ARTCRAFT
presents
Mary Pickford
In a Photoplay Production by
Cecil B. DeMille
"A ROMANCE OF THE REDWOODS"
by Cecil B. DeMille and
Jeanie MacPherson
Released May 14th

ARTCRAFT PICTURES CORPORATION
729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

Adolph Zukor, Pres., Jesse L. Lasky, Vice-Pres., Cecil B. DeMille, Director-General
Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
Last week on these pages Uncle Sam congratulated

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

on the release of his great patriotic picture

“In Again--Out Again”

the most timely feature in months, teeming with action, patriotism, thrills and laughs.

Uncle Sam was right!

All attendance records in New York’s beautiful and spacious Rialto Theatre were broken by an endless throng at its first presentation last week.

When are you going to show it?
Wire the nearest Artcraft-Exchange NOW.

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
Adolph Zukor, Pres., Jesse L. Lasky, Vice-Pres., Cecil B. DeMille, Director General

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
HOWL - COMING - HOWL

IT'S A REAL TREAT

Present

Alice Howell

Directed by J.G. Blystone

in "Balloconatics"
"Automaniacs"
"Neptune's Naughty Daughter"

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.

1600 BROADWAY
NEW YORK
Woodrow Wilson,
Col. Roosevelt and Reputation

THE President of the United States or Colonel Roosevelt would bring the entire population of a city flocking to your door. Such is the magic of fame and reputation. Consider the fame and reputation of Goldwyn stars:

Mae Marsh is the heroine of a film that is a national epic. More millions have seen her than have seen President Wilson and Col. Roosevelt combined.

Mary Garden is America's most famous woman. Millions have heard her sing via the medium of the phonograph. Every woman knows the perfume that bears her name.

Maxine Elliott's name and fame have reached into every household in the English-speaking world.

Jane Cowl is the heroine of the most successful plays produced in America in the last ten years—she is known to millions.

Madge Kennedy is acknowledged to be the greatest farce comedienne in America or England.

Have you thought of all of these things while weighing Goldwyn Pictures in your own mind?
Quality—Not Footage
For Goldwyn Exhibitors

THOUSANDS of exhibitors write to ask the length of Goldwyn Pictures.

Here is our answer:
They will be as long as the story demands, or as short as it demands. Pictures free of padding; pictures that are complete, yet never drag; pictures that know how far to go and when to stop.

In motion pictures we will make the works of Irvin S. Cobb, Margaret Mayo, Edgar Selwyn, Roi Cooper Megrue, Porter Emerson Browne and other famous authors the same tremendous successes that they were in the national magazines and on the stage.

There is a nation-wide demand for vivid, well-told, dramatic and well-directed film productions—a demand for power, quality, sanity and cleanliness.

Goldwyn, from the beginning, hopes to satisfy that demand.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation
16 East 42d Street, New York City
Telephone: Vanderbilt 11
An Appreciation of Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Features
by W. K. Hollander in "The Chicago Daily News"

In the field of feature photoplays Vitagraph has come to the front as a mighty contender. Thus, when the day of reckoning arrives, as is predicted by film men, and the fittest survive the expected deluge which threatens the industry, this brand of photoplays will remain with the comparatively few concerns whose efforts are directed along artistic channels.

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno

In

"The Captain of the Grey Horse Troop"

A Five-Part Blue Ribbon Feature

Adapted from Hamlin Garland's Famous Novel of the Race Tragedy of the American Indian

Directed by William Wolbert
Greater Vitagraph

The Biggest Opportunity Ever Offered to Exhibitors for Long Runs at Enormous Profits

"Within the Law"

in its four years on the stage, has done business in excess of two and a half million dollars. Carried from one end of the country to the other by nine companies turning in gross profits of fifteen thousand dollars weekly, the photoplay has waiting audiences in every city, town and hamlet that will tax the capacity of theatres for months to come.

Special Blue Ribbon Feature
Bayard Veiller's Phenomenal Melodrama

"Within the Law"

Alice Joyce, Harry Morey

And An All Star Vitagraph Cast—

Produced Under the Personal Supervision of J. Stuart Blackton. Directed by William P. Earle

At The Broadway Theatre, New York, Now.
GREATER VITAGRAPH

CAPACITY HOUSES EVERYWHERE for

THOMAS DIXON'S
MIGHTY MESSAGE OF WARNING

"The Fall of a Nation"
MUSICAL SCORE by VICTOR HERBERT

A Stupendous Seven-Part Photodrama of America at War-
A Film Throbbing With the Passions of the Hour

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
To All Who Are Interested in Great Box-Office Attractions

I HAVE ACQUIRED THE WORLD RIGHTS TO THE SUPERB PICTURE

THE BARRIER

By

REX BEACH

THE TREMENDOUS PICTURIZATION OF THIS NOTED AMERICAN AUTHOR'S MOST POWERFUL NOVEL

NOW READY FOR BOOKING

LEWIS J. SELZNICK

WIRE THE NEAREST SELZNICK-EXCHANGE

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
THE EASIEST WAY TO TEST YOUR THEATRE'S CAPACITY

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG

"THE EASIEST WAY"

By Eugene Walter
A PERFECT PICTURIZATION OF ONE OF AMERICA'S FEW REALLY GREAT DRAMAS

Directed by ALBERT CAPELLANI

HARRY RAPF

Presents

ROBERT WARWICK

"THE SILENT MASTER"

Adapted From The Novel "THE COURT OF ST. SIMON" By E PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

First American Production by The Celebrated LEONCE PERRET

A MYSTERY ROMANCE—REPLETE WITH THRILLS AND SENSATIONAL SURPRISES
HERBERT BRENON
Presents
"THE LONE WOLF"
By Louis Joseph Vance
With HAZEL DAWN
AND BERT LYTELL

THIS IS THE KIND OF PICTURE THAT DELIGHTS EVERYBODY. A SWIFTLY MOVING.
BREATHELESS
MELODRAMA WITH A BIG
LOVE
STORY

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK
Presents
NORMA TALMADGE
in
"THE LAW OF COMPENSATION"
By Wilson Mizner
Directed by JULIUS STEGER and JOSEPH A. GOLDEN "MAINTAINS THE BETTER PICTURES' STANDARD SET BY LEWIS J. SELZNICK"
CHICAGO AMERICAN
MACK SENNETT PRESENTS

MISS MABEL NORMAND AND HER OWN COMPANY IN "MICKEY"

THE LITTLE GIRL YOU WILL NEVER FORGET

METHOD AND DATE OF RELEASE LATER
MABEL NORMAND FEATURE FILM CO.

LONGACRE BLDG., NEW YORK CITY.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
THE FRAME-UP" STARS WILLIAM RUSSELL IN CHAUFFEUR'S ROLE

STURDY, good-looking William Russell is starred the week of May 7th in a most unusual five-reel offering. "The Frame-Up" is its title. Julius Grinnell Furthmann wrote it. Edward Sloman, who directed the "Sequel to the Diamond From the Sky," "My Fighting Gentlemen" and "High Play," besides numerous other productions, staged it.

It is a Twelve-Cylinder Story. "The Frame-Up" is the story of an automobile chauffeur who finds himself doing many things besides "chauffeuring." It can be referred to as a twelve-cylinder story if one phrases it in the terms of the motor world. Certainly William Russell, the star, is going at full speed from the moment he first enters the scene until he claps the heroine in his arms at the finish. Berated by his father for his idleness, the young millionaire resolves really to go to work. Sheer accident leads to his being offered a job as a driver of a taxi-cab. He accepts it and from that moment on things begin to happen at a mile-a-minute clip. He finds himself in the very heart of a criminal conspiracy and discovers he is himself being sought by the police.

There are thrills aplenty in "The Frame-Up" and audiences will be stirred to enthusiasm and wonder over the daring leap Russell makes from the running board of a speeding auto to the side of another car.

Directed by Edward Sloman.

Edward Sloman has taken full advantage of the many big situations offered in the whole picture. "The Frame-Up" is in every respect fit to rank alongside the other American-Mutual Pictures in which William Russell has appeared. The nearest Mutual Exchange will arrange booking dates for you.

Edna Goodrich's First Will Be "Reputation"

"Reputation," from the pen of John Clymer, will be the first vehicle of the beautiful Edna Goodrich as a Mutual star. This production is now well along toward completion. It will be released the week of May 28th. Director John O'Brien, who has produced features in which were starred such notables as Mae Marsh, Blanche Sweet, Bessie Love, Lillian Gish and others, is superintending the staging of "Reputation." He possesses a delicacy of imagination and a constructive artistic vision which make him a director of unusual ability. Exhibitors may look forward to a rare offering in "Reputation."

Mutual Star Productions For May

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Lead</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hedda Gabler</td>
<td>Nance O'Neil</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Frame-Up...</td>
<td>William Russell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annie-for-Spite...</td>
<td>Mary Miles Minter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Mirror...</td>
<td>Marjorie Rambeau</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Checkmate...</td>
<td>Jackie Saunders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Serpent's Tooth...</td>
<td>Gall Kane</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reputation...</td>
<td>Edna Goodrich</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FOUR SERIALS ARE NOW AVAILABLE AT MUTUAL EXCHANGES

Four big photo-novels are now available at all Mutual Exchanges. They are "The Railroad Raiders," "The Sequel to the Diamond From the Sky," "A Losr of the Lumberjacks," and "Our Girl Reporters." All of them feature stars of note, whose names alone will attract thousands. "The Railroad Raiders" is the newest of Helen Holmes productions. It is the third big Helen Holmes serial success. Trade journal reviewers, newspaper photoplay editors, exhibitors and motion picture fans themselves have enthused over it. One and all are agreed that it equals any previous Helen Holmes release—that it is crammed with action—punch—thrills. Hundreds of exhibitors who ran "The Diamond From the Sky" to capacity business at every show, are now cashing in on the sequel which, in four two-reel chapters, depicts what happens to all the interesting characters shown in the original serial. Still another big serial offering is available for the houses which haven't yet run "A Losr of the Lumberjacks," the fifteen-chapter story of the big timber country, starring Helen Holmes. A fourth serial is entitled "The Perils of Our Girl Reporters" and consists of a stirring series of newspaper stories in which are featured such well-known and popular players as Earle Metcalfe, Zena Keefe and Helen Greene.

In addition to the serials mentioned above, Mutual Exchanges can also supply such series chapterplays as "The Adventures of Shorty Horrison" and "Jimmie Dale, Alias 'The Grey Seal,'" both of which are money-getters as proven by actual demonstration in thousands of theatres.

IBSEN'S IMMORTAL PLAY, "HEDDA GABLER" WITH NANCE O'NEIL

For years Nance O'Neil has been one of the speaking stage's greatest drawing cards. And the one play in which she was always proclaimed at her best was Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler." Now Nance O'Neil has enchanted "Hedda Gabler" for the screen. The production has been staged in five reels. It is released as a Mutual Picture the week of May 7th.

Second of O'Neil Pictures.

"Hedda Gabler" is the second of the Nance O'Neil-Mutual Pictures. It was directed by Frank Powell, who supervised the production of Miss O'Neil's first Mutual Picture—"Mrs. Balfame," which is now showing to standing room at many theatres throughout the country. The dramatic critic of the Seattle Times in discussing Miss O'Neil's appearance in "Hedda Gabler," says: "It is a study that Nance O'Neil knows how to assimilate. The picture should be worth going far to see." While on the speaking stage Miss O'Neil developed such a following that the mere announcement that she is to appear in pictures at any theatre will assure capacity business, Ibsen's plays are known and admired by theatre-goers everywhere. "Hedda Gabler" is considered one of his best. The combination of Nance O'Neil and "Hedda Gabler" is one which spells certain success. The exhibitor announcing such an attraction is appealing to the most cultured and refined people of his community. He is winning new patrons for his house—people who perhaps have seldom attended a motion picture theatre—but who, attracted thereto by such an unusual offering, will return again and again.

Released the Week of May 7th.

Mutual Exchanges everywhere will release "Hedda Gabler" the week of May 7th. Booking arrangements can be made now. Prices, open dates, publicity helps, etc., will be supplied by your nearest Mutual manager upon request.

"Jimmie Dale" Created

by Frank L. Packard

FRANK POWELL Presents

NANCE O'NEIL

IN

HEDDA GABLER

America's foremost emotional screen star in Henrik Ibsen's immortal classic. Five acts. Released the week of May 7th.

The Seattle Times, in discussing "Hedda Gabler", says:—"The character presents a tremendous study but it is a study that Nance O'Neil knows how to assimilate. The picture should be worth going far to see."

The name, "Nance O'Neil," means big box-office receipts. Coupled with a play like Henrik Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" it is sure to attract tremendous audiences. Miss O'Neil's first Mutual picture — "Mrs. Balfame"— is now playing to standing room. Get your share of these successes. Write or visit your nearest Mutual Exchange.

Produced by Frank Powell Producing Corporation

MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

John R. Freuler, President

Exchanges Everywhere
American Film Company, Inc.

Presents

WM. RUSSELL

IN

THE FRAME-UP

Released the week of May 7th
Through MUTUAL EXCHANGES

The Denver Times Says:—“Mr. Russell’s athletic stunts are screen classics. We consider them eminently well worth the price of admission.” If you booked William Russell in “My Fighting Gentleman” and “High Play,” you’ll be anxious to show “The Frame-Up.”

These productions prove their value at the box-office. The name and the plays mean success—big business. Ask your nearest Mutual Exchange for a list of all Mutual Star Productions featuring William Russell.

MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

John R. Freuler, President
Exchanges Everywhere
Every Mutual Exchange is a big library of unusual film attractions. You can find productions of every class and character—red-blooded, highly dramatic offerings—uproarious comedies—stories of strong heart interest—romantic love tales, problem plays and other varieties. It will pay you to keep in constant touch with your nearest Mutual Exchange. Here are listed but a few of the Stars and attractions to be found in Mutual “BIG STARS ONLY” Pictures.

NANCE O’NEIL
Presented by Frank Powell Producing Corporation
In
"Mrs. Balfame"
"Hedda Gabler"

MARY HILLES MINTER
Presented by American Film Company, Inc.
In
"Youth’s Endearing Charm"
"Dulcie’s Adventure"
"Faith"
"A Dream or Two Ago"
"The Innocence of Lizette"
"The Gentle Intruder"
"Environment"
Coming—"Annie for Spite"

WILLIAM RUSSELL
Presented by American Film Company, Inc.
In
"My Fighting Gentlemen"
"High Play"
"The Frame-up"
Coming—"Shackles of Truth"

ANN MURDOCK
Presented by Empire All-Star Corporation
In Coming—"Outcast"

JACKIE SAUNDERS
Presented by E. D. Horkheimer
In
"Sunny Jane"
"The Wildcat"
Coming—"The Checkmate"

GAIL KANE
Presented by American Film Company, Inc.
In
"Whose Wife?"
Coming—"The Serpent’s Tooth"
"The Upper Crust"

MARJORIE RAMBEAU
Presented by Frank Powell Producing Corporation
In
"The Greater Woman"
"Motherhood"
"The Debt"
Coming—"The Mirror"
"The Dazzling Miss Davison"

MARGARITA FISCHER
Presented by Pollard Picture Playe Company
In
"The Pearl of Paradise"
"Miss Jackie of the Navy"
"The Butterfly Girl"
"The Devil’s Assistant"

EDNA GOODRICH
Presented by Mutual Film Corporation
In Coming—"Reputation"

CRANE WILBUR
Presented by David Horsley
In
"The Painted Lie"
"The Single Code"
Wealth and brains against law and craft—adventure—romance—danger—all add spice to this amazing new series of sixteen Mutual Featurettes. Each two reels in length. A new episode each week.

Booking NOW At All MUTUAL EXCHANGES

Produced by
Monmouth Film Corporation

HARRY MCRAE WEBSTER, President
JULES BURNSTEIN, Gen. Manager

Directed by
HARRY MCRAE WEBSTER

Starring E·K·LINCOLN
in
Jimmie Dale
Alias "The Grey Seal"

Supported by DORIS MITCHELL
EDNA HUNTER
PAUL PANZER

Written
By FRANK L·PACKARD From "The Professional Adventures of Jimmie Dale" Now Appearing in Peoples Magazine.

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
VOGUE FILMS, Inc., Presents—

“BUCKING THE TIGER”

TWO REELS

RELEASED MAY 5th

FEATURING BEN TURPIN

Exhibitors all over the country are finding Vogue Comedies the ideal productions with which to round out their programs. These comedies supply just the necessary spice to “liven up” the heavier portion of your entertainment. At least once a week arrange to show a Vogue two reeler. The one this week is directed by Robin Williamson, it is entitled “Bucking the Tiger.” It features Ben Turpin. You can obtain it at the nearest Mutual Exchange.

VOGUE FILMS, Incorporated

General Offices: 6235 Broadway
Chicago, Illinois

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
CUB COMEDIES

featuring

GEORGE OVEY

Your feature is not the whole show. It needs support. The best support is a good comedy. Cub Comedies are always good comedies.

JERRY'S PICNIC

Released May 10th is one of the best.

Book it at your Mutual Exchange. It will support your feature.

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS

Los Angeles California
The Fight Is On!!

This industry is facing today the most critical period in its existence. Censorship, regulation, heartbreaking taxation, over production, destructive competition, pyramiding costs, decreasing receipts: all these and many other menacing conditions threaten to destroy us.

Inevitably, unless he is helped, the exhibitor will be the first to be forced to the wall. And if the exhibitor is to be helped it is to the producers and distributors he must look for assistance.

There are two kinds of distributors: those who are earnestly and honestly studying the exhibitors' problems and evolving policies to solve them, and—those who are only interested in earning dividends on grossly inflated capitalizations, disregarding entirely the serious needs of the exhibitors.

Triangle is proud indeed not to have to tell exhibitors in which class it belongs. The policies we have recently announced have definitely established our position. And these published policies are but the fore-runners of others just as constructive in character, just as helpful to exhibitors.

We are fighting for stability and permanence in this great industry and we are striving for success by assisting exhibitors to succeed. We are the pioneers blazing the trail to better things. We have earned the loyal support of every right minded exhibitor.

Our abolishment of the deposit system has brought us the endorsement of many of the largest exhibitor organizations in the country. But we want more than approval; we want contracts. We must have the exhibitors of the country with us in our battle for sound, ethical business policies in the film industry.

We are entitled to this support, not only because we are fighting for you, but also because we are marketing productions of the very highest type obtainable, which we offer at prices low enough to admit of your making a profit as well as ourselves.

We are supplementing these productions with service, real service, the type of service which looks for success only through your success.

Get into line and help us in our fight for a reasonable, permanent prosperity.

Triangle Distributing Corporation

---

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
No one has ever questioned the supremacy of Mack Sennett-Keystone Comedies. Everyone concedes Mack Sennett to be the greatest director-genius producing two reel comedies today. Twelve Mack Sennett-Keystone Comedies have been issued to date and twelve of these have been sure-fire successes. What More Can We Say? One Issued Each Week A Price for Every Theatre BOOK NOW!

RELEASED ONLY BY TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
THE BEST INSURANCE YOUR THEATRE CAN HAVE IS A FOX FILM

"SMILING GEORGE" WALSH, THE GINGER BOY, IN

THE CONGENIAL SMILE.
"I'm glad to see you."

THE HOPEFUL SMILE.
"Things are looking up."

THE SURPRISED SMILE.
"Who'd 'a' thought it."

"THE BOOK AGENT"
WITH GEORGE WALSH IN NEW SPEED COMEDY

The Ginger Boy Only Hits High Spots in His Latest Fox Play

"Smiling George" Walsh, the Ginger Boy, follows in the footsteps of countless scores of famous men in his next full-of-action, mile-a-minute, razzle-dazzle pictureplay.

The role assigned by the peppery George in his forthcoming photodrama of speedy comedy was taken in real life at one time or another by such luminaries as John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas F. Ryan and James A. Garfield.

Walsh's newest production is called "The Book-Agent," and in the hero you see a composite picture of the noted men, as well as those unsung, who once sold "The Housewife's Handbook" and "The Farmer's Guide."

JAZZ BAND INSPIRES HOLMES

Fox Star Acts While Musicians Play in Studio

Stuart Holmes is the original minute-man of 1917. He's so up-to-date that the calendars can't keep up with him. His latest stunt is the hiring of a Jazz Band of nine pieces to furnish some strident strains while he is making a new picture, "The Broadway Sport." Every ten minutes the director has to halt the action because Holmes, who put both the "tang" and the "go" in tango, insists on fancy-stepping while the band jazzes. Earmuffs are in great demand at the studio.

"HIS BOMB POLICY" NEWCOMEDY

"His Bomb Policy" is the latest comedy to be made by Director Charles Parrott for the Foxfilm program. It has to do with plots and police and street sweepers.

"His Bomb Policy" is a comedy of the "thriller" variety. Its principal character is a lowly street sweeper, portrayed by Mr. Conklin, who wishes himself onto the police force and assists in the capture of a gang of bomb plotters.

FOX CURRENT RELEASES

Valeska Suratt in "She."
William Farnum in "American Methods"—Special.
Virginia Pearson in "Royal Romance."
June Caprice in "A Small Town Girl."
R. A. Walsh's Drama "The Silent Lie."—Special.
Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul."—Special.
Stuart Holmes in "The Broadway Sport."

FOXFILM COMEDIES

Charles Conklin in "The Film Spoilers."
Hank Mann in "His Love Fight."
Ray Griffith in "An Aerial Joy Ride."
Bille Ritchie in "His Smashing Career."
Tom Mix in "A Roman Cowboy."
Charles "Heine." Conklin in "His Bomb Policy."
CORKING NEW SPEED COMEDY-DRAMA, “THE BOOK AGENT.”

THE SILENT LIE

New R. A. Walsh Production of a Larry Evans Story

“The Silent Lie,” written by Larry Evans and directed by that master of the film world, R. A. Walsh, is a coming William Fox release.

Neither the author nor the director needs an introduction. R. A. Walsh made “The Honor System,” the greatest human story ever told, which has run for four months at the Lyric Theatre, New York City, to capacity business. Just a reminder of some of his others—“Carmen” and “Regeneration.” You all remember these.

THE SILLY SIREN “CLEOPATRA”

Screen’s Supreme Artiste Portrays Role of History’s Greatest Sorceress

Theda Bara as “Cleopatra,” the Siren of the Nile, is the extraordinary release announced by William Fox for June 4th. Never has an actress been given a vehicle in which to better display her versatility.

Theda Bara, a native of Roumania, found her way to New York at the age of 18, and then on to Hollywood. She has been seen in “Carmen,” “Regeneration,” “The Honor System,” and “Cleopatra.”

THE FLOPPING SMILE

THE ENCHANTED SMILE

THE STORMY SMILE

THE SILENT SMILE

THE BLOSSOMING SMILE

THE GOOD STORY SMILE

“Best I ever heard!”

THE PEACEFUL SMILE

“I’ve had a great time!”

THE FLOATING SMILE

“More on her!”

THE SILENT LIE

New R. A. Walsh Production of a Larry Evans Story

“Heart and Soul,” with the illustrious Theda Bara in the stellar role, is the incomparable Fox star’s fourth super de luxe production to be released. The photoplay will undoubtedly rank as one of the most elaborate and pretentious cinema offerings of the year.

The picture is a stirring film adaptation of Sir H. Rider Haggard’s remarkable novel “Jess.” It was screened, with a superior cast, under the direction of T. Gordon Edwards.

A WORD OF EXPLANATION

When Jewel Carmen was born her parents must have known, (1) That she would grow up to play opposite William Farnum in such films as “American Methods.” (2) That she would be a perfect gem. So they named her Jewel.

135 BOOK “THE HONOR SYSTEM”

Leading Houses of New York and New Jersey to Show It

That “The Honor System” is regarded as a real “box office sensation” by the exhibitors of New York and New Jersey is shown by the fact that more than 135 of the leading theatres in these two states have, during the first ten days of booking, contracted for this attraction.

Included in the list are:

- The William Fox houses:
  - F. P. Keith’s theatres in Greater New York and Jersey City;
  - E. P. Proctor’s in New York City, Mt. Vernon, Porches and Yonkers;
  - Marcus Loew theatres;
  - Strand Theatre, Newark;
  - Regent Theatre, Albany;
  - Montclair Theatre, Montclair, N. J.;
  - Palace Theatre, Orange, N. J.;
  - Montauk Theatre, Pullman, N. J.;
  - Century Theatre, Brooklyn;
  - Eckel Theatre, Syracuse;
  - Shae’s Hippodrome, Buffalo, N. Y.;
  - Star Theatre, Mechanicville;
  - Opera House, Cohoes;
  - Empire, Utica Falls;
  - Hippodromes, Gloversville;
  - Postline, Union Hill;
  - Summit, West Haven;
  - Lincoln, Schenectady;
  - Palace, Morrisville;
  - Oxford, Brooklyn;
  - Mt. Morris, N. Y. City, and scores of others.

There has been a mad scramble of live wire exhibitors at The Honor System Booking Office, No. 128 West 46th St., New York City, each anxious to secure dates before shut out by “that” competitor.

“A DAUGHTER OF THE GODS” GOOD SUMMER SHOW

“A Daughter of the Gods” is ideal summer entertainment.

In those hectic few months when everything and everybody begins to sag and wilt, the million-dollar Fox fantasy is like:

A jaunt to cool green woods; a long drink jammed to the brim with ice; two and a half hours in Greenland; a cold shower on a warm afternoon; a jug of mountain spring water.

CAPRICE IS SUPERSTITIOUS

Caprice, star of “A Small Town Girl,” is super-superstitious. She refuses to sit down at a table of thirteen persons unless there is something to eat.

PORATION

130 W. 46th St.
New York City
"The Honor System" is the motion picture pretty nearly at its best. You must certainly see the new picture at the Lyric.

William Fox has done a service in producing it. It is a picture big with humanity. Treats a great subject squarely. The large cast is excellent.

"A masterpiece of film art."

"The picture is deserving of universal attendance."

"Merits serious attention. Enthusiastically received."

"The Birth of a Made new history in most vital story ever
"The Honor System" has biggest theme of any screen production thus far. It will touch and move you—and set you thinking. It is an advance in story, marking the entrance of the photoplay into a big field of activity.

"Thrilling plot. Absorbing, Convincing."

"A motion picture play of stirring appeal."

"Every one who sees it will send all his friends to see it, and by that time it will be time for him to see it again."

"A masterpiece of film drama. Comes up to the characterization of 'greatest human story ever told' from beginning to end. Audiences evidenced the heart gripping of the scenes."

"If you don't sit in your chair and hold on tight, you are not human."

The Honor System

GET ABOARD THE BAND WAGON!

THE BIGGEST AND BEST THEATRES
IN NEW YORK & NEW JERSEY HAVE BOOKED THE HONOR SYSTEM PUT YOUR HOUSE ON THE LIST AND THEREBY PUT IT ON THE MAP

WIRE, WRITE OR CALL
128 W, 46" ST, NEW YORK CITY
"IT'S ALL"

The Possible Earning Power of a Feature Production Is Determined Solely by the Number of People Who Have Opportunity to See It in All Localities

He who makes predictions is called a prophet. Some prophets have proved to be "the real thing."

Real prophets found their warnings and forewords on causes that surely indicate certain results.

Having something real to found a prophecy on—two years of most exhaustive inquiry into every phase of moving picture production, distribution and exhibition—we will venture to make a prophecy.

OUR PROPHECY IS THAT WITHIN TWO YEARS THE MAJORITY OF PRODUCERS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF MOVING PICTURES WILL ATTEMPT TO DO BUSINESS ON LINES SIMILAR TO THOSE ON WHICH THE PARALTA PLAN IS FOUNDED.

There is no mystery about the Paralta Plan. It is APPLIED COMMON SENSE. It is experience and investigation brought to an actual working basis.

The Paralta Plan is based on that exact fairness and equity which must prevail in the end in all things. Hence we venture to predict the early passing of all oppressive conditions and the coming in of the Paralta Plan in all phases of the moving picture industry.

We have spoken of evils in the present "SYSTEM" of distribution. Here are three examples of the many we observed in our two years of research work in this industry.

We found that a substantial feature distributing company was supplying special features to an exhibitor at the price of $7.50 per day. Further investigation disclosed the fact that it actually cost this company $1.60 per day to supply such features.

How could such a proposition be carried out without injustice to someone? Somebody had to lose $5.90 on each feature on this basis of doing business. RESULT—LOSS TO EITHER PRODUCER OR DISTRIBUTOR, OR SOME ONE EXHIBITOR PAYING TOO MUCH AND ANOTHER TOO LITTLE—LOSS TO SOMEONE. MAYBE IT'S YOU!

In another locality it was found that one of the largest feature program distributing companies had been "LOCKED OUT" OF FOURTEEN TOWNS EVER SINCE THEY STARTED IN BUSINESS ALMOST THREE YEARS AGO. They had set an arbitrary price on their service and the management of the chain of theatres covering these towns had refused to pay it.

"If the exhibitor is big enough to lock us out, we are big enough to stay out." was the comment made on this situation by the general manager of this distributing company. This was a very heroic statement for this chap to make, BUT WHERE DID THIS POLICY LAND HIM?

STUDY "THE PARALTA PLAN"

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
The Box-Office Value of a Feature Production Lies in Its Actual Merit Being Properly Exploited in a Sufficient Number of Local Showings

By not "getting together" with the exhibitors controlling this chain of theatres on a basis fair to both sides, this feature film distributing company lost the income from fourteen important towns. This was income-loss tacked on to the RENTAL PRICE of film service in some other locality!

AS AN ECONOMIC FACT THIS SITUATION MEANT—WASTE.

In a certain city in the mid-west there are three exhibition territories in each of which there are ten thousand population. In each territory there are two theatres, and in each territory the conditions are practically the same.

It was found on investigation that the same feature films in the territory called No. 1 rented for about one-half of what they brought in district No. 2, and for about one-third of what was charged for them in zone No. 3.

These special inquiries demonstrated that film rentals are not based on any other proposition than what the distributing company can SQUEEZE OUT OF THE EXHIBITOR; and positively not on the earning power of a production, which is the only way it can be done in EQUITY.

It is inevitable that under the present "System" of distribution of films A PREMIUM IS PUT UPON WASTE and the operation of a motion picture theatre is made a gamble and a speculation and not "a real business."

Under the present "System," the individual ability of the exhibitor to pay the price demanded determines the rental charge on films.

This "System," results in LOSS, WASTE and INEQUALITY—a condition which the PARALTA PLAN is aimed to remedy.

The Paralta Plan Exhibitor Begins to Work for Himself the Moment He Secures a Paralta Exhibiting Franchise

PARALTA PLAYS, Inc.

CARL ANDERSON, President HERMAN FICHTENBERG, Chairman Directors
ROBERT T. KANE, Vice-Pres. HERMAN KATZ, Treasurer
NAT. L. BROWN Secy. & Gen'l Manager

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
ASK BROADWAY

ABOUT THE O. HENRY STORIES—
The most fascinating of American fiction now truly interpreted by the wizardry of the film—

BECAUSE BROADWAY KNOWS O. HENRY.

READ WHAT HAROLD EDEL SAYS, MANAGING DIRECTOR OF THE STRAND THEATRE, NEW YORK—

AND REMEMBER IF THE O. HENRY STORIES ARE GOOD IN NEW YORK, THEY ARE GOOD ANYWHERE.

DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY BY GENERAL FILM CO. (INC.)

Mr. John A. Hammell, General Film Company, 71 West 23rd Street, New York. N. Y.

Dear Sir:

I am indeed most enthusiastic over your O. Henry stories after having screened the following three:—"The Third Ingredient," "Fast One at Rooneys" and "Friends in San Rosario."

These stories by O. Henry, universally acknowledged the world's greatest short story writer, visualized on the screen, will unquestionably fill a much needed want in motion picture production, the running time being short and every foot of film filled with interest. In addition to the extraordinary quality of the above-mentioned three subjects, these pictures ought to prove invaluable to the exhibitor owing to the wonderful advertising possibilities which they have.

Yours very truly,

MANAGING DIRECTOR

April 27th, 1917

2-Reel Broadway Star Features

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
IT APPROVES
THE BLACK CAT STORIES
-DOES BROADWAY.

SAMUEL L. ROTHAPFEL
Managing Director RIALTO THEATRE, New York City

SAYS
"That I run the Black Cat Stories in the Rialto Theatre demonstrates what I think of them."

Produced by ESSANAY
(Geo. K. Spoor knew what he was doing when he snapped up the BLACK CAT Stories)

CLASSY 2-REEL
MOTION PICTURE PRESENTATIONS OF THE INGENIOUS TALES IN THE BLACK CAT MAGAZINE.

DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY BY GENERAL FILM CO. (INC.)

S. L. ROTHAPFEL

SOME OF THEM
"Local Color"
"The Ham What Was"
"The Finish"
"Pass The Hash, Ann"
"The Clock Struck One"

AND OTHERS JUST AS CLEVER

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
If you are in doubt regarding your bookings--

"The Law of the North"
with Shirley Mason

"The Cossack Whip"
with Viola Dana

Produced by the
Edison Studios

The critics have said all that we might say--

KLEINE-EDISON-SELIG-ESSANAY SERVICE
63 East Adams Street, Chicago, and other principal cities
SELIG presents

H. B. WARNER

Supported by VIOLET HEMING and W. LAWSON BUTT in

"THE DANGER TRAIL"

Arrangement BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

James Oliver Curwood's Tense Drama of Love and Vengeance in the Frozen Northland. A Big Star, a Big Story, a Big Clean-up for You, Mr. Exhibitor.

Book it NOW at any K.E.S.E. Exchange!

SELIG POLYSCOPE CO., Chicago, Illinois
SKINNER Said: “I’ll Make Good!”
And By Jove He Did!
SO CAN YOU!
If you take advantage of this great opportunity to book
“SKINNER’S BUBBLE”
featuring
BRYANT WASHBURN
You know what a hit “Skinner's Dress Suit” made. This is even a more wonderful Skinner play. Enough said! Look at it!

Written and directed by Harry Beaumont. By special arrangement and permission of Henry Irving Dodge

Essanay
George K. Spoor President
1333 Argyle St, Chicago
"I'll go the limit in praising PATRIA with Mrs. Vernon Castle. It's a clean up. It brings the people in and keeps bringing them back! It is in a class by itself."

Jerome Rosenberg

Produced by Wharton, Inc. for INTERNATIONAL. Released by PATHE.
Ruth Roland

star of "Who Pays?" and "The Red Circle" is a big box-office attraction. She is known and admired everywhere and has a very large following.
She is the star of Pathé's latest money-getting serial

The Neglected Wife

Based on stories by Mabel Herbert Urner whose work for six years has been featured by leading newspapers all over the country.

Released May 13

Produced by Balboa

Booking now!
"We did a wonderful business on MYSTERY
OF THE DOUBLE
CROSS
and want to congratulate you on the serial.
As a box office attraction it is unexcelled.
We are sure of fifteen weeks of successful business on it."

Hury Amusement Co.,
Birmingham, Ala.

Produced by Astra under the direction of Wm. Parke

Featuring
Mollie King
and Leon Bary

Tremendous publicity in the Hearst and other papers everywhere.
"Better 'n Kick In"

William Courtenay
and Marguerite Snow
in the sensational Gold Rooster play
The Hunting of the Hawk
Produced by Astra
Directed by George Fitzmaurice
Released April 22.
The Star who is making people sit up and take notice

Gladys Hulette

In the five-part Gold Rooster Play

Written by Agnes Johnston

Pots and Pans Peggie

A delightful Picture filled with Human Interest

Produced by Thanhouser

WHAT THEY THINK OF GLADYS HULETTE

"If there has ever been produced a picture containing more rare charm than is to be found in 'Her New York' we have failed to see it." Cleveland Plain Dealer

"Prudence the Pirate', starring Gladys Hulette, who is every day making people sit up and take notice, is the most refreshing and irrepressible picture that ever came to the relief of a jaded reviewer." Cleveland Plain Dealer

"'Her New York' with Gladys Hulette I would put upon the program again if doing it over again. It is good." W.P. Clement, Jackson Park Theatre, Chicago.
"The Star who is making people sit up and take notice\nGladys Hulette\nIn the five part Gold Rooster Play\nWritten by Agnes Johnston\nPots and Pans Peggie\nA delightful Picture filled with Human Interest\nProduced by Thanhouser\n
WHAT THEY THINK OF GLADYS HULETTE\n"If there has ever been produced a picture containing more rare charm than is to be found in 'Her New York' we have failed to see it." Cleveland Plain Dealer
"'Pudence the Pirate', starring Gladys Hulette, who is every day making people sit up and take notice, is the most refreshing and irresistible picture that ever came to the relief of a jaded reviewer." Cleveland Plain Dealer
"'Her New York' with Gladys Hulette I would put upon the program again if doing it over again. It is good." H.K. Clement, Jackson Park Theatre, Chicago.
Following the Flag!

The Hearst-Pathé News

is the film of the moment. It is following the flag!
When audiences see it they rise and cheer!
The best booking film of the day - the only one reel feature.
Eminent Educator Writes Advertisement This Week for

The Warfare Of The Flesh

DISTINGUISHED PERSONS WHO HAVE COMMENDED WORK DONE BY THE SEARCH-LIGHT ORGANIZATION

Dr. Harry J. Brown, Chancellor of University of Chicago
Dr. F. L. Halsey, President, University of Vermont
Dr. John A. N. White, President, University of Pennsylvania
Dr. A. C. Gilbert, President, University of Illinois
Dr. J. H. Wood, President, Harvard University
Dr. John F. N. Martin, President, Stanford University
Dr. F. S. D. Shaw, President, University of California
Dr. Charles E. Van Hoven, President, Yale University
Dr. E. H. Jayne, President, University of Kansas
Dr. H. M. I. Jones, President, University of Wisconsin
Mrs. Mary J. Moulton, President, Wellesley College
Mrs. L. H. Smith, President, Smith College
Mrs. Pauline E. Bruce, President, Colby College
Mrs. Mary E. Colgan, President, Smith College
Mrs. E. H. Jayne, President, University of Kansas
Mrs. J. H. Wood, President, Harvard University
Mrs. F. S. D. Shaw, President, Stanford University
Mrs. A. C. Gilbert, President, University of Illinois
Mrs. J. H. Wood, President, University of Pennsylvania
Mrs. Halsey, President, University of Vermont

OTHER ENDORSEMENTS FROM MINISTERS, WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS, ETC.

EDWARD WARREN PRODUCTIONS

H. Z. Levine, Business Manager, 1482 Broadway, N. Y. City
Ivan Abramson has turned his Master Genius to another Mastodonic Dramatic Tornado Entitled

"ONE LAW
FOR BOTH"

With an Astounding Cast Including

RITA JOLIVET      LEAH BAIRD
JAMES MORRISON    VINCENT SERRANO
MARGARET GREEN    HELEN ARNOLD
PAUL CAPELLANI    PEDRO DE CARDOSA

AND 3500 NATIVE COSSACKS TARTARS EXILED NIHILISTS etc.

IN EIGHT ACTS OF
Ivan Abramson Dramatic Contrast & Action

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
$200,000 CAST
The concentrated Supreme effort of the Creator of "ENLIGHTEN TH' DAUGHTER"
A Special Production of Unusual Importance

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
and

George Loane Tucker

announce the sale

OF THAT GREATEST OF ALL SCREEN PRODUCTIONS

"The MANXMAN"

by HALL CAINE

to

Henry J. Brock

220 West 42d Street, New York

TO WHOM ALL FUTURE COMMUNICATIONS IN REFERENCE TO “THE MANXMAN” SHOULD BE ADDRESSED

World’s Tower Building, 110 West 40th Street, New York City
George Loane Tucker

Will announce shortly the first presentation to the trade of an eight-reel photodrama produced by him in London, England.

The story is based on a problem that every man and woman has faced at least once; a problem over which every man and woman has thought, and thought deeply.

It Is Not a Sex Problem

The production, direction and scenario

by

George Loane Tucker

CosmofotofilmCo INC.

World’s Tower Building, 110 West 40th Street, New York City
This letter justifies our stand—the continuance of Program Releases, “Specials” in DEPENDABILITY and in BOX OFFICE VALUES.

Current Releases

KITY GORDON in “Forget-Me-Not”

ALICE BRADY in “Darkest Russia”

SARAH BERNHARDT in “Mothers of France”

MURIEL OSTRICHE

ARTHUR ASHLEY in “Moral Courage”

ETHEL CLAYTON in “Yankee Pluck”

ANALYZE THIS Trade Mark

BRADY . . . The Master Genius of the Stage and Screen—with a credit of twenty-five successful years in pleasing the American public.

INTERNATIONAL . . . Europe’s best—Regina Badet, the Vampire of France, and Susan Grandaise, the Sweetest Girl in Europe. Directed by Louis Mercanton, the director of Sarah Bernhardt’s “Mothers of France.”

SERVICE . . . Seat selling assistance that brings you dollar and cent returns.

WORLD-PICTURES . . . Dependable in titles, scenarios, stars, casts, and in every other requisite that goes into the making of “A Play that Pays.”

“Atonement,” “A Naked Soul,” “The Golden Lotus,” and “When True Love Dawns” are finished—ready for your screen.

Write NOW for COMPLETED distribution plans.

World-Pictures, 130 West 46th Street, New York City.
"Foursquare Pictures For The Clear Minded Millions"

SUCH is the inspiring and significant slogan of the latest distributing film corporation—M. H. HOFFMAN, Incorporated. With the addition of the Bernstein Film Productions, the foundation is laid for the best and cleanest producing and distributing organization ever placed at the disposal of State Rights men and exhibitors. At last sound merchandising methods are to replace press agents' empty stories of so-called service. Big, clean, virile stories, efficient and artistic direction, backed by trained sales assistance is now a splendid reality.

George Backer Film Productions

George Backer, newest producer, each of whose productions is made with the idea of producing not merely a certain footage of film, but a story with such qualities that will attract and captivate the public, to the profit of distributor and exhibitor, is continuing to turn out photoplays with the same high standard set by his initial production.

"THE SIN WOMAN"

featuring Irene Fenwick, Reine Davies and Clifford Bruce. State Rights on this splendid picture are now being closed rapidly and booking propositions from exhibitors tabulated for an early showing. Send all inquiries to address given below.

Bernstein Film Productions

are to form the second pillar of the Foursquare Pictures organization and already Mr. Bernstein's work is well known for its unique quality and money-making possibilities. Formerly General Manager of the world's greatest film community, Universal City, he is now incorporating his wealth of ideas and finished experience in the producing of features of unquestioned value.

"WHO KNOWS?"

the first Bernstein picture taken from a popular serial of the same title in the All Story Weekly, and featuring Betty Brice, is bound to be a money magnet to those State Rights men and exhibitors who act quickly enough to secure allotments.

The growth of FOURSQUARE PICTURES organization is well worth watching and once distributor and exhibitor may feel pleased, as the men behind Foursquare Pictures, while delirious of making money, intend to do so by selling only that material from which others can in turn profit.

All distributed solely by

M. H. HOFFMAN, Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue
New York City

Coming Soon—"Seven Cardinal Virtues"—Starting with "Humility"—Filmed by Bernstein

Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
The World Rights
to the
EDGAR LEWIS MASTERPIECE

are owned by
FRANK HALL PRODUCTIONS INC.
Longacre Building, New York

Produced by the great Edgar Lewis, who made "The Nigger," "The Barrier" and other famous moneymakers, "THE BAR SINISTER"—a magnificently staged production—a vivid story, tense and appealing, with beautiful touches of pathos and humor—and a theatrical attraction of tremendous drawing power—is proclaimed the most wonderful picture of his remarkably successful career.

It is natural that such a pronounced hit as "The Bar Sinister" should attract unusual attention. Prominent state rights buyers are vitally interested. Because it is such an exceptional feature—such a sure winner—the usual attempts to stampede buyers will not be resorted to. Prices for territorial rights are now available.

FRANK G. HALL, President.
Mr. Isadore Bernstein,
Bernstein Studios,
Boyle & Stephenson,
Los Angeles, Cal.

My Dear Bernie:-

An writing this letter the morning after I reviewed your picture, "WHO KNOWS", and this letter is occasioned by the fact that I have been so impressed with the film that it has been impossible to get the story out of my mind. Want to congratulate you on this, as it is indeed worthy of every word of praise an exchange man can utter.

The film is clean, wholesome, and interesting. The direction is flawless, and the photography beautiful. It is easy to be seen that your master hand has been, as we might term it, feeling the pulse of the production, because the cutting is so perfect and padding lacking. The picture is destined to be successful, and from what I saw of the production "SEVEN CARDINAL VIRTUES", when I was on the lot, it is easy to be seen that you are spending a great deal of money for it.

I have committed my impression of the film to Sol, and you can anticipate an advice from him within a day or so.

Wishing you every success, and again congratulating you, I am

Sincerely yours,

[Signature]

BERNSTEIN FILM PRODUCTIONS
BOYLE & STEVENSON AVE'S LOS ANGELES CAL.
Another Important Announcement from the
WILLIAMSON BROTHERS
Originators and Sole Producers of SUBMARINE MOTION PICTURES

We have determined upon our MARKETING POLICY for

“The Submarine Eye”

Franchises will be disposed of on the TERRITORIAL RIGHTS BASIS
Subject to our control and co-operation.

Prints will be leased for fixed periods of time at 7c. per foot—
NOT SOLD. Rebates of 2c. per foot will be allowed on prints returned from any territory. 5-color lithos sold at 6c. per sheet; 3-color paper at 5c. per sheet—both kinds at actual cost.

Heralds, slides, publicity and advertising cuts handled on the same cost basis.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES
Longacre Bldg., New York City
ERNEST SHIPMAN, Manager
Harry Raver
Submits
America's Magnetic Star

Alma Hanlon
in an Unusual Drama

THE MYSTIC HOUR

By Agnes Fletcher Bain

With A Notable Cast

John Sainpolis, Florence Short,
Charles Hutchinson, Helen Strickland,
William Hartman and Fifty Others.

PRODUCTION BY Apollo Pictures Inc.

IN FIVE ACTS

FOR BOOKINGS COMMUNICATE WITH NEAREST ART DRAMAS EXCHANGE.

BETTER TO READ FIFTY ADVERTISEMENTS THAN TO MISS THE ONE YOU NEED.
EXHIBITORS!!!

Scene from "Jimmy Gets the Pennant"

Now—MO-TOY COMEDIES

May be obtained from the following Exchanges

Educational Films Corporation of America
   Greater New York, New York State and Northern New Jersey.
Standard Film Service Co., 14 West 7th Street, Cincinnati, O.
   Southern Ohio and Kentucky.
Standard Film Service Co., 7th floor, Columbia Bldg., Cleveland, O.
   Northern Ohio.
Standard Film Service Co., 10th floor, Peter Smith Bldg., Detroit, Mich.
   For Michigan.
   Upper Peninsula.
   Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Several other territories will be closed next week. Announcement later

MO-TOYS ARE THE TALK OF THE FILM INDUSTRY

Some in Rags. Some in Jags. Some in Velvet Gowns

Book at once—The Greatest Troupe of Laugh Producing Comedians. Mo-Toys are the latest novelty comedy creation.

Released weekly—Each comedy averages 500 feet in length.

Notice to Manufacturers—We are in the market for strictly high grade productions of six to eight thousand feet. Will pay cash for World Rights.

Foreign Buyers, please address J. Frank Brockliss, 729 Seventh Ave., N. Y.

PETER PAN FILM CORP., 729 Seventh Ave., New York

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
THE MASTER PHOTO-PLAY PRODUCTION WHICH ANSWERS "THE RIDDLE OF LIFE" AND BRINGS REAL NIGHT SCENES OF NEW YORK'S BROADWAY AND CAFE LIFE TO YOUR PATRONS, WOVEN IN A SPLENDID STORY OF HIGH MORAL TEACHING

AMÉRICA'S IDOL OF SCREEN AND STAGE
H. B. WARNER
IN A MOTION PICTURE ADAPTATION OF GEORGE BRONSON HOWARD'S NOVEL
GOD'S MAN

EDITED TO A NEWER EDITION OF EIGHT REELS—ONE AND THREE-QUARTER HOUR PROJECTION TIME

---

THE CONSENSUS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STORY:</th>
<th>SCENARIO:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Falls no whit short of being wonderful.</td>
<td>Remarkable for its construction.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Author has dealt intimately with underworld of City.</td>
<td>Deserving of praise.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STAR:</th>
<th>CAST</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A masterful piece of work.</td>
<td>Exceptionally well balanced.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One of the finest performances ever seen by a screen audience.</td>
<td>Cast of exceptional merit.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DIRECTION:</th>
<th>PHOTOGRAPHY:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Deserves a round of applause.</td>
<td>Is of high order.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Mr. Irving belongs credit for having turned out a film masterpiece.</td>
<td>Really remarkable photography.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DETAIL:</th>
<th>TITLES:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>In the detail Mr. Irving has excelled.</td>
<td>Certainly titles were well written.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>APPEAL:</th>
<th>&quot;WID&quot;</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>It would be hard to find an audience which would fail to be convinced or impressed by it.</td>
<td>Startling and excellent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Full of entertainment for the initiated and likewise the stranger who knows Broadway only by hearsay. |
| Admirably suited to communities distant from the Metropolis. |

TERRITORIAL RIGHTS NOW SELLING

The Frohman Amusement Corporation
WILLIAM L. SHERRILL, President
TIMES BUILDING, NEW YORK CITY

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
THE A. KAY COMPANY Specializes—one reel features only

“GOLDEN SPOON MARY”

The second of our series of one-a-month TERRY FEATURE BURLESQUES is released May 1st.

“All about a very rich, very poor little girl, it has even more intensely humorous incidents than the ones that made our "20,000 Feats Under the Sea" such a record-breaking hit.

"Golden Spoon Mary" sets a new high mark in novel, sparkling comedy. These exchanges handle Terry Feature Burlesques:

- New Jersey Metro Film Service, New York City
- Short Features Exchange, New York City
- New Grand Central Theatre Co., St. Louis, Mo.
- Standard Film Service Co., Cleveland, Ohio
- C-W Film Service, Syracuse, N.Y.
- Reelplay Feature Co., Seattle, Washington
- Australian Films, Ltd., Australia
- Peerless Feature Film Exchange, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Consolidated Feature Film Co., Denver, Col.
- Celebrated Players Film Co., Chicago, Ill.
- Metro Pictures Corp. of New England, Boston, Mass.

We announce the release, May 15th, of a new one-a-month feature series:

“The Terry Human Interest Reel”

Something new, vital, gripping; and will be fully up to the high standard set in our Terry Feature Burlesques.

Write for full particulars on both of these propositions and territories.

THE A. KAY COMPANY
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

"Short features exclusively, and Exclusively the best"
"The Whip" had a real run at the Park Theatre in New York, playing to capacity business. Its success on the screen surpassed all the popularity it enjoyed on the stage both in this country and in England. "One of the most gripping things ever shown on the screen," said THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE, and THE TIMES praised it as "especially fine."

"The Whip" was played over the Poli Circuit of theatres in New England with great acclaim. It showed at Poli's in New Haven, Bridgeport, Waterbury, Meriden, Hartford, and Worcester. R. C. Miller of the Poli Circuit has this to say: "The Whip" is one of the best money-getters we ever played."

On Sunday, April 29th, "The Whip" opens at the Cort Theatre, San Francisco, for a four weeks' engagement. The advance sale is very big, and the picture is getting all kinds of attention. Sol Lesser, who has bought rights for California, says the demand for "The Whip" is phenomenal.

"The Whip" opened an engagement at the Strand Theatre in Newark, N. J., last Monday (April 23rd). Frank G. Hall, who owns the New Jersey rights and shows it at Newark, says this: "The picture opened to good business, jumped Tuesday 33 1/3% in receipts, and Wednesday jumped 100%. Sold out for the remainder of the week. That is what I call real box office results."

Rights for the Dominion of Canada were bought by Charles L. Stevens, general manager of Superfeatures, Ltd., Toronto. He reports that he opened "The Whip" in Montreal, its first Canadian showing (St. Denis Theatre) to $1760, which was $300 more than "The Birth of a Nation" opened to, and his receipts for the week were $7005.

FOR RIGHTS IN OTHER TERRITORY APPLY TO PARAGON FILMS, INC.
924 Longacre Bldg., New York.
STATE RIGHTS

"FOLLOW THE CROWD

BILLY WEST

KING BEE

COMEDIES"

"FIRST INAUGURAL RELEASE READY.
THE SCREAMING SHRIEKING HOWLING NOVELTY,
BACK STAGE"

N.H. SPITZER
SALES M.G.R.
924 LONGACRE BUILDING.
NEW YORK.

LOUIS BURSTEIN, PRES.
L.L. HILLER, TREAS.
= STUDIO'S =
JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
RELEASED ON THE METRO PROGRAM
MAY 14th

POPULAR PLAYS and PLAYERS present

Mme.
Petrova
in L. Case Russell’s
The SOUL of a
MAGDALEN

A METRO wonderplay
in Five Acts with a
Box Office Appeal
 Directed by
Burton L. King
Breaking the Records

Advance Bookings of

ETHEL BARRYMORE

in Edward Sheldon's

The CALL of her PEOPLE

A wonderful Star as the attraction in a wonderful production

Directed by John W. Noble for Columbia Pictures Corp

SEVEN SMASHING ACTS

Special METRO Production de Luxe NOW BOOKING THINK THIS OVER

Mr. Exhibitor:

General Joffre, is constantly looking for "weak" spots in his line of attack, and when he finds one, he rushes re-inforcements.

The "weak spot" in your program may be your one reel fillers.

Let the following Exchanges re-inforce your "weak spots" with a one-reel real "feature."

Book the Ditmars' "Living Book of Nature" at the Following Exchanges:

- Photo Play Exchange, Salt Lake City, Utah
- Lambson Film Exchange, Seattle, Wash.
- Educational & Children's Films Co., Kansas City, Mo.
- Broadway Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.
- Celebrated Players Co., Chicago, Ill.
- American Feature Film Co., Boston, Mass.
- Educational & Children's Films Co., Kansas City, Mo.
- Broadway Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.
- American Feature Film Co., Boston, Mass.
- Metro Film Service, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Zenith Feature Film Co., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Zenith Feature Film Co., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Metro Film Service Co., Washington, D.C.
- Metro Film Service, Washington, D.C.

Book our other Scenics and Educational at the Following Exchanges:

- Broadway Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.
- American Feature Film Co., Boston, Mass.
- Metro Pictures Service, Chicago, Ill.
- Metro Film Service, Washington, D.C.
- Photoplay Exchange, Salt Lake City, Utah, and the Photoplay Exchange, Denver, Colo.
- Southern Idaho - Eastern Montana - Wyoming - Utah - Colorado - New Mexico
- Zenith Feature Film Co., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Regal Films Ltd., Toronto, Canada

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORPORATION

729 7th Avenue NEW YORK, N.Y.

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
2958

Vol. 15. No. 19
MOTION

PICTURE

NEWS

first showing of the pictures, laughed,
cried and enthusiasm applauded
with a wholehearted
Mr. Chapin's
Has Lost
that left no doubt as to the success of this important feature inexhibition.
any work intended for public
There was nothing more for
The general plan of the series received the following letters is to show Lincoln in the different come numbers afterandhe then had be-to his trade showing.
President,
have ablehimway ofrelate
in that inimit-of his some story
With the exception of five—
the past that is rich in humor not personally known by Mr.
and pathos
and
self-revelation.
Neui York Trade Showing Given at the STRAND Correct reproduction of the life and incident is a feaTHEATRE, 10 A.M., April 20 intenseture of the described entire series,
and Excellent In every finedetail,
a production
havehaveevermyas witnessed.
Would
keen judgment and perfect sym- aslikely1 Interestlne,
to own countrymen
pathy are shown in the choice sea city. this masterpiece In my own of material.
HON. S..PRANK
L
The homely pathos and (Signed)
COHEN.
Hotel
BENJAMIN
CHAPIN touching beauty of the opening
eonla, N. R.T. H.Former Mayor An-of Glasgow, Scotland.
number, Mother," never been" My surpassed.
Only hasin It wn3 a rare treat to witness ofa brains
andMany culture.big Barrie's
similarto the
And result what result!with theme canbookan on equala tribute eftorts dazzle magnimotherhood be found. The ef- movie
tude, lavish expenditure
of money
and time, butthathere
Is a themoving
fects of tohis understand mother's teachings
The Lincoln
Cycle help one photo Cycle reaches soul.
the man Here is a picture with the universal who fought so hardfromto keep theto appeal. Mother arid son. Here
Preaentod by the Charter PenturCB Corporation, North
and South going is thatall heart
that Bviijiimln
Pri'nldfnt and Director.
we striveinterest for In "thing" its simplest,
MIns
Lucllo rhiipln,
Chiijiin, Chief
Assistant. war, and who cause battled so fear- purest form.
Griffith,
Brenon
.
all have donehas bigeverthings,
but etcnot
les ly for die
the
of humanity
one
of them reached once
the was cast.
It
also
FOUR PEATUnBS SHOWN AT series of feature motion pic- illuminates the tender human height In the moving picture the art
THE STRAND APRIL 20
Chapinof stands
upon — alone
tures produced by Benjamin that made Lincoln so ready that
the the master heartof men
Interest appeal.for—mothers
count
Chapin under the title of The side to shield his boys from the just IEanything
In
this world, they will Lincohi
Cycle.
The first four displeasure
of his wife
and see to it that their sons see
the
My MolJier— •The Spirit Man"
releases dealing with The Great never to turn a deaf ear to the Lincoln Cycle.
(Signed)
JAMES
R.
GABBY,
My FBllier— "Tlie Pliysicnl Man" Emancipator are entitled
"
My Long Time Stage Director and of some mother when his lifeother had boy's been Mother," " Mv Father,"
" My- pleadings
Dramatist.
Call to Arms," Myself— The Lincoln Man"
by the law. The I consider It the most perfect and selitf " andis "The not overstating their demanded
(In t1if<V)' pictures
Mr.
Chapln
plays conception, in discretion of pains her Nancy son toHanks
read took
and theto film. tiInon of incidents.
importance to "claim that they teach
In discrimination,
In ofselecIjotli ' Tom Lincoln
" " and' PreBldent
~
In absence
the
are an epoch-making event in scene around her grave make acting.
and inpresence
of human Lincoln.")
screen production. In fact, not a lasting impression and form theatric qualities
and, cumulative
effect,
The Ciill to Anns
lliat has been si^en!
As a document only every man, woman
and a just acknowledgment
to this
to stir
the noblest
in man
and child in the United States, but splendid woman, born in a log
In the support.
country, it deserves government every lover liberty in theof cabin and reared in poverty. patriotism civilized worldof owe a debt
MISS Ave.
ADA STERLING,
The boy Abe also becomes a (Signed) thanks
to their creator.
7.17
iliidison
N. V. AuIn foHBlonal the npnr HliowbiK
fiittiro u trade
and orofigure
of love
and devotion,
but of another
No finer or more impressive never beyond the errors of Critic. thor, Editor, Playwright and sroiip of tlio Lincoln Cycle lesson
in patriotism
and right PlotHonlod,
urea wUlInvlmlhiK:
bo prea constantandattendant
at tho conduct is to be found than in youth.
characterInof" My Tom Father"
Lincoln theis L am theatres, these Lincoln
the life history of Abraham brought prominently into view screen features are easily the moat touchLincohi,
and
the truth
and Ingly beautiful pictures
I have ever
The principals who assist
" OW Abe "
skill with which this lesson is and treated with the same kind- seen.
you
In
the action have been wonly but truthful revelation.
"Myset forth
in
the Chapin
pictures
LIncoln'H story
of hla grandderfully selected.
Tour
Cycle, like self"
and
"The Call
to Arms" fatber.
will have the historical worth and the master is beyond all influences praise. They for futurecomposers'
generationsworks,
to enjoy.
(Mr. twoChapln
pluya Ltiicnlna,
the parts) of make clear the
that personal charm of the preceding" live(Signed) tlio Abruliam
CHAS.
A.
DEAN.
moulded the character of our numbers and the same unfailing
veloper. perial Hotel, Real Estate ImDehumor.
The incident where lM\t*d
nrci-ident,
and reveal
" At tlie Slave Auction
willi niinii-lakable lucidity the Willie and Tad Lincoln play I regard the " Lincoln Cycle."
Lincoln's trip
(o
New Orleans.
the most absorb-I
"hookey "and go swimming and withoutinglyexception,
I'l' Americanism
which then Interesting exhibition
(Mr, coCbnpln young Lin- kind prevail upon their father to have he stood.
Their use for
as propaseen.and Itsoldfilmhistorical value
ln at aBo ofrlay» iwt'nty-ono.)
toandtheItsever young
Is noteworthy; shield
them
from
the wrath
ganda at the present time would help lesson
of patriotic devotion flltlng
the spirit
of
the hour.
to come,
is a laughable incident prove a powerful aid
to
the cause of that freedom for which serves to make the trying
* TheA war-time
Presiflenl's
FLOYDN. T.B. Lawyer.
WILSON.
foiiluro. Answer ' the United States has entered that hours just before Fort Sumter (Signed) Singer BIdg.,
was fired upon more solemn by All art Is a form of self-expresthe great war.
You expressed character
To accomplish the result for contrast.
Mr. sion.Lincoln
throughthehence your ownthe
As the author of the scenarios ofthought and offeeling,
he has long labored Bi
From the Mo^'ing l^iclurc World which great success your plays.
Your
and general director
of
the jamin
Chapin
has brought live.
pictures
are wonderful.
They
will love and zeal that are nothing Cycle, natorandof Abraham also as the impersoLincoln
and (Signed ) EDMUND J. MYERS, short
of which
being heapostolic.
The 703
Carnegie
Hall.
Musician. form
in has cast
his
"The Lincoln Cycle" cycle admits of no perceptible Tom Lincoln, his father. Benjallt'iijamlii
Chapln'sEvont Pictures
Chapin'sbe meed of praise
Interesting and fullInPatrioticA Infeature
the surely a generous
one. Delightfully
Kpoch
In Instnlticroon an imiirovcnicnt. To commence must min of theallstructive.
word.
that ProductMtiUlDK
Ion
—
Four
His unique fitness for the part sense play houses
with, liig^li asforceit ranks a bigcrowd and continuous run. and have
m«ntt< Sliown.
educational and anas an of
Abraham Lincoln has long «-il!
(Signed)
FLORENCE
GERNDT.
thontic record
of one
of
the
Reviewed by Rdward WfUzel.
conceded,
he is ofquiteTomas
1144 Putnam
Ave.. Brooklyn.
Public
School Teacher.
»iuccessful in hisandacting cbii'f ficures inestimable in liistory, advan
it has jjeen
the almost
'Lincoln. His domination of the I consider It a wonderful picture has insured and thinkto theIt would beIf Itof would great of being
Thc_ term "human docu- tagc
the best senseentertainment
of the word.ii entire acting lineforceof correctly benefit
_„
di- for ment.'^'"tingly willappliednever lie more serveother
as apictures.
greatpublic example or type to any form fit-of The body of spectators that an unbroken rected situations, upon which records relating to the lives of gathered at the Strand Thea- neither time nor money have (Signed* MRS. ALEX. LUMLEY.
the leaders of men than to the Resident of Paris, France.
ter, New York, to witness the been spared.
sonia.
Be sure to mention " MOTION PICTURE NEWS when writing to advertisers. American address, Hotel An-


Mrs. Burns and my daughter attended and they were loud in their praises of the pictures and stated that they were the best they have ever seen. I consider this a great compliment, in view of the fact that they are both "movie fans." Indeed, they were effusive in their praise of the pictures, and I hope to have the pleasure of seeing more of yourself, as soon as you release them. (Signed) Mrs. Burns, west 47th Bldg, Burns Detective Agency.

Admirable! You have simply done wonderful. Please accept my hearty congratulations. I am much pleased to see your pictures in the Tribes and the Brooklyn Eagle. I feel that your work in the City is going to be a great success. You are rendering a great service, particularly to the rising generation, particularly at this critical period of our national life.

(Signed) SAMUEL PALMER Secretary, Board of Education of the City of New York, Park Ave. and 59th Street.

More educational than the "Tommies" and "The Busters," and as inspirational as Lincoln's Life. I hope many others may see these pictures. My wife and I are both so glad, as are Mr. Chapin in his impersonation.

(Signed) SAMUEL B. LUND, 901 Ogden Ave., N. Y. Minister.

The best I ever saw! (Signed) GORDON NEHUMA, 218 East 13th St., N. Y.

The very best moving picture I have ever seen. Beautifully arranged and acted. Interesting and a sublime mixture of pathos and comedy. (Signed) FRANK FERGUSON, 253 West 42nd St., N. Y. Playwright.

It is a very high class entertainment...a great man it delineates. Every boy and girl should have a chance to see it, and after it has gone the rounds of this country, it should be presented throughout England and the Continent. (Signed) MRS. KATE STEVENS HAYES, 14th St. and Locust Bldg. Social Worker.

Your feature play of Abraham Lincoln is the best production of the kind I have ever seen. It is a great success in every way. I wish I could tell you of my delight in your wonderful Lincoln Cycle. I have never seen before anything so truly stirring and exciting. (Signed) MRS. H. N. NETER, 446 Riverside Drive, N. Y.

I was deeply impressed with the pictures I have seen to-day. As I am 72 years old, I lived and saw the war record of Lincoln—and you have shown me such a wonderful human interest that appeals to me. In whatever of influence I may have, I should be proud of extending the publicity of the pictures I saw at the Strand theatre this morning, and of the others you propose, you may always command me. (Signed) DR. J. AVLETON MORRIS, University Club, Retired President, N. Y. Shakespeare Club.

Your presentation of Lincoln and Lincoln's Life are the best and most powerful picture-drama before the public. It is like the "New Army" is exceedingly timely. It is the one presented exactly at once. It will do more good than all the millions of talkers. President Wilson's present difficulty is his failure to secure sympathy in the trying times through which he is going. I wish you success with your splendid pictures. (Signed) W. H. HUMPHREY, 298 Manhattan Ave. Executive Decy's American Indian League.

Fine! Wonderful! Truthful! How much do I wish to hear Mr. Chapin thank you for the best entertainment argument been presented to me. It is certainly the most complete argument that I have ever heard or seen. (Signed) WILL N. HARREY, 554 West 20th St., N. Y. Author.

I never felt so great and human, and so touched by the "Lincoln Cycle." It reached the deepest corner of my heart! Everyone should be sought to see this. (Signed) W. H. HUMPHREY, 298 Manhattan Ave. Executive Decy's American Indian League.

Let us have more and more of this kind of pictures. (Signed) MRS. S. STANWOOD MENKEN, 31 West 52d St., N. Y. National Security League.

I do thank you for what to me was a "Soul Bath" coin—meet when only a girl of fifteen, and have been delighted and educated in the same coin—meet when only a girl of fifteen, and have been delighted and educated in the same coin. (Signed) MRS. CORA FARM, Ridgefield Park, N. J.

It made Lincoln a real true being to me and as such surpassed my idea of a real true being. (Signed) MRS. S. F. GARDNER, 525 Lincoln Road, Brooklyn, N. Y. Social Worker.

I wish to express my great admiration of the Lincoln pictures, and my earnest wish for the success of your undertakings. The pictures are wonderfully good from every point of view. (Signed) M. M. NW. 21 Cedar St., N. Y. Lawyer.

It is far more than resemblance, or makeup or clever acting. The real Lincoln seems to live again. It is so true in every way. I wish to thank you for a most interesting production—of which I am sure you will be proud. (Signed) VIRGINIA ROSE, 9 East 29th St., N. Y. Artist and Author.

I attended your "Lincoln Cycle" at the Strand and think the production was perfect. I pray you will send me one. (Signed) VIRGINA ROSE, 9 East 29th St., N. Y. Artist and Author.

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
Announcing
LA SALLE COMEDIES for MUTUAL RELEASE

Three two-part comedies for release every two weeks:

"THE PRODIGAL UNCLE" . . . . May 7
   Featuring Jean Otto, celebrated comedian and Miss Carol Halloway, formerly starred in the famous "Beauty" comedies.

"CHUBBY INHERITS A HAREM" . May 21

"THE FLIGHT THAT FAILED" . . June 4

A series of fifty-two one reel comedies will be released weekly on Tuesday's, beginning June 11:

"HIS CANIBAL WIFE"
"TILLIE OF THE NINE LIVES"
"DISCORDS IN A FLAT"
"THE GIRL IN THE FRAME"
"WHEN LULU DANCED THE HULA"
"THE KISSING BUTTERFLY"
"MATCH IN QUARANTINE"
"MAN PROPOSES"
"PIGS AND PEARLS"
"THE WIDOW'S MIGHT"

Booking at all Mutual Film Exchanges now

The La Salle Film Company
Executive offices
Harris Trust Building
Chicago

Studios
Los Angeles
California

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
TO-DAY

By GEORGE BROADHURST and ABRAHAM SCHOMER

Supported by FRANK MILLS Directed by RALPH INCE

and an all star cast including LENORE HARRIS, GUS WEINBERG, ALICE GALE and KATE LESTER

"I CAN THINK OF NO PLAY WHOSE LESSON IS SO MUCH NEEDED. IT IS A VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS."

DOROTHY DIX.
EVERY MOTION PICTURE DIRECTOR OR ARTIST should call on our New York Representatives

ROEHM & RICHARDS
STRAND BUILDING

They are doing a lot of good, quiet work in conjunction with ourselves.

STUDIOS-ENGAGEMENTS-STORIES
MANAGEMENT-PUBLICITY-FINANCING
STUDIO-EQUIPMENT

EVERYTHING PERTAINING TO THE PHOTOPLAY

WILLIS & INGLIS
Wright & Callender Building Los Angeles

Two Hollywood Branches
Attention Exhibitors!

OUT TO-DAY
First Release of the
AMERICAN WAR NEWS WEEKLY
ACTION—NEWS—INTEREST

One Full Reel
Each Week Devoted
Entirely to the Activities of the American Army and Navy Preparedness
Movements, Patriotic Demonstrations and all News of a Nature Pertaining to the German-
American War

The Very Latest
News in Motion
Pictures From All Parts of the United States by a Staff of Field Camerarespondents Under Direction of Our
Chief of Staff,
Capt. Reynolds

CAPTAIN BOB REYNOLDS
Chief of Staff and Editing Director

Distributed in Greater New York and Northern New Jersey by the Variety Films Corporation
126 WEST 46TH ST., N. Y. CITY
Phone Bryant 9300

Produced by the
CINEMA WAR NEWS SYNDICATE
Longacre Bldg., New York City
FREDERICK W. BROOKED, Pres.
Phone Bryant 515

A Few Territories Open for State Right Buyers

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
MAX LINDER'S

Masterpiece is

"MAX IN A TAXI"

this with

"MAX COMES ACROSS"
"MAX WANTS A DIVORCE"

Are his only American made comedies. His first two set the country laughing.

"MAX IN A TAXI" IS HIS GREATEST EFFORT

He has been advertised everywhere. The Nation is on tiptoes to see him.

Don't fail to take advantage of this wide publicity.

Essanay
State Office, Chicago
1333 Argyle St., Chicago

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
The Dollar Admission Fallacy

"The Birth of a Nation" is having a reflex action upon the picture market which may offset the untold benefit it has conferred in elevating a motion picture in the public estimation.

We allude to its creation of the dollar admission price. The blame, of course, is not to be laid with Griffith's great picture, but rather with the industry's misconception of the entire situation.

Not to attempt an analysis of the latter, we do know this: that in box office receipts there has been but one "Birth of a Nation." It seems to stand out as an institution rather than as a motion picture. It is certainly not a box office criterion for any other picture.

Also we know that repeated attempts, with excellent productions, to uphold the dollar admission have failed.

And we ought now to begin to realize this truth: that the sphere of the picture comprises the inhabitants of the earth and that its function is to entertain these millions at a price within their means.

The motion picture is a celluloid strip, reproducing that which may be a great artistic and expensive creation, which reproductions in turn are capable of being merchandised so that all may view them everywhere at an inexpensive price.

It is this function which has made the motion picture. This is the motion picture. Why destroy its exclusive and remarkable facility, its very genius?

The dollar admission theory has a bad effect all around. It causes inflation.

The producer who decides he has brought forth a dollar admission picture puts its gross value very high. He rates it, let us say, as a million dollar production. If he sells territorial rights, he naturally apportions to each territory an amount sufficient to make up his big total.

The buyer of this high-priced territory is, in turn, forced to put a top-notch figure on the return he must get from each theatre.

And the theatre must raise its admission price to pay the territorial buyer. All of which is very fine; except that the people do not and will not pay these admission prices.

And this being true and being fundamental the whole selling plan collapses, leaving losses for some one to bear and furthermore restricting the picture to a very small fraction of the people who would like to and ought to and would see it.

It is better to have ten people view a picture at twenty cents each than one person at a dollar; better and one hundred per cent, more profitable for producer, distributor and exhibitor.

The motion picture is essentially democratic. Destroy its democracy and you have no motion picture. Better revert to the spoken drama, and its aristocratic prices and clientele.

Again, the commercial success of each picture depends upon its circulation.

The simple and basic selling policy on pictures, it strikes us—on any picture—should be: to let the people see it. Selling policies should be so based as to encourage longer runs, so that all the possible patrons of a picture can see it. Selling policies that restrict longer runs restrict the picture's logical income—and everyone's participation in it.

That is why we urge the rental of pictures by the district and not by the day.

And that is why we warn against the other and inevitable restriction—of a box office price too high for the millions whose amusement is the motion picture.
Speaking Editorially:

Profitable Advertising

We are kept pretty busy, each week, answering inquiries from exhibitors as to when and from whom certain independently distributed pictures can be booked.

As elsewhere announced in this issue, we will continue and enlarge this service.

This considerable demand for information, however, is plain proof of the incomplete and unsystematic advertising attending the distribution of state rights pictures.

The advertising generally stops when the territorial sales are completed. This is a wrong principle.

These pictures should be advertised to the exhibitor, not alone to the buyer. He wants to know where he can book the picture—and right then he wants to know fully what kind of a picture it is.

Judging from our inquiries this kind of advertising would pay.

Tally Your Patrons

Have you made a box-office tally? Any small-town exhibitor can make this test—and should make it. It will tell him—in plain figures—just how many of his people attend every change.

And this information will tell him, for one thing, how many changes are necessary.

In our April 28th issue we gave the experiences of Exhibitor Potter, of Chelan, Washington. He kept a tally for two weeks, as follows:

Total number of Admissions:
Total number of names noted:
Total number of patrons recognized:
Of whom attended once in two weeks:
Of whom attended twice in two weeks:
Of whom attended three times in two weeks:
Of whom attended every change:
He found that only 8 people out of 291 recognized patrons attended every change.

If you don't believe in longer runs apply this test.

Chicago's Opportunity

The taxes now threatened upon exhibitors make another prime argument in favor of national organization.

But what is needed is a real organization—not one that meets once a year to elect officers and hold an exposition which thereafter immediately disintegrates.

What did the Chicago Convention of last year accomplish? The answer is given by another question: what is the National League doing now to fight taxation?

Leave politics out of this year's convention, send un instructed delegates and elect men who will make an organization for organization's sake.

Confetti

One of the fallacies of the business that still persists is the use of heralds.

Heralds may well be called the confetti of the business. They are thrown about as carelessly, and, as publicity, they do about as much good. But they are expensive confetti.

Publicity is a spotlight—else it is not publicity. Heralds generally repose on the dark floors of theatres.

Newspaper space, lobby displays, window cards, mailed programs, cards, letters—these bring the people publicity. This is modern, accepted, judicious publicity.

Why the Film Salesman?

Why is the film salesman? asked the exhibitor. "This week there have been twelve salesmen here—in a town of 4,000. I didn't buy a foot of film, yet I have to help pay this overhead."

The trouble here isn't with the film salesman, nor is it the idea wrong of having film salesmen. Competition and selling are necessary factors.

The trouble is too much film; and even more, a distribution system which brings about the presence in one small town of a dozen salesmen all trying to sell a man whose shelves are already filled by contract and who cannot find room for another product without throwing one away.
American Exhibitors Face Big Problems in War Crisis

Threatened Taxation Causes Wide Protest—Drafting Likely to Hit Ranks of Exhibitors’ Employees
—Business Bound to Improve—What Canada and England Have Taught Us—How to Prepare

AGITATION centred in the vicinity of New York and extending in all directions westward, is already reported in lines of telegrams as the result of the Administration’s intention to draft two huge armies—fighting and industrial—and to levy tremendous taxes.

A Brooklyn paper published what was asserted to be an authoritative statement from a high Washington official, declaring that “liquor and theatres” would be the first to bear a direct tax.

From Buffalo comes the advice that the office of the Congressman from that district is being besieged by letters and telegrams from exhibitors protesting vehemently against the proposal to tax their theatres ten per cent, of their gross receipts.

Similar disquieting reports are coming from other parts by every mail. Chicago is said to be the latest seat of disturbance.

If the President’s plans of two huge armies go into effect—and tendencies point sharply in that direction—it is probable that every exhibitor in the country will be affected.

As far as the picture business is concerned, the war cloud has a dark outside and a silver lining. Many exhibitors will be benefited by the desertion of patriotic employees from their ranks to the army; the inevitable tax will be unpleasant. On the other hand, if we may judge from Canada’s experience, business will boom.

In Canada business is fine. One indication of this is that since the war started nine new exchanges have been opened in that territory.

Before we consider the silver lining of the cloud, let us consider a more important phase: How the exhibitor should prepare.

So many of his employees are of draftable age that he should begin casting about now for understudies who are not so readily draftable.

The most difficult jobs to fill are his own and the operators. The safest plan is to follow England’s example and train women for the positions. In England there are hundreds of women operators and managers.

Probably all exhibitors have already read the list of ninety questions issued by the War Department which every exhibitor is expected to answer.

One to five cents for each ticket sold, has not harmed business, according to Canadian exhibitors. The tax tickets are sold separately, and are always bought with a feeling of patriotism.

As America is a young land with a weakness for going to extremes, it is safe to be followed instantly by a period of severe economy.

In Canada people stopped going to the high-priced theatres and patronized the picture shows. It seems strange that the war should be a means of killing the daily program change, but that is exactly what Canada has proved.

More people attending pictures means packed houses. To satisfy his patrons, the exhibitor soon finds he must show his pictures more than one day. In Canada it has meant the three-day to one-week run.

Morally, the war is already affecting the nation. We won’t laugh so much for a couple of years. Already, young men between 19 and 35 seem to be reading the war news a little more seriously, and most of the women of our acquaintance are rolling Red Cross bandages or expect to.

In other words, we are becoming a serious nation. We can’t help ourselves. But one thing is certain: We will not allow ourselves to be plunged any deeper in gloom than we can help. We will fight shy of tragedy as an entertainment. We will demand to be amused. Which means that the final stamp of disapproval is placed upon the morbid film.

You will serve your public best, Mr. Exhibitor, by getting your bright, light pictures. Good comedies will be in demand, and so will sprightly, refreshing drama of all kinds.

Max Linder Ill in Arizona;—No More Comedies

Essanay Comedian Fored by Ill Health to Seek Higher Altitude—Production of Linder Comedies Postponed Indefinitely

THE sudden and serious breakdown in health of Max Linder, the much heralded and counted on French comedian of the Essanay Company, has put an indefinite end to the production of the Linder comedies for the present and probably forever. Monsieur Linder, racked by weakened lungs and a serious stomach affection, gave up reluctantly and it is reported from California, where he made his last two comedies, that he, his faithful pet dog and others of his retinue have gone to the high altitudes of Arizona to make a fight against the illness that has beset him.

His present illness has been superinduced by wounds received two years ago when he was a member of the French army.

It was after he returned from the front in France and seemed to have recovered almost fully from his wounds that he began negotiations with George K. Spoor, of Essanay, to make a series of twelve comedies for that company. Much publicity was given the coming of the famous French comedian to America and his first comedy, “Max Crosses Again,” made in Chicago, was well received. The strenuous work of the studio and the climate didn’t seem to agree with him however and he suffered several slight relapses of trouble with his old wounds.

Then it was decided to go to California to make the rest of the series and give Monsieur Linder the advantage of the climate. That his work was reluctantly impaired by his breakdown in health became apparent in the recent Linder releases. By mere grit and courage he managed to finish his third comedy, “Max in a Taxi.” Then it was decided by the Essanay officials to discontinue all work indefinitely for the present.

The announcement of this has just gone forth this week. At the Essanay head-quarters, in Chicago, they decline to forecast whether the remaining nine of the series of twelve comedies will ever be finished. While there is a hope that the climate of Arizona will bring Linder back to health again and in him to fulfill the contract, it is doubtful in many quarters that he will ever be able to stand the strain of studio work again.

This possibility has received much conjecture in Chicago and other places where the word has gone forth. To the Essanay Company it will be unfortunate. It is pointed out that besides the disappointment it will mean to exhibitors, it will also necessitate the refunding of thousands of dollars in deposits made for the Linder series.

Status of Barred Pictures Up to Lansing

According to Joseph L. Kun, Assistant District Attorney General of Pennsylvania, the present status of “Civilization” in that state is dependent on the final decision of Secretary of State Lansing. The picture was resubmitted to the Pennsylvania Censor Board after eliminations had been made, and in this form was passed by them with the sanction of Attorney General Brown provided these eliminations are satisfactory to Secretary Lansing.
New Rules By Fire Protective Association

A new set of rules governing explosives and combustibles has been drawn up by the National Fire Protection Association, and will be deliberated upon at the next meeting of that body, to be held May 8 & 9 and 10.

Frank H. Elliot, executive secretary of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, urges all manufacturers, distributors and exhibitors to study the new rules and to make all suggestions possible in order that the Insurance Committee, of which Jesse L. Lansky is chairman, can take action before May 8.

All those who are interested are urged to write the National Fire Protection Association, requesting a copy of the pamphlet.

Pages 18 to 24, inclusive, are devoted to "Regulations for Production, Storage and Handling of Motion Film."

The industry's terms are briefly explained. Regulations for studies and exchanges, regarding their construction are taken up in considerable detail.

Exhibitors' Circuit Starts Activities This Week

The First National Exhibitors' Circuit was incorporated in New York last week for $50,000, the incorporators being Samuel L. Rothafel of New York, Fred Dahmen of San Francisco, and Aaron T. Jones.

Section "D" is devoted to storage of film, definitions of storage cabinets, etc.

Section "E" takes up sprinklers and other protection.

Section "F" concerns lighting of film vaults, the use of motors, provision for "exit" signs, etc.

Section "G" deals with heating arrangements.

Section "H" is devoted to film handling and to combustible materials, other than films.

Section "I" discusses film containers, pointing out that while the present type of film container is sparkproof, it has very poor insulating qualities.

Section "J" says that every studio, laboratory and exchange must have some executive who is thoroughly conversant with the fire rules.

Section "K" gives the distances at which bonfires may be built from the region of film vaults.

Section "L" is a general treatise on the protection of valuable negatives in storage.

Farrar Returns to Screen on Artcraft Program

Geraldine Farrar concluded her season with the Metropolitan Opera Company last week when she gave a farewell performance of "Thais," and she is now on her way to the Lasky studios in Los Angeles. Cecil B. DeMille will direct her forthcoming productions, as in the past, the names of the pictures in which she will make her appearance have not yet been announced.

As outlined in the recent announcement signed by Adolph Zukor, Walter B. Greene and Hiram Abrams effecting the new Famous Players-Lasky, Artcraft and Paramount combination, Miss Farrar's future productions will be released by Artcraft.

Oceanic Co. Formed as Foreign Distributor of Mutuals

President John R. Freuler, of Mutual, announced last week the organization of the Oceanic Film Corporation as the exclusive foreign sales of Mutual productions. The Oceanic will be responsible for distribution in all territories outside of the United States, West Indies, Canada, Philippines and Mexico.

B. J. Brandon, a member of the Mutual staff for the last two years, has been appointed manager of the Oceanic corporation. His offices will be with the Mutual group of offices in the Consumers' Building, Chicago.

Mr. Brandon has traveled widely, has a thorough knowledge of many languages, and is acquainted with conditions of foreign trade.

Ohio Court Decides State Censors Superior to City

State movie censors are supreme in Ohio. This is the gist of the Cleveland Municipal Court decision in the case of the city vs. "Purify," the picture in which Mayor Munson posed nude. Because of this, the police stopped the show. The film had been passed by the censorship board. Maude Murray Miller, member of the board, came here to defend it.

She won a complete victory. Under the ruling of the court, the city is powerless.

Frank Marion Suffers Breevement

Hamilton H. Marion, the son of Frank Marion, president of the Kalem Company, died last Friday after an illness extending over many weeks. The heavy blow to Mr. Marion is accentuated by the fact that Hamilton was the only son. He was in his seventeenth year. During his illness Mr. Marion was constantly at his side, devoting but the barest attention to his company's affairs.

Lesser No Longer Handling Selznick Features

Sol Lesser, of the All Star Feature Distributors, Inc., of San Francisco, is no longer handling the Lewis J. Selznick productions in that territory. This affects all Selznick subjects, except the Clara Kimball Young productions, on which it will go into effect after the sixth picture.
Selznick Has "The Barrier;" May Handle All Hampton Films

Ex-President of General Film to Release Rex Beach Film Through Selznick Exchanges—General Will Be Handled by Selznick

LEWIS J. SELZNICK has secured the world rights of the Rex Beach Picture Corporation's film, "The Barrier." Benjamin B. Hampton, former president of General Film, was in conference with Lewis J. Selznick several days last week, following which an announcement was issued to the trade papers with the information that "The Barrier" will be handled throughout the world by the Selznick exchanges.

As soon as the contract was signed, Mr. Hampton delivered to the Selznick organization all the prints of the film that were completed, as well as all advertising and general publicity matter. Prints are being sent to all the Selznick exchanges where the picture can be seen by exhibitors throughout this country and Canada.

In commenting on the deal Mr. Selznick said: "I have taken over the distribution of "The Barrier" for two reasons; First—because it is unquestionably one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced and I wanted it. Second—because Mr. Hampton and Mr. Beach realized that my system of distribution was the only one in existence that would give this splendid production the fullest possible chance to reach the screens of every first class motion picture theatre in the United States and Canada. From the moment it was shown to the public in New York, its success was instantaneous, and so far there has not been a single dissenting voice raised in criticism."

The General Film Company issued the following statement regarding "The Barrier":

"The Barrier" is pre-ident. 'Hid Minieneajnjlis of stui I, ,ii  Ml) 'I. No return (.'

"The Barrier" could no longer be handled if the regular releases were to be given proper attention. This statement from General Film comes simultaneously with one forecasting a concentrated campaign devoted to attractive groups, one and two-reel subjects which are in more lively demand than ever.

It is generally believed in film circles that Mr. Hampton's decision to release "The Barrier" through Selznick means that all of the future Hampton films may be released through that medium.

Mr. Selznick told Motion Picture News that all General Film Contracts for "The Barrier" have been taken over by him, and that he will pay the percentages to General Film, according to the agreement.

One of the latest state rights buyers is the Selznick for "The Barrier," to Ed Lesser of the All-Star Feature Distributors, San Francisco, for the state.

Mr. Lesser consummated the deal in conjunction with F. A. Giese and the picture will be presented in Oakland with an augmented orchestra, at the Macdonough theatre, one of the houses controlled by Mr. Giese.

Censorship Winning Fight in Pennsylvania

Censor Repealer Bill Voted Down in Legislature 11 to 21. Barkers Hope to Force Passage in Senate and Concede Several Amendments

STRENUOUS efforts at the eleventh hour are expected by the foes of censorship in Pennsylvania to win the battle against the censorship repealer from the defeat in the Legislature, notwithstanding the bill was voted down, 11 to 24, when it was called for final passage on third reading in the Senate at Harrisburg on April 23.

The plan now of the friends of the repealer is to recall the measure for reconsideration this week and after an all-day series of conferences here there are said to be provisions to be made for the belief the bill can be passed after certain concessions are made in the form of amendments.

The support and influence of the National Association of Motion Picture Industries will be sought to gain the support of the other ticket interested, which are said to be a unit in favor of the repeal of censorship, left Harrisburg after the defeat of the bill last week for the purpose of ascertaining the grounds for belief the bill can be passed after certain concessions are made in the form of amendments.

The support and influence of the Association will be sought to gain the support of the other ticket interested, which are said to be a unit in favor of the repeal of censorship, left Harrisburg after the defeat of the bill last week for the purpose of ascertaining the grounds for belief the bill can be passed after certain concessions are made in the form of amendments.

The support and influence of the Association will be sought to gain the support of the other ticket interested, which are said to be a unit in favor of the repeal of censorship, left Harrisburg after the defeat of the bill last week for the purpose of ascertaining the grounds for belief the bill can be passed after certain concessions are made in the form of amendments.

Hoffman Organizes at $25,000—Other New Corporations

M. H. Hoffman, Inc., was organized last week for $25,000, the incorporators being M. Henri Hoffman, Florence L. Devine and Jacob Hertzberg, all of New York.

Other new corporations, reported to Motion Picture News by the Corporation Trust Company of New York, are:

- Mayfair Film Corporation, $25,000, with Max A. Schlesinger, Maurice Schlesinger and Jacob J. Lazaroe, all of New York.
- Fifty-fourth Street Studio was incorporated for $5,000 by Martin Lippman, Wm. R. Ladenheim and Katherine A. O'Leary, all of New York.

To Revive Exhibitors' Body

Efforts are to be made at once to revive interest in the Michigan Exhibitors' Association, according to A. J. Moeller, who says a campaign will be made to increase the membership at least 100 per cent. The annual convention is scheduled sometime in June, and will be held in Detroit.

Co-operative Exchange Formed in Northwest

A group of Northwestern exhibitors have organized a co-operative film exchange with headquarters at 538 Andrus building, Minneapolis, and have announced that the new concern will be co-operative in the strictest sense.

The organization is known as the Exhibitors' Booking and Service Company. No return express or advance deposits will be charged members who pay a membership fee of $15 annually, and take one share of stock at $10. The firm promises to save money for its members.

William H. Hood, a Minneapolis broker is president, and Theodore Quadall of Minneapolis is secretary. Our the board of directors are exhibitors in several outside towns.

Other New Corporations

M. H. Hoffman, Inc., was organized last week for $25,000, the incorporators being M. Henri Hoffman, Florence L. Devine and Jacob Hertzberg, all of New York.

Other new corporations, reported to Motion Picture News by the Corporation Trust Company of New York, are:

- Mayfair Film Corporation, $25,000, with Max A. Schlesinger, Maurice Schlesinger and Jacob J. Lazaroe, all of New York.
- Fifty-fourth Street Studio was incorporated for $5,000 by Martin Lippman, Wm. R. Ladenheim and Katherine A. O'Leary, all of New York.

To Revive Exhibitors' Body

Efforts are to be made at once to revive interest in the Michigan Exhibitors' Association, according to A. J. Moeller, who says a campaign will be made to increase the membership at least 100 per cent. The annual convention is scheduled sometime in June, and will be held in Detroit.

Co-operative Exchange Formed in Northwest

A group of Northwestern exhibitors have organized a co-operative film exchange with headquarters at 538 Andrus building, Minneapolis, and have announced that the new concern will be co-operative in the strictest sense.

The organization is known as the Exhibitors' Booking and Service Company. No return express or advance deposits will be charged members who pay a membership fee of $15 annually, and take one share of stock at $10. The firm promises to save money for its members.

William H. Hood, a Minneapolis broker is president, and Theodore Quadall of Minneapolis is secretary. Our the board of directors are exhibitors in several outside towns.

To Revive Exhibitors' Body

Efforts are to be made at once to revive interest in the Michigan Exhibitors' Association, according to A. J. Moeller, who says a campaign will be made to increase the membership at least 100 per cent. The annual convention is scheduled sometime in June, and will be held in Detroit.
Vitagraph Gets $1,000,000 Verdict Against Ford

Alleged Libel Contained in Article by Auto Magnate to Effect Munition Makers Financed War Film Basis of Suit; Time Given to Answer

JUDGMENT for $1,000,000 in favor of the Vitagraph Company against Henry Ford over a libel suit instituted against the automobile manufacturer for alleged damaging remarks concerning the complainant's film production. "The Battle Cry of Peace" was handed down on April 23 by Judge Mayer sitting in Federal District Court, New York. Twenty days were given Mr. Ford to file an answer to the original complaint of the Vitagraph Company. The court action followed the filing by the manufacturer's attorneys of a demurrer to the suit, the presentation of which is technically considered an admission by the defendant of the truth of the allegations in a complaint.

Vitagraph based its claims on passages in an article alleged to have been prepared by Mr. Ford, and published in May, 1916, entitled "Humanity and Sanity." The fundamental point taken by the motion picture concern was that portions of the article reflected the opinion that "The Battle Cry of Peace" had been suggested by Hudson Maxim and had been financed by munition makers of the United States in order to embroil this country in war. The complainant charged that such statements were false, and the wide publicity given them did almost irreparable damage to the manufacturing of Blue Ribbon features.

In rendering his decision Judge Mayer ventured his opinion that motion pictures are of tremendous value in spreading enlightening propaganda.

"The Eyes of the World" Makes Western Record

Clune Production, According Business on "Birth of a Nation" and Other Features

J. L. ADAMS, general manager of the Deseret Film Company, Salt Lake City, spent last week in Los Angeles arranging with W. H. Clune, for a further expansion of the Deseret Territory in the use of "The Eyes of the World."

The Deseret Film Company one month ago purchased similar rights for the intermountain states of Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. Mr. Adams said that "The Eyes of the World" has proven nothing short of a sensational success and has smashed all records in Utah and Nevada.

"The feature opened in Utah at the Strand theatre, Salt Lake, on April 1," said Mr. Adams, "in two weeks it played to more than 20,000 paid admissions at a top price of $1, the same scale as was in operation in Los Angeles. The capacity of the Strand is 1,014, so that the picture played virtually to capacity during the entire engagement. During the first week hundreds of persons were turned away at every performance, and at every showing since there have been good houses."

Mr. Adams says that this smashes not only every previous motion picture record in Utah, including that of "The Clansman" but also every theatre record in Utah for paid admissions. During this run "The Eyes of the World" had for competition "Joan the Woman" and pictures at nine other playhouses.

Eighteen Cities Named for Goldwyn Branches

Distributing Concern for Goldwyn Pictures Thoroughly Covers Country— Offices and Managerial and Selling Force Now Being Engaged

ORGANIZATION and opening of branches in eighteen important cities has been begun by the Goldwyn Distributing Corporation, which was chartered at Albany, N. Y., a fortnight ago, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. This is the medium through which Goldwyn Pictures will be distributed.

At this time the outlook is that the offices will be located in the following cities, thus affording distribution facilities in every important section of the United States:

Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati for the Central States.

Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Denver for the Central West and Middle Northwest.

Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles for California, the Pacific Coast and the Northwestern territory.

Atlanta and Dallas for the Southern States.

New Universal Weekly Due April 14

Universal will issue a new animated weekly on May 14, to be known as "Universal Current Events." It is the intention of Jack Cohn and his staff of pictorial newsmen to present war news and patriotic subjects in the new weekly.

Universal intends to make this weekly film war record so complete that it can be stored as a record for future generations.

MacMahon Comments on "Canned Novels" for New York Post

J. A. MacMahon, general press representative of Fox Film Corporation, contributed a signed article to the New York Evening Post last Saturday, in which he says:

"The prophecy of H. G. Wells that the news columns of newspapers would be replaced by cinema reports and the editorials by public arguing machines has been passed by as lightly as the picturesque anticipation of D. W. Griffith, uttered two years ago, that the libraries of the future would hold canned reels instead of books. But all that is lacking now for the realization of the Griffith prophecy is the concentration of the material in film libraries and the installation of motion picture machines in private homes."

Mr. MacMahon's contract to represent the Fox de luxe productions, "The Honor System" and "A Daughter of the Gods," expires May 1, and he is open to publicity promoting engagements at his study, 321 West Fifty-fifth street, New York.

New Up-State House Opens with Big Flourish

To crowds which taxed the capacity of the house at afternoon and evening performances, the new Rialto theatre, Amsterdam, N. Y., was successfully opened on April 19 by Edward C. Klapp, owner, and George A. Roberts, manager.

An opening air band concert was given previous to the evening show, and Mayor Cline made a short address during the performance. City officials and prominent society folks attended the opening, and at the conclusion of the evening show, a banquet was tendered to the performers and employees of the Klapp theatres, and film agents from out of town who attended the dedication.

Harry Rapf and Ralph Vince
Real Service that Distributors Are Anxious to Give

The Fourth of a Series of Articles—The Triangle Plan

The purpose of this series of articles is to look behind, or within, the larger distributing companies, and to find out what each of them means by the phrase, "Service to the Exhibitor." We have found, in each case, that the theory upon which each of them is building is different.

Paramount believes that service means one thing; Bluebird has quite a different conception, and Y-L-S-E, still another. This week we give Triangle's claim to individuality.

We have assumed right along that you are a busy exhibitor—to busy to take the time to dig out this information for yourself. Ferreting out such matters for you and presenting them compactly and clearly we consider to be one of our chief duties to our readers.

Triangle's policy, to put it another way, means alertness. If one of the old showmanship ideas has outlived its usefulness—out with it.

Whatever the Hodkinson, or Triangle, service backbone may be as a theory, all that you as an individual exhibitor, care about in these pressing times is how the theory finds expression.

What is the Triangle service department driving at?

Originality; something novel; something individual.

Very good, you will say, but isn't every other distributor driving at the same nail?

Let us make haste in correcting an impression that the foregoing may have caused. Triangle's notion of service to the exhibitor is not easy unless one is thoroughly acquainted with the idealism of W. W. Hodkinson.

Mr. Hodkinson is a genius of rare type. We have not many like him in the business. His mind is, and always has been, focused on a point several years ahead of the industry's blind gropings. But his service staff is not made up of theorists. Considering them one at a time, or net, they are a group of hard-headed young business thinkers.

If they have the opportunity—yes. But none of them makes a daily business of originality, with that single aim in mind.

Triangle believes that the exhibitor who succeeds today must have something different from and more ingenious than his competitor.

Triangle says that your theatre must have a personality, that it must present something to the public other than a flock of glaring lithographs pasted on the boards outside.

Triangle gives heralds an intrinsic value. They are not just so much print on so much paper. They are something. We have not many like him in the business. His mind is, and always has been, focused on a point several years ahead of the industry's blind gropings.

Triangle's claim to distinction does not lie in the various advertising suggestions given exhibitors, but in the comprehensive and far-sighted way that big subjects are treated. An exhibitor can call a mass of valuable information from the articles if he can spare the time to read them.

The Triangle press sheet which accompanies each Triangle production is decidedly better than average. The sheet is snappy and printable. The sheet also contains a musical cue record and various advertising and lobby display suggestions.

We THANK YOU!

If I can't get along without Motion Picture News, I would rather have the News than all the other trade journals combined.

H. B. Freeman, Edenland Theatre, Franklin, Tenn.

Because they are old does not mean that they are good, nor does it mean that they are worthless—worn out.

Laugh Insurance
Guaranteed by Mack Sennett Keystone Comedies

The Ordinary Slide Bore the Audience—Here is Advertising that Interests and Amuses

The Fourth of a Series of Articles—The Triangle Plan

The purpose of this series of articles is to look behind, or within, the larger distributing companies, and to find out what each of them means by the phrase, "Service to the Exhibitor." We have found, in each case, that the theory upon which each of them is building is different.

Paramount believes that service means one thing; Bluebird has quite a different conception, and Y-L-S-E, still another. This week we give Triangle's claim to individuality.

We have assumed right along that you are a busy exhibitor—to busy to take the time to dig out this information for yourself. Ferreting out such matters for you and presenting them compactly and clearly we consider to be one of our chief duties to our readers.

Triangle's policy, to put it another way, means alertness. If one of the old showmanship ideas has outlived its usefulness—out with it.

Whatever the Hodkinson, or Triangle, service backbone may be as a theory, all that you as an individual exhibitor, care about in these pressing times is how the theory finds expression.

What is the Triangle service department driving at?

Originality; something novel; something individual.

Very good, you will say, but isn't every other distributor driving at the same nail?

Let us make haste in correcting an impression that the foregoing may have caused. Triangle's notion of service to the exhibitor is not easy unless one is thoroughly acquainted with the idealism of W. W. Hodkinson.

Mr. Hodkinson is a genius of rare type. We have not many like him in the business. His mind is, and always has been, focused on a point several years ahead of the industry's blind gropings. But his service staff is not made up of theorists. Considering them one at a time, or net, they are a group of hard-headed young business thinkers.

If they have the opportunity—yes. But none of them makes a daily business of originality, with that single aim in mind.

Triangle believes that the exhibitor who succeeds today must have something different from and more ingenious than his competitor.

Triangle says that your theatre must have a personality, that it must present something to the public other than a flock of glaring lithographs pasted on the boards outside.

Triangle gives heralds an intrinsic value. They are not just so much print on so much paper. They are something. We have not many like him in the business. His mind is, and always has been, focused on a point several years ahead of the industry's blind gropings.

Triangle's claim to distinction does not lie in the various advertising suggestions given exhibitors, but in the comprehensive and far-sighted way that big subjects are treated. An exhibitor can call a mass of valuable information from the articles if he can spare the time to read them.

The Triangle press sheet which accompanies each Triangle production is decidedly better than average. The sheet is snappy and printable. The sheet also contains a musical cue record and various advertising and lobby display suggestions.

The Ordinary Slide Bore the Audience—Here is Advertising that Interests and Amuses

Laugh Insurance
Guaranteed by Mack Sennett Keystone Comedies
Ince, Hodkinson and Roth Tell Triangle Ideals

Producer, Distributor and Exhibitor Give Three Sides to Triangle’s Purpose—Plans
Made for National Broadside.

ONE IMPORTANT and illuminating outcome of W. W. Hodkinson’s visit to the Pacific coast, besides the interestingly announced, of discontinuing the advance deposit system, has reached Motion Picture News office in the form of a statement from each of the three Triangle units: Producer, distributor and exhibitor.
The statements come from Thomas H.
Ince, W. W. Hodkinson and Eugene H.
Roth, a Triangle exhibitor of San Francisco.

Mr. Ince expressed himself as follows:
"I have been in the business of making motion pictures almost from the day of its start. I think that I have made good pictures. Many have told me so. I think that I am making better pictures to-day than I ever did before. And I know that I am going to make even better pictures from now on. The present arrangements of Triangle give me the opportunity. I have the finest producing plan in the world. I have the actors, the directors, the script writers and the technical experts. I know how. Personally I am certain of all this, and I do not doubt my ability to convince others."

Mr. Hodkinson said:
"I have recently made several announcements in regard to the future of Triangle Pictures. This is in further confirmation of them. Of course they are all formulated. But the details are all completed, we are ready to go ahead. And we are going ahead.
Others may follow if they wish; but we have taken very good care that they do not catch up to us. We propose to be the leaders in the picture race."

Eugene H. Roth, of San Francisco, added:
"I am the manager of the Portola the-aatre of San Francisco, and the executive manager of the new California theatre now being constructed at a cost of $1,750,000.
It will be the finest moving picture theatre in the world. Naturally, I want the best pictures in the world to go with it. More-ever I must have the best."

"And I have decided to use Triangle Pictures. I did not do this hastily. As a matter of fact, I have always been opposed to the program plan. I have even fought it.

"It was not the easiest thing in the world to make me change my views. But Triangle has done it. I have even become an enthusiastic convert, due solely to the excellence of Triangle’s output."

Big Dramatic Feature "Today" Is Completed

Florence Reed Starring and Ralph
Ince as Director—Harry Rapf Certain Picture Will Be a Revelation—Writers and Moralists Praise

WITH the new Florence Reed feature.
"To-Day," practically completed,
Harry Rapf, president of the "To-Day Feature Picture Corporations," is considering several attractive propositions with regard to the disposal of his picture. Already he has received a tempting offer for the world rights of the feature, and a number of offers for state rights.

The precise date of its release is not announced, but all due speed will be made in order to satisfy the demand for what promises to be an exceptional playpoy.

Mr. Rapf feels that every essential mak-

Pictures Same as Patent Medicines in Vancouver

Harry J. Cohen, Special Representative of Metro, Finds Film Conditions Good in Northwest—Corrects Newspaper Misunderstanding.

HARRY J. COHEN, special representative of the Metro Pictures Corporation, has just returned from a 15,000-mile trip through the Northwest, and among the many interesting things he came across was a motion picture boycott among the newspaper men on Vancouver, B. C.

"When I went to Vancouver," said Mr.
Cohen in an interview, "I found that all the newspaper men had turned thumbs down on motion pictures. They said they put them in the same class with patent medicines, and they were treating them as such."

Mr. Cohen arranged a meeting with the various editors, and argued that Motion Picture News has as much for the reader, as sporting news and social happenings, if not more. He pointed out to them that thousands of motion picture theatregoers were reading the papers chiefly because of the picture features in them. Mr. Cohen succeeded in converting the editors to his way of thinking.

"I found general picture conditions excellent in the Western States and Canada," Mr. Cohen went on to say. "This was particularly true of Washington and Oregon.
Conditions there are better in Seattle. The program picture is demanded in the West. The exhibitor understands that the program showing is to his benefit, and the regular patron knows he will get his money’s worth.

"War conditions are not worrying the Western exhibitors. I was in the West when the ‘state of war’ was declared to exist.
The President’s message aroused tremendous enthusiasm, and the response in the way of enlistments has been all that could be desired, but the exhibitors feel that their business will not be affected."

Castle Pictures Not to Be Released as Specials

Reports that the Castle features will be released by Pathé as specials, independent of the Gold Rooster Program, were emphatically denied last week by J. A. Berst, vice-president and general manager of Pathé Exchange, Inc.

"We have no such intention," stated Mr.
Berst. "We have engaged Mrs. Vernon Castle to appear in our Gold Rooster plays, and later in serials. I consider her one of the two greatest box-office stars in the country to-day."

"We have never considered releasing the Castle Pictures as specials, independent of our program. We want to make up our Gold Rooster plays to be a ‘special’ in every sense of the word, and the engagement of Mrs. Castle is an important step in that direction. We will have other interesting announcements in the near future along the same line."

Triumph Films in England

Chester Beecroft has disposed of the products of the Triumph Film Corporation for England to Bolton-Stewart, Ltd., of London.

Mr. Beecroft has an agreement with Bolton-Stewart, Ltd., to furnish them each month, for the next two years, with four of the best American made productions.
He is already supplying Bolton-Stewart, Ltd., with the Frohman Superpictures. Among these are include "The Witching Hour" and their latest subject, "God’s Man."

The Triumph sale also calls for one feature a month. The productions which the Triumph has made were directed by Julius Steger.

J. C. Jessen in New York

J. C. Jessen, Pacific Coast representative of Motion Picture News, arrived in New York from the West, Monday afternoon.
"Exhibitors Should Clean House"—Wright

Kalem Official Terms Statement That Producer Is Exhibitor's Enemy

"Mere Balderdash", "The Weapon of a Peanut Politician"

COMMENT has been heard from many quarters on the Motion Picture News' editorial of last week calling attention to the statement that "the producer is the natural-born enemy of the exhibitor," reported to have been made at exhibitor meetings in the West by the league president. One of the prominent film men most strongly aroused was William Wright, in town from Calif. Hav. Speaking to a representative of Motion Picture News, Mr. Wright declared:

"I was very much amused at a statement attributed to a certain New York exhibitor relative to the business relations between the exhibitor and the producer, in which this party stated the producer was an enemy of the exhibitor. Nothing could be further from the fact."

"This talk of the producer being the enemy of the exhibitor is mere balderdash and is the kind of stuff you would expect from the small mind. The idea of arranging the exhibitor against the producer is like the weapon of the small peanut politician who endeavors to arrange class against class."

"The exhibitor has his own salvation, and the salvation of the entire motion picture industry, in his own hands. If he will organize and elect honest officers of brains, he can clean the industry and put it on a basis which will command the respect of the entire world."

"The majority of exhibitors and producers are of good character, and it seems to me it is up to them to place our business so that instead of being the butt for adverse legislation all over the country, we will occupy such a commanding position that we will compel the respect of all good citizens and the fear of the low-brow politician who is continually running for us."

"Thousands of exhibitors in the United States can testify that the writer personally has gone out of his way many a time to accommodate an exhibitor and he did not ask whether the man operated a small theatre or a large one—and many thousand exhibitors will say that Kalem Company has always tried to keep in touch with its ultimate consumer, the exhibitor, and that we have always endeavored to make pictures which would enable the exhibitor to get the money."

"From the inception of the Kalem Company, those in charge of its business have kept in close touch with exhibitors all over the world and have shaped its policy accordingly, always realizing that the exhibitor's success was their success, and, far from being the enemy of the motion picture theatre proprietor, we have tried to be his friend, knowing we would benefit thereby."

"Exhibitors today have the success or failure of our business practically in their hands. Organization is absolutely essential, but it must be on a large scale. If a few exhibitors get together and form an association, they are very apt to be dominated by the politicians in the business, and that cannot mean success as these politicians will have their own axes to grind and will not work for the ultimate good of the business as a whole; but if the exhibitors will organize wholesale, the good and unsophisticated men will come to the front and the business as a whole will benefit."

George E. Schmidt, manager of the Alamo, No. 2, Atlanta, has been an exhibitor ten years. "Business is only fair," he declares. "Pictures nowadays have poor titles and the supporting casts are not equal to the stars. Some changes must be made in the game in order to stimulate the business."

"Business is good. It keeps me working to keep it so, but I don't mind working as long as the coin comes in," is the cheery greeting from J. C. Larkin of the Cosmos, Winner, S. D. "Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart are the favorites here. We run Fox, Triangle, World and Paramount."

E. B. Mintum, of the Gem theatre, Council Bluffs, Ia., is a strong advocate of "lapping" serials. He always starts his new serial off on the night that he closes the serial serial, and the result is he has built up his week nights with serials. He runs two serials a week, and says serial nights are his biggest nights. He has run all the Universal serials.

"Business is good, but we have lots of trouble getting a square deal from the exchanges until they are simply forced to it," says J. C. Larkin of the Cosmos, Winner, S. D. "Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart are the favorites here. We run Fox, Triangle, World and Paramount."

"The Paramount service is the only real service we have ever had," is the "Firing Line" report from the Alhambra theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. Here's a touch of frankness from the Alhambra theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. "We have before us letters and contracts, and he has a contract for making no mention, even in the smallest type, of the producer was their success, and, far from being the enemy of the motion picture industry, in his own hands. If he will organize and elect honest officers of brains, he can clean the industry and put it on a basis which will command the respect of the entire world."

"The majority of exhibitors and producers are of good character, and it seems to me it is up to them to place our business so that instead of being the butt for adverse legislation all over the country, we will occupy such a commanding position that we will compel the respect of all good citizens and the fear of the low-brow politician who is continually running for us."

"Thousands of exhibitors in the United States can testify that the writer personally has gone out of his way many a time to accommodate an exhibitor and he did not ask whether the man operated a small theatre or a large one—and many thousand exhibitors will say that Kalem Company has always tried to keep in touch with its ultimate consumer, the exhibitor, and that we have always endeavored to make pictures which would enable the exhibitor to get the money."

"From the inception of the Kalem Company, those in charge of its business have kept in close touch with exhibitors all over the world and have shaped its policy accordingly, always realizing that the exhibitor's success was their success, and, far from being the enemy of the motion picture theatre proprietor, we have tried to be his friend, knowing we would benefit thereby."

"Exhibitors today have the success or failure of our business practically in their hands. Organization is absolutely essential, but it must be on a large scale. If a few exhibitors get together and form an association, they are very apt to be dominated by the politicians in the business, and that cannot mean success as these politicians will have their own axes to grind and will not work for the ultimate good of the business as a whole; but if the exhibitors will organize wholesale, the good and unsophisticated men will come to the front and the business as a whole will benefit."

George E. Schmidt, manager of the Alamo, No. 2, Atlanta, has been an exhibitor ten years. "Business is only fair," he declares. "Pictures nowadays have poor titles and the supporting casts are not equal to the stars. Some changes must be made in the game in order to stimulate the business."

"Business is good. It keeps me working to keep it so, but I don't mind working as long as the coin comes in," is the cheery greeting from J. C. Larkin of the Cosmos, Winner, S. D. "Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart are the favorites here. We run Fox, Triangle, World and Paramount."

E. B. Mintum, of the Gem theatre, Council Bluffs, Ia., is a strong advocate of "lapping" serials. He always starts his new serial off on the night that he closes the serial serial, and the result is he has built up his week nights with serials. He runs two serials a week, and says serial nights are his biggest nights. He has run all the Universal serials.

"Business is good, but we have lots of trouble getting a square deal from the exchanges until they are simply forced to it," says J. C. Larkin of the Cosmos, Winner, S. D. "Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart are the favorites here. We run Fox, Triangle, World and Paramount."

"The Paramount service is the only real service we have ever had," is the "Firing Line" report from the Alhambra theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. Here's a touch of frankness from the Alhambra theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. "We have before us letters and contracts, and he has a contract for making no mention, even in the smallest type, of the producer was their success, and, far from being the enemy of the motion picture industry, in his own hands. If he will organize and elect honest officers of brains, he can clean the industry and put it on a basis which will command the respect of the entire world."

"The majority of exhibitors and producers are of good character, and it seems to me it is up to them to place our business so that instead of being the butt for adverse legislation all over the country, we will occupy such a commanding position that we will compel the respect of all good citizens and the fear of the low-brow politician who is continually running for us."

"Thousands of exhibitors in the United States can testify that the writer personally has gone out of his way many a time to accommodate an exhibitor and he did not ask whether the man operated a small theatre or a large one—and many thousand exhibitors will say that Kalem Company has always tried to keep in touch with its ultimate consumer, the exhibitor, and that we have always endeavored to make pictures which would enable the exhibitor to get the money."

"From the inception of the Kalem Company, those in charge of its business have kept in close touch with exhibitors all over the world and have shaped its policy accordingly, always realizing that the exhibitor's success was their success, and, far from being the enemy of the motion picture theatre proprietor, we have tried to be his friend, knowing we would benefit thereby."

"Exhibitors today have the success or failure of our business practically in their hands. Organization is absolutely essential, but it must be on a large scale. If a few exhibitors get together and form an association, they are very apt to be dominated by the politicians in the business, and that cannot mean success as these politicians will have their own axes to grind and will not work for the ultimate good of the business as a whole; but if the exhibitors will organize wholesale, the good and unsophisticated men will come to the front and the business as a whole will benefit."

George E. Schmidt, manager of the Alamo, No. 2, Atlanta, has been an exhibitor ten years. "Business is only fair," he declares. "Pictures nowadays have poor titles and the supporting casts are not equal to the stars. Some changes must be made in the game in order to stimulate the business."

"Business is good. It keeps me working to keep it so, but I don't mind working as long as the coin comes in," is the cheery greeting from J. C. Larkin of the Cosmos, Winner, S. D. "Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart are the favorites here. We run Fox, Triangle, World and Paramount."

E. B. Mintum, of the Gem theatre, Council Bluffs, Ia., is a strong advocate of "lapping" serials. He always starts his new serial off on the night that he closes the serial serial, and the result is he has built up his week nights with serials. He runs two serials a week, and says serial nights are his biggest nights. He has run all the Universal serials.
Northwest Convention for Intense Organization

Gathering at Minneapolis on May 1
Local Bodies—Fred Herrington

INTENSIVE organization was the key note of the annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America. A campaign committee is being appointed which will include, in addition to Northwestern exhibitors, the many league members throughout the country who have been instrumental in inducing Mr. Rodgers to become a candidate.

"Less petty politics and less domineering selfish tactics" is, in a nutshell, the platform in which Mr. Rodgers's friends are asking for support at the coming June election. The first gun in the campaign was fired last week with the announcement by Mr. Rodgers that he was firmly against the sending of instructed delegates to the Chicago convention.

"The instruction of delegates savors too much of old-line politics," declared Mr. Rodgers to a MOTION PICTURE NEWS representative. "The men who introduce the old-time tactics might think that they are building the machine in a new manner, but, believe me, there isn't so much of the old ward heelin' gum shoe politics of long ago."

The Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America is a trade organization, and should eliminate all politics. If the locals haven't confidence in the ability and integrity of their delegates they should not send any delegates at all. That is my opinion of the matter as it stands to-day."

Announcement is expected to be made within a few weeks by the committees throughout the country, which will handle the Rodgers's campaign. Thomas J. Hamlin, editor of Amusements, has been appointed chairman of the Publicity Committee.

Mr. Herrington, organizer for the league, who was the convention's special guest, declared: "With the corporation has done a great work for the Northwest, it was realized by many members that by mapping out a set program, giving a real job to every member who would handle it, the industry could gain a balance."

The distributors were there and received every courtesy that it was possible to extend them. The misunderstandings were swept away to a large degree; the relations between the two branches are going to improve.

Smokers, midnight parties, automobile tours, a grand ball, at which the film stars were the special guests, made up the social program.

A resolution warmly commending the Triangle Company for abandoning the deposit system for the more equal distribution plan was unanimously adopted and recorded on the minutes at a meeting of the Associated Motion Picture Exhibitors of Brooklyn, held on the evening of April 21 at the Triangle theatre.

Brooklyn Exhibitors Endorse Triangle's Deposit Stand

A resolution warmly commending the Triangle Company for abandoning the deposit system for the more equitable distribution plan was unanimously adopted and recorded on the minutes at a meeting of the Associated Motion Picture Exhibitors of Brooklyn, held on the evening of April 21 at the Triangle theatre.

Representatives were present from practically every one of the 105 theatres that hold membership in the Brooklyn League. William Brandt, who has capably held the office of executive secretary for the past months past, was installed as president of the organization, succeeding John Manheimer.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Vol. 15. No. 19

Education Gets Weinberger

Mack D. Weinberger, formerly with the Universal Film Exchange, New York, has joined the forces of the Educational Films Corporation, at 729 Seventh avenue, New York.
Are You Ready To Organize?

Exhibitors are waking up to national organization work. One important state has already written us asking for the services of Fred J. Herrington, national organizer of the Exhibitors League. Are you ready?

Mr. Herrington reports enthusiastic meetings all along his route. He is making a big swing around the circle in the sole interests of exhibitor organization, to bring local leagues into the national organization and to serve and create local organizations.

Read over carefully this itinerary:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>Date</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Minneapolis</td>
<td>Mon., Apr. 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fargo, N. D.</td>
<td>Fri., May 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bismarck, N. D.</td>
<td>“ 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Billings, Mont.</td>
<td>Sun., “ 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Butte, Mont.</td>
<td>Mon., “ 7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spokane</td>
<td>Tues., “ 8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seattle</td>
<td>Wed., “ 9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tacoma</td>
<td>Thur., “ 10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>“ 10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sacramento</td>
<td>Sun., May 13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>Mon., “ 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fresno</td>
<td>Wed., “ 16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles</td>
<td>Thur., “ 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Diego</td>
<td>Mon., “ 21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles</td>
<td>Tues., “ 22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tucson, Ariz.</td>
<td>Thur., “ 24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>El Paso, Tex.</td>
<td>Fri., “ 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Antonio</td>
<td>Sat., “ 26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Galveston</td>
<td>Mon., May 28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>Tues., “ 29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Orleans</td>
<td>Wed., “ 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jackson, Miss.</td>
<td>“ 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Memphis</td>
<td>Thur., “ 31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>Sat., June 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indianapolis</td>
<td>Sun., “ 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cleveland</td>
<td>Tues., “ 5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you want organization work done, anywhere, note the date of Mr. Herrington’s arrival in your city and write MOTION PICTURE NEWS. We will forward your letter to Mr. Herrington on the road.

Also, you can aid greatly by filling out and mailing us the coupon below. We will publish the information thus received and thereby let you and all exhibitors know the country-wide sentiment toward organization and the Chicago Convention.

This is the year to organize. It is now or never.

Make the Chicago Convention a big and representative exhibitors’ gathering. Send your delegates there uninstructed. Eliminate all politics in advance.

Let the convention be a wide open one—free and able to choose the best leaders, men who will act for you and not capitalize the League for themselves.

Appoint committees who will work, and who will take up the box-office problems now confronting you, and settle them, as practical business men, to your advantage.

It can be done. And it’s worth your trip to Chicago—or your delegates’ trip—to see that it is done.

Fill out and send this coupon in to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Avenue, New York City.

--- COUPON ---

Are you a League member? If not, why not? Will you attend the National Convention in Chicago—Do you favor instructed or uninstructed delegates? July 14-22d? Who is your choice for President?

Remarks

Signed

Theatre

City
Ultimate Organization in Omaha Assured—Ochs Fails to Stir

Since the visit of Mr. Ochs to Omaha the interest of exhibitors toward the organization of a Nebraska branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America "We have all been resting after preventing by a hard fight the passage of censorship laws and the fixing of fees by the Legislature," said Manager Horace M. Thomas, of the Strand, who is vice-president of the Red Folks' Club of Nebraska.

"We believe, however, the exhibitors feel they have made a real gain, and that it is only a question of time before the organization is formalized. The question now is, Who will start the ball rolling. The Red Folks' Club will meet in Omaha next week, and at that time Manager R. D. Shirley, of the Muse; Manager Willfred Ledoux, of the Empress, and myself, will probably be appointed to a committee to take the preliminary steps toward an organization.

Final steps may be taken when Omaha holds the request for the last of May, and if there be a certain agreement of action as regards this meeting." Oh the word was given the visit of Mr. Ochs, he retired to his private suite at the Parker, of the Muse, who is also secretary-treasurer of the Red Folks' Club. "The Red Folks' Club will meet soon, and they may do something."

Northwest Showmen Untroubled

Thanks to the activities of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest and a growing appreciation of the importance of the film industry, but one motion picture bill passed the Minnesota legislature last session. That was not objectionable.

The bill regulates the construction of theatres in the smaller towns and is largely a safety measure. It provides for certain color, fireproof booths and for stationery seats.

EXHIBITOR PERSONALS

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—Washington: E. K. Reynolds, owner of two buildings of Penn Gardens, has again assumed proprietorship of this house and has in consequence installed Geo. C. Schuler as its manager. This house is one of the most attractive and popular in the west end section of the city, and its Garden adjoining has a capacity of 5,000. Mr. Schuler is getting Penn Gardens Park ready for its opening of the middle of the month. Floral decorations and colored lights will be installed, while an orchestra of ten will perform. The orchestral concerts preceding the Sunday evening performances will continue. The following season, will be continued this season. Schuler is planning a campaign of community publicity which will bring Penn Garden Park close to its patrons and popularize this attractive theatrical institution.

Harry Craland is putting in order the parking rights of his home at the Savoy and the Apollo for the summer season. At the Savoy he is introducing a novelty in an arched entrance which extends around the side of the building. This feature is so arranged that it is almost as practicable with natural horsedrawn vehicles as it will be with the possible arched carriages which will be interwoven against the side. While this is being constructed he is giving a forward glance to the future of the Apollo, which he has arranged in order that a large landscape garden plant this arbor with vines that will give a resulting beauty and artistic effect. This arched entrance offers a novelty of beauty and practicality to the Apollo which Washington has not herefore known.

The improvement scheme will cost about $2,000. This open air theatre is situated on the highest point of the city and has been a popular theatre garden for the past several years. It is planned that nothing be ready for its opening the latter part of May.

TII-INOCTEB.—Dubuque: Mr. and Mrs. Mary Rockwell have sold the Bigon theatre to Paul Dubuque. "The building does not go with the sale," said Mr. Rockwell.

Champaign, Ill.: H. Cooper, late manager of the Park theatre, has returned to Ohio, Mr. Kuhn, recently sold the house to Messrs. Walton and Kure. Mr. Cooper has remained in the management. Mr. Cooper has had control of the hotel and theatre for a period of about a half year, and has set a high standard in the clas of productions, and his conduct of the theatre.

Roseville, Minn.: E. Scott has left his interest in the Gem theatre to his partner, Charles D. Miller. The Gem is now under the management of Lawrence Semmen, maker of the "Big Y" shorts, which started the New Chicago last week on his way to New York.

INDIANA.—Indianapolis: R. S. Shadrack, manager of the Indianapolis exchange, has announced that all employees of the House from the day after next each week to devote to the cultivation of the ground is a sitting room, has the four large swinging doors that have been placed at the entrance.

Union City: H. E. Jackson, of Union City, has bought the Star theatre of that city from Colonel Hoover, who with his family will remove to a farm near Union City.

IOWA.—Greene: Lloyd Gates sold the Crystal to John. Hale.

Des Moines: H. Hierstein has sold the University theatre to J. L. McDowell of Grinden Grove. Mr. Hierstein has discontinued the Premier Photoplay company after acquiring subjects which this company had been exploiting to the interstate film company.

MARYLAND.—Baltimore: The Park theatre, at 3207 North Fulton avenue, is now under the management of Mr. Smith, who has extensive experience in handling the various agencies. He is prepared for the Park theatre an all-feature program.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Quincy: A theatrical ground was brought into use last week when Captain George A. Wardwell, manager of the Kinsclad and Atlantic theatres, was married to Miss Annie J. McLeod, who, for seven years, has been employed in the executive offices of the Kinsclad.

MICHIGAN.—Bay City: Lloyd R. Simpson, manager of the West Bay theatre, has leased the business and equipment of the West Bay theatre to run in the same lines as the Aladdin, demonstrating the better class of pictures. The theatre will be open on Wednesday of next week.

Grand Rapids: Another reorganization is being carried on in this town. A new management took possession last week, but will continue the employment of a practically new company of players. The name of the company is changed again to the Temple and the company is known as the "Temple Players."

The new managers are Etcie Rome, Leo Rome, William Biber and Philip Cohen. They have a number of plans under consideration for the advancement of the interests of the theatre which, but sold last week, for thirty years, and is still in operation. The projection machines, and is fitted with tragin alarms.

Detroit: Theodore W. Webb is announced as the new house manager at the Majestic theatre, Detroit, successor to Mr. Eldridge. Mr. Webb continues as managing director.

Jack Knight is announced as the manager of the Maxine theatre here after nine months at the Ideal. The new manager is Etcie Rome, Leo Rome, William Biber and Philip Cohen. They have a number of plans under consideration for the advancement of the interests of the theatre which, but sold last week, for thirty years, and is still in operation. The projection machines, and is fitted with tragin alarms.

MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis: The Lyric theatre, which for several months has been conducted by Elliott & Company, has been sold to J. H. Simpson, the Pase theatre, East 5th St. and Payne Avenue, for a term of ten years at an average rental of $1,000 a year. Mr. Simpson plans to remodel the Plaza and operate it as a feature picture house in December last, and space is already at a premium. The theatre will seat 1,600 and this theatre seems to be the future of the city. The previous building was constructed in 1914.

OMAHA.—Ed. Foy, Jr., Dallas, has taken over the Ideal theatre and is operating on the inside, but will operate the building as an opera house and will continue the opera company. This opera is one of the best equipped outside theaters in the Western states. The orchestra consists of two Power's 66 projection machines, and is equipped with magic lanterns.

NEW BRUNSWICK.—John J. and J. G. Spencer, who operate a chain of theaters in this section, contemplated a trip to New York during May, but will operate the building as an opera house and will continue the opera company. Two Power's 66 projection machines, and is equipped with magic lanterns.

NEW JERSEY.—Concord: W. E. Steward, owner and manager of the Concord theatre, has recently remodeled his house, including the orchestra pit, and has installed a Wurlitzer organ. He reports business satisfactory.

Coieiseme: A. J. Erwin, owner of the Peoria theatre has purchased a Power's 66 projection machine and is delighted with reults.

NEW YORK.—A. H. Chaffer, owner of the Armatage Little theatre, has just completed a new opera room with a Mo- tograph projector, operated by a 3 h.p. Ford gas-engine.

Elizabeth, N. J.—L. B. Beaton has recently completed a new Lyric theatre to take the place of the theatre burned down in the spring of 1916. The previous building was constructed in 1914.

OKLAHOMA.—A. A. Ransom, since the building of the Liberty theatre, is conducting the Liberty theatre alone, but will continue to handle the business of the Liberty and will give it up. Mr. Ransom ran the theatre for six years.

OHIO.—Cleveland: S. W. Manheim & Company, Garfield building, has leased for Arian Uessauer to J. H. Simon's, manager of the Ideal theatre, plans to remodel the Plaza and operate it as a feature picture house.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Ardon, S. W. Manheim & Company, has completed a new operating room with a Mo- tograph projector, operated by a 3 h.p. Ford gas-engine.

TEXAS.—Dallas: The Crystal theatre, Dallas, will no longer operate under the program system, but will be opened as a feature picture house. This is the first book on the market. The first fruit of this change in policy is the addition of a better film agency and the better results from the beginning. The Crysta- l is now in the hands of the manager of the leading picture play houses of this city.

Ed. Foy, Jr., Dallas, has taken over the Ideal theatre, situated at Peak and Bryan streets, and has recently opened the First National Manager George H. Shudde, after the lease of the one burned down in the spring of 1916. The previous building was constructed in 1914.
Proves to Himself His Patrons

Read His House Organ

Under the management of J. G. Bodine, Jr., the American theatre, Washington, D. C., maintains a patronage that varies but slightly from week to week. Asked how he accomplished this, Mr. Bodine replied, "Always maintaining the same high standard of clean pictures. Variety in the feature, a good comedy, a novelty in presentation, making your patrons feel that they are necessary for your success, and keeping their comfort always in mind, are my principles.

"I demonstrated the usefulness of the weekly program recently by printing a picture of Mary Pickford and beneath it the name of Clara Kimball Young. Every second person nearly who came to the show that week told me of the error. I was anxious to discover if these leaflets were read or just thrown away. I am convinced that they are read and are a useful advertising medium of my house.

The American is a residential theatre of 600, spacious and exceedingly well ventilated. A good screen, clear projection and appropriate music of piano and violin add to the attractions of this popular house.

Clothing for Duluth Girls Who Resembled Anita Stewart

W. W. Abrahamson of the Zelma theatre, Duluth, Minnesota, hit upon a happy idea in drawing attention to "The Girl Philippa," when it played in his house.

A short time prior to his week's run of Greater Vitagraph's "The Girl Philippa," Mr. Abrahamson announced in his newspaper advertisements that he would offer prizes to Duluth girls who bear the closest resemblance to Anita Stewart, star of "The Girl Philippa.

This in itself was enough to arouse interest among the members of the fair sex of the city, but as an added incentive Manager Abrahamson offered prizes of a spring dress for the closest resemblance, a spring hat for the next and for the third, a pair of spring boots.

As a result of the contest, considerable interest in the picture was incited and Mr. Abrahamson's theatre played to big business during the entire run of the play.

Rialto's Birthday Booklet

S. L. Rothapfel, manager of the Rialto theatre, New York, has issued a booklet, 6 inches by 8½ inches, in which the various departments of his theatre are represented. Besides containing new views of the Rialto's interior, photographs of various members of Mr. Rothapfel's staff also appear.

The booklet is an example of correct printing, and it is probable that Mr. Rothapfel will gladly mail copies of it to his brother exhibitors who care to write for it.

Girls Take Places of Patriotic Portland Ushers

So many young men have deserted the ranks of the Orpheum theatre (Portland, Ore.) usher crew to join the army that the manager has been obliged to recruit a new crew from young women tenants. Manager McGeltznan collected a corps of girls and instructed them in their duties. They took charge last Sunday afternoon.

As is pointed out in an article elsewhere in this issue, the depletion of male ushers to the ranks of the army is a difficulty with which most exhibitors will now have to contend. It seems to us that exhibitors should begin training a reserve corps of lady ushers without loss of time.

Attractive Book from Southern Paramount Exchange

An elaborate sixty-page book, well bound, has been issued to exhibitors by the Southern Paramount Exchange, Atlanta, Ga., containing photographs and life stories of the numerous Paramount stars. The book is the original idea of Y. F. Freeman, the Atlanta exchange manager, and was written by Grace Wynden-Vail, publicity chief of Southern Paramount.

Slapstick Tickles the Kids

"Put a slapstick comedy at the end, if you would have them come again," said Exhibitor Booth of the Paramount, Nebraska City, Neb., speaking of children's matinees. "Let them swarm out of the theatre laughing and yelling and they won't forget the show before the next time to come.

"I find a mixed program is much the best for children. I generally show five reels: a travel picture, a two reel drama, a news reel and comedy, and finally a slapstick reel."
Light blue linen paper printed in sepi a with a decoration which conveys the spirit of the Far West. Lifts the Ruby theatre's program. (Three Forks, Montana), high above the usual type. The month's releases, day by day, are charted within. On the back cover are local advertisements. We will wager a year's subscription that the man who runs the Ruby theatre is an up and coming exhibitor.

Mutual Issues Orange Service Book for "Railroad Raiders"

The idea book issued by Mutual for the new Helen Holmes serial, "The Railroad Raiders," has many points of interest and value, including a yellow and black cover and yellow and black typography, which lifts the publication out of the ordinary class.

The booklet, which measures 8 1/2 x 11 1/2, contains a number of good advertising suggestions as well as sample cuts of Helen Holmes with price suggestions.

The advertising "stunt" suggestions emphasize the importance of featuring the railroad and its accoutrements. It is suggested that a railroad bell be used to draw crowds, that the program be printed like a time table, that tickets be printed like railroad tickets, and last but not least, that you install a train announcer in front of your theatre.

President Freuler contributed the opening article. Terry Ramsay is the "conductor" of the railroad booklet.

Idea's by the Trunkfull

A. H. McLoughlin, a Vitagraph-V.L.S.E. salesman working out of the Chicago office, has adopted the plan of carrying his selling ideas with him in a steamer trunk. Mr. McLoughlin carries samples of all available advertising matter, such as posters, photographs, heralds, etc.

When he calls at your theatre, his trunk is sent up and you have the opportunity of examining all of the advertising material available and selecting exactly what suits your territory. It seems to us that this plan is much better than the usual practice of ordering your advertising matter from a descriptive pamphlet.

If the same enterprise were shown by hundreds of daily papers in this county that is exemplified by the progressive methods of the Jewish Daily Warheit, in establishing a playphoto department, some of these papers would be realizing a greater return from its patron and plant.

It is to be noted that the Jewish merchant, whether he is selling diamonds or art, sees a sure and certain profit in any business transaction before he undertakes it. Therefore we can present no better argument to show up the shortsightedness of still too many American newspapers, than the success this Jewish newspaper is having with its work of educating the motion picture producer, exhibitor, and theatre patron to look to its columns.

In a brief six months, Murray A. Goldberg, the young advertising man, graduate of New York University, who undertook to build up this department for Warheit, has not only induced the New Fourteenth Street theatre, National Winter Garden, Majestic, and Mayer and Schneider Circuit theatres to place all their foreign language paper advertising entirely in the hands of his service department, but he has carried advertising from some of the largest producers, in one case, given exclusively to Warheit along with only the Hearst papers, and the World, among the many available New York daily papers.

Warheit's amusement and playphoto department was originally conceived as a special service especially to producers and exhibitors, and though still in its early stage has been very successful. Mr. Goldberg's efforts have made possible a daily amusement and playphoto page, and expert copy and art service furnished at small cost to exhibitors and others is one of the big inducements offered by this keenly alive, strictly "business" institution, which finds that CO-OPERATION WITH THE EXHIBITOR PAYS.

The Warheit service department has started some of the local exhibitors to advertise merely on the strength of its services.

Requests from many other exhibitors are pouring in asking for this same service, and the department is meeting this demand by constantly enlarging the working capacity.

Some of the best known Jewish critics have also been secured to write up the various feature films.

Two emphatic needs of successful, inexpensive newspaper advertising are the use of white space and a knowledge of rules. This advertisement from the Seattle Times, shows expert knowledge of both. The strength of the advertisement lies in the contrast. The contrast of blackness and whiteness is not overcome, either.

Exhibitors' Aid Book for "The Barrier" Praised

The publicity department of the Rex Beach Pictures Company is in receipt of many letters from exhibitors praising the exhibitors' aid book which is being distributed to all theatres showing this feature. "The Barrier" aid book contains an assortment of press stories and samples of thirty different advertisements, original cuts of which can be secured at low cost.

Jewish Daily Warheit Example to Newspapers

Exhibitors' Photoplay Department Established by New York Jewish Daily Meets with Immediate Success—Low Cost Service to Showmen
PROGRAM RELEASES

"The Snarl" Given Bessie Barriscale Thriller Role in Mystery Play
(Triangle-Five Reel Production)

Twins are always interesting. At the mere mention of the name we register interest because twins are the subject of many mix-ups, gags, confusions of thought and mystery interest. Therefore "The Snarl," pleases us because it is the story of two sisters, with strong facial resemblances but totally different dispositions. The rarest and most self-sacrificing, the other vain and egotistical—is a nature which makes for a good mystery play because of its human side; secondly because it teaches a lesson which all sisters whether twins or not, will learn and lastly because Bessie Barriscale is in the dual role of Helen and Marion Dean, twins.

Universal's First Butterfly Offering, "Eternal Love," a Story of Bohemian Life (Universal Five Reel Production)

When a man has more money than virtue we can all derive a sound, moral lesson from his life. We will follow him through the many mishaps which are bound to associate with his career. This is the first of Universal's Butterfly Plays to be offered, is a study of Bohemian life in the Latin Quarter of Paris, and unfolds the every-day life in the life of an artist who meets an innocent, convincing girl whom he employs as a model and wins world-wide fame as a result of her. The story of a woman's love for a man undervesting of it and its consequences, places "Eternal Love" among the best offerings of Universal. Dorothy Mackaill as the model supported by a strong cast, gives to the picture an added interest.

Naomi Childers in "The Auction of Virtue" Answers a Vital Question

Do riches bring happiness? Naomi Childers answers the question for you in Art Drama's latest offering "The Auction of Virtue." Reared in poverty, Naomi discovers the most remarkable beauty in her rich employer's life. But he is poor and her idea of happiness is riches. He auctions his belongings and she sees a means of marrying wealth offers herself at auction. Her awakening, the call of true love and the temptations which arise from a girl's misconceptions—all are vividly set forth in "The Auction of Virtue."

Emmy Wehlen Has Role with Powerful Appeal in "Sowers and Reapers" (Budget Five Reel Production)

As we now greet Emmy Wehlen, director, this biblical jersay for you in her own interpretation of "Sowers and Reapers" is worth while. From the lovely shop girl she rises to the title role of a Christian missionary through the increasing power of the motion picture, casts off a selfish life, returns kindness for hate and in the end triumphs over her enemies. It is different—something apart from the usual run. You will like it for the lesson it teaches, the tense situations as they unfold and the fine acting of Miss Wehlen.

Bernhardt, the Divine, Plays Inspired Role in "Heddia Gabler"
(Mutual Five Reel Production)

Nance O'Neil, "Bernhardt of the Screen," is at her best in "Hedda Gabler," the current independent features, program releases and serials for the week of May 7th are covered in this issue. They will continue in this systematic manner so that you can have a handy quick-reference file covering the field.

Let's get together on this Service Department. Tell us of any improvements you would like to see. Send us samples showing the different uses to which you put the Ad-Talks.

Margaret Illington's Picture Debut in "Sacred Heart" Is Important Event
(Paramount Five Reel Production)

To those who remember Henriette in "The Two Orphans," Maggie Schults in "Killing," and Bernhardt as "Jenny," three of New York's greatest stage successes, it will do no harm to say that Illington is a reminiscent of all three. Illington has the dual role of Mary Stephani and Vesta Boris in "Sacred Heart," making her a rival to the leading woman's picture, two actress who have been given the same names as those who made them famous. To others less fortunate it should be a lesson that no work is too small or too menial to be turned out if we assured them to see what others have seen and done—namely—Miss Illington in action. In "Sacred Heart," she is bound to display her remarkable gift of versatility, magnetic personality and wonderful emotional talents which so endeared her to lovers of the legitimate. As the proud and saintly daughter of a high government official and as the notorious dancer in a small principaluty of Europe who sacrifices herself that true love may live, Miss Illington shines forth as the true artist. Political intrigue with a European background, wonderful acting, strong support and a gripping plot make "Sacred Heart" one of Lady's best offerings. Charles Kenyon, who is responsible for many of Miss Illington's stage successes, wrote the story.

Nance O'Neil, "Bernhardt of the Screen," is at her best in "Hedda Gabler," the current independent features, program releases and serials for the week of May 7th are covered in this issue. They will continue in this systematic manner so that you can have a handy quick-reference file covering the field.

Let's get together on this Service Department. Tell us of any improvements you would like to see. Send us samples showing the different uses to which you put the Ad-Talks.

Margaret Illington's Picture Debut in "Sacred Heart" Is Important Event
(Paramount Five Reel Production)

To those who remember Henriette in "The Two Orphans," Maggie Schults in "Killing," and Bernhardt as "Jenny," three of New York's greatest stage successes, it will do no harm to say that Illington is a reminiscent of all three. Illington has the dual role of Mary Stephani and Vesta Boris in "Sacred Heart," making her a rival to the leading woman's picture, two actress who have been given the same names as those who made them famous. To others less fortunate it should be a lesson that no work is too small or too menial to be turned out if we assured them to see what others have seen and done—namely—Miss Illington in action. In "Sacred Heart," she is bound to display her remarkable gift of versatility, magnetic personality and wonderful emotional talents which so endeared her to lovers of the legitimate. As the proud and saintly daughter of a high government official and as the notorious dancer in a small principaluty of Europe who sacrifices herself that true love may live, Miss Illington shines forth as the true artist. Political intrigue with a European background, wonderful acting, strong support and a gripping plot make "Sacred Heart" one of Lady's best offerings. Charles Kenyon, who is responsible for many of Miss Illington's stage successes, wrote the story.

June Caprice Will Win Your Heart in "Small Town Girl"
(Fox Five Reel Production)

Those of us who spent our childhood days on the farm and laid awake nights dreaming of the great city, after reading the May nights on the "Great White Way" can once more dream our dream in home little June Caprice in "The Small Town Girl," William Fox has recast his clever character of the girl and she surpasses all expectations in her characterization of the small town girl. Her appeal is strong enough to carry the big city to care of her "sunt's" little girl, in the end of the picture, one of the Lee Kids who appeared to such a good advantage with Amister Reillyman and Allen. Charles Kenyon directs all of Miss Caprice's pictures, wrote the story in collaboration with Adrian Johnson. Bernard Delaney makes his debut as Miss Caprice's leading man in this picture.

"Souls That Meet in the Night" Tells Story with Strong Heart Appeal (Superior Films Five Reel Production)

"Souls That Meet in the Night" presents a story that is sound in theme, strong in appeal and convincing in the lesson taught to be taught. Wealth very often gives rise to distorted ideas, ideas which if carried on bring unhappiness not alone to the misguided possessor of wealth but to those wholly innocent victims whom their wealth justifies the ends gained. In this picture we see a pampered daughter of a wealthy father forced into marriage with an old man and made to bear the brunt of the unscrupulous methods of an unscrupulous social agent. By devoting himself to his profession the architect gains prominence and fortune and respect of the girl whose vision of happiness had been changed by his true character.

Walthall, "Birth of a Nation" Star, Makes Hit in "The Saint's Adventure"
(K-E-S-B Five Reel Production)

Herbert Walthall, "Birth of a Nation" star, whose benevolent ideas regarding up-life work in a thickly settled tenement district are not well received by his fashionable congregation because the tenements are owned by the church of which he is pastor, and the means he employs in carrying out his ideas in opposition to the wishes of his congregation, are the strong points in "The Saint's" story as it are owned by the church of which he is pastor of. The story is one of a man who is determined to do his work in a publicity manner and who, after he receives the support of the church, adds strength and stability to the work of a good supporting cast.

The Paris Underworld and Its Mystery Revealed by Warwick in "The Silent Master"

Whether the adventure be in Paris or New York makes little difference but when qualified by the subtitle "The Paris Underworld, Paris" it is more the more. Why? Because with the Paris underworld Warwick creates the atmosphere for a strong characterization. It is a mystery story of life among those desperate and cunning Apaches and of what is menaced and suffered for love, a romance swinging across the Atlantic to fashionable New York society from the Paris underworld, replete with tense situations, gripping scenes, strong action and fascinating mystery.

"The Silent Master" is an adaptation from "The Philadelphia Experiment" by C. W. Orton's novel. The Court of St. Simon's has been supported by Tell and a strong cast is seen in this masterpiece of mystery.

Storey and Moreno in Appealing Drama, "Captain of the Grey Horse Troop"

Indian stories are becoming rarer with the onward march of the motion picture which is the plug for the boy's adventure, "Captain of the Grey Horse Troop" will afford you exciting interest through its strong characters, its exciting situations and ideal western background. A strong plot with a well balanced strain of love running along giving Edith Strong innumerable opportunities to display her remarkable talent to please makings of the scenes which the most exacting audience may draw a personal interest. Antonio Moreno is the winner of this role of Captain Granniss, giving the modest of the Red Man's country to better conditions, and political advantage which he wins the respect of his opponents, combination many who think best but not least, the love and respect of a girl.

"The Frame-Up" a Thrill Play, with William Russell in Powerful Role

Are you in the mood for action—"pep" in modern phraseology—action running into thrills, each thrill building interest in its outcome, consistently draws a scene of a wealthy family to the rescue and seeks by a mother who is a union with the underworld but whose daughter is a young woman of executive innocence. If so, "The Frame-Up" is a must in store for you. Life in the underworld; the inner-workings of a city criminal organization, a scene of a theft, a robbery, the doings of the gypmen and William Russell, who is a master of all these, are the points of interest which will greet you when you enter the theatre. There is a guest in the person of Frances Millington in support of Mr. Russell. Russell himself in giving to this picture a clean refreshing interest.

Fine Character Portrayal by Frederic Warde in Pathé's "Hinton's Double"

A more human, touching story could not be told than the one which unfolds with the showing of "The Bar Sinister, Most Remarkable Race Story Since Uncle Tom's Cabin" (Eugene Lewis Five Reel Production). The mysterious manner in which the identity of "the voice on the wire" is concealed, and the appearance of the dismembered body at the unexpected moment, mark the sixth number of "The Voice on the Wire" mystery series, as one of the most gripping chapters yet shown. The identity of the voice on the wire is almost revealed by the notorious "Red" Warren's gang, but the suspense is kept in a clever manner. This latest chapter only increases the mystery of the more and should not be missed by those who have followed the story from the beginning. Warde, who played the role of "Bib" Frank, whose jealous disposition is compared to a beast, gives to the picture a strong cast.
Advance Offerings of the Programs

Washburn’s Next, “Filling His Own Shoes”

“Filling His Own Shoes,” will be Bryant Washburn’s next Essanay feature released through Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay. Henry B. Rowland is responsible for the story which in novel form has proved to be one of the best sellers. The title role requires Mr. Washburn to appear as an American shoe clerk out of a job in Paris, just about the time the Balkan War was raging.

He joins the Turkish army, saves a wounded Turk, and is bequeathed two million dollars. Back to Paris with three beautiful Turkish maidens he goes, reviews acquaintance and falls in love with the daughter of his former employer and then through the jealousy of his foreign maids gets into all kinds of difficulties.

Hazel Daly, Mr. Washburn’s leading lady in previous Skinner productions will once more co-star.

Los Angeles House Gets Big Returns on “The Cure”

The late Chaplin release, “The Cure,” is the featured part of the week’s program at the Garrick theatre, Los Angeles, and the house is playing to the greatest business it has had for months. An added attraction is the comedy drama, “The Man Who Took a Chance,” with Franklyn Farnum and “Brownie” Vernon. There will be a new star in filmdom along with a lobby display which includes reproduction of a setting used in the picture with automatic figures.

Hazel Daly, Mr. Washburn’s leading lady in previous Skinner productions will once more co-star.

General Film to Double Short Reel Service

WILL AMOUNT TO A PRACTICAL DOUBLING OF ITS SERVICE IS ANNOUNCED BY GENERAL FILM IN THE SHAPE OF PLANS TO RELEASE MANY MORE SHORT LENGTH SUBJECTS, ESPECIALLY OF COMEDY TREND. AN OUTPUT OF TWENTY REELS WEEKLY IS EXPECTED.

The comedies, as planned, will come in a series, each unit of the same type and released at regular periods, so that the public will be familiar with the series from the beginning. There is to be no lost prestige through placing them in the market as isolated releases. A straight, even standard will be insisted upon through the whole series.

In similar fashion dramas of a certain type will be grouped in series covering a long term, in order that they may become identified for value and drawing power. In addition, there will be serials released at stated intervals.

Famous Ibsen Play Heads May 7 Mutual List

PICturIZATION OF “HEDDA GABLER” GIVEN WITH NANCE O’NEIL IN LEAD: ADVENTUROUS CHAPTER OF “RAILROAD RAIDERS” AND SEVERAL COMEDIES

NANCE O’NEIL in the title role of Henrik Ibsen’s drama, “Hedda Gabler” will appear on the Mutual schedule for the week of May 7. The role is one of the best known of Miss O’Neill’s stage characterizations, and she has played the part more than seven hundred times.

William Russell will appear in “The Frame Up” in which he is seen in the part of a chauffeur.

“A Woman’s Wit” is the title of the fifth chapter of the “Railroad Raiders,” the Mutual-Signal serial in which Helen Holmes furnishes most of the thrills, and which comes to the screen on May 7. In this chapter Helen Holmes in an inspection car chases two thieves on an engine, and

Most of the time has to drive the car crouched on the running board while dodging their bullets. An engine runs straight through a warehouse wrecking it completely.

On May 7, also will be released the first of a new brand of comedies, the La Salle-Mutual. This is entitled “The Practical Ulice” and features Carol Halloway.

May 9 brings the Strand-Mutual comedy “The Great American Game,” featuring Billie Rhodes and Jay Belasco, and the fun is built up around the American game of “Buff.” The Cole Comedy contribution on May 10, is “Jerry’s Picnic,” featuring George Ovary.

“A Vanquished Flirt” is the title of the Vogue Comedy ready May 12. Larry Bowes, Rena Rogers, Jessie Perry, Harry Becks, Owen Evans and John Oaker appear in this picture, the scenes of which are laid in a beauty parlor.

“The Under Dog” is the title of the eighth story of the “Jimmie Dale, Alias the Grey Seal” series. In this story the Grey Seal comes to the rescue of an old miser who is being robbed.

The “Mutual Tours Around the World” scheduled for May 8, show Pompeii as it looks after nineteen centuries under ground; Zurich, the leading city of Switzerland which is built on both banks of the River Limmat, where it issues from Lake Zurich; and Mouroum, an old Russian village on the Oka River, which was built in the reign of Ivan the Terrible.

“The Mutual Weekly” comes on May 9, and “Reel Life” appears on May 10.
Vitagraph Announces Its Schedule for Summer

Most popular of the Company’s Stars, Beginning April 30 and Concluding July 30; Merit Standard

A SUMMER release schedule, claimed to be without a weak spot, was announced by Vitagraph last week, to start with the April 30 release of "Her Secret," in which Alice Joyce and Harry Morey co-star.

Among the features, "The Captain of the Gray Horse Troop," a dramatization of Hamlin Garland’s novel of that name, while on May 14 Peg My Hylaud in "The Sixteenth Wife," presented, with Marc McDermott in the male lead. Special emphasis is laid on the merit of this picture, which is the story of an American girl upon whom a Turkish rajah cast longing eyes and eventually, through kidnapping, endeavored to make her "His Sixteenth Wife." Directed by S. L. Rothafel of the Rialto, New York, booked this picture after seeing it in an unfinished state.

Anita Stewart, playing the stellar role in "Rebellion," will be the release of May 21, which opened on May 28 by "The Soul Master," with Earl Williams in the leading part.

For June, Antonio Moreno will be seen in "The Magnificent Meddler" on the 4th of the month, a story of the struggles of a young man who places a higher value on honor than on love. One June 11 comes "The Question," directed by Perry Vekroff and featured by Ethel Barrymore, Emmy Wehlen and Frances Nelson.

For June 18, "The Truffleh," one of the features has been made by Rolfe Photoplays, and the other is a Popular Plays and Players release, which is titled "A Son of the Hills," from the novel of the same name. The balance of the July releases are:

Four Big Metro Features on Schedule for May

ETHEL BARRYMORE, Emmy Wehlen, Frances Nelson and Mme. Petrova, four of the most shining Metro stars, come to the screen during May in attractive productions. The following are the features that have been announced by Rolfe Photoplays, and the other is a Popular Plays and Players release.

First on the list is "Sowers and Reapers," starring Emmy Wehlen, a five-act feature photodrama, written and directed by Emma W. "Sowers and Reapers" tells the story of the phenomenal career of a girl who became a motion picture star. Love interest underlies the incidents that develop this photoplay.

In this subject the Director, George D. Baker, appears for the first time as an actor before the camera, he having consented to take the part of the director in a motion picture play which is shown in the exhibition. Prominent in Wehlen’s support are George Stuart Christie, Kate Blancie, Frank Currier, Peggy Farr, Walter Horton, Harry Davenport and David Thompson.

Mrs. Mathilde Drummand, Violet Reed and Gene Burrell have prominent parts.

"The Beautiful Lie" is scheduled for release May 21. This is a picture version of Ella Wheeler Wilcox’s poem, "A Reverie in a Station-House." It has been adapted for the screen by June Mathis and directed by John W. Noble, with Frances Nelson as star.

The story tells of Louise Joyce, a stenographer who is cast off by her employer when after a fraudulent marriage ceremony, she tires of her. Through many trials Louise finally emerges as an artist’s model, but the artist, though loving her, goes away on hearing one side of the story of her past. She is finally vindicated and happiness prevails.

Edward Earle plays opposite Miss Nelson. Harry S. Northrup, John Davidson, Sally Crane, Miss Allan Walker and Emil Collins are in the cast.

"The Greatest Power," with Ethel Barrymore in the stellar role, is scheduled for the final week in May. Miss Barrymore has the part of an up-to-date American girl, with a genius for compounding chemicals, who achieves many surprising results. An entire village was built only to be demolished as a result of one of the experiments conducted.

Edwin Carewe directed the picture, and Albert S. Le Vino arranged the script from the story of Louis R. Wolheim. Harry S. Northrup, W. W. Black, Frederick Truesdell and Kenneth Cree are among the principals.

Billie Burke, Whose First Famous Players-Portraiture Pictures Will Be "The Mysterious Miss Terry" from Gelett Burgess’ Story

"The Truffleh" Supported by Big Ad Campaign

Supported by an advertising campaign of unusual breadth and force, "The Truffleh," an Essanay feature, in which Nell Craig has the titular role, will be released through K-E-S-E, May 9. Sydney Ainsworth, Ernst Maupin, Richard C. Travers, Harry Dunklon, and other Essanay stars of real magnitude will be in the supporting cast.

Nell Craig, in "The Truffleh," has the role of Sue Wilde, the girl who cast off the draperies of conventionality in her search for the limelight, which led her to reside in Greenwich Village, New York City’s Latin Quarter, where Bohemian life rules.

The picturization has been made the foundation of a series of magazine Sunday feature stories in a chain of metropolitan newspapers, and with this publicity in advance it is believed that "The Truffleh" will achieve distinct success.

New Metro Michigan Head

George N. Montgomery has been appointed manager of the Metro Film Company, in Michigan, with headquarters at 73 Broadway. With this announcement also comes the announcement that the company’s Escanaba office has been closed, and Joseph Fertie, manager, has been transferred to the Detroit office where he will do special sales work.

Mr. Montgomery was with the World for many months and for the past few months has been at the Detroit office of the World as special Michigan representative. Previously he has managed World exchanges in Indianapolis, Denver, Kansas City, Chicago and other cities.

Des Moines Office Closed

The Midwest Photoplay offices in Des Moines are about to be discontinued and consolidated with the offices of that corporation in Kansas City. A. H. Blank is president and owns the controlling interest in the corporation.
May 12, 1917

Cinema War News Makes Initial Release

The Cinema War News Syndicate announces that its first issue has been released and is now being shown in New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Seattle, Los Angeles and other large cities. The state-rights marketing campaign has been successfully pushed and most of the territory sold, although there are still some attractive sections open.

Captain Bob Reynolds, chief of staff, has completed the organization of his "camerapreneurs" and now has representatives in every section of the country.

It is the ambition of the Cinema War News Syndicate to present as many "exclusive" pictures as possible. Exclusive pictures appearing in the first release include the launching of the submarine L-8 at the Portsmouth Navy Yard and views of the women's war farm at Farmingdale, L. I.

"Her Better Self" May 21

Pauline Frederick's next Famous Players-Paramount production, "Her Better Self," has been completed under the direction of Robert Vignola, and the picture is scheduled for release by Paramount on May 21. It was for this picture that Mr. Vignola had an exact replica made of the Supreme Court, Trial Term, Part I, in the Criminal Courts Building. Thomas Meighan is again in the leading role in this production. Others in the cast are Alice Hollister, Maude Turner Gordon, Charles Wellesley, Frank De Rheim and Armand Cortez.

The story is of a pleasure seeking society girl, who finally awakens to useful purposes.

Big Michigan Exploitation on "Mormon Maid"

Harry S. Lorch, of the State Film Co., Detroit, is getting ready for a big spring drive on "A Mormon Maid." In the neighborhood of $10,000 will be spent for general advertising, to include the newspapers, billboards, street cars and direct circularizing. It will "pave the way" for the exhibitors who book this picture in Michigan, and assure them of big business.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Mae Murray and Blanche Sweet on Paramount List Will Be Seen Week of May 7 in Business Drama and Fantastical Romance Respectively Expose of Psychic Claims in Photographs

MAE MURRAY, in a story of fantasy and fiction, "The Primrose Ring," and Blanche Sweet and Thomas Meighan in a drama of business and social life, entitled "The Silent Partner," are the two features heading the May 7 Paramount schedule.

Tom Moore appears opposite Miss Murray, who is seen as a crippled girl, who, when cured, devotes herself to the nursing of younger children afflicted with the same ailment. A pretty love story develops after a young physician who is placed in charge of a hospital finds that even his up-to-date methods cannot avail against the cheerful medicine of fairy stories told by the little nurse to her patient.

Billy Jacobs also appears in this picture which was directed by Robert Leonard, who has overseen the majorities of Miss Murray's recent screen productions.

The story of "The Silent Partner" tells of the loyalty of a stenographer who saves her employer from being ruined by a dishonest partner, and is finally made a life-partner in the business. The cast surrounding Miss Sweet and Mr. Meighan includes George Herbert, Michel Van Ieren, Ernest Joy, Florence Smythe and Mayme Kelso.

The expose of mediums is begun by Here Ward Carrington, author on psychic research, in the current edition of the Paramount Pictographs. It is claimed of these pictures that they will actually prove more than 88 per cent of all so-called phenomena are fake, and the remaining 2 per cent are in no wise of spiritual origin, but are merely due to an as yet unexplained power on the part of the medium which permits of accomplishing some startling and apparently wonderful effects.

Other subjects dealt with in the screen magazine include "The Transplanting of the Peasant Arts of Europe in America," a subject entitled "Stung," and a picture of results obtained through proper training of the bodies of young Americans.

Burton Holmes, in his sixty-sixth series of weekly trips, takes the traveler to "Colorful Ceylon." A single-reel comedy with Victor Moore, "Invited Out" completes the program. Here Mr. Moore is seen as a clerk, who, tired of restaurant food, is invited to the boss's home for dinner by the daughter of the house. In anticipation he cooks his appetite until dinner, only to find on arrival that the house is upset and the invitation postponed. Hungrier and hungrier the unfortunate clerk travels from one home to another of his friends. Naturally he finally gets his dinner in a restaurant.

The Mutual Weekly will also appear during the week with views of the latest local and foreign happenings.

Beban's Latest May 14

George Beban has finished his work in "The Marcellini Millions," the next Morisco-Paramount play, in which he will appear, and which will be released May 14.

The story was written by Edith Kennedy and prepared for the screen by the author and Mr. Liehan in collaboration. It was directed by Donald Crisp, who has presided over all of Mr. Beban's recent play successes. An exceptionally large cast of well known players appear in support of Mr. Beban, including Helen Jerome Eddy, Pietro Sosso, Henry Woodward, Eugene Pallette and Adele Farrington.

Destroyed French Castles in Gaumont Picture

"Tours Around the World," No. 28, features the single reel Gaumonts released through Mutual, May 15. "Castles of the Loire, France," is the leading topic of the reel, and shows the beautiful structures which have been so ruthlessly destroyed during the war. The second section of the picture presents the Island of Barbados.

On May 17, "Reel Life," No. 55, is released. Its leading section, "Speeding the Spoken Word," shows how telephone lines are laid across the continent, and gives an idea of the complexities met. Other portions explain how "The Toothsome Crab" is prepared for the table, how dealers are "Beating the High Cost of Furs" with rabbits, and how in bathing suits children daily attend "A School on the Beach."

The Mutual Weekly will also appear during the week with views of the latest local and foreign happenings.

Maxine Elliott in Her Initial Goldwyn Release
United States Exports Fifty Thousand Miles of Film

Fifty thousand miles of motion picture films, or enough to stretch twice around the globe, were exported from the United States in 1916. This amount is more than double that of the previous year, when the exports were 23,000 miles. The increase in exports is due to the increased production of motion pictures in the United States.

A compilation of the Foreign Trade Department of the United States shows that nearly $10,000,000 worth of motion picture films was exported in 1916, making it the most successful year in the history of the international trade in motion pictures.

The export of motion pictures has grown rapidly since 1912, when only $500,000 worth was exported. In 1913, the export increased to $1,000,000, and in 1914, it reached $4,000,000. The export continued to increase in 1915, reaching $10,000,000, and in 1916, it reached $20,000,000.

Patriotic Call Through Screen

The issuance of a call for naval recruits through the Mutual Weekly, No. 118, is a patriotic response to the demand made upon the motion picture industry in the present crisis. The call is framed in the words, "Your Country Needs You Now," and is flashed on the screen followed by pictures of a naval recruiting station and views of the majestic Atlantic fleet.

L-Ko Announces Four May Releases

The four L-Ko's decided upon for circulation during the month of May have been entitled: "Tom's Tramping Troupe," "Good Little Bad Boy," "Beach Nuts," and "Roped into Scandal." These features are particularly timely, especially the first two, which were reserved for the current month.

Among the women members of the L-Ko company, Mert Sterling, Lucille Hutton, Eva Novak, Gladys Varden, Kathleen Emerson and Lou Bolton, who have become special favorites with the public, will be prominent in the May attractions.

Arbuckle as Daring Wooer in Second Comedy

"A Reckless Romen," second of the Fatty Arbuckle-Paramount comedies, is scheduled for release on May 21. Save for Al St. John, an entirely different cast of players will appear with the chief comedian in this subject, which is said to be filled with comedy situations.

Paralta Productions Coming Along Fast

Robert T. Kane, vice-president of Paralta Plays, who has taken up his residence in Los Angeles, to supervise the work of the production end of the Paralta enterprises, has written to Carl Anderson, president of the corporation, that work is going forward very rapidly on the first two productions, and that the two studios controlled by the company will be in full operation in the course of the next three weeks.

Elliott Picture Not Named

Though Maxine Elliott's first Goldwyn Picture has not been titled yet, an inkling of the nature of the story was given out last week. Miss Elliott has the role of the wife of an important Detroit financier, and many of the scenes are laid in the Michigan city. Finance and society in New York is also blended into the subject.

Universal Appointments

The following appointments at the Universal office in Detroit are announced by George W. Weeks, division manager: Samuel H. Barrett as manager of the Universal department and O. Mills as manager of the Bluebird department. Ira H. Cohen and Art Richardson comprise the sales force out of the Detroit offices.

Warner Oland, Whose Work in "Patría" Has Earned Him a Role in Another Pathé Serial

Week's Program Marks Appearance of First Myers-Theby Comedy and First Chapter of "Neglected Wife"—Courtenay in Strong Drama

A feature of its program for the week of May 13 Pathé presents William Courtenay in "The Recall," and the first episode of the heralded "Neglected Wife" serial. A Myers-Theby comedy is also noteworthy on the schedule.

Lillian Gruen, noted as the star of New York's French theatre, plays opposite Mr. Courtenay in "The Recall," which is described as comparable to "Kick In" and "Hunting the Hawk." Astra produced the subject, which was directed by George Fitzmaurice. The story, written by Anthony P. Kelly, tells how a young girl is saved from a brute, how she is lured and her brother arrested for the murder on circumstantial evidence, and how the U. S. Secret Service plays an important part in the climax.

The first episode of "The Neglected Wife," in which Ruth Roland is starred, supported by a cast including Roland Bottomley, the English actor, is entitled "The Woman Alone." The picture asks the question which is to blame, the wife or the other woman, for the happenings in this story of life as it really is.

"When Jail Birds Fly" is the title of the ninth episode of "Mystery of the Double Cross." The production is by Astra under the direction of William Parke, and the serial is reported playing to great success throughout the country.

Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby appear for the first time on the Pathé program in "The Delicatessen Mystery," a comedy in one reel, said to be a laugh from start to finish.

The eighth release of "Know America, the Land We Love," combitive scenics, is entitled "Central Arizona." Rugged and picturesque Arizona affords unsurpassed opportunity, and these pictures take full advantage of it. A young mountain lion is caught by the camera, as well as a number of the most beautiful spots in the world.

"Style Information" is the title of the thirty-first Florence Rose Fashion Film, released in split reel. On the same reel is "Some Unusual Birds," a split-reel Pathé-color showing many of the most beautiful birds of China and Japan as they really look.

The International Cartoon and Scenic split-reel release is "Bringing Up Father." "The Great Hansom Cab Mystery" cartoon, and "Pekin, China," an interesting scenic. Hearst-Pathe News No. 40 and No. 41 complete the program.
Remote House Plays Kellerman Film for Week

The Knickerbocker theatre, Detroit, is advertising "A Daughter of the Gods" for a full week at that playhouse, starting May 6, at popular prices. The same picture will also play the Butterfield circuit of theatres in Michigan. As for the Knickerbocker theatre it will be the first time in the history of that house that any picture will have played a full week. The longest previous engagement is held by the film "Civilization" for three days.

The Knickerbocker is three miles from the city hall, so that President Frederic Ingerson is to be given credit for his backbone to experiment with this big attraction a full week.

West and East Acclaim "Told at Twilight"

Every New York newspaper greeted Baby Marie Osborne warmly in their criticism of "Told at Twilight," shown at the Rialto theatre the week of March 15. Photographs adorned the dramatic sections of the papers, and the trade magazines were also one in characterizing the production "a big hit."

The little star duplicated her Metropolitan success by playing to such big business at the Palace theatre, Los Angeles, that the picture was held over to show a second week.

Breaks Long-Standing Record

By a total of twenty-four admissions, the Vitagraph Picture "The Law Decides" broke the house record of the Strand theatre, Freeport, Ill., which had stood for a year and a half, according to a letter from J. F. Dittman, manager, to the home office of the producers.

Mr. Dittman booked the picture for three days, and on the third showing 1,782 admissions were recorded, as against the standing record of 1,758 created by "Damaged Goods."

Food Coupons in Buffalo

Manager J. H. Michaels, of the Academy theatre, Buffalo, distributed food on Monday and Friday evenings and at every matinee on Academy profit-sharing coupons.

A Booking Record to Aim At

Placing its releases in eight out of nine theatres in a town of 83,000 without any special selling campaign, is the result reported by Vitagraph as having been attained in Waterbury, Conn.

Paul Hayes, salesman for Vitagraph's New York exchange, is credited with the accomplishment. The Waterbury theatres using Blue Ribbon productions are: Alhambra, Bijou, Carroll, Colonial, Poli's Garden, Princess, Scenic and Poli's Strand.

Another city which boasts of an abundance of Greater Vitagraph plays is Fort Wayne, Ind. All the prominent theatres, which include the Jefferson, Knitters, Transfer, Edison, Fairfield, Lyric, Hippodrome, Creighton, etc., use the Blue Ribbon Service and say they are experiencing unusually bright business conditions.

Pennsylvania Scheduling of "In Again, Out Again"

"In Again, Out Again," Douglas Fairbanks' first Artcraft release is booking heavily in the Philadelphia territory.

The Arcadia, Philadelphia, has first run of a week. Other theatres throughout running this film a whole week are: The Strand of Scranton, Colonial of Reading, Savoy of Wilkes Barre, Strand of Camden, N. J. Theatres in Lancaster, Allentown, Easton, Hazleton, Pottsville and Harrisburg have booked it for three or four days.

Week Runs Rule on "Grey Seal"

Seven Detroit theatres are giving week showings of each picture of "Jimmy Dale Alias the Grey Seal," which Mutual is producing in sixteen chapters, each a complete story.

The same number of Brooklyn, N. Y., houses also give a week's run to the subjects.

Auto Club Boosts with Pathé-Combitone

The Louisville Automobile Club has booked the first release of the Pathé-Combitone pictures in order to promote interest among their members in touring. It is felt that this series of pictures shows a side of automobile travel which at present is practically untouched. The club has over one thousand members in the state of Kentucky.
The State Rights Picture

TO THE EXHIBITOR: Often you are at a loss to know just who handles a state rights picture in your section—because of the lack of advertising that generally follows the disposal of territory.

We have this information for you, complete and ready.

Drop us a postal; and by return mail we will give you the buyer's name and address, our review, the cast, and other valuable and up to the minute information. For the name of any state rights picture refer to our release page—"State Rights Releases—Current and Coming."

Watch our editorial department, "In the State Rights Field." It will give you the latest and most reliable news on new productions and how current pictures are booking; this department was the first of its kind and will remain the best.

To the Buyer: Are you getting, each week, our special bulletin? We inaugurated this kind of service. It gives you the very latest, most complete and accurate information—not from the state rights grid- dle. Watch our advertising pages. Motion Picture News—alone—gives you each week all the announcements of the market.

To the Seller: Six months ago, anticipating the importance of the state rights market, Motion Picture News sent a representative out to visit every buyer in this country. We have information of value to you and available for you—information to be had nowhere else. Motion Picture News is the accepted medium today with every buyer in the state rights field.

C. A. Plummer

Our state rights service is an all-around service, equally in the interests of the exhibitor, buyer and seller. Like the other service departments of Motion Picture News it was conceived and is carried out in the business interests of all its readers.

For any information, or service, address:
STATE RIGHTS DEPT.,
Motion Picture News,
729 7th Ave.,
New York City.
IN THE STATE RIGHTS FIELD

IN INTIMATE NOTES OF THE INDEPENDENTS

Mayer Silverman of the Liberty Film Rental, in Pittsburgh, is becoming one of our best travelers. Last week he was very busy in the “fillum” mart here, whence he went to do battle with censorship at Harrisburg. Mayer asserts that while a good many of the metropolitan film organization representatives had promised to be with him in person they were with him only in spirit when the roll was called at the Pennsylvania legislative halls.

Inadvertently we failed to state last week that Leon Netter, of the Master-piece, was present when “Purity” passed the Ohio censors. Netter was there and much interested. “Purity” is a Master-piece picture.

Sol Lesser spent a day or two in New York early this month. We learn on the best authority that he will be with us again late in May. Some day soon bright air and good sunshine is going to come into this field and sell space annihilators to some of our well known cross-country commuters.

Entamarks of the Penna Feature Film Company announced his demise as a state-rights buyer on or about May 1. Mr. Entamarks says the stepping has become too high and often for him.

H. G. Segal of the Globe Feature Film Co., of Boston, and other New England points, spent a couple of days last week at the Astor. He saw several of the picture sellers and dodged others. Tis generally understood that he was kept so busy that he skipped a lunch hour in order to secure an assistant.

Mr. Benjamin Chapin and other members of his organization are to be found at the Astor each afternoon from three to five. Since the showing at the Strand they have been kept right busy by buyers too.

It’s getting to be a fact these days that when one wants a film man he calls up the Astor and has his victim paged.

Authors Film Moves to Times Building

Authors Film Company and Sanger and Jordan, who have had for some time past offices on the second floor of 1432 Broadway, have moved to the Times Building and will occupy the seventeenth floor of that building. The Authors Film, under the direction of Ralph Dean, is at present producing a picturized version of “Madame Sherry” at the Frohman Amusement Company Studio, Flushing.

"Think More of Value—Less of Price-Boosting"

So Says Joseph Lee, Prominent State Rights Man, in Discussing Problems

THE editorial by William A. Johnston in this issue of Motion Picture News on the subject of inflated admission prices for independent features will find a strong booster in Joseph F. Lee, judging from the opinions expressed by that well-known state rights man in an interview last week. A pioneer in the game, “Joe” Lee is reckoned as one of the shrewdest handlers of independent attractions.

“There is too strong a tendency to over-bid ourselves in every way in the open market,” he declared.

“It starts with sky-high territorial prices, and then carries right through to an attempt to get fifty-cent and a dollar prices for pictures which have not the slightest shadow of a reason for such a boost. The idea seems to be ‘get the money quickly and in one big bunch.’ Such a policy is ridiculously short-sighted.

“Consider the admission question from both angles—that of the man booking the attraction and the exhibitor playing on a percentage. In the first place, you must remember that the best programs strike a pretty high quality average to-day. These are the pictures the exhibitor’s patrons are seeing every day for his regular admission price.

“Along comes a special attraction. The ticket price is boosted to the limit—and when the day is over the exhibitor has sent hundreds of his regular patrons home with the feeling that they have been cheated. For, believe me, you have to show a man five dollars’ worth of value to make him feel that he has seen his dollar’s worth—while it is a simple proposition to have him satisfied that you have given him a dollar show when he has paid a quarter. The exhibitor counts the box-office and chuckles. He has had an ordinary matinee, and probably two good evening houses—and he has slashed the business of the next seven days in half.

“The exchange man feels that he has secured every possible cent out of the picture. In my opinion he has worked just the opposite to real showmanship. I would adapt the motto, ‘Quick sales and small profits,’ to the film game. Advertise your attraction like a circus, charge a quarter price, throw the doors open at 10 a.m., and grind the crank all day. Total your box-office then, and I’ll wager you have more than at the inflated price—plus the fact that you’ve given more than satisfaction.

“The case of Charles Dillingham, the theatrical producer, proves my point. Do you remember when he took over the New York Hippodrome—previously a noted white elephant? The anvil chorus agreed that at last Dillingham had bitten off more than he could chew. ‘He will go broke,’ they said. Then when he announced the record list of stars for the Hippodrome they doubled their wails. ‘He’ll have to charge cutthroat prices to break even,’ they declared.

“J. Dillingham fooled them. He made $1.50 the top price and cleaned up. Go over there at any performance now and see how close he is to going broke.

“This year with Plo Ziegefiel he has turned another white elephant—the Century theatre. And he did it by the same method—giving a five-dollar show for two dollars.

“That’s showmanship. That’s what I mean by giving a dollar picture for a quarter.”

Mo-Toy Comedies Territory Selling Rapidly

At a pre-release showing of the Mo-Toy Comedies distributed on a state rights basis by the Peter Pan Film Corporation, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, the following territories were quickly disposed of.

Greater New York, New York State and Northern New Jersey to Educational Films Corporation of America.

Standard Film Service Company of Cincinnati, have bought Southern Ohio and Kentucky.

Standard Film Service Company of Cleveland, Ohio, have bought Northern Ohio.

Standard Film Service Company of Detroit, have closed for Michigan.

Standard Film Service Company of Escanaba, will distribute for the Upper Peninsula.

National Film Booking Service, Inc., of Pittsburgh, have bought the rights to Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

C. R. Conkler, general manager for Peter Pan Corporation has left for Chicago to close Illinois and Indiana, and will travel West as far as the Coast. The first release of the Mo-Toy Doll Comedies will be early in May.

Sherman Opens Boston Office

The Sherman Film Releasing Company handling the New England rights for William N. Selig’s film dramatization of Winston Churchill’s novel “The Crisis” has opened offices in the new building, corner of Washington and Boylston streets, Boston, suite 853-854. This is the first important motion picture concern in Boston to locate outside of the so-called film district. Willis F. Jackson, for two years with “The Birth of a Nation” in the State of Iowa, is general manager.
Hoffman Acquires All Bernstein Productions

M. H. HOFFMAN, who is now on the Pacific Coast, has completed arrangements with Isadore Bernstein to handle all of the Bernstein's film productions.

By this arrangement, the picture, "Who Knows?" which was recently completed by the Bernstein Company, becomes the property of M. H. Hoffman, Inc., who will release it as a Foursquare feature. This picture was adapted from the story which ran for some time in the All Story Magazine. It will be given a Broadway showing in the near future. Betty Brice is featured in the stellar role.

In addition to this feature, M. H. Hoffman has also acquired the rights to the "Seven Cardinal Virtues" series, which is now being made by the Bernstein Company at their Los Angeles Studios. The first of the seven is "Humility," featuring Murdock MacQuarrie and Betty Brice. It is in seven reels, and will have its initial showing on Broadway within the next few weeks.

Bernstein is a pioneer in the moving picture industry, and will be remembered as the originator and builder of Universal City. After leaving the employ of the Universal he came East and joined Equitable as studio manager. But he soon discovered that he was capable of bigger work than this, and soon returned to California, where he proceeded to organize his own company. None of his productions have been released.

M. H. Hoffman left for the Coast about two weeks ago, and he writes that he will have some more interesting news for the trade when he returns East. One of his objects is to treat the exhibitors who remain with his firm in much the same way that Ford does his employees—in other words, he is going to Fordmatize his company.

"My policy will be big attractions," he writes, "plus comedies that people want, plus a serial, screen magazine and weekly. I intend to work a co-operative plan with exhibitors, reserving for the company certain profits in the investments and dividing the remainder in form of dividends among the exhibitors who stay on contract with the firm. In other words, I intend to put through the Ford automobile plan, and I am going to make an effort to prove that it will work out effectively."

"I am not going to handle any junk program. In fact, I believe that the program business is fast dying, and I seriously question whether it will be with us a year from to-day. The future of the moving picture business will depend on the state right feature."

"Since I started the Foursquare trademark, I have been asked repeatedly what it stands for and why it bears this name. I will tell you, Foursquare pictures compose the four square policies which are necessary for a picture to be released under that brand. In other words, a picture to come under that standard must have a good play, excellent players, and be a fine production. The fourth square is the Hoffman policy. I believe in "The Sin Woman..." I have a picture which I can safely release under the Foursquare brand."

"In the marketing of "Four Square Pictures" to state right buyers," said W. A. Bach, sales manager for M. H. Hoffman, Inc., "we are able to say with perfect truth that we are going to give very vital assistance in service to these buyers in putting their pictures over with profit to themselves."

For the past two years, Mr. Bach, until joining Mr. Hoffman this month, was in charge of the Publicity Service Department of the Universal Film Company in Canada.

Frank Hall Opens New Office for "Bar Sinister"

The purchase from Edgar Lewis of "The Bar Sinister," by Frank G. Hall of Newark, N. J., marks the entrance on a large scale of a well-known exhibitor and state right buyer into the distributing field.

Headquarters for the new organization are being prepared on the seventh floor of the Long Acre Building, New York, and the executive force is engaged carrying out the preliminaries of Mr. Hall's plans. The acquiring of a six-reel feature by another prominent director, and arrangements for a Broadway theatre to introduce the new attractions are among the latest news items coming from the Frank Hall offices.

Educational Buys Mo-Toys

The Peter Pan Film Corporation, 729 Seventh Avenue, New York, who are releasing on a state-right basis the Mo-Toy Comedies, state that they have sold the territory rights on northern New Jersey and New York to the Educational Film Corporation of America.

Business Reverts to Old Days, Says L. L. Hiller

L. L. Hiller, of Hiller & Wilk, Inc., Long Acre Building, New York, who are marketing "A Mormon Maid," "The Whip" and other pictures of outstanding merit, adds a further note to the open market discussion.

"The program was an economic subterfuge, which was inherently unstable. It was adopted to remedy a chaotic condition of the market."

"With the elevation of the five reel picture into the position of the popular unit, modern program companies followed the policy of the earlier ones, namely, they obliged an exhibitor to take an entire program."

"There is nothing new in the idea of a reversion to the open market system of doing business in the motion picture field. It was the prevalent way of doing things anterior to 1909. Many of the ideas that are trumpeted forth as novel these days are comparatively speaking, as old as the hills."

Second Flora Finch Picture is "Guess What"

The Flora Finch picture which follows "War Prides," a burlesque on Selznick's "War Brides," will have for its title "Guess What." The play is another burlesque on a well-known film, and the audience will be given the privilege of deciding the name of the original.

"Guess What" will be released May 6, and will carry a separate line of lithographs and advertising matter. The H. Grossman Distributing Company, Inc., announces this as a policy which has been adopted in preference to the usual stock sheets that apply to more than one picture of a star series.

Schultz Manager of Hy-Art

George C. Schulz recently assumed the management of the Hy-Art Masterplays Exchange, Washington, D. C., which handles its state rights productions in that territory. The new Hy-Art exchange is located in the annex of the Penn Gardens Building, on the ground floor, making it the third exchange in Washington to seek the street level.

Mr. Schultz has retained for his roadman H. Haas, who is at present working the Southern territory.

Hammond Sells New England

E. W. Hammond, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation, has just returned from Boston, where he closed the New England territory with Mr. Louis B. Mayer of the American Film Company.

Mr. Mayer has contracted for the Ditmar's Animals pictures, "The Living Book of Nature," also scenic, scientific and educational pictures consisting of two releases each week. Mr. Mayer's was attracted by the long-time bookings these pictures are getting in America's first-class houses.
Nation's Buyers Fall in Line for "The Deemster"

The Arrow Film Corporation reports that nearly every state rights territory has been represented in the long list of callers at the Times Building office since the announcement was made that "The Deemster" is for sale.

Principals who now control "The Deemster" for their respective states include, Lewis J. Sclznick, New York; Louis B. Mayer, New England; Stanley V. Mastbaum and Harry Schwalbe, eastern Pennsylvania; F. E. Backer, Mammoth Film Co., of 729 Seventh avenue, New York city, New Jersey, and B. Amsterdam, Masterpiece Film Attractions of Philadelphia, Pa., Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia.

Several other important deals are pending and it is reported that other blocks of territory on "The Deemster" will be sold shortly.

Egyptian Comedy Setting for Newest Christie Star

Mummies, incense and the flavor of the Nile distinguish the first Christie comedy which will feature Miss Gibson. In "The Barrier" and "The Bar Sinister," it has been this brand of clean, amusing comedies that it has been necessary to keep adding companies, and this time Al E. Christie took a "spurge" and procured an honest-to-goodness star.

In this picture, on which she is now at work, Miss Gibson will have the support of Eddie Barry, the comedian, who made such a hit in earlier comedies, as well as Ethel Lynne, George French and Harry Rattenberry.

Only One Star in Edgar Lewis's Opinion

A BRIEF interview with Edgar Lewis, producer of "The Barrier" and "The Bar Sinister," is advisable at this juncture, for Mr. Lewis insists that there should be no star system in picture production, there is a one and only star in his family, the name of Mrs. Edgar Lewis.

When Mr. Lewis was seen by a representative of Motion Picture News it was quite by accident. He came walking into the room unprepared and found Mrs. Lewis expounding her ideals on picture production to the interviewer. He started to go out but Mrs. Lewis went out instead and left the director uneasily pacing the floor and demanding why he should talk about himself for publication.

However, Mr. Lewis did manage to bottle his prejudices and uncorked in their stead a number of production ideas in general and facts about "The Bar Sinister" in particular. In answer to the question as to how the South would take "The Bar Sinister," Mr. Lewis said: "There will be little trouble at all; none from the negroes. A few whites who have prejudice written all over their faces and who refuse to look upon the negro as the possessor of a soul, will complain, no doubt, but not to an extent sufficient to warrant any material commercial harm to the picture."

"I am more or less of a southerner myself," continued Mr. Lewis, "as I was born in Missouri. Like all Missourians I always have to be shown and I always believe in showing other people. That is why I am confident that 'The Bar Sinister' will get over in the South. I have taken particular pains to drive home my argument, to prove my point and I think all you reviewers agree that I have done that, at least.

"There is to be sure," he went on, "opposition to every picture that presents a theme back of the picture. This theme is generally debatable as every theme is and consequently such a picture is bound to provoke comment. But such comment, even if in some small measure antagonistic to the picture, arouses interest, gets it publicity. And that is why such productions fare better than the commonplace produced last week with much plot and no ultimate justification.

"I believe 'The Barrier' and 'The Bar Sinister' have proved this statement, to say nothing of other pictures produced by other companies. I am going to go on producing such pictures because I believe that they are the variety the public wants and the sort every manufacturer will eventually make. There are good for longer runs and higher prices and the exhibitor can concentrate his efforts on them for a good long time instead of making a quick change every one or two days."

Mrs. Lewis entered the room again and Mr. Lewis broke off, complaining: "I don't know what to tell him, you do the rest," and he left forthwith after making apologies. The fact is that much of the above can be traced to Mr. Lewis and much to Mrs. Lewis.

New King Bee Comedy

The second King Bee comedy, "The Hero," has been completed with Billy West and Ethel Burton, and will soon be placed on the release list.

In a report from the King Bee office in New York it is stated that the Michigan rights to the first comedy, "Back Stages," have been sold to J. Palley, of Detroit. The picture has not yet been released.

Frohman Moves

The Frohman Amusement Company is taking new quarters in the Times Building. The entire north part of the third floor was occupied last week. Mr. Sherill's office is on the Broadway side. Joe Farnum's office is on the Seventh avenue side, overlooking the Rialto theatre.

Mrs. Edgar Lewis Ill

Mrs. Edgar Lewis is in the hospital, suffering from nervous breakdown caused by overwork in the production of the latest Edgar Lewis feature, "The Bar Sinister."
Dispose of "Submarine Eye" on Territorial Basis

Williamson Brothers, however, announce several radical departures in method—prints leased, not sold, and rebates allowed on expiration.

Several radical departures in the beaten path of marketing feature pictures are disclosed in an announcement emanating from George Williamson of Williamson Brothers to the effect that the under-sea spectacles of the concern, the third of which is now ready, will be disposed of on territorial basis.

The chief points in the announcement are that there will be leased for fixed periods of time, and not sold; rebates will be allowed when contracts expire; and certain districts may be reserved by the Williamson Brothers for themselves.

"In justice to those who have expressed the keenest interest in our plans, and who are anxious to secure contracts for the exploitation of "Submarine Eye," I am pleased to say that our picture will be marketed upon the territorial rights basis with certain definite exceptions to the general plan followed out by other producers," reads the Williamson statement.

"There are certain districts which we may want to reserve for ourselves. It is our aim to definitely establish its value throughout the Big Time, so that when the picture is finally ready to be thrown open to bookings for the smaller houses, it will be so well-known that exhibitors will reap the additional benefits of the advertising done locally and play to record-breaking crowds for longer runs than the average feature receives."

Bonavita Appears in "Woman and the Beast"

Through the fact is not advertised, due to the feeling that such exploitation might be regarded as taking advantage of a tragedy, Captain Jack Bonavita, the animal trainer, slain some weeks ago by one of his pets, appears in the Graphic Feature "The Woman and the Beast." The trainer "doubled" for Alphonse Ethier in a scene of a battle between man and beast.

"'The Woman and the Beast' was shown on April 27 to a crowd of state right buyers numbering more than fifty. The picture was previously passed by the National Board of Review without a single change.

"An unusual feature of "Christus" is the motion picture reproduction, in exact detail, of a number of the most celebrated paintings dealing with the life of Christ, including the "Last Supper," by Leonardo; "The Annunciation," by Beato Angelico; "The Crucifixion," by Mantegna; "The Descent from the Cross," by Rembrandt, and "La Pietà," by Michael Angel.

Buyers Express Lively Interest in Paralta Plans

State right buyers and film distribution men are displaying deep interest in the Paralta plan, which is developing many unique features that greatly interest exhibitors. A meeting between Carl Anderson, president of Paralta Plays, in the offices of the company, 729 Seventh avenue, last Thursday afternoon, resulted in several state right men expressing their determination to identify themselves with the Paralta distribution plan.

A meeting of Northwestern state right men with Mr. Anderson will be held in the offices of the Paralta company, Thursday afternoon, May 3.

"Poor Little Rich Girl" Burlesqued by A-Kay

The A-Kay Company, 729 Seventh avenue, New York, which confines its energies exclusively to the production of cartoon burlesques of screen successes, announces for its second production "Golden Spoon Mary," which portrays the trials and tribulations of "a very rich, very poor little girl."
Augmented High-Class Program
Aim of World-Brady

Further plans, which will be of benefit to exhibitors and based on the interchange system whereby World-Brady pictures have acquired several French plays, which were recently announced, were hinted at by William A. Brady last week. At the same time Mr. Brady laid stress on the principle of World Pictures Brady-Made in following the lines it had laid out in the beginning regarding program distribution.

"Absolutely rigid adherence to the program is the first principle of the corporation," he said. "In fact, we go further than that, for we not alone positively protect the integrity of our output, but make additions to it whenever the opportunity arises to do so upon an important scale."

This refers, of course, to Mr. Brady's was in regard to the series of French photoplays. Continuing, the producer said: "As our plan of interchange with Louis M. C. Wellington, the French director, works out between now and the reawakening of European picture activities after the war, we shall have a further number of pleasant and profitable surprises for exhibitors."

"Periwinkle" Next Production
for Mary Minter

Mary Myles Minter has started work on her next production, "Periwinkle," which is an adaptation of the story by William Farquhar Payson. In this feature the little star appears most of the time dressed in trousers, rubber boots, oilskin coat and sou'wester. She is a little waif rescued from a shipwreck and reared by a beachcomber and his daughter, who is to be named "Periwinkle." George Fisher plays opposite Miss Minter, and others in the cast include Arthur Howard, Clarence Burton, Alan Forrest, Harvey Clark, George Periolat and Ann Schaefer.

Mildred Manning to Stardom

Vitagraph has named Mildred Manning as Peggy Hyland's successor, and the actress who was so well liked in the O. Henry stories is now a full-fledged star. She has signed a contract and is already at work on her next production, "Periwinkle," which is an adaptation of the story by William Farquhar Payson. In this feature the little star appears most of the time dressed in trousers, rubber boots, oilskin coat and sou'wester. She is a little waif rescued from a shipwreck and reared by a beachcomber and his daughter, and given the name of "Periwinkle." George Fisher plays opposite Miss Minter, and others in the cast include Arthur Howard, Clarence Burton, Alan Forrest, Harvey Clark, George Periolat and Ann Schaefer.

Goodrich Film Soon Ready

Edna Goodrich is putting the finishing touches to "Reputation," her first screen production, which is being filmed at the Empire All-Star Studio. May 28 has been set as the release date of this photodrama.

William Hinchley plays opposite Miss Goodrich, and others in the cast include Frank Goldsmith, Carey Lee, Esther Evans and Nellie Parker Spaulding.

"Barbary Sheep" First Elsie Ferguson Subject

Artcraft Announces Adaptation of Hitchcock's Novel as Initial Picture for Stage Star; Walter E. Greene Discusses Production Plans

ANNOUNCEMENT that the productions with Elsie Ferguson featured will be distributed by the Artcraft Pictures Corporation follows the recent Famous Players-Lasky, Artcraft affiliation. This will give Artcraft the screen offerings of six prominent picture and theatrical players, namely, D. W. Griffith, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Geraldine Farrar, George M. Cohan and Miss Ferguson.

Looking Forward to "Poppy"

The Selznick Picture version of Cynthia Stockley's novel of a love-starved South African girl "Poppy" is expected to appeal to the countless readers of the book when it is shortly released throughout the country.

Norma Talmadge, under direction of Edward Jose, who also wrote the scenario, is said to have outdone herself in this eight part production. Mr. Jose's familiarity with South Africa, where he resided five years, well fitted him for supervision of this work.

Eugene O'Brien, Frederick Perry, Jack Meredith and Dorothy Rogers are important members of the cast.

Seena Owen in O. Henry Story

A screen version of the O. Henry story "Madame Bo-Peep of the Ranches," is in course of finishing at the Triangle Hollywood Studios under the hands of Director Chester. Seena Owen is starred in this, a story of the Texas sheep country. A. D. Sears and F. A. Turner are others in the cast.

Mary Garden as an Exhibitor

According to reports from Goldwyn Pictures, Mary Garden, opera favorite and star of that company has taken her first step toward becoming a movie magnate in France.

She is said to have taken a valuable site in Paris last week, and to have begun work with her architects in the designing of a 4,000 seat motion picture theatre in which will be exhibited film productions available from all producing nations. The house is to be named "The Cinema Mary."

Praise for Director of "Wrath of the Gods"

Reginald Barker, director for Ince-Triangle subjects, has received many congratulations since the first announcement that Hilker & Wilk would sell "The Wrath of the Gods" for stage rights. This spectacular drama was filmed under the direction of Mr. Barker, and being his first big feature production, he is highly gratified that it should be deemed suitable for re-issue. This is but one of the long list of successes directed by Mr. Barker.
Universal Offers First Butterfly Production

"Eternal Love," a Five-Part Drama of New Brand, Leads Off May 7 List—
Numerous Comedies and Two and Three Part Dramas Make Up Long Program

The first of the Butterfly Pictures, "Eternal Love," a five-part drama with Douglas Gerrard and Ruth Clifford as principals, is brought to the screen on the Universal Program for the week of May 7. The story tells of the love of a successful artist for a peasant girl. The scenes are laid in a fishing village in Brittany and in the gay art circles of Paris. E. Magnus Inglinton wrote the piece which was directed by Douglas Gerrard. Players in the leading roles include George Gehhardt, Edward Clark, Dan Duffy and Myrtle Reeves.

Monday, May 7 is the date of release for the feature, and on the same day appears the Nestor comedy "The Lost Appetite" with Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edith Roberts.

The feature for Tuesday, May 8 is the Gold Seal three-part mountain-drama "The Grip of Love," from the original story by Willard Mack, scenarized by Karl Coolidge and produced by Allen Holubar. Interwoven in the plot is a romance of a school teacher in the mountains of Tennessee, and a young man from the city, who goes to the woods to seek relaxation from the business worry. The leading roles are played by Louise Lovely and Allen Holubar. The other Tuesday release is the Victor comedy, "Baseball Madness," with Billy Mason and Gloria Swanson.

The feature for Wednesday, May 9 is "Swearing Off," a one-reel Victor comedy, featuring Eileen Sedgwick, and the Warner Bros. drama, "The Doctor's Deception," with Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber will be released. This is titled "A Stern Chase."

The feature for Thursday, May 10 is "Souls Triumphant," written by Mary H. O'Connor and directed by John O'Brien. Dorothy Dalton will be presented by Thomas H. Ince in a comedy-drama of life in a fashionable Southern community, known as "Wild Winship's Widow," written by John Lynch and directed by Charles Miller. Miss Dalton is ably supported by Alice Taaffe, Lillian Hayward and other well-known Ince players.

Two Subjects Radically Different in Theme on "T" Program

W. ILFRED LUCAS, Lillian Gish and Dorothy Dalton are the stars of the Triangle feature releases for May 20. Lucas and Miss Gish will be co-starred in a strong story, entitled "Souls Triumphant," written by Mary H. O'Connor and directed by John O'Brien. Dorothy Dalton will be presented by Thomas H. Ince in a comedy-drama of life in a fashionable Southern community, known as "Wild Winship's Widow," written by John Lynch and directed by Charles Miller. Miss Dalton is ably supported by Alice Taaffe, Lillian Hayward and other well-known Ince players.

"Souls Triumphant" is the picturization of a wronged wife's fight to restore her erring husband to a position of self-respect. The story shows the reverse of the usual three-cornered affair growing out of one man's relations with two women, and thus gains for the spectator a situation of unusual dramatic interest and emotional appeal. The element of mystery injected into the plot keeps the interest from flagging, and there are many tense moments in its unfolding.

Dorothy Dalton in "Wild Winship's Widow" takes the part of a young and pretty widow with every luxury at her command, who has elevated the memory of her husband into a religion, although "Wild Winship" has been anything but a laudable character. The habit of intense mourning becomes one of the active duties of her life, and, as a matter of fact, she extracts much enjoyment out of her self-enforced misery. But at length Mrs. Winship discovers the error of her ways and becomes almost reckless in her attempts to prove that she is still young and attractive enough to win the admiration of the masculine sex. The result is that she gets more devotion than she really cares for, and has to resort to certain very feminine wiles to extricate herself from an extremely embarrassing and amusing situation.
Apfel and Brunton to Sign with Paralta?

In connection with the presence in New York last week of Oscar Apfel, the director, and Robert Brunton, long the technical and art director at the Ince studios in Hollywood, a rumor which was given wide credence spread about that their visit was in connection with propositions made them by Paralta Plays.

Mr. Apfel stated in answer to an inquiry that he would make an announcement of his new connections in the near future.

Mr. Brunton stated he was considering an offer made him to direct the art and technical interests of a series of productions for state rights distribution.

Prize for Best Art Drama Trade Mark Suggestion

To the person submitting the design or suggestion for an acceptable trade mark for Art Dramas, Inc., before June 1, Harry R. Raver, president, will give the sum of twenty-five dollars. A jury headed by Mr. Raver, will be shortly chosen to decide on the suggestions advanced.

It is stipulated that the design must be of a nature to attract the eye, to be easily remembered, and yet must be clear in detail, as it will often be used in reduced sizes for advertising. Simplicity, originality and uniqueness are the qualities sought.

All designs should be sent to the Contest Committee, Art Dramas, Inc., 1400 Broadway, New York.

If the winning design is submitted by more than one person, the full amount of the prize offered will be paid to each.

Helen Holmes Directs

With J. P. MacGowan busy cutting an especially difficult reel of "The Railroad Raiders," Helen Holmes, heroine of the serial, took charge of the company and won honors as a director. The result may be that there will be a division of that part of the labor for the Signal Company in future.

Victor Moore in "Invited Out"

Mayfair Film Corporation, Independent, Formed

M. A. Schlesinger, Big Purchaser of American Films for South America, Heads New Concern Peggy Hyland First Star Ambitious Plans

FORMATION of the Mayfair Film Corporation and announcement of Peggy Hyland as the first star engaged, was announced last week. The independent manufacturing field will be the key of the new company's operations, and productions of a distinctive type which from a standpoint of artistry and beauty will attract all classes, are aimed at.

Miss Hyland, who has won many admirers while with Vitagraph and other concerns in the past, will be given roles especially suited to her beauty and personality. An English girl, she won her first hands on the other side, and upon entrance into the silent drama came with the mark of stardom already upon her.

Charles J. Brahm, who directed Miss Hyland in her most recent production "The Sixteenth Wife," will be associated with her in the same capacity.

The Mayfair Film Corporation was organized by M. A. Schlesinger, its president, who for years has had motion picture and theatrical interests in both England and South Africa. In America, Mr. Schlesinger has been responsible for the engagement of the staffs employed in the production of films in South Africa. He has also been perhaps the largest purchaser of American-made films for South Africa, which product he introduced into and now controls in that country.

As the American representative of the International Theatrical Agency of England and of the African Theatres Trust, Mr. Schlesinger has negotiated the lease and sale of the rights to the foremost dramatic productions written on both sides of the ocean. By reason of these valuable connections, the Mayfair company will have exceptional facilities for obtaining suitable material for Miss Hyland.

Temporarily the offices of the Mayfair Film Corporation will be located at 10 Wall Street, New York. The company will shortly locate in the Times Square district.

Universal Weekly Scores

Quick action by the cameramen and editors of the Universal Animated Weekly upon arrival in Washington on Sunday, April 22 of British Foreign Minister Bal- lfour and party, enabled the Rialto theatre, New York, to show pictures of the event on Monday afternoon.

A corresponding initiative shown upon launching of the superdreadnought "New Mexico" at the Brooklyn Navy Yard on Monday morning, April 23, resulted in display of the scenes that same evening at the Rialto.

Excellent Work by Sylvia Bremer in Next Picture

Sylvia Bremer, of whom many kind words have been heard from the West coast, makes her second appearance on the screen in the latest Ince-Triangle drama, "The Millionaire Vagrant," by J. G. Hawks, when she is presented in support of Charles Ray.

Her part is said to be a strong one, and to convey the idea that she is moving in a world from which she is entirely disassociated by birth and culture. Miss Bremer has had to do extremely delicate portrayal.
Vitagraph Version of "Within the Law" Opens on Broadway

Before a critical audience, Vitagraph's screen version of Bayard Veiller's stage success "Within the Law" opened at the Broadway theatre, New York, on Sunday night, April 29. The consensus of opinion was that this dramatic spectacle would be applauded by millions in its film garb.

Vitagraph officials predict that this photodrama will surpass the legitimate production as a box-office attraction. When it is considered that approximately four million persons in the United States and Canada saw the nine road companies in this play the strength of the story can be well imagined.

Figures compiled show that the stage companies gave 3,348 performances to total gross receipts of $2,550,378.97. Of this $112,806.25 came from Canadian presentations. Prices ranged from a minimum of fifty cents to a maximum of two dollars. New York state alone paid a gross to the producers of $819,409.64. The other leading states in the matter of gross receipts were: Pennsylvania, $304,188.71; Massachusetts, $157,091.15; Illinois, $145,298.50; California, $106,954.25 and Ohio, $95,305.56.

Motion picture men point out that with the screen prices for "Within the Law" being probably limited to a maximum of fifty cents, that it is reasonable to suppose that not less than twenty million motion picture patrons will clamor to see the picture. Only the actual release of the picture for general booking by Greater Vitagraph will prove the correctness of these assertions.

Harry Morey is seen in Vitagraph's version in the character of Joe Carson. Adele de Garde appears as Aggie Lynch.

Fast Production of Warwick Subjects

Harry Rapf, president of the Robert Warwick Film Corp., appears to be out for a record in the rapid-fire production of big motion picture features. With "The Argyle Case" and "The Silent Master" already on the market, under the banner of Lewis J. Selznick and a third production nearly completed, Mr. Rapf announces the preparation of an adaptation of Frank Packard's widely read novel, "The Beloved Traitor," for Mr. Warwick's fourth Selznick-Picture.

The second of the Warwick pictures to be released through the Selznick exchanges, "The Silent Master," was shown last week for review. It is an adaptation of E. Phillips Oppenheim's novel, "The Court of St. Simon," and marks the American debut of the French director, Leonne Perret.

The Frame-Up "Replete with Thrills"

Many stiff "stunts" were allotted to William Russell in the course of his newest American-Mutual Picture "The Frame-up," which is programmed for May 7. Director Edward Sloman answered his star's requests for difficult feats, and the resulting picture is said to show Mr. Russell in many athletic and acrobatic turns. A back somersault out of a speeding automobile, and a leap from the tonneau of one fast traveling machine to the tonneau of another are but two examples of the thrills contained in the subject.

Francesca Billington, opposite Mr. Russell, provides a charming foil for the love scenes of the play.

Pictographs Show Treasury Work

Scientific and technical knowledge presented in such a plain way as to be thoroughly understandable and interesting, predominates in the sixty-sixth edition of Paramount-Bray Pictographs.

Routine doings at the New York Sub-Treasury such as testing the gold coins received in foreign shipments, laundering of bills and destruction of mutilated currency, take up one section of the subject. "The Sun-Cure," designed to inform people of the value of the great out-doors and especially of old Sol's rays and a picture lesson in wood carving are other topics on the reel.

Rotarians Endorse "Womanhood"

The Rotary Club of Chicago on April 24, after witnessing the Vitagraph preparedness picture, "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," adopted a resolution extending their unqualified endorsement of the film as one of the best of its kind, and recommending the various Rotary Clubs of the country to see the picture.

Triple Role for Wilbur

Three separate parts are to be played by Crane Wilbur in his newest Horsley production, written by himself. Mr. Wilbur will direct the piece, assisted by Harrish Ingram. The supporting cast includes Ray Thomson, Ruth King, Julia Jackson, Don Bailey, Jake Abraham and Joe Jareton. Gene Crosby is leading woman.
Tense Chapter of "Double Cross" "The Stranger Disposes," the eighth episode of "Mystery of the Double Cross," is announced for release the week of May 8. Mollie King is scoring a distinct success in this Pathe mystery serial produced by Astra under the direction of William Parke.

In this episode Peter and Annesley investigate Bentley's quarters, while he, in turn, is rifling the Brewster safe for a string of pearls. Manuella believes he has stolen the gems to give to her, and he in turn thinks she has taken them for him, and declares his own guilt to protect her.

"Atonement," a Vampire Drama, First of Brady's French Plays FIrst of the four French photoplays announced by the Brady-International Service, World Pictures, is "Atonement," described as a vampire drama. Louis Merchant directed the feature which is said to contain the perfection of detail that was apparent in "Mothers of France."

The heroine, played by Regina Badot, is an internationally famous and beautiful dancer. Persistently pursued by a middle-aged count who is unsuspicious she turns from him and is devotedly attached to the man who composes and executes the music for her dances.

The dancer, Manuella, accepts an engagement to dance at a private entertainment of the count's, and he plots so well that her lover is arrested for the theft of a valuable string of pearls. Manusella believes he has stolen the gems to give to her, and he in turn thinks she has taken them for him, and declares his own guilt to protect her.

The count names acquiescence to his desires as the price to be paid by Manusella for the withdrawal of the charge against her lover and she refuses. Meanwhile the man who really committed the theft has been drinking heavily, and the dancer coming upon him, he re-enacts the scenes of the robbery, makes a confession and expires.

Follows a vivid struggle for possession of the confession signed by the thief when the count first caught him taking the pearls, in which Manusella's tiny pistol is discharged and the count falls fatally wounded.
New Comedy Brand Ready for Distribution

"Howl Comedies" Announced by President Julius Stern—Alice Howell, of L-Ko Fame, to Star in Each—Director Blystone Completes Several

Alice Howell, who has established herself as a favorite, in seasons past, through appearances in L-Ko Comedies, will hereafter be presented in a new series to be called "Howl Comedies," in which she will be the star of every release. President Julius Stern and Director General J. G. Blystone, of L-Ko, have decided to initiate the new series at once, making "Balloonatics" the opening number. Following this will come "Automaniacs," "Neptune’s Naughty Daughter," and other laugh-provokers now completed or in preparation.

"We have decided to establish the 'Howl Comedies' in recognition of Miss Howell's energy and talents as displayed in L-Ko's during seasons past," says Mr. Stern in making his announcement of the new series. "Our determination has the precedent established, time and again, by women on the stage who have proven themselves just as funny as any of their male adversaries."

"The sources of fun in Howl Comedies will be many and varied, as shown in the three releases we have ready for distribution. In 'Balloonatics' Miss Howell will demonstrate the amount of laughs that may be provoked through the management of an air ship. 'Automaniacs' will develop comedy as applied to the manipulation of a motor and in 'Neptune's Naughty Daughters' Miss Howell will go under water and bring up the laughs."

"Under Director Blystone's management Miss Howell has attained the faculty of putting laughs in every spot where a laugh belongs. She is as fearless and daring as any man ever was in doing stunts, and has a native faculty for provoking merriment under the most unusual conditions."

"We mean to give to Howl Comedies every possible advantage to be gained from production and advertising that the exhibitor may reap, with us, the benefits of Miss Howell's popularity and abilities as an entertainer. Director General Blystone has his plans all made and will have the best backing we can give to his efforts."

Robert Warwick to Return to the Stage

After an absence of a season, Robert Warwick is to return to the speaking stage next fall under the management of Al H. Woods. Contracts were signed last week.

Mr. Warwick last appeared in the legitimate in "Captain Brassbound's Conversion." He has appeared with Leslie Carter, Mary Mannering, Virginia Harred, Grace George and Frances Starr in drama, and in a number of musical comedies.

In pictures he appeared in a number of productions for the Peerless corporation, then launched forth in his own company last fall.

Since then he has produced "The Argyle Case," "The Silent Master," and is working now in "A Modern Othello."

Stage work will not interfere with his motion picture interests, this agreement having been reached with Mr. Woods before the actor signed his contract.

Water Thrills in "The Railroad Raiders" Chapter

The Helen Holmes company last week completed the ninth chapter of the Mutual-Signal serial "The Railroad Raiders," entitled, "The Knotted Cord."

The chapter is said to be the most tense of any of the episodes so far completed. There is a ferry robbery, followed by a clever international intrigue, a bomb plot, a leap by auto from a dock to the deck of a barge, a number of unusual water feats and the destruction of the barge by explosion.

Edison Feature, April 16

April 16 marks the release of the Edison feature "Builders of Castles," a five reel picture featuring Marc McDermott and Miriam Nesbitt, based on the story by Henry Albert Phillips.
Madge Kennedy and Jane Cowl Begin on First Goldwyn Plays

On May 1 Goldwyn Pictures, in line with its rapid production plans, will begin work on the fifth and sixth of the pictures of the twelve scheduled to be made before a single release is shown. A week later a seventh subject will be begun, and so on until the close of the series.

The two new stars who will enter the studio for the first time are Madge Kennedy and Jane Cowl. Miss Kennedy has received her script and is now busy with the dressmakers and costumers. The story for her first picture is the work of Margaret Mayo, and is announced as one of that versatile author's most famous plays.

Completing this picture at the end of the week, Max Marsh will, three days later, begin work on her third Goldwyn production, which will also be a photographic presentation of another of Margaret Mayo's celebrated plays.

Jane Cowl's initial work for Goldwyn has been selected and will be under the direction of Arthur Hopkins, who has, by way of introduction to the motion picture industry, just made his first picture, with Maxine Elliott as his star.

Goldwyn Has First Story from Porter Emerson Brown

Porter Emerson Brown, novelist, playwright and creator of the now famed vampire type of actress, has accepted Goldwyn Pictures invitation to become a member of the Goldwyn Advisory Board which shapes all of that organization's productions.

Mr. Browne, as was recently announced, is under an exclusive contract with Goldwyn for a period of three years for all scenarios he may produce.

Goldwyn is in receipt of Mr. Browne's first manuscript, which turns out to be a story of most unusual quality. It will be allotted to one of the Goldwyn stars and produced early in the summer.

Selig Starts Series of Chas. Hoyt Comedies

The Selig Polyscope Company is at work on another series of the famous old Charles Hoyt comedies. A specially picked company is now at work on the revival of these comedies for the screen at the Chicago studio. Four have already been finished and the rest will soon be completed.

It is expected that the releasing of them will begin the latter part of next month. Among those selected are such well-received Hoyt comedies as "Hole in the Ground," "Midnight Bells" and "Rag Baby."

Players Start on New Universal Serial, "The Gray Ghost"

Work on the new Universal serial, "The Gray Ghost," has begun under the direction of Stuart Paton. This is a film adaptation of Arthur Somers Roche's story, "Loot," which ran as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post.

The serial will be in fifteen chapters, and it is promised each will be crowded with thrilling situations and carry a suspense that will interest the most exacting film fan. A conference was held in which heads of all departments that will be concerned took part, and a perfect arrangement perfected whereby all will contribute the best skill and experience toward making this an epochal event in serial production.

The leading roles in "The Gray Ghost" will be played by Priscilla Dean, Emory Johnson, Harry Carter and Eddie Polo.

Eastern Work Begins for Mae Murray

Mae Murray has begun work on a photoplay version of George Middleton's "At Night," which is being staged in the Famous Players-Lasky Eastern studio, in accordance with arrangements completed with Mr. Lasky. Robert Leonard, who accompanied Miss Murray East from the Lasky studio, is in charge of the production, which will be known as a Lasky picture when it is released by Paramount.

Miss Murray plays Justine Gibbs, an attractive and highly American type of girl, who rebels against a prearranged marriage and follows the dictates of her own heart. She has been practically thrusted upon the hands of Ralph Gaylor, an insignificant society youth, who is attracted to her chiefly by monetary considerations.

A chance meeting with Hartley Poole, a young magazine writer engaged in completing a serial story, gives opportunity for the development of a tempestuous romance.

"Unconquered," Strong Drama, Is Next Fannie Ward Play

Lasky announces a play written by Beatrice C. De Mille and Leighton Osman, entitled "Unconquered," as the next vehicle for Fannie Ward, last seen in "The School for Husbands."

In this subject Miss Ward leaves comedy for what is heralded as her most dramatic role since "The Cheat." The story of "Unconquered" is of a young mother whose devotion to her small son leads her to risk life itself in protecting him first from a brutal father, and later from a negro fanatic.

A cast which is really strong includes Hobart Bosworth, Tully Marshall, Jack Dean, Mabel Van Buren, Jane Wolfe and little Billie Jacobs.

Erboograph Near Completion

The story by Clarence J. Harris, "Little Miss Fortune," which was selected as the vehicle in which Marian Swayne will make her Erboograph debut, is rapidly nearing completion. The star has the part of a poorhouse child of unknown parentage, who after an unhappy youth becomes an heiress and finds happiness in the love of her partner on the stage.

Hugh Thompson, Bradley Barker, Lucille Dorrington, Anna Day Perry and Charles McDonald appear in the cast. Joseph Levering is directing the production.
Gottschalk Writes Score for "The Curse of Eve," Now Finished

LOUIS F. GOTTSCHALK, the composer, was engaged by the Corona Cinema Company last week to create the musical arrangements for "The Curse of Eve," the morality drama which shortly will be presented in New York City for the endorsement of the state rights buyers. He went immediately to work on the compositions which will go to form the musical accompaniment for the big multiple-reeler, and already he has provided his staff of copyists with more than a dozen numbers.

The motif chosen by Gottschalk will be known as "The Magdalene Motif," it having been inspired by the character portrayed by Enid Markey. It has been declared by the composer to be one of the most beautifully eloquent numbers he ever has written, and will take its place, say those who have heard it, among the masterly compositions of the day.

"Merit, Not Publicity, Makes the Star"—Arthur S. Moore

WITHOUT talent a star cannot be made even with bushels of publicity. Such is the opinion of Arthur S. Moore, advertising manager of McClure publications in discussing the rise to stardom of Sibbny Mason, the talked of feature player in "Seven Deadly Sins."

Miss Mason is to be the leading star in the next series of five-reel features that will be released by McClure Pictures through the Triangle Distributing Corporation.

Six months ago Miss Mason was unknown. Today, from all reports of exhibitors, she is firmly established as an actress of box-office power. And Mr. Moore is emphatic that publicity has not "made" her.

"Publicity does not establish a motion picture star any more than it established a certain make of motor car or cigar or soap," said Mr. Moore, recently. "Publicity can do no more than call the public's attention to an article of merit. If the article advertised does not prove worth while, while the publicity has done more harm than good. The spotlight shows the flaws up."

"We never could have made Shirley Mason so popular if she had not had every quality that makes for success. We could not through publicity force motion fans to like her. Shirley Mason herself had to do that and she has made good. Though only sixteen years old she has had excellent training on the stage under famous actors, and has been well schooled as a child actress.

"She was tested in 'Seven Deadly Sins' and she triumphed. Exhibitors are writing us every day telling us that Shirley Mason has the approval of the public, that she is known as an actress worth seeing, that her name in electric lights in front of a theatre has a box-office value equalled by not more than a dozen other names in motion pictures."

Douglas Brings Osborne Picture

With the first of the new Baby Marie Osborne pictures in his possession, W. A. S. Douglas, general manager of Lasalida Films, Inc., arrived in New York from the West Coast last week. The picture is "When Baby Forgot," directed by W. Eugene Moore, who has started work on a second picture with the popular little star.

"Brisk Enlisting by Fox Men"

Rapid enlistment in the volunteer companies being raised in the Fox Studios is reported both from Fort Lee and Los Angeles. Men from the technical departments as well as actors are signing up. Already more than 275 have been enrolled in the Eastern studios and 500 on the coast.

William Fox is encouraging the enlistment in every way and will outfit the volunteers even to purchasing machine guns for the companies.

"The Neglected Wife"
Emerald Producing Patriotic Film "The Slacker"

"The Slacker," a military production, in which actual units of the United States military service participate, and based upon the recent historical events leading up to the declaration of war against Germany, is being produced by the Emerald Motion Picture Company, Milwaukee, under the auspices and direction of the Wisconsin Defense League.

It is a semi-official government proposition, the army, navy, marines and national guard co-operating in producing the military scenes.

As its title suggests, "The Slacker" deals with a young man who slacks his duty as an American and who has come under the influence of a German government agent. Though replete with stirring scenes, there is no "flag waving" for effect, and is based upon a strong and consistent story.

Nell Craig, who has just closed with the Essanay Company, and Edward Arnold will be seen in the film under the personal supervision of Frederick J. Ireland, president of the Emerald Motion Picture Company.

Womanhood "Branded False"

"Womanhood" reports to the contrary, "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," has not been banned from Pennsylvania or any other State, according to statements issued last week by J. Stuart Blackton, instrumental in the production, and Walter W. Irwin, general manager of Vitagraph V-L-S-E.

Said Mr. Irwin:

"Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," is far from being included within the ban evidently placed by the National Government upon certain pictures which, in the Government's estimation, would hinder rather than promote recruiting, this picture actually being a stimulus rather than otherwise.

"On the contrary, 'Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation,' has been viewed by the highest military authorities and has received their universal and enthusiastic support."

Clean Pictures That Will Please Children, Arbuckle's Aim

FATTY ARBUCKLE has come out emphatically for clean, wholesome plays, free from even a suspicion of double meaning.

"I shall produce nothing that will offend the proprieties, whether applied to children or grown-ups," said Roscoe recently in speaking of his plans for comedy two-reelers to be released through Paramount.

"My pictures are turned out with clean hands and therefore with a clear conscience which, like virtue, is its own reward.

"Children in attendance at moving picture shows," continued Mr. Arbuckle, "some times have occasion to ask their parents some rather embarrassing questions about what is being unfolded before their eyes, but this has never happened or will happen at any of the pictures I have directed myself or will direct. In the three years I have been producing my own comedies, I have never had a single elimination which comes pretty near telling its own story.

"Pictures, of course, moving or otherwise, make a deeper impression on a child's mind than written or spoken words, and for that reason alone it is necessary to constantly exercise caution that the subject being filmed does not get out of the moral focus.

"Nothing would grieve me more than to have some mother say, ' lets not go there today, Fatty is playing and he isn't fit for the children to see.' I want them to always speak otherwise of me for as long as I can please the kiddies I don't care who entertains their elders."

U Scenario Writer Coming to Eastern Triangle

Bess Meredith, who has been identified with Universal City as staff writer, is leaving this week for New York City, where she will accept a position as staff author for Alan Dwan of the Eastern Triangle Studio. Miss Meredith is author of more than four hundred produced photoplays and has just completed one which is now in production.
Big Booking Records

The Entire Circuit of Marcus Loew Theatres Books "The Voice on the Wire" Serial

Impressed by the initial showing of the Universal's latest and greatest serial "THE VOICE ON THE WIRE," the bookers of the big Marcus Loew Theatre Circuit booked it for every house on the list. This magnificent serial opened in the big Broadway and Brooklyn Houses of the circuit to tremendous houses. The deep mysterious plot captured the first episode audiences, and the following episodes showed record attendances.

Featuring Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber

The leads are played by Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber, two of the most popular Universal Stars. There is a mysterious man who has a voice that is the key to all. Ben Wilson attempts to locate the owner of the "voice." Directed by Stuart Paton

The superb direction of "The Voice on the Wire" comes from the master mind of Stuart Paton, who produced the Universal's stupendous spectacular drama, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." It has the peculiar quality of thrills and a mystery of who it is. The voice is the key to it all.

"PERILS" IS POPULAR

Seven Powerful Dramas in Series Gets the Crowds

Each big story complete in itself, the series of seven great dramas issued under the general title of "The Perils of the Secret Service," featuring Kingsley Benedict, scored an instantaneous hit,

DULL DAYS DISAPPEAR

Universal Screen Magazine Proves to be a Magnet on Days Exhibitors Dread

DULL DAYS DISAPPEAR

Universal Screen Magazine Proves to be a Magnet on Days Exhibitors Dread

Universal Screen Magazine Proves to be a Magnet on Days Exhibitors Dread

Days that Exhibitors learn to dread—the dull days when the public fails to respond to the average feature or program show—can be changed to capacity days by a careful selection from the mighty specials on the Universal Program. Chief among them is a drawing card when the public doesn't seem to want dramatic subjects is the wonderfully varied selection of popular subjects grouped under the title of the Universal Screen Magazine. Here is a one-reel feature that pleases every movie patron in the land. There is something for young and old of both sexes. A great big, generous illustrated popular magazine in moving picture form. The public demands it wherever it is shown. It will draw when nothing else will. It is released every week on the regular Universal Program and may be booked separately. No matter what kind of a show you are running, you can use the U. S. M. to good advantage. Write for details of the "Universal Program" see the Moving Picture Weekly.

For Further Details of the Universal Program see the Moving Picture Weekly.
HOW TO PICK THE WINNERS

If It's on the Mighty Universal Program You Know You Ought to Book it

YOU have positive proof of the excellence—the drawing power of Universal Program pictures in the fact that it is the basis, the cornerstone, the very foundation of the largest producing organization in the industry. Such success is not built on bad pictures; on going contrary to the wants of the public—you can't fool all of the people all of the time. The Universal Program pleases more fans and brings success to more exhibitors than any other form of m. p. entertainment. No matter what form of show you are giving you have only some of the Universal releases. Don't be satisfied with merely reading the lists given here—wire or write your nearest Universal Exchange for full particulars today.

Special Releases on the Universal Program for the Week of May 21

show, to bolster up a weak feature or program. They cost you a slight advance over their pro rated rental at the complete program price, but they are worth more because of the business they will get you.

BUTTERFLY—"LIKE WILDFIRE" (Five-Reel Drama) Herbert Rawlinson and Newton Gerber.
NESTOR—"MOVING DAY" (One-Reel Comedy) Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edythe Roberts.
GOLD SEAL—"A 4-4-CALIBRE MYSTERY" (Three-Reel Western Drama) Harry Carey and Claire Du Bois.
UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY—Weekly No. 72. UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE—Issue No. 29.
JOKER—"THE BROS OF THE FAMILY" (One-Reel Comedy) Wm. Frayne and "MADAME HEARTPOWER"—"CUPID GETS SOME NEW DOPE" (Comedy Cartoon) and "NAVIGATION IN CHINA" (Dorsey Educational) (Split Reel).

Regular Releases on the Universal Program for the Week of May 21

the releases shown in the two lists.

VICTOR—"WHO SAID CHICKEN?" (One-Reel Comedy) Ernie Shields and Marcia Moore.
L-KO—"BEACH NUTS" (Two-Reel Comedy) Don Russell and Gladys Varden.
VICTOR—"MARY ANN IN SOCIETY" (One-Reel Comedy Drama) Ruth Stowhomian.
REX—"ENMASKED" (One-Reel Drama) Grace Cunard and Francis Ford.
LAEMMLE—"MONEY'S MOCKERY" (Two-Reel Society Drama) Douglas Gerrard and Francesca Billington.
BISON—"DROPPED FROM THE CLOUDS" (Two-Reel Cowboy Comedy) Ellen Sedgwick and Gypsy Hart.
LAEMMLE—"THE LIGHT OF LOVE" (One-Reel Drama) Jessie Arnold.
BIG U—"THE SMASHING STROKE" (Two-Reel War Drama) Jack Conway.

The division of specials and regulars given here is for the convenience of the Exhibitors who do "open" booking. If you are not making as much money as you should get in touch with any Universal Exchange today and ask for full particulars regarding Universal Program releases.

If you are not on the Mailing List of the Moving Picture Weekly—GET ON!

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

A THREE DAY SCOOP

Universal Animated Weekly Scores Big Beat in Big Broadway Houses

THE British War Mission met Secretary of State Lansing and party Monday, April 23. That same night the Universal Animated Weekly showed moving pictures of the event in the principal Broadway Theatres. THREE DAYS LATER a competitor used lavish newspaper space to tell the public that the same subject was "OUT TODAY." If you want the world's greatest news events first on your screen book the Universal Animated Weekly. You can't fool the people long with hack-number news weeklies. Get the best and beat your competitor every week.

LAUGH MARKET BOOMING

Universal Comedies Get the Laughs that Get the Coin

THE man, woman or child who gets a good laugh in your theatre is sure to come back for more. While the market is flooded with so-called comedies—weak imitations of a current brand of humor—there is one source from which real comedies may always be obtained—the kind that makes people come to your house every time they are advertised. Universal Comedies—Nestor. L-KO.
Presenting Herbert Rawlinson with Nova Gerber in Stuart Paton's Romance of Youth and Audacity "Like Wildfire"

Book through any UNIVERSAL Exchange
Produced by the UNIVERSAL FILM Mfg. Co.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
May 12, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

To All Exhibitors

You can secure a 3 months FREE Trial Subscription to MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY by Signing and Sending in the Coupon Below—Today

Join the tremendous throng of Exhibitors who are getting gems of knowledge, information, advice, tips, suggestions, etc., every week from MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY, sent FREE to ANY Exhibitor in the United States or Canada, Philippine Islands or other American Possessions for three months trial.

You will receive publicity matter all prepared for big productions. Plans and schemes on "How to Put Them Over." Advice and instructions for Operators on the care and use of Projection machines, enabling you to correct the present abuses in the projection of film.

You will get tips on what to book and how to book. You will learn how music arrangement increases the value of pictures. How to get the proper music. Where to get it. How to play it. You will read highly interesting news from the great world of the Motion Picture Industry.

You will get attractive publicity stories that you can clip out and use in your local newspapers. You get all this and more every week in MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY. No obligation whatsoever in sending the coupon today for a 3 months free trial subscription. Read it once and you'll never want to be without it. Costs you nothing for full 3 months. Clip the coupon, sign and send it in today to

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY
409 Pearl St., New York City

CLIP THE COUPON SIGN IT AND SEND IT IN TODAY

NO OBLIGATION WHATSOEVER IN SENDING FOR A PRES 3 MONTHS TRIAL SUBSCRIPTION

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
Chicago Pays $10,000 at Single War Film Showing

Following the announcement that Pathe, and not General, would release the output of Official War Pictures, Inc., it is stated that after a $7,000 advance sale the British War Films played the Chicago Auditorium, April 11, to a capacity house totaling $10,000 in paid admissions, and that bookings are especially heavy also in the New Orleans, Boston, Philadelphia and Omaha territories, despite the fact that only a short time has elapsed since the transfer, and all Pathe offices have not yet received prints sufficient to fill the demand.

The Chicago papers were laudatory in their criticisms. The Chicago Evening Post considered the event worthy of air editorial. The Examiner, the Herald through Richard Henry Little, dramatic editor, and Louella O. Parsons, and the Tribune all gave lengthy space to the exhibition.

Advertisement of the showing was done on a large scale, and theatres engaging the pictures immediately following the one-day Auditorium presentation took full advantage of this, placing sheets with comments by well-known people in front of their theatres.

All Pathe branch managers are enthusiastic over the demand for these war films and are arranging to present them under the auspices of big newspapers.

Silee Exchange Displaces General Feature Co.

The General Feature Film Company of Chicago will no longer trade under that name after this week. Neither will their headquarters be maintained in the Maller's Building. All the stock and office effects are being moved to the fourteenth floor of the Consumers' Building, where the business of the company will be transacted in the future by the Silee Film Exchange, recently organized and incorporated by Simeon Greiver and Le Herz, of Chicago.

Mr. Greiver was manager of the General Feature Company before going into business for himself. As a result of the merging of interests the General Feature Company loses its identity, and although the same business policy will be followed, all transactions will be made under the new corporation's name. The General Feature Company marketed Ivan and other productions. The same policy of selling and state-fighting will continue.

No Decision Reversal

Judge Cooper has denied the city authorities a new trial following the recent decision which took the "pink permit" off Fox's "Tiger Woman." It is said that Major Funkhouser and Chief Schuettler will appeal higher.

LEAKS IN THE LOOP

The executive forces of Jones, Linick and Schaefer are now quartered in their new suite of offices on the fifth floor of the Rialto Theatre Building.

The Hamburger string of theatres throughout Chicago and suburbs have signed up for all the Arbuckle comedies.

They were charging 20 cents for reserved seats at Hamburger's Albany Park theatre last week and getting it. The attraction was John Mason in "The Libertine," which is making a trip over the entire Hamburger string of houses.

Phillip Gross, Jr., of the Strand theatre, Milwaukee, and Tom Norman, manager of the Rex theatre, Racine, were visitors to L. A. Rozelle's managerial sanctuary at the World Brady offices last week.

The K. E. S. E. branch offices report to William N. Selig that the advance bookings on "The Danger Trail," featuring H. B. Warner, have exceeded all expectations.

Hazel Daly appeared in person at the Albany Park theatre last week during the showing of "Skinner's Bubble."

Jack O'Toole, manager of the Fox Chicago offices, is wearing a big smile at present. The reason: Harry Leonhardt, western general manager for Fox Film, is due back in the Windy City from the coast in a short time.

H. B. Warner, the recently acquired star of the Selig Company, is planning to enlist. After he has done his "bit," if he gets through with a clean skin, he plans to return to the Selig forces.

Space Totaling $15,000 Sold for Exhibitors' Convention

The hysteria of war has in no wise diminished the efforts or dampened the ardor of the men back of the plans and preparations for the coming seventh annual national convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, to be held at Chicago beginning July 14. Floor space for the exposition is being sold every day, and Ludwig Schindler, manager of this year's convention, is now in New York signing up more contracts.

It is expected that by the end of this week the aggregate of space sold will be near $15,000, or more. Letters are being sent from the exposition headquarters in Chicago to exhibitors and organizations all over the country, appealing to them to send delegations to the convention.

Lewis Selznick last week sent word to the Chicago headquarters that three of his stars, Clara Kimball Young, Robert War-wick and Norma Talmadge, are sure to be present at the exposition.

"Garden of Allah" Coming; Features Going Well

The film version of Robert Hichen's love story, "The Garden of Allah," will shortly be given its Chicago premiere in the loop. A special orchestration has been prepared to accompany the screening.

"Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," was warmly received by critics and fans, only Mae Tinee of the Tribune of seven critics taking an adverse stand on the picture. Adverting stunts are being arranged daily by V. L. S. E. offices, including parades of Boy Scouts and naval recruits. A recruiting station has been established in the lobby of the Ziegfeld theatre, where the picture is playing.

Clara Kimball Young's picture, "The Easiest Way," concluded its second week at the Studebaker on Sunday, while Joan the Woman" is going merrily along with crowded houses. Aaron Jones, president of Jones, Linick and Schaefer, was host to a party of 200 Boy Scouts at a showing of this picture at the Colonial last week.

Selig and Kleine Aid Women in Enlisting Efforts

Motion pictures are being resorted to with much success in recruiting activities in Chicago. Navy recruiting especially has been much stimulated during the past week, when the women's section of the Navy League arranged for the showing of special pictures every night at Grant Park. A navy band of 100 pieces furnished music at all the showings.

The pictures were donated by George Kleine and William N. Selig and taken from their own personal archives. Both Mr. Kleine and Mr. Selig attended the showings on one occasion.
Win Fight for Lower Tax in New Brunswick

The efforts of the motion picture exhibitors of Fredericton, New Brunswick, to obtain better terms in the matter of taxation than proposed by Alderman Lemont some three weeks ago met with success at a special meeting of the city council held last week. The council decided to rescind the original resolution, calling for a tax of ten cents per seat per month, and imposed a five-cent tax instead. The amendment was carried by only a five to four vote.

S. P. Hughes, attorney, appeared for the exhibitors. He quoted from the report of the Wheeler Commission, which investigated the moving picture business in New York, showing that the proprietors of the moving picture houses were making little or no profit. During the course of his plea Mr. Hughes said that if the council wished to further tax the people of the city, the moving picture business should not be made an agency for collecting taxes. Mr. Hughes also questioned the right of a city to place unlimited taxation on a business, and said that power to tax did not mean power to tax out of existence.

Two More Houses Taken Over by Minneapolis Firm

The firm of Ruben and Finkelstein, composed of two men who looked ahead when the motion picture drama was in its infancy, have just taken over the Unique and Lyric theatres on Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis, giving them control of six theatres in that city. Five of them are on Hennepin avenue, the leading film thoroughfare, and four play pictures exclusively.

The Unique and Lyric have been remodeled to conform with the artistic standard set for the firm's theatres. The Lyric, one of the old theatres, seats about 1,800 persons when the second gallery is used. The Unique was formerly the Sullivan and Considine house.

Will Modify Los Angeles Child-Attendance Ordinance

LOS ANGELES exhibitors are assured the city ordinance, providing that children under fourteen years of age can not attend a performance at a motion picture theatre unless accompanied by parents or legal guardians, will be annulled, or at least greatly modified. This is the outcome of the exhibitors' organization, known as the Motion Picture Men's Association of Southern California, appearing before the City Council on two occasions and showing the officers the recently passed ordinance to be an injustice not only to the exhibitors but exchange men, producers and everyone associated with the film industry. The ordinance as drafted by a number of Los Angeles club women was given a hearing before the public welfare committee and passed before the exhibitors learned of its existence. As soon as it became effective the exhibitors asked the council for a re-hearing on the matter, and two hearings were given. At both of these the film industry was well represented by C. R. Gates and Frank A. McDonald.

If the ordinance is repealed, another may be drafted and passed which will provide for segregation of the sexes, so that in each theatre there will be special sections for young girls and another one for boys. It may also provide that girl usherettes shall be maintained for the feminine section and boys for the other.

The campaign for the repeal of the ordinance was in charge of Charles Gates, manager of Symphony theatre, H. S. Lewis, manager of Hollywood theatre, Mike Core of the Liberty and other houses, and F. A. Patterson, who has three suburban theatres.

Rate Raise in Picture House Licenses in K. C. Expected

The upper house of the city council of Kansas City, Mo., probably will consider an ordinance soon raising the license fees for motion picture shows. This prospect is the outcome of the introduction in the lower house of an ordinance regulating licenses, which did not disturb the motion picture house license, but raised that of one theatre to an exorbitant level. It was revealed on investigation, that the raise in the license fee was alleged to be due to the refusal of the theatre to give passes to aldermen.

Part Victory for Sunday Shows

A compromise on the Sunday opening question in Elwood, Ind., was reached last week when at the request of Mayor Tunis, who favors Sabbath exhibitions, managers of the local photoplay houses announced they would in future close their theatres at seven in the evening on Sundays. The ministers have been demanding an all-day closing.

Anniversary of Mastbaum's Big Philadelphia House

The Stanley theatre, Philadelphia, which has made picture history in that city, celebrated its third anniversary last week with a bill which included Marguerite Clark in "The Valentine Girl" and Fatty Arbuckle in "The Butcher Boy." By degrees, Stanley Mastbaum, head of the Stanley theatres, has extended his motion picture interests so that he is now connected with the producing and exchange ends as well as theatres. The Stanley is, however, his pet, and he devotes his personal attention to it. The Stanley was the first Philadelphia theatre to charge twenty-five cents. This price has now been raised to thirty-five cents without any diminution of the popularity of the house.

Publicity Man to Other Fields

W. A. Bach, who originated the publicity service department of the Universal Film Company in Canada, has resigned to take an important position with M. H. Hoffman in a new film enterprise, with headquarters at New York. Mr. Bach was the originator and managing editor of the Motion Picture Bulletin, which grew from a single sheet house organ to be the only trade journal for the motion picture business in Canada. J. W. Cambridge succeeds Mr. Bach.

Buffalo F. I. L. M. Club Born

The Buffalo F. I. L. M. Club was organized in Brooklyn April 23 and W. A. Comstock appointed local manager. Charles A. Taylor, manager of Buffalo Metro branch, is authority for the statement that the organization is proving a great benefit in straightening out accounts between exchange men and exhibitors. The club will meet every Monday evening at the Statler Hotel.
Ben Blumenthal Plans Whirlwind Campaign in Foreign Market

HAVING returned from his fourth trip abroad since the outbreak of the European war, Ben Blumenthal, of the Export and Import Film Company, with headquarters at 729 Seventh avenue, New York, announces his intention of securing as many good American films for the foreign market as his money will buy.

Although an American, Mr. Blumenthal has spent fifteen years in European business, about five of which have been devoted to films. He speaks most of the Continental languages and it is said that he was the first to open wide exhibiting possibilities by introducing motion pictures in regular theatres on the Continent.

It was Mr. Blumenthal who, with an associate, secured the world’s rights to Cines’ spectacle, "Quo Vadis," following later with "Cleopatra," and again with "100 Days of Napoleon," the last of which A. H. Woods bought for the United States.

From his headquarters in Paris Mr. Blumenthal saw film possibilities sufficient not only to justify branch offices in the large cities of Europe, but he also sent representatives to Mexico, Argentine and Brazil. He acquired the entire output rights to the products of Cines and Milano.

His last trip abroad was to arrange for several great Cines productions in America, the first of which he has already sold to A. H. Woods.

Mr. Blumenthal is now negotiating for the complete outputs of a number of American manufacturers, and the Export and Import Film Co. is ready to market individual productions in Europe as well.

One Fee Admits to Two Playhouses

Beginning last week, the Mall theatre, Cleveland’s new duplex theatre, started an innovation that no other show house in the city can imitate. As a usual thing, the same pictures are run in both the upper and the lower Mall. The two theatres are entirely distinct, however, with separate entrances, one on Superior avenue, and the other on Euclid avenue, although inside they are connected by a grand staircase.

Among other things that these twin playhouses have in duplicate, is a ticket booth. One admission fee will entitle anyone to roam at will from upstairs to downstairs, or the other way about. But that isn’t all. Patrons will not only have the privilege of seeing both playhouses for the munificent sum of ten cents from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. and fifteen thereafter, but they will also have their choice of pictures, for each will show a different program.

New House Runs Features

High-class photoplays, in addition to the regular W. V. M. A. bookings of acts, will form the bills at the New Palace theatre, Superior, Mich., a $20,000 house, seating 1,200, which opened on March 26. "The Inspiration of Larrabec," a Fortune photoplay, was on the first bill.

Censors Ready—Questionable Film Men Out of Business

With the Board of Review in Kansas City now ready to inspect all pictures to be shown in the city, the ironic fact has bobbed up that those houses which got patronage through exploitation of the sensuality of films are not now in business to be restrained by the new censorship plan.

Richmond Theatre Men to Band

Since the abandonment of the exhibitors organization in Richmond, Va., two years ago, there has been no exhibitors body worth the name in that section, but plans are shaping up for the formation of such an association in the near future.

Thomas J. Farley is the enterprising organizer, and predicts that within a short time the Richmond exhibitors will get together in their interests, and form a stable association, of which, according to tentative plans of the exhibitors, he will be secretary.

One Fee Admits to Two Playhouses

Beginning last week, the Mall theatre, Cleveland’s new duplex theatre, started an innovation that no other show house in the city can imitate. As a usual thing, the same pictures are run in both the upper and the lower Mall. The two theatres are entirely distinct, however, with separate entrances, one on Superior avenue, and the other on Euclid avenue, although inside they are connected by a grand staircase.

Among other things that these twin playhouses have in duplicate, is a ticket booth. One admission fee will entitle anyone to roam at will from upstairs to downstairs, or the other way about. But that isn’t all. Patrons will not only have the privilege of seeing both playhouses for the munificent sum of ten cents from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. and fifteen thereafter, but they will also have their choice of pictures, for each will show a different program.

New House Runs Features

High-class photoplays, in addition to the regular W. V. M. A. bookings of acts, will form the bills at the New Palace theatre, Superior, Mich., a $20,000 house, seating 1,200, which opened on March 26. "The Inspiration of Larrabec," a Fortune photoplay, was on the first bill.

Hank Mann’s Bashful Eyes Insured at $50,000

The expressive eyes of Hank Mann, Fox comedian, have been insured for $50,000 by the Mid-West Accident and Indemnity company.

Generally designated as the "boy with the bashful eyes," Mr. Mann has since he joined Fox proved his ability to get laugh-making results even from a single wink of his orbs. For that reason he decided that some steps should be taken to protect his future in case of any accident to the breadwinners, and the taking out of the policy—at an unusually high premium rate—followed.

Nova Scotia Tax Measure Up for Decision

The bill providing for the imposition of a tax on the theatregoers of Nova Scotia is now in the hands of the provincial government, and it is expected that it will be dealt with very soon. Recently a delegation of theatre men conferred with a sub-committee of the committee on laws and amendments, and it now seems quite probable that the proposed law will be amended more in accordance with the wishes of the motion picture men than originally anticipated.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

C. R. Coulter, now active with the Peter Pan Film Corporation, left for Chicago last week on business bent for Motoy Pictures.

Constance Talmadge arrived in town yesterday accompanied by her mother. She has made no definite plans for the future.

Clarence Willetts, well-known theatrical and film man, has joined the Arrow Film Corporation as special representative, and at present making a tour of the South, will return to New York within a few days.
By LONGACRE

JUST FOR FUN

Plaintly speaking, putting Hell on the screen is a devilish business. Fire and brimstone and a flock of tin-horned folk with bodies greased and polished specially for the occasion usually constitute the producer's idea of the regions below. Above all the portion of the film picture he must be perfected red. Whether such scenes convince the picture fan we don't know for sure. At any rate the patron of the higher class picture house is more inclined to laugh than to gape at them. After all Hell is more or less of a state of mind and is to many, an exploded reality save in Billy Sunday's preachings. Personally we don't think a producer should ever attempt to picture it. Its realism might be questioned and the reviewer is, by reason of long suffering, tempted to describe it as realistic and so get himself into trouble. And what would an audience say, we ask, if someone undertook to stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege to ward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

LOCAL NEWS

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.

Bill Barry went around last week disguised under a heavy cloak. He secured a picture for the Keen's stage Heaven? St. Peter and his staff of assistants come to life on the screen would turn accusations of sacrilege toward the producer. It would seem better if both these foibles were left forever out of pictures.
Among the Exchanges

Rapid and Startling Shifts in Omaha Exchanges

Within the last month the exchange pot in Omaha, Neb., has been boiling over, with the result that every branch, except that of the World Film, where Harry Heyman sits; the Fox, where Joe Stearns still presides; and the Bluebird, with J. H. Calvert as chief, has a new manager.

Here are some of the changes, briefly:

F. A. Van Huisen, formerly manager of the Laemmle and later head of the Western Supply Company, has returned as manager of the exchange. Jake Mitchell, who served during his absence, is still with him in an executive capacity. George Rogers, former assistant manager, is now manager of the Supply Company.

J. H. Kirk has been succeeded as manager of the Pathe Exchange by A. H. Holah. Mr. Kirk is now the manager of the Fontenelle Feature Film Company, dealers in a number of state rights pictures.

Twenty-eight charter members representing every film exchange were enrolled. It is expected this number will be increased, with the result that the organization's purpose—betterment of the film industry, especially through fellowship and higher standards amongst the salesmen—will be carried out.

At the second meeting of Philadelphia Film Salesmen on April 21, held through the courtesy of Local 307, I. A. T. S. E., at the latter's headquarters, the name finally decided on was The Philadelphia Motion Picture Salesmen's Association.

The officers elected for three months are: S. T. Ford of Bluebird, president; L. L. Berman of Pathe, vice-president; C. V. Martin of Pathe, secretary-treasurer.

R. C. Herman has succeeded L. A. Getzler as manager of the Mutual Exchange. Mr. Herman was manager of the Sioux Falls, S. D. branch, which has been discontinued. Mr. Getzler is now with the Vitagraph Company out of Omaha.

Manager J. W. Taylor of the General Exchange is now general sales manager over a number of exchanges and Jules Rachman, his assistant manager, has succeeded him.

Denham Palmer, likable young manager of the Vitagraph Exchange, died following a brief illness from pneumonia. H. J. Bayley was brought from Cleveland to take his place.

All these new managers have been traveling over the city and the territory to familiarize themselves with the trade. They are all highly enthusiastic, looking for the best spring business the Omaha exchanges ever enjoyed.

Promotion in Vita Branch

George Balsdon, Jr., manager of the St. Louis Exchange, has advanced E. I. Reed from booker to a position on the St. Louis Branch's sales force. Mr. Balsdon has also acquired the service of Frederick Ford, who will cover the territory formerly handled by E. T. McBride, which includes the St. Louis portions of Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Handling Art Dramas in West

Sol Lesser, who distributes Art Dramas Program for California, Arizona and Nevada, has appointed Charles J. Luntz as manager of this program for his territory.

New Homes of Phila. Branches

Mutual Film Corporation have taken the entire second floor of the Jarvis Film building, 1219-1223 Vine street, Phila. As soon as furnishings and decorations are completed early in May, the move will be made.

Metro Pictures Philadelphia Exchange has established itself in its new home, 1329 Vine street, its growth having necessitated larger quarters.

The Philadelphia Film Exchange, one of the branches of the Interstate Films Company, is another Quaker City exchange just moved. This branch is now housed at 1304-6 Vine street, with the Eagle Projection Company branch.

The Bluebird and Red Feather releases with all other Universal Pictures are now under one roof, the whole building being occupied by the Interstate activities. This was made necessary by increased business.

Activity in World's Kansas City Branch

E. C. Jensen, Western division manager of the World Film Corporation has been in Kansas City recomorganizing the territory. W. E. Truog, recently doing special work for the World in the East, has been made manager; and three other World men have been brought here to increase the traveling force. They are W. G. Carter of Omaha, N. Moray of Phila., and Nat Barach.

Continental Shift

Boyd Cunningham, Philadelphia, manager for Artcraft Pictures has been swapped with H. C. Roanbaum, Seattle Artcraft manager. While the two gentlemen are each crossing the continent to take up their new duties, the Philadelphia office is in charge of R. E. Barron, formerly assistant manager at Boston.

Preparedness Film in Boston

"How Uncle Sam Prepares," a film which was produced under United States military supervision and handled by the Hanover Film Company, of New York City, opened in Boston at the Tremont Temple on Monday evening, April 16.
THE EASTERN STUDIOS

ONE hundred girls at the Metro-Rolfe and Metro-Columbia Studios have formed a Woman's Home Defense League, and are hard at work each day drilling in regulation style. All have their khaki uniforms, and have reached a point where they can go through the manual of arms in fine style. Ethel Barrymore, Emmy Wehlen, Mabel Taliaferro, Viola Dana and Mrs. Sidney Drew are patroettes of the League.

VIOLA DANA, Metro's popular star, has begun work at the Metro-Columbia Studios on her next feature production "Aladdin's Other Lamp," an elaboration of Willard Mack's playlet "The Dream Girl." John H. Collins is directing the production which will be in five parts.

Miss Dana is seen in the part of a drudge in a boarding house in a sea-coast village. She finally finds her "Aladdin's Lamp" in true love.

Augustus Phillips, Robert Walker, Henry Hallam and Ricca Allen are important members of the cast.

RUMOR has it that the drag net of the motion picture on its constant search for new talent has been active at the studios. Miss Morrison's beauty is of the type particularly adaptable to the screen.

HAVING completed the Egyptian desert scenes in "The Undying Flame" which will mark her first appearance as a Lasky-Paramount star, Madame Petrova and her company leave St. Augustine, Fla., this week and return to the Fort Lee Studios.

ONE hundred girls at the Metro-Rolfe and Metro-Columbia Studios have formed a Woman's Home Defense League, and are hard at work each day drilling in regulation style. All have their khaki uniforms, and have reached a point where they can go through the manual of arms in fine style. Ethel Barrymore, Emmy Wehlen, Mabel Taliaferro, Viola Dana and Mrs. Sidney Drew are patroettes of the League.

Marie Morrison

Only three months ago Miss Adams, inexperienced, secured an engagement with the Edison company, because of her unusual attractive personality and beauty. Her quick rise is a rarity, almost without precedent in the picture world, where overnight jumps to fame are the exception and not the rule.

Miss Adams has already played leading roles in a number of productions that have been made for the Conquest Program, and trial runs of these subjects reveal, according to the company's executives that they have discovered a star of magnitude.

THE debut of a new Edison star, Peggy Adams, who at eighteen finds herself a leading lady, will be made shortly in a release to be offered on a Conquest Pictures Program.

Report early in the morning, and armed with hoe, rakes and spades do their gardening.

FOR the first time in memory, and for that matter the first time in history so far as can be ascertained, the tower clock in Trinity Church, New York, was wrong—purposely so.

The hands were turned back for a half hour for the filming of some scenes in "The Mystic Hour," an Apollo-Art Drama starring Anna Hanlon. Several times in the action of the picture the clock is shown, once with the hands at midnight. Director Poirier had his players west downtown shortly before noon, and then it started to rain. At two o'clock when the sun came out permission was gotten from church authorities and passers-by saw the hands of the clock spin around to the twelve dial.

VITAGRAPH's new Production Manager, Mr. Roosevelt, who takes the place of William F. S. Earle, now a director, has installed a novel device at the studios. A large board has been placed, running the entire length of Mr. Roosevelt's office and, at a glance he can tell just what director is working; the name of his production; the members of the cast, including both stars and extras; the studio or location where the day's work is being done; and how many more days will be needed for completion of the production.

DIRECTOR PAUL SCARDON who has directed Earl Williams' recent efforts in Vitagraph features has started work on a five-reel drama soon to be released entitled "A Meddler with Destiny," Corinne Griffith and her husband, Webster Campbell, who recently came East, will be seen with Mr. Williams.

FULLY equipped with every modern facility for making pictures, the Triangle Studio at Yonkers, is now running at full capacity. Two companies under Directors Arthur Rosson and Albert Parker, and supervised by Allan Dwan are working. Elda Millar and Winifred Allen are being featured in forthcoming releases.

Joseph Kilgour, another well-known player is the "heavy" in "Her Excellency, the Governor," filming of which is well under way.

VALESKA SURATT has presented an American flag to William Nigh's company of Fox Volunteers which was organized at the Fox Fort Lee, N. J., Studios, when war was declared with Germany.

This is but the star's first step, however. As soon as the company ensists either for home or foreign service, Miss Suratt will give each man a comfort kit and a goodly supply of tobacco. For, while the Empress of Fashion has not yet come to knitting socks for the soldier boys, she will see that they do not go into service unshod.
IN AND OUT OF WEST COAST STUDIOS

By J. C. JESSEN

With the completion of "Madame Butterfly" this week, production ceased at the Fine Arts Studio, which is the property of the Majestic and Reliance Film Company. This film, which stars Seena Owen, was made under the direction of Chester Withey, whose contract with the company continues until June. He will probably continue production at the studios at Culver City.

This studio was opened by D. W. Griffith early in 1914 when the first Reliance and Majestic companies came to the coast. At this place, Mr. Griffith made all the interiors and many of the exteriors for his big success "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance," in addition to filming several smaller subjects.

Preparatory to converting the former plant into a strictly commercial studio, the property has been partly dismantled, many of the effects being taken to the Culver City studios.

Frank E. Woods, who has been manager of production, will be at the studio probably a week more supervising the editing and titling of this late picture. Following that he will take the vacation he has been promising himself for more than a year. The staff that remains with Mr. Wood to close the production work consists of E. C. Bidwell, his secretary; Mary H. O'Conner, scenario editor; Della Conley, film editor, and several others. The film factory will continue in operation only until prints for this subject are completed.

Sufficient material, including props, stock sets, artificial lighting devices and laboratory equipment, will be retained at the studio, so that it may be rented as a commercial plant to companies desiring to film one or more pictures.

The second street represents a New Hampshire town view with an atmosphere of the days of Pearce and Webster, and is the favorite romping place of Charles Ray, who is now wearing mail order clothes. Marjory Wilson plays the opposite lead, and the principals of the supporting cast are Charles K. French and Lydia Knott. This comedy drama is being filmed under the direction of Victor Schertzinger, with photography by Paul Engler.

Walter Edwards has the cast for his new subject, which is a drama from the pens of John Lynch and J. G. Hawks. William Desmond and Mildred Harris play the leads, with Robert McKim, Gloria Hope and Roland Lee in the supporting cast.

If Raymond B. West keeps the gymnasium set now occupying one of the Ince stages up for a week or two longer, this studio will turn forth a big class of athletes. There is hardly a minute in the day when some member of the Ince staff cannot be found "getting into shape" on the rings, bars or with the rowing device. This is being used for scenes in the gymnasium of a girls' school in a play starring Olive Thomas. A bevy of girls in gym suits take part in many of the scenes. Charles Gunn, Jack Livingston, Agnes Herrin, Dorcas Matthews and Mary MacLvor are members of the cast.

William S. Hart and his troop of thirty, including Sylvia Bremer and Alma Rubens, arrived home this week from Santa Cruz, after spending more than a week in the big country along the coast. All the exteriors for this picture were made in the north, and interior settings for the subject are now ready for filming at the Culver City studios.

Roy Neill is engaged in directing an "Enid Bennett-Ince" picture, which requires a large number of old soldiers in important character parts. Many of the scenes for these were made at the Federal soldiers home at Sawtelle, Cal.

The Signal Film Company, producing organization, including Helen Holmes, J. P. McGowan and eighteen other members, departed last week for San Francisco, where they will remain a week making scenes for the tenth episode of "The Railroad Raiders," which will be known under the installment title of "Watery Grave." Plans were made by the director and producer to secure a number of box cars from a Pacific Coast railroad which will be used in scenes made in the northern city.

Upon the completion of these scenes the Signal Company will return to Los Angeles and then by boat will go to and from San Diego, making scenes en route. The trip completed, the company's private Pullman car will be ready for occupancy, and the company will leave on several tours, their destination not having been announced at this time.

In order to facilitate matters, the company's private car "Signal" has been equipped with a complete laboratory and cutting room under the supervision of Orrin Denny, superintendent of the laboratories. A folding screen will also be a part of the equipment, together with a small recording machine. This will make possible the completion of films while en route. The scenes will not only be taken, but all developing, printing and cutting and finishing will be done in the movable laboratory. It is understood that plans made by Producer J. P. McGowan with President S. S. Hutchinson and John R. Freuler while they were on the coast provide the company will make a number of long trips following the completion of "The Railroad Raiders."

The new dramatic stage at the Fox Studio has been completed, and now measures 100 x 360 feet. This is one of the largest on the west coast, and is sufficient to accommodate practically all of the dramatic companies working at the studio at one time.

Another change made at the Fox plant is the moving of the comedy and scenario departments together with that of the publicity organization to a California bungalow which stands on the land recently acquired by the William Fox organization. The second floor will be taken up with the comedy and scenario departments, giving a large room for a stemographic department. The second floor will be utilized by the publicity department in charge of A. B. Bernd.

The cast for the coming Dustin Farnum subject being made under the direction of Fred A. Kelsey. Another western of two reel length is "The Heart of a Man," which is holding the attention of Director George E. Marshall, who has Janet Eastman as the lead.

"The Voice on the Wire" company is at work on its last episode, and the new serial organization making the "Mystery of the Gray Ghost," adapted from the novel "Loot," has reached its second episode. Harry Carter and Priscilla Dean are the principals, and the supporting players are Eddie Polo and Emory Johnson.

Lyman Reynolds, at Santa Cruz Islands, off the coast of Santa Barbara, with Myrtle Gonzalez, George Hernandez, Jean Hersholt, and other players, making scenes for "Into the Primitive." It was on these islands that Henry Otto made the beautiful scenic subject "Undine," and the Universal is expecting some wonderful effects from Mr. Reynolds and his photographer, Clyde Cook.

"The Clean-Up," with Franklyn Farnum and "Brownie" Vernon; "Vengeance of the West," with Dorothy Phillips, "Brownie" Vernon; "Vengeance of the West," with Dorothy Phillips, are other five reel pictures in the making.

Fred Palmer has been placed in charge of preparing all scenarios for Nestor comedies, and the company is now filming "Jilted in Jail," with the usual cast of Eddie, Lee and Edith.

A "Red Sapphire" and "A Young ignorance," for titles of Joker Comedies being made.

As the result of the visit of President Albert E. Smith of the Hollywood Vitagraph Studio, plans for the improvement of the plant were made. Already it has been definitely decided that a new administration building shall be erected at once, and the entire grounds, consisting of nine acres, will be enclosed by a high board fence. The work will be done under the supervision of Studio Manager W. S. Smith.

A few more days will be needed for the filming of the remaining scenes of the five reel Vitagraph subject "The Lady Sheriff," which has Mary Anderson and Antonio Moreno as leads. While working in this Moreno is also making a number of scenes which are to be used in the first subject in which he will appear, his return to the Vitagraph Studio in the east. Only the western scenes of this photoplay are to be made prior to Moreno's departure.

THE producing staff of the Bernstein Studio has completed the first picture for "the clean-minded," "Who Knows!" and while the editing department is doing this the organization has taken up the making of the first of the seven cardinal virtues entitled "Humanity," in which Betty Brice and Murdock MacQuarrie are co-stars. This will be completed by the middle of May, and released under the slogan of "pictures for the clean-minded." The scenario is by Rosalie Ashton and Beatrice Morse, and it has been rewritten in novel form and sold to Harpers for early publication. Jack Pratt will be in charge of the direction and Arthur Powelson will be in charge of the camera.

May 12, 1917

DIRECTOR HENRY McCRAE is at work on a western subject "The Hold-Up Man," with Eileen Sedgwick and Kingsley Benedict; and Harry Carey is being featured in "The Texas Sphinx," being made under the direction of Fred A. Kelsey. Another western of two reel length is "The Heart of a Man," which is holding the attention of Director George E. Marshall, who has Janet Eastman as the lead.

"The Voice on the Wire" company is at work on its last episode, and the new serial organization making the "Mystery of the Gray Ghost," adapted from the novel "Loot," has reached its second episode. Harry Carter and Priscilla Dean are the principals, and the supporting players are Eddie Polo and Emory Johnson.

Lyman Reynolds, at Santa Cruz Islands, off the coast of Santa Barbara, with Myrtle Gonzalez, George Hernandez, Jean Hersholt, and other players, making scenes for "Into the Primitive." It was on these islands that Henry Otto made the beautiful scenic subject "Undine," and the Universal is expecting some wonderful effects from Mr. Reynolds and his photographer, Clyde Cook.

"The Clean-Up," with Franklyn Farnum and "Brownie" Vernon; "Vengeance of the West," with Dorothy Phillips, "Brownie" Vernon; "Vengeance of the West," with Dorothy Phillips, are other five reel pictures in the making.

Fred Palmer has been placed in charge of preparing all scenarios for Nestor comedies, and the company is now filming "Jilted in Jail," with the usual cast of Eddie, Lee and Edith.

A "Red Sapphire" and "A Young ignorance," for titles of Joker Comedies being made.

As the result of the visit of President Albert E. Smith of the Hollywood Vitagraph Studio, plans for the improvement of the plant were made. Already it has been definitely decided that a new administration building shall be erected at once, and the entire grounds, consisting of nine acres, will be enclosed by a high board fence. The work will be done under the supervision of Studio Manager W. S. Smith.

A few more days will be needed for the filming of the remaining scenes of the five reel Vitagraph subject "The Lady Sheriff," which has Mary Anderson and Antonio Moreno as leads. While working in this Moreno is also making a number of scenes which are to be used in the first subject in which he will appear, his return to the Vitagraph Studio in the east. Only the western scenes of this photoplay are to be made prior to Moreno's departure.

MANY pretty girls and escorts, a horde of waiters and a magnificent setting showing the interior of a high-class cafe are part of the features of the Christie comedy, now in making and known as "Working His Way." It is the tale of a gifted youth being sent into the cold, cruel world to earn his way. The only job he can get is that of a waiter, and to hold this he disguises himself behind much crepe hair. The first patrons at his table happen to be his sweetheart and rival. By the aid of a substitute, the wine bill is rapidly increased, and he is given the opportunity of coming to the girl's rescue when her escort is pinched. His heroism brings about a reconciliation with his father. Al. E. Christie is in charge of the filming. Neal Barron, Betty Compson and Eddie Barry are the principals.

A number of new players are to be seen in coming Fox releases. Among these are Raymond Nye, who was featured in a number of Universal subjects, and later played with the International in "Patria." It is also announced that Bert Weisberger has been added to the Fox stock organization.

SIX new dramatic subjects were put into production at Universal City last week, four of this number being five reel ones. In addition to this number, all three comedy companies are making new one reel length subjects. The Brand Whitlock story, "The Field of Honor," has been entrusted to the making of Allen J. Holubar, who will play lead in the picture. Opposite will be Louise Lovely. This subject is said to offer out-of-the-average opportunities for one of this length, and already a number of new scenic and effects have been planned that will add to its attractiveness. The story itself is an absoirstingly interesting one.

Plans made recently concerning Ruth Stonehouse, playing lead in comedy dramas made by Director Louis Chaudet, were side-tracked and Mr. Chaudet early last week took up the filming of a three reel Decoration Day story which has Mignon Anderson and Roy Stewart for leads. Other in the cast are Charles Mailes and J. Morris Foster.

Jack Conway has "Little Miss Fixit" in production. This will have Ella Hall as star, the subject being especially written for her.

Plans made recently concerning Ruth Stonehouse, playing lead in comedy dramas made by Director Louis Chaudet, were side-tracked and Mr. Chaudet early last week took up the filming of a three reel Decoration Day story which has Mignon Anderson and Roy Stewart for leads. Other in the cast are Charles Mailes and J. Morris Foster.

Jack Conway has "Little Miss Fixit" in production. This will have Ella Hall as star, the subject being especially written for her.

Molly Malone, who has appeared in Universal films for the past year, featured in many subjects, is to be starred in a five reel subject, entitled "The Imposter," which is now in the making.

Mme. Ferrova in 'Two Scenes from "The Soul of a Magdalen",' a Metro-Popular Plays and Players

CRAINE WILBUR and his co-director are at work on a semi-war picture, which is from a story by Wilbur and will consist of five reels. The cast selected for Wilbur includes Kay Thompson, Ruth King, Julia Jackson, Don Bailey, Joe Hazeltine, Code Mumilay and Jean Crosby, will play the feminine lead. The camera work is in charge of Bobby Turnbull.

A five room bungalow is in the course of construction at the David Horsley studios, which is to be occupied by General Manager Norman Manning and his bride. A location for the newlyweds was selected at the studio to insure that the bride would at least be able to see her husband once or twice a day, because his past habits have proven that he devotes all his time to business. It is a standing joke in the film colony that he postponed getting married a long time because he could not find time to slip up to the clerk's office and get the necessary license.

The David Horsley Cub Comedy, completed and shipped this week for release by the Mutual, May 10, is entitled "Jerry's Picnic." George Ovey continues as the featured comedian, and Claire Alexander, George George and the other funny people of this organization who have worked so well under the direction of Milton Fahrney.

News of the death of Melville Ellis April 4th came as a shock to his many friends of the film colony, especially the Lasky plant, where he was engaged to play incidental music during the filming of the Farrar "Carmen."
THE Harold Lockwood-Yorke Metro Company, numbering about twenty in all, sailed last Saturday for San Francisco, where they will spend several days filming scenes for "The Haunted Pajamas." En route a number of scenes will be made on the steamer, and a number of locations in the famous Golden Gate Park will be used. Upon the return the company will go to San Mateo, where they will take scenes on the peninsula.

Carmel Meyers, who was selected from a number of girls playing at Fine Arts Studio to star in subjects made there, has been engaged by the Metro-Melville company to head their studio. This leads opposite Harold Lockwood in the coming film version of Crompton Terry Elliott's story, "The Haunted Pajamas," which is now being made. The story is spoken of as a clever women's comedy, and gives Miss Meyer the role of Frances Kirkland, who falls in love with Lockwood, who appears as Richard Hudson through the agency of the title mentioned wearing apparel.

ANNOUNCEMENT comes from the Balboa studio that a number of new faces are shortly to be seen there, and that house cleaning has been in process.

A new story is in preparation by Will Mack and Joe Cofis for Balboa's new baby player, Gloria Joy.

It is announced that following the completion of the picture sometime in May, Jackie Saunders will depart for the east, where she will spend a long vacation. Plans have been made for a film battle between a sea monster and men who will take part in the serial "The Twisted Thread." This submarine battle is to be staged in a large tank recently completed at the Balboa Studio.

Assistant Director Harry MacPherson and Patricia Benson, of the Balboa studio, stole a march with Cupid this week and were secretly married.

PRACTICALLY all of the Paramount Producing companies are absent from their respective studios, and the two plants in Hollywood are being run by George List and Morris Silverman.

Just because an engraved invitation was sent to HOOKUM office, the editor decided to honor the William Fox plant by giving it the North and South, as well as the East and West.

The film city that Abe Davis built amid the groans of our esthetic citizens growling because their residential section was being injured, is locked up. Dick Stanton's aeroplane are to be seen.

A 300 foot stage was lined up with sets as we were led away to heaven by Aaron Bernd. This much sought convenience, j' es indeed. Concrete walks, pavings, hot dog wagons, slot machine telephones, street cars and butcher's shops, with an all-night illumination, and Dick Stapp's aeroplane are待 for the angels.

Frank Reicher is enjoying a three weeks' vacation, following the completion of all scenes and the editing of the Margaret Ulington photoplay. Miss Ulington recently departed for New York.

Harry Harvey is said to be the only man in the film colony who has a medal of honor awarded by Congress, as he is the only man in the film colony who was wounded in the Service. Isadore Bernstein is flitting about in a modest little Romer of the color of Swiss cheese. It has all the conveniences of home cooking, and a very nice cigar lighter with a place for at mosaic, with a stick of dynamite and a stick of blasting powder.

It was realistic even to the swish of the waves made by a barrel of water. C. Parrot had his comedians con- vorting in the tar 'em up laundry wagon, but we could not see Raoul Walsh doing a double exposure butcher's wagon. The dogger said he had George Walsh jumping through a hoop. Hank Mann, the day before put on a tobacco chew- ing scene, and was off on this day to get his mustard laundered.

A 300 foot stage was lined up with sets as we were led away to heaven by Aaron Bernd. This much sought place we learned is the publicity department, named heaven for two reasons — pre- sided over by an angel and the producing plant. At the portals were many we knew including Jack Glavey, Ben Cohn, F. McGrew Willis, C. B. Clapp, all writers who had long faces as though of much waiting. Technical Director George Grenier was building a stair- way up the outside, and little Eva Jim Marcus was waiting for heavier piano wires that would make the suspension. Bert Grassy was sure there was no chance for a heavy. While they all waited, we were ushered in.

Madame Schuman-Heink, who has adopted Uxbridge as her home, spent a few days there this week. She takes her violin and goes in Washington to play before Congress.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Hal Lockwood has discovered that his scenario writer can get all kinds of inspirations if he spins a yarn about amongst the film colony.

At a studio where they are making "The Twisted Thread," a golden thread has been added to the plot.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At a studio they are singing "Someone's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Hal Lockwood has discovered that his scenario writer can get all kinds of inspirations if he spins a yarn about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.

Bessie Barriscale is having her vacation. Is it fall in love? Is she spending the time at a well known California hotel?

George Irving, who has been hailed a genius for his production of "A Man's Man," is highly interested about amongst the film colony.

At one studio they are singing "Somebody's Coming to Our House," and baby clothes were discovered in a star's dressing room.
SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

“Treason”
(Bluebird—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

“TREASON” is a war picture with any number of highly exciting battle scenes. These are produced after a theatrical fashion, yet there is never a time that they will fail to reach the emotional fan. Even a huge howitzer is introduced, and the proverbial bombs bursting in the air are never lacking. The picture was produced with the evident idea of calling the locale Europe and the opposing forces French and German. The uniforms and the helmets of the soldiers testify to that. Yet this has not been carried out in the subtleties. Just why Bluebird chose to designate the French as “Statirians” is not altogether clear.

The story of “Treason” is rich in suspense. Such a property is the natural outcome of casting the hero as a trench telegraph operator and incessantly jeopardizing his life. There is also a good heart interest vein when, after the battle, Petrus, the victim of scheming, is degraded despite all his heroic deeds. Then back comes the tension when he wavers and sells a secret telegraph code to an enemy spy. There is an automobile chase and the speedometers register fifty and sixty miles per hour. The jump that Petrus takes to the spy’s car is a thrilling one, and the subsequent smashup is done well. Robert Lee Weigert did both story and scenario.

The picture has been exceedingly well produced by Allen Holubar, who also gives a good performance as Petrus. The supporting cast is capable. The photography is practically flawless.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Petrus Baariot (Allen Holubar) is assigned to duty as a telegraph operator on the firing line, thus incurring the enmity of Rysson (Edward Pien), his superior in the office. Petrus heroically distinguishes himself on the front, and as a result Statiria wins a great battle. Petrus, after his discharge from the hospital, goes back into the home telegraph service and is cruelly humbled by Rysson, who has now become his rival for the hand of Floria (Lois Wilson). Resentful, Petrus gives away his government’s code to a spy (George Pearce), but, relenting and his patriotism aroused by Floria’s father (Joseph Girard), he gives chase to the spy and, though risking his life again, regains the papers. Eventually he is well rewarded by both the government and Floria.

Dorothy Davenport, Leo Pierson, Burton Law and L. M. Wells are others.

“God’s Law and Man’s”
(Metro—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

FOR exotic warmth of “close to nature” romance, we refer all comers to this production. Miss Dana evidently puts her whole heart and soul to reclaiming her “Husbain Chudie,” and we have no suggestions to make how she could have done it better. In fact, some of the regular vamps would do well to “watch their step” if Miss Dana should consent to do vamp roles.

All of which means that Miss Dana gives a sweet portrayal of a little Indian half-white girl who is saved from worse than death by a white “prince,” whom she in turn saves from being sacrificed at home to a loveless marriage.

It is a strong drama story from Paul Trent’s story, “A Wife by Purchase,” and we commend highly John Collins’ direction. The “baby talk” titles between Amea and members of her native family, which introduce Amea, are, of course, ridiculous, it being impossible to conceive her using broken English to her own people, but such thoughtlessness as this is hardly to be credited to the direction. There are only two of these, as we remember it, the later titles being fitting, as she is then talking to her English friends.

The fox hunt scenes are worthy of special featuring by all who run this picture.
MISSION PICTURE NEWS

_Vol. 15. No. 19_

Miss Dana's interpretation of a native dance is the most graceful performance we have ever seen in pictures. It will help endear her to audiences for months to come. In fact, it would seem as if Miss Dana has made a great step toward popularity in this picture.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Claude Drummond (Robert Walker), younger son of the Earl of Hetherington (George A. Wrisley), finds life in India a bore until Ameia, escaping from a sacrifice to the licentious Hindoo priests, seeks his protection. To claim her from the priests he is forced to marry her, and then he receives notice of the death of his brother and his inheritance of the title.

Returning to England, he finds a marriage arranged for him with Olive Dennison (Marie Dallow), daughter of an old friend of his father’s. Money considerations prompt this betrothal, and Olive, besides, loves Major Dennison (Frank Currier). When Major Dennison returns to England with Ameia, Claude finds how impossible the English marriage is, and Olive’s father recognizes from a ring on her finger that Ameia is his own daughter by an Indian marriage.

"The Auction of Virtue"

(U.S. Amusement-Art Dramas—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

CONSISTING of a well-worn plot and containing a number of situations of equal conventionality, “The Auction of Virtue” appears to something below moderate advantage. The story, by Joseph Poland, portrays at great length and in great detail the quandary in which Phyllis, forced to choose between the easiest way and the prospect of an impure marriage, finds herself. Of course, virtue triumphs in the end. The actual auctioning of virtue, originally it seems, the author’s main situation is dragged in rather unceremoniously. Phyllis, after selling the blind artist’s curios under the hammer, sets herself up for sale just as a joke. The bids are high. “A house on the drive,” “A house on the drive with an automobile,” “A house on the drive with money,” and “A house on the drive with love” are some of the things she receives. The joke progresses too far and Phyllis calls it off. In a certain sense the scenario writer has failed to hitch this episode up with the main action to a unified degree. Indeed, the sole reason for stretching the story out to six reels evidently resulted from a lack of compactness in the script. The scenes and settings are generally appropriate and the cast, headed by Naomi Childers, pleases but never waxes brilliant. There is a good bit of nice comedy furnished by Leslie Austin. The Blaches’ direction is not as fine as their usual work. One catches a detail here and there that was neglected. The punch is lacking, too, but then a director cannot put a punch in a punchless story every time.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

After the death of Major Dennison, Phyllis (Naomi Childers) becomes an artist’s model, posing usually for the resident of Washington Square. When he proposes she refuses because of his poverty. This makes him work all the harder, and eventually results in the temporary loss of his eyesight. Phyllis is courted by Kirke (Wyndham Standing), a married man, who claims there is no love in his home. The girl finally turns his proposition down, realizing its wickedness and being influenced by Claire (Evelyn Dumo), one of the women who knows Kirke. Kirke, however, is dissatisfied with her refusal, and follows her to the studio, there attacking her. Jerry, to save her, takes those bandages from his eyes and throws the intruder out. The doctor has previously told him that he will remain blind for life if he removes the bandages within a certain time. But his recovery was already complete, and so Phyllis turns down her desire for money for true love.

Kirke Brown and Mrs. Miller have smaller roles.

Two Educational

("Florida to Louisiana"—One Reel. "The Larger Birds"—One Reel)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

_Florida to Louisiana_" is the second of Robert Bruce’s new series of travelogues and contains a wide variety of scenes. There are muddy roads, pretty landscapes, a carnival celebration in one of the larger cities, and many interesting flashes of Southern life. Mr. Bruce still continues to look at the various predilections in which he finds himself with a sense of humor that shows up to fine advantage by way of the subtitles.

"The Larger Birds" is a Ditmars subject, the feature of which is the spectacle of a peacock spreading its monstrous tail feathers. Other birds, including the ostrich and wild turkey, are shown and interesting facts related concerning each species.

"The Danger Trail"

(Elgin-K-E-S-E—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

A DEEPLY interesting book, with every promise of making in pictures a strongly dramatic story, Oliver Curwood’s masterpiece, put into film just “a picture.” It should have been a far better than ordinary picture, for H. B. Warner, Violet Heming and W. Lawson Butt bring out some fine individual scenes, and the white trails and the dog-teams give an out-of-doors atmosphere unsurpassed in winter beauty.

Yet important elements of the building up of the psychology which makes the book a masterpiece are entirely lacking in the picture, and seeming confusion of plot is noticeable. At several points a critical analysis shows a failure to appreciate the necessity of giving an audience at least half a chance to believe possible what is pictured.

The half-breed, Jean Croisset, as played by Mr. Butt, is a splendid character, and the fight between Jean and the hero is well done. Mr. Warner takes his turn in the real acting near the close, when he is expecting a death shot from any one of four walls of the cabin. "The Danger Trail" could have been one of the big plays of the year, but for the obviously half-hearted direction of all but the most important scenes. Depending upon one or two big “punches” to carry a play over confusing and incomplete connecting scenes won’t do today.

We must class this as an average program release, in spite of good plot material, fine individual scenes, and a wonderful cast.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

In a tragedy of the frozen North, the mother of Pierre (Arthur Donaldson), Max (Richard Thornton), Francois (Arthur Cozine), and Meleece Thureau (Violet Heming), was assaulted and as a result died at the hands of the father of one John Howland. Meleece meets and loves John Howland (H. B. Warner) in an Alaskan restaurant, and saves him again and again from the threatened vengeance of her three brothers.

Jean Croisset (W. Lawson Butt), a half-bred, at her direction tries to hide Howland in a deserted cabin, but the two are discovered and Croisset is ordered as a punishment to be Howland’s executioner. He refuses to commit this murder and the brothers are about to take vengeance into their own hands when it is discovered another John Howland is the man they wanted, and he has died in prison letting a Desmond of guilt.

"The Woman and the Beast"

(U.S. Amusement-Art Dramas—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"The Woman and the Beast," written by Emmet A. Mixx and directed by Frederick Warde, offers the story of an Italian whose docile temperament displeases his wife, and who awakes to action at last when his step-child has been injured by a lion. He seeks the beast to kill it, and unknowingly kills the villain along with it. The introduction of the lion may have the desired effect of producing a thrill or two, providing an-dience is willing to overlook the rather apparent tameness of the old monarch of the jungle. However, animals are usually employed to awaken the audience’s fear for the human players, and as none of the latter appear in the same scene with the lion, the purpose of the novelty is not exactly accomplished.

Mr. Warde has gotten a good atmosphere for his picture. The story has to do with poor Italian folk from start to finish. There is no villainous rich man, which is a praiseworthy omission. Life in an Italian quarter is faithfully reproduced by carefully selected locations and types. But on the whole “The Woman and the Beast” seems to lack sufficient clash of character and principle. The story is a little too trite for five reels and molded merely for a chance to introduce the lion and to use the title.

Marie Shotwell does good work as Rosa, and her support, selected from Thanhouser stock, is admirable. Little Tula Belle as the youngster will no doubt provoke ah’s and oh’s by her clever performance.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

John (Fred Eric) enters an Italian village. He courts Rosa (Marie Shotwell), a widow, and she finally accepts him in preference to a bribe of a man. Big Frank (Alphonse Ethier). After

Marie Shotwell does good work as Rosa; and her support, selected from Thanhouser stock, is admirable. Little Tula Belle as the youngster will no doubt provoke ah’s and oh’s by her clever performance.

The Sight of the Injured Man Awakes a Fear in Rosa

“A Reckless Romeo”

From the pace set by his first Paramount comedy, and the rumors of stunts up his sleeve, we had expected Fatty to start us into a scream with the first scene in “A Reckless Romeo” and leave us gasping for breath at the finish. By comparison with Fatty’s so recent previous work, however, the present release lacks the full “yard wide” in several spots. But do not by any means judge from this statement that “A Reckless Romeo” has not its lively spots and an abundance of sublime humor. Fatty in the Park proves himself to be indeed a “Reckless Romeo,” and the touch of having Fatty go to sleep in the bathtub, apparently with his head submerged, rising in the morning like a merman, is genuinely funny.

When Fatty tells his fiction about rescuing the crippled blind woman from the park bullies, as his excuse for being all beat up, some good comedy is brought out when the “poor woman” spots the money left over from the bullies’ crap game and disappears with an alacrity becoming the blind, infirm and aged—it is real comedy.

The denouement of Fatty’s park flirtations is novel, too, and a fine piece of staging. He and his “family” attend a movie show with one of his park acquaintances and her “teller.” When his park flirtations on the screen are shown, the usual punch house is fast enough to satisfy the most exacting. The “set” is extravagant, closely resembling the Strand or Rialto, and will start picture fans wondering how they “photographed” the picture brightly visible on the screen. Doubtless this is a trick of double exposure nicely executed.

Nobody, not even “Lukey,” takes side honors in “A Reckless Romeo,” the new all-star cast introduced in “The Butcher Bay” being missing in this release.

The park scenes appear to have been taken at Palisade Park, New Jersey, during the park season.

THE STORY

Fatty gets flirtations in the park, and gets badly beaten up. When he gets home he explains to the folks how he defended a poor, blind woman. A few nights later he and the folks go to a Yule Ball as a scene pictured on the screen. Fatty’s reckless romance in the park. The girl he got fresh with and her man are there and spot Fatty in the audience with disastrous results to Fatty.

“... The Half Back” and Other Pictures

The first program of “Compact Pictures” from the Thomas A. Edison studios fulfills the promise of variety made by the maker. Whether he has reached the millennium of a program that will interest children and adults also cannot be proved by any single collection. But...

“A Reckless Romeo,” which may be said to be the “feature” of the show, is a cleverly produced boy drama of “pre” school days; a little too refined, we thought, in referring to the boys always as “fellows,” but unquestionably a good, healthy, interesting kind of story young boys will “cut up” and grown folk will enjoy, too. The story tells how the strong, healthy-minded, honest boy from the country wins his way among his schoolmates, wins the captaincy of the football team and the prize scholarship, enabling him to return the next year. And girls don’t figure in a single foot of the story.

Young Lois as Joel March, the hero, fits this role perfectly. William Wadsworth and Jessie Stevens as his farmer parents do some good character work.

A long cast most capably sustains the minor roles.

“Fuss in Boots” in silhouette satisfactorily tells the well-known children’s story. The appeal of this must be strictly to children. “The So’s Horse” is a short scene picturing the Blackfoot Indians on reservation. “Captains of Tomorrow” shows West Point Cadets in setting up drill and on parade. “The Dinosaur and the Missing Link” is a queer picture that may interest. It is a sort of a cross between comedy and novelty through the use of a new process of animating manikins.

Exceedingly clever, but with humor rather too “deep” for the children, there is so nearly a natural motion of the figures that the average audience will think the manikins are just unusually ugly humans. They are not truly comic, because the figures are not fanciful enough. This process can be used, we believe, to very great advantage if the “models” are made to exaggerate a comedy appearance so as to get a laugh on sight; then their motions will add to the fun. This first subject does not strike us as having any funny appeal to adults, and the child mind will hardly take in the truly marvelous near approximation of natural movement, so well done as to cause many to refuse to believe it is mechanical.

“Heart’s Desire”

Marie Doro returns to the screen in another of her becoming roles as pretty Miss Innocence, and at the same time to her old surroundings with the Famous Players. If we have any complaint to make of Miss Doro, recently, it is that her roles seem to be flavored all with the same essence. This time it is a flower girl, and that Shannon Fife and Eve Unsell have made dominant is the language of the flowers. The rose means “love,” and “Heart’s Desire” is a beautiful blushing specimen that Fleurette tries to present to the crabbed old "signer" with near-fatal results.

This is a Tomalian, pretty little story, with some well worked out climaxes, possibly a little too... played opposite Miss Doro. Scenically it is quite up to Famous Players standard. THE STORY AND PLAYERS

The crabbed Henri Le Roiiiic (Marie Majeroni) owns the quaint island of St. Anne's. His nephew Paul (Albert Roscoe), a young doctor, visits him to try to cure his troublesome "heart." As a matter of fact all that is wrong with the old gentleman is his bad disposition and entire lack of heart. Even Fleurette

The Language of the Flowers

(Marie Doro), who is everybody's idol, cannot overcome his crabbedness. Not until Fleurette, in a last hope of winning his favor, steals out to the big mansion in the moonlight and is shot by Henri as a poacher, will, the Heart's Desire" rosebush he touched, Fleurette is cared for at the castle, and of course her husband's moral indebtedness.

"The Birth of Patriotism"

(Universal Special—Five Reels) REVIEWED BY F. G. SPENCER

This film, while based on the present-day conflict, contains many features of everyday London life, and shows clearly that when a man cannot get peace and comfort at home he will seek it somewhere else, and that "somewhere else" is almost invariably the "pub." The London cockney is fairly depicted, and the sympathetic barmaid carries her part in the story.

There are some beautifully descriptive scenes of the homelier of London life, and the photography is uniformly good. It is a film that will appeal strongly to the average audience, particularly as the hero, not being able to satisfy his wife's fastidiousness, enlists, serves at the front, and when blinded is invalided home, and so is greeted by his wife, who now realizes her error in being too particular. The war scenes are grimly descriptive.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Johnny Roberts (Leo Pierson), a young man of moderate means, marries Mary (Ann Kronan), a music teacher, but soon after the ceremony she finds fault with everything he does. He therefore seeks solace at the White Horse Inn, where Anne (Irene Hunt), the barmaid, falls in love with him.

When soldiers are being recruited Johnny enlists and is drafted to the front. Mary, from whom he had separated, apparently ignores the fact of his going, while Anne, with tear-stained face sees him off.

When Johnny returns, blinded from gas, Anne quietly slips away, leaving Johnny alone with his wife and child.

Ernie Shields, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Frank Coffray and Edward Brown complete the cast.

"The Debt"

(Frank Powell-Mutual—Five Reels) REVIEWED BY F. G. SPENCER

"THE DEBT" is a picture well worth while, dealing as it does with the ancient mother-in-law rancor and the matrimonial risks an unprincipled Baron will take to secure funds.

Marjorie Rambeau as Ann, the Countess, shows to great advantage in the different spheres of life where circumstances land her. As a countess she is superb, as a hard working man's wife she is simplicity personified, as a factory hand she is just as sweet.

All the scenes are well selected and clearly photographed. The supporting cast is good, and the production shows careful handling.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

The Count (Henry Warwick) gives a reception to the villagers to celebrate his daughter's engagement to Baron Moreno (T. Jerome Lawlor), and when the festivities are at their height there is found a mine in which the whole village has invested is worthless.

The villagers are frantic and threaten the Count, who has persuaded them to invest their all. The Count therefore commits suicide, and the Baron breaks off his engagement to the now impregnable Countess. She therefore marries John Slater (Paul Everton), and they work to pay off her father's moral indebtedness.

The Baron follows and forces his attentions upon her, and the mother-in-law (Anne Sutherland) informs her son, who orders Ann out of the house. It is only upon the incessant crying of Ann's child (Nadia Gary), for "Mama" that Slater seeks a reconciliation. He finds her with the Baron, whom she was about to marry, but a fight between the two men ends in both being mortally wounded.

Ann returns to her child, and finds her mother-in-law very much softened by the happenings and she is well received. Others in the cast are Agnes Eyre and Robert Elliott.
“Whose Wife?”
(Mutual-American—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY F. G. SPENCER

THIS is a stirring though sympathetic story, depicting the struggle of a woman hastily married, whose husband is reported drowned on his way to South America, and who, thinking herself free, is about to remarry when her former spouse appears and complicates matters.

The story is full of appealing situations, the treachery and infidelity of an unfeeling brute of a man being matched against the confiding and loving sweetness of a woman.

There are some wonderful photographic effects, both interior and exterior. Of the latter the South American landscapes and a moonlight scene aboard ship are especially commendable.

The story, which features Gail Kane and is the first of a series specially designed for her, is from the pen of Cecil Henry Bullivant, and is directed by Robert S. Sturges. Miss Kane is well supported and the picture is one of those that will appeal strongly to any class of audience.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Mary Melville (Gail Kane), to please her invalid mother, marries Claude Varden (Harry Von Meter), a wealthy, ronie, on the eve of their departure to his South American mines the mother is stricken with sickness, and Mary decides to remain with her. The husband has betrayed, is already on his trail. On board ship Varden, who has already wearied of his “bargain”—as he terms his most recent marriage—meets and makes advances to Nitra Ruiz (Ethel Ullman), who, with her brother Ramon (Frank Rickert), is returning to her vast estates after a visit to the North.

Mary’s mother dies, and Mary tries to get into communication with Varden, but, failing, decides to secure help. In the meantime the newspapers contain accounts of a shipwreck, and Claude Varden’s name heads the list of the lost. Mary is engaged by a lawyer, who falls in love with her and is about to marry her, when Varden appears upon the scene. And, although married to the pretty and rich senorita, he claims her. She faints at the meeting, and he has her taken to his apartments, where he is tracked by Nitra’s brother—Nitra having taken poison, so distressed was she by the man’s perfidy—and a fight ensues, in which Ramon is killed.

At the trial Varden is about to be found guilty, but Tom Nelson, now a jailbird and a trusty, recognising him, stabs him to death as he is on his way to hear the verdict of the jury, so the judge pronounces a verdict of “Not Guilty.”

Others in the cast are Mrs. Melville (Elizabeth Taylor), John Herrick (Edward Peil), Elsie Brandenham (Lucille Young), Herrick’s aunt (Amelia Widen).

“Her Secret”
(Vitagraph—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

“HER SECRET” is a striking example of good picture building and success in production. Written and directed by Perry N. Vekroff, it possesses all those essentials necessary to make perfect a photodrama. In the first place, Mr. Vekroff has evolved a story of extraordinary power, relying, to be sure, on something of a piquant situation, but handled so the severity of its richness is repressed and its dramatic strength emphasized. His scenario is one of the most perfect, even pieces of continuity ever done, and the several high lights of the story are treated with due regard to their power. The heart interest is admirably blended with the dominant element of suspense. Incidentally, the suspense of “Her Secret” is to be spelled in capitals. Of shack moments there are none.

Mr. Vekroff has completed his work with admirable direction. The drama is well set, the backgrounds are adequate and the photography excellent. The scenes are perfectly timed. In the leading roles appear Alice Joyce and Harry Moeey, both of whom contribute performances of stellar character. Robert Kelley as the doctor heads the supporting cast, which is equal to every situation, no matter how difficult.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Clara Weston (Alice Joyce), journeying from the West to the East, is obliged to put up for the night at a disreputable hotel and dance hall, having missed her train. Fenton (Harry Moeey), a civil engineer, back from a long survey in the mountains, arrives at the place and proceeds to tear loose. He pays attention to a dancer (Patsy DeForee), who, after taking some of his money, to get rid of him gives him a number of one of the hotel rooms, supposedly hers. Later, Fenton, under the influence of liquor, breaks into Clara’s room. Thus she becomes an innocent victim of circumstances. In the East, after the birth of a child, she serves as secretary to Fenton, who, shorn of his heavy head and occupying a high position, could never have taken for the rotten Fenton of the West. They marry after a time, Clara sharing her secret only with the doctor (Robert Kelley). But Fenton discovers it after several years, denounces her, and accusing the doctor of playing him false. The doctor tells Fenton Clara’s story, and to his horror Fenton realizes with whom the blame rests. He begs Clara’s forgiveness, and she, for the sake of the child, gives it.

Mary Maurice, George Cooper, Nellie Anderson and Kittens Reichert handle their parts in fine style.

“Clara Makes a Confession”

“Clara Makes a Confession”
(Famous Players-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

JACK PICKFORD and Vivian Martin make a pair almost “too good to be true.” And we wish to register our approval of the selection of James Neil and Edythe Chapman as the father and mother of the girl and boy, respectively, who make the hero and heroine of this story.

Really it is Jack Pickford’s story, although Miss Martin fits firmly into the plot. We are happy to say that John Barrymore makes the father and mother of the girl and boy, respectively, who make the hero and heroine of this story.

Jimmie Dexter (Jack Pickford) is planning to go to college when his mother (Edythe Chapman) receives word that her income is cut off. Jean Hilton (Vivian Martin) is the pretty ward of Squire Padgate (James Neill), who thinks Mrs. Dexter about the right sort of person for a stepmother to Jean. Jean loves Jimmie, and gets the Squire to advance to Mrs. Dexter, secretly, money enough to send Jimmie to college just the same.

Jimmie does not know who is responsible for his allowance. He gets in bad company, and is about to be disgraced for issuing a “bad check” (which he has given to a cabaret dancer, supposing her to be in dire need). Just then the home folks arrive, and the bad girl with her arms around his neck, and things look bad for Jimmie, until the detective who came to make trouble sees the real truth that the check had been “raised” and proves Jimmie’s innocence.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Clara Weston (Alice Joyce), journeying from the West to the East, is obliged to put up for the night at a disreputable hotel and dance hall, having missed her train. Fenton (Harry Moeey), a civil engineer, back from a long survey in the mountains, arrives at the place and proceeds to tear loose. He pays attention to a dancer (Patsy DeForee), who, after taking some of his money, to get rid of him gives him a number of one of the hotel rooms, supposedly hers. Later, Fenton, under the influence of liquor, breaks into Clara’s room. Thus she becomes an innocent victim of circumstances. In the East, after the birth of a child, she serves as secretary to Fenton, who, shorn of his heavy head and occupying a high position, could never have taken for the rotten Fenton of the West. They marry after a time, Clara sharing her secret only with the doctor (Robert Kelley). But Fenton discovers it after several years, denounces her, and accusing the doctor of playing him false. The doctor tells Fenton Clara’s story, and to his horror Fenton realizes with whom the blame rests. He begs Clara’s forgiveness, and she, for the sake of the child, gives it.

Mary Maurice, George Cooper, Nellie Anderson and Kittens Reichert handle their parts in fine style.
"Eternal Love"
(Butterfly-Universal—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

LAID in the Latin quarter of Paris, this picture concerns a loose-living artist who wins the love of a country girl, throws it away and then sinks to a low level before she comes to his rescue. It is rather an ancient story, with little to offer in the way of originality except for the fact that there is no baby introduced. Director Douglas Gerrard’s idea of the Latin quarter is quite theatrical. To tell the truth, we don’t know whether it is realistic or not, never having been there, but somehow we got the notion that the artists of Paris did not constantly wine and dine themselves, and enter into all sorts of shocking scenes with pretty models. Mr. Gerrard’s idea of it all is according to the studio—the motion picture studio—an idea borrowed from the musical comedy stage.

The story was written and scenarioized by E. M. Ingleton. Mr.
Gerrard heads the cast, and opposite him appears Ruth Clifford,
an appealing heroine.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Paul (Douglas Gerrard) paints a picture with Mignon (Ruth Clifford) as his model, which wins the prize. Afterwards Paul goes back to his Mimi and FiFi and forgets Mignon. Through a mistake she is led to believe that he has been seriously injured, and she journeys all the way to Paris on foot, only to discover him in the embrace of the most beautiful model in Paris. She attempts suicide, but is rescued by a wealthy patron of art, who dies in a short time, leaving all his fortune to her. Without Mignon’s good influence Paul sinks to a very low level. Crazed by drink, he constantly calls for her, and Mignon finally comes and effects his regeneration when sufficiently urged by his friends.
George Gebhart, Edward Clark, Dan Duffy, Myrtle Reeves and Miss Martin comprise the supporting cast.

"Hedda Gabler"
(Powell-Mutual—Five Parts)
REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. McGRATH

TO take this heavy, involved and morbid Ibsen story from the printed page and transfer it to the motion picture screen is concededly a difficult task. The Powell Producing Company, starring Nance O’Neill in the title role, have essayed the task and handled it in about the best way possible. However, just as when one reads an Ibsen tale, it is necessary to have an agile mind, a quick grasp of thought and continual concentration all the time to keep the trend of the picture.

To those who have read this great story of the immortal
Scandinavian author the pictured version will be better understood and much appreciated. Nance O’Neill, with all her natural and acquired craft as a leading actress of the day, seems to have been the only proper selection to portray the type that Hedda Gabler is. Miss O’Neill in the picture gives a worthy characterization of the moody, jealous and pre-natally influenced Hedda.

Practically all angles of the story get exposition on the screen, oftentimes, however, at the sacrifice of continuity through the enforced explanatory cut-back scenes that the picturizing calls for.
All in all, it stands as a plucky and satisfactory accomplishment on the part of the Powell Company in trying what so many others have despaired of and failed with in the past—an Ibsen story pictured. Miss O’Neill’s supporting cast is: Aubrey Beattie, Einar Linden, Lillian Page, Alfred Hickman and Ruth Byron.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

George Tesman (Aubrey Beattie) and his wife, lately Hedda Gabler (Nance O’Neill), have just returned from their honeymoon. Left alone, Hedda fondles pistols, for which she has an uncanny affection, brought about by pre-natal influence. Although married to Tesman, Hedda still lives in jealous watchful-ness over Eilert Lovberg, her former lover.

Lovberg (Einar Linden), a dissipated genius, has fallen under the good influences of Thea Elvstead (Ruth Byron). He has written a valuable book. Hedda discovers Thea’s influence and resigns for Eilert. She starts to resume her sway over the man.
The result is he begins to drink again, loses his manuscript in the course of his revels and is cast into despair. Hedda has the manuscript, unknown to Eilert. Lovberg breaks with Tesna in his despair and shoots himself in a tragic manner, using one of Hedda’s pistols. Hedda burns up the manuscript and then shoots herself.

"The Recoil"
(Astra-Pathe—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

WILLIAM COURTENAY and Lillian Creuze try very hard to save this picture from lacking a genuinely strong appeal. The casting of the hero as a government secret service agent makes us expect much. The heroine in the role of the girl who sacrifices all for her mother’s happiness would seem to offer at least a role of some strength. But as the plot develops we do not seem to feel that heart grip which would come of tense situations skilfully handled. There is too rapid and incomplete a presentation of the underlying most important events in the story, following the secret marriage of the hero and heroine, his capture by a foreign spy, and her learning of his supposed death. She marries a disgusting brute for his money, her mother dies, her brother is told why she married, and then to cap an improbable climax the baby appears, supposed, we assume, to be the baby of the second mar-rriage. This is indeed “too sudden” it seems to us.

The murder of the villainous man-in-the-way, when he attempts to throttle the man he finds in his wife’s chamber with the baby, is the best real dramatic punch registered. From that point, the brother’s stealing the watch, and the hero’s getting the governor’s pardon, by leaving his country’s service, both weaken characters which have been building up toward true hero parts to that time.

Nothing seems to be gained by thus besmirching the characters of the heroine are expected to feel deep sympathy for. This production is clearly not up to Pathé standard.

WANTED

Negatives of new feature photoplays four to six thousand feet each.
Must be first class productions in every respect.

P. 0. BOX 56
Times Square Station
New York City

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
Final Chapter of "The Great Secret"
(Metro—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

Several "great secrets" are unfolded in this last thrill of continuous mystery. The dead coming to life, long lost father discovered, crook found to be only a well intentioned man seeking to correct wrong done to society, and some third degree methods are introduced into what will undoubtedly be figured one of the strongest serial climaxes yet devised.

The director has introduced a "touching" climax in the last fifty feet of the story, which will especially interest exhibitors west of Denver. Strong’s faithful Chinese servant, Woe See, can hardly contain himself with affection for his master during the wedding ceremony. Strong accepts from him a bouquet of roses and kisses him on the forehead as the final squaring of all accounts fading out to "The End."

THE STORY
Zulph has called a meeting of the Secret Seven, and had himself elected new Great Master, when he is interrupted by the appearance, very much alive, of the great master himself.

Strong, not understanding why the Great Master has done many things, attacks him, and is stopped by Jane Warren. Then he learns that the Great Master is his father; that Clarke bribed Zulph, with the aid of Jane Warren, whom he controlled, to murder Strong’s mother in a mining camp in Alaska, that he (Clarke) might jump Strong’s father’s claim.

The Great Master (Strong’s father), returning, followed Zulph, Clarke, and Jane, and this is his final revenge. He has become "Great Master" that he might finally round up all these crooks.

BEST SUITED TO THE BEST THEATER IN EVERY TOWN
A Distinct Novelty—Truly a Departure
100 FEET OF 100 PER CENT. SCREENCRAFT PRODUCTION
A Human Chatty Appeal to Your Audience!
A Courteous and Dignified Close to Every Performance!
For Photoplay Exhibitors Only at 10c Per Foot
Add to your clientele by entering intelligently to your patrons.
This is not an animated curiosity but a flesh and blood appeal of the production type.
Enhanced With SCREENCRAFT Titles and SCREENCRAFT Settings!
Footing, Developing, Coloring. Studio for rent by day or production.
AMERICAN BIOSCOPE CO., Inc.
J. P. WILLIS, Pres. & Gen’l Mgr.
6712 BROADWAY CHICAGO

You Must Admit It Was a Healthy Baby Last Year
But OH! What a Whopper It Will Be This Year

WHAT?

WHY—
The Seventh National Exposition and Convention
OF THE MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS LEAGUE OF AMERICA
Chicago Coliseum, July 14-22, 1917
Convention and Exposition in Same Building
Apply for space at once
LUDWIG SCHINDLER, Exposition Manager
1416 Masonic Temple
Chicago, Ill.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
General Film Program

"The Trapping of Two-Bit Tuttle." (An episode of Kahle's "American Girl" series. Two reels. May 18.) — Bob, in the role of the young man, finds that the make-believe murder of his old college chum, Terry Ramsaye, who handles the publicity and advertising reins for the Mutual Company, has become a very live and real business. He is now in the Chicago Triangle, where he meets the booking again. For some time past Williams had been detailed to the Triangle Milwaukuee offices.

"Flames of Treachery." (Imp. Week of May 7.) — Short, compact and exciting melodrama in which the head of a large cattle company串 the worth of a stenographer. Lee Hill, Lois Wilson and Clyde Benson are the principals.

"One Wild Night." (Bison. Two reels. Week of May 7.) — With the sale of this trainload of cattle, live cty cowboys are at a loss as to what to do in the city until a society girl comes along and employs them to entertain her guests. Besides entertaining they apprehend a burglar and rescuing a number of the city folks. An amusing picture, especially when the cowboys are shouting "Yee-haw!" at each other. Doc Bolln Appel, Charles Perley and Billy Human are on the screen. Gypsy Hart is the girl.

"Signs of Trouble." (Victor. Weew of May 7.) — This, the second sequel to the first sequel to "Central Arizona." Central Arizona, with its craggy peaks and rugged scenery, is shown by this artistic process, which brings out strongly, instead of blurring, the detail by color contrast.

"The Grip of Love." (Gold Seal. Three reels. Week of May 7.) — An average mountain melodrama written by Allen Holubar and presents any number of stirring situations. Holubar and Louise Lovely head a large cast.

"The Voice on the Wire. (Universal Special. No. 9. Two reels. Week of May 7.) — The ninth number of this mystery series, "The Stem Chase," is full of action, well bolstered by poor exterior scenes. The suspense is well balanced and holds until the finale. The weird, uncanny mystery of a disappearing man, along with the actions of a notorious gang in its mysterious debaucheries, adds the sincere feeling of stability to the identity of "The Voice on the Wire." The story is continued, is commendable in that the cheap, melodramatic aspect is entirely eliminated. Ben Wilson is featured.

Path

"The Man With a Package." (Joker. Week of May 7.) — This reel contains a good bit of the humor that is the keynote of this series. It is not, however, a strictly funny story, but is rather of the type that is considerably lessened by repetition. The cast goes through the same tricks a number of times and much of the humor is lost. William Praney and Gale Henry, with the usual Jokers, are given from performances. The scenario was prepared by C. B. Headley.

Metro

"Reel Life. (Cometone. One reel. May 7.) — Worked into this is a scene from "Flames of Treachery.""2

Mutual Program

"The Lost Appetite." (Victor. Week of May 7.) — Occasionally the best burlesques are on the high cost of living done in some time. The country comes to town and begins to eat his relatives out of house and home. He finally produces whole satchel full of potatoes and saves the day. Eddie Lyons and Roberta Peters are the couple, while Lee Moran gives a wonderfully humorous characterization of the country cousin. Headley and Palmer prepared the script.

"The Grip of Love." (Gold Seal. Three reels. Week of May 7.) — An average mountain melodrama written by Allen Holubar and presents any number of stirring situations. Holubar and Louise Lovely head a large cast.

Leaks in the Loop

(Continued from page 3004)

Since Alfred Hamburger began increasing the string of theatres under his direction "P. A. " Jacoby has bought himself a "River" to make the rounds and has already assured himself of the wisdom of his move.

Frank E. Williams, better known as "Red," because of his Titian locks, is back in the Chicago Triangle offices doing the booking again. For some time past Williams had been detailed to the Triangle Milwaukee offices.

Charles L. Roy Edison, formerly known as scenario writer and now editor of the Motionheart Magazine, paid a visit to his old college chum, Terry Ramsey, who handles the publicity and advertising reins for the Mutual Company.

TABLOID REVIEWS FOR BUSY EXHIBITORS

"Happy Holiday."

"A Menagerie Mixup," (Ham and Bud Kahle Comedy. One reel.) — The title gives you a pretty good idea of what you are going to get in this one reeler. The long and short of it in comedy keeps your attention divided between smiles and laughs — smacks as the opener and good, hearty laughs as the climax. Bud is somewhat handicapped by the too-black, bear skin coat in which he masquerades as an advertisement for a circus just come to town and wets with some slight opposition in the person of Ham, who has selected the animals to be featured for a masquerade ball. When they clunk, the laughs start.

"Central Arizona." (Comibbon. One reel. May 13.) — Central Arizona, with its craggy peaks and rugged scenery, is shown by this artistic process, which brings out strongly, instead of blurring, the detail by color contrast.

"The Delicatessen Mystery." (Myers-Thoby Comedy. One reel.) — The story is that of this exaggerated "refined" gem in the troubles of a young man, who finds himself in the midst of a series of adventures, where the landlady rules "no cooking on the premises." So they get a delivery man to carry the young man's food in a seamy little" delicatessen, first in the landlady's umbrella, and second by the unique idea of winding the landlady's watch around the rope, which "tough" the rope, which "tough"

"One of the Family." (Drew Comedy. One reel. April 23.) — We heartily commend this as the best of the short series of Drew comedies we have seen. George Drew Mendum takes the title role, George Drew Mendum as the chief star, and his facial expressions would make any old comic, director or star, green with envy.

"Happy Holiday."

"A Menagerie Mixup," (Ham and Bud Kahle Comedy. One reel.) — The title gives you a pretty good idea of what you are going to get in this one reeler. The long and short of it in comedy keeps your attention divided between smiles and laughs — smacks as the opener and good, hearty laughs as the climax. Bud is somewhat handicapped by the too-black, bear skin coat in which he masquerades as an advertisement for a circus just come to town and wets with some slight opposition in the person of Ham, who has selected the animals to be featured for a masquerade ball. When they clunk, the laughs start.

"Central Arizona." (Comibbon. One reel. May 13.) — Central Arizona, with its craggy peaks and rugged scenery, is shown by this artistic process, which brings out strongly, instead of blurring, the detail by color contrast.

"The Delicatessen Mystery." (Myers-Thoby Comedy. One reel.) — The story is that of this exaggerated "refined" gem in the troubles of a young man, who finds himself in the midst of a series of adventures, where the landlady rules "no cooking on the premises." So they get a delivery man to carry the young man's food in a seamy little" delicatessen, first in the landlady's umbrella, and second by the unique idea of winding the landlady's watch around the rope, which "tough"

"One of the Family." (Drew Comedy. One reel. April 23.) — We heartily commend this as the best of the short series of Drew comedies we have seen. George Drew Mendum takes the title role, George Drew Mendum as the chief star, and his facial expressions would make any old comic, director or star, green with envy.

"Happy Holiday."

"A Menagerie Mixup," (Ham and Bud Kahle Comedy. One reel.) — The title gives you a pretty good idea of what you are going to get in this one reeler. The long and short of it in comedy keeps your attention divided between smiles and laughs — smacks as the opener and good, hearty laughs as the climax. Bud is somewhat handicapped by the too-black, bear skin coat in which he masquerades as an advertisement for a circus just come to town and wets with some slight opposition in the person of Ham, who has selected the animals to be featured for a masquerade ball. When they clunk, the laughs start.

"Central Arizona." (Comibbon. One reel. May 13.) — Central Arizona, with its craggy peaks and rugged scenery, is shown by this artistic process, which brings out strongly, instead of blurring, the detail by color contrast.
FEATURES—CURRENT AND COMING

Art Dramas, Inc.

Apr. 22. The Hunting of the Hawk (William Courtenay, Marguerite Snow and Robert Clifton), Astor.

Apr. 29. Samantha's Husband (Maurice De La Creme and Louise O'Hara), Balboa.

May 6. Hints from the Past (Frederick Ward, Kathryn Adams, Edelweiss Stuart and George W. Goodwin). Paramount.

Red Feather Productions

Selznick Pictures

Feb.—The Argyle Case (Robert Warwick).......
Feb.—The Price of Life (William Beaudine, Young)...

Triangle Distributing Corporation

Apr. 8. Her Official Father (Dorothy O'Keefe).

Apr. 8. Sweetheart of the Rodeo (Louise Fazenda, Bob Homans).

Apr. 15. An Old Fashioned Young Man (Robert Homans, Claire Adams, George Beardsley and Christopher Tandy). Famous Players.

Apr. 15. Palsy O'Hara (William Desmond), June Kay and Bob Homans.

Apr. 19. The Law of Compensation (Norma Talmadge).......

Ultra Pictures Corporation

Apr. 2. The Woman Who Dared (Beatrice March.

Cameo—Coming (Beatrice March). Heywood House.

Vitagraph V-1-S-E.

Apr. 9. Apartment 29 (Earle Williams)...

Apr. 9. Captain Albers (Edith Standen)...

Apr. 9. Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation (Alice Joyce and Harry Moore)...

Apr. 16. Solly in a Hurry (Lillian Walker)...

Apr. 23. The Hawk (Earle Williams)...

Apr. 30. Her Secret (Alice Joyce and Harry Moore)...

May 7. The Captain of the Grey Horse Troop (George E. Beban)...

May 14. The Sixteenth Wife (Penney Hyland and Robert MacDermott)...

May 21. Rebellion (Alice Beban)...

May 28. The Soul Master (Clara Williams)...

World Pictures

Apr. 9. The Family Honor (Robert Warwick, William Beaudine and Harvey Hult):...

Apr. 16. Forget-Me-Not (Kitty Gordon)...

Apr. 23. Darkest Russia (Alice Brady)...

Apr. 30. The Page (Alice Brady)...

May 7. Mothers of France (Sarah Bernhardt)...

May 14. Moral Courage (Muriel Uriste and Frances Parkinson)...

May 28. Maternity (Alice Brady)...

June 4. The Prize (Alice Brady, Kitty Broadwater, June Elvidge and Evelyn Greene).......

McClellon Pictures*

Feb. 28. Seven Deadly Sins, "Passion" (Shirley Mason and George Le Guere).......

Mar. 5. Seven Deadly Sins, "Lust" (Shirley Mason and George Le Guere).......

Mar. 12. Seven Deadly Sins, "The 7th Sin" (George Le Guere and Shirley Mason).......

*Released through Triangle Exchanges.

Metro Pictures Corporation

Apr. 9. A Magdalen of the Hills (Mabel Terry, William Beaudine and Frank Beardsley).......

Apr. 16. The Power of Decision (Frances Fenton).......

Apr. 23. God's Law and Man's (Vida Dana).......

Apr. 30. The Millionaire, Double Lionel Barrymore).......

May 7. Sowers and the Sower (George Beardsley).......

May 14. The Million Magdalen (Mary Pickford, Popular Plays and Players).......

May 21. The Beautiful Lie (Frances Fenton).......

May 28. The Million Dollar Power (Ethel Barrymore).......

June 4. Lady Barmaclie (Vida Dana), Columbia.......

Mutual Film Corporation

Apr. 9. A Daughter of War (Clara Beaudine).......

Apr. 16. Her Greatest Love (Blanche Sweet).......

Apr. 23. High Play (William Russell).......

Apr. 30. Environement (Mary Miles Minter).......

Apr. 16. The Single Vase (Crane Wilbur).......

Apr. 23. The Wild Card (Jackie Smiley).......

Apr. 23. The Debut (Marjorie Remson).......

Apr. 30. Whose Wife? (Gail Kane).......

May 7. The Fringe (William Russell).......

May 7. The Million Dollar Bride (Nance O'Neil).......

Paramount Pictures Corporation

Apr. 1. The Bowl between (George Beaudine).......

Apr. 5. The School for Husbands (Fanny Ward).......

Apr. 9. The Cost of Hand (Kathryn Wilcox).......

Apr. 16. The Single Vase (Crane Wilbur).......

Apr. 23. The Beaux' Stratagem (Jackie Smiley).......

Apr. 23. The Debut (Marjorie Remson).......

Apr. 30. Whose Wife? (Gail Kane).......

May 7. The Fringe (William Russell).......

May 14. The Million Dollar Bride (Nance O'Neil).......

Pulch Exchange, Inc.

Apr. 8. May Blossom (Pearl White and Hal Roach).......

Apr. 15. When Love Was Blind (Pierceраб и Валентина). Famous Players.

May 14. April Fool (Robert Beaudine).......

May 21. Unconquered (Fanny Ward).......

May 28. The Million Dollar Bride (Nance O'Neil).......

*Released through Triangle Exchanges.
Educational Film Corp. of Amer.

From Ditters' "Living Book of Nature"

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Audio</th>
<th>Duration</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>22:00</td>
<td>2089</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25:00</td>
<td>1698</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>35:00</td>
<td>1500</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Scenic and Educational—Split Reels

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Audio</th>
<th>Duration</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3:00</td>
<td>1500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00</td>
<td>1000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

General Film Company

BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
- Past One at Rooneys (1st of O. Henry Series), 1 D, 21860-61
- Face San Rosario (2nd of O. Henry Series), 2 D, 1917-80

Foxfilm Comedies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Audio</th>
<th>Duration</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>15:00</td>
<td>1052</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:00</td>
<td>1051</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Paramount Pictures Corporation

BURTON HOLMES—With the Kandy Ele-
-

Pathé Exchange, Inc.

Sunday, May 6, 1917

| Mystery of the Woman in the Car (The Stranger Deposes), Mollie King, 2 D |
| Max Is Almost Married (Max Linder), Mollie King, 2 D |

Universal Film Company

Triangle Komedies

| Sunday, May 6, 1917 |
| A Dishonest Burglar (Pauline Lord and Lee Moran), 1 C |
| His Career | C |
| A Laundry Hen | C |
| His One-Night Stand | C |

Special Releases

| Universal Film Company Week of April 30, 1917 |
| A Dishonest Burglar (Pauline Lord and Lee Moran), 1 C |
| The Fairy Godfather (Paula Blackton), 1 D |
| Chinks and Chases (Hughie Mack), 1 C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |

Vitagraph V.L.S.E

| Monday, April 30, 1917 |
| Jesters and Jugglers (Helen Russell and Charles Ingle), 1 D |
| The Fairy Godfather (Paula Blackton), 1 D |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Friday, May 17, 1917 | C |
| Wednesday, May 12, 1917 | C |
| Tuesday, May 15, 1917 | C |
| Friday, May 10, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 7, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Monday, April 30, 1917 | C |

Metro Pictures Corporation

Monday, April 30, 1917

| DRAW—Safety First (Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew) | 1 C |
| Monday, May 7, 1917 | C |
| MONDAY—The Regeneration of Reginald (Ralph King) | 1 D |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |

Mutual Film Corporation

Monday, May 7, 1917

| MUTUAL SERIES—A Woman's Wit (On the Railroad Tracks) | 1 C |
| The Power of Pin Money | 2 D, 21860-61 |
| The Vulture of Skull Mountain (7th of the Lone Point Feud (6th Episode of "A American Girl" Series)) | 2 D, 21891-92 |
| The Skeleton Canyon Raid (6th of "The Secret of the Borgias" Series), 2 D, 21860-61 |
| The Yellow Bullet (Neil Hardin and Lucy Ryal), 1 C |
| Vengeance of the Dead (Henry King and John supermarkets) | 2 D |
| Sea's Land and Wife ("Is Marriage Sacred?" Series), 2 D, 21858-59 |
| Wednesday, May 9, 1917 | C |
| Thursday, May 17, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Saturday, May 12, 1917 | C |
| Thursday, May 10, 1917 | C |
| Thursday, May 17, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 7, 1917 | C |
| Monday, May 14, 1917 | C |
| Monday, April 30, 1917 | C |
STATE RIGHTS CURRENT AND COMING

For Manufacturers’ Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News.

American News Weekly
One reel each weekly exclusively on Army and Navy activities.

Anti-Vice Film Company
Is Any Girl Safe? ... 5 reels

Argosy Films, Inc.
The Celebrated Stelhow Case ... 6 reels

Where’s Yore Get That Stuff... 5 reels

Dec.—Ahabutne (King Baggeg), Universal • 7 reels

Arrow Film Corporation
The Deemster (Dervent Hall Caine)...9 reels

George Backer Film Corporation
The Sin Woman (Irene Fenwick, Clifford Bruce and John Daven) ... 7 reels

Rex Beach Pictures Co.
The Barrier ... 9 reels

Bernstein Film Productions
Who Knows? Taken in the Carriage.

Cardinal Film Corporation
Joan the Woman (Gardinal Farrar) ... 11 reels

Christie Film Company
Apr. 30. Father’s Bright Idea ... 1 reel
May 7, With the Mummertime Help ... 1 reel
May 14, The Magic Maid ... 1 reel
May 21, The Million Way ... 1 reel
May 28, His Last Plough ... 1 reel

Claridge Films, Inc.
The Birth of Character ... 5 reels

The Heart of New York ... 5 reels

Clune Productions
Ramona ... 1 reel

Eyes of the World ... 7 reels

Corona Cinema Company
The Curse of Eve (Enid Markey) ... 7 reels

Cosmofotofilm Corporation
Incomparable Mistress Bellairs ... 4 reels

Liberty Bruce and John Daven ... 4 reels

The Black Spot ... 4 reels

Victoria Cross ... 4 reels

O 16. His Vindication ... 5 reels

Creative Film Corporation
The Girl Who Didn’t Think (Jane Gail) ... 5 reels

Dixie Films
Dec.—Tempest and Sunshine (Evyn Markey) ... 7 reels

Dec.—Just a Song at Twilight ... 5 reels

Ebony Film Corporation
A Natural Born Shooter ... 5 reels

Dat Blackhand Waitah Man ... 1 reel

Shine Johnson and the Rabbit’s Foot ... 1 reel

F. I. S. Motion Picture Corp.
Trooper 44 ... 5 reels

Enlightment Photoplays Corporation
Enlighten Thy Daughter ... 7 reels

Eskal Hauke Feature Film
Alice in Wonderland ... 8 reels

Evangelic Film Company
Birth ... 6 reels

European Film Company
Fighting for Freedom ... 6 reels

Exclusive Features, Inc.
Where is My Father? ... 7 reels

Frieder Film Corporation
The Birds’ Christmas Carol (Mary Louise) ... 5 reels

Friedman Enterprises
A Mormen Maid (Mac Murray) ... 5 reels

Frohman Amusement Corp.
Oct. 10. The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Maude Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Conates) ... 5 reels

The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Maude Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Conates) ... 6 reels

Conquerors of the West ... 5 reels

God’s Man ... 9 reels

Germanic Official War Films
Germany and its Armies Today

Gold Medal Photoplays
The Web of Life (Hilda Nord, James Cress, George Spencer) ... 5 reels

Grand Feature Film Company
Rex Beach on the Spanish Main ... 5 reels

Rex Beach in Expressway ... 5 reels

Rex Beach in Footsteps of Capt. Kidd ... 5 reels

Graphic Features
The Woman and the Beast ... 5 reels

W. Griffith
Intolerance ... 9 reels

Frank Hall Productions
The Bar Sinister ... 9 reels

Hanover Film Company
Maciste ... 1 reel

How Uncle Sam (U. S.) Prepares ... 4 reels

Hagner Film Corporation
Civilization ... 9 reels

Hawk Film Corporation
Monster of Fate ... 9 reels

Herald Film Corporation
At the Front with the Allies

Honor System Booking Office
The Honor System (Simon Silas and Simon Silas) ... 10 reels

John Film Corporation
Strife (George LeGuerer) ... 1 reel

"Pokes and Jabs" Comedies ... 1 reel each

Juvenile Film Corporation
World War in Khartum ... 5 reels

A Chip Off the Old Block ... 1 reel

Chip’s Knockout ... 1 reel

Chip’s Backyard Barn-Stormers ... 1 reel

Chip’s Rivals ... 1 reel

Reel Sale, a Daddy ... 1 reel

Chip’s Carmen ... 2 reels

Kinetico-cartoon Corporation
Cartoons, On the_Linetain ... 5 reels

King Bee Comedies
Back Stage ... 1 reel

Kulee Features
Germany on the Firing Line ... 6 reels

France on the Firing Line ... 6 reels

The Unborn (Bessie Bondhill) ... 5 reels

Edgar Lewis Productions
The Golden Helios

Lincoln Motion Picture Company
The Realization of a Negro’s Ambitions ... 2 reels

Trooper of Tramp K ... 3 reels

C. Post Mason Enterprises
The Wonderland of the World (George N. Y. Day and by Night) ... 4 reels

Masterpiece Drama Productions, Inc.
Who’s Your Neighbor

Moral Unlift Society of America
It May Be Your Daughter

B. S. Moss M. P. Corporation
The Power of Evil (Marguerite Nichols) ... 5 reels

The Girl Who Doesn’t Know ... 5 reels

The Power of Evil ... 5 reels

Boots and Saddles ... 5 reels

The Girl Who Doesn’t Know ... 5 reels

One Hour (Sequel to ‘Three Weeks’) ... 3 reels

Paragon Films
The Whip ... 8 reels

Peter Pan Film Corporation
Midnight Frost ... 1 reel

Goldie Locks and the Three Bears ... 1 reel

Jimmy Gets the Pen ... 1 reel

Out in the Rain ... 1 reel

A Trip to the Moon ... 1 reel

Dolly Daring ... 1 reel

A Kitchen Romance ... 1 reel

Private Feature Film
—Ignorance (Edward Elston) ... 6 reels

Radio Film Company
Satan the Destroyer of Humanity ... 7 reels

Ray Comedies
July 12. Casey’s Steakhouse

July 19. Casey the White-Wing

Selig Special
Beware of Strangers ... 7 reels

The Ne’er-Do-Well ... 10 reels

The Garden of Allah (Selig) ... 10 reels

War That Takes My Life ... 7 reels

Sherritt Pictures Corporation
The Black Stork (Dr. Harry J. Hasel- den) ... 5 reels

Sherritt, Sherritt, Inc.
The Crisis ... 10 reels

Sigel Film Corporation
Nov.—The Mask of Life ... 7 reels

Standard Newsfilm, Inc.
Demons of the Air ... 2 reels

Submarine Film Corporation
Superior Films Corporation

Sunbeam Motion Picture Corp.
Ty Cobb in South of Georgia ... 6 reels

Superior Films Company
The Posse ... 5 reels

The Companionship ... 5 reels

Donald C. Thompson Film Co.
War as it Really Is ... 6 reels

To-day Feature Film Corp.
To-Day (Florence Red and Frank Mills)

Triumph Film Corporation
Dec.—5. The Libertine (Manny Strong)

Unity Sales Corporation
June—19. The Bishop’s Secret ... 4 reels

July—3. The Lottery Man ... 5 reels

July—3. The Marriage Bond ... 5 reels

Universal Film Mfg. Company
Idle Wives ... 5 reels

What Are My Children? ... 5 reels

Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea ... 10 reels

People vs. John Doe (Harry De More, Leah Baird) ... 7 reels

Robinson Crusoe (Robert Leonard and Margaret Fischer) ... 4 reels

Hell Morgan’s Girl ... 5 reels

Variety Films Corporation
My Country First ... 5 reels

Measure of Vengeance ... 5 reels

The Price of Her Soul ... 7 reels

Warner Brothers
Dec.—Robinson Crusoe (Sessue Hayakawa) ... 5 reels

Jan.—Are Passions Inherited (Dorothy Grafton, Pauley and Wm. Conklin) ... 7 reels

Edward Warren Productions
Apr.—The Warfare of the Flesh ... 6 reels

Mo-Toy Troupe
Even As You and I.
CLASSIFIED

SHERMAN SAYS:—"INSTALL "AMBERFLUX" LENS FILTERS" IN YOUR THEATRE BUSINESS.

GETTING SLIDE, $1.50 W. D. WATERMAN & CO., 69 BROAD ST., COLUMBUS, O. H.

We have in stock for immediate shipment plenty of slightly used Edition, Popular Simplex and Motograph Machines at bargain prices.

JAMIE Theatre Supply Co.,
429 Market St., St. Louis, Mo.

STAR CARBONS
Write us for descriptive circular and price list.
JONES & CAMMACK
12 Bridge St. New York, N. Y.

Your Best Laboratory Insurance

Corcoran Tanks
with the Patented Joint
A. J. CORCORAN, Inc.
753 Jersey Ave. Jersey City, N. J.

PICTURE THEATRE BUYERS!
If you are looking for a theatre in So. California, large or small, City, Country or Beach, Correspond with LEO RYAN, 730 S. Olive St., Los Angeles, California.

There is only one reel Film Renovator
Rex Film Renovator Mfg. Co.
Columbus, Ohio

Write today for interesting book describing a new and superior line of ELECTRIC SIGNS for PICTURE THEATRES RAWSON & EVANS CO.
711 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago, III.

TOOLS
Many high class tools are attractively priced in our "Odds and Ends" pamphlet which is mailed free on request.
MONTGOMERY & CO., INC.
323 Fulton St. New York

DUPLICATE Rewinder
1000-Film Feed
Complete Laboratory Equipment
DUPLICATE MACHINE CO.
316-318 West St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE
MAILING LIST SERVICE
We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicists, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK
Phone, 3227 Chelsea
425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO
Phone, 2003 Randolph

Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

TransVerteR
Automatically supplies only such voltage as are required. No waste of current in ballast.

PANOMIC SLIDES
Beautifully hand colored.
Write for list.
Price, 5c. each.
5 for $1.00.

EXHIBITION SUPPLY CO.
Hfi floor, Matson Bldg., Chicago, III.

Adjustable Opera Chair
Can be changed from adult’s chair to child’s chair by pressing catch and raising. Write for booklet.

MAILING LISTS
MOVING PICTURE THEATRES
Every State—Total 25,007
Price, $3.50 per p.
1400 Film Exchanges...
$4.00
256 Manufacturers...
$1.50
235 Supply Dealers...
$1.50

Patriotic Slides

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Tremendous Sales Increase Again

This Year's Big Increase Proves the Motiograph's Worth

You can persuade an Exhibitor thru advertising to buy a certain make of projector;—but you can't persuade him to buy it the second time unless his first experience was satisfactory.

Last year in July we announced the greatest sales increase in our history;—this year we are again having these same, and greater, phenomenal sales.

THE RAPID GROWTH OF MOTIOGRAPH SALES PROVES THE FOLLOWING:

--- (1) that Exhibitors who have used MOTIOGRAPH machines continue to use them;
--- (2) that more and more Exhibitors who used other makes of projectors are turning to the MOTIOGRAPH;
--- (3) that the Film Manufacturers have noticed the work of the MOTIOGRAPH and are equipping their studios with them.

Place MOTIOGRAPH Projectors in your booth and you will get

—MAXIMUM MACHINE LIFE AT MINIMUM COST
—SUPERIOR SERVICE WITH SUPREME PROJECTION

Write for Literature

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO., 568 W. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
Western Office: 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.
GREETINGS

The Picture Theatre Equipment Co.
J. H. Hallberg
Novelty Slide Co.
NEW YORK
Calhoun Supply Co.
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Feature Film & Calcium Light Co.
PITTSBURG, PA.
Southern Theatre Equipment Co.
ATLANTA, GA., AND DALLAS, TEXAS
Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co.
Motion Picture Supply Co.
CLEVELAND, OHIO
Cincinnati Theatre Supply Co.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

GREETINGS

Enterprise Theatre Equipment Co.
DETROIT, MICH., AND GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.
E. E. Fulton Co.
Kleine Optical Co.
CHICAGO, ILLS.
Theatre Equipment Co.
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
Western Supply Co.
OMAHA, NEBR.
Kansas City Machine & Supply Co.
KANSAS CITY, MO., AND DES MOINES, IA.
Pacifie Amusement Supply Co.
LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

AND OTHERS

Have amalgamated our respective places of business under one management—the

UNITED THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION

OUR POLICIES:

FIRST, to serve the Exhibitor in any part of the United States from a most efficiently managed and equipped branch office which will be your service station.

To secure for the Exhibitor the lowest market prices consistent with sound business merchandizing, which is the assured consequence of our accumulated purchasing power.

To co-operate with existing dealers to enable them to serve those Exhibitors who may be located nearer the dealer than they are to our branch office.

To provide our branch offices with a complete stock of machines, repair parts, accessories and supplies.

To carry in each branch office a sufficient number of loan mechanisms for the make of machines we will represent as distributors, for the convenience, insurance and safety of our Exhibitor customers, so that when a machine breaks down the Exhibitor will immediately upon receipt of telegram to our nearest branch to have a loan mechanism shipped to him, for which no rental will be made, while the defective mechanism is being repaired at our branch office.

To maintain a competent Engineering and Repair Department in each branch office where only genuine proper fitting parts made of the right material by the makers of the machines will be used.

To maintain an Engineering Information Bureau thru which Exhibitors may secure free service concerning projection troubles and problems.

To stock and carry machines, accessories and supplies of the highest quality only to insure the Exhibitor against the heavy losses and troubles experienced when purchasing thru irresponsible concerns.

UNITED THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION
H. T. EDWARDS, Pres.  J. H. HALLBERG, V.-Pres.  E. E. FULTON, Sec'y
1604 BROADWAY  NEW YORK, U. S. A.
Screen Surfaces

MOTION PICTURE NEWS is called upon from time to time to express an opinion as to how to coat a sheet or wall in order to show a good picture on it, or how to wash some surface which is used as a screen which was never intended to be washed and which, as soon as water is applied, curls up and is of absolutely no further use. All this sort of information is interesting, but its actual value is questionable. We have formulas which can be fussed over—paint is made which may do the trick under certain definite conditions, but it is, after all, a make-shift and not satisfactory in the long run.

When we are sick we go to a doctor and not an Indian medicine man, who would fill us up on a lot of roots, the value of which is problematical. When you buy a screen for a picture theatre, you should look about and find a screen specialist who has made a study of light rays and who can come in as a doctor and tell you, under the given conditions, just exactly what surface you should use—whether it should be reflective or not, and to what degree. Every house has a different condition to contend with and therefore needs a different picture surface in order to obtain the best results.

ONE house in the East, which is said to be a leader, has had a stock screen in from practically every screen factory in the country. The conditions in this case were 100 per cent bad. The projection room is up on the roof. The pictures are naturally distorted. The screen should be tipped, but it is not; in fact the whole condition is such that only an expert should be called in. Everything from the plain white painted curtain up to the most highly reflective aluminum surface has been used, all with the same result—absolutely unsatisfactory. It may be unfair to be harsh with any one of these surfaces for the conditions are such that the only hope of showing a good picture from all points in the house is to have a surface which will actually be scientifically prepared for that particular house—it must not be a stock screen. It is only a matter of degrees, however, between this and any other house. A screen is now being built to take care of these conditions which is to be shaded from a 100 per cent reflective aluminum surface to a deep golden finish.

A long and narrow house with a perfectly horizontal throw should have a very reflective screen, in order that the picture may be clear from every part of the house, and incidentally save the current bill. When we have a square house with the broader reflective angles the surface should not be as reflective, for the distribution of light viewed from any point in the audience must be equal all over the screen or as nearly so as possible.

THE theatre owner, mainly because of a desire to cut down his overhead costs, does not allow himself to take all of these things into consideration. He has his theatre with its seats, etc., which were made by experts, yet when it comes to the production of the very thing for which he has had the house built, he takes the attitude that anything which he can save on this equipment is that much cash in hand. We preach saving on construction details where possible and on the various other items, but see to it that the picture which the audience sees is the very best which can possibly be produced by experts. Don't let anyone tell you that their home-made product is to be in any way compared with that which can be prepared by men who know how to properly meet given conditions. It is not.

Another side of the question is that a very large majority of the theatres in the country are today using especially prepared screen surfaces and have given up the old idea that a white curtain and a pot of paint will solve any screen trouble which can possibly arise. It will not.

E. K. GILLET.
Fireproof Shipping Case

A. CARTER, of Brattleboro, Vermont, has constructed one of the first shipping cases for motion picture film which has yet been produced. The container is round, a little larger than the reels themselves, and is lined with fireproof fiber, which is required in some states. The cases vary in size, being built to hold from one to nine reels.

The reels themselves are specially constructed, being solid on the side, as shown at "A." About each reel runs a movable steel band, the edges of which are bent around a heavy wire, "G."

Behind this edge fits the flanged edge of the reel. When this has been fitted the steel band is pressed together, and when tight is caught by a steel snap lock, "D." This makes the reel itself practically fireproof. Each reel has a three-inch hub, the hole through it being filled with metal shown at point "D."

At the bottom of the container is fastened a rod "D," which runs up through the reels and out through the cover at "C."

The end of this rod is threaded through, being a thumbscrew "B," which screws down, holding the cover so that it is immovable. There is also a lock at this point. The top of the cover is counter sunk as shown—the handle "H," thumbscrew and all, being flush with the top, which makes the case much easier to handle.

The hub, "X," itself shows thought. Instead of the usual catch for the film, there is a notch in which a strip of tape is fastened. This extends outside the reel. At the end of the tape is a clamp which grabs the end of the film, thus doing away with the present impractical method.

Between the reels and the sides of the case is room for single sheets and lobby display pictures as shown at "E." The interest already shown by exchanges in this new case evidences the success with which it should meet.

Behind this edge fits the flanged edge of the reel. When this has been fitted the steel band is pressed together, and when tight is caught by a steel snap lock, "D." This makes the reel itself practically fireproof. Each reel has a three-inch hub, the hole through it being filled with metal shown at point "D."

At the bottom of the container is fastened a rod "D," which runs up through the reels and out through the cover at "C."

The end of this rod is threaded through, being a thumbscrew "B," which screws down, holding the cover so that it is immovable. There is also a lock at this point. The top of the cover is counter sunk as shown—the handle "H," thumbscrew and all, being flush with the top, which makes the case much easier to handle.

The hub, "X," itself shows thought. Instead of the usual catch for the film, there is a notch in which a strip of tape is fastened. This extends outside the reel. At the end of the tape is a clamp which grabs the end of the film, thus doing away with the present impractical method.

Between the reels and the sides of the case is room for single sheets and lobby display pictures as shown at "E." The interest already shown by exchanges in this new case evidences the success with which it should meet.
Reading Electric Meter

May 12, 1917

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

W. E. S., Wyoming, writes: “We are about to increase the length of throw by moving the screen back of the proscenium opening. We wish to be able to use this space for a small stage. The distance from machine to screen after alterations are made will be 75 feet; at present the throw is 67½ feet. I wish to obtain a picture 14¾ by 11 feet 2 inches. Of course, we understand that this increased throw will necessarily make our picture larger, and we are undecided whether to use the same lens or not. Is there any great amount of brilliancy lost with this increased throw, and would you advise us to purchase a new lens? Will you also be kind enough to inform us whether it is possible to obtain a lens that will overcome the out of focus effect caused by the machine not being exactly centered with the screen.”

Answer: You are using a lens whose focal length is approximately 4½ in. E. F. This lens will give you a picture whose dimensions are approximately 12 x 16 feet at a distance of 75 feet. There seems to be no reason why you should change this lens, for if your screen will accommodate a picture that size it will only be necessary for you to focus in the regular way. The slight difference in brilliancy due to the increase of the throw, which is less than ten feet will not make any great difference in your case. The out of focus effect is something which I cannot offer any advice upon as you do not state how much your machine is off center. Under normal conditions, with a throw of 75 feet there is no reason why you should not be able to place your machine 10 feet of center without any serious distortion upon the screen. The point to be remembered is to focus the picture as sharply as possible on the principal part of the subject and you should then secure perfect satisfaction.

Why Three Wires Instead of Two?

G. H. W., Iowa, writes: “Will you explain why the three-wire system is used in place of the regular two-wire system? Is there any preference so far as the operation of a motion picture machine is concerned in using the 110 or 220 volt service, and how would you connect the rheostat on a three-wire system?”

Answer: In order to answer your questions consecutively I will number them 1, 2 and 3. (1) There are two reasons why the three-wire system is used instead of the two-wire system. The main reason is that it allows a much smaller amount of copper being used, and this cuts the cost of installation very greatly. The second reason is that the three-wire system permits two different voltages without complication or inconvenience on the same system by the use of only three wires instead of four. Another reason is that there is greater convenience in using smaller wires, switches, etc., which can be installed with less trouble. The advantage of operating incandescent lamps at 110 volts and motors at 220 volts is important from both a commercial and economical point of view. (2) In all cases where it is possible 110 volts should be used because with 110 volts there is a series with the arc to enable you to obtain steady operation, whereas, with 220 volts it is necessary to install a resistance consuming 110 volts unnecessarily, which gives off a great amount of heat, which is wasteful as well as expensive. (3) The rheostat is made for either 110 or 220 volts. The voltage of the rheostat naturally determines whether the machine is to be connected to the outside wires or the inside and outside wire. In the former case it would be operating on 220, while in the latter it would be on the 110 volt circuit.

Lears Theatre Supply Company Moves

THE Lears Theatre Supply Company, for several years established in the House Building, on Chestnut street near Broadway, St. Louis, has moved to new quarters on the south-east corner of Broadway and Market streets. The reason for the move was that the business had outgrown its old home, and needed more office and show room, to display the line of theatre supplies and projection machines.

Supply House Manager

P. F. BROWN, formerly of Chas. Potter, Toronto, Ont., has been appointed the local manager of the Winnipeg branch of the Independent Film and Theatre Supply Company. Mr. Brown took over his new duties on the 16th of April.
Patriotic Slides

Beautifully Hand Colored

25 Cents Each

It is the duty of every Exhibitor to show Patriotic Slides. We have prepared a Special Folder illustrating an assortment of Beautiful Patriotic Slides. Mailed upon request, also write for our Extraordinary Advertising Announcements Slide Catalogue.

ONE of the many attractive slides put out by the Excelsior Illustrating Company, 219 Sixth avenue, New York, is that illustrated below.

This slide is particularly opportune at this time, while exhibitors are co-operating with the United States Government in the effort to promote a spirit of patriotism among the young men who patronize the motion picture theatres throughout the country.

THE special patriotic issue of Novelty Notes, which has just come off the press is a valuable guide to patriotic performances and patriotic exhibitions.

Not only does it contain novel ideas for putting on patriotic shows, but it also helps the exhibitor in every way to prepare his entire program right down to advertising and novelties.

A copy of this issue of Novelty Notes may be had free of charge from the Novelty Slide Company, 115 East 23rd street, New York.

World's Largest Picture Theatre Planned for Newark, N. J.

NEGOTIATIONS were closed last week by Frank G. Hall for the purchase of the Third Presbyterian Church at Nos. 905, 907, 909 and 911 Broad street, Newark, N. J., where he will erect what is claimed to be the largest theatre devoted exclusively to the showing of motion pictures in the world.

Frank G. Hall of Newark, one of the most prominent men in the theatrical and motion picture business, is president and general manager of the Rialto Theatre Realty Company, building the new theatre, and is also president and general manager of the Rialto Theatre Company, which will operate the big playhouse under his personal supervision.

Mr. Hall, who is at the head of seventeen corporations handling theatrical and motion picture enterprises, among which are the Strand theatre of Newark and the Civilization Film Corporation, is recognized as one of the most active figures in the motion picture business.

The Rialto as the new auditorium will be called, is planned upon a scale so elaborate that no city in the country will have a better theatre. With a seating capacity of more than 3,000 and a monster stage with numerous large dressing rooms adjoining it, the Rialto will be a fit place for the suitable presentation of the special feature production for which it is being built. Space for an orchestra of immense proportions promises music of unusual excellence, while lighting and stage effects are being planned which will make possible the presenting of big pictures on a grand scale.

Associated with Frank G. Hall in his latest enterprise are some of the most prominent men of Newark, many of whom are interested in his other ventures. The brokers in the transaction by which Mr. Hall acquires the Third Presbyterian Church property are Applebaum and Applebaum Brothers. The transaction includes the taking over by Mr. Hall of the handsome store and office building on Broad street now nearing completion. Work upon the new theatre will begin immediately.
Condemns Careless Operators

Phillipsburg, N. J., writes: "I read your letter in the Motion Picture News every week, and I want to say you are right when you say the punch holes in films are bad. Any operator who punches films the way I get them should lose his job. The films are the worst. I don’t see why the exchanges do not put a stop to it. It looks bad upon the screen. If all operators would think of the other fellows that gets the film after he is through with it, and take a little more care of the film while it is in his possession, we would have less trouble. I always make it a rule to return films in better condition than that in which I receive them. I hope you will keep up the good work.”

In reply: First, I want to call your attention to the fact that your letter was unsigned. This publication, but to show that you are sincere. The matter of punch holes in film is something that will take much agitation on the part of operators and exhibitors, if any good results are to be obtained. We could keep plugging away in the department every week without result, and unless the ones most vitally interested give us their hearty support we cannot hope for the correction of this evil. One clause of the Wheeler Bill which was introduced to the legislature at Albany would have taken care of this evil so far as New York State was concerned; for it made it a misdemeanor to alter or mutilate a film, the offender liable to prosecution and conviction for such violation. And certainly punching holes in film is mutilation. This might seem to be rather drastic, but it is only drastic measures that are going to have any effect.

Silver Tips Don’t Pit If Used Right

E. M. S., San Francisco, Cal., writes: “Now for some further information regarding the Silver Tip carbon. I find that the deposit of metal is encountered only upon striking the arc, and not while the lamp is burning. By making a doctor back of condenser, such as is used on the Baird machine all this pitting is eliminated, providing, of course, after once striking the arc the carbons are not brought together again so as to cause hissing at the arc. If this suggestion is of any use, pass it along.”

Answer: Your suggestion is right along the lines of experiments I have been making relative to this “pitting” of condensers. I really could not understand why this condition should exist, and I find that there are many operators who have the arc within an inch and a half from the rear condenser; this with continual freezing of the carbons is bound to leave a deposit. This deposit, I think, can be entirely eliminated if operators will use the proper condenser combination and keep the arc at least three inches from the rear condenser, and when striking the arc quickly separating the carbons allowing the carbons to function properly. Summed up, the complaints may be said to be due through improper handling of the arc. Those who have complained about this condition are respectfully urged to follow these suggestions and see if their trouble will not disappear.

Register Satisfaction

It’s easy—good pictures, perfect projection, absolute satisfaction for exhibitor and “fan.”

Bausch Lomb Projection Lenses

are made to get the most out of every foot of film. The images they project are clear, distinct, sharp to the very corners of the screen.

All Edison & Nicholas Power Machines are equipped with Bausch & Lomb Lenses—also obtainable at your film exchange.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.

689 St. Paul Street Rochester, N. Y.

New York Washington Chicago San Francisco

Leading American Makers of Photographic and Other Optical Lenses, Microscopes, Projection Lenses (Heli-Vision), and Other High-Grade Optical Products.

You Can

Operate Your Theatre

Without a

Radium Gold Fibre Screen

But if you're looking for perfect projection

You Won't!

Radium Gold Fibre Screen, Inc.

Leno Schleisinger, Gen. Mgr.
1520 W. 4th St., New York City

Perfect Control of Light Volume, Maximum Brightness and Economy For Motion Picture Projection

The Convarc affords the greatest economy and ease of light control for either alternating or direct current.

Operating on alternating current it delivers true direct current, insuring BRILLIANT WHITE LIGHT, PROJECTION OF TRUE COLOR VALUE WITHOUT FLICKER OR FLARE. As it generates directly the proper voltage required by the arc, all current-wasting and heat-radiating resistances are eliminated.

For this reason the Convarc is also most economical for reducing the voltage of direct current circuited to the voltage of the arc.

The Convarc eliminates the handicap of alternating current and pays for itself in savings on both alternating or direct current circuits.

C & C ELECTRIC & MFG CO.

Garwood, N. J.
Machine Bound Up

W. A. K., Holyoke, Mass., writes: "I had a funny thing happen to me the other day and want your explanation for it. What caused my machine to bind or in other words, lock, in the star and cam? This happened about 200 feet from the end of a reel, and as good luck would have it, it was on my last show. After the show I took the machine apart and found it was in the star and cam. The fly wheel would not budge, but after tinkering for some time I got it working again. Note, don't say it was lack of oil for I keep my machine flooded with oil. This is the first time in all my experience that I have ever had a machine bound up. What would you suggest as being a good way in which to connect two machines to one compensator without doing any damage, also inform me whether it would be practical to do this, or would it shorten the life of the compensator?"

Answer: It is almost impossible to answer your first inquiry with any degree of certainty now, because you have your machine running again and you have changed the condition under which the parts mentioned became bound. It is reasonable to suppose that when a machine runs and gives satisfaction for a few weeks or a month that there can be no structural defects in any of the parts, and when a machine has run as long as one year, then you can be doubly sure that whatever the cause for the star and cam to bind it must have been from an outside source which was removed when you took the machine apart. The only possible thing which I can think of, is that in some manner you must have gotten some foreign matter, perhaps a sliver of metal, in your oil can, or it may be that in cleaning the machine you might have picked up some small particle of metal with your rag or whatever you used, and this in some way become lodged in or near one of the oil holes and finally worked its way into the intermittent movement. Of course, you realize that in an intermittent movement where the distance between the star and cam is so very small as is necessary to maintain it for proper operation, the very slightest particle of dirt or the presence of any foreign substance would lock the movement, but, of course, when you remove the cover and disturb the parts which you would have to do in making the examination, the small particle which might have become lodged there may have dropped out and disappeared in the bottom of the oil well. And let me call your attention to one other thing: it is not necessary to flood your machine with oil. Too much oil is almost as bad as too little, and this too will sometimes cause a machine to bind. Don't forget that fact. Next time you have trouble of this sort, I would advise you to proceed very slowly and very carefully in taking the machine apart, so that you will discover what caused the trouble if possible. I think if you would take your intermittent movement and give it a thorough washing with gasoline, so as to clean it thoroughly and then dip the parts in oil before assembling, and last but not least, filling the oil cups properly you could avoid a recurrence of this trouble.

The use of a compensator on two machines is entirely practical and there is no danger at all. It is necessary, though, that the machines be connected in multiple to the lamp leads of your compensator. Keep in mind however that when you connect two machines in multiple you will not be able to burn both arcs simultaneously. You can only burn one arc at a time. However, it is possible for you to burn arc No. 1, and close the switch for arc No. 2, and the moment you are ready to project a picture with No. 2, you can "steal" the light from the arc in machine No. 1, and let machine No. 2, by merely putting the carbons together and separating them slowly without any injury whatever to your compensator.

Opening of Missouri House

The Princess Theatre, at Pierce City, Missouri, with a seating capacity of 290, equipped with modern projection, ventilation and lighting—was opened to the public the first of April. C. L. Martin is manager of the Princess and is assisted by his sister, Miss Ada Martin. Mr. Martin, in Kansas City, a short time ago, visited the Kansas City Feature Film Company, and arranged to run two Paramount programs each week—one on Monday and the other on Friday. He has secured the co-operation of his public schools by having a series of benefits on Friday nights, and calls it "The Family Group Night." Mr. Martin is also a member of the commercial and civic clubs of Pierce City. Although he has just recently opened the new Princess, he has been the leading exhibitor of Pierce City for a number of years. He is also connected with the Frisco Railroad at that point.

PROJECTION
Without Flicker!

SILVERTIPS ARE HELPING
IN THE REALIZATION OF THIS IDEAL

The projector light operates in an ideal manner only when the arc shows no tendency to flicker and wander. How many times have you been exasperated beyond measure by a jumping, wandering arc at a critical point in your picture?

Silvertips, with their small diameter, center the arc and hold it absolutely steady—they are the key to flickerless projection. Use them if you are seeking this ideal!

One of your number has appropriately called them "The Cure for Flicker!"

Send today for our booklet describing their advantages in detail.

NATIONAL CARBON CO., Cleveland, O.
A Model Small Town Theatre

The Forrest theatre, owned and operated under the management of Frank Forrest, was completed during the year of 1915. It is located in the business center of Boonville, Indiana, and is probably one of the best equipped theatres in any town of similar size.

The simplicity of construction of the house together with its attractiveness has been a source of much comment, and it is ideally constructed for the showing of pictures.

The structure is 40 feet wide by 113 feet deep, and is of brick, concrete and steel. It is absolutely fireproof, coming up to all the requirements of the city's fire laws. The front of the building is constructed of Oriental rug brick with white stone trimmings. Above the entrance to the lobby is a large marquee which extends out as far as the curb. Several display frames, taking three and six sheet posters, adorn the front and side walls of the house.

The lobby measures twelve feet in depth by twenty-two feet in width and is finished in light green and cream color. Sheet metal doors leading into the theatre are finished in mahogany. The floor is of cement. Several display and photo frames add to the general appearance of the lobby. The direct lighting system is used here.

The interior of the theatre is also decorated in light green and cream color with old gold trimmings. The light green runs around the side walls about half the height of the theatre, eight feet, is topped off with a neat border of a conventionalized flower in gold. The cream color is used on the ceiling and the balance of the side walls.

The semi-indirect lighting system is used. The ceiling fixtures are the bowl type, stained glass globes suspended by chains. In addition to the ceiling fixtures several one-light side-wall brackets have also been installed, which, used in conjunction with the other fixtures make the interior as bright as day.

Heating is accomplished by means of a system installed by the American Radiator Company; this used in connection with Sturtevant blowers is an efficient method of keeping a theatre well heated and ventilated.

The American Seating Company, of Chicago, furnished 610 comfortable opera chairs finished in mahogany. Of these there are 550 on the main floor, the others being balcony seats.

The projection room constructed of steel and concrete contains two Simplex projectors, a double dissolving apparatus and a General Electric mercury arc rectifier. The booth measures ten feet by twenty-four feet, and is in charge of Operator Edward Lynch. The length of throw is 90 feet onto a gold fiber screen.

The theatre is also equipped to stage vaudeville acts if any time the management should wish to do so. The prosenium opening is about 22 feet in width and the stage has a depth of about 15 feet. Equipped with foot and border lights which are controlled from the projection booth.

Music for the picture is furnished by an orchestra of large dimensions which was installed at a large cost to the management.

PROJECTORS

Are Required When the BEST Results Are Desired

A Few Simpler Facts

MACHINE

Is heavily constructed, and made with the greatest of precision and accuracy. Gears and shafts are the highest grade of material.

ADJUSTABLE SHUTTER

Exclusive feature. The shutter can be accurately regulated, even when the machine is in operation.

ENCLOSED MECHANISM

The gears of the machine are enclosed, thereby protecting them from dust and foreign matter, thus minimizing the possibility of anything accidentally coming in contact therewith.

AIR LAMP AND LAMP HOUSE

Has sight adjustments. Lamp House made of heavy sheet iron, roomey and well-ventilated, double-door, and improved condenser mount.

MOTOR EQUIPMENT

Motors are manufactured by the largest manufacturers of standard motors in the world. Highest quality.

INTERMITTENT MOVEMENT

Has scientifically constructed and built of the most enduring material and will withstand the constant grind required of the intermittent today.

FRAMING DEVICE

Exclusive Feature. The framing of the picture is done directly accomplished by advancing, or returning the intermittent movement.

FIRE PROTECTION

Unbreakable sheet-steel protecting devices. Film lamps are not removable, but are part of the mechanism proper. The Automatic Fire Shutter is operated by a governor when the machine is run at normal speed. The shutter operated by gravity.

PEDESTAL

Constructed on correct mechanical principles, easy to adjust to either vertical or horizontal direction by means of one screw.

VARIABLE SPEED CONTROL

Regulates the speed of Projector from 10 to 120 revolutions per minute.

Will Outwork and Outwear Any Other Motion Picture Machine in the World

SEND FOR CATALOG "N"

The Precision Machine Co. Inc.
317 East 34th St. New York
Guarantee Your Projection With This Trade Mark

SPEER “HOLD-ARKS”

Used with a Speer Cored (Upper) Carbon assure Intense Illumination and a Steady Arc

The Essential Requirements of Every Operator

The Carbons That Have Revolutionized the Motion Picture Industry

Manufactured by

SPEER CARBON CO., St. Marys, Penn’a.

“Seventeen Years of Knowing How”

AIM FOR THE HIGHEST

PRESENT DAY PROGRESS DEMANDS IT

Power’s Cameragraph

IS THE BIG STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

THE GREAT MAJORITY HAS TAKEN IT
NONE HAS REGRETTED IT
ALL HAVE BENFITED BY IT

LET US GIVE YOU FURTHER DETAILS

CATALOG D MAILED UPON REQUEST

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

NINETY GOLD STREET

NEW YORK, N. Y.
The Precision Ball Bearing Tripod

There has just been introduced by the Motion Picture Apparatus Company, Inc., of 110 West Thirty-second street, New York, a tripod for cine cameras, which is destined to enjoy wide popularity among cameramen and producers.

Although great advancement has been made in tripod construction in the last few years, there is always room for improvement, and the new Ball Bearing Precision Tripod represents the latest conception in design, combined with painstaking accuracy in construction.

So numerous and so radical are the improvements incorporated in this latest tripod that it will prove advisable in describing it to proceed from bottom to top of the apparatus in question.

The steel points on the legs of the Precision Ball Bearing Tripod are attached to the tripod legs by clutches and are projected on both ends, so that when a set of points is worn dull they may be reversed, and when both sets of points have become worn they may be resharpended or replaced by a new set at a trifling expense. The legs of the tripod are of hardwood and are reinforced at the top by special braces of brass, which eliminate all tendency toward wobbling at their juncture with the tripod-head proper.

The tripod-head combines both panorama and tilt, as the illustration shows, and is a most novel and thorough example of mechanical design. There are three sockets upon this new tripod head into which the handles (or cranks) may be inserted. The one shown at the side of the tilting table actuates the screw by which the camera is secured, and by inserting the handle into this uppermost socket and turning it the camera is readily fastened to the tripod.

The other two sockets receive the cranks for the panorama and tilting top respectively. The large worm screws which actuate the tilting and panorama movements run in ball bearings of latest design, and the tension at which these movements work may be adjusted to suit the operator.

means are provided whereby any wear in the panoramic or tilting gears may be taken up in short order; the compensation for wear in the tilting table gearing is especially ingenious. The toothed segment which actuates the tilt is mounted in contact with two sliding wedges of bronze. Running in suitably located slots at the ends of these wedges are the flanged heads of two screws, one at each end of the tilt. By a slight turn of each of these screws the inclined surfaces of the wedges are forced toward each other and the toothed segment of the tilting top is thrust down into close engagement with its actuating worm screw.

The panorama may be disengaged for quick turning by loosening the large thumb-knob under the tripod-head. Another new and useful feature is the graduation, into degrees, of the circumference of the panorama and the arc through which the tilt operates. This enables a cameraman to pan the camera away from his setting and return again to his exact "lines" without recourse to his viewfinder or focusing tube.

It is hard to do full justice to any piece of apparatus or mechanism in a mere written description, but this latest addition to cinematographic apparatus is well worthy of investigation by the producing fraternity. The price, which is $150.00, seems reasonable when the workmanship and quality of materials have been duly appraised.

A Photographic Bibliography

(Continued from issue of April 28, 1917.)

PHOTOCHEMISTRY

While this is really a sensimetrical paper, we place it under the heading of Photochemistry since it treats of the effects and characteristics of development as determined in the practice of the H & D system. This paper and the one published in 1890 in the J.T Soc. Chem. Ind. are the principal contributions to the science of photography made by Hunter and Driffield, and the later paper is just as deserving of study as is their first one.

The publication of this second paper upon development aroused considerable discussion, and thus caused important experiments to be undertaken by other workers.

Although Hunter and Driffield's researches have been greatly elaborated upon by subsequent investigators, their findings were upheld, with some minor exceptions, and it will be found profitable to preface the study of more recent works upon sensitometry and development with a study of H & D's paper of 1898.

This book was first issued in 1889 and has held its place through the ensuing years as the best of the general treatises on photochemistry. The various chapters are in the form of lectures delivered by Professor Meldola at the Finsbury Technical College (London), and each chapter is augmented by directions for some simple experiments which will make the subject clear to the student.

Some subsequent works on photochemistry cover the subject in a more exhaustive manner, but Meldola's book has the virtue of explaining the elements of photographic chemistry in a manner which is at once understood by the worker who has only an elementary schooling in chemistry. The characteristic reactions of the various photographic operations are set forth as simple formulas, and for this reason the book will prove serviceable to the rank and file of photographers, which is not, in numerous instances, the case with some recent books of a more technical nature.

This booklet describes and illustrates the manner in which all of the more commonly used photographic chemicals may be made on a small scale with the aid of conventional and easily procurable laboratory utensils. Other substances whose preparation is described is the developer Hydroxidine. It is interesting to note in this connection that the manner in which Taylor proposes to make Hydroxidine on the experimental scale is not unlike the method pursued in the chemical works where this compound is produced commercially.

This volume is a modernized perutuation of the Vogel's "Photochrome" of a couple of decades ago. The reviser, Dr. E. König,
ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

Out it Down

We exercise as much care and concern in DEVELOPING and PRINTING as you do in producing a film.

Protect your work with our experience and high standards of quality workmanship.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.
416-24 West 216th St. New York City
Telephone St. Nicholas 3443-3444

---

LA CINE GAZZETTA
the most important weekly publication of the Italian cinema industry.
12-16 pages
In two colours: large size.
Subscription abroad: 15 frcs. yearly.

---

EXCELSIOR
International Cinema Review. The only publication in 4 languages: French, Italian, English and Spanish.
Published monthly in elegant illustrated edition.
Subscription abroad: 15 frcs. yearly.

---

CINEMA YEARLY DIRECTORY
Complete guide to the cinema industry and commerce both in Italy and abroad—World wide circulation—29,560 addresses—560 illustrations—Contains all legal and business informations about the cinema trade. Big volume of 1,000 pages, handsomely bound in cloth. Price: 10 frcs.

---

INFORMATION
I am interested in Motion Picture Photography and would like
Without Obligation
on my part to obtain information on the equipment as checked
CAMERAS
CAMERA ATTACHMENTS
TRIPODS
LENSES
FILM STOCK
STUDIO LIGHTS
LABORATORY APPARATUS
DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

(To be filled out this advertisement and mailed to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Avenue, New York.)

Name ........................................
Address ....................................

---

is well known to students of color photography by reason of his connection with the firm of Meister, Lucius and Brain, of Hoechst a/r Main, and Konig's name is the guarantee of an interesting and instructive treatise.

There are, of course, the conventional chapters on the action of light upon silver compounds and general instructions on the photographic processes, but the major portion of the work is devoted to an intimate description of the chemical constitution and reaction of all of the substances and compounds used in photography and, in addition, a large number of inorganic and organic dyes are described.

A chapter is devoted to the cyanines and isocyanines, which are, as is generally known, the sensitizing dyes that have made possible the present day results in color photography. Konig's notes on the isocyanines are of incalculable value, for no one else could describe these dyes with such authority.

Although this data on the isocyanines is not as extensive as one could wish, it should be studied by the experimenters on color photography (and cinematography), and we shall present a translation of the paragraphs in question in a future article.

15. "PHOTOCHIMIE UND PHOTOGRAPHIE," by Dr. Karl Schaum. Handbuch Der Angewandten, Physikalischen Chemie, Part IX. Publisher, Johann A. Barth, Leipzig, 1908.

The photochemical researches of Professor Schaum are well and favorably known to advanced students of the theory of the photographic processes, and any of Schaum's writings on the subject are sure to merit consideration.

We understand that under the above title a complete treatise on Photochemistry has been issued, but up to the present we have only seen the first section (Part IX). This covers in a thorough fashion the action of light in photography and gives a valuable exposition of the principles of photometry, spectroscopy and the physiological aspects of light and color, such as the determination of the fundamental color sensations, complements, and contrasts.

The volume in question leads up to the physico-chemical phases of photographic reaction, and the latter portion of this work is doubtless of similar importance, and when we have seen the latter portion of Schaum's work a review of the same will appear in the Camera Department.

In this extended and scholarly series of articles Bancroft has given a fascinating account of his numerous and varied experiments covering the action of light and various chemical manipulations on the light-sensitive compounds used in photographic emulsions. The author has not confined his remarks to his own work exclusively, but makes frequent reference to the work of other noted experimenters upon photochemistry. A special virtue of Bancroft's articles is that in numerous instances the findings of other workers are quoted at length, instead of being merely referred to in footnotes. This makes the articles broad in scope, and most valuable if a more interesting essay has ever been written upon photochemical reactions.

This series of articles, which are a sequel to the ones just described, is along the same lines as the earlier articles, but confined to experiments made upon photographic plates. A great portion of the data is upon solubility (reversal of the negative image by prolonged action of light), that interesting phenomenon which is ever an interesting source of experiment. The interesting character of Bancroft's earlier articles is maintained throughout this succeeding series, and we consider "The Electrochemistry of Light" and "The Photographic Plate" the most readable works on photochemical reaction which we have come across to date.

In this work the physics and chemistry of the photographic processes are dealt with in a modern and highly scientific manner, and Sheppard's book is perhaps the most advanced treatise on the subject which has yet appeared in English. The numerous references to the researches of other workers show the author's wide acquaintance with scientific and photographic literature, and materially add to the value of the work.

We are inclined to think that the average photographer would find difficulty in negotiating Sheppard's text on account of its

---

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
deeply scientific nature, but as a work of reference it will provide valuable suggestions leading toward the solution of the difficult problems of photographic practice. "Photochemistry" is a representative and modern treatise on its particular subject, and provides a liberal education in modern methods of photographic research.

(To be continued next week)

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., Removes Office to Jersey City

We are advised by Messrs. A. J. Corcoran, Inc., the well-known makers of tanks and racks for film laboratories, that they are removing their business office from 11 John street, New York, to their factory at 753 Jersey avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

This move comes after a fifty years occupancy of the John street location, and is made imperative by the volume of business in which the Corcoran concern is at present enveloped. By combining their offices and factory under one roof considerable lost motion is eliminated, which results in the prompt execution and shipment of the firm's orders, a most important point in modern salesmanship.

The film developing and washing tanks made by A. J. Corcoran, Inc., are so well known and widely used that it is hardly necessary to eulogize them here, but it is gratifying to learn that the company is at present working on large orders for some of the most representative film manufacturers, who appreciate the Corcoran tanks particularly on account of the "no-leak" joints.

The Corcoran Company have just issued a new catalog descriptive of their famous line of laboratory tanks and racks, and will be pleased to forward a copy to interested parties upon application to their new address, given above.

$100,000 House Planned

North Yankina, Wash., is to have a $100,000 theatre devoted chiefly to motion pictures, it is announced by the Mercy Amusement Company.

The house, which is to be erected during the present year, will be a modern structure of renaissance architecture, finished with white terra cotta and representing the last work in modern theatre equipment.

The main floor of the auditorium is to be 100 by 90 feet, and the proscenium arch 40 feet wide by 35 feet high. While pictures will be the chief attraction, the builders expect, the house will be equipped with a stage sufficiently large to accommodate legitimate attractions.

There will be 833 seats on the main floor and 677 in the balcony, with eight loge boxes on the lower floor and 29 on the upper.

The entrance is to be on a street intersection, opening upon a spacious foyer. From here patrons may reach the lower floor seats by way of an inclined runaway or by an inclined runway make their way to the balcony. Off the lobby are to be a smoking room and a ladies' parlor.

The house will be absolutely fireproof in construction, and as an additional precaution, will be cut off from other buildings by ten-foot alleyways.

When we say that Eastman Film is dependably uniform, we are not making a claim but stating a fact.

Look for the stencil mark "Eastman" in the film margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

UNIVERSAL MOTION PICTURE CAMERA

SIX BIG IMPROVEMENTS
Less Than Half the Price

It introduces six wonderful improvements increasing your speed—new framing adjustment, better film transmission, advanced film channel, new focusing tube, new footage indicator, and the elimination of static. Know these great features.

This "far ahead" camera is sold at less than half the price of cameras of similar quality—200 feet magazine capacity. New automatic dissolve now ready.

Write for Announcement

Send postal. See this remarkable instrument and its exclusive improvements. Realize that the Universal now is the world's supreme value in motion picture cameras.

BURKE & JAMES, Inc.
Sole Wholesale Agents
240 E. Ontario St., Chicago
Eastern Branch:
225 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Music AND THE PICTURE

Exhibitor—Acquire an Up-to-Date Music Library or Help Your Musician Get It

THE following letter, received and reproduced in full, appears to deal with a problem of a very serious character, and it should be the endeavor of every musician and especially of the exhibitor to try and remedy such conditions as described in the following lines:

Music Editor,
Motion Picture News,
New York City.

Dear Sir:

In Motion Picture News of December 16 you offer to cooperate with house musicians in compiling adequate libraries. May I take advantage of this? Here is my case in a nutshell. Am a conservatory graduate and a successful piano theory teacher in a town of 12,000, and have just been playing for our best movie theatre, but it goes without saying, my repertoire has not included the latest popular hits nor ragtime. I'm not above playing ragtime, but it is simply beyond me. Then this house caters to a public who like good things as well as popular.

Well, this week, the fund for music must come out of a salary of $15.00 per week.

Any help you may give me, any suggestion as to right selections, will be keenly appreciated. I might add, have been a church choir director, so you may know I am not afraid of work. I am acquainted with difficulties.

Sincerely yours,

OLIVER M. SMITH,
1320 Second street,
Boone, Iowa.

The cry of this musician for help shows and absolutely proves that it is not always the musician who drives away patronage and who is irresponsible for bad business or the elimination of the better class movie fan. This musician is trying hard to do what she is paid for, and do it right, but the men paying this musician, the man behind the desk, the manager, or even the owner of the theatre, must be held responsible for the fact that this musician, if she loses her job, did not lose it due to her inability to perform her duties, but simply and plainly through the inability of those men above her, who see a scratch in the picture, an electric light burning where it should not, and all sorts of such slight errors. Those who can never see a better looking patron, who creates a refined atmosphere in his theatre, whose presence is changing his theatre from a market into a "Photoplay House," into a " Palace of the Muses," as expressed by one of our most famous managers in New York, S. L. Rothapfel.

When such patron leaves during the performance in silence, what is it due to? Well, either he saw half of the picture or the picture is poor and I paid enough money for it,” etc. These are about the thoughts, at least, of some of our present managers and exhibitors. That bad musical rendition can do just as much harm to his pocket as a bad picture. Well, let the musician worry about that. Why not decide on a certain amount of money to be spent every week for music, to acquire an up-to-date music library?

Look around you, Mr. Exhibitor, and see whose are the most successful theatres today. Positively those paying special attention to their musical programs. Why does S. L. Rothapfel, managing director of the Rialto theatre in New York City, spend over $2,500 a week for his orchestra? Why? Let Mr. Rothapfel explain it to you.

In a recent conversation the managing director of the big New York house commented as follows about the special significance of real good music in connection with moving pictures: "To my mind the orchestra is the all-important feature in this kind of an enterprise. I have a well-known conductor, and he, as well as the players, must be young and enthusiastic, full of spirit and life. Not only must they be able to feel the music as it is meant for them, but they must be able to render it with taste, feeling, and with every necessary degree of expression.

Personally, I admire every class of good music, with Richard Wagner as my favorite and an extreme fondness for the works of Victor Herbert. In arranging my music for a film, I go as far as I think best to have some individual strain, some leit-motif, connected with the picture. It will not do to take a theme and twist or manipulate it without a specific purpose in view. It would be unmusical and certainly would not serve to interpret the picture. I do not fit music to a picture in the sense that this term is usually understood. Rather, I make the picture interpret the music, and the music interpret the picture. Music, to my mind, is just as important as the picture.

"In the first showing of a film," continued Mr. Rothapfel, "every action, every incident, immediately brings to my mind some strain or composition which might fit the picture. Just as soon as I have selected, trimmed and fitted the music to a film, I can, in my mind, see the entire picture from start to finish by simply hearing the orchestra play. So completely do my ideas become associated with both music and pictures that without a look at the film I can tell exactly which scene is being shown on the screen. Whenever I cannot do this I feel that I have failed in selecting the proper music.

"I believe there is considerable popular appeal in good music, by this I do not necessarily mean classical music. There is any amount of classical music which would never help to interpret a film, and I always avoid such numbers. My constant endeavors are to select the best music obtainable for my pictures. Once I have a good, characteristic strain, I follow it up throughout the picture, fit it harmoniously to the action, and endeavor to make a single, effective unbroken musical picture in every way possible. In my estimation every one should know and feel the music, and as to my musicians themselves I believe that they must thoroughly understand this before they can execute the music as it should be executed, and thereby assist towards greater effectiveness of the film itself.

"To my mind all pictures suggest music and all music suggests pictures. I believe I am familiar with all the light operas. I have heard many of them and used them in our theatre. It is a pity that exhibitors do not give this subject more careful attention. I hardly know of one theatre in the United States where I can sit back in my chair and thoroughly enjoy music for a picture.

"Once, however, I heard music fitted to a picture in the Waldorf-Astoria by an Italian director, and afterwards learned that he had especially composed the entire music to fit the picture, just as a writer should write the music of an opera to fit the lyrics.

"Now, Mr. Exhibitor, you read Mr. Rothapfel's comments on the subject of music and pictures. Do you think he is right? Do you think that a man of Mr. Rothapfel's caliber, who has been and is still successful, doesn't know what he is talking about? Do you think that such a man is keeping up such an orchestra, organization to simply decorate his theatre? I admit not every exhibitor has the same opportunity as Mr. Rothapfel, and not every exhibitor can afford to spend such an amount for music, but why not spend something, say three dollars every week, for good and standard musical compositions.

"Did you ever try to find out if such an investment is profitable? Why not try it? Improve your music, give it a chance for six months, then add your receipts and subtract your expenses and compare the remainder with the preceding half-year. Some say what is three dollars per week? What can you get for three dollars? Try it, Mr. Exhibitor; that is all I can say, and you will be surprised to see the amount of music you will accumulate in one year—I assure you, just enough to keep you going without buying any music at all.—Acquire an up-to-date and large library or help your musician to get it. It means in the long run better business, better pictures, a better show, and, last but not least, better profits.
THE HERO OF THE HOUR

(Reviewed on page 2690) (Butterfly Photoplay)

1— "Lunita" (Intermezzo) by Lorraine until—T: "An interview with Dad.
2— "Tender Illusion" (Intermezzo) by Bustany until—T: "Billy encounters a family.
3— "Sweet Embrace" by Bendix until—(4/4 Allegretto) T: "
4— "Lo!" (4/4 Moderato) by Krechmer until—Scene in the West.
5— "Oriental" (Intermezzo) by Bach (watch for railroad effects) until—T: "Dad will be gone.
6— "Dolores" (4/4 Moderato) by Tobi on until—T: "She shall be glad when we reach the coast.
7— "Gallop to action" (watch for railroad effects) until—Pur-
8— "Longing" (9/8 Andante) by Verdi until—The Fight.
9— "Apricot to action" until—You roughnecks, etc.
10— "La Greche" (4/4 Moderato) by Bohm until—Scene with dinner bell ringing.
11— "Produce effect" followed by 12.
12— "Intermezzo" (3/4 Allegretto) by Pierre until—The Fight.
13— "Hurry to action" until—After the fight.
14— "End of the Leaves" (4/4 Polo Agito) by Thorne until—
15— "A course of sprouts." until—Did you get your housework done?
16— "Western Allegro" by Wimble until—Suspicious conduct.
17— "Wild Rosebud" by Tobani until—(4/4 Moderato) A Sun-
18— "Monday morning concert." until—Pretti Baby" popular song until—Dinner bell ringing.
19— "Produce effect" followed by 20.
20— "There's a young man with guitar enters.
21— "Ola Cordura" by Perrier until—S: "Cows running out of dining-room.
22— "Dramatic Tension No. 1" by Ascher until—S: "Mexican my friend.
23— "Agitato to action" until—S: "Interior of Office.
24— "Sudden Idlewise" (Intermezzo) by Gottschalk until—S: "On train.
25— "Gallop to action" until—T: "Come alive you all dead.
26— "The Grocer" by Lake until—  END.

THE GIRL IN THE CHECKERED COAT

(Reviewed on page 2693) (Bluebird Photoplay)

1— "Admiration" (4/4 Moderato) by Jackson is the Theme
2— "Springtime," Overture by Ziegler until—T: "Mary Graham, etc.
3— "Fifth Nocturno" (6/8 Allegretto) by Leybach until—T: "Nin Pan De copj forgii
4— "Intermezzo" (3/4 Presto) by Arenski until—S: "In restaurant.
5— "Basket of Roses" (4/4 Moderato) by Albers until—T: "Dancing scene.
6— "Good Time" to action until—S: "Exterior Polesia cafe.
7— "Adagio Lamento" from "The Pathetic Symphony" by Tchaikowsky until—S: "Bell ringing.
8— "Rustles of Spring" (Agitato) by Sinding—Note Watch for effects.
9— "Continue or repeat to action" until—S: "Sandstorm,
10— "At Sunset" (4/4 Moderato) by Breuer until—T: "David Norman as dinner guest.
11— "Little Story" (Moderato) by Zimmermann until—The train.
12— "Theme" until—T: "Father dies, etc.
13— "Nocturnal Piece" (4/4 Andante) by Schumann until—T: "David had little difficulty.
14— "Melody" (3/4 Non troppo lento) by Paderewski until—T: "At rustic bridge.
15— "Theme" until—E: "Any port in a storm.
16— "Dramatic Tension" by Winkler until—S: "Man comes on with gun.
17— "Good Agitato" to action until—T: "Don't give me up.
18— "My Dreams" (6/8 Andante Moderato) by Dorothy Lee until—T: "David takes charge.
20— "Theme" until—S: "Window exterior house.
21— "Andante Mysterioso" by M. L. Lake until—S: "Walk in garden.
22— "Poor Relations" Moderato Mysterioso by Bendix until—S: "At desk.
23— "Prelude Du Deluge" (4/4 Adagio) by Saint Saens until—T: "They blossomed early.
24— "Rococco" (Intermezzo) by Meyer Humnd until—T: "T'll 25— "Velo" (Dramatic Overture) by Reissinger until—T: "Another Christmas eve.
26— "Around the Christmas Tree" (A Yule Tide Potpourri) by Tobi on until—  END.

HER GREAT LOVE

(Reviewed on page 2517) (Fox Production)

"Dreams of Love" (14 Paces Alley) con effetto by List is the Theme
1— "Large" by Hancel until—T: "Vera's grandmother etc.
2— "Adieu" (4/4 Moderato) by Kargoff until—T: "Vera's mother, etc.
3— "Continue to action" until—T: "The day of Vera's arrival.
4— "Amour du Papillon" (2/4 Allegretto) by Henneberry until—T: "Not youth will not be denied.
5— "Two Walters" by Dvorak until—T: "The prisoner.
6— "Theme" until—S: "Ceres has no money, no rank.
7— "Continue II" until—T: "At the summer residence of Prince Zuirgal.
8— "Melody" (4/4 Moderato) by Tchaikowsky until—T: "Innocence weaves its spell.
9— "Continue to action" until—T: "At last love has come, etc.
10— "Theme" until—T: "A catch to be envied.
11— "Sleeping Beauty" (Waltz) by Tchaikowsky until—T: "Do you propose to give your daughter, etc.
12— "Continue II" until—T: "Love and youth sacrificed.
13— "Theme" until—T: "Her bridal day.
14— "Heartsounds" (4/4 Allegretto Expressivo) by Grieg until—T: "The bridge of wealth.
15— "Organ to action" (short scene) until—T: "The broken heart.
16— "Adagio Lamento" by Tchaikowsky until—T: "As the months pass.
17— "In Lover's Lane" (6/8 Allegro Moderato) by Pryor until—T:
18— "Gypsy" until—T: "Young man at piano.
19— "Piano Solo improvise" on Theme
20— "Andante" from the "Pithot Symphony" by Beethoven to singing or if until—T: "In the middle of the description of Sadiats.
21— "Princl" (4/4 Lento) by Rachmaninoff until—T: "In the midst of the description of Sadiats.
22— "Organ to action until—S: "Vera recognizes her lover.
23— "Theme" II until—T: "Prince arrives.
24— "Invention of Sleighbells" followed by—25— "Organ improvise" pp until—T: "So this is how my wife, etc.
26— "Long Agitato" to action until—T: "I'll meet you at once.
27— "Hurry to action" until—T: "Prince is dead.
28— "Theme" II pp until—T: "END.

SHE

(Fox De Luxe Production)

"Anthony's Love Song" (Andante Expressivo) from the Cleopatra Suite by Oehlmann is the Theme
1— "Celine" (2/4 Andantino) Canzontina by Lange until—T: "On letter. These are the famous gates of the temple.
2— "At Sunrise" (4/4 Moderato) from the Desert Suite by Homer Grau until—T: "In a far strange country.
3— "Continue or repeat to action until—S: "Man carrying woman into house.
4—
5— "Theme" (Triumphant Rolls during flame scenes) until—T: "The bank in this house.
6— "Cleopatra's Death" (4/4 Andante Sostenuto) from the Cleopatra Suite by Oehlmann until—T: "At the temple derocated, etc.
7— "Reverie Du Soir" (6/8 Allegretto) from Suite Algeriennc by Saint Saens until—T: "What has she done.
8— "Continue II until—T: "From Egypt I fled to Greece.
9— "Evacue" (9/8 Andante Moderato) by Gurne until—T: "I finally joined a wandering tribe.
10— "Arabian Serenade" by Lange until—S: "Child near alti-gerators.
11— "Short Hurry" to action (watch shots) until—T: "Flash-
12— "Organ to action until—T: "Off the coast of Africa.
13— "Storm Serenade" until—T: "Accused by your memory.
14— "Continue to action until—T: "In the land of Car.
15— "Theme" until—T: "Then you are the son of the man, etc.
17— "Almich" (Arabian Dance) by Armend until—S: "Son saves his father.
18— "Hurry to action" pp during interior scenes until—T: "Cease in the name of she.
19— "Romancer" (3/4 Andante con moto) by Rubinstein until—20— "The Judgment seat of She.
21— "Organ to action until—T: "The Arab leader I have ordered, etc.

THE BARILLA

Compare the quality of tone, simplicity of construction, and workmanship with all others.

CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 707-712 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Factory Oshkosh, Wis.
THE BARTOLA
ORCHESTRAL STOPS WILL MAKE YOUR PIPE ORGAN
UP TO DATE
LOW IN COST

ORGAN AND ORCHESTRA
WITH ONE PLAYER

Orchestral Instruments and Effects Combined with any Pipe Organ

Write for Particulars
Today

Add 100% to
Your Music

BARTOLA MUSICAL INSTRUMENT CO.
CHAS. C. PYLE, Gen. Sales Agent.
707-712 Malters Bldg, Chicago
FACTORY, OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN

M. WINKLER'S
DRAMATIC and INCIDENTAL
NUMBERS
are specially written and composed
FOR
THE MOTION PICTURE
SPECIAL IF YOU MENTION
THE NEWS
Small Orchestra and Piano 23c
Full Orchestra and Piano 30c

DRAMATIC TENSION
INDIAN LOVE THEME
CHINESE ALLEGRO
WESTERN ALLEGRO

are now obtainable
FROM
CARL FISCHER—Cooper Square
NEW YORK

Empire Theatre, Montgomery, Ala., Building

THE New Empire theatre building now under construction in Montgomery, Ala., owned by the N. J. Bell estate, will upon completion, be one of the most modernly equipped motion picture theatres in the country.

According to plans prepared by Frederick Ausfeld, architect, the building will be completed and ready for occupancy by June first. The building has a frontage of 72 feet and a depth of 115 feet, and is located on Montgomery street, directly opposite the Bell Building, within one block of the heart of the city. The design is of Renaissance style, with elaborate architectural and artistic treatment, faced with stone and pressed brick, topped with elaborate stone cornices. A copper marquee over full width of sidewalk is to be erected for entire frontage of building.

The lobby is 14 feet in width and 40 feet long, with red tile door, wainscoted 6 feet high with inlaid marble, and ornamental plaster cornices, wall and ceiling decorations. The box office is located in the center of the lobby. Ladies’ rest rooms are on the right side and gentlemen’s smoking room on the left side of the lobby. There are two entrances leading from the lobby to the foyer, which is at the rear of the auditorium. The aisles leading into the auditorium are conveniently located.

A bowed floor, with an incline of seven feet six inches and a seating capacity of nine hundred, gives an unobstructed view from every seat.

Directly in front of the screen is a platform for lecturing and illustrating purposes. The orchestra pit, located in front of the platform, is separated from the body of the theatre by brass railing. The walls and ceiling of the auditorium are treated in Renaissance design, consisting of plastic ornamentation, all of which is to be decorated by experienced artists.

The theatre will be equipped with complete ventilating, heating and cooling systems; no money will be spared in giving its patrons all the comforts that can be produced.

The indirect lighting system has been installed, having been studied from every angle to obtain the most pleasant and desirable effects for a motion picture theatre.

The projection and winding rooms are located on the second floor, near the office of the manager. These rooms have been provided with fireproof lining, so that in case of fire in either of them they would not endanger the rest of the building.

Exits have been built on the left side of the building and connect with an alley which leads to the sidewalk in front of the theatre.

A full orchestra will be maintained in addition to which a large and handsome pipe organ will be installed, with pipes concealed in richly decorated chambers, on either side of the screen.

The theatre will be under the management of H. C. Farley, who for many years was in charge of the Empire theatre, on Commercial street. Only the highest class motion pictures will be exhibited, accompanied by the best music.
BUILDING AND FURNISHING

Supply Dealers' Combination Completed

The rumors which have been rife in the motion picture field since last July concerning a combination of supply dealers, under one head, have at last materialized. Announcement has been made that at least seventeen independent dealers have been united under one head forming what is now known as the United Theatre Equipment Corporation. These companies are as follows: The Picture Theatre Equipment Co., New York; J. H. Hallberg, New York; Novelty Slide Co., New York; Calchiff Supply Co., Philadelphia, Pa.; Feature Film & Calcium Light Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ludwig Himmel & Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Southern Theatre Equipment Co., Atlanta, Ga., and Dallas, Texas; Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co., Cincinnati, O.; Motion Picture Supply Co., Cleveland, O.; Enterprise Theatre Equipment Co., Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich.; E. E. Fulton Co., Chicago, Ill.; Kleine Optical Co., Chicago, Ill.; Theatre Equipment Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; Western Supply Co., Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City Machine & Supply Co., Kansas City, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia.; Pacific Amusement Supply Co., Los Angeles, Calif.

It is stated that other local dealers are considering entering the new corporation. Their names, however, will be given later. The officers of the new company are as follows: H. T. Edwards, president; J. H. Hallberg, vice-president; E. E. Fulton, secretary.

It is the aim of this new organization to act as distributing agent for various commodities which are at the present time manufactured for the motion picture industry. As distributor the new company will cooperate with various small dealers, located in various territories throughout the country, helping them cooperate with the theatre owners more efficiently than they can do at the present time.

The plan is to have upwards of seven wareerooms scattered throughout the country from which the various branch offices and dealers may receive delivery of goods without delay, thus avoiding the present difficulty of delayed shipments, etc.

It is also planned to maintain an engineering and repair department in each branch, so that service can be rendered with as little loss of time as possible.

The present organization is a big undertaking as is shown by the length of time consumed in perfecting it. As its organizers state, it is not intended to do away with competition or eliminate other dealers but to handle goods more efficiently and economically.

THERE is no doubt that the service will be rendered with as little loss of time as possible.

Indiana Theatres

The Murret theatre, at Tenth and Main streets, Richmond, Indiana, was designed by Messrs. Taylor & DuCamp, architects, with office in Cincinnati, Ohio. The theatre was completed during 1913, and is owned and operated under the management of O. G. Murray. It is in the business district of the city.

The theatre is 34 feet wide by 136 feet in depth. The lobby extends the width of the house and is 20 feet deep. It contains several brass display frames taking one and three sheet posters. These add greatly to the attractiveness of the exterior. The box office contains a National Cash Register ticket selling machine.

The interior of the house is neatly decorated in old rose with gold used for trimmings. The theatre has a seating capacity of 500, orchestra chairs having been furnished by the American Seating Company. The projection room, which is in charge of Fred Watson, contains two Simplex projectors. The length of throw is 90 feet onto a Gold Fibre screen.

A Bartola orchestra, furnished and installed by the Bartola Musical Instrument Co., furnishes the music for the pictures.

Paramount, Triangle and Metro pictures share the honors of the weekly program, there being six reels shown at each of the six performances.

New Baird Installation

The Independent Movie Supply Co., 729 Seventh avenue, New York, distributor of Baird Projectors, has installed a Baird Motor Drive Projector in the Royal theatre, Hackensack, N. J., owned by Gustav A. Dreyhaupt. Mr. Dreyhaupt reports that the number of reels shown at each performance is seven.

Newspaper and billboard advertising is used extensively and splendid results have been obtained.

PRINCESS theatre, in Evansville, Ind., is operated by the American Amusement Association, under the management of A. J. Merrill. The theatre threw open its doors to the public during the fall of 1914 and has been doing big business since. It has a seating capacity of 400. American Seating Co. furnished the opera chairs.

A Typhoon Ventilating System used in conjunction with a steam heating system are the means of heating and ventilating.

The projection room is equipped with two Simplex projectors and a motor generator set. The length of throw is 70 feet onto a Rembrandt Mirror screen.

A W. W. Kimball organ of large dimensions was installed, as this was considered the best to fulfill the requirements of the management.

Paramount pictures are shown exclusively at this theatre, each subject being run three days, while other houses in the vicinity show them only one day. The first week that the three-day run was tried Pauline Frederick in "Sapho" and Wallace Reid in "The Prison Without Walls" were shown. This was a record week for the Princess, and to substantiate same will quote Manager Merrill: "Pauline Frederick's 'Sapho' and Wallace Reid's 'Prison Without Walls' our record week; believe longer runs will get the cash." There are several performances each day, consisting of six reels each; admission price is ten cents for both matinee and evening.

The theatre, being in the downtown section of the city, is more transient patrons and therefore finds it advisable to advertise in the daily newspapers, shop windows and making a big lobby display.

The Auditorium theatre, owned by Messrs. Henry G. Somers and George H. Hines, is located at 207-211 South Michigan street, South Bend, Indiana, in the shopping district of the city, was built 21 years ago as a legitimate house and has been running pictures exclusively for the past 3½ years. The house was designed by Williams and Eaton, and is a steel, concrete and brick structure, with a frontage of 120 feet on South Michigan street and a depth of 165 feet.

The theatre has a seating capacity of 1,650; 1,000 are orchestra seats, the balance of 650 being box, loges and balcony seats.

The decorating throughout was done by Sossman and Landis. The theatre is heated and lighted by steam and power obtained from the municipal heating and lighting plant.

The projection room contains three of the latest model Edison Simplex projectors, installed at a cost of six hundred dollars each. Speedco Arc controllers and a motor generator set are also used to furnish the best projection possible. Basil G. Downer is chief operator and is responsible for the good results obtained. The length of throw is 150 feet onto a screen of special construction.

The musical equipment of this house is far above the standard, consisting of a Bartola orchestra costing $5,000, a W. W. Kimball Organ costing $10,000 and a Crown Grand Piano.

Open market booking is mostly used; in this way the very best can be obtained. On Wednesday and Thursday, Fox and Metro pictures are shown. There are 6 to 11 performances daily. The average number of reels shown at each performance is seven.

Newspaper advertising is used extensively, about $350 worth of space being occupied each week.

George H. Hines is the manager, and much of the success the theatre has had can be traced back to the efforts exerted by him.
OPERATE CHAIRS

Steel—Cast Iron

Exceptional in Quality—Comfortable

You are invited to make use of our Service Department. Send blue print or sketch for Free Seating Plan.

If you are desirous of reseating, we can help you dispose of old chairs. Write for Catalog N.

We manufacture Special Out-of-Door Seating.

STEEL FURNITURE CO.

1475 Buchanan Ave., S. W.

Grand Rapids, Mich.

---

“Newman” Brass Frames and Rails

Read what C. A. Morrison of The Princess Theatre, Hartford, Conn., says about Newman Quality:

Gentlemen: We have purchased quite a number of Brass Frames and Rails, together with Brass Rail and Three-Sheet Brass Poster Frames of your Company.

All of these goods reached us in perfect condition and the quality was the best. I have told several other managers in the city of your goods and in several instances orders have been sent you—all of which goes to show that your best advertiser is a satisfied customer.

Insist on the Name “Newman” When Buying

Write for New 1917 Catalog

THE NEWMAN MFG. COMPANY

177-19 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati, O.

60 W. Washington Street, Chicago, III.

Established 1858

Francis Representative C. A. Morrison 220 W. 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.

Dominion Representative J. T. Maino, New York, N. Y.

d____

LOBBY DISPLAY FRAME SPECIALISTS

MENGER & RING, Inc.

NEW YORK

124 W. 46th St.

ATLANTA, GA.

Southern Theatre Equipment Co.

---

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also include a page containing a beautiful head of a leading player (latest pose) which is already copyrighted, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won't regret any of these programs from your stock. 25 BIG NAMES NOW READY. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby establishing a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for specifications. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

LARGE HAND COLORED PICTURES

Size 22 x 28 75c Each

Size 11 x 14 125c Each

Each SEMI-FIOTO POST CARD 25c.

Made by a process that has the appearance of a real photograph. Prices, size 8 x 10, 10c; the prominent players, 50c different names, 25c each.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

11th Floor, CANDLER BUILDING.

Send for Catalogue of all prices. Orders Filled Same Day. Write us giving details of your doll nights, and we will send you a remedy.

---

DIRECTORY OF NEW THEATRES

ARKANSAS

The Grand theatre at Conway will by fall be a complete and new Grand theatre, for J. H. Lincoln, the manager, announces many starting improvements and changes. The entire theatre is to be remodeled to increase the seating capacity from six to eight hundred, there will be a new lobby, tile floors, marble wainscoting with French beveled mirrors encircling the entire lobby. The interior walls are also to be likewise paneled. Newest systems of ventilation will be installed and a large stage is to be erected capable of accommodating the best of the road shows.

ILLINOIS

The closing of the Opera House at Springfield was keenly felt by the many admirers of the silent drama, and word now comes that their loss...

---

TYPHOOON COOLING SYSTEM

TYPHOOON FAN COMPANY

1544 BROADWAY

NEW YORK CITY

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
will be but practically momentary, for a public spirited citizen is projecting a plan whereby a new theatre will be soon erected and devoted solely to motion pictures.

A motion picture show has been installed on the old Harrell Hotel lot at Harlan and reports good business. The electric light power is furnished from the neighboring garage. P. C. Coggins and Paul St. Fiedler are behind the venture.

ILLI A.

A. H. Blank, of Omaha, is planning the erection of a new theatre at Des Moines, where he has other business interests.

KENTUCKY

The opening of the Gem theatre after having been closed for a number of months made considerable business. Large crowds were present on the opening day. The Gem was always very popular with the picture lovers of Mayville and the best of pictures obtainable could be seen there. The new managers are planning to keep the Gem up to its old standard of showing only the best. Marcus Loom, the New York motion picture and vaudeville manager, was in Louisville last week and from reliable sources it is learned that he is looking for a site to erect a combined vaudeville and motion picture theatre in this city. It is said that he is favorably impressed with the field in Louis ville and that he is contemplating building a big theatre on a prominent corner in the business district. Mr. Loom intends to build a theatre that will seat at least 5,000 persons, it is stated. He intends to extend his circuit throughout the south to include Louisville, Indianapolis, Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Birmingham, Washington and Baltimore, according to the information.

The new theatre erected by William Roop and Pete Hunter at Nelson recently threw open its doors to capacity business.

MISSOURI

A new theatre was opened a week ago at Callao under the management of T. A. Erwin. It is intended to give shows Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights of each week.

NEBRASKA

A. H. Blank, of the manifold Blank enterprises, has taken out a ninety-nine year lease on the one-quarter block at the corner of Fifteenth and Douglas streets in Omaha and will erect a $50,000 theatre and office building. The theatre is to be built within the year and will, when completed, seat 2,000 people.

A. W. Bailey is building a new house at York, putting in American seats, a type S Simplex and a Minima screen.

A. B. Arnett, of Frankfort, has been granted a permit to erect a motion picture theatre on the lot adjoining his store, and he is already seeking the most modern ideas in construction.

NEW JERSEY

Walter Rosenberg, of the St. James' Theatre Company, of Asbury Park, has broken ground for the construction of a $150,000 fireproof moving picture theatre and store building, to be erected at St. James' place and Lookman avenue.

NORTH DAKOTA

Bill Dahlgren, of Redfield, is building a new theatre. When he leaves his present Princess theatre, for one that will be the last word in perfection and comfort. He expects to break ground some time this month.

SOUTH DAKOTA

J. C. Sakin, of Winner, announces that his new $15,000 theatre, which is one of the best equipped west of Omaha, is about ready for opening. It will have a seating capacity of 450, will be absolutely fireproof and equipped with a modern stage. The New Casino, as the house will be known, will be reproduced in these columns shortly after the opening.

TENNESSEE

A new motion picture theatre was recently completed in the business center of Nashville by George Willhams, who will also be the manager. At cost of nearly a thousand dollars in attractive commodations and well ventilated gallery has since been fitted up. The opening show was patronized by a large number representing all ages. The pictures will be of a high class.

The Mutual Amusement Company of Chattanooga last week purchased a lot, 55x150 feet, upon which an up-to-date theatre will be erected, to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 and have a seating capacity of 1,000. The officers of the Mutual are Sam E. Brum, president; Abe Shubaisky, vice-president, and M. H. Silverman, secretary and treasurer. It is their aim and hope to have the new house ready in the early fall, and it will be devoted to motion pictures and vaudeville.

WASHINGTON

Centralia, Wash., is to have a new $5,000 theatre building. The structure to be erected at Pearl and Pike streets will have a footage of 125 feet and will be 120 feet deep. The theatre has been leased by the Pathe Film Corporation, and will be managed by them. The deal was closed by Mr. Kiefield, western manager of the Pathe Corporation.

WISCONSIN

J. J. Rodenstock, of Eagle River, is converting his furniture store into a theatre for motion pictures, the rendering being necessary by the ever increasing demand for seats. The Dramatic Club of Rodenstock's present house is in a manufacturing and the new quarters will accommodate at least one hundred more seats. Modern improvements will be installed throughout.

The Kids in Your Neighborhood Go to the Movies

Who Gets Their Money—You or Your Competitor?

Do you realize that thousands of exhibitors in the United States have greatly increased the earning power of their theaters by making friends with the kiddies. If you let someone else take the children's trade away from your theater, you not only lose their nickels and dimes, but the nickels and dimes of their fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers, because where the kiddies go their parents go.

Movie Rings and Buttons

are a mighty aid to the up-to-date exhibitor. They help you get the children's friendship and hold it—and the children bring their folks to the theatre of "The Movie Man who gives rings to them."

Each ring comes packed in a neat envelope, bearing the name and address of your theatre. Let us hear from you at once.

Prices on request

CAHILL IGOE COMPANY
117 W. Harrison Street, Chicago, Ill.

Hilfie Burke

Especially Adapted to Theatres

"BERGER'S" CLASSIK STEEL CEILINGS

Isn't the ceiling in the above illustration attractive? Note the distinctive appearance it gives to the theatre, due to the elaborate effect of the deeply-stamped panels.

At reasonable cost, you can make your theatre equally attractive. May we explain the many advantages of Berger's "Classik" Steel Ceilings?

Send for Details and Catalog D. M. N.

The Berger Mfg. Co., Canton, O.

Wisconsin Theatre, Canton, Ohio

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
The Speed That Counts

The typist who has a variety of work needs every possible convenience.

She may have to write letters, telegrams, checks, labels, cut stencils, address envelopes, fill out index cards, make out invoices—all in the same day, on the same machine.

The typewriter that enables her to do this in the shortest time must have certain mechanical conveniences for quickly changing from one class of work to another.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

is constructed to give results. It enables the operator to do more work and a greater variety of work.

Send for free catalog of the “Silent Smith,” describing our Model 8, in which 50 to 75 per cent of the ordinary typewriter noise is eliminated.

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter Company
311 Broadway New York City
Factory and Home Office: Syracuse, N. Y.
Branches in all Principal Cities

Better Satisfaction

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Arc Controllers
2. Brass Rails
3. Building Materials
4. Cameras
5. Camera Lenses
6. Carbons
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Change Making Machines
10. Condensers
11. Converters and Transformers
12. Developing and Printing
13. Developing Materials
14. Developing Tanks
15. Disinfectants and Perfumes
16. Economizers and Rheostats
17. Electric Signs
18. Elevators and Escalators
19. Exterior Lighting
20. Film Cabinets
21. Film Carriers
22. Film Cleaners
23. Film Dyes
24. Film Stock
25. Fire Extinguishers
26. Floral Decorations
27. Gas Engines
28. Heating
29. Interior Lighting
30. Interior Telephones
31. Lithographs
32. Lobby Display
33. Metal Ceilings
34. Motors
35. Mural Paintings
36. Musical Instruments
37. Paints
38. Perforating Machines
39. Printing Machines
40. Projection Booths
41. Projection Lenses
42. Projection Machines
43. Projection Machines (Home)
44. Reels
45. Rewinders
46. Safety Exit Locks
47. Screens
48. Slides
49. Stage Settings
50. Stage Lights
51. Ticket Selling Machines
52. Ticket Taking Machines
53. Uniforms
54. Ventilating and Fans
55. Vacuum Cleaners

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above list.

Name: ........................................

Theatre: ....................................

City: .........................................

State: ........................................

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Don’t Make Mistakes With Your Music

Blend your music with your picture. Intensify every action on the screen with appropriate tone qualities; the most successful exhibitors in the country today are giving their patronage the finest pictures and orchestral organ tones. The sweet, soft, soothing, soulful tone qualities produced only by organ tones.

We are the largest manufacturers of instruments built especially for motion picture theatres; our experienced experts have designed the only instruments that will give you 100% efficiency at the least cost; that will make your patronage rave over your house, and your pictures, and your music; that will bring them back continuously and make your business healthy and successful.

The name and fame of the Fotoplayer is world-wide, and whether you have a small house or a large house, we have instruments that will meet the needs of your theatre, and that will more than pay for themselves in a short time.

We can give you the names of many exhibitors who have transformed lemon houses to big successes with the music of the Fotoplayer.

A wonderful instrument, for immediate delivery, that will fit into your theatre without any alterations and transform the entire atmosphere into a beautiful temple of exquisite taste, refinement and beauty.

The Fotoplayer is supreme—it makes every action on the screen life-like and intense; it may be played by your regular musician by hand and by using hand-cut rolls of the finest artists—all under the control of one man.

Our new Vox Mystica—celestial voices that stir the very depths of your heart.

We also build orchestral pipe organs, to meet the needs of all houses, and have some wonderful exclusive features that you should know about.

Write Immediately—Do Not Delay
It Means Your Success
Proper Coloring

Will add a whole lot to both the artistic and financial value of your picture!—We can do it right at “Right” prices.

We have special departments devoted to tinting and toning, and combination toning-tinting—wonderful variety.

Our colors are brilliant and permanent because we have the necessary chemicals and equipment and know exactly how to use them.

Our enormous supply of pure wash water—our knowledge that colored film requires careful treatment and unusual washing—does away with the streaky spotted film which characterizes the color attempts of plants insufficient in equipment, knowledge or ability.

For screen colors combined with Perfect Developing and Printing, see

Rothacker

There are reasons—Come and see them.
MAY 19, 1917

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

Paramount Pictures

The unprecedented increase in the number of Paramount exhibitors proves that quality wins.

Paramount Pictures Corporation

1485 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation

VOL. XV-NO. 20

PRICE 10 CENTS
BLUEBIRD
PHOTOPLAYS INC.
PRESENT
FRANKLYN FARNUM
"BRINGING HOME FATHER"
WITH BROWNIE VERNON AND ARTHUR HOYT
A DELIGHTFUL DRAMA OF LOVE AND POLITICS
DIRECTED BY WILLIAM WORTHINGTON
BOOK THROUGH YOUR LOCAL BLUEBIRD EXCHANGE OR BLUEBIRD PHOTO PLAYS INC, 1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
Pauline Frederick

the foremost emotional star whose histrionic ability and box office value, has made her famous the world over, appears in

"Her Better Self"

a society play in which the butterfly falls in love with a serious and poor young doctor.

Coming May 21st.

Cut your advertising bill in half by playing this "big attraction" twice as long

Paramount Pictures Corporation
454 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation
Adolph Zukor, Pres., Jesse L. Lasky, Vice-Pres., Cecil B. DeMille, Treasurer General

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
is "Invited Out" but he hasn't any "dress clothes." He has much ingenuity, however, and with the help of a scissors is soon outfitted. Then the trouble starts, also the roars, gurgles and giggles.

Always shown at the Strand, New York

Released May 7th

Klever Pictures, Inc.
220 West 42nd Street, New York City

Released in Canada through Regal Films, Ltd.
Toronto, Canada

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
PEGGY HYLAND
with Marc Mac Dermott in "The Sixteenth Wife?"
Adapted from Molly Elliott Seawell's Delightful Story, "Mary Ann and the Grand Duke"
Directed by Charles Brabin

The same Stars and Director who scored the hit of the season in "Babette" a recent Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, have, in "The Sixteenth Wife" accomplished what seemed almost impossible—they have made a better picture, even than "Babette"

"The Sixteenth Wife?" Is Delighting Capacity Crowds at The Rialto, New York, This Week.

THOUGH THE TURK HAD FIFTEEN WIVES IN HIS HAREM, HE WAS PEevISH, BECAUSE HIS GREAT HEART CAPABLE OF SO MUCH AFFECTION, YEARNETo MAKE THE CHARMING LITTLE PEGGY—MRS. TURK THE SIXTEENTH
"The film is greater and more exciting even than the play."

"Within the Law" Proves the Screen Greater than the Stage.

"The Greatest Melodramatic Motion Picture Ever Offered the Public."

Review of "Within the Law" - "Zit" in the N.Y. Evening Journal April 30th, 1917

"The Greater Vitagraph Company has gone and done it—gone and done it good. They have passed themselves by a million miles.

"They have sent out to millions of motion picture fans the greatest melodramatic motion picture ever offered the optics to gaze upon. It opened at the Broadway Theatre last night, and the name of this masterpiece of photography, direction, story and everything combined is "Within the Law." The story in pictures is greater than the play. What a wonderful sensation it must be for Bayard Veiller to sit and watch the entire thought of his brain being enacted in a two-hour feature.

"For when Veiller wrote "Within the Law" he could not put all his imagination into four acts.

"The picture industry has done for him what no stage manager could have done in the spoken drama. No matter who has ever seen "Within the Law" as a play must absolutely see it in the pictures, and the fortune that this film is going to make will equal that of any of the greatest pictures that have ever been shown.

"In the two hours of solid grinding of the operator, there is not one second that could be taken out. In many of our two-hour features we see ten, fifteen, twenty and thirty minutes that could be easily omitted, and at two of our Broadway hostleries for the motion picture interests they have been known to cut big features to suit their time sheet. But "Within the Law" would baffle the scissors, for you would not know where to cut it.

"The only thing you could do would be to cut it out altogether. The cast to depict each character has been selected like the fruiterer selects the finest strawberries and cherries to fill the top layer of the box. As they say in baseball—it's a 'picked nine,' and picked with the greatest care. Alice Joyce as Mary Turner, and Harry Morey as Joe Garson, that's all you need to know.

"The rest are all stars, and each one played his part—in fact, better than the original production was played at the Eltinge Theatre, under the direction of A. H. Woods. "Within the Law" is a picture for the masses, and the masses are going to stampede any theatre in the world where an exhibitor has the fortune to play this remarkable achievement of the camera.

"Don't miss this picture, whatever else you miss. It's worth walking miles to see, and it's worth any price of admission anyone cares to charge to have you see it."
"Within the Law"

The Stage's Greatest Production Unanimously Acclaimed Even Greater as a Picture.

A Special Blue Ribbon Feature of Bayard Veiller's Phenomenal Melodrama

Featuring Alice Joyce, Harry Morey and an All Star Vitagraph Cast

Critics Unanimous in Remarkable Tribute to the Screen

NEW YORK WORLD
"Bayard Veiller's melodrama, which was exciting enough on the stage, is even more exciting on the screen."

NEW YORK TRIBUNE
"Proves that the silent drama is a better medium for telling a story than the spoken drama."

NEW YORK HERALD
"Few words of praise could do it justice. It surpassed all expectations. Continually fascinating, and from a dramatic viewpoint, far in advance of many films which have attained great note."

NEW YORK TIMES
"All the thrills of 'Within the Law' preserved in the film."

MORNING TELEGRAPH
"Will take an immediate place among the best of screen efforts. There is waiting throughout the country an enormous audience which has already seen the original production, and in consequence the picturization will have to face one of the strongest scrutunies to which a film has ever been subjected. The film is in every way fitted to bear searching criticism."

EVENING WORLD
"Holds the interest of its audience better than did the play."

EVENING MAIL
"'Within the Law' is the most satisfying of all the many plays turned into films."

NEW YORK AMERICAN
"There is a thrill in every scene, and in many cases stronger emphasis of the situations has been achieved in the picture than in the play."

EVENING TELEGRAM
"All the thrills of the original melodrama intensified in the new version."

NEW YORK GLOBE
"Enthusiasm of audience recalled the reception the drama received on the stage when it was first presented. The drama is even more exciting on the screen. Alice Joyce does the finest acting she has done for the camera. Harry Morey is excellent."

EVENING SUN
"The stage success of 'Within the Law' is likely to be duplicated by an extended run in motion picture houses. Presented with a forcefulness that bespeaks high success for the film version."

GREATER VITAGRAPH
Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Vol. 15. No. 20

Thomas Dixon's Mighty Message of Warning
"The Fall of a Nation"
Musical Score by Victor Herbert

IN SEVEN TREMENDOUS PARTS
A War Spectacle of Intense Dramatic Power
And in This Hour of National Awakening
A SUPREME BOX-OFFICE ATTRACTION

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
The Warfare Of The Flesh

STILL GOING STRONG

EDWARD WARREN Productions

H. Z. Levine, Business Manager, 1482 Broadway, N. Y. City

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
WHERE THERE'S MOTION PICTURES ONE FINDS MARY PICKFORD

No motion picture theatre can long hold its standing with its audience that does not exhibit Miss Pickford's productions. Her charming, humorous, human impersonations have contributed more than any other single agency towards raising the whole standard of public taste for pictures. Artcraft now announces for release on May 14th

MARY PICKFORD

In Cecil B. De Mille's production

"A ROMANCE OF THE REDWOODS"

By Cecil B. De Mille and Jeanie Macpherson

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
Conditions Have Forced Goldwyn To Surrender

A GREAT leader has stepped in and seized the reins of our business. His word with us is law.

He is dictating how our stories shall be written and produced.

He commands our directors and cameramen and is running our studios with the authority of a commanding General.

He is organizing our exchanges—his hand is in everything. He takes orders from no one. He gives orders to everyone. And all obey him without question.

He even insists upon appearing in each one of our Goldwyn Pictures.

His name is Quality.
Confidence Is Better Than Contracts

In five months Goldwyn, without a production on the market, but backed by the reputation of its owners, has invited and, we believe, won the confidence of American exhibitors.

W. C. Quinby, of the Jefferson Theatre, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "I approve of open bookings, but your stars are all of the first magnitude and, so far as I am concerned, I wish to contract in advance for all of them."

R. B. Wilby, a big exhibitor of Montgomery and Selma, Ala., writes: "In view of the fact that your rentals are to be based on regional conditions I hereby offer to contract for the service at whatever price you may afterwards determine upon."

G. J. Higgins, a Pennsylvania exhibitor, writes: "As soon as your Philadelphia exchange is open we will enter into an annual contract with you for Goldwyn Pictures in Shamokin. We will also play your productions in our Pottsville house."

Exhibitors in every section of America have written similar letters to Goldwyn. In the face of this splendid confidence Goldwyn expects to vastly increase exhibitor-confidence through the medium of its quality productions.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation
16 East 42d Street, New York City
Telephone: Vanderbilt 11
"You Can Swear by Them"

There are so many other kinds that World Program Specials stand out in bold relief.”

L. G. R. Hutchins, Owner
Frostburg Opera House
Frostburg, Maryland.

CURRENT RELEASES
on the DEPENDABLE PROGRAM:

SARAH BERNHARDT
in "Mothers of France"

ALICE BRADY
in "Maternity"

MURIEL OSTRICHE
and ARTHUR ASHLEY in "Moral Courage"

CARLYLE BLACKWELL
and JUNE ELVIDGE
in "The Crimson Dove"

ETHEL CLAYTON
and Montagu Love
in "Yankee Pluck"

ROBERT WARWICK
and Gail Kane
in "The False Friend"

"ATONEMENT," STARRING REGINA BADET
The Vampire of France

the first of the
Brady-International Service World-Pictures

WILL BE RELEASED MAY 28
Its success is assured. Write now for detailed distribution plans.

WORLD-PICTURES 130 W. 46th St., New York City

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
The Barrier

by

Rex Beach

AN ABSOLUTELY 100 PER-CENT
PERFECT PRODUCTION

ONCE SEEN—BOOKED!!!

AMERICA'S GREATEST AUTHOR OF RED-BLOODED, MAN-SIZED STORIES

"THE BARRIER" IS ONE OF THOSE CRITIC-PROOF PICTURES THAT ARE KEEPING THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY ALIVE

WORLD RIGHTS CONTROLLED BY

LEWIS J. SELZNICK

WIRE THE NEAREST SELZNICK EXCHANGE

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
HERBERT BRENON

Presents

THE MASTER-MELODRAMA

"THE LONE WOLF"

By
Louis Joseph Vance
with
Hazel Dawn and Bert Lytell

A STORY OF LOVE, ADVENTURE AND DESPERATE CHANCES

THE PICTURE OF NO REGRETS:

CLARA KIMBALL
YOUNG

In:
"THE EASIEST WAY"

By Eugene Walter

Directed By
ALBERT CAPELLANI

A DAY'S BOOKING WILL EARN FOR YOU A WEEK'S PROFIT

SOLE DISTRIBUTORS
LEWIS J. SELZNICK EXCHANGES

BRANCHES EVERYWHERE
MACK SENNERTT
PRESENTS

MISS MABEL NORMAND
AND HER OWN COMPANY
IN "MICKEY"
THE LITTLE GIRL
YOU WILL NEVER FORGET

METHOD AND DATE OF RELEASE LATER
MABEL NORMAND FEATURE FILM CO.
LON GA RC E BLDG, NEW YORK CITY.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
MANY MUTUAL STARS ARE COMPLETING BIG FEATURE PICTURES

Nine Mutual stars are busily at work creating new "Big Stars Only" Mutual Pictures. During the next few months the Mutual Film Corporation will offer exhibitors a most unusual array of attractions. Stories from the pens of some of the world's most famous writers and stars like Edna Goodrich, Ann Murdock and others will be introduced to Mutual exchanges.

Many Studios Busy.

Studies in both the East and West are working at capacity turning out big productions. At the Empire All-Star studios Edna Goodrich is finishing "Reputation," her first Mutual Picture, in which she is supported by such stars as William Haines, Frank Goldsmith, Nellie Parker Spaulding and Carey Lee. In Santa Barbara, Calif., where the American studios are located, Mary Miles Minter is preparing the third Mutual Picture of the second Minter series under the direction of James Kirkwood. Gall Kane has completed "The Serpent's Tooth" and has begun work on "The Upper Crust," under the direction of Rollin Stone, and William Russell is in the midst of "Shades of Grey," under the supervision of Frank Powell. This picture being the Rambeau release immediately following "The Mirror," which will be released on May 21st.

Ann Murdock, from the Frobniau galaxy of stars, has just lined "Oulcast," the big play adapted from "Uncle Sam's Defenders," and "The Daughter of War." The title, "A Dream of Two Ages," "The Gentle Intruder," and "The Inn of Ligelette," are in the same category. The Mutual War Specials that have been seen by the millions will be repeated in Mutual War Specials. Bookings on these Mutual Pictures can be made at your nearest Mutual Exchange.

MARY MILES MINTER

IN AN ODD ROLE IN "ANNIE-FOR-SPALTE"

One of the quaintest, oddpest pictures ever seen is offered the week of May 12th by the Mutual Film Corporation. Mary Miles Minter is the star. James Kirkwood is the director. "Annie-for-Spite" is the title. The production was made at the studios of the American Film Company, Inc., at Santa Barbara, Calif.

A Fred Jackson Story.

"Annie-for-Spite" is the pen of Fred Jackson. Mr. Jackson is one of America's best known comic book writers. His stories are read by millions. The fact that "Annie-for-Spite," as published in the All-Star Magazine, has been read by hundreds of thousands of people will double the value of the attraction for the exhibitor. Now those who read the story will be anxious to see the picture. Miss Minter in "Annie-for-Spite" has one of the quaintest roles of her entire career. She plays the part of an ugly, homely little clerk of a big department store, who is picked out by a rich old lady as the heiress to all her millions. The old lady insists upon her beneficiary being homely, since she wishes to spite those who are expecting to inherit her fortune. Later Mary develops into such a beautiful girl that the old lady finds her plan all wrong, but the fortune goes to Mary just the same when the old lady dies. And then "Annie-for-Spite" does a most unexpected thing. Just what it is, will set audiences talking.

Directed by James Kirkwood.

James Kirkwood, who has directed other Minter-Mutual Pictures is again in charge of production and his latest effort fully equals the best which have preceded it. "Annie-for-Spite" can be booked now at any Mutual Exchange. So can "Youth's Enduring Charm," "Dulce's Adventure," "Furri," "A Dream of Two Ages," "The Innocence of Ligelette," "The Gentle Intruder" and "Environment."

Mutual Films Are Favoured by Women

The Better Film Committee of the Illinois Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' association has recently endorsed a great many Mutual Pictures which they specially recommend as suitable for children's and family programs. By arranging to show these highly recommended pictures, any exhibitor can assure himself of the support of the leading club women in his town. Ask your nearest Mutual manager.
American Film Company, Inc.

Presents

MARY MILES MINTER
IN
"ANNIE-FOR-SPITE"

Fred Jackson's most unusual story, in five acts. Directed by James Kirkwood. Released Week of May 14th.

The Colorado Springs Telegram says: "The popularity of Mary Miles Minter continues to grow. She is today one of the most beloved little girls in pictures."

Every exhibitor who has shown Mary Miles Minter in any of her Mutual Pictures knows her drawing power as a star. Every one who has played such attractions as "Faith," "The Innocence of Lizette" and "Environment" will be eager to book "Annie-For-Spite."
For better business — for bigger profits — book these newest Mary Miles Minter features. Write your nearest Mutual Exchange.

MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION
John R. Freulich, President
Exchanges Everywhere
May 19, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The stories are the sort that make people sit on the edge of their chairs and hold their breath, writes Motography of

Jimmie Dale
Alias "The Grey Seal"

Adapted from Frank L. Packard's "The Professional Adventures of Jimmie Dale" now appearing in People's Magazine

featuring

E. K. Lincoln
Doris Mitchell
Edna Hunter
Paul Panzer

Sixteen Mutual Featurettes
A new two reel episode every week. The critics pronounce "Jimmie Dale" a box-office tonic

Produced by
Monmouth Film Corporation
Harry M. Webster, President
Jules Burnstein, Gen. Manager

Directed by
Harry M. Webster

Now Booking At All Mutual Exchanges

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
HELEN HOLMES

in

THE RAILROAD RAIDERS

This newest of Helen Holmes photo-novels is playing to capacity business everywhere. Its packed with ACTION - PUNCH - THRILLS!

Now Booking at all Mutual Exchanges
Caulfield Photoplay Company Presents

"TWO OF A KIND"

The Seventh of the One-Real Mutual Featurettes Starring

Miss Billie Rhodes

Supported by Jay Belasco

Released May 23rd

Plots that bubble over with laughter—Stories so natural that they seem incidents from every day life—players both good to look at and possessed of unbounded talent—these are but a few of the things which make Strand Comedies supreme in the field. They "send 'em away laughing." There's a new Strand Comedy released each week.

Booking NOW at all Mutual Exchanges

Produced by Caulfield Photoplay Co.

Distributed by Mutual Film Corporation

John R. Franke, President

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
This Is a Great Gaumont Single Reel of "Feature" Quality

The Los Angeles Evening Herald says:

"Tours Around the World" are splendidly educational. The release of April 3 shows the islands in the West Indies recently purchased from Denmark—a very timely picture.

Film Fun says:

"Tours Around the World" are excellent for geographical instruction and "See America First" not only stimulates imagination but visualizes for children what their text books teach.

A Single Reel of this quality would be a wise choice for YOUR Program. It gets your pictures talked about in your local papers. There is not a single Gaumont picture that is a "filler." Each is as entertaining as a five-reel feature drama.

Send for complete list of releases, or talk with any Mutual Branch Manager.

Gaumont Co.

LONDON     FLUSHING, N. Y.     PARIS

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
CUB COMEDY

"JERRY'S FINISHING TOUCH"

featuring

GEORGE OVEY

RELEASED MAY 17TH, 1917.

A one-reel subject in which Jerry makes his advent as a moving picture producer. Then the bottom is blown clean out of the prospective dividends and his "aggregation of stars"—filled with consternation and bird shot—escape only with their lives when the unsympathetic proprietor of the premises returns and "requests" them to go. Jerry is still "going."

Book through any exchange of the Mutual Film Corporation

DAVID HORSLEY PRODUCTIONS
ELABORATE FILM FOR "FOX KIDDIE FEATURE"

World's Most Famous Child's Story Being Put Into Cinemas

An elaborate photo-dramatization of the greatest child's story ever written, one by an author of international renown, has been put in work for William Fox by C. M. Franklin, of the Fox directorial forces on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Franklin, himself a leader in the handling of child players, has assembled a remarkable cast of starlets for the picture.

The settings for the production are among the most massive and unique yet built for photoplays. The film itself will be a "Fox Kiddie Feature," one of the series of subjects recently launched by William Fox, which has occasioned such favorable comment in the trade.

The company which is making the "Kiddie Feature" in question includes also many adult players of strong reputation in filmdom. Among them is Eleanor Washington, a direct descendant of the first President of the United States.

Exhibitors everywhere are praising the advent of the new addition to the Fox brand. "Pre cisly what we wanted!" - "just the thing the industry has needed" - this is the tenor of scores of letters and telegrams.

WEARS OLD REGALIA

Talk about romance!

If you want to see just how "Smiling George" Walsh, the gingerly William Fox star, looked in all his athletic glory when he was a collegiate baseball and football player of note, go see the next film after "The Book Agent" in which he appears. "Smiling George" wears in it the very same uniform he had at Georgetown University. He's handsomer than ever, too.

Word About Jewel Carmen

Truth must be revealed. It's wrong to say, as many film fans and critics do, that "Jewel Carmen is as dainty as a piece of Dresden china." The Fox star is daintier! Miss Carmen plays opposite William Farnum in "When a Man Sees Red."

BARA'S CURIOSITY IS FULLY APPEASED NOW

Fox Artiste Melts $5,000 Pearl Earring For Scene As Cleopatra

A woman's curiosity is never appeased. Miss Theda Bara, the world famous William Fox screen artiste, is not an exception to this rule. Just to satisfy her natural curiosity Miss Bara is now mourning the loss of a $5,000 pearl earring.

Miss Bara who is shortly to be seen in the stupendous photodramatic William Fox photoplay "Cleopatra," the "Siren of the Nile" has a scene wherein she melts a wonderful pearl in a glass of vinegar to impress the very susceptible Antony with her extravagance.

Taking a wine glass she filled it with white vinegar and dropped the pearl earring into the fluid. With silent amazement Miss Bara watched the peerless pearl slowly melt in the white fluid. All that was left of her valuable bauble was the gold setting.

That Villainous Villain

Stuart Holmes, the famous, or infamous William Fox villain, star of "The Broadway Sport," is so villainous that he can't even look a clock in the face. The result is that he has to tell time by an hour-glass.

FOX CURRENT RELEASES

Valeska Suratt in "She."
William Farnum in "American Methods."—Special
Virginia Pearson in "Royal Romance."
June Caprice in "A Small Town Girl."
R. A. Walsh's Drama "The Silent Lie."
Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul." — Special.
Stuart Holmes in "The Broadway Sport."

FOX FILM COMEDIES

Charles Conklin in "The Film Spoilers."
Hank Mann in "His Love Fight."
Ray Griffith in "An Aerial Joy Ride."
Billie Ritchie in "His Smashing Career."
Tom Mix in "A Roman Cowboy."
Charles "Heine" Conklin in "His Bomb Policy."
Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
Do You Just "P-A-Y"

In less than ten years the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures has grown into the fifth largest industry in the United States.

At first a little point of light—a new form of entertainment of doubtful permanent value—its advancement has resembled the flight of a meteor across the sky.

When the "movie" showed indications of permanent qualities of entertainment beyond mere pictorial attractiveness, and actual dramatic and comedy interests began to develop and point to future possibilities, its rapid growth astonished the world.

Producers, distributors, exhibitors, spectators, promoters, capitalists, bankers, merchants and manufacturers—everybody in fact—became dazzled by the glare of its brilliant success and a scramble into the moving picture business began. Nothing like it had been seen since the days of the California gold rush in '49.

New producing companies were formed, new distribution centres called "exchanges" were established by them, "store shows" were set up overnight, "losing" theatres were turned over to pictures and made money from the start, and new picture houses were built everywhere. And actors, who had turned up their noses at the silent drama, began to inquire the way to the studios.

It was a case of hurrah from morning till night. Any picture that "moved" brought a good rental and made money for all; any scenario that could be made to hold together was accepted, any actor who could effectively show the white of his eye on the screen was engaged at big money, men who had but "held books" at rehearsals of dramatic productions were made directors at fat salaries, and a general orgie of competition set in to the tune of "Who Cares About Expense?".

This condition of general disregard of money value and common sense business principles has dominated the entire moving picture industry during the past four years.

Competition has simply gone stark, staring mad. Salaries of actors and directors have been boosted to the level of kings' incomes, and productions have been made with solely the dollar mark of great expense, and not genuine dramatic value, as their standard of appeal to the public. Has the exhibitor profited in all this?

He and the people have been told that "Mother's Angel" cost $210,000 to produce and a mediocre picture has been exploited to the skies and booked at a big rental, when it did not possess one-tenth of the value as an entertainment of "Tad, the Tomboy," which did not cost $10,000 from script to screen. And you have struggled to pay the bill.

The exhibitor, especially during the past three years, has been frequently told in a most impressive way, with his exchange manager's finger thrust through a buttonhole of his coat for emphasis, that "everything has gone up," that special feature productions cost more and more every time a new picture is made and rentals must continue to go up too.

STUDY!!!

THE PARALTA PLAN
When You Are Told?

AND the rentals have gone up, Mr. Exhibitor, to the point where but very few of you are even breaking even—to the point where over four thousand of you have been forced out of business during the past year.

Good pictures do cost a great deal more than they did a year ago, but if the exhibitor is to pay his share of this increased cost, he must have the wherewithal to do it. More people must see each picture AND UNDER THE PARALTA PLAN YOUR RENTAL CHARGE REMAINS THE SAME FOR 1, 2 OR 10 DAYS, OR FOR WHATEVER LENGTH OF TIME IS NECESSARY TO ACCOMPLISH THIS RESULT. THERE IS NO INCREASED CHARGE FOR FILM RENTAL FOR THE EXTRA DAYS YOU SHOW THE PARALTA PLAY. THAT'S THE ONLY WAY OUT FOR THE EXHIBITOR; AND THE DISTRIBUTOR MUST LET THE EXHIBITOR HAVE THESE INCREASED BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS. HE MADE THEM. THEY BELONG TO HIM, AND UNDER OUR PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION HE GETS THEM.

THE Paralta Plan is founded upon a thorough knowledge of actual local working conditions. Our plan of distribution IS BASED UPON ABSOLUTE EQUITY MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH NOTHING ON EARTH BUT THE ELIMINATION OF WASTE. WE SIMPLY TURN A GREAT PORTION OF THE PRESENT WASTE INTO CASH.

You realize—or you soon will, if you follow our statements of the results of our investigations made during the past two years—that a great burden of waste and extravagance is being shouldered on to you, and that the only standard of film rentals is what can be squeezed out of you. There has been no limit.

You pay the freight. In your rentals you pay all the costs of every kind, both sane and insane, with generous production and distribution profits added. If you did not pay all this there would be no production—no distribution. The producer and distributor could not live.

Think it over, Mr. Exhibitor, and then send us your name and address. Read our literature and study this remarkable new idea of distribution. This plan will save you money!

A penny post card or the attached coupon will put your name on our mailing list.

THINK !!!

The Paralta Plan Exhibitor Begins to Work for Himself the Moment He Secures a Paralta Exhibiting Franchise

PARALTA PLAYS, Inc.
C. A. ANDERSON, President   H. FICHTENBERG, Chairman Directors
ROBERT T. KANE, Vice-President  HERMAN KATZ, Treasurer
NAT. I. BROWN, Secy. & Gen'l Manager

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
PROGRAM CONSISTENCY

Triangle producers are constantly striving to supply Triangle exhibitors with subjects having a consistent box office value, not one a month, not two a month, but every release.

Triangle features represent quality in every department. They do not depend upon any single factor to put them across. The plot construction must be interesting and original.

The direction must be of the type possible only to master-directors like Thomas H. Ince and Allan Dwan.

Members of the cast are selected because of their general fitness for their roles.

Settings, costuming, in fact everything that has to do with the physical construction of Triangle features must be beyond criticism. Last, but not least, photography and laboratory work must be mechanically perfect.

Triangle plays are photographed, acted and built by genius which has its personification in every director, author and player in the Triangle studios.

If you are not a Triangle exhibitor and therefore not familiar with the TRIANGLE IDEA, ask our nearest branch manager to show you why Triangle is supreme in production.

If you are a Triangle exhibitor, let your public know that you are showing Triangle pictures and just what that means.
The Complete List of New Mack Sennett-Keystones

"The Nick of Time Baby"
"Stars and Bars"
"Maggie’s First False Step"
"Villa of the Movies"
"Dodging His Doom"
"Her Circus Knight"
"Her Fame and Shame"
"Pinched in the Finish"
"Her Nature Dance"
"Teddy at the Throttle"
"Secrets of a Beauty Parlor"
"A Maiden’s Trust"
"His Naughty Thought"
"Her Torpedoed Love"

Everyone a Sure-Fire Money-Maker
There’s a Price for Every Exhibitor

BOOK NOW!

RELEASED ONLY BY TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
A MESSAGE

Featuring ANNA LEHR, HOBART HENLEY and BARBARA CASTLETON

Supported by a group of types who register as "real folks"—not actors

The Thought Film That Is Different

From everywhere — from patrons and exhibitors in every portion of the country—has come the cry for films that are human—for stories that register something more than a lot of surface melodrama—for characters that live and do human things—for suspense plot development that cannot be guessed four reels ahead—for clean situations that are convincing and do not offend by being impossible or vulgar.

Film patrons are tired of the cheeseball melodramas with vampires, seducers and wronged heroines that "act" —they have had their fill of footage devoted to displaying a "star"—('That want life—they want to be able to believe what they see.

As proof of this you need only stop to think of the tremendous success of the few truly human, sincere, convincing phono-dramas. When a film registers as real, it makes people talk and that makes repeat performances profitable, which is always the true test of any film's success.

"PARENTAGE" is the work of a producer who for the first time in his career was able to take advantage of an opportunity to put time, thought and heart and soul into his work and develop his complete production. He worked apart from the interfering organization "executives" who ruin so many "organization" releases.

The result is a superb proof of the need of such production effort—fewer and better films.

"PARENTAGE" is a wonderful story—it presents more big vital thoughts—which his hard and ring true—than any "thought" film ever made—but that fact is of the most essential value from the money-getting angles of bringing people in and making them talk when they go out.

The remarkable distinction which this thought film possesses is this—It is technically delightful, it is human, it is clean, it shows real people doing real things, it is a story about folks like you and your neighbours—and—most important of all—

"Parentage" Is Entertaining!

The Crowds It Will Attract Will Enjoy It and Recommend It.

In Seven Parts
State Rights to be Sold

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
The Films That Repeat Make the Fortunes

Every good film man knows that a film that has exceptional advertising possibilities can be made to bring in big money in "one time around." Open booking and the chance for the exhibitor to make a quick "clean-up" has made that a certainty—

However, the fortunes are to be made only on films that can "repeat" or play for a "long run," with word-of-mouth advertising building the business after every performance.

PARENTAGE presents advertising possibilities which will crowd any theatre anywhere. The tale is compelling and magnetic—the story deals with such vital problems in home life that it presents an array of questions to be hammered at patrons that is astounding in its comprehensiveness.

These are sledge-hammer blows that will hit the heart of every man and woman, young and old. They will make them search for that film, if necessary, to see it. These questions will be given proper prominence in all advertising matter—more regarding them later.

But, here is the truly big money-making value—Yes—fortune making value of PARENTAGE. It will not disappoint. It will not offend. It will not miss fire. It will ring true; it will convince; it will entertain and please—It is a production which will please while it makes them think—It will make them talk—and—most important of all—

They Will Recommend It!

Which Means Repeat Bookings and Fortunes

FRANK J. SENG,
Times Building, N. Y. City
Ask the Nearest Pathé Exchange for these Thanhouser Features:

HINTON'S DOUBLE
"Aside from the drawing power of the star, the play itself is of exceptional interest and will do much toward upholding the high standard set by Thanhouser productions during the past six months."

Exhibitors' Trade Review.

THE VICAR OF WAKEFIELD
"It is almost as human and delightful upon the screen as it is between the covers of a book; and Frederick Warde, who acted before the camera as the kindly old Vicar, interpreted the character with as close an approach to perfection as cinema interpretations can hope to achieve."

N. Y. World.

WHEN LOVE WAS BLIND
"The characters portrayed will arouse sympathetic interest, while the fast continuity will please. What little of the "sex problem" there is in the story has been handled with great delicacy."

Telegraph.

POTS-AND-PANS PEGGY
"Another way entertaining Thanhouser picture. It is a grateful relief to view a picture that avoids the vulgar side of modern life."

Exhibitors' Trade Review.

HER BELOVED ENEMY
"A mystery story from a little different angle, that may be added to Thanhouser's ever-growing list of unconventional screen stories."

Sunday Telegraph.

HER LIFE AND HIS
"A mingling of the lives of Henry Ford and Tannus Mise. Olson, told in an entertaining and melodramatic way. Characters are well constructed, human interest strong and acting first class."

Sunday Telegraph.
Exhibitors, Newspapers, Trade Papers—all praise
Pathé Gold Rooster Plays

The consensus of opinion is that they are real achievements and represent
Real box office value

The Exhibitor says;
"After a careful consideration of the other subjects on the market we decided to open with an all Pathé program and we are now sure that our judgment was correct. Rest assured that Pathé productions will be depended upon as strong feature attractions for the Dawn Theatre."
John E. Sisbee, lessee and manager, Dawn Theatre, Detroit, Mich.

The Newspaper says;
"Kick In' has kicked up such a furor at the 'Bandbox' that it will be held over another week. (The third) Manager Hong says that the public has been satisfied in holding it over to give those who have not seen it another chance... 'Kick In' is not the usual play. It is different." Chicago American

The Trade-Paper says;
"'The Hunting of the Hawk' is one of the best features the writer has seen this year. From every angle it for eclipses the ordinary program feature and some of the so-called specialties are dwarfed beside it... The production is of the highest grade."
Motion Picture News

We cannot for lack of space print a hundredth of the splendid comment that Pathé Gold Rooster Plays have received. Be guided by the experienc-ence of others—

Book Gold Rooster Plays
Pathé

$80,000.00 is being spent in the newspapers of the United States to tell your patrons about

The Neglected Wife

$2,000.00 will be paid in cash prizes to bring the people to your theatre every week while the Serial is being shown. Your audiences will have a chance to win one of these prizes.

Produced by Balboa
The Neglected Wife

is from famous novels by Mabel Herbert Urner, the most widely read American author of the day. It is a story of today, vital and gripping. Your audiences know and like Mrs. Urner's work and will want to see this serial. Those of your patrons who saw in "The Red Circle" and "WhoPays?" will demand to see her in "The Neglected Wife."

Ruth Roland

For details of the $2,000.00 prize contest which will have your audiences interested from the very start see the papers in your own city.

Booking now
This is what they all say:

“Never were audiences better satisfied with a picture serial than with

MYSTERY of the DOUBLE CROSS

at Pantages last week.”

Minneapolis Daily News

“Mystery of the Double Cross” the latest Pathé Serial is evidently in for a prosperous run at the 'Fountain'. It was shown to capacity audiences yesterday, many being unable to obtain admission last night.”

Terre Haute Tribune

Produced by Astra

Directed by Wm. Parke
Mollie King
star of
MYSTERY OF THE DOUBLE CROSS

Does in it the best work of her career. She is so charming, so winsome that exhibitors will be pleased to know that she will be identified with the Pathé program of the future.
26% increase in business in February on the Hearst-Pathé News proves that Exhibitors and public alike know what is the world's best news weekly.

War time makes it doubly interesting to the public and therefore doubly valuable to the Exhibitor. Show it twice a week.
Pathé
announces that the world’s greatest war pictures of the world’s greatest war — the Official Government-made Pictures

can now be obtained only through the Pathé Exchanges.

These pictures are unique-exclusive.
They show every side of the great war which the United States has now entered. As a timely, novel and superlative box office attraction they are unequalled.

Ask your nearest Pathé
Exchange about them.
Edwin Arden is a celebrated actor. "The Iron Heart" shows him at his best. It is one hour's solid entertainment for any audience.
Quality cast
Quality production
Quality in every way

Pathé announces
The Iron Heart
with Edwin Arden

Pathe announces
The Iron Heart
with Edwin Arden

Gladys Hulette
one of the brightest shining stars in the picture firmament is announced in
The Candy Girl
A typical Hulette play full of laughter and pathos.
Produced by Thanhouser

What they say of her:
(Mae Time in Chicago Tribune)

Pathé, Gold Rooster Plays Please Patrons and Exhibitors
"THE PRODIGAL’S RETURN"

The latest of the Selig feature films announced for release in General Film service is "The Prodigal’s Return." Founded on the Biblical parable with an up-to-date atmosphere there is both heart-interest and tense action. A strong story and a strong cast.

"THE LAST OF HER CLAN"

Here is a gripping drama of life among the mountaineers. A story of plot and counter-plot and of a great love. The mountain scenery is unusually good and the plot is a very strong one.

SELIG PICTUREPLAYS PLEASE

General Film Company reports that Selig comedies and dramas are among the best sellers in that service. The series of comedies just completed fill a long-felt want and are being almost universally booked.

Ask Your Nearest General Film Exchange
To Tell You About the Selig Comedies!

Selig Polyscope Co.
Chicago, Ill.
SKINNER Said: “I’ll Make Good!”
And By Jove He Did!
SO CAN YOU!
If you take advantage of this great opportunity to book
“SKINNER’S BUBBLE”
featuring
BRYANT WASHBURN

You know what a hit “Skinner’s Dress Suit” made. This is even a more wonderful Skinner play. Enough said! Look at it!
Written and directed by Harry Beaumont. By special arrangement and permission of Henry Irving Dodge
IVAN ABRAMSON'S

dynamic film epic of Russia and [America]

"ONE LAW FOR BOTH"

with an astounding cast, including

Rita Jolivet        Leah Baird        James Morrison
Vincent Serrano    Pedro de Cordoba    Margaret Greene
Paul Capellani     Anders Randolf     Helen Arnold

and 300 others

Begins an indefinite engagement at the

LYRIC THEATRE

Broadway and 42nd St.          New York City

May 13th, 1917

ONE DOLLAR ADMISSIONS

IVAN FILM PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

130 W. 46th St., N. Y. C.
SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

M.H. HOFFMAN
RECENTLY GENERAL MANAGER OF BLUEBIRD AND UNIVERSAL DISTRIBUTION
AND
I. BERNSTEIN
CREATOR & FORMERLY GENERAL MANAGER OF UNIVERSAL CITY
JOIN HANDS

TO THE EXHIBITOR
EFFICIENCY IN PRODUCTION AND EFFICIENCY IN DISTRIBUTION MAKES FOR GOOD BUSINESS AND YOUR WELFARE
We’ve Studied Your Wants And the Result is the Above COMBINATION

BERNSTEIN FILM PRODUCTIONS
STUDIOS & LABORATORIES
LOS ANGELES

M.H. HOFFMAN INC.
DISTRIBUTING HEADQUARTERS
729 7TH AVE. N.Y. CITY

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
SOLD

ALL TERRITORY IN UNITED STATES
AND CANADA

FOR FIRST YEAR'S OUTPUT OF

INCE PRODUCTIONS

DISTRIBUTORS WILL BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK

INCE PRODUCTIONS

INC.

RALPH W. INCE  Sole Directors  JOHN E. INCE

729 SEVENTH AVE., N.Y. SUITE 1202
PHONE BRYANT 1820
HARRY L. REICHENBACH, General Manager

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
STATE RIGHT BUYERS:

"Trooper 44" is a gripping five-reel story of a war between an outlaw gang and THE BLACK HUSSARS
(The Mounted State Police of Pennsylvania)

The people want the military touch—the dash and spirit of disciplined cavalry—they want to see the finest mounted force in the world.

GIVE YOUR EXHIBITORS WHAT THEIR PATRONS NOW WANT

APPLY TO

E. I. S. MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
203 WEST 40TH ST., NEW YORK CITY, TELEPHONE BRYANT 8155
OR THE SALES AGENT
JOS. R. MILES-220 W. 42ND, N.Y. CITY

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
STATE RIGHTS

BILLY WEST

IN

KING-BEE COMEDIES

WE KEPT OUR WORD. IT IS MAY 15TH

"BACK STAGE"

THE FIRST 2-REEL COMEDY IS READY

THE SUPREME ACHIEVEMENT

OF

RIOTOUS FUN—SPARKLING HUMOR—REFINED MIRTH

KING-BEE FILMS CORPORATION

LOUIS BURSTEIN  L. L. HILLER
PRESIDENT  TREASURER

NAT H. SPITZER, Sales Manager

LONGACRE BUILDING  NEW YORK

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
THE CORONA CINEMA CO.

begs to announce that its dramatic thunderbolt

"THE CURSE OF EVE"

will be ready for inspection by the trade before the end of May. It is counselled that state-rights buyers prepare to attend the maiden showing of this most eloquent plea ever made in behalf of the Magdalene

Written by Wycliffe A. Hill
Directed by Frank Beal

CORONA CINEMA COMPANY
F. E. KEELER, President
LOS ANGELES
BUD FISHER FILMS CORPORATION

BUD FISHER, President

THIS IS TO ANNOUNCE:

That I have personally taken over the management of the Mutt and Jeff animated comedy business with the intention of making better films, giving better service to the exchanges, enabling them to give better service to their exhibitors and likewise the public.

Yours truly,

Bud Fisher

BUD FISHER FILMS CORP.
729 Seventh Ave., New York
Richard C. Travers
and
William Buckley
in the Startling
Eugenics Play
“GREAT” is the Word!

GREAT STAR
GREAT CAST
GREAT DIRECTOR
GREAT BOX OFFICE VALUE

HARRY RAPF

takes great pleasure in announcing the completion of the new super-feature, presenting the most popular star of screen or stage

Florence Reed

in her first film appearance since her recent sensational triumph as Tischa in

“THE WANDERER”
in the daring Broadhurst-Schomer masterpiece which ran for one solid year on Broadway

“TO-DAY”

with a cast of notable quality, including

FRANK MILLS
Leonore Harris, Gus Weinberg, Alice Gale and Kate Lester

DIRECTED BY THE MASTER-GENIUS

Ralph Ince

The play was endorsed by Leaders of Society and the Church, including Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. William Gumming Story, President-General National Society Daughters of the American Revolution; Rev. J. Herman Randalls, Pastor Mt. Morris Baptist Church, New York City; Rev. George M. McClelland, Pastor First United Presbyterian Church, New York City; Rev. Crompton Sowerbutts, Rector of St. Timothy’s Church, New York City; Rabbi Alexander Lyons, Ph.D., Eighth Avenue Temple.

TO-DAY FEATURE Film Corporation
1564 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY
HARRY RAPF, General Manager

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the “News.”
LAUNCHED!
At the Psychological Moment
In the wake of the first American shot of the War
WILLIAMSON BROTHERS
Originators and sole producers of Submarine Film Attractions announce that they are sending ten companies on tour with

"The Submarine Eye"

Some of the biggest theatrical men on the Continent have pronounced this thrilling love drama of the Depths

The Big Time Attraction
Territorial rights are going fast and quick action is necessary if you want to get in on the profits.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES
8th Floor Longacre Building
New York City
ERNEST SHIPMAN, Manager
We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
ATTENTION!!

STATE RIGHTS BUYERS

In deference to many requests from exhibitors and patrons for the reappearance of the character which "Broncho Billy" made famous on the screen we beg to announce

THE

TRIUMPHANT RETURN

OF

G.M. ("BRONCHO BILLY") ANDERSON

IN

A Powerful 6 Reel Feature

HUMANITY

ERFULLY

HUMAN STORY with a POWERFUL MORAL SUSPENSE! SURPRISE! and THRILLS! AND THE MOST REALISTIC FIGHT EVER SCREENED

WRITE OR WIRE TO THE

SELECT PHOTOPLAY COMPANY
Longacre Theatre Bldg., 220 West 48th Street, New York, N. Y.
FLORA FINCH

IN A TRAVESTY ON A POPULAR PHOTOPLAY

GUESS WHAT

THE AUDIENCE ENTERS A PRIZE GUESSING CONTEST

1st prize......1 pickle
2nd prize......2 pickles
3rd prize......3 pickles
Booby.......A Kiss from Flora Finch (by mail)

Rules for Contestants

Write only on three sides of the paper, using left-handed pen.

In mailing, avoid fire-alarm boxes.

The above stuff is quoted from the film.

Yep—Flora!

NEXT!!

Flora Finch as
The Vampir-r-r-e!

NEXTER

FLORA FINCH as International Spy!

See? Everything we say has got Flora Finch in it!

Guess why?
(No prizes)

H. GROSSMAN DISTRIBUTING CO.
729 Seventh Avenue New York City

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
Wholesome Films
At Last

The nation-wide demand voiced in press and pulpit for motion pictures, fit entertainment for the masses, has now found response.

Wholesome Films Corporation

—announces a forthcoming program of motion pictures wholesome in theme and presentation; good, clean, delightful entertainment for you and yours.

The stories to be pictured and presented on the Wholesome program will be selected scripts by America's best beloved authors, captivatingly entertaining, refreshingly but not intrusively educational, strong, virile and wholesome. These will be the pictures for all classes of all ages.

This Wholesome announcement is one of the year's most progressive strides, indicative as it is, of the final realization by manufacturers that the permanence of the motion picture industry rests upon the non-offensive policy—the policy that presents to the public motion pictures minus sex and sensationalism, clean, healthy stories, wholesome entertainment for audiences everywhere.

Wholesome Exchanges will be located in all principal cities, an assurance of the best of service to exhibitors.

Write us now and watch for our further announcements.

Wholesome Films Corporation

M. J. WEISFELDT, General Manager
MILTON DAILY, President A. M. ALLEN, Vice President
Executive Offices, Consumers Bldg.
222 South State Street, Chicago
B.A. Rolfe presents
FRANCES NELSON
in the Ella Wheeler Wilcox picture poem
The BEAUTIFUL LIE
A METRO wonderplay in 5 acts contrived from the original verses by June Mathis and directed for Rolfe Photoplays Inc. by John W. Noble

Released on the Metro Program
May 21st
TREMENDOUS HIT
WHEREVER SHOWN

ETHEL BARRYMORE
in Edward Sheldon's
The CALL of her PEOPLE
SEVEN SMASHING ACTS —
SPECIAL PRODUCTION DE LUXE

WM. CHRISTY CABANNE'S master serial
Great Secret
Francis X. BUSHMAN
and Beverly BAYNE

Book it and Make Money
All METRO EXCHANGES

METRO-DREW COMEDIES
ONE EACH WEEK
create a keen appetite for
MORE METRO-DREW COMEDIES
THEATRE SOLD!
READ HOW IT WAS DONE

A ONE INCH AD DID IT

In the Business Offerings Section.

No matter what you want the chances are you can supply it. Advertise in the Business Offerings Section of the Motion Picture News.

It is the natural meeting place of buyer and seller; of the employer and employee; of the exchangeman and the exhibitor.

The cost is small; the results big. Try a small ad and see. If you want to buy, sell, exchange, rent, etc., here's your chance to reach just the men you want to reach.

Write for details

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
729 SEVENTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY
MAX LINDER’S

Masterpiece is

“MAX IN A TAXI”

this with

“MAX COMES ACROSS”

“MAX WANTS A DIVORCE”

Are his only American made comedies. His first two set the country laughing.

“MAX IN A TAXI” IS HIS GREATEST EFFORT

He has been advertised everywhere. The Nation is on tiptoes to see him. Don’t fail to take advantage of this wide publicity.

Essanay

GEORGE E. SPORER, PRESIDENT

1333 Argyle St., Chicago

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
BIG and ominous cloud looms upon the exhibitor's horizon. Washington proposes to tax motion pictures—or rather the public attending them. The amusements of the country are expected to furnish from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 as their share of the huge budget; and motion pictures must yield a part of this big revenue.

The scheme is to add a tax of ten per cent. to picture theatre admission price.

Nickel houses will probably be exempt; all houses charging more than five cents admission will be affected. We need not tell the exhibitor how big the levy will be. He can easily enough figure ten per cent. of his present gross receipts.

Most of the houses of the country will furnish to the Government from $1,000 to $2,000 a year. Twenty million dollars, at the lowest estimate, will not cover the annual total revenue to be collected from picture theatres by the Government's present plan.

A tremendous burden—at first glance, and seemingly a most inequitable one. An exhibitor wires us that the tax will bankrupt ninety per cent. of the exhibitors of the country. It faces them just as the summer months are on when many exhibitors run at a loss. But let us see; the situation should be viewed calmly; so it will have to be, and ought to be. In the first place, this is a war measure. It is not to be normally considered since it is not a measure of normal times.

The World War we have entered grows daily in solemnity and gravity. Washington knows, better than any of us, how deeply serious is this country's position. Every man, every business—no matter what the consequences—will have to help bear the burden. The motion picture business wants to and will do its full share.

In the second place, Washington points out that this is not a tax upon the exhibitor—not upon his gross receipts. It is not so intended. This is the status of the matter at this writing.

It is a tax upon the public. The public will have to pay it, and should pay every cent of it. The tax is laid at the theatre door, so the public will have to pay it.

The finished measure will probably provide a separate ticket to be sold at the box office—a one-cent ticket with every ten-cent admission; and the ticket will probably plainly that it is issued and sold by the Government to the patron. It is not the exhibitor's charge—in other words, not a raise in admission by the exhibitor. The patron will know this plainly.

This is not extraordinary. All other prices have advanced, for the consumer—and heavily. He is paying twice as much for bread; and groceries, meats, vegetables, dry goods, clothing—all have jumped up from twenty to one hundred per cent in price. It is only natural that picture theatres should add a penny to a ten cents charge. We realize fully the difficulty of raising admission prices. But, again these are not normal times. All prices are high, and may go higher. And people will be entertained more, Great Britain has found, in times of War than in times of Peace.

Moreover, all theatres—except five-cent houses—will carry the admission tax at one and the same time. It is a tax against the consumer and protection for the small house from its larger or more prosperous competitor.

Will the people stay away? We do not think so. An admission tax, exactly similar to this, has been in force in Ontario, Canada, for some time. Yet, as stated in last week's Motion Picture News, the Ontario public, despite most distressing and long protracted war conditions, pays the tax and attends the houses in increased numbers.

There is a further silver lining to the cloud. If the war becomes serious for the country, as it probably will, prohibition will unquestionably follow, and as unquestionably the picture houses will be greatly benefited through increased attendance.

We are writing optimistically—even in view of the very serious situation—for two very good reasons.

(Continued on following page)
The Exhibitor Must Prepare

The entrance of the American people into the war has taken place with such quietness, such reserve, that the overwhelming seriousness of it is likely to be discounted by extremely busy men, such, for example, as the exhibitors.

That we are actually at war will not be brought home with complete force until the first list of dead and wounded is cabled back.

The exhibitor must not wait for that event. He must make his preparations now.

The war will not be of short duration.

The nation will be scoured for available men. The exhibitor will be hit, and hit hard.

The solution to his labor problem is women. We pointed that out last week. We want to emphasize that—and re-emphasize it.

Train women to take the places of your operators, your ushers, your ticket takers—for every branch of your business.

Don't hope for an easy way out—it won't happen.

A Cue from Canada

WINNIPEG, Canada, exhibitor, anticipating the war tax in the United States, sends us the following suggestion:

"In consideration of the talk and possible necessity of a war tax on motion picture houses, allow me to suggest that pressure be brought to bear that will make the tax a seat tax, if anything. The ticket tax is so much trouble to all and costs so much to collect.

"If your taxing law would state 5 cents annually for each seat, it would be easy; if 20 cents, it would not be burdensome. We in Winnipeg pay 20 cents. But just think what 5 cents for each theatre seat in the United States would amount to!"

Our correspondent's suggestion is interesting, and certainly it is timely. However, a five cent seat tax would not bring in, by any means, the amount required by the government.

The five-cent theatre tax would bring to the government less than $500,000, an amount which, obviously, is insufficient.

Rent Them by the Year!

A WIDE awake exchange manager in Pittsburgh has written us a letter in which he encloses a service contract. He says:

"I am sending you this contract for your information and to get your opinion of our offer to exhibitors."

We desire to thank him for the courtesy, and we make haste in delivering our opinion.

Written across the face of the contract is an agreement by which the exhibitor rents the film, not for one day, but for an entire year. He is given exclusive rights and on 30 days' notice can repeat whenever desired. The price quoted is spoken of as reasonable.

Here we have another instance of exactly what Motion Picture News has been hammering away for.

This is our opinion: Immense!

Our only regret is that more distributors are not collaborating in the good work of the National Film-Booking Service.

The War Tax

Firstly, the tax is inevitable. Secondly, this is positively not a time to fight legislation.

There is but one thing to do, and that the National Association of the industry is doing—namely, laying facts and figures before Congress in a purely constructive and helpful manner. Their whole aim is to make the levy equitable, to protect the small house: first, from the tax; secondly, from unjust competition by its larger competitor, or from any source.

The thanks of the exhibitor are already due Messrs. Powers, Mitchell and McCarthy and others for their good efforts and judgment. Let further procedure be along these same lines.
Industry Leaders Active as War Tax Looms Close

National Association Dispatches Members Post Haste to National Capital to Prepare Equitable Plan of Exhibitor Taxation—Ticket Plan Is Favored—Will Submit Suggestions to Congressional Committee

May 19, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

REPRESENTING the entire industry in its struggle for an equitable distribution of the war tax, which the film business will be called upon to bear, members of the National Association have hastened to Washington.

Theodore Mitchel and J. J. McCarty left for the national capital last week, where they have met Messrs. Crandall, Varner, Ochs and other small and large exhibitors. The National Association's representatives, with the exhibitors, will comprise a caucus, representing the industry, and will decide what the industry wants in the way of taxation, and state their case to Congress through the proper committees.

It is not the intention of the committee to fight the tax to the bitter end, if, in their judgment, it will be allowed the opportunity, the fairest, most equitable, form of taxation, so that all concerned will shoulder the burden equally.

If likely that the film men will make the suggestion that the tax take the form of ticket coupons, one to be sold with each ticket of admission. It is probable that the suggestion will also be made that the tax coupon sale be compulsory.

The plan decided upon by the film men will be suggested to the Ways and Means Committee who will, it is said, accept Mr. Davis's resignation, the following extracts from a letter to Mr. Davis are presented. The letter was written by R. H. Cochrane, vice-president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

"I must again turn back to my often repeated declaration that the motion picture is simply a form of publication, an expression of the press, a form of thought transmission, using pictures instead of printed words. It has long been a theory of the people of these United States that the press was an important public servant. Everything possible in the earlier history of our country was done to encourage the dissemination of news and information, as the part of the education of the citizens of a free country.

Pennsylvania Exhibitors Form New Organization

Score of Prominent Theatre Men Design Body for Mutilating Its Members and for Promotion of Social Intercourse — Meet May 24

The motion picture exhibitors of a score of eastern Pennsylvania cities were represented at a luncheon followed by a business session in the Hotel Columbus, Harrisburg, May 1, at which, amid much enthusiasm, there was given birth to a new and virile organization designed for the two-fold purpose of looking out for the welfare of the exhibitors and for bringing them into closer contact for social intercourse and a better understanding of each other's problems and difficulties.

The meeting was called by E. D. Buss and Charles F. Oldt, both of Easton. As special guests of the occasion were invited, "Wid" Gunning, editor of "Wid's," of New York, who was present and made an informal address, and William A. Johnston, president and editor of the Motion Picture News of New York, who at the eleventh hour was prevented from being present but sent a telegram of regret.

One object of this meeting was to bring together at least one exhibitor from each of the important towns and cities of eastern Pennsylvania which are served by the film exchanges located in Philadelphia. These men, it was proposed, should act as chairmen for local branches of the organization to be formed later in their home communities.

Although no name was adopted for the organization it was suggested that it be called The Chamber of Motion Picture Exhibitors of Eastern Pennsylvania, and it is proposed to hold meetings once a month successively in the various cities represented. The next meeting will be held in Reading, probably on May 24, the exact date will be announced in these columns.

H. O. Davis Resigns from Universal

General Manager of Universal Company Hands in Resignation—Company Regrets His Leaving

H. O. Davis, general manager of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, has tendered his resignation, and it has been accepted with regret. Mr. Davis has received many offers from prominent film concerns and is undecided whether to continue in the industry or to accept a lucrative outside proposition.

The statement from the Universal Company is as follows:

"Mr. H. O. Davis, General Manager of Universal City, has resigned from the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, and his resignation has been accepted by the board of directors. As an evidence of the regret with which the company has accepted Mr. Davis's resignation, the following extract from a letter to Mr. Davis are presented. The letter was written by R. H. Cochrane, vice-president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

"This is a sort of good-bye letter in which I want to say first of all, that I am mighty sorry we could not induce you to stay with the company and go on with your good work. It was only when you seemed to sigh for other worlds to conquer that I felt I might vote with the others to accept your resignation.

"When I look back eighteen months and recall what rotten conditions prevailed in our western studios; and then draw a contrast with the present high-class organization, I realize that you have accomplished the impossible, and I want to thank you and congratulate you not only on my own account but on behalf of the company.

"It is a fact that you have actually reduced our costs so sharply in the very face of advancing prices on all sorts of labor and material is a great, big thing; but a still bigger one is the fact that you have improved our quality so remarkably while chopping down the costs.

"So much for the dollar viewpoint. But there's another thing that makes me feel even better, and that is the fact that you have demonstrated to the whole world that it is not necessary for a moving picture studio to be a madhouse nor an immoral "joint."

"I used to feel like crawling into a hole and hiding when I heard of the conditions in our studios, for you can imagine what a pleasure it is to be able to look the world in the face today and say that our studios are as clean as a hound's tooth — not only physically but morally.

"It is a safe place to any pure girl or any young chap to work, and we used to think this was impossible in a picture studio.

"You are leaving with a 100 per cent. record of achievement. That's pretty fair."
"Clean House!" Roars Selznick on Anniversary

Lewis J. Selznick has been a leader in the open market for just one year, and his message, based on gleanings from that year's experience can be condensed into this sentence: "Clean house! Down with the program!"

"Clean house! That's the slogan for Spring isn't it?" demanded Mr. Selznick of his interviewer.

"Just a year ago I sprang the same slogan. I announced the open booking system and challenged the program to a fight to a finish. They laughed at me then, but they're not laughing today. I advised the exhibitors to stop paying for pictures 'sight unseen,' like school boys swapping jack-knives. I told them to book their features in the open market.

Immediately the trade launched ferocious attacks upon me. The enemy called me a menace to the industry, and declared open war upon me at the Chicago convention. A certain historical conference was held at the Astor, condemning me and my proposals. At that very moment one of the leaders at that conference, the head of one of the big program concerns, had made his plans to adopt my system for the biggest star on his program.

"About two months ago the nominal head of one of the biggest of the programs issued a long statement, arguing that program booking was the only logical method in the interests of the exhibitor. I wrote a brief reply to his argument, and I guess I must have convinced his superiors, for two weeks ago this program concern announced itself as entering the-open market.

"The handwriting is on the wall—the program will continue, but its bullying methods are dead. The exhibitor does not have to stand for it one more day. If the last year means anything in the history of the moving picture, it means just that. Clean house, if you have been standing for this rank injustice."

Hodkinson Returns from Lengthy Western Tour

Mr. Hodkinson says that the announcement of the new bonding system which he has perfected, together with the system of modified program booking, about to go into effect has aroused enthusiasm among Western exhibitors.

Some widely sought accounts on the Pacific Coast were signed by Mr. Hodkinson. Resolutions of endorsement of the bonding system have been passed by many of the strongest exhibitors' league in the West.

Before returning to New York, Mr. Hodkinson spent several days at the Triangle Studios in Hollywood and the Thomas H. Ince Studios in Culver City, studying in the perfection of details of the consolidation of these plants under the direction of Thomas H. Ince.

Auger Sees Bad Days for Exhibitors Who Scrimp

The exhibitor who tries to economize by putting in cheap films is cutting off his nose to spite his industry, and declared open war upon me at the Chicago convention. A certain historical conference was held at the Astor, condemning me and my proposals. At that very moment one of the leaders at that conference, the head of one of the big program concerns, had made his plans to adopt my system for the biggest star on his program.

"Many of the exhibitors apparently became panic stricken over the thought of the United States being dragged into the war," said Mr. Auger. "The uncertainty of the conditions had its effect upon the industry. Numerous exhibitors started to retreat in every conceivable manner. Not only did they eliminate much of their advertising campaign, and in some cases of the house itself; but they began entering the market for the cheapest and most inferior pictures. They did not reduce their admission prices to the public, but expected their patrons to pay the same admission price for an inferior entertainment. The result was that patronage fell off.

"Where this plan of retrenchment was put into effect in neighborhood houses not only did the house itself suffer, but the entire industry suffered. The regular patrons refused to attend inferior performances, and where there was no other available theatre in the neighborhood giving a superior performance, they just remained away from the box office. So what was one distributor's loss was not another distributor's gain."

"But Mr. Auger explained that this condition had undergone a considerable change since the declaration of war. "With the certainty of the country being at war," said Mr. Auger, "many of the exhibitors seem to have regained their equilibrium."
Frank Hitchcock Heads Vitagraph's Director Board
Former Postmaster-General Elected Chairman of Board of Directors of V-L-S-E—Other Prominent Industrial Figures on Board Now are Clendenin J. Ryan and H. H. Vreeland

THE latest acquisition from America's hall of fame by the picture industry is Frank H. Hitchcock, former Postmaster-General, who was elected chairman of the board of directors and general counsel of the Vitagraph Company of America, on April 27.

At the same meeting at which Mr. Hitchcock was elected a director of V-L-S-E, other directors elected were: Albert E. Smith, Clendenin J. Ryan, Walter W. Irwin, J. Stuart Blackton and H. H. Vreeland. Following the election of the directors, officers were elected as follows: President, Albert E. Smith; Vice-President, Clendenin J. Ryan; Treasurer, General Manager and Secretary, Walter W. Irwin.

Clendenin J. Ryan, son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, is prominent as one of the men who made the Royal Telephone Company a great success. He has been engaged in many other prominent industrial enterprises. H. H. Vreeland is a prominent trac tion magnate, organizer of the New York Metropolitan Street Railways and other important traction enterprises.

Mr. Irwin, in his position as general manager and treasurer, read the annual report for the calendar year ended April 8, 1917, submitting figures which showed that from September 9, 1916, until the end of the calendar year the business of V-L-S-E had increased approximately two hundred per cent. This increase was accomplished with considerable less footage than when the V-L-S-E distributed the product of four manufactu res.

Mr. Irwin also called the attention of the stockholders to the credit showing made by the exhibition patrons of V-L-S-E, which he considered rather remarkable and declared attributable to the credit standing of the exhibitors. Of the gross business of the company for the year, but three-tenths of one per cent. is unpaid and of this seventy-five per cent. is collectable, leaving the company with bad debts of less than 1/10 of one per cent.

President Albert E. Smith, of the Vitagraph Company, was enthusiastic over the association of Mr. Hitchcock with the Vitagraph Company means that we will remain right at the head of the industry, entrenched there so strongly that we will be able to repel all attacks of competitors.

Censorship is Dying Hard in Pennsylvania

"Regulation" Bill, Proposed by Snyder, Restored to Good Grace to Sign with Amendments

RESTORING hope of dealing a death blow to censorship in Pennsylvania, and substituting therefor the plan of regulation for motion picture films as provided for in the Snyder bill, the Pennsylvania Senate, before adjourning for the week, voted in favor of reconsidering the bill which had been defeated when it came up for final passage in the same body one week ago.

The bill is thus restored to the Senate calendar and politicians predict now that it will be passed by both the Senate and the House. The House, when it reaches that body, is expected to offer certain amendments that will make it acceptable to the governor whose signature, of course, must be obtained before it can become a law.

The Snyder bill, which is said to have the backing of all the leading film manufacturing interests not only in Pennsylvania but in New York as well, would abolish entirely the present censorship board in Pennsylvania and substitute for it a Commissioner of Amusements who would license all films in a way that would permit them to be exhibited in the theaters without mutilation. Under this plan no films would be barred from public exhibition until proved, by properly submitted evidence, to be offensive to the public morals.

Film Exports Firm

That the war has stimulated the American film producer is proved by a comparison of the exports and imports of the month of March, 1915 and 1917, respectively.

In March, 1915, the imports amounted to $35,260, while last March the imports totaled $17,054. The greatest difference is noted in ex ports. March two years ago the films were exported to the value of $79,328. Last March this figure had climbed to $662,483, an increase of nearly 1,000 per cent.

These figures were furnished Motion Picture News by the service department of the National City Bank, New York.

Weak Hearts May Prevent Operators Enlisting

Eighty Per Cent. of Operators, Says President of New York Local, Have Bad Hearts—Some Have Enlisted Already

WEAK hearts—not faint heartedness—will be one of the strongest reasons why motion picture operators cannot go to war.

According to George C. Edwards, president of the New York local of the Operator's Union, about 80 per cent. of all operators will be barred from military service on account of weakened hearts.

The cause is traced to the unnatural heat of the usual operator's booth. Most of the time the operator stands at his machine with his heart in the heat of the usual operator's booth. The heat does not provide enough protection, and the persistence of the heat saps the strength and health of the heart.

Nevertheless, many operators have already been accepted in the different branches of national defense. Before physical tests.

Miss Willard's Mr. 's includes Jim Farley, Mr. and Dr. Mrs. Vancouver, W. Carol, Naval Reserve.

The New York Local has 600 members.

Morocco Completes Mack Story

Willard Mack's story of the California gold mines, "The Highway of Hope," in which Kathryn Williams and House Peters co-star, has been completed by the Oliver Morocco Photoplay Company and is scheduled for release by Paramount on May 17. The story was prepared for the screen by Harvey Gates and the cast in support of Miss Williams and Mr. Peters includes Jim Farley and Harry Devlin. Willard Mack chose as the setting of his story a typical California mining town—the sort of "mushroom" municipality that sprang up overnight in the gold fields when the pick of some lucky miner struck gold. In staging the production, the Morocco company was careful to select exactly this type of community as a background for the action, the company being sent to one of these deserted towns, the skeletons of many of which are still in existence.
J. A. Berst Again to Direct Pathe Exchange

RE-ELECTION of all officers, and a hearty endorsement of the administrative policy followed by Vice-President J. A. Berst, featured the annual meeting of the board of directors of Pathe Exchange, Inc., held April 24, at 25 West Forty-fifth street.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Charles Pathe, President; J. A. Berst, Vice-President; J. L. Madieu, Treasurer, Paul Brunet, Assistant Treasurer, and A. E. Rousseau, Secretary.

The successful management of Mr. Berst was heartily praised, as it was felt that to his unifying efforts and the wisdom of his policies was due the credit for the strides made by the Pathe organization and the notable increase in business in the past twelve months.

In this connection it was announced that never before in the history of the company has the volume of business done come anywhere near equalling that carried today. The Pathe program has been doubled in size, but the increased quantity of footage, it is felt, has been ascompensated by a greater increase in quality. Coincident with this has come a better service in the sense that today complaints from exhibitors have reached a minimum.

The policy of having stars of box-office value only and the securing of such a number of those who truthfully come under that category I consider one of the most important, if not the most important achievements of the past twelve months," says Mr. Berst. "We are making it easy for the exhibitor to book Pathe pictures, and do business with them."

In this connection was pointed out the engagement of Mrs. Vernon Castle at a high figure, for Mr. Berst confidently believes that in Mrs. Castle the company has a star of wonderful drawing power.

Pearl White, another real Box-Office Star, has a wide following. Though she has been mostly used in serials, "Hazel Kirke" and "Mollie King by reason of her excellent work in "Kick In" and "Mystery of the Double Cross," became entitled to a position in the carefully selected coterie of box-office stars.

Florence La Badie, Frederick Warde, Harold Lloyd, the "Lonesome Luke" of Pathe comedies, Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby, Creighton Hale and Warner Oland, are other big Pathe stars who have made history for his concern, according to Mr. Berst, and who are tied to long term contracts.

Chester Beecroft this week again demonstrated his facility to place American film product on the foreign market. He has placed three brands of American five-reel productions with the following foreign concerns; the new three, and now the Crane Wilbur subjects. Bolton-Stewart, Ltd., receive one new subject a month for the next two years with a new five-reel feature subject starring Crane Wilbur.

So far Mr. Beecroft has placed three brands of five-reel feature productions with the Bolton-Stewart concern. These brands are the Triumph productions, the Frohman super-pictures, and now the Crane Wilbur subjects. Bolton-Stewart, Ltd., receive one new subject a month of each brand.

Fannie Ward Re-engaged by Jesse Lasky

By the terms of a contract signed by Jesse L. Lasky and Fannie Ward just prior to the departure of the former from New York, the star will continue in Lasky-Paramount Pictures. Jack Dean, who has been playing opposite Miss Ward in many of her recent pictures has been engaged to play character roles and heavy parts, and it is stipulated that Miss Ward will have a different leading man for each of her forthcoming pictures.

There is no question of Miss Ward's popularity with the screen public. Her work in "The Cheat" is a matter of history. She has also starred in a number of light comic roles.

Prizma in New Offices

Prizma, Incorporated, has moved its offices from 40 Wall street to 11 East Fourteenth street, where commodious quarters are occupied.
Northwest Exhibitors in Convention Condemn War Tax

Record-Breaking Assembly in Minneapolis for Annual Session—Voice Protest to Washington on Proposed Extra Tax, and Accept Organizer Herrington's Proposal

FROM the time of the opening of the convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, in the Colonial room of The West Hotel in Minneapolis, on Tuesday, May 1, until its close on Thursday, May 3, there was action every minute and the Northwest went on record as one of the most progressive and progressive of the country. Fully three-fourths of the members representing Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan were present throughout the three days, and a more lively, enthusiastic body of delegates have seldom assembled under one roof or accomplished more real substantial good for the motion picture industry than was accomplished by them.

The convention was opened by President James Gilosky, who after extending a hearty welcome to the delegates, introduced Mayor Thomas Van Lear, of Minneapolis, who declared himself a strong supporter of the industry, an enemy of censorship, and concluded with the words, "Sell the hammer and get a horn." David G. Rodgers, a prominent exhibitor of Minneapolis, followed the Mayor on the speaker's stand, and at his suggestion the cancella- tion plan be substituted for the advance deposit system. It was decided to dispatch a message to President Wilson declaring the support of the Northwest exhibitors. Leo Ochs, National President, greeted the convention and reviewed the situation of the industry as it was observed by him on his recent trip throughout the country, William J. Sweeney, National Treasurer, and Fred J. Herrington, national organizer of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, and delegates from outlying States followed with brief remarks.

After a long discussion from all parts of the floor of the proposed Government war tax, threatening exhibitors throughout the country, Mr. Herrington's proposed modification taking off the 10 per cent. war tax on gross receipts was favored, and the resolution committee drew up a protest to be sent to Washington. The text of the resolution voiced the opposition of the entire convention against the proposed tax on receipts and recommended that an income tax on profits be considered instead.

The resolution as drafted and unanimously passed by the convention is as follows:

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, comprising the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.

"Therefore, we recommend the income tax for owners of motion picture theatres, asking only the same percentage that would be assigned to all industry, and ask your committee not to impose any heavier tax upon our industry than mercantile business.

"We, the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Corporation of the Northwest, compris- ing the States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Michigan, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, having as delegates representation in every State in the Union in which we are assembled, hereby go on record as utterly opposed to the special war tax of ten (10) per cent. on gross receipts.
Simplified Spelling in Sub-Titles

“The Count,” “The Vagabond” and “The Fireman.”

HERMAN ABRAMOVITZ, alias Herman Abrams, was convicted before Judge Robert E. Crowe, in the Chicago Criminal Court on May 2, on a charge of film piracy preferred by the Mutual Film Corporation, for having received and sold three stolen Charlie Chaplin comedies, “The Count,” “The Vagabond” and “The Fireman.”

Abramovitz was released on strict parole by Judge Crowe.

These films were abstracted from the vaults of the corporation in Chicago last September, and disposed of by Abramovitz to a film dealer in Omaha, who sold them to McLean and Walters, proprietors of the Lyric theatre in Sioux City, la.

The property was received in October by E. W. Stoddard, Assistant General Counsel of the Mutual at Sioux City. Abrams was arrested and bound over to the Cook County grand jury which indicted him.

The campaign against film thieves launched by the Mutual several months ago has already resulted in several important convictions and the indictment by the federal grand jury of George E. Bradenburgh, a former Philadelphia alderman, as well as the conviction and sentence of Louis Chatteau and other alleged offenders who are said to have been harassing the motion picture industry.

During the last five months there have been recovered by the Mutual Film Corporation, sixty reels of film stolen by pirates and valued at $60,000.

The Mutual has perfected an investigation organization covering the entire country, which now has in preparation several other important piracy prosecutions.

Illinois Safe from Censors for Three Years

Motion picture censorship in Illinois for three years is a remote possibility, exhibitors believe. Their opinion is based on the fact that Governor Lowden vetoed the Jackson bill, which had as its purpose that of stopping all films tending to show race hatred. The bill had passed both the house and senate by small majorities:

The bill left it for a jury to decide whether a picture or play was a violation of the act.

Simplified Spelling in Sub-Titles Approved

At the eleventh annual meeting of the Simplified Spelling Board, held at Columbia University last week, the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, which, through an order of its vice-president, R. H. Cochran, recently adopted simplified spelling, in all of its titles, subtitles, advertising and publicity matter, was voted a resolution of appreciation and the list of abbreviated words, as adopted by Universal, was recommended to film companies.

Whartons Release Two Features

TheWharton Brothers, with studios at Ithaca, N. Y., announce the completion of two features for the state rights market. The first of them, “The Great White Trail,” is eight reels in length and features Doris Kenyon. The second is a comedy of two reels, “Below Zero,” featuring Eddie Vogt.

Both of these pictures will be given trade showings within the next thirty days, after which offers will be considered for territorial sales.

Choose Cast for Ivan Picture

The cast of the production which William Humphrey of Ivan Film Productions, Inc., is directing, has been selected.

Grace Valentine, who now appears in a leading part in the “De Luxe Spoilers,” will be available for New York State booking for six months, after which it becomes most valuable to its owners and to the theatres playing it when released only for limited periods.

It will not then be available for booking for a two-year term, to wit: until October 15, 1919.

During the last five months there have been recovered by the Mutual Film Corporation, sixty reels of film stolen by pirates and valued at $60,000.

The Mutual has perfected an investigation organization covering the entire country, which now has in preparation several other important piracy prosecutions.

“Texas Court Overrules City Sunday Opening Ordinance

Advices from Austin, Tex., to the county attorney at Fort Worth, Tex., are to the effect that the Court of Criminal Appeals has overruled the motion picture re-opening in the motion picture shown Sunday opening case at Fort Worth.

The action of the court indicates that no more Sunday shows will be permitted, the action taken by the court being adverse to the city ordinance which permitted picture shows to show on Sunday.

More than 300 similar cases against proprietors of motion picture shows are pending in the county court and awaiting trial.
Brady Declares War on Makers of "Filth Films"

National Association Head Throws Hat in Ring at Brooklyn Exhibitor Association Dinner—"Industry Can Handle These Men from Within, and I'll Not Continue to Serve Unless It Does"

"PUT the maker of rotten films in convict's stripes," was the climax of a urgent declaration of war, made by William A. Brady at the dinner of the Brooklyn Local of the Exhibitor's Protective League. Speaking in America, Wednesday evening at Stautch's, Coney Island. To the accompaniment of almost continuous applause the head of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, delivered a flat-footed statement that he would not continue to serve in that capacity unless drastic action was taken to rid the market of the "filth film."

"We can handle this situation from within the industry, we must handle it and we will handle it, revered the veteran of the theatre. "This very small minority that makes rotten pictures must not be allowed to continue living on the industry and killing the industry. They are the prompters of reformers and cranks—they are the enemies we must fight. And let me tell you, gentlemen, it is a fight for the preservation of the industry."

"As a theatre man, speaking from thirty years of experience in providing entertainment for the American people, let me tell you theatre owners here that every time you pack your house by showing a filthy picture, you deal a blow at your own business future. I have seen the smutty play come and go and I know whereof I speak, I have produced off-color plays—but it was in my younger days. I am frank to say I didn't know any better."

"If this industry is to grow and develop as it should, we must take more pride in it, we must think beyond the lines of entertainment, above the plane of making a little quick, easy, dirty money out of an improper picture. Remember, gentlemen, there's no permanent prosperity nor the peace of mind in the 'color production.'"

Mr. Brady's speech was the feature of a dinner that was in every way a gala affair. The occasion was a farewell to the retiring officers and a welcome to the incoming officers. The popular. William J. Brandt, newly elected president, acted as toastmaster. The other officers include: Rudolph Sanders, vice-president; H. Clark Mooney, second vice-president; Robert Israel, treasurer; William Blond, financial secretary; Samuel Selsohn, record-}

Lasky Back in New York Tells of Future Plans

Changes in Mode of Production to They Are Best On Unhampered, and

ANNOUNCEMENT of revolutionary producing plans last week followed the decision of Paramount to adopt the open-booking system, and the return of Jesse L. Lasky from a six months' visit to the Lasky Hollywood studios.

"We are putting into immediate effec," said Mr. Lasky, "a plan of producing to fit Famous Players-Lasky Corporation's announcement made by Mr. Zukor last week, that commencing in August the Paramount Pictures Corporation will adopt the open-booking system of distribution. We recognize the fact that under such a system of distribution each picture and each star must be judged individually and not in co-ordination with other productions. To this new problem I have given a great deal of thought and we have adopted the following method of production based on my conclusions: That photoplay producing is a fine art and not a manufacturing business, and that best results are obtained by individual expression and unrestrained development."

"Each director in our four studios will be absolutely independent to produce to the best of his efficiency and ability. I have had conferences with all of the directors and they have enthusiastically entered into the plan. With the discontinuance of a central production bureau each director will have his own writing staff and the author will continue active work on every production until its conclusion, staying by the side of the director even when the film is cut and assembled. I believe this plan will improve production."

Buyers Denote Interest in "The Submarine Eye"

CONVINCING proof that "The Submarine Eye" has gotten over in good style has come to the Williamson Brothers from the buyers who have crowded their offices the past week.

J. M. Franke, who has taken over "The Submarine Eye" for New England, is grooming a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at once. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

R. E. Lawhead, of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing having a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at once. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

CONVINCING proof that "The Submarine Eye" has gotten over in good style has come to the Williamson Brothers from the buyers who have crowded their offices the past week.

J. M. Franke, who has taken over "The Submarine Eye" for New England, is grooming a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at once. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

R. E. Lawhead, of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing having a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at one. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

E. F. Lampman, is the special representative.

Another company is leaving for an extended tour throughout the South and will open the Jake Wells circuit in Atlanta on May 21st.

Mr. Franke, who has taken over "The Submarine Eye" for New England, is grooming a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at once. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

R. E. Lawhead, of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing the city of Chicago, representing having a number of companies preparatory to sending them through this territory at one. He will receive the hearty cooperation of the Williamson Brothers' organization and will do a great deal of missionary work, which it is believed will increase the value of the picture for the smaller houses, who will get it at a later date.

E. F. Lampman, is the special representative.

Another company is leaving for an extended tour throughout the South and will open the Jake Wells circuit in Atlanta on May 21st. Richmond, Norfolk and other Southern metropolitan cities will follow the Atlanta engagement.

Negotiations are under way for the acquisition of a big time theatre in New York, located across the 42nd street line, where it is expected that this love drama of the depths will play an extended engagement.

Theatrical men with headquarters here in New York, who have seen private exhibitions of "The Submarine Eye" are said to be willing to pay $25,000 for their belief that it is a big money maker,
The annual convention of the Exhibitors' League of North Carolina will be held at Wrightsville Beach, Wilmington, North Carolina, June 14, 15 and 16. Convention headquarters will be established at the Oceanic Hotel.

President Percy W. Wells, of Wilmington, and Secretary H. B. Varner, of Lexington, have not yet announced the completed program for the session, but it is expected to be fraught with significant importance both to the industry of the State of North Carolina and of the country.

Elaborate displays by manufacturers of films and accessories will be a feature of the convention and applications for reservation of space are coming into President Wells' office. Efforts will be made to have several stars and some speakers of national importance in the industry, and all of the big trade papers will be represented. As Wrightsville Beach season will be in full blast at that time, an opportunity will be afforded to visitors of combining business with pleasure and have a seaside outing while attending the convention.

Michigan Exhibitors' Convention
Scheduled for June 12-13

An executive meeting of the Michigan branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, was held at Saginaw on May 4, at which all of the Michigan league's officers were present. It was decided that the annual meeting and convention of the Michigan league will be held at Grand Rapids, June 12 and 13.

In a telegram to Motion Picture News from A. J. M. Flies, secretary, was the line: "Looks like the beginning of a real organization. Who said 'Cannot come back'? Watch Michigan branch!"

ON THE FIRING LINE

Anita Stewart and Earle Williams got the laurel of popularity from C. A. Nolan of Jamestown, Pa., who found "The Fall of a Nation," a hit with his patrons. Vitagraph and Paramount are the programs played at this house.

"Stick to the program if you want to win," says A. McCollum, of the Star, Alpin, Texas. "Quit letting the feature stars make all your money after you spend money building and developing them."

Mary Pickford, Harold Lockwood and Charlotte Burton are the favorites with patrons of the Casino, Nunda, New York, according to Manager W. P. Farr. "The high cost of living is leaving no room for amusements," he adds.

Paramount, Metro, Fox, World, Selznick and Artcraft, is the imposing list of programs being shown by J. B. Eames, of the Park, Barnes, Va., under an early exchange policy. "Business is just fair, declares Manager Eames. "I am giving more music and intend substituting a musical program and eliminating one reel. My only kick is the over-production of inferior features and lack of good ones."

"We are having great business down here in Oklahoma," declares S. H. Jones of the Empire, Alton, Ill. "I sold 'The Spoilers' yesterday to $223."

The Dixie Theater, Buena Vista, Virginia, has been operating two months and reports business very good. Messrs. Lloyd and Updyke show Paramount and Triangle programs, each for three days.

St. Louis Exhibitors Body Joins National League

The St. Louis Exhibitors' Association became a member of the National League on April 26, and the event was celebrated with a big banquet at the Planters Hotel.

Kansas Theatre Men Fight Deposit System

The Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of Kansas held its semi-annual meeting in Hutchinson, April 16 and 17. The paramount subject was "deposits," and the League went on record flat-footedly against them. The exhibitors take the stand that they are responsible business men, and the manufacturers should not treat them differently than manufacturers and distributors of merchandise are treated.

While the discussions were warm, and the position taken unequivocal, there are signs that the exhibitors are willing to meet the manufacturers on any ground that will be equitable.

North Carolina Exhibitors Convene in Mid-June

Chicago Herald Specially Boosting National Convention

Comprehensive plans are being made by the Chicago Herald to give the greatest co-operation possible to the making of the National Convention held in Chicago from July 14 to 22, the greatest of its kind.

H. C. Holah, manager of the Motion Picture Department of the paper, announced that in addition to publishing an extensive Special Motion Picture Edition to dedicate the convention, it will carry a daily Movie Section, giving mention to every activity concerning all exhibits, special features and association proceedings.

A special circular-letter is being sent out by the Herald to exhibitors, telling of its plans and offering all co-operation possible.

Exchange Refuses to Make Good Loss to Exhibitor, He Says

We are in receipt of a letter from Exhibitor J. W. Schmidt, Grand theatre, Breese, Ill., in which he complains that the Clune Film Producing Company, by S. C. Rogers, writing out of Chicago, refuses to make good a bona fide loss to him of $625 from printing heralds, etc., prior to cancelation of a contract booked by him in good faith.

We have before us letters and contracts, and he has a contract for exhibition making no mention, even in the smallest type, of requiring "acceptance" from the Chicago office.

Mr. Rogers in his letter to this exhibitor says: "I do not find any conditions that would prohibit us from declining to accept such a contract."

In our opinion this concern should be very glad to get a release from all damage from Mr. Schmidt for the above money. Their representative made an apparently legal and binding contract, and Mr. Schmidt got busy and printed his advance notices. The answer as to why Mr. Schmidt is entitled to redress is, because he was injured that much, and more, by repudiation of a contract already made.

Important Meeting of Ohio Exhibitors

A business convention of Ohio State Branch, No. 1, Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, will be held on May 15, 1917, commencing at 11 A. M. at State headquarters, room 409 Republic Building, 647 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Election of State officers and delegates to the National Convention will be held and a full attendance of exhibitors is urgently requested.

Iowa Exhibitors Meet—Fred Herrington Present

Fred J. Herrington, National Organizer of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, was in Des Moines, Iowa, last week, assisting in the reorganization of the Iowa Branch M. P. E. L. of A. Exhibitors from all over the State assembled at Des Moines for the meeting, which was held at the Chamber of Commerce.

H. J. Lago, manager of the Majestic theatre, Ft. Dodge, Iowa, was appointed temporary secretary of the organization. Plans were laid for a State convention to be held in Des Moines the second week in June. At this convention the permanent organization will be perfected and officers will be elected.

This reorganization has been contemplated for some time. In fact, ever since the resignation of A. H. Blank as president of the League. Local exchanges were particularly anxious to see the league perfected.

Mr. Rogers in his letter to this exhibitor says: "I do not find any conditions that would prohibit us from declining to accept such a contract."

In our opinion this concern should be very glad to get a release from all damage from Mr. Schmidt for the above money. Their representative made an apparently legal and binding contract, and Mr. Schmidt got busy and printed his advance notices. The answer as to why Mr. Schmidt is entitled to redress is, because he was injured that much, and more, by repudiation of a contract already made.
Time to Organize—Now!

On account of urgent calls from Southern and Eastern States National Organizer Fred J. Herrington has changed his itinerary.

Leaving Minneapolis he has gone to St. Louis and thence to Kansas City. From that city on his proposed route is as follows:

Oklahoma City, Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans, Mobile, Jacksonville, Richmond. He will attend the North Carolina Convention June 14th-16th, at Wrightsville Beach.

Between these cities Mr. Herrington will have time to visit other Southern States. Write or wire us and we will wire him.

The movement for National organization is growing. Missouri has held a big convention and joined the National League. Michigan will hold its banner convention this year (note the telegram from A. J. Moeller, secretary, elsewhere in this issue) on June 12th and 13th. Texas holds its state convention on the same date. North Carolina, a very stirring organization, promises a banner convention on June 14th. Ohio will hold its best and biggest convention in Cleveland May 18th.

Many states have joined the national organization which have never been in before. Every state will probably send a delegation to Chicago.

Every state should. Right now a huge annual war budget of more than twenty million dollars faces the exhibitors of the country.

This budget must be collected equitably. Only one thing will assure every exhibitor of just treatment this year, and that is his membership in a national organization capable of protecting his interests.

You must join the League this year. You must go to Chicago.

Fred J. Herrington will help you organize. His services are at your disposal.

Let us know when you want Mr. Herrington and we will advise him at once.

Send this coupon in to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 Seventh Ave., New York City.

---COUPON---

Are you a League member? If not, why not? .......... Will you attend the National Convention in Chicago—
Do you favor instructed or uninstructed delegates? .......... July 14-22d? ........................................

Who is your choice for President?
Remarks ....................................................................

Signed .................................................................
Theatre ..............................................................
City .................................................................
Cleveland Accords Herrington an Ovation

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

National Organizer Rouses Enthusiasm Through Plain Exposition of Exhibitors' Problems—Calls for Unity—Resolution Against War Tax

"ONLY IN UNITY IS THERE STRENGTH." That is what Fred Herrington, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League at a special meeting April 26.

On his brief visit, out on the coast, Mr. Herrington struck at the evils confronting the trade and reminded the way to concerted action as a means to combat them. By sound argument, and a genuine interest in the exhibitor he strongly impressed his hearers. His address in part follows:

"Ohio at present, numbers many organizations in the industry, each one suggesting a cure for its own ailments to the national headquarters. But here comes a proposed war tax and the show business is put under the way to concerted action as a means to combat them. By sound argument, and a genuine interest in the exhibitor he strongly impressed his hearers. His address in part follows:

"It makes no difference how large a body is, so long as it is consistent and thoroughly in harmony, but if you want results, you must become a component part of the national organization, and stand by that body. If you don't belong because you don't ap- prove of what it is doing, then it is your duty to belong in order to help make it what you want it to be.

"Standing aloof and looking on not only doesn't do you any good, but you are hampering those who are endeavoring to perform the greatest good for the greatest number.

"Cleveland is asleep, but it ought to wake up on the present war tax proposition.

"Only legislation that makes it impossible for the small exhibitor to keep his house open cannot be wiped out by war taxation. Needle plants direct tax on net incomes. Heavy co-op-erated in the efforts to bring about a better "get-together spirit among the local exhibitors."

EXHIBITOR PERSONALS

ILLINOIS.—Jacksonville: Manager John Johnson of the Standard has disposed of t\ew Power 6B, automatic projection machine.

Chicago: Four has sold to Henry F. Keeling, both of Elgin, the Broadway theatre at the northeast corner of Olive Street and Orange Avenue, for $7,000. The building is gutted, and is reported to be in a fair state of repair.

Elgin: Manager Fred M. Hoffman, of the Chicago valley, has purchased the Addison, 7th & Main street, 700 seats, for a reported consideration of about $14,000, subject to $18,000, the purchase price given in part, by the same Nebraska farm fund.

East St. Louis: Harry Reardon, manager of the Broadway theatre, 1433 O'Fallon street, is going into partnership with F. A. Hobbs of W. C. Young & Bro., who is the present manager.

St. Louis: A. J. P. Lane, who has managed the Electric theatre for some time, has purchased the business and will take possession next Monday.

Portage: J. S. Babcock, who recently bought the Majestic theatre at 4026 South 7th street, held a lease on the theatre for ten years, ending Jan. 1, 1927. The theatre was purchased and moved, and now occupies the old site of the Odeon. Babcock has taken over the management, and the theatre is as it was ten years ago.

IOWA.—Clarens: T. A. Shaffer has purchased the only picture theatre in this town. He is planning to reopen the place for business in the near future.

Wisconsin.—Reedsburg: E. J. Dillenbach, who has owned and operated the Orpheum theatre for the past seven years, has sold his interest to another operator.

ONTARIO.—Brampton: A. W. Griffen and his brother, Dr. W. A. Griffen, jointly operate the Griffen theatre here, and, in addition to the Universal weekly program, also use serials.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia: The motion picture theatre, located at 2312 North Front street, was recently sold to the S. H. Simpson Co., Garfield building, for $10,000. The property is 15 x 100 feet and is assessed at $50,000.

OHIO.—Cleveland: S. W. Manchester & Co., Garfield building, has leased for April 1 to J. H. Simpson the plaza theatre, 359 street, and Payne avenue, N. E., for ten years at an average rental of $1,500 a year. Mr. Simpson, of the Union theatre, plans to remodel the plaza and operate it as a capacity, nickelodeum.

Montana.—Livingston: E. P. White, of the Strand theatre of this city, has been in but a few days, and leaves for Chicago to attend his large business. East Helena: C. A. Drummond and J. B. Beves have reopened their newly remodeled picture theatre of this city and have remodeled under a new name, the Wonder, but it has just been opened under its new management and is a first-class picture theatre.

Huntington: F. W. Morris has sold the Gold Stamp company of this city, and William Crawford, has purchased the lease and equipment of the Star theatre here in the near future.

Nebraska.—Upland: Charles Johnson is planning to erect and operate a picture theatre here in the near future.

Oregon: Alva Bloss, of Upland, has purchased the lease and equipment of the Star theatre here and will assume the management at once.

Orchard: Sam Johnson has leased the Rex theatre of this city.

Ohio.—Cleveland: S. W. Manchester & Co., Garfield building, has leased for April 1 to J. H. Simpson the plaza theatre, 359 street, and Payne avenue, N. E., for ten years at an average rental of $1,500 a year. Mr. Simpson, of the Union theatre, plans to remodel the plaza and operate it as a capacity, nickelodeum.

Wisconsin.—Reedsburg: E. J. Dillenbach, who has owned and operated the Orpheum theatre for the past seven years, has sold his interest to another operator.

Ontario.—Brampton: A. W. Griffen and his brother, Dr. W. A. Griffen, jointly operate the Griffen theatre here, and, in addition to the Universal weekly program, also use serials.

Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia: The motion picture theatre, located at 2312 North Front street, was recently sold to the S. H. Simpson Co., Garfield building, for $10,000. The property is 15 x 100 feet and is assessed at $50,000.

Texas.—Edinburg: T. S. Simmons has purchased the Palace theatre and closed a lease with the operator for possession.

Ohio at present, numbers many organizations in the industry, each one suggesting a cure for its own ailments to the national headquarters. But here comes a proposed war tax and the show business is put under the way to concerted action as a means to combat them. By sound argument, and a genuine interest in the exhibitor he strongly impressed his hearers. His address in part follows:

"It makes no difference how large a body is, so long as it is consistent and thoroughly in harmony, but if you want results, you must become a component part of the national organization, and stand by that body. If you don't belong because you don't ap- prove of what it is doing, then it is your duty to belong in order to help make it what you want it to be.

"Standing aloof and looking on not only doesn't do you any good, but you are hampering those who are endeavoring to perform the greatest good for the greatest number.

"Cleveland is asleep, but it ought to wake up on the present war tax proposition.

"Only legislation that makes it impossible for the small exhibitor to keep his house open cannot be wiped out by war taxation. Needle plants direct tax on net incomes. Heavy co-op-erated in the efforts to bring about a better "get-together spirit among the local exhibitors."

INDIANA.—Columbus: P. H. Jackson is now in charge of the Star theatre at Union City, having been appointed to this position in The Motion Picture News. He plans to show special features from time to time. An excellent musical program is also being arranged.

Winchester: J. M. Mills, of the Dreamland theatre, formerly operated by George Oates, has sold his interest and that playhouse is once more open to the public. The new manager of the theatre is Mr. Oates, and the playhouse is the Irving, which will be used for showing motion pictures, while other days road shows will be the attraction.

Warsaw: Clarence Maish has purchased a theatre at this place, and, with his wife, left last week to assume its management, and thus become a citizen of the city. Mr. Maish, who, until last month, was Miss Kathryn Davis, has been identified with the motion picture business, having for a number of years been connected with the Royal-Grand theatre in this city. She has presented a feature picture, and the Sydney, for which the Sydney, and the Wychwood theatre. Mr. Maish is a young man of exceptional ability, and has been associated with his father, W. F. Maish, ex-manager of the Little Crow Mill in this city. He has unusual talent among advertising lines. While their many friends in Warsaw will regret their removal from the city, all will go with them.

J. P. Losk, who has managed the Electric theatre for some time, has purchased the business and will take possession next Monday.

Portage: J. S. Babcock, who recently bought the Majestic theatre at 4026 South 7th street, held a lease on the theatre for ten years, ending Jan. 1, 1927. The theatre was purchased and moved, and now occupies the old site of the Odeon. Babcock has taken over the management, and the theatre is as it was ten years ago.

IOWA.—Clarens: T. A. Shaffer has purchased the only picture theatre in this town. He is planning to reopen the place for business in the near future.

Wisconsin.—Reedsburg: E. J. Dillenbach, who has owned and operated the Orpheum theatre for the past seven years, has sold his interest to another operator.

Ontario.—Brampton: A. W. Griffen and his brother, Dr. W. A. Griffen, jointly operate the Griffen theatre here, and, in addition to the Universal weekly program, also use serials. The latest program is showing "The Purple Mask" and report a continuation of good business.

 Saskatchewan.—Manitouwadge: Proprietor Mess H. Guelisen of the Huntington Avenue theatre, owned by a known man in the motion and theatrical business, has enlisted for service in France. Besides being widely known in the motion picture business, Mr. Guelisen is president of the Huntington Avenue Improvement Association, a voluntary organization for the war relief of Armenia.

Michigan.—Detroit: Herbert L. Well last week purchased the Bijou Motion Picture theatre and closed a five-year lease on the Majestic.

Canadian.—Toronto: The York theatre, Yonge street, Toronto, one of the city's largest picture houses, has been sold out to T. C. Johnson, of Mount Hope, who assumes control of the business. Mr. Johnson has several propositions under consideration, but has not fully decided what he will do.

Ontario.—Brantford: Fred E. Giffen and his brother, Dr. W. A. Giffen, jointly operate the Tiffany theatre here, and have announced that they are about to open the Universal weekly program, also use serials. The latest program is showing "The Purple Mask" and report a continuation of good business.

Toronto: The York theatre, Yonge street, Toronto, one of the city's largest picture houses, has been sold out to T. C. Johnson, of Mount Hope, who assumes control of the business. Mr. Johnson has several propositions under consideration, but has not fully decided what he will do.
Postcards as Patron Magnets

R. J. Reef, manager of the Star theatre, Decorah, Iowa, reports that his patron getters postcards can be depended upon to produce maximum results at minimum cost. The sample sent us by Mr. Reef is printed in red and black, without illustration, and in a small town, such as Decorah, the card is certain to be read. We have only one criticism to make. Mr. Reef's postcard, while a good type job, would have better effect if he did not use such worn phrases as "One of the Season's Biggest Hits," "The Talk of the Country," etc.

Let History Work for You

"The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere," shown at a special children's matinee at the Muse theatre, Omaha, Neb., on Saturday, April 21, three days after the anniversary of this famous event, drew one of the largest crowds that ever attended a children's matinee in that city. Over 800 children were admitted to the theatre and when they left, after seeing this picture and a comedy, it was one of the best pleased crowds Omaha has ever seen.

Recruiting Officers Help

United States Army, Navy and National Guard officers are doing everything possible to cooperate with Boston theatres in an effort to stimulate recruiting. Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, who recently arrived in Boston to take charge of the Department of the Northeast, has been making things as easy as possible for the news film photographers, and results already are in evidence.

Press Sheets Are Outgrowth of Old-Time Circus "Fixer"

In a lively article in the latest number of "Reel Life," the Mutual house organ, the evolution of the old time circus "fixer," to the up-to-date press sheet is interestingly told.

The article opens.

In the olden days of the doubtful circuses, there came to your town a loud-cheeked suit and red vest, brilliantly stuffed with gems and containing a boisterous person of weight who immediately became a playmate of the officials in power and others who sought favors in handy fashion. He was loose with his cigars, his libations and his money wherever and wherever these things might do the most good. They called him a fixer then. Later, when he dared to wear nothing more startling than a red necktie and a headlight and shaved off his brilliant black mustache, they called him an agent.

"He was still a fixer, but as the circus proprietors began to realize the importance of presenting shows for women and children as well as for the men, fixing methods were changed. The agent instead of arranging for protection for the crooks that followed the show, began to work through the newspapers. And as he and his employees realized that the circuses was getting more money at the gate as a result of studied printed matter and that the crooks were losing out financially, the importance of the agent's position increased and a new lynx man entered the field."

The article goes on to tell of the difficulties which confronted the first motion picture ventures and how they were painstakingly overcome.

The press sheet is the motion picture version of the purified and glorified old time "fixer."

Coliseum Lines Them Up at Six A.M.

The last part of an old saying has something to do with the fundamental principle that the man who gets up early in the morning becomes, among other things, wealthy. J. O. Hovick, advertising manager of the Coliseum theater, Seattle, Wash., tried it out at 6 A.M. the other morning, when he advertised that a dozen plantation statues of Pappy Arbuckle would be given to the first dozen people buying tickets for the performance for that day. The theatre opened at 11.

Manager E. D. Tate of the Coliseum caused a stir recently by introducing to a packed house a sweet young girl who sang the aria from "Madame Butterfly" in a high soprano voice, then removed a wig, proving to be a seventeen-year-old boy. This is an old vaudeville trick, but it went over nicely.

K. C. Theatre Uses Chaplin Impersonator in Bandages

Wheeling a man all bandaged up in true hospital style, Kansas City's Charlie Chaplin impersonator, goes about town attracting attention to Charlie in "The Cure," at the Idle Hour theatre. We suggest that the patient should be dressed in a khaki suit, like a war-veteran.
Frank Hall Uses Strenuous Advertising Methods

FRANK G. HALL, of Newark, N. J., believes that strenuous advertising methods must be followed if the public is to be acquainted properly with productions above ordinary.

Newark was told that "The Whip" was at the Strand by a newly painted tally-ho drawn by six horses and carrying a coaching party in gay costumes with trumpeters announcing its approach, while a thoroughbred race horse with a jockey in attendance stood in front of the theatre.

"The Honor System" was advertised by turning the Strand lobby into a tier of cells—with prisoners looking through the bars, sheriffs and keepers in attendance and a sign over the gate which admitted the audiences, reading "Visiting hours 2.30 and 8.15 P. M."

Something to make people talk about the theatre is arranged for every feature, but care is taken to stage the advertising "stunts" in a high-class manner and make them suggest a two-dollar attraction and not a cheap show.

Mr. Hall is a heavy advertiser and believes that a theatre manager must be a live wire, continually thinking up new methods of keeping his theatre before the public. He insists upon doing things elaborately and appealing to the best people in the community. This is accomplished by spending money and using only ideas that appeal because they are clever.

For the proper presentation of "The Bar Sinister," Mr. Hall is having a special stage set made in which a prologue will be staged introducing darkies singing old plantation melodies in the moonlight and pantomime leading up to the opening scenes of Edgar Lewis's drama.

Frank Tally-Bo with Six-Horse Team Announces "The Whip"—Row of Cells in Lobby for "The Honor System"

Pathe Offers Hints for "The Double Cross"

THE Pathe Exchange has collected several advertising "stunt" ideas used by exhibitors in exploiting "The Double Cross," and desires to offer them to other exhibitors who contemplate booking that serial.

Manager Meighan, Star theatre, Portland, Oregon, erected a 24-foot "double cross" above the porte-cochere and turned on a spotlight after dark.

The Palace theatre, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in co-operation with the Des Moines Pathe Exchange inserted a mysterious newspaper advertisement one week before the picture played. Interest was centered in a veiled woman who alighted from the noon train, walked to the Palace theatre and eluded police and reporters.

The next day, says the Pathe press agent, a two-column story appeared recounting the mysterious kidnapping of a veiled woman by a masked stranger at 1 o'clock next afternoon. The explanation came out in the newspapers and on the billboards several days later.

Press feats of this variety are not easy to "put over." You must work hand in hand with the local newspapers, and it is best to let them know your plan and sanction it. It has been our observation that the crafty press agent who "puts one over" on a newspaper is not looked upon fondly when he makes a second attempt.

In a way, the slick press agent resembles the boy who cried "wolf!" when there were nothing but sheep in the neighborhood.

New Paramount Publicity Man in Detroit

In a form letter sent to all Paramount exhibitors in the Detroit region the announcement was made of the engagement of Geoffrey Jefferson to handle the publicity department. The letter urges all exhibitors in the territory served by the Detroit Exchange to get in touch with Mr. Jefferson.

Boosting Bernhardt Film

Substantial encouragement was given the attendance records at the Park theatre, Boston, when Thomas D. L. Soriero, manager, secured W. Donald Dutilly, who offered his blood during Bernhardt's recent illness, to appear on the stage and give a brief recital of Bernhardt's life history. The talk was given in conjunction with the World film, "Mothers of France."

Toy Balloons Make Friends

Exhibitor R. E. Faulkinburg of the Majestic theatre, Lexington, Neb., arranged for a free distribution of toy balloons for a special children's matinee showing of "Shadows and Sunshine," with Baby Marie Osborne, the Pathe starlette. Every child attending got a free balloon. The house was packed. In addition to such "stunts" as the above, Mr. Faulkinburg issues a neat house organ weekly called the "Majestic Theatre News" in which the reading matter is very interesting and instructive.

Paper Locomotive Opens New Display Field

THE Sennett-Keystone comedy, "Teddy at the Throttle" was given a most elaborate and spectacular introduction in Los Angeles at the Woodley theatre by means of the interior of a locomotive constructed of paper mache. The ingenuity of the contrivance deserves several thousand words in itself, but its importance, to us, is the valuable field it opens for the general use of paper mache for lobbies.

The locomotive's interior was a most realistic affair, spurting steam at intervals, levers rattling, fire box glowing. The paper mache for the display was made in special casts in Mack Sennett's Studio.

Boosting Bernhardt Film

Substantial encouragement was given the attendance records at the Park theatre, Boston, when Thomas D. L. Soriero, manager, secured W. Donald Dutilly, who offered his blood during Bernhardt's recent illness, to appear on the stage and give a brief recital of Bernhardt's life history. The talk was given in conjunction with the World film, "Mothers of France."

Press feats of this variety are not easy to "put over." You must work hand in hand with the local newspapers, and it is best to let them know your plan and sanction it. It has been our observation that the crafty press agent who "puts one over" on a newspaper is not looked upon fondly when he makes a second attempt.

In a way, the slick press agent resembles the boy who cried "wolf!" when there were nothing but sheep in the neighborhood.

New Paramount Publicity Man in Detroit

In a form letter sent to all Paramount exhibitors in the Detroit region the announcement was made of the engagement of Geoffrey Jefferson to handle the publicity department. The letter urges all exhibitors in the territory served by the Detroit Exchange to get in touch with Mr. Jefferson.

Toy Balloons Make Friends

Exhibitor R. E. Faulkinburg of the Majestic theatre, Lexington, Neb., arranged for a free distribution of toy balloons for a special children's matinee showing of "Shadows and Sunshine," with Baby Marie Osborne, the Pathe starlette. Every child attending got a free balloon. The house was packed. In addition to such "stunts" as the above, Mr. Faulkinburg issues a neat house organ weekly called the "Majestic Theatre News" in which the reading matter is very interesting and instructive.

Press feats of this variety are not easy to "put over." You must work hand in hand with the local newspapers, and it is best to let them know your plan and sanction it. It has been our observation that the crafty press agent who "puts one over" on a newspaper is not looked upon fondly when he makes a second attempt.

In a way, the slick press agent resembles the boy who cried "wolf!" when there were nothing but sheep in the neighborhood.

New Paramount Publicity Man in Detroit

In a form letter sent to all Paramount exhibitors in the Detroit region the announcement was made of the engagement of Geoffrey Jefferson to handle the publicity department. The letter urges all exhibitors in the territory served by the Detroit Exchange to get in touch with Mr. Jefferson.

Toy Balloons Make Friends

Exhibitor R. E. Faulkinburg of the Majestic theatre, Lexington, Neb., arranged for a free distribution of toy balloons for a special children's matinee showing of "Shadows and Sunshine," with Baby Marie Osborne, the Pathe starlette. Every child attending got a free balloon. The house was packed. In addition to such "stunts" as the above, Mr. Faulkinburg issues a neat house organ weekly called the "Majestic Theatre News" in which the reading matter is very interesting and instructive.

Press feats of this variety are not easy to "put over." You must work hand in hand with the local newspapers, and it is best to let them know your plan and sanction it. It has been our observation that the crafty press agent who "puts one over" on a newspaper is not looked upon fondly when he makes a second attempt.

In a way, the slick press agent resembles the boy who cried "wolf!" when there were nothing but sheep in the neighborhood.
"Happiness." Enid Bennett's Late Week.

The Man Who Never Says Die is Jack Devereaux in "The Man Who Made Good." It's a terrible disgrace, and before its end leaves you smiling with untold relief because the man who never says die...in short, you will enjoy every foot of the celluloid depicting "treason" in all its frightfulness.

There is every reason why you should see George Walsh in "The Book Agent" at the theatre on of week. You can see "The Man Who Made Good" at the theatre on of week.

Ready-Made Ad-Talks give you a program announcement with a punch merely by clipping the story alone. Ready-Made Ad-Talks give you headlines that can be the basis of your display. Happyogenous华北 pulling-sentences as you care to use.

Once again we repeat: Muriel Ostriece, a Brandy Stage and Screen Star, at Best in "Moral Courage" (World Five Reel Production). Muriel Ostriece, William A. Brady's most pleasing young star, is seen in a story of how a milk town which gives this favorite star an opportunity to display her talent, as she so nobly endowed her to the legitimate stage. It is the story of the last of a milk woman's son for a factory "hand" in the person of Miss Ostriece. The story develops in a manner which is entirely new, making us wish we had seen more of the milk woman as the hero of this drama, which is so pleasing and satisfying a way.

Arthur Ashley, popular Millionaire who is the leading man in "Moral Courage," is in "Moral Courage," in which he is not alone command your presence but your undivided and collective attention during its pictured version of humanity's most despicable crime, treason.

Muriel Ostriece is in "Moral Courage" in the triangle of French Convent to Gay Picture, All That the Name Implies. From the settlement of French Convent to its Apaches and the capture of Paris is a story of man's victimization. Some are casted in strong supporting roles, while others sleep. You will be taken to quiet corners of a convent, the other theatre on of week. George Beban is in "The Marcellini Millions" feature attraction at the theatre on of week.

Ready-Made Ad-Talks give you a program announcement with a punch merely by clipping the story alone. Ready-Made Ad-Talks give you headlines that can be the basis of your display...in short, you will enjoy every foot of the celluloid depicting "treason" in all its frightfulness.

George Beban in "The Marcellini Millions" feature attraction at the theatre on of week.
extreme, almost, of the life of the gangster. The story is a resounding—nobleman while the sun shines but a gangster by night—whose one ambition is to achieve his secret, a revelation to the girl on his death bed and she is confronted with the choice of having to sacrifice or fulfill her good name by being exposed by her father's Heulmu, although her loyalty is to her service in America and the clever manner in which she eludes the police makes it difficult for her to be upon her by her father, who sought only to save the family's name. This exciting ending will surely afford enjoyment or realized through the medium of every picture. In this offering of "Universal, A Phantom's Secret," with Mignon Anderson starred, will be seen at the theatre on—week.

Vivian Reed as Arabian Princess Finds Adventure in "The Lad and the Lion" (Armstrong Fire Reel Production) Miss Reed as the darling of the screen, is back again. Back with a touching story of the "days of old," when gold glittered from the shadow of the giant redwoods of California and a seven-shooter and rope were the ends of justice. She is back with all the laurels of a coronet, for she has been unanimously acclaimed as one of the most beautiful women on the screen. The story of "The Lad and the Lion," filled with action and love, with one of its central figures a lion, is sure to be a hit of the season. Will Machin, who plays the leading male role, says that this is "the lad with the lion." He is an admirable actor and worthy of much more credit than he was given in the previous film. The second Butterfly offer of Universal, "A Phantom's Secret," will be seen at the theatre on—week.

"Little Mary" Pickford in Something Different, "A Romance of the Redwoods" (Armcraft Fire Reel Production) "Little Mary" Pickford, the darling of the screen, is back again. Back with a touching story of the "days of old," when gold glittered from the shadow of the giant redwoods of California and a seven-shooter and rope were the ends of justice. She is back with all the laurels of a coronet, for she has been unanimously acclaimed as one of the most beautiful women on the screen. The story of "The Lad and the Lion," filled with action and love, with one of its central figures a lion, is sure to be a hit of the season. Will Machin, who plays the leading male role, says that this is "the lad with the lion." He is an admirable actor and worthy of much more credit than he was given in the previous film. The second Butterfly offer of Universal, "A Phantom's Secret," will be seen at the theatre on—week.

Mary Miles Minter—Mischief Made Merry—in "Annie-For-Spite," a Millionaire (Armstrong Fire Reel Production) "Annie-For-Spite," one of the best stage attractions running in New York, is to be seen at the theatre on—week. Mary Miles Minter, as "Annie-For-Spite," is sure to be a hit of the season. The story is a touching one, and the acting of the cast is sure to be a hit of the season.

"Little Miss Fortune" at Theatre on—week. Marion Swayne Depicts Theatrical Life on Broadway in "Little Miss Fortune" (Armstrong Fire Reel Production) We hear a lot about "The Lights of Broadway," "The Gay White Way," and "the big city." but there is still no experience that can match the thrill of passing beneath these lights, pushing our way up the glaring way or even as much as reached one or both of Us great terminal stations. The next thing to reality is to be an actress and what an actress doesn't know about New York isn't known by New Yorkers. In "Little Miss Fortune" you will see the human side of theatrical life— the side without the grease. Gloria Joy, Balboa's New "Child Wonder" Mr. Courtenay is now starring in "Pals First," one of the best stage attractions running in New York. William Courtenay in "The Recoil" will be seen at the theatre on—week.

Pathe's New Serial, "The Neglected Wife," Featuring Ruthe Roland Opens Strong Pathe's new serial, "The Neglected Wife," written by Mabel Herbert Urner, the serial which has as its star Miss Roland, is to be seen at the theatre on—week.

Climax of Daring Reached in Latest Chapter of "The Railroad Raiders" (Universal Serial—Two Reels) The thrill of thrills, the climax of daring, the crisis in human risk, the thing next to impossible to realize is the thrill of scene, and the running of the "Railroad Raiders," the serial which has as its star William Courtenay, is to be seen at the theatre on —week. William Courtenay in "The Recoil," will be seen at the theatre on —week.

"Voice on the Wire," a Thrilling Serial (Universal Serial—Two Reels) Polly figures very prominently in the latest episode of "The Voice on the Wire." She falls into the hands of a gang of criminals, who are taken away on a special train which is closely followed by another containing the authorities who are trying to rescue her. The gang decides to board the special and when they receive a secret message from the authorities, they follow the train. The authorities follow shortly after the receipt of the message, in a desperate attempt to save her. The excitement and suspense are kept up throughout, and the climax is reached when the girl is rescued. This sixth and latest installment of "The Railroad Raiders" is to be seen at the theatre on— week.

Late Chapter of "Voice on the Wire" Has All the Elements of a Thrilling Picture (Universal Serial—Two Reels) "The Voice on the Wire" is a serial which is being followed by the authorities, who are trying to rescue the girl who is in danger. The gang who is trying to rescue her also follows the train, and the excitement and suspense are kept up throughout, with the climax reached when the girl is rescued. This sixth and latest installment of "The Railroad Raiders" is to be seen at the theatre on—week.

Plans Are Laid to Compromise Girl of the Double Cross in Late Mystery (Path Services—Two Reels) One of the important features of the Tenth Episode of Pathe's mystery story, "The Mystery of the Double Cross," is the return of Herbert Brewer, father of Philp, who mysteriously disappears. This latest episode of the serial is entitled "The Hole in the Wall," and contains scenes of excitement and mystery plans to compromise Philp so that he will be committed to an asylum. The episode of the "Hole in the Wall," dispatched with a note from Bremer, instructing him to recover from the Double Cross. The note contains the confession of the gang to brendy, who has admitted to the real identity of the girl of the Double Cross, and to the mystery of her disappearance. Philp is seen to go to the home of a friend, who turns over the mystery. There is excitement aplenty in this latest episode. You can see the latest chapter of "The Voice on the Wire" at the theatre on —week.

"Little Miss Fortune" at Theatre on—week.
ADVANCE OFFERINGS OF THE PROGRAMS

"A Naked Soul" Second French Picture of World-Brady

The second of the French photodramas purchased by World-Pictures Brady-Made for distribution upon the regular program is called "A Naked Soul," and its publication is listed for June 11. The star of this production is Susan Grandaise, whose Old World personations of sympathetic roles are so very popular that they have gained for her the affectionate sobriquet, "the sweetest girl in Europe," which certainly speaks volumes for the manner in which she must have endeared herself to screen patrons abroad.

"A Naked Soul," through which Miss Grandaise will have her introduction to the American public, is the love story of a modern prince and a beautiful country girl. In the cast are: Brenton Marchiville, a son of Albert Signer, who gave such a vivid performance of the schoolmaster in "Mothers of France"; Grace Derval and George Treville.

Arthur Writing Story for Miss Saunders

Lee Arthur, author of "The Auctioneer" which was the successful stage vehicle of David Warfield, some seasons back, "The Gay Mr. Lightfoot," "We 'Uns of Tennessee," "Private John Allen," "Cohen's Luck," "Breaking Into Society," and dramatization of "Huckleberry Finn," has been attached to the Balboa studio staff.

Mr. Arthur's first work for the Balboa studio will be a story for Jackie Saunders, the Horkheimer-Mutual star, in which she appears as an unconventional girl. The story will call for five principals and numerous lesser lights. Sherwood MacDonald will have the handling of the Arthur production.

Popular Art Drama Stars on Schedule for May

Jean Sothern in First Picture Under New Director—Naomi Childers and Marion Swayne Make Program Debut—Alma Hanlon in Drama

Universal's Birth Control Film at Broadway May 13

The new Universal feature which has been prepared under the direction of Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, about which so much secrecy has been preserved hitherto, is now announced for the Broadway theatre, beginning Sunday afternoon, May 13. The title of the picture is "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle," and it deals with the subject of birth control. It was shown privately a few days ago before a distinguished audience of representative, New York men and women.

The new picture is in six reels. Miss Weber appears as Mrs. Broome, the wife of an eminent physician, who, through her husband's calling becomes possessed of sufficient knowledge to impart it to certain women who are in need of her advice. The story links together two contrasting families, one of the home of a wealthy couple with a society-loving wife; and the other, the family of a laboring man. In each case the problem of the children comes to the front.

Miss Weber, Phillips Smalley, Priscilla Dean, Wedgewood Nowell and Evelyn Selbie have the principal roles.
Film Version of "Within the Law"Warmly Praised

New York Reviewers Commend Vitagraph Presentation of Strong Drama—"More Thrilling Than Stage Version," Writes Critic of N. Y. World

NEWSPAPER critics have given great acclaim to Vitagraph's screen version of "Within the Law," which is playing at the Broadway theatre, New York. "Zit," in the New York Journal closes Big Vitagraph Feature "Don't miss this picture, whatever else you miss. It's worth walking miles to see, and it's worth any price of admission anyone cares to charge to have you see it."

In reviewing the picture from the standpoint of Bayard Veiller, the author of "Within the Law," the Journal critic says: "The picture industry has done for him what no stage manager could have done in the spoken drama. No matter who has seen 'Within the Law' as a play must absolutely see it in the pictures, and the fortune that this film is going to make will equal that of any of the greatest pictures that have been shown."

"In the two hours of solid grinding of the operator, there is not one second that could be taken out. In many of our two hour features we see ten, fifteen, twenty and thirty minutes that could easily be omitted, and it is not so with our Broadway hostries for the motion picture interests, they have been known to cut big features to suit their time sheets. But 'Within the Law' would baffle the scissors for you would not know where to cut it." The critic of the New York American, during the course of his exhaustive criticism, writes: "The great enticement of Bayard Veiller's 'Within the Law,' a photoplay version of which was presented at the Broadway theatre, being a pre-release, is its ever increasing dramatic power. That cumulative intensity and that tightening grip on the feelings of the audience are wonderfully perpetuated in the screen version given by the Greater Vitagraph Company.

The New York Herald critic adds his word of praise in language as follows: "Few words of praise, even though used by the Father of Sport, could hold more than do justice to the motion picture version of 'Within the Law,' presented last night at the Broadway theatre. It is continuously fascinating and its art of presentation from a dramatic viewpoint is far in advance of that of many films which have attained great note."

"Especially commendation is due to the work of a proficient cast, headed by Alice Joyce as Mary Turner, and Harry Morey as the Burglar, and Eugene O'Rourke, as the police inspector, alone was worth seeing."

"The critic of the New York World declared that the screen version is even more thrilling than the stage version. He writes: "Within the Law' was shown on the screen last night in the Broadway theatre before a crowded house and won an easy success as a moving picture. Bayard Veiller's melodrama, which was exciting enough on the stage, is even more exciting in the movies."

Greater Vitagraph has decided to release "Within the Law" on May 14, the showing at the Broadway theatre being a pre-release.

Beban in Italian Play on Paramount Program

Appears in Familiar Role in "The Marcellini Millions"—House Peters and Kathryn Williams Co-Starring in Another Feature

THREE of Paramount's stellar lights will be seen on the program announced for the week of May 14. George Beban, in another of his Italian roles appears in "The Marcellini Millions" and Kathryn Williams and House Peters co-star in "The Highway of Hope."

The story of Mr. Beban's vehicle deals of Gudo Bartelli, an Italian truck farmer, who with his wife and baby lives happily. Upon the death, brought on by anger, of Leo Marcellini, wealthy wine owner, Gudo is found to be the only living relative and inherits a beautiful estate. He is unhappy in his prosperity, but his wife is taken in hand by two social adventurers and is finally induced to get a divorce. A paper is found, however, which takes away. The Marcellini money and property and Gudo's wife returns to happiness with her partner in their humble station.

The cast of characters includes Helen Jerome Eddy, as Antonietta Bartelli, Pietro Sesse as Leo Marcellini, Henry Woodward as Wade Croyle, Fred Hunton as Mr. Hargrave, May Gaston as Nancy Harris, W. H. Bainbridge as Mr. Waring, Eugene Pallette as Mr. Murray, Adele Farrington as Mrs. Murray. The production was directed by Donald Crisp.

"The Highway of Hope" is a story by Willard Mack, which tells of a bedraggled maid-of-all-work around Missouri Joe's saloon and dance hall, known as Lonely Joe. Junior Durkin, in his role as "Junior," in spite of her sloppiness and rags and tatters, is a very beautiful girl. A cowboy, black sheep of a wealthy family, while intoxicated marries Lou. After many unhappy adventures in which they are separated, Lou and her husband are reunited and enjoy wealth through the find of a mine. This picture teems with incidents of heart interest.

Surrounding the program week of May 14th will be the sixty-sixth edition of the Paramount-Bray Pictographs, the magazine-on-the-screen, in which four subjects are shown: "How Uncle Sam Takes Old Money and Makes It New," "Lessons in Wood Carving," "Sun Cure" and a comedy cartoon. Burton Holmes in the sixty-seventh of his weekly trips around the world takes his travelers to see the Kandy elephants near Ceylon.

A single reel Black Diamond comedy will be released this week entitled "The Window Dresser's Dream," in which there is said to be action from start to finish.

Bluebird Names and Schedules Early Releases

Exhibitors will be interested in the definite announcement of features and dates for the Bluebird series in a schedule that is fixed for the first week in July. Bluebird's most popular leaders will be concerned in these early summer showings and a varied assortment of themes will be presented.

As previously announced June 4 will mark the appearance of Franklyn Farnum and Brownie Vernon in a comedy drama. "Bringing Father Home," directed by June 11 Dorothy Phillips will be presented in "A Doll's House" from the Ibsen play. Ella Hall reappears on June 18 in "The Little Orphan."

"A Kentucky Cinderella" will be the offering week of June 25, with Ruth Clifford and Rupert Julian the featured ones in a company including Emory Johnston, Little Zoe Rae, Gretchen Lederer, Eddie Polo, Frank Lanning, Myrtle Reeves and Annette Portola. F. Hopkinson Smith's story was adapted to the screen by F. J. Clason and Rupert Julian directed.

Ida May Park furnished story, scenario and direction for "Fires of Rebellion," the July feature in which Dorothy Phillips will be the star. William Stowell and Lon Chaney will, as usual, be leaders in Miss Phillips's support.

Two Directors Handling "The Twisted Thread"

From now on until the finish of Balboa's noted serial, "The Twisted Thread," two directors will handle the production. William Bertram, under whose supervision, "The Neglected Wife" by Will M. Ritchey was brought to a successful close, will direct, with Edgar Jones.

"The Twisted Thread" is the work of President H. M. Horkheimer. It is a serial production of fifteen notable episodes, two of which are entirely finished, and work is in progress upon the next four. Director Frank Crane began the task, having a contract with Messrs. Horkheimer Brothers, for ten weeks. At the termination of this period, Mr. Crane was called to Honolulu, by the illness of a relative and Edgar Jones, late of the Metro forces, was placed in charge.

A new stage was erected at the Balboa plant at a cost of $30,000 to adequately produce the serial, and Kathleen Clifford, a well-known New York vaudeville performer was assigned the star part.

Advertising for "S. O. S."

The American Standard Motion Picture Corporation of Chicago, which concern is exploiting the state rights picture, "S. O. S.," made by the Sunshine Film Corporation, states that it has two of the best artists in Chicago constantly at work on special advertising helps and novelties for the printed matter to be used with this state rights production.

A complete line of posters ranging in size from one sheet to a twenty-four sheets stand has been made up in addition to three styles of heralds, two of window cards and a unique lobby display.
Favorite Player Tops Mutual
May 14 Program

HEADED by Mary Miles Minter in "Annie-for-Spite," Mutual offers what it is believed will prove an exceptionally interesting program for the week of May 14.

In her newest release Miss Minter is shown in a variety of roles, one as a homespun girl, which is something new for her.

"The Overland Disaster," is the sixth chapter of "The Railroad Raiders," scheduled for May 14. In this chapter occurs a spectacular Pullman car runaway, going forty miles an hour, it runs off the rails and rolls over and down a forty foot embankment.

"When Betty Bets," is the second Marie Cahill comedy, also released on May 14. In this comedy Betty (Marie Cahill) starts out without a cent and not even clothes to her back and earns $1,000 in thirty days.

On May 16 comes Billie Rhodes in "Trivialities," in which Mary masquerades as an actress and cues hubby of flirting.

"Jerry's Finishing Touch" is the Cup comedy for May 17 in which George Ovey is Jerry. The laughs in this story arise from Jerry's aspirations to be a movie magnate.

The Vogue contribution to the fun is "Caught in the End," ready May 19, and shows Lilian Hamilton masquerading in a suit of clothes.

"The Alibi" is the title of the ninth story of the "Jimmie Dale, Alias the Grey Seal" series. In this story the Grey Seal upsets the plans of a crook who is impersonating him.

World-Brady Program

A SUMMER schedule listing fourteen subjects to be released between May 14 and August 13 was announced by World-Pictures Brady-Made last week. The order of release and names of the subjects follows:

Prominent in the supporting cast are C. D. Crittendon, Fred Kelsey and Jack Leonard. A Victor comedy, "Fat and Foolish," featuring Ed. Sedgwick and Belle Bennett, is the other Universal release for May 15.

On Wednesday, May 16, an L-Ko two-reel comedy, "A Good Little Bad Boy," featuring Phil Dunham, Lucille Hutton, Charles Insee and Merta Sterling, will be released. This comedy was directed by Vin Moore under the supervision of J. G. Blythestone.

Essanay’s Schedule for Summer Months Announced

President Speyer Explains Advantage of Early Preparation—Another "Skinner" Subject and Several Essanay-Niles Pictures on Long List

ELEVEN features are scheduled in Essanay’s announcement of its schedule for the summer months. Two of the subjects scheduled have already been announced. These are "The Night Workers" with Jack Gardner and Marguerite Clayton, scheduled for May 21, and "Filling His Own Shoes," a Bryant Washburn picture.

On June 13, the second of the Essanay-Niles series of redblooded Western dramas will be released. Its title is "The Land of the Long Shadows." Jack Gardner will be featured in this, as well as the productions of this series to follow.

Bryant Washburn will be starred in the feature to follow. Its title will be "The Man Who Was Afraid." This picture will present a film version of the story of that title by Mary Brecht pulmonary, which was published in the Saturday Evening Post, and won wide popularity.

On July 16 "The Range Boss" will be issued. This is the second production of the Essanay-Niles Western dramatic series, presenting its star, "The Golden Idol," will be released July 23. This production has been scenarioized from the story in Ainslee’s Magazine by Robert Rudden Whiting.

"Skinner’s Baby" will be released August 6. This picture will be the third of the Skinner series, with Bryant Washburn supported by Hazel Daly and the original cast. This picture is a sequel to "Skinner’s Dress Suit" and "Skinner’s Bubble," which have proven successful throughout the country.

Following "Skinner’s Baby" will come "Open Places," the third of the Essanay-Niles series. This production will be released August 20. Efficiency Edgar’s "Counsellor," a comedy-drama adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story of that title by Clarence Buddington Kelland, will be released September 3.

The next on the program will be entitled "Lost Paradise." The picture is from the story of Frederick Arnold Krummer, and will feature Marguerite Clayton. On September 24 Mr. Gardner will again appear in an Essanay-Niles feature entitled "The Vigilantes."
Film Specialties

Gaumont "Featurettes" on Timely Subjects

"Real Life" and "Tours Around the World" Appeal to People of All Classes—Short Reels Carefully Edited, Not Mere "Fillers"

The exhibitor who believes in specializing on programs appealing to regular classes of patronage will do well not to overlook the Gaumont "featurettes" released weekly through Mutual—"Real Life" and "Tours Around the World." Gaumont also produces the Mutual Weekly which is crammed full nowadays of timely and patriotic features. But "Real Life" and "World Hours" offer a special chance for the live exhibitor to build up a much neglected patronage from among the people who want to know what is going on in the world at large. Great pains are taken in "editing" these weekly compendiums of useful knowledge and up-to-the-minute entertainment.

In the release of May 22, No. 29, of "Tours Around the World," the traveler is given a look at the famous Gibraltar, then shown the results of excavations at Martonique, where in 1902, 40,000 lives were wiped out by the terrible eruption of Mount Pelee, the once to Cadiz, Spain, the largest military port of this country of traditions, and finally given a view of the River Marne; Paris, before the war, with the people at sport and play.

The same week, No. 56, of "Real Life" shows farmers plowing with automobiles converted by a new invention into field cultivators. Golf enthusiasts are shown making use of the clever "autoped" which threatens to take the exercise out of golf. Caviare, the two-dollar-a-portion delicacy known only to the "elite," is shown being prepared from the roe of the sturgeon. And most timely, with the price of everything edible constantly advancing, is the graphic illustration at first hand of how sugar is produced in Barbadoes, a vastly interesting and important industry of this tropic country.

More and more the taste for carefully edited reels, supposed at first only to appeal to the "select" in an audience, is proven to be just the sauce that gives the finest flavor to a well-directed performance, whether at the Strand and Rialto in New York or Grass Valley, California.

To Buy Subjects for Schools

The Educational Film Company of Texas was incorporated last week, with headquarters at 113 West Eighth street, Austin, and will buy and distribute pictures of educational value to schools, colleges, and for children's matinees. Prominent educators of the state are interested in the concern.

New Topical Weekly Devoted Entirely to War News

Under the name "American War News Weekly" the Cinema War News Syndicate in New York is now releasing weekly a new topical review devoted exclusively to war news. The first release of April 29 showed the launching of the new submarine L-8 at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard, U.S. soldiers testing machine guns, Texas troops "playing the war game in earnest," women farming to reduce living cost, and an "introductory history of the war" and "the drama at the Capitol with the principal actors." Such subjects as these will not be of merely temporary interest.

Selig Animal Film May 14

"A wonderful wild animal drama" was the opinion of the K-E-S-E Board of Appraisement, which viewed the latest of Selig Red Seal Plays, "The Lad and the Lion," on Tuesday, May 13, Edgar Rice Burroughs wrote the story which was adapted for screen purposes by Gilson Willers. The K-E-S-E offices predict instant popularity for the drama. Among the features is a storm at sea in which a ship founders. "The Lad and the Lion" will be released in K-E-S-E service on Monday, May 14.

German Mine-Layers Shown

The mystery of how mines have been laid in the closely patrolled waters about England, is explained graphically in the sixty-seventh release of Paramount-Bray-Pictographs through animated drawings.

At the start of the war it was an easy matter for German ships disguised as fishing boats, to plant mines in the English Channel almost without interruption, but this was stopped and hundreds of English patrol ships were on constant watch for any suspicious craft.

The means later employed by the crafty Germans was discovered when a peculiarly shaped submarine was captured entangled in one of the steel nets spread to interrupt just such visitors.

This submarine was found to be not the expected kind with a stock of torpedoes ready to discharge at a passing vessel, but was laden with mines which it could drop at will almost under the noses of ships and already their influence had been felt.

It was not possible to obtain a motion picture of this submarine, but the English authorities supplied a photograph and full description to the Bray Studios from which this film was made.

Other subjects in this release are "Modern Farming," an exposition in interesting form of the means at hand to make the waste places do their share in providing food stuffs to cut the high cost of living; "Woman Patriots," a picture showing what women are doing to equip themselves to serve their country, and another installment of Sam Loyd's amusing Picto-Puzzles.

Big Patriotic Film by Mutual

Mutual announces that they are about to release a five-reel special patriotic production, "A Daughter of War." It is to be put out as quickly as possible, regardless of release date.
Universal Announces Patriotic Weekly Release

ONE of the most timely announcements just come in is Universal’s new “Weekly,” which will have a much greater scope on special lines than the long established “Animated News,” yet attempt a field more restricted to current events than the splendid Universal “Screen Magazine.” This new reel, to be called “Universal Current Events,” will for the next few weeks, perhaps months, of course be dominated by war news. Where the “Animated” gives rapid glimpses of all world events, the new “supplement” as it were to the Animated, will take a few of the more important events and give complete and detailed pictures of them.

This will mean three important “specialties” in single reels from Universal. First in point of established prestige, the “Animated News Weekly”; equally important in a distinctly different field, and of permanent value in treating at length subjects of special and permanent interest, “The Universal Screen Magazine.” Newest, and just now more important than either in its scope of immediate and tene event to American audiences, the new Universal Current Events.”

Pathe Has Single Reel “Specialties”

THE “House of Pathe” has always consistently encouraged among its weekly releases what may be termed “specialties,” short subjects of special appeal of great value to the exhibitor who is willing to take the pains to connect such pictures to local patronage demanding that special class of reel for entertainment.

For example the Florence Rose Fashions, with the boosting of the local department store, is a novelty feature that many theatres consider their most important single reel drawing card. Because they can trace directly to this reel patrons who otherwise would not yet perhaps have ever stepped into the house.

The International cartoons, “starring” the widely famous “heroes” of the comic supplements of the Hearst newspapers, now include “Bring Up Father.” These are half reels supplemented by travel pictures of wide appeal. An entire reel of “Latest French Fashions” is a current release made in Paris.

The “Combimeter” process has made the new Pathe scenes “Know America, the Land We Love,” pictures widely in demand. Using simple contrast in colors, such as example the azure blue of sky against sere brown crags in central Arizona (current release of May 13), they are both artistic and clear, something no other color process can boast.

New “Terry” Subject

The A. Kay Company starting May 15, will augment its service by the release of a monthly single-reel feature entitled “The Terry Human Interest Reel.” The present release, “Terry Feature Burlesques” will be continued, exceptional success having been reported by exchanges handling it.

The new release will consist of four hundred feet of sociological scenics and four hundred feet of animated drawings.

Rothacker Produces Something Different in War Specials

“ZEPPELIN ATTACK ON NEW YORK” and “Manning the Navy” are the titles of two single-reel specials produced by Wattersou R. Rothacker and released by the Mutual.

The Zeppelin picture is a fictional fantasy of what might happen if the Kaiser should send a fleet of Zebs to raid New York just as London has been raided so often. The picture is given the requisite touches of patriotic fervor. There is an aviator hero who saves the city. A burning Zeppelin is shown, bombed by the aeroplane scout and sent flaming to earth. The enemy is routed and the flag waves free again.

The picture was made by a process of camera work which Mr. Rothacker is not revealing. However, it is claimed realistic results are obtained and some interesting new views of New York and its water front are presented. This picture is released May 21.

Tense Vitagraph Serial, “Hearts of Flame,” Ready in Fall

FROM the Vitagraph Western Studios comes word of the making of a fifteen episode serial, with Carol Halloway in the only feminine role. The tentative title given the play is “Hearts of Flame.” William Duncan stars and directs the serial.

Western critics are reported as enthusiastic over the work of Miss Halloway, claiming she has all the elements necessary to make her the heroine of the screen and a typical “Girl of the Golden West.”

Although the making of “Hearts of Flame” has been surrounded with the greatest secrecy, and all of the actors from stars to extras have been warned to refuse to tell anything about the picture in which they are working, enough has been seen to predict that it is an exceptional story of the West. Apparently Director Duncan has succeeded in eliminating much of the stereotyped “wild Western melodrama” for more staid, though realistic situations.

Star Gives Youth $500 to Volunteer for Country

Sidney Drew and his wife, stars of the Metro-Drew comedies gave a display of patriotism recently, which presented Uncle Sam with one more fighting man.

After addressing a meeting of the Midway Recruiting Committee, 57 Chambers street, N. Y., Mr. Drew turned to a group of young men near him and made the proposition to give the first one who would enlist $500, and in addition care for the young man’s mother. Harold Purves of 54 Bergen street, Brooklyn, accepted the offer, a check was drawn, and the future soldier went to the nearest recruiting station.

Mo-Toys Have Lively Sale

E. W. Hammons, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation, who have secured picture rights on the Mo-Toy Comedies for Northern New Jersey, and all of New York State, claims that bookings are pouring into their offices from all over the territory. He claims the demand for these comedies is unprecedented.

Gaumont Cameramen Find Interesting Sights in Paraffin Cuba

“Manning the Navy” is a one-reel presentation of the making of a “Jackie” as it is done at the Naval Training Station at Lake Bluff. The picture was taken under the supervision of and with the due official approval of the naval authorities. It presents in detail all that the raw recruit receives in training—being taken on the ground with all of the facilities which the government could offer.

This is the first time that the great naval training station at Lake Bluff has been so completely presented in motion pictures. At this station the navy concentrates all of its inducted recruits for education in naval and scholastic matters before they are sent to the seaboard to ship. The entire picture is the important merit of timely value and a special quality which I am sure gives them a particular box office value to the exhibitor right now,” observed Mr. Rothacker.
How Pictures Are Booking

Apportion Country on British War Film Prints

General Film Reports Best Houses Taking O. Henry Series

Lively Demand for Best Subjects in Far Northwest

Scores Apply for Dates on "God's Man"

A Tribute to Mutual Pictures

Baby Osborne Subject Draws for Red Cross

Go Well on Coast
IN THE STATE RIGHTS FIELD

Graphic Moves; Trade Showing of “Woman and Beast”

New York’s newest state right concern, Graphic Features, which is distributing “The Woman and the Beast,” have found larger quarters necessary, and early this week moved from the Godfrey Building, 729 Seventh avenue, to the Candler Building, 224 West Forty-seventh street. Almost simultaneously with the move, the first trade showings of the feature will be given in the Candler Building, these showings having been postponed for a week through the removal of Graphic headquarters.

Second Production Started on by Edward Warren

Edward Warren, producer and director of “The Warfare of the Flesh,” has started work on the second production to be released under his own name on the Triangle and Goetz forces as his cameraman, and Henry Allen Farnum as his technical director. The new scenario is by Rufus Steele, of the Saturday Evening Post staff, and author of many big feature plays.

Sunshine Completes Multiple Reel Eugenic Film

Titled “S.O.S.” or “A Message to Humanity”; Said to Deal with Eugenic Marriages in Delicate Fashion Trade Showing on May 14

THE Sunshine Film Corporation of Chicago has completed its multiple reel eugenic feature, which will be distributed by the American Standard Motion Picture Corporation on the territorial rights basis, and has given it the title “S.O.S.,” with the sub-caption, “A Message to Humanity.” “S.O.S.” deals with the subject of eugenic marriage in a manner, it is claimed, has never before been touched on by any manufacturer of motion pictures. According to K. M. Scoville, the producer and general manager of the Sunshine Company, the underlying motive throughout the making of “S.O.S.” has been to present to the public a production which would “carry its message home” in an extremely forceful manner, yet maintain a maximum degree of dullness and thorough wholesomeness throughout.

Its gruesome scenes, sometimes employed in the making of a production of this type, are said to have been clothed in a way which makes them appear as natural occurrences. “The Call to Arms Against Tainted Blood,” a phrase used by the American Standard in their advertising announcements, is a must concise explanation of what the picture really is.

The actual direction of the picture was in charge of Richard C. Travers and William Buckley, both of whom appear also in the cast, supported by Marjory La Fen, formerly of Biograph; Suzanne Fedey, Jane Thomas, Eleanor Shannon, Mary Yeates, George Offerman, William Brothers, William Burns, and many others whose names are familiar to picture-playgoers. In all a cast of 165 people was employed. The camera work was in charge of Frank H. Pipp.

A showing to the trade is to be given in one of Chicago’s largest downtown theatres on May 14, to be by invitation only.

“Curse of Eve” Has Influential Social Service Backing

That “The Curse of Eve” will be largely instrumental in bringing about justice, instead of condemnation, to the girl who errs, was the opinion expressed, this week, by Mrs. Luther K. Launders, the noted middle-western clubwoman and settlement worker, who passed through Los Angeles, en route to the Orient, in the cause of Child-Welfare Leagues. Mrs. Launders was one of the few specially—invited guests who, at the solicitation of President F. E. Keeler of the Corona Cinema Company—which produced this new state rights feature—and enjoyed the privilege of being present at a private showing of the film.

“I have been so profoundly impressed by the wholesome thought that has actuated the making of this picture,” said Mrs. Launders, after the exhibition, “that I can unequivocally predict a nation-wide movement contained in the narrative. Once, I read some lines which seem to be borne out emphatically by the story of ‘The Curse of Eve’. They ran: ‘Deep dyed in letters of blood, oft-erived in the face of destiny runs the code of the Arya race—Our women shall be guarded. A man forget much, love, honor, duty—country—but this he will not, he cannot forget. It is such whole-souled assertions as this one is that seems to be the fundamental theme of this play. It is a powerful preachment, yet it does not sermonize to the extent of being tiresome. The essence of its argument is not twaddle, but on the other hand it consists of strong moral threads, deftly woven together into an intensely dramatic fabric. The beautiful part about ‘The Curse of Eve’ is that it does not glorify the spinning woman, nor does it condone the sin.”

Louis F. Gottschalk, the musical composer, is sending every effort to complete the score which will accompany the production.

Cummins Sells “Race Suicide” in Jersey

Rights to “Race Suicide” in New Jersey were sold last week by Samuel Cummins, film broker, to Joseph W. Faraham to J. H. Holden of the Boreal Film Company.

Ten Companies Play Lesser’s Attractions

Sol L. Lesser, president of the All-Star Features Distributors, Inc. of San Francisco, announces that he now has ten companies playing his five-film productions as road attractions touring the states of California, Nevada and Arizona.

Mr. Lesser is carrying an orchestra, advance man, second man, operator and manager with his “Intolerance” companies.
Hammons to Market "The Fairy and the Waif"

E. W. Hammons, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation, announces that on May 1 he will start releasing on a state rights basis "The Fairy and the Waif," featuring Mary Miles Minter.

A complete line of advertising matter has been prepared for exhibitors and other matter in preparation, which will assist the Independent Exchange in its marketing. The story of "The Fairy and the Waif" is based on the present outbreak of the European War. This side of the story will appeal to the grown-ups, while Miss Minter is expected to hold the interest of the young folks.

In spite of the fact that the main advertising campaign has not yet been started, a brief announcement in the trade papers has brought numerous inquiries from state rights buyers who have asked for territory.

It was decided upon by Mr. Hammons, after considering the money-making value of the picture for both the exhibitor and state right buyer, to release to reputable exchanges, the picture either on a percentage basis or outright sale, at their option.

Leading Attractions in Phila. Theatres

Pathé's "May Blossom" is making a decided hit in Philadelphia territory. "The Mystery of the Double Cross" is making good as a Pathé serial and booking in large numbers.

"She" from Fox, crowded the Palace, Phila., to the doors, both day and night for a whole week's first run. It is continuing this popularity in its present week's run each at the Broadway in South Philadelphia and at Nixon's theatre in North Philadelphia.

"Tale of Two Cities" from the same firm has made the biggest hit of any program feature of the season in the Philadelphia territory is the consensus of opinion of all exhibitors using it.

"The Eternal Sin," with Florence Reed achieved a triumph on its initial week's run at the Victoria, Philadelphia.

Muelhman in Michigan

Charles H. Muelhman, formerly with the State Film Company, Detroit, and the Thomas H. Ince Picture "Civilization" in Indiana and Illinois, is spending a few weeks in Michigan arranging for bookings direct with exhibitors on "The Garden of Allah," a Selig production.

Lesser Buys Rights for "The Whip" in Two States

California and Arizona rights to the Paragon Film Corporation's dramatization of "The Whip" have been purchased by Sol L. Lesser, president of the All-Star Features Distributors, Inc., of San Francisco.

The production is now playing a two weeks engagement at the Cort theatre, San Francisco, and big business is reported. Prices are twenty-five and fifty cents.

Kunsky Has Ince Productions

John H. Kunsky has confirmed the report that he has purchased the Michigan franchise for the Ince Brothers productions soon to be released. Mr. Kunsky, who owns the Metro Film Exchange, the Madison Film Exchange and a chain of ten theaters in Detroit, would not say through what channel he would release the Ince productions, but it is believed that it will be through the Madison Exchange which he uses only for his biggest and best independent pictures. Mr. Kunsky also has the Casino Feature Film Company for his short subjects, and the early Famous Players features.

Hyland Working for Mayfair

Peggy Hyland, star of the newly formed Mayfair Film Corporation, is preparing to start work on her first production for this company on the twenty-first of the month. A story has been selected for her, the title and author of which will be announced next week. Miss Hyland is taking an active interest in the launching of the new company, and will be all in readiness when time comes to start grinding. Previous to the date set for the initial studio work she will tender a banquet to the employees of the company and studio.

Ready for Military Service

Robert Warwick is preparing to answer his country's call, last week commencing to drill with other members of the New York Athletic Club under command of a United States army officer.

"If I am called to the colors," said Mr. Warwick, "it will not be any home defense stuff for me, but active duty at the front."

Purchase Large Theatre

Ernest R. Horstmann, president of the Massachusetts branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, and Charles W. Hodgdon have purchased the Wakefield theatre, Wakefield, Mass. Mr. Hodgdon is owner of the Princess theatre, Wakefield, which will now be closed except on Saturday evenings.
Glimpses of "The Price of the Soul," the Feature Release of the Variety Films Corporation

Well-Known Buyer on Lookout for Comedies

Albert Teitel, head of the Ideal Film Exchange, Philadelphia, plans to spend this week in New York to look over the field with an idea of purchasing comedies for Ideal and also for the Midland Corporation of Chicago. Mr. Teitel, one of the best known state rights buyers but recently purchased the Ella Wheeler Wilcox stories in film, and also the feature "Our Passions Inherited."

While on a brief visit to New York last week Mr. Teitel in course of an interview gave as his opinion that exhibitors were now forced to pay too much for their pictures, the profits of the middlemen being such as to leave little margin for the theatre men.

"The Deemster" in North States

Messrs. Wilson and Stedman of the American Maid Film Co., 454 Loeb Arcade, Minneapolis, bought "The Deemster" for Minnesota, North and South Dakota last week. Options are held on two other groups of states and should advantage be taken of same, only the Pacific Coast states and one or two separate states will remain to be sold.

A sales campaign has been evolved for buyers of "The Deemster" and their constituents and is given free to all interested in promoting the Hall Caine photoplay.

Application to the Arrow Film Corporation, 1205 Times Bldg., either by mail or in person is sufficient to obtain the above mentioned data.

Jones Has Ince and Goldwyn Contracts for Midwest

Aaron J. Jones announces that Jones, Linick & Schaefer have secured all the productions of Ralph and John Ince for Illinois and Indiana, and that these productions will be released through the Central Film Company, and has been appointed personal representative for the Goldwyn Productions, and will open a special office for them here. He has also secured "The Crisis" for the Colonial theatre.

Hoffman Disposes of "Sin Woman" in 13 States

The George Backer Film Corporation is proving popular with state right buyers was evidenced during the past week, when M. H. Hoffman wired Sales Manager W. A. Bach that he had disposed of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Texas, Utah, Arizona, Colorado and Arkansas.

M. H. Hoffman, who is at the head of the distributing corporation which bears his name, purchased the world's rights to "The Sin Woman," which features the tri-star combination, Irene Fenwick, Reine Davies and Clifford Bruce. Soon thereafter he left for the West for the purpose of disposing of the western territories.

A print was shipped to Los Angeles in advance of his leaving, and, upon his arrival there he gave a special showing to the Pacific Coast buyers. The picture made an instantaneous hit with them, and he immediately received several offers from energetic film men who saw the many opportunites this picture offered for exploitation and quick returns for their money, as well as a probable long run.

In addition to selling state rights on this trip, Mr. Hoffman has been organizing his own exchanges, which will handle his products exclusively. He arrived at Salt Lake City last week, on his return trip, and at that time reported he had succeeded in establishing three exchanges west of Denver. He is expected to stop at Denver and Kansas City on his way back and establish branches in those cities.

In the meantime, Sales Manager Bach reports that he has been negotiating with buyers for the disposal of all the foreign rights, and, he expects to close this big deal before Hoffman returns.

"We have sold the northern New Jersey rights during the past week and hope to have all of New England disposed of before Mr. Hoffman returns," said Bach a few days ago.

"Our first picture seems to have won immediate popularity. Everything is looking very beautiful and there is every indication that we are going to have a very successful market. We will soon have the "Sin Woman" entirely disposed of and then we will prepare for the next George Backer picture, which will be started as soon as Mr. Hoffman returns to town. In fact when he returns he will immediately go over the new story which Mr. George Lederer, Director-General of the Backer company has selected.

"The first Bernstein release will be 'Who Knows?'. I understand Mr. Hoffman is bringing a print of this back with him and will arrange a trade showing soon after he arrives. This picture should gain immediate favor, for it has been pirated from the story which ran in the All-Story magazine and was a very popular fiction serial."

"After 'Who Knows'? we will release the big series, 'The Seven Cardinal Virtues,' which will be released in seven episodes, seven reels to an episode. I think Mr. Hoffman is bringing the first episode, which is called 'Humility' with him, but, he hints that he will not release any of them until the entire series is completed. Bernstein is now working on the fourth, and the remainder will be finished in a very short time."

Warren Provides Variety of Press Material for Picture

The Edward Warren offices have placed in circulation a big variety of display and press material on their new production, "The Warfare of the Flesh." The material consists of a combination press sheet showing in black and white the styles of posters, ones, threes, sixes, and twenty-four sheet stands, the cuts, for display and text illustration, and other miscellaneous stuff. The press stories cover every angle of the production besides giving many promotion, exploitation and selling hints.

Many suggestions are offered to the exhibitor in the way of catch lines for use in the playbills.
Great Care Exercised in Filming "Parentage"

Frank Seng Tells of His Ideas Regarding Realistic Production as Exemplified in First Picture—Believes It Will Set a High Mark

PRODUCTION of the most painstaking nature, the rule followed in filming "Parentage," is an ideal of Frank J. Seng, the wealthy furniture manufacturer of Chicago, who recently entered the field of offering special productions to the state rights market.

This initial offering of his was in the making for months. Hobart Henley, who directed the filming, paid the minutest attention to details. In an interview Mr. Seng had this to say:

"With but a few exceptions, the present screen season has introduced a very limited number of productions that might be called successes from both the producer's and exhibitors' point of view, and, of the many pictures that have been seen on Broadway since the beginning of the year, a regrettable low percentage have returned to the producer handsome profits.

"I believe that the day is fast approaching when the producer will make pictures which will insure longer bookings and more money. I will soon introduce to Broadway a production, entirely distinctive in character and theme, which I believe is going to enjoy immense popularity.

"The name of this production is 'Parentage.' It comes from the pen of Martin G. Chandler and Hobart Henley. It has been over three months in preparation and was produced under the personal supervision of Hobart Henley, who at last has had the opportunity of putting into realization an idea which he has fathered for the past two or three years. In 'Parentage' this young author-director gives to the public, in silent beauty, all that the word implies.

"For more than three months Mr. Henley worked apart from interfering organizing executives who ruin so many routine program releases. He paid especial attention to the minutest details. One member of the cast says he spent an entire day taking one scene at a window in order that it might give him the effect he wanted. He was an entire week taking the classroom scenes, with the result that 'Parentage' has one of the most realistic pictures of 'school days' that has ever been shown on the screen. Those who have seen the picture declare the result has more than justified the weeks spent in its preparation.

"This production is not an attempt to win approval with great crowds and mob scenes, which are so often injected into a picture for advertising and publicity purposes, and which seldom mislead anyone but the producer. It is a simple story of 'Parentage' and the effect of fathers and mothers upon their children. It is a mirror which reflects the truth about conditions which exist today in many households and have been in the world ever since the days of Eden. There is no attempt at thrilling and sensational climaxes, no wild melodrama or murders, but there is a beautiful story of love and devotion running through it which will appeal to every father, every mother, every child and innocent young girl who has faith in the man she loves. It is one of those pictures which sends people out into the world to think—because it touches a human note in every heart. 'Parentage' is one of those productions— in fact, the first—that teaches and entertains at the same time.

"Already innumerable state rights buyers have made application for certain territories without seeing the picture. It will be shown to the trade in the near future."

Market Strong, Says Cinema War News Syndicate

That the state rights market was never in a better condition and was never so eager to absorb a novel offering is proved by the quick and enthusiastic response made to the Cinema War News Syndicate's advertisement in last week's Motion Picture News.

Mail and wire inquiries for territory have flooded their offices since the early part of last week, and they have already closed several of their territories, although the greater part of the country is yet to be sold.

The initial release is going well throughout New York City, and that doubtless stimulated the wide action above mentioned.

Demand for Minter Feature, "Fairy and Wait"

Advertising matter such as posters, heralds, displays and all other helps have been prepared for the exhibitor in making a success the showing of the Mary Miles Minter feature, "The Fairy and the Wait."

The picture will be released on a state rights basis, and although there has been no advertising done, a small reading notice in the trade papers has brought many inquiries from state rights buyers. E. H. Hammons, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation, which is releasing "The Fairy and Wait," in speaking of the picture said: "We have so much confidence in this picture as a box-office attraction that we are releasing it to responsible states rights buyers on a percentage basis or outright sale."

"The Crisis" in New England and Canada

The Sherman Film Releasing Company has opened an office at 80 Boylston street, Boston, Mass., for handling the New England release of Selig's "The Crisis." W. F. Jackson is manager and Harry Cohen is press representative.

Canadian rights to "The Barrier" have been sold to Superfeatures, Ltd. Charles Stevens, who represents the firm, purchased the production from M. E. Mauer, Eastern representative of the Sherman-Elliott Company.

No Change of Name

Le Roy Cady, High Art Feature Company, of Lincoln, Neb., desires to correct the rumor that the Missouri Valley Film Company, has changed its name to the High Art Feature Company. While both concerns are under the management of Mr. Cady, they are distinct corporations. Both concerns are in the same building, at 140 Twelfth street, from which fact the misunderstanding probably arose.

Four Sub-Sea Prints in Michigan

Four prints of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" are working in Michigan at the present time, according to Leo J. Eckstein, manager of the Barnett Film Attractions with offices in the Peter Smith building.
Directorial Reins Again Taken Up by Wm. C. De Mille

William C. De Mille who has been devoting himself exclusively for several months to the scenario activities at the Lasky Studio in Hollywood, is again to take up the work of directing and will have Louise Huff and Jack Pickford as co-stars in his first production "The Ghost House," under the new arrangement. Mr. De Mille first came to the Lasky Studio for the purpose of writing scenarios to be directed by his brother, Cecil B. De Mille and the other members of the Lasky directorial staff. He later directed several productions himself, among them being "The Black List," "Common Ground," "The Clown," "The Heir to the Hoopah," "The Ragnamrim," and "The Sowers."

Selig Announces Comedy Series

William N. Selig announces the forthcoming release in K-E-S-E of a series of farce-comedies, each two reels in length. The first, founded on the Hoyt comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," will be released on May 21. Others to follow will include, "A Brass Monkey," "A Rag Baby," etc. Those who have seen private presentations of these comedies claim they will set a new record in motion picture comedy. Miss Amy Dennis, a brand new comedy star is introduced in these comedies. Others of the funmakers include William Fables, James Harris. The director is Joseph Richman.

Fairbanks Engages Henaberry

Joseph Henaberry, who created the role of Abraham Lincoln in "The Birth of a Nation," assisted D. W. Griffith in the producing of "Intolerance" and recently completed an engagement as a Fine Arts director, has been selected by Producer John Emerson to serve in the capacity of first assistant.

Mrs. Castle Starts Work in Five-Part Subject

"Carroll of the Secret Service" (Chosen by Pathe for Star Said to Have Thrilling Action—Works of Noted Authors for Following Films

Work has been started by Mrs. Vernon Castle at the Astra-Pathe Studio on her first five-reel feature for Pathe. George Fitzmaurice is directing. The title of this picture will probably be "Carroll of the Secret Service." As its name indicates, it is a detective play said to be characterized by thrills and fast action.

Mrs. Castle feels that her part in the picture gives her greater opportunity than she has had before, and that she is learning a great deal under the tutelage of George Fitzmaurice.

Under the new administration of Mr. J. A. Berst, the business of Pathe has increased during the last year to a point never before reached in the history of the company, and it is held that the recently announced policy of "Box-office stars only" has been largely responsible for this. The policy is simple in the extreme. It consists of placing under contract only those players who have definitely proven their worth to exhibitors. Pathe feels Mrs. Castle has done so beyond all doubt. Baby Marie Osborne is now established as a great attraction, and her pictures, "Little Mary Sunshine," "Shadows and Sunshine," "Twin Kiddies," and "Told at Twilight," are in great demand. Pearl White is a leader in the serial field. To see her in "The Exploits of Elaine," "The Perils of Pauline," "The Iron Claw," "Pearl of the Army," etc., the public of the United States alone has paid over $24,000,000. With "Theiee Girl," "Prudence the Pirate," "Her New York" (released) and "The Candy Girl," coming May 20, Gladys Hulette is proving herself a box-office star of the first magnitude. In addition to the eight box-office stars named above, Pathe has recently engaged Creighton Hale, of "Iron Claw" note, and Warner Oland, who appeared in "Patria."

"These players have proved their popularity, and their right to the unprecedented exploitation made possible by our strong sales organization spoken of as the best in the industry and Hearst Publicity added to Pathe Publicity," said a Pathe official in this connection.

Because Pathe wants to give exhibitors stars that will draw in pictures of uniformly high quality—dependable pictures, because of the success of "Patria," and in order to make sure that Mrs. Castle's success in five-reelers will equal that which she made as Patria Channing, Mr. Fitzmaurice was selected as her director, and to Philip Bartholomae, author of "Very Good Eddie," "Over Night," "Little Miss Brown," and many other stage hits, was entrusted the work of editing the scenarios.

Mr. Fitzmaurice was recently announced as head of the Astra scenario department. He wrote the scenario for "Carroll of the Secret Service" from the story of Joseph Trent.

In one scene already taken, Vernon Castle, husband of the actress, is "snapped" with her. He had recently returned from Europe, where he was a member of the aviation corps.

Elliott Dexter, who has been seen in many of Marie Doro's pictures has the leading male role in this picture. Macey Harlan is the villain, and Susan Willa, who created the part of Aggie Lynch in the original stage production of "Kick In," has much the same sort of role.

That the following features will be of the highest class is promised by Pathe in a statement that the works of America's foremost authors will be obtained.
Universal to Train Women for Men's Places

Carl Laemmle, Following Urgent Suggestion by Motion Picture News Last Week, Starts Preparing for War Draft

C. A. L. AEMMLE, president of Universal, in a statement sent to various newspapers, further emphasizes the need of immediate preparation on the part of American exhibitors which was strongly urged last week by Motion Picture News. It is significant that Universal is preparing to train women to step in the places of the men who are called to the army.

The first action came last week when the Universal Exchange manager engaged a New York newspaper woman to start out on the road at once as a film saleswoman. She will receive the same salary as is now being paid to men in the same capacity, and will employ, as closely as possible, the same selling tactics.

Mr. Laemmle's statement urges exhibitors to begin at once to instruct young women as operators of projection machines.

Following the example of foreign countries at war, women will have to take the places of men in various capacities and in various industries, Universal officials believe. The Universal Company is the first to exploit the training of women so as to be prepared when the time arrives.

In every department of their Eastern, Western, Northern, Southern and foreign offices, young women, starting Monday, will be trained by men to take their places when they are called to the colors. They will, as nearly as is possible, be exempt from their present duties, so as to take advantage of their training, if they are already in the company's employ and young women coming into the company now for training in case of stress, will be paid regular salaries and, when they take men's places, the regular salaries of men.

New Salesmen's Body Expanding

Steps were taken at the meeting of the Motion Picture Salesmen's Association of Philadelphia, on April 28, which will make it a factor in Philadelphia filmdom.

The final adoption of constitution and by-laws was postponed until a later meeting. It was decided to include all salesmen in the territory in those eligible to membership.

The following were elected, bringing the total up to thirty-six: Walter Murray, advance representative, "Civilization"; H. Brinker, General Film Co.; J. J. O'Neill and G. E. Maillard, Pathé; S. Heenan, J. Binns, W. Wilder and J. A. West of Vitagraph.

William Hart, Gun-man of Screen, Coming East

Noted Delineator of Western Characters to Confer with Triangle Officials on Contract and Rest a Month—Three Years Since Last Here

FOR the purpose of settling final details of his new contract with Triangle and incidentally to take a month's rest, William S. Hart is coming East, leaving Los Angeles May 8, and arriving in New York a week later.

He will be greeted in the various large cities through which he will pass by local exhibitors, and in Chicago and Pittsburgh, it is reported, extensive plans are under way for his entertainment. A publicity man, cameraman and a small personal staff will make the trip with him.

It is now more than three years since Hart left New York as one of the featured players with Charlotte Walker in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" company. At that time he had no intention of becoming a screen actor, and it was not until he reached Los Angeles and came into personal contact with Thomas H. Ince that the possibilities of the motion picture art were presented forcibly enough to arouse his interest and enthusiasm. Since that time, however, Hart has taken a prominent part in the development of screen history, and now ranks as a great box-office attraction. It is perhaps not generally known that Hart has for the past year directed his own plays.

Prior to his entrance into the films, William S. Hart spent over fifteen years on the legitimate stage. He was leading man for Madame Modjeska in "Romeo and Juliet" during her farewell tour, played the heavy lead in the original company of Ben Hur, and created a veritable furore on Broadway in the part of "Cash Hawkins," with William Faversham when the latter produced "The Squaw Man" for Liebler and Company some years ago. Hart was also co-starred with Theodore Roberts in "The Barrier," when the dramatic version of Rex Beach's popular Alaskan novel was presented at the New Amsterdam theatre.

He is a prominent and exceedingly popular member of the Lambs Club, and was one of the men appointed to handle the business details of the rebuilding of that famous Broadway institution.

Motion Pictures to Popular Song Hits

Universal is out with its latest novelty—the motion picture song successes. Exhibitors throughout the country plan to start song contests with the offering of these films.

Arrangements have been made for the showing of the current song successes, and while the song is being sung, the story that the song tells is being acted on the screen for the audience.

The Universal exchanges are co-operating with the exhibitors and the music dealers, and in conjunction with the publishers of the songs selected, a campaign of publicity has been inaugurated that will give to the popular ballad and patriotic song a new and added recitation.

Scenario from Novel for Gail Kane Production

Gail Kane has started work on her third production for Mutual which is being filmed at the American Studio.

"The Upper Crust," an adaptation of Charles Sherman's novel entitled "The Indiscretions of Molly" has been chosen as the vehicle for Miss Kane.

In this picture Miss Kane will be seen as Molly O'Toole, a sweet village girl, who, on account of reverses, goes to the city to seek a broader field of opportunity. Her love of wealth, luxury and position lead her into a series of indiscretions.

Rough and Tumble Vogue

In the Vogue comedy " flirt with Danger," which is now being shot at the Mutual-Vogue Studios, Larry Bowes appears as a strong man and gymnasium trainer.

There is a rough and tumble fight between Bowes and the assistants in the gymnasium, in which the trainer proves his strength by vanquishing them.

Later there is a real thriller when the gang fills the balls in the bowling alley with dynamite and wrecks the place.
New Director for Baby Gloria Joy Series

Director Henry King, who has been with the Balboa Company four years, has accepted a position with the American Studio, where he will direct Gail Kane.

Mr. King’s successor will be Robert Ensminger, formerly assistant director under Mr. King.

Mr. Ensminger will be assisted in his new duties by Lewis King, Henry King’s younger brother. George Rizard will continue in his capacity as cameraman, having officiated throughout the entire “Little Mary Sunshine” series. The first of the new series in which Baby Gloria Joy is featured, was finished prior to Mr. King’s departure. Mr. Ensminger will begin immediately on the work of directing the second picture in the baby series, from a scenario written by L. Virginia Waters, a writer on the Balboa staff.

Jackie Saunders’ Latest

Director Sherwood Macdonald has finished Will M. Ritchey’s latest vehicle for Jackie Saunders, the Sunkist Mutual star. The production was filmed at the Balboa studio and will be released on the Mutual program. Arthur Shirley plays opposite the star and Captain Leslie T. Pencocke, the scenario writer, accepted the role of the father. The balance of the cast includes Mollie McConnell, Albert B. Ellis, William Reed, Ben Rossier, Mignon Le Brun and C. H. Voute.

New Yorke Studio Manager

Wiley J. Gibson has been appointed studio manager at the Yorke-Metro, following the resignation of N. W. Aronson, who has gone to New York. Gibson’s first connection with the motion picture business was with the Universal Company several years ago. Later he joined the forces of Thomas Dixon, engaged in putting on The Fall of a Nation. He came with Fred J. Balshofer’s producing company in June, 1916.

Rapf Names Essentials for Quality Production

President of To-Day Company Tells of Method Followed in Making “To-Day”—Stars, Director and Strong Supporting Cast Needed

First to get big names, and the ability that went with them, secondly to get a director who was a director and give him a free hand, and, lastly, to compile a strong supporting cast was the idea of Harry Rapf, president of the To-Day Feature Film Corporation, when he began to plan production of “To-Day.” All this, of course, after he had the story.

In giving his views on the policy he thought best in making this picture, Mr. Rapf said last week:

“There is nothing like starting right. I decided it was more than half the battle to secure people whose names were so potent in the picture world as to need no introduction—names of paramount value, whose worth would be instantly recognized by the exhibitor.

“At that time Florence Reed had scored a sensational success in ‘The Wanderer,’ following many big screen successes. And when I learned, on securing the rights of the play, ‘To-Day,’ that the leading part had been originally written for her, and that only other contracts had prevented her playing it during its year’s run on Broadway, I knew here was the one woman to play the role of Lilly Wagner. It was not easy to win Miss Reed to the point of signing a contract that would call for her doing such an important picture at the same time that she was playing in the speaking drama. Florence Reed is first and last an artist—a great actress, with temperament, charm, beauty and unparalleled acting skill. It required only one reading of the scenario to win her consent. She declared it the most powerful that had ever been offered to her, and arrangements were promptly concluded whereby Miss Reed would work on ‘To-Day’ during four days of the week, excepting her for her regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

“This seemed a pretty good start, and almost any other producer would have been satisfied to secure a star of such importance.

Ralph Herz in New Piece

“The Mystery of No. 47,” a Selig Red Seal Play, for release by K-E-S-E, on Monday, June 4, has been placed in production at the Selig Studios, Chicago. Otis B. Thayer is the director in charge. Ralph Herz is the star. The Selig Company has engaged a very capable cast to support him, it is announced.

Augment Rialto Program

Joseph De Frenes and Paul M. Felton, who are now associated with C. P. Boxworth in the production of advertising films in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., supplied some excellent travel and cartoon subjects for the Rialto (New York) theatre’s first anniversary program.

Edwin Directing Jean Sothern

Van Dyke Film Corporation has engaged Walter Edwin, well-known director, to supervise Jean Sothern’s picture activities. His first picture with Miss Sothern is “A Mute Appeal,” released May 28.
Three Stars Signed to Appear in Forthcoming Art Drama

Contracts have been signed by Herbert Blache, president of the U. S. Amusement Corporation, whereby three well-known players will appear in his next picture, the forthcoming Art Drama program, which is entitled "House of Cards."

Catherine Calvert, widow of the late Paul Armstrong, will play the leading female role. Frank Mills appears opposite her. Kitty McGurk, the popular child actress, completes the trio.

Miss Calvert is known as a leading player in both stage and screen. She has played leading roles in nearly all of her husband’s plays, including "Miss impossibly Yours," "The Deep Purple," "Woman Proposes," and many others. She has been starred in several big picture productions.

Frank Mills has had a long career with such celebrities as Forbes-Robertson, Sir Herbert Tree, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Olga Nethersole and Elsie Ferguson, having been leading man for the last three in many of their plays. He has been featured in productions by Belasco, Frohman, the Shuberts, and many others.

His screen career began with Triangle, where he was starred in "The Golden Clown," "The Edge of the Abyss," "The Moral Fabric," and others.

The third acquisition of the U. S. Amusement Corporation, Kittens Reichert, has been with the Fox Company for over a year and has played important roles in nearly all the productions of that company. Although only six years old, she has gained a reputation that many older players envy.

Wilbur "Ages" in "The Heirs of Hate"

In "The Heirs of Hate," the production following "The Single Code," one of the "Morals of Men" series, is being produced by the David Horsley Studios and released through the Mutual Film Corporation. Crane Wilbur, the star and author, is said to be satisfied with the exceptional opportunity to display his versatility.

Mr. Wilbur in this picture has eight different make-ups. The action covers a period of fifty years and the aging process of time is shown in the life of the principal character, "Morgan Gray," starting him at the age of thirty and showing his death at eighty. Mr. Wilbur also plays the part of "Abel Gray," the grandson of "Morgan Gray," a young man of twenty-one, and both of these characters appear together in a number of the strongest scenes of this powerful drama.

The production is under way and Mr. Wilbur is most enthusiastic over his success with it. The theme of the story, which carries out most forcibly the title of "The Heirs of Hate," deals, as might be expected with retributive justice.

John Mulhall has an important role and Harriss Ingraham collaborates in the direction.

Wide Interest in Paralta Plan of Distribution

Numerous inquiries are being daily made to Nat I. Brown, general manager of Paralta Plays, with regard to the Paralta plan of distribution.

Complaint is made in the letters of high rentals charged on feature films and instability of distribution management.

Contracts have been signed by Herbert Blache, president of the U. S. Amusement Corporation, whereby three well-known players will appear in his next picture, the forthcoming Art Drama program, which is entitled "House of Cards."

Catherine Calvert, widow of the late Paul Armstrong, will play the leading female role. Frank Mills appears opposite her. Kitty McGurk, the popular child actress, completes the trio.

Miss Calvert is known as a leading player in both stage and screen. She has played leading roles in nearly all of her husband’s plays, including "Miss impossibly Yours," "The Deep Purple," "Woman Proposes," and many others. She has been starred in several big picture productions.

Frank Mills has had a long career with such celebrities as Forbes-Robertson, Sir Herbert Tree, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Olga Nethersole and Elsie Ferguson, having been leading man for the last three in many of their plays. He has been featured in productions by Belasco, Frohman, the Shuberts, and many others.

His screen career began with Triangle, where he was starred in "The Golden Claw," "The Edge of the Abyss," "The Moral Fabric," and others.

The third acquisition of the U. S. Amusement Corporation, Kittens Reichert, has been with the Fox Company for over a year and has played important roles in nearly all the productions of that company. Although only six years old, she has gained a reputation that many older players envy.

Wilbur "Ages" in "The Heirs of Hate"

In "The Heirs of Hate," the production following "The Single Code," one of the "Morals of Men" series, is being produced by the David Horsley Studios and released through the Mutual Film Corporation. Crane Wilbur, the star and author, is said to be satisfied with the exceptional opportunity to display his versatility.

Mr. Wilbur in this picture has eight different make-ups. The action covers a period of fifty years and the aging process of time is shown in the life of the principal character, "Morgan Gray," starting him at the age of thirty and showing his death at eighty. Mr. Wilbur also plays the part of "Abel Gray," the grandson of "Morgan Gray," a young man of twenty-one, and both of these characters appear together in a number of the strongest scenes of this powerful drama.

The production is under way and Mr. Wilbur is most enthusiastic over his success with it. The theme of the story, which carries out most forcibly the title of "The Heirs of Hate," deals, as might be expected with retributive justice.

John Mulhall has an important role and Harriss Ingraham collaborates in the direction.

Wide Interest in Paralta Plan of Distribution

Numerous inquiries are being daily made to Nat I. Brown, general manager of Paralta Plays, with regard to the Paralta plan of distribution.

Complaint is made in the letters of high rentals charged on feature films and instability of distribution management.

Carl Anderson, the president of the Paralta Plays Corporation, says that the Paralta plan is an equity plan which will protect every exhibitor who becomes associated with this company. It was formulated to help the exhibitor and producer on a sound footing, both in service and in financial results. The working out of this plan in a practical way, Mr. Anderson asserts, will not only substantially aid the Paralta exhibitor, but its influence may be so reflected that the same equitable conditions must in the end extend throughout the industry as the result of the demands of the exhibitors who observe its working.

Animal Life Films Being Made by Selig

The Selig Company has entered the field of educational films, has leased the E. and R. Jungle Film Studio of Los Angeles, and there, amid quiet surroundings and under the direction of Mr. C. E. Edwards, a man who has made a life study and work of wild animals, films are made depicting the life and care of wild animals and birds in their native haunts. Wild animals and their young are shown at close range, and the studies are treated in a way that will hold the interest of the smallest child, yet not detract from the main educational idea.

The Selig Company is peculiarly well equipped to produce such wild animal studies as William N. Selig has one of the most valuable privately owned collections of wild beasts and birds in the world.

Christie Not Directing Rhodes

A report current to the effect that Al E. Christie is directing Billie Rhodes for the Mutual Program is contradicted in a statement issued this week by the Christie Film Company. Mr. Christie is directing at present Betty Compson and Margaret Gibson only.

Drug Smuggling Expose in Goodrich Picture

The battle of federal authorities to wipe out opium smuggling is the basis of Edna Goodrich’s second star production for Mutual, "Queen X." "Reputation," her first picture, is scheduled for release May 28.

"Queen X" was written by Edwin M. Stanton, assistant United States attorney of New York, who participated in the crusade against opium smuggling, and led many of the raids on the gangs which offered desperate resistance to the federal government’s attempt to stamp out the drug.

Miss Goodrich appears as "Madame X," queen of Chinatown, a brilliant woman, the victim of the opium habit and leader of the gang which smuggles the drug into the United States.

The story is laid in New York and the time is the present.

Alice Howell, Star

The recent establishment of “Howl Comedies” brings Alice Howell into deserved prominence as a screen star in an unusual field for women—to meet competition with male bidders for laughter.

Miss Howell has been with L-Ko for several years, increasing her vogue through her remarkable adaptability to comedy as expressed in daring deeds and unusual “stunts” that have provoked laughter every time a laugh was supposed to register.

The immediate plans for Miss Howell to be presented in “Baloontastics,” followed by “Autonamies” and “Neptune’s Naughty Daughter.” Director Blystone has arranged for future releases to keep the Howl Comedies up to standard, and is now directing the fourth issue in the series.
Mary Minter in One of Her Favorite Roles

Mary Miles Minter has another Cinderella role in "Annie for Spite," her latest Mutual-American photoplay, released May 14. Mary's dreams come true in "Annie for Spite" just as they did in "The Innocence of Lizette."

Miss Minter herself is responsible for the motif as well as the title of her new picture. Roles in which she gets "adopted," roles in which she plays a part of vivid contrast make a strong appeal to the little actress.

In the selection of "Annie for Spite" and in carrying out many of the ideas of the play, Director James Kirkwood permitted his youthful star to have her own way to a large degree and as a result she is said to have put into the picture the very best that is in her.

Hard Role for Star of "Little Miss Missionary"

Margarita Fischer is called upon to play a number of exciting scenes in her fifth picture for Mutual, "Little Miss Missionary." Among them is a wild ride in a careening buckboard drawn by Indian ponies, taken when she is supposedly unconscious.

An entire tribe of Indians has been engaged to appear in this picture. They will encamp on the Exposition grounds at San Diego, and will be used in various big scenes.

Farrar's Protege Back

Marjorie Daw, who won wide popularity as a protege of Geraldine Farrar when the prima donna made her debut at the Lasky motion picture studio, has returned to the Lasky Studio after a long period of study at boarding school, and is again to appear in Paramount Pictures.

Barriscalie and Kerrigan Pictures for Paralta

Carl Anderson, President of Paralta, Makes Announcement Miss Barriscalie Starring for California to Begin Work on Subject

CARL ANDERSON, president of Paralta Plays, Inc., last week, announced his company had secured the control of the productions of the Bessie Barriscalie Feature corporation. Miss Barriscalie, who is now in New York, will return to Los Angeles within a week and will immediately begin the photographic work of her first photoplay, "Rose O'Paradise" in her own studio, under the direction of Oscar Apfel. It is expected that this picture will be ready for release in September.

Mr. Anderson also announced that the Paralta distributing corporation has secured control of the releases of the J. Warren Kerrigan Production Company.

The star has been touring the principal moving picture theatres of the country during the past four months, and is now on the last leg of his itinerary back to California. He will reach Los Angeles about June 1, and will immediately begin work on his first production.

Mr. Kerrigan will make from eight to ten feature productions each year. He will employ three directors, and while one is engaged in the actual photographic work of a feature play, the other two will be working out all the preliminary details of scenes, locations and dramatic action necessary for its fulfillment.

Mr. Kerrigan has selected the first three stories he will present under the auspices of his own corporation.

The pictures of the Barriscalie and Kerrigan companies, which will comprise from sixteen to twenty each year, will be the first productions released under the Paralta Plan, an original co-operative system for picture distribution, designed to bring about a more equitable division of profits between the producing, distributing and exhibiting interests.

An exhibitor booking these pictures controls them, absolutely, in his own exhibiting territory, and can run them the same as any showman might run his own attractions to make money from them. They will become the exhibitor's own property in his own territory, and all he may do in exploiting them will redound to the benefit of his own pocket.

"Argonauts of California."

EDWARD L. GRAFTON'S "Argonauts of California," was given a trade showing last week at the Mission Playhouse in San Gabriel, a suburb of Los Angeles. The photodrama has much in it of appeal to young and old. Youth is thrilled with the story of a pioneer schooner crossing the country through unbroken trails, Indian attacks and the lawless life of California in the period of '49; while the adult who remembers details of the gold find in Sutter's mill, and the famous Vigilante

Big Spectacle, Has Showing

Committee in San Francisco in '58, wonders at the correctness of historical detail displayed in the direction of the ten-real feature. A pretty romance runs through the story.

Grant Churchill (John Brandon) is made the head of a small bank of New Englanders who set out, when news reaches them of the discovery of gold near what is now Placerville, California, to share in the wealth of the West. Brandon is in love with Marian Stillwell (Gertrude Kaby), and tries to persuade her to join the expedition, but Marian's mother will not consent, giving him only the satisfaction that she will bring his sweetheart to California, around the Horn if John makes a fortune. After the trouble incident to breaking trail across country, the New Englanders reach Sutter's mill, where Brandon strikes gold on his claim. He writes for Marian and enters into negotiations with Benjamin Cress (Robert Chandler), a San Francisco banker, to become his partner. Marian and her mother arrive and the trio set out from San Francisco for the claim. This is at the time the Alcalde, or governmental head of San Francisco (V. O. Whitehead) and his henchman Don Enrico Quadra (William E. Parsons), are leading a lawless element in the Northern city, and sanctioning robbery, gambling and bloodshed. Brandon and Cress defy the Alcalde, and are the target for assassins until the law abiding folk organize the mysterious Vigilante Committee, with Brandon at its head and take the government of the city into its own hands, quelling all disturbances, changing chaos into order, and bringing about a general semblance of peace.

Harry Kabierske directed the production, and Victor and August Scheurich were the cameramen.
Rolin Film Co. Succeeded in Hour of Failure

Makers of "Lonesome Luke" Comedies Had Hard Struggle—Hal Roach, President, Once an "Extra"—Business and Artistry Mix

STARTED by a man who broke into the business as an "extra" the Rolin Film Company has in the short space of two years come from the border of "Bankruptcy Land" to the position of a successful venture. It is perhaps due to the fact that its president, Hal Roach, was once an "extra," then a director, that the impetus was given a venture which apparently was on the rocks. Be that as it may, there is little argument in the statement that the "Lonesome Luke" comedies put out by Rolin on the Pathé program now have an enviable popularity and firmly established the status of the producing company.

Mr. Roach is a young man, still under thirty. Before entering the film field he was a mail carrier in Alaska. With ambition stirring, he decided to capitalize his ability after having succeeded as a director, and with a friend, formed the Rolin Company. At the outset misfortune was met. Each distributing company to which pictures were sold by Rolin went broke owing the purchase price. Rolin carried vacant things looked bad, but when Roach as a last resort put his company through every funny situation he could think of, titled the picture "Just Nuts" and sent it to Pathé on speculation, and the novelty of the affair saved the Rolin Company.

Pathé asked for more pictures, so to get the proper capital to do things right Dwight Whiting was interested in the struggling company.

Mr. Whiting is a Los Angeles man of a wealthy family and was destined for the law. He acquired a third interest in the Rolin Company and immediately set out upon the task of putting the company's finances, books and systems upon a business basis and called in his assistant, W. H. Doane, to help. Dan Linthicum, the third owner of the business, sold out his share jointly to Whiting and Roach, leaving them the sole owners.

As a result of Mr. Whiting's management, the Rolin Company since he took an interest in it, has discounted every bill presented and the company doesn't owe a dollar.

To-day Mr. Whiting is general manager of the company, Mr. Roach is president and general director. Mr. Widom, the attorney, is vice-president, and Mr. Doane, who recently acquired an interest in the company, is assistant to the manager and secretary.

Arbuckle in "Reckless Romeo"

a Scream, 'Tis Said

As a modern Romeo, Roscoe Arbuckle is said to trifle with Shakespeare and in the parlance of the time "get away with it" in his newest Paramount comedy "The Reckless Romeo." Of course the film-maker does not follow the story of the immortal bard, but in heart interest and suspense there is a similarity, and in humor and gag the say the producers, goes a step further.

Romeo, the reckless, is a bumbling husband, who, to square bills with an irate wife and in the parlance of the time "get away with it," in the picture. Here occurs the romantic episode which gives the screen its title and Romeo is badly beaten up as the result of his amorous adventures. Returning with blackened eyes to his relatives he poses as the rescuer of beauty in distress. All is well until the family goes to the movies and discovers that the true story of "Fatty's" part in the sentimental incident has been transferred to the screen by a busy camera-man.

Commonwealth Star Opens Stage Engagement

Elise Mackay, who is contracted to appear in pictures produced by the Commonwealth Pictures Corporation of Chicago, has just opened a four weeks engagement at the New Amsterdam theatre in New York as leading woman of Sir Herbert Tree in "Col. Newcomer." H. A. Spanuth, president of the Commonwealth Pictures Corporation, states that at the end of this engagement he will start the production of a feature in which she will be starred as the leading woman.

Ziegfeld Corporation in Commodious Quarters

The newly-organized Ziegfeld Cinema Corporation has leased the entire seventh floor of the model Yale and Towne office building at 9 East Forty-third street, New York, and established itself in the quarters last week. The new concern is capitalized at $3,000,000. William J. Worden, well-known in the world of specialized motion pictures, is president. He is also president of the Worden Efficiency Sales Company and treasurer of the J. T. Mullaney Engineering Company of New York City, and the Worden Realty Company of Springfield, Mass.

W. K. Ziegfeld, of the well-known producing family of that name, is president.

Roberts and Reid Renew Lasky Contract

Word has been received from the Lasky Studio at Hollywood that Theodore Roberts and Wallace Reid have signed contracts with Jesse L. Lasky to appear in Paramount Pictures for two more years.

Mr. Roberts before coming to the screen was an acknowledged character actor on the stage, and has supplemented his reputation by similar successes in the silent drama. Wallace Reid, on the other hand, first came to the screen comparatively unknown, having had little stage experience.

During the course of his screen career, Theodore Roberts has either starred in, or taken the title roles in, "Anton the Terrible," "The Circus Man," "Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo," "Pudd'n Wilson," "The American Consul," and many other productions.

Wallace Reid will be remembered for his work as co-star in the following Lasky Pictures: "The Golden Chance," "The House of the Golden Windows," "The Yellow Pawn," "The Golden Fetter" and "The Prison Without Walls." Mr. Reid also appeared as Don Jose in support of Geraldine Farrar when the diva made her motion picture debut in "Carmen."

Big Goldwyn Stars to Be at Chicago Convention

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation will be an active participant in the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League Exposition in Chicago, July 14 to 22, and has taken space for its headquarters on the main aisle of the Coliseum, immediately facing the entrance of the big convention hall.

The Goldwyn display will be designed by three noted painters and scenic artists; Hugo Ballin, Robert Edmund Jones and Everett Shimn.

Goldwyn officers and stars will be in attendance and a cable received yesterday from Mary Garden, who is now in Paris, brings the news that she will return to America in time to take part in the exposition as Goldwyn's chief representative. Mae Marsh and Madge Kennedy are expected to stop work in the Fort Lee studios long enough to devote several days to the convention.

Expressions of Joy in "An Aerial Joy Ride" (Fox Film Comedy)
Greene Enthusiastic Over Pickford Offering

Walter E. Greene, president of Arlcraft, predicts that Mary Pickford's latest picture, "A Romance of the Redwoods," will prove a revelation. An advance print of the subject was received in the Artcraft New York offices from the Lasky West Coast Studios last week, "A new Mary Pickford will be introduced to patrons of high-class photoplays on May 14, when 'A Romance of the Redwoods' will prove a revelation. An advance print of the subject was received in the Arlcraft New York offices from the Lasky West Coast Studios last week.

"A new Mary Pickford will be introduced to patrons of high-class photoplays on May 14, when 'A Romance of the Redwoods' makes its initial public appearance," said Mr. Greene. "Although I have seen Miss Pickford in parts that demand much of her histrionic talent I have never viewed her in a role that exacts such wonderful dramatic display."

Good Work in "Hari Kari"

Stress is laid by the producers on the work done by Andrew Robson in "Hari Kari," adapted by the California Company from Julian Johnson's play. Robson played in such stage productions as "The Wolf," "Richard Carvel." One of his biggest roles in pictures was that of Lothario, the demented father in "Mignon."

Mutual Executives Further "Big Stars Only" Plan

Freuler and Hutchinson After New York Trip Report Signing New Contract with Mary Miles Minter and Acquiring Two Stage Stars

TANGIBLE evidence of the activities of John R. Freuler, President of Mutual and Samuel S. Hutchinson, President of American Film Co., in the pursuance of their policy of "Big Stars only for Mutual" is found in the tabulated result of their recent visit to New York. The return of these two film men to Chicago was followed with the announcement that Juliette Day, stage star, has signed a contract for the making of a series of feature pictures for American; that Mary Miles Minter has signed a new two-year contract with Mutual, and that Julia Sanderson, noted legitimate star has been placed under contract in behalf of the Empire All Star Corporation which is making pictures of Charles Frohman stage successes for release through Mutual.

"This is some more evidence of our strict adherence to the policy of 'big stars only' for the Mutual's pictures," said President Freuler. "We shall have important announcements concerning the vehicles in which these stars are to appear. We are giving particular attention to the matter of diversity of dramatic matter and clearly established lines of production for each star. It is a simple matter of business judgment to discover what line of material for each star best satisfies the public and makes money for the exhibitor and after that to use that sort of material for that star."

"In acquiring Miss Sanderson for the Empire we are adding importantly to the start with Miss Ann Murdock, who is now at work on the first series of the Charles Frohman successes at the Empire Studios on Long Island. Other additions to the staff of the Empire are to be announced shortly."

"Miss Day, in the opinion of the critics does not look a day over 15," although she is considerably older than that and is a finished and accomplished actress. She has appeared in a line of interesting successes indicative of what may be expected of her in the pictures, including 'Blue Bird,' 'Everywoman,' 'Yellow Jacket,' 'Chin Chin,' 'Marrying Money,' and 'Twin Beds,' every one well known and satisfactory to the public which spends its money for amusement."

"With four big companies at work the Santa Barbara studios will be just comfortably busy, with ample facilities for all that the pictures require and a big strong technical staff which means so much in the finish and quality of the delivered picture."

Fox Back from Visit to His Western Studios

After a two month stay in his Western studies, his first visit to his plant by the way, William Fox has returned to New York with many ideas for future activities, gleaned in his eight weeks of close contact with the players and producers on the Coast.
UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS

Makes Its Initial Bow to Trade and Public

Hundreds of Exhibitors Hail it With Pleasure.
Termed a Long Felt Necessity to Exhibitors Throughout the World

The appearance of the Universal's latest news weekly release, "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS," has met with hearty response from hundreds of Exhibitors in all parts of the country. It solves the old question of territorial divisions, for hundreds of Exhibitors who have been unable to secure either the Universal Animated Weekly or the Universal Screen Magazine owing to previous bookings in their territory, are now able to secure the "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS." That this latest single-reel weekly release promises to prove tremendously popular has already been proven by the large number of requests for contract bookings "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS," which will show in highly fascinating form all the biggest events of the world news that are making history.

It looks as tho' it is going to be a hot race between the Universal's BIG THREE for booking records. Between the Universal Animated Weekly, the Universal Screen Magazine and now the "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS," Exhibitors have the long looked for opportunity fulfilled, for now Exhibitors can be served with very little chance for cross bookings or infringement in territorial divisions. If you have been unable to secure the U. Animated or the U. Screen Magazine, you now can secure the "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS," which will afford the public at large the finest opportunity of all new weeklies to view the world's doings recorded in pictures for posterity. "UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS" (one reel each week) can be booked thru any of the 73 Universal Exchanges.

SERIAL ATTENDANCE RECORDS BROKEN

"VOICE ON THE WIRE" GOING OVER BIG IN Hundreds of Houses

Not alone in the entire circuit of Marcus Loew Theatres, but in hundreds of other theatres where "THE VOICE ON THE WIRE" is now being shown, it is drawing capacity houses at the showing of each episode.

THAT "The Voice On the Wire" is proving tremendously popular is evidenced by the throngs that flock to view each succeeding episode. In greater New York in the entire circuit of Marcus Loew Houses, this serial is proving itself a smashing success and the great popularity is not alone confined to New York by any means.

Reports coming in daily from every quarter of the country telling of the big nights at the showing of each episode. Exhibitors who are tired of the usual serials that contain nary a single element of novelty of thrills will find great cause for seeing in the booking of "The Voice On the Wire." Ben Wilson plays the lead, supported by beautiful Nella Gerber, Joseph Gianelli and a great cast. You can book it thru any of the 73 Universal Exchanges.

For Further Details of the Universal Program see the Moving Picture Weekly

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
VARIETY ON UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
KEEPS HOUSES FULL FOR EXHIBITORS

Program Pictures Prove Popularity by Growing Public Response

THOUSANDS of Exhibitors are pulling hard for the mighty UNIVERSAL PROGRAM, for it keeps their patrons satisfied and removes the "feature indigestion" that frequently results in an overdose of features. Variety—that's the watchword that puts the mighty UNIVERSAL PROGRAM out in front. Note the subjects below.

Special Releases on the Universal Program for the Week of May 28

NOTE the regulars and the specialties. Book the complete program, or if you book openly get the classy specialties listed every week. You've got to pay more for the specialties, but they're worth more than you pay.

BUTTERFLY—"MONEY MADNESS" (Filo-Reel Drama) Mary MacLaren and Eddie Polo.
NESTORY—"TELL MORGAN'S GIRL" (One-Reel Comedy) Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edith Roberts.
VICTOR—"THE GUNMAN'S GOSPEL" (One-Reel Drama) Jack Mulhall.
L-KO—"TOPED INTO SCANDAL" (Two-Reel Comedy) Harry Lorraine, Beatrice Mowers, and Eva Novak.
"UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY"—Weekly No. 74.
"UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE"—Issue No. 21.
NESTORS—"NEEASY MONEY" (One-Reel Comedy) Wm. Frawley, Powers.
POWERS—"WHEN NOAH'S ARK EMBARKED" (Comedy Cartoon)—and—"PERILS OF THE YANGTZE" (Dorsey Educational) Split Reel.

Regular Releases on the Universal Program for the Week of May 28

THE regular releases on the U. Program bring a series of dramas, comedies, Westerns, society plays and others that always draw the entire family every week.

GOLD SEAL—"THE STOLEN ACTRESS" (Three-Reel Society and Mountain Drama) Ruth Stenelioue.
VICTOR—"AN EIGHT CYLINDER ROMANCE" (Two-Reel Comedy Drama) J. M. Foster and Euna Rogers.
BIG E—"DEFIANCE" (One-Reel Drama) Margarita Fischer.
VICTOR—"BY SPEWEL DELIVERY" (One-Reel Comedy Drama) Zee Rae.
IMP—"THE PUZZLE WOMAN" (One-Reel Drama) Grace Cunard and Francis Ford.
BISON—"NO. 10 WESTBOUND" (Two-Reel Railroad Drama) Eileen Sedgwick and Elmo D. Benedict.
REX—"THE PURPLE SCAR" (Two-Reel Drama) Constance Johnson.

Have you booked that brand new unique novelty, "SONG HITS IN PHOTO PLAY" that has made such a tremendous hit in such theatres as the Harlem Opera House, N. Y.; Proctor's 5th Ave., N. Y., and others? Ask any Universal Exchange for full particulars on this big new winner. It's a cracker-jack and will give your patrons something entirely new, rare and unique.

If you are not on the Mailing List of the Moving Picture Weekly—GET ON!

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"

UNIVERSAL COMEDIES Prove Big Drawing Cards

That L-KOS, NESTORS and JOKERS are the best comedy hits every week is easily proven by the number of bookings reported from Exhibitions. With the list of L-KO Stars, and such side-splitting actors as Gale Henry, Wm. Frawley, Lee Moran, Eddie Lyons, plus all the pretty girls and novelty plots, Exhibitors are "copping the coin" with Universal Comedies. If you can get either L-KO, NESTORS or JOKERS for your house that week and start a comedy night.

UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY

Recognized as the Official War Weekly Always First With Biggest News

Ask any Exhibitor who runs the UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY in his house and he will tell you it constitutes one of his biggest drawing cards each week. UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY is the oldest weekly in point of War Picture Service—produced by a world-wide staff of News gatherers that cannot be equalled by any weekly or news picture release on earth. Scoop after scoop each week, year in and year out, makes the U. A. W. the first choice of every Exhibitor in the country. If you can book the U. A. W., do it now and give your patrons all the official war news first. All the biggest and best news in pictures each week in the U. A. W. Book thru any Universal Exchange.
ANNOUNCING

A Pictorial Record of the World's Events that are making history

Released Every Week by the UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING CO., 1600 Broadway, New York—First Shipment, May 12, 1917

"UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS"

The announcement of the launching the Universal's new pictorial news weekly release will be hailed with joy by thousands of Exhibitors through the world; first, because of many Exhibitor's inability to secure the UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY owing to the fact that it is already booked in their territory, and second, because it brings a brand new idea—that of a pictorial record and history of the world's events.

In considering the booking on long time contract of "CURRENT EVENTS," get the fact firmly planted in your mind that "CURRENT EVENTS" has absolutely no connection whatsoever, in any way, shape or form with either the UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY or the UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE. Each is entirely separate and independent in its field. The Universal Animated Weekly will continue as ever to bring the world's news first to thousands of theatres, while the Universal Screen Magazine will likewise continue to present in pictures each week the accomplishments and progress of the world in science, art, industry, inventions, etc., etc., exactly as before.

In "CURRENT EVENTS" each week will be shown those important doings throughout the world that will be recorded in moving pictures similar in method to the records of the world's events that are written down as history for future generations. Instead of posterity reading about the events of this time of the world's history they will see in fascinating pictures all the important occurrences that transpire in our day and date.

The first release of "CURRENT EVENTS" will be shipped on May 12th. The handling of bookings on contract basis will be similar to the plan used by Universal Animated Weekly and the Universal Screen Magazine. Thus Exhibitors who cannot now (because of territorial divisions) secure either the U Animated Weekly or the U Screen Magazine will be able to book "CURRENT EVENTS." Eastern Exhibitors who have seen the first release of "CURRENT EVENTS" pronounce it a long-felt want in the field of news pictorial weeklies. Book it NOW on a long-time contract for your house while you have a chance. Book through any Universal Exchange or UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

Carl Laemmle President

"The Largest Film Manufacturing Concern in the Universe"

1600 BROADWAY

NEW YORK

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
"Money Madness"

With
Mary McLaren and Eddie Polo

Adapted from one of the famous "Whispering Smith" stories by Frank H. Spearman

Directed by Henry McRae
Produced by The Universal Film Manufacturing Co.
Carl Laemmle President
Book Through Any Universal Exchange

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Vol. 15. No. 20

FREE

TO ANY BONAFIDE EXHIBITOR.

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY

FOR THREE MONTHS

THREE months FREE trial subscription to MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY. No obligation. No cost to you. ABSOLUTELY FREE, to ANY Exhibitor in the United States or Possessions, Canada or Mexico, and no strings whatsoever to this FREE three months trial offer. Simply sign your name, name of your theatre also on the coupon below, and mail it in today to MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY, 409 Pearl Street, New York City, and for three straight months you will receive the advice, suggestions on how to run your shows, help, tips, just the same as over 20,000 other exhibitors are now getting it every week. You will receive ready prepared publicity matter, plans and schemes to put over productions. Advice and instructions to operators, tips on what to book and how to book, how to play the proper music, where to get music, and a hundred and one other highly valuable bits of advice every week. Thousands of Exhibitors have been and are now reading MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY and have pronounced it “The Exhibitors’ Bible.”

YOU get it sent FREE to any part of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Philippine Islands or any U. S. Possession for 3 full months.

THIS FREE offer will not last long. It is being made now for a short time only. Don’t delay. Sign and send in the coupon today to—

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY
409 Pearl Street
New York City

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY, 409 Pearl Street, New York City.

Please send me MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY for three months FREE, as per your offer in Motion Picture News, issue of May 19th, 1917.

Signed ...........................................

Theatre Name...................................

City ........................................... State

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
Reel Fellows Meet and Plan Auto Run

To prove that good fellowship is their aim the Reel Fellows Club of Chicago, entertained their members and friends with a beefsteak dinner on Friday evening of this week at the clubrooms of the organization. About fifty covers were laid and following an informal business session the feast began.

President Ralph Proctor announced that he had selected Joseph Hopp, toastmaster. The following responded with remarks upon Mr. Hopp's call: Walter Early, of Jacksonville, Florida; William J. Sweeney, national treasurer of the Exhibitor's League; Fred Hartman, Lawrence W. Boynton; M. G. Watkins, manager of the American Standard Motion Picture Company; F. M. Brockell, of the Central Motion Picture Company; Jack Haag, newly named secretary of the Reel Fellows; Henry Weis, H. C. Miller and Daniel Ruskokov.

During the speeches a discussion arose as to the best plan for an entertainment to swell the funds of the Reel Fellows. The vote for decision lays between a minstrel show and a picnic. It was also informatively decided to have another auto run into Indiana this summer. Plans are also being arranged for the entertainment of the national convention guests in July.

Impetus Given Convention by Schindler's Activities

Ludwig Schindler, manager of the national convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitor's League of America, to be held in Chicago beginning July 14, is expected back from New York in a few days. Mr. Schindler left Chicago and his headquarters more than a fortnight ago in order to go East to sell space for the exposition.

He reports that he has succeeded beyond expectations and the Eastern companies and exchanges will be represented with a bigger delegation and outlay this year than ever before. Enough space has already been sold to guarantee the expenses of the convention.

The proposition to have the various individual screen stars present at the exposition is being hailed on all sides with favor, and a big quota of the most popular stars of filmland is expected.

Interesting Reel Life

"Real Life in China," an interesting and educational series of pictures describing and showing the mysteries and heretofore unpictured parts of the Celestial kingdom, opened at the Auditorium last week.

The picture was much heralded and because of its special educational advantage and appeal the management is making a campaign to have teachers and school children attend. The teachers are to be admitted free.

LEAKS IN THE LOOP

After attending several sessions of the Northwest Motion Picture Exhitioners' Convention, at Minneapolis, Harry Leonard, western manager for the Fox Company, returned to his Chicago headquarters. "The Crisis" followed "Joan the Woman" in at the Colonial this week. The Colonial and big feature productions have not become synonymous in the eyes of the Chicago fans.

Aaron J. Jones has been made personal representative of the Goldwyn films for Illinois and Indiana. F. M. Brockell, of the Central Film Company, will become local branch manager for Goldwyn when they open their office here June 15.

The first six Goldwyn releases will be shown to Chicago exhibitors on July 1.

Ralph Proctor, manager of the Art Dramas Chicago office, has invented a case in which to ship slides to prevent their breaking. By use of the slide case he has cut the item of brokerage off the Chicago office's expense sheet.

President Joseph Hopp, of the Illinois Exhibitors' League, and William J. Sweeney, national treasurer of the Exhibitors' League, attended all of the session of the Northwest convention at Minneapolis.

The Estanay local office have removed from the fifth floor of the First National Bank Building to the thirteenth floor of the People's Gas Building, 122 South Michigan avenue.

(Continued on page 3152)

Censor Bill Before Legislative Committee

With unexpected suddenness the Guernsey bill, providing for state-wide censorship in Illinois, was brought up for action in the session of the license and miscellaneous committee at Springfield on Friday, April 27. It passed its first reading and was to be brought up for second reading some time the following week.

If it should pass the second reading it will be reported out for action by the Legislature. The opponents of the bill, who are practically all of the exhibitors and movie picture men in Illinois, are striving to prevent its passing the third reading, for they would rather have it killed in committee than take a chance with it in the Legislature.

The Guernsey bill has been vigorously opposed since its drafting by Senator W. B. Guernsey. A month ago a special hearing was given the project of state censorship by a sub-committee sitting in Chicago.

Screen News Issue Attractive

There has been no dearth of subject matter for the first issue of the Screen News Magazine, the newest organ of the American Bioscope Company, of Chicago. J. E. Wills, general manager, has announced that everything is practically ready for the first release of one reel.

The Screen News is to be made up of diversified subjects, R. R. Beazley and J. Ellsworth Gross have been added to the directorate and they have stated that several thousand feet of negative is already finished.

The contents for the first issue reveals the following subjects: "Diamond Dicky, Drecker," a cartoon, by Colly; "Rumbling Through the Rockies"; "Sad and Fanciful in My Lady's Makeup"; "How Everett True Broke Into the Movies"; "Your Flag and Mine." The last named subject is the American Bioscope's adaptation of a star spangled film trailer now being extensively used.

Herrington Stops Off En Route

Fred J. Herrington, national organizer for the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, was in town for a few hours on Friday, April 27. After paying his respects at the Chicago League headquarters he departed for Des Moines. He went from there to the Northwest convention at Minneapolis.

"S. S. and Freuler Return to Chicago"

John Freuler, president of Mutual, and Samuel S. Hutchison, of the Signal Company, have arrived back in Chicago. Harry Pollard, president of the Pollard Pictures Company, stopped off in Chicago for a few hours on his way east.
Draft Stringent Regulations for Film Handling

Ordinance Proposed in Indianapolis, Following Fatal Fire, That All Rooms Where Film Is Handled Be Fireproof—Picture Men Co-operating

MOTION picture exhibitors, film exchange dealers and others connected with the "movie" industry are actively cooperating with public officials in Indianapolis and other cities in Indiana to obtain adequate regulations, governing the storage and handling of films.

Charles M. Biscay, of New York, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Fire Prevention Regulation and Insurance Committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, made a special trip to Indianapolis a few days ago to investigate the recent fire in an apartment-office building, which is believed to have been caused by a quantity of motion picture films stored in the basement. Six lives were lost in the fire.

While in Indianapolis Mr. Biscay conferred with many persons connected with the motion picture industry and city officials regarding the drafting of a city ordinance for handling films, which is being prepared for consideration by the City Council. Mr. Biscay told the officials he is willing to confer with them on any measure they may decide on. The committee of which he is chairman, he said, has charge of the work of seeing that exhibitors, producers and exchanges make a proper precaution in handling films for life and property.

A tentative draft of regulations for handling films, which the industry's Committee has drawn up, and which is expected to be approved by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was brought to the city by Mr. Biscay. The various rules it contains were explained by Mr. Biscay.

The proposed ordinance for Indianapolis, which is being drafted by Jacob Hilken, Commissioner of Buildings, will contain several provisions similar to those explained by Mr. Biscay. It also will include recommendations made by W. J. Stone, engineer for the Indiana Inspection Bureau, and Paul T. Sullivan, Assistant State Fire Marshal. Before the ordinance is submitted to the Council, the Indianapolis film men will be asked to confer with the Building Commissioner.

Mr. Hilken says the ordinance will contain a provision that every room in which a film is manufactured, kept or handled, shall be of fireproof construction. Films not so equipped will be barred from any public or semi-public building. Theatres, according to the ordinance, must not have more than four reels of film in the operator's booth at one time.

While there is some talk among film men of the city regarding the erection of a large fireproof building for the exclusive use of the film industry, the more conservative men in the industry say the cost would be too great, and that the building is unnecessary since excellent facilities are already available in the city.

H. H. Friedley, State Fire Marshal, in a public report of his investigation of the recent fire, urged city officials throughout Indiana to enact ordinances immediately prohibiting the storing and handling of films where life and property would be endangered. He declared that if the authorities did not voluntarily comply with the order he would compel them to do so.

The Fire Marshal's report says that Louis R. Sereinsky, president of the Oxon Chemical Company, a firm renovating concern, which had quantities of motion picture films stored in the basement of the burned office-apartment building, and "possibly other officers of the company were criminally careless" in handling the material.

Successful Recruiting Tour of Christine Mayo

Christine Mayo, the "vamp" photoplayer at the outbreak of war, offered her services to the War Department and has since been touring the Central States making pleas for recruitment. She has been successful has she been that the U. S. Navy recruiting department sent a detail of marines to meet her train when it arrived in Cincinnati.

At the end of a two-day session at the Alhambra theatre, that city, she was given a detail of navy men to accompany her in all cities where she appears and her pleasing personality and winning ways have already made serious inroads on the otherwise inerse intentions of many who have since donned the uniform. Satisfactory Tax Bill Passed in Nova Scotia

A bill has been passed by the Nova Scotia House of Assembly providing for the taxation of the patrons of moving pictures on the basis of one cent on each ticket costing twenty-five cents or less and two cents on all tickets above that amount. Under this law children up to fifteen years of age will be exempted. It provides for the collection of the tax through the exhibitor, who at the time of sale of each ticket will receive the extra cent, and at regular intervals make sworn statements to the government with figures showing the actual number of tickets sold and the amount due the province.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

W. W. Hodkinson is back in town after a several weeks' visit with various powers-that-be on the Pacific coast.

John R. Freuler and S. S. Hutchinson have returned to Chicago from New York.

Harry Pollard, of the Pollard Pictures Corporation, is in town.

Carl Laemmle of Universal Film Co. left town a few days ago, his intention being to investigate his many interests in the West.

William Esty, who came to New York to labor in Motion Picture News office several weeks ago, went back to Chicago Saturday to fill the shoes of T. S. Mead who has been called to the colors of the Illinois militia.

H. O. Davis, recently of Universal, came to town last week.
HAROLD EDEL of the Strand theatre, New York, wrote to the General Film Company, praising the Vitagraph Company’s picturizations of the works of the late lamented short story king, O. Henry.

"I am, indeed, most enthusiastic over your O. Henry adaptations. I always admired his style, his dialogue, and, again, "These stories by O'Henry, etc." Perhaps the period on the Strand typewriter refuses to work, save at the end of a sentence.

SPEAKING of Mr. Edel calls the fact to mind that he is becoming almost as famous an indorser of pictures as S. L. Rothafel.

We for one would like to know that motion picture company for which H. B. Warner has not worked.

JUNE CAPRICE has come out in print as being super-superstitions, and includes the following as some of her strongest superstitions:

She will not run through a glass door on account of the panic.
She is extremely superstitious about the use of carbolic acid as a face lotion.
She refuses to jump off the Palisades because the wind made by her descent would ruffle her hair.
She will not sit at the same table of thirteen persons unless there is something to eat.
She will not open an umbrella in the house unless the roof leaks.
Unique most persons, she wouldn’t dream of picking up a horseshoe, particularly if the latter were attached to the horse’s foot.
She refuses to walk under a falling safe, and advances the unique reason for this that the world is losing its population rapidly enough.

She is a firm believer in signs. For example, she never tries to buy French pastry in a shop labeled “Hardware.” She thinks misfortune will overtake anyone wearing an opal if he or she doesn’t keep up the payments on it.

THE dinner at Stauch’s, Coney Island, tendered by the Brooklyn Exhibitors to the outgoing officers of the local was a gala occasion for many. Not the least of the surprises sprung on the unsuspecting diners was the announcement made by a certain Brooklyn Commissioner that the motion picture business was here to stay. Every one breathed a sigh of relief.

JEROME N. WILSON, whose name has received much prominence of late, is now hanging his hat over in the Fort Lee establishment of Universal, where he is editing andrewing Jack Cohn’s Animated Weekly and the Universal Magazine.

UNIVERSAL claims further attention this week, centered on the person of P. D. Cochran, who announced with the usual bombast that he has discovered the youth of a lost generation are included in the cast. Mr. Mayall and Mr. Lincoln are entering upon their second respective childhoods it might seem.

THOSE little wall safes that are so common in pictures seem to be common in pictures alone. We recently went the rounds of a few houses belonging to our equally few associates and discovered many valuable jewels and papers, and found not a one concealed anywhere. One of the friends even grew perturbed because we persisted behind looking behind all his pictures.

AT that though, the wall safe has nothing on the electric button which is always located underneath the edge of the desk just where the actor wants it to be.

AND while, of course, we know nothing about liquors, we have observed while peeping through the bar room doors at the great beyond that neither Scotch nor rye has suds on the top of its.

JACK KENT, who has charge of the foreign department of Artcraft Pictures Corporation, wishes to deny to all his associates in the motion picture business that he has accepted a position with the General Film Company. It was reported last week that a Mr. Kent had assumed charge of certain duties with General, and consequently Mr. Kent had resigned his position with Artcraft Pictures. "In the name of all his associates, I wish to indignantly protest," he said.

HARRY MOREY nearly caused a riot at the Vitagraph Studios, recently when he announced to the assembled players: "Well, President Wilson has made a special request that all players enlist in the army immediately. And after we enlist he wants to make soldiers of all the convicts in the Federal prisons."

"What’s the answer?" asked Earl Williamson.

"Oh, the President wants the stars and stripes to lead the procession to France."

Note: As Vitagraph was the first company to submit the above, versions of the story sent in by other companies will only receive honorable mention.

EXTRA! Extra! No one took us aside last week and told us "in strictest confidence" about an impending merger.

The Longacre Lampoon
All the News That Fits, We Print
Longacre Square, N.Y., May 19, 1917

EDITORIAL

It is not stretching the point to acclaim the O. Henry Pictures produced by Vitagraph practically the best two-reel subjects on the market. For that matter they are only rivaled by the short subjects of the ever reminiscent old Biograph days. In particular are the adaptations true to the ideals of the author. The scenarios for various numbers of the series were not done by the same person. Up to the present time three or four members of the Vitagraph department have tried their typewriters on O. Henry continuity, and it is a distinct tribute to their ability that all of them have fared excellently. Of course, O. Henry is simplicity, and so at first glance seems particularly easy to scenarioize. But on the other hand the continuity writers have refrain from introducing new stuff, from elaborating the author’s work. Most gratifying of all is the fact that they have discarded the cut-back in these pictures. There are several moments when a character relates a few incidents in his or her past life, and one sits in fear and trembling to see whether the continuity writer will revert to type and use the proverbial ‘fade-out’ back to that past life. But each time the writer has been accomplished by a subtle and nothing else. These writers have, indeed, succeeded in bringing O. Henry to the screen without detracting from the charm of his printed works.

LOCAL NEWS

—Earl Metcalfe, the w. k. ra. p. of the U. S. A. Well (hoeo Earl, it was our patriotic sentiment.

—Bill Esley is back to Chicago, the windy city, as mgr. of the m. p.; the news of Ted Mead now being in the U. S. A. So long Bill and well done Ted is our patriotic sentiment.

—Harry Morey is in New York these again days. Welcome to N. Y., H. O.

—J. C. Jensen, the Cal. comet will be returning back to L. Angeles on date of publication.
Vita Exchange Men Must Meet the Exhibitor

Sweeping Order Issued by Albert W. Goff to Branch Managers of V-L-S-E to Acquaint Themselves with Customers in All Territories

A new order was issued last week by Albert W. Goff, assistant general manager of V-L-S-E and active head of the sales force, to the twenty-seven branch managers of V-L-S-E, to become personally acquainted with every exhibitor in their respective territories.

The detail of the plan to make the branch managers acquainted with the men with whom they do business, and with those respective patrons has been intimated to Edward Anger, traveling manager for the Eastern District, and H. D. Naugle, traveling manager for the Western District.

In issuing the instructions to his direct assistants, Mr. Goff made it plain that he considered the very first duty of the branch managers to know the exhibitors, if possible, well enough to call them by their first names.

"This," said Mr. Goff, "does not apply only to the big first run exhibitors, but to the man who runs a show but twice a week. While we know that our organization, as a whole, is very close to the exhibitors, the company they are not as close as they should be. V-L-S-E business has been built on two things—excellence of production and service to the exhibitor. The latter is just as important as the former."

"In every other merchandizing line a branch manager knows his customer almost as well as he knows himself. He knows the peculiar traits of his customers. He knows if one drinks, and if another is a prohibitionist. He knows just which are single and which are married. He knows the childless from those who have children. He makes it his business to know when there is sickness in the family of any of his customers. As a matter of fact, he knows all about his customers."

"Our branch managers must look at their business from exactly the same viewpoint, but they must go even further. Not only must they know all about the exhibitor and his family, but they must know the territory in which his theatre is located."

In order to carry out his plan, Mr. Goff has issued instructions to Messrs. Anger and Naugle that in the trip through their territory upon which they are about to start, they will remain in each branch office long enough to allow the branch manager to make a complete tour of the entire territory covered by his branch, for he must familiarize himself with every feature.

In issuing the orders, Mr. Goff was emphatic in saying that it did not forecast any change either in V-L-S-E policy, or in the personnel of the organization, but that the new plan was being put to the trial in order to bring the entire organization to one hundred per cent efficiency.

New Seattle K-E-S-E Head Arrives

Frank Steffy arrived recently from Salt Lake City, where he was salesman out of the K-E-S-E office, to become manager of the Seattle K-E-S-E exchange, taking the place vacated by Carl Stern, who resigned to go to Denver, where he will have charge of the Denver and New Mexico territory for Pathé.

Promotion of Vita Man

The sales force of Greater Vitagraph's St. Louis branch has been augmented by the recent acquisition of H. F. Strickland, formerly of General Film. Mr. Strickland, a film solicitor of wide experience, will handle for Greater Vitagraph the same territory that he covered for his former employers, which includes portions of Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana.

General Augments Boston Staff

J. E. Levine, manager of the Boston office of the General Film Company, has added two new salesmen to his staff: E. M. Franklin for New Hampshire and Vermont territory, and S. R. Stratton for Western Massachusetts and Connecticut. Both are experienced film salesmen.

Leaks in the Loop

(Continued from page 3140)

That the Strand Theatre Company, of New York, are planning the erection of a high-class modern motion picture theatre on the site of the Inter-Ocean Building, West Monroe street, is still in the form of nothing but a rumor here.

The Chateau is the name of the latest theatre opened by the Ascher Bros. last week on the West Side.

Pathé's Chicago offices have answered the call of April and moved into the Consumers Building.

"Dick" Travers, the burly star, now with the Sunshine Film Company, made too short a turn with his newly purchased Locomobile one night last week and crashed with an iron electric light pole. Result: Pole undamaged, machine still in the shop for repairs.

"Joan the Woman" finished its run in Chicago last week. For seven weeks it had been at the Colosseum, establishing a record for attendance and popularity that is not expected to be equaled for some time.

"Heroic France," moved from the Strand to the Bandbox, is surprising the "wise-uns" with its continued popularity there after three weeks.

"In Again, Out Again," with Doug Fairbanks, opened at the Studebaker theatre on Sunday, April 29. The turnstile has been kept clicking ever since, even with a top price of twenty-five cents.
Albert Roccardi, who is well-known to Vitagraph fans has returned to his old home, and is once more busily engaged in the making of new productions. He will be cast in Blue Ribbon Features within a short time.

A GIFT in the form of a wrist watch, has been received by Anita Stewart, the popular Vitagrapher, from one of the English Tummys fighting in the trenches. He wrote that a short time ago while home recovering from a wound he saw her in a production and so charmed that he purchased the watch. Miss Stewart hesitated about accepting the gift until the letter explained that the sender wished her to wear it in her next picture. This she is now doing.

The Bluebird management has received a letter showing just how highly Violet Mersereau stands with Uncle Sam's soldiers in the Philippine Islands. Donald J. Coyne, who signs himself "A Soldier, U. S. A," asks for a photograph of the star, saying:

"We soldiers enjoy the movies immensely, and of all the stars that come to

Frank Williams, one of the first of the Keystone cameramen, is now with Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle at the studios of the Comique Film Corporation, 318 East Forty-eighth street, making the comedy two-reelers, in which the big funmaker will appear on the Paramount Program.

Edward Jose, Directing Norma Talmadge in "Poppy"

The Princess' Necklace," a charming fantasy, is being produced in three reels at the Edison Studios for release on the Edison Conquest Pictures Program. Among the members of the cast are: William Callhoun, Wallace McDonald and Catherine Townson.

James Wilder, Boy Scout Commissioner of Hawaii, is the author of "The Graal," a story that has been dramatized in three reels, and that is being produced at the Edison Studios for release on the Edison Conquest Pictures Program.

Maxine Elliott, who has finished two productions for Goldwyn, is planning to set sail for England, where she will spend the summer before again taking up her war relief work.

One of Miss Elliott’s productions is a noted play from the pen of Roi Cooper Megargee, and the other is by Robert H. McLaughlin.

Freddie Verdi, who will appear in the Edison production of "The Little Chevalier," played the part of the boy in "The Foolish Virgin," with Clara Kimball Young. The leading role in "The Little Chevalier" will be filled by Shirley Mason, the star of the McClure "Seven Deadly Sins."

Paul Kelly, a former star of the Vitagraph Company, will play the leading role in "The Star Spangled Banner," a dramatization of the little literary classic by Mary Shipman Andrews that is being produced at the studios of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., for release on the Edison Conquest Pictures Program through Forum Films, Inc.

Eddie Kelly, a widely known screen player, will be seen in an Edison production of "The Boomerang Beat," a newspaper story by J. Raymond Eldordico. This picture will be released through Forum Films, Inc., on the Edison Conquest Pictures Program.

GREATER Vitagraph very nearly lost its most recent star on Wednesday morning, May 2, when the home of Miss Mildred Manning at 255 West Seventy-second street, was damaged by fire, and Miss Manning just escaped being a victim of the blaze.

Miss Manning had apartments on the sixth floor of the building. For some time she had been collecting expensive rugs and tapestries with which she was loathe to part even at the risk of her life. After the residents of the house had been aroused, Miss Manning insisted upon remaining long enough to collect her treasures. When she was ready to go the elevator had stopped running and the stairway was a mass of flames. She went back to her apartments where she was found by the firemen. They then brought her to the ground on a ladder.

Winifred Allkins, Now at Vitagraph-Eastern Studios, Will Appear with Eddie Williams in Blue Ribbon Features
The Helen Holmes Company returned to the Signal studio this week from a several days' stay in San Francisco, where they made a number of exterior scenes for the fifth episode of their serial, "The Railroad Raiders," which they are making daily trips to San Pablo and San Rafael, where much of the work was done. Producer McLean secured the privilege from officials of the Northwestern Pacific Railway to use the company's trains for picture purposes. The Luminaries, a train ferry, was one of the props used. The finished episode will be released under the chapter title, "A Water Grave." During the visit to San Francisco Helen Holmes and two extra men had a harrowing experience. The scene called for divers from the ferry. The two men outside the range of the camera were at liberty to pick up the swimmers the current had carried them a distance from the shore. Within an hour the company will begin work on the eleventh episode, "The Race for a Franchise." This chapter also calls for a trip away from the studio. In order to secure a number of necessary scenes on shipboard the company will go by boat from San Pedro to San Diego and return. The technical force of the Signal is constructing a railroad bridge across a canyon near South Pasadenia. The bridge crosses a gully thirty feet deep and approximately seventy feet wide, and will be saturated with oil and burned to the ground in the chapter to be called, "A Water Grave," which is now in production at the Big U studio. The screen version was prepared by Jack Cunningham, the new scenario editor, from a story by Robert Von Saks.

Director Louis Chaudet has just finished the production of a three-reeler, "Little Hero," which has Mignon Anderson and Roy Stewart as leads. The supporting cast includes Charles Mailes and J. Morris Foster. Director Chaudet will next direct Ruth Stonehouse in a five-reel feature which she and star are busy preparing.

"The Clean Up," a five-reel Universal drama written by Waldemar Young of the Big U staff, has just been completed by Director William Worthington. Franklyn Farnum and "Brownie" Vernon are the featured players.

Director Joseph DeGrasse is producing a five-reel Universal drama, titled "The Rescue," which will star Dorothy Phillips, with William Stowell in the male lead. The supporting cast has not been given out.

MEMBERS of Henry McRae's Universal Company were injured in a runaway at Griffith Park this week. McRae was directing country scenes for his production, "Demeter's Return." A stage coach which was being used as a prop was carried by frightened horses to a waiting automobile, and its occupants thrown out. Rex Hodge, McRae's assistant, was badly bruised by broken glass, and Eileen Sedgwick escaped serious injury only by jumping to the road before the crash. Director McRae will direct the future scenes, "The Mystery of the Gray Ghost," starring Eileen Sedgwick and Fred Church. Frank Lanning and Dick LaReno will support the co-stars.

Another Universal Western drama, titled "To Men There Were," is nearing completion at the Big U plant under the direction of George E. Marshall. Janet Eastman is the leading woman.

"We Have the Papers" is the title of a one-reel comedy under production at U City by Director W. W. Beaudine, who has taken over the old Joker Company, with the exception of George Henry. The comedy features William Francy, supported by Za Su Pitts and Milburn Moranti. It is the second Universal picture in which Miss Pitts has appeared.

The Universal Nestor Company, with Eddie Lyons, Leo Moran and Edith Roberts, are filming a one-reeler titled "Seeing Things." Roy Clements is directing this comedy. Another comedy in the filming at U City is "Our Master," directed by Allen Curtis. George Henry is the leading comedian, and the one-reeler is titled "A Sleuthy Pair."

Donna Moon is a late addition to the corps of actresses at Universal City, and has signed a contract to appear in photoplays made by that company. Miss Moon is a native of Salt Lake City and has had three years' experience on the stage and in pictures. She is perhaps best known for her work in "Wrong Bird," which played over the Orpheum circuit.

Thirteen Siberian gray baby wolves arrived at Universal City zoo this week. They intend to use the wolves as Alaskan teams for snow scenes in Universal productions which are now being planned.

B. F. Reynolds, of the staff of Universal Animated cameramen, rendered a service to the government while on furlough. Reynolds had photographed the arrival from San Francisco and the departure for Philadelphia of several stock animals for the army.
eral hundred Filipinos who were to enter the naval service. Shortly after the train pulled out it was discovered two of the men had been left behind, and Reynolds was asked to return in an automobile and race the train to Sun City, where they might get aboard. Reynolds was successful and handed the men over to the government officers.

Although no definite word has been given out regarding the date of the Signal Film Railroad Raiders Company's trip to Caliente, Nevada, it is generally thought it will take place during the production of the twelfth chapter of the serial.

The entire supporting cast for the Yorke-Metro subject starring Harold Lockwood, titled "Haunted Pajamas," was completed this week by the engagement of Betty You who will play in the part of Elizabeth Billings. Others of the cast are Carmel Myers, late of Fine Arts, in the lead opposite Harold Lockwood; Lester Cuneo, Ed. Sedgwick, Paul Willis, Harry deRoy and William DeVaull. The picture is being directed by Fred J. Balthazar. Particularly all the interior scenes for the subject have been completed.

Wiley J. Gibson, who has been connected with the Yorke-Metro since June, 1916, and was formerly with the Universal and Thomas Dixon, has been appointed studio manager to succeed M. W. Aronson, who has left the company and gone to New York.

The Christie production in which Margaret Gibson and Neal Burns appear as leads was written by Joseph F. Poland, who has adapted many screen features. It furnishes Margaret Gibson her first opportunity to wear man's attire. The comedy is a tale of mistaken identity and is said to be a laugh promoter. The author's title, "The Fourteenth Man," will be used for release.

Margaret Gibson has accepted a term contract to star in Christie Comedies. The first Gibson subject, "With the Mummies' Help," will be released May 7, and will be followed with another with this same star.

Doris Pawn plays opposite George Walsh in the Turner picture, and the cast includes Hershall Mayall, Velma Whitman, Hector Sarao and Caroline Rankin. The camera work is by R. E. Irish.

A new film vault, having a capacity for a three years' supply of negatives, is being erected at the Lasky studio. It will be of fireproof concrete construction, with water and air compartments surrounding the vault.

Douglas Fairbanks, with his director, John Emerson, and cameraman Victor Fleming, are somewhere in Arizona, hunting for picturesque Western scenes for "A Regular Guy." The story of this second production for Artcraft opens in New York and closes in the West. Its theme is based on the ambition of every young American boy. Director Emerson, with Anita Loos, scenario writer, are still at work on the scenario writing of the script. Arrangements have been completed for the Fairbanks Company to use the Lasky Hollywood studios, where this subject will be produced. Wilfred Buckland, art director of the Lasky studio, will co-operate with Emerson in the supervision of the Fairbanks settings.

Among the prominent guests of the Knights of Columbus fiesta last Wednesday night were Douglas Fairbanks, Crane Wilbur, Wallace Reid and Max Fisher. The coteries of film stars did much to make the fiesta a success.
THE next Ince-Triangle William Hart release will be "Wolf Lowry," adapted from the Charles Turner Dazey story by L. von Hart and Margaret Wilson. George H. Williams plays the opposite Western actor, and the supporting cast includes Aaron Edwards and Carl Ullman. In the drama Hart portrays a grim, solitary man, and the story lies in the low California desert, which, after calling forth all that is noble in his nature, ends in self-sacrifice. Several realistic effects were obtained by the use of immense herds of cattle. Joe August is the photographer of the production.

Mr. Hart will appear in an Ince-Triangle subject prepared by J. G. Hawks. The play will contain an unusually typical Western store set of the days of '49. The setting was built and equipped from authentic data obtained by the author, and the customary canned goods play no part in it.

A company of Ince-Triangle players are at Monterey, California, in order to secure scenes showing the seclusion and mystery of the region. The setting is a reproduction of a famous roof garden of New York City, and covers every foot of floor space.

Louise Glaum is being featured in a new vampire role story this week at the Ince-Triangle studios. The original story is by John Lynch and is said to be distinctly emotional in its situations.

The first Ince-Triangle photoplay starring Olive Thomas, with Raymond B. West as director, is practically completed. Many of the scenes are laid in a college dormitory.

The Ince-Triangle Company having lessic Love as star has returned from northern California, where they have been with the Cole Brothers Cirkus to make scenes for a coming Ince-Triangle photoplay of circus life. The story is by L. V. Jeffers, written especially for the star, and is being produced under direction of Paul Powell.

Every company of the Ince-Triangle studios has been working under artificial light, owing to the continuous cloudy weather during the past week.

THE Bernstein subject, "Humility," the first of the Seven Cardinal Virtues series, is in production at the studios, will be released about May 20. Under the slogan of "pictures for the clean-minded," the story has to do with the struggle of a spoiled daughter of the rich with an uncorrupted spirit, and how she was taught the lesson of humility. Ruth Chandler, the girl, is played by Betty Bronson, and the cast includes Charles Arling, Jay Morley, Frances Clinton, Irene Vernon, Jones, Stells Wilson, and Edna Mae Winters. The production is being directed by Jack Pratt, with Arthur Power as cameraman.

Seeing America First

Coming to the conclusion that newsies as well as dramatists and novelists have censored the scribe of this sheet lacked together sufficient efficacy thereof to keep the composure, busy for two or three weeks, and then bravely forth to the Toilers, the in and out, and view the subtitles and billboards of other fields.

Harry Leonhardt, first lieutenant of the Fox company, as they say in these days, was personal conductor of the first flints of the tour that ended when Pike's special pulled into Salinas. Miles Overhol, of the Telegraph, the outletless lake city's greatest afternoon newspaper, was the entire reception committee, and performed duty over Mr. Bell's telephone while the pirate threw on ice and water.

After being familiarized with the record-breaking screen powers of Bill Leumth, Threda Bara and Hambry Mann, we next fell prey to the sales talks of L. Marcus, who succeeds fairly well in making the mountain exhibitors forget all subjects but the Paramount's. He has the pleasant task of fitting c. d. o. d. between the Mile-High town and the Mormon village. A top of that claims is another subject. Besides becoming a first-class exchange man, Marcus has talanted himself with the public boards, and acquired excellent bridat, whist control.

(To be continued)

Hollywood Hookup

May 19, 1917

News

We have accepted a consignment of verse from Ora Carey, the "Spokesman" verse. Carey has been accepted.

According to All Godlind's "E. A., it's been thrown into icy water and never been seen again. We have never accused A. H. of being a dead one.

In the meantime Jay Morley was able to get along with a dislocated arm, and in his scene "What do you know?" we're not going to make a story about him.

Report has it that Kerignon, w.f, film star, is still tripping the light fantastic — but not country.

Ye e. in receipt of an essay on the war by Herbert Rawlinson. Ain't this here world struggling.

Joe Moore finds time every day, with bell half with school boys. That's the way with a man who has men. 'At boys, Joe, play ball.

Sherry Levy, Esq., Esq., while on location, got lost in a saw shop.

Bill Taylor says he hasn't got time to take off his clothes to sleep. Can he be reported as being, say, "somewhere pants down?"

Mary Anderson's right mean getting those Airedale dogs that they doesn't eat anything, plain dogs, anybody knows that they needn't have Mary share it with us humans?

There's a broad smile on the face of Abraham C. this week. His wife and daughter, who deserted him for the old New York, are back again.

Frank Lloyd and Bill Farnum are going to New York this week. They're going to make some pictures. Will they come back with another "tale of two cities"?

Would you believe it, Margaret Wilson graduated in the domestic science course at high school with perfect grading in the subject, cooks candy and salad and everything just like a regular housewife. A story came into the HOOK Office on Marin Sais at over. It says about dancing and what not — without mention of dance. We claim that, as a matter of fact, we've had a Tracy on the subject. Mary Anderson, alias Mrs. Harry Todd, alias W. K. Sophie Klutz of Essanay, is working over time repairing Harold Lloyd's Lonesome-Luke-Comedy-Pants.

There's a broad smile on the face of Abraham C. this week. His wife and daughter, who deserted him for the old New York, are back again.

Charles Clary's back from Barstow where he went to look after his mining interests. Charles is a good fellow and a good actor, said interests were so small that he had to be careful not to overlook them instead of look them over.

William Duncan smashed his finger this week at the studio, and put so much cotton around the injured one that it didn't have around the injured one that it didn't have. It was, "William, don't do that."

N. A. Burns is staggering around in a suit of armor in a comedy that Director George Hays is putting on at the Gower Street studio. He's doing a lot of training at chemists coming in around all day in his ninety pound suit.

Georgette French attended Sunday school Sunday and came back with a new coat. With all the glory of potato and chicken gravy on it, it must have been a great coat. The golden text was, "You should have seen me in it," and it was only after a hard hit of French, that the miners decided that the real text was, "You should not, I shall send a Comptor." Ben Wilson's in receipt of a better contract in a small Ohio town, which asks for one of his autobiographical photographs and ends with the statement that the writer lives on the Ohio River, and that's the name of the reason why he might not be in W. A. W.'s. The opinion of the reason that he gets all the "water stuff" he needs out here without taking a bath in the Ohio.

Tom Lingham has just bought a new Ford, a little boy — a twin two-cabon roadster with rubber tires, three speeds, two blow-outs, a motor knock and everything.

Tom Lingham has just bought a new Ford, a little boy — a twin two-cabon roadster with rubber tires, three speeds, two blow-outs, a motor knock and everything.

Ben Wilson's in receipt of a better contract in a small Ohio town, which asks for one of his autobiographical photographs and ends with the statement that the writer lives on the Ohio River, and that's the name of the reason why he might not be in W. A. W.'s. The opinion of the reason that he gets all the "water stuff" he needs out here without taking a bath in the Ohio.

More News

Antonio Moreno's wearing a cow-licked outfit of many owners, Bill Duncan wears the "mustache" look, Mary Anderson spins, Fred Burnet hat, Carol Holloway shoes, trousers and gun, but the tie belongs to Tony.

Ed Soman lustered up the American studio with cigars last week — his reason — it's a girl.

Charles Bill Mailes of the Ince-Triangle is registering anger on the Angeles Nomining Committee. He says he's hunting for stories to take a tense and thoughtful line in for "Humility," and he can't find em.

Hart didn't have a "Biliver" when he was in the West, his beard, thinning scenes for "Wolf Lowry," didn't expect the machine to stand the strain.

William Duncan and Carol Holliday have been to Hollywood, and it isn't always so difficult to register fright. In the final scene of the Vitaphone serial, "Humility," Duncan had to jet two mountain lions, and he didn't make-believe about the condition that resulted.

"Doug" Fairbanks' favorite axiom runs something like this, and sums up all of Harry's behavior, "He's the man's success is as "large" as his smile, you're sure some winner, Doug."

Now that Burt has gone up 25 per cent in the money stakes, he's letting his "horse-opry" taboo on in for the "Twentieth Century-Fox".

P. S. He's ordered two tons of cream-colored flannel and 30 yards of black. He's ordered two tons of cream-colored flannel and 30 yards of black.

S. D. Fairbanks' favorite axiom runs something like this, and sums up all of Harry's behavior, "He's the man's success is as "large" as his smile, you're sure some winner, Doug."

Housing Commission 20 parking for "Humility," the first of the Seven Cardinal Virtues series, is in production at the studios, will be released about May 20. Under the slogan of "pictures for the cleanse-minded," the story has to do with the struggle of a spoiled daughter of the rich with an uncorrupted spirit, and how she was taught the lesson of humility. Ruth Chandler, the girl, is played by Betty Bronson, and the cast includes Charles Arling, Jay Morley, Frances Clinton, Irene Vernon, Jones, Stells Wilson, and Edna Mae Winters. The production is being directed by Jack Pratt, with Arthur Power as cameraman.

"Seeing America First" comes to the conclusion that newsies as well as dramatists and novelists have censored the scribe of this sheet lacked together sufficient efficacy thereof to keep the composure, busy for two or three weeks, and then bravely forth to the Toilers, the in and out, and view the subtitles and billboards of other fields.

Harry Leonhardt, first lieutenant of the Fox company, as they say in these days, was personal conductor of the first flints of the tour that ended when Pike's special pulled into Salinas. Miles Overhol, of the Telegraph, the outletless lake city's greatest afternoon newspaper, was the entire reception committee, and performed duty over Mr. Bell's telephone while the pirate threw on ice and water.

After being familiarized with the record-breaking screen powers of Bill Leumth, Threda Bara and Hambry Mann, we next fell prey to the sales talks of L. Marcus, who succeeds fairly well in making the mountain exhibitors forget all subjects but the Paramount's. He has the pleasant task of fitting c. d. o. d. between the Mile-High town and the Mormon village. A top of that claims is another subject. Besides becoming a first-class exchange man, Marcus has talanted himself with the public boards, and acquired excellent bridat, whist control.

(To be continued)
Thos. H. Ince offers
Dorothy Dalton in
'Wild Winship's Widow'

Triangle - Ince
Released May 20
When Wild Winship's Widow discovers a slipper and several other mementos of her dear-departed's city trips, the action begins.

She throws money to the four winds, throughout a lively plot that is highly spiced with snappy humor.

The scenes are set in voracious wooded mountains.

Thos. Hince Simons
“Within the Law”
(Vitagraph—Eight Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

SELDOM does a picturization of a stage success show to such advantage as does Vitagraph’s of Bayard Veiller’s long, popular melodrama, “Within the Law.” The story has proven worth telling both on stage and between the covers of a book and it held itself with the same adaptability to the films. The career of Mary Turner, falsely accused and convicted of shoplifting, who lives to wreak vengeance on the man responsible for her three years in prison, and the law in general is filled with dramatic moments that thrill to a degree seldom caused by pictorial efforts of the present day.

The visualization of the play was done by Eugene Mullen, who has not attempted in any way to improve the work of Mr. Veiller and who consequently has turned out a most meritorious piece of work. Particularly in the series of scenes, based on the last act of the play when Mary Turner, Joe Garson and Dick Gilder are under scrutiny. The fire-cross-examination of Inspector Burke does the picture rise to unusual heights. The arrangement of the scenes during this episode is skillful. Every bit of latent strength lying in the situation is given life and force. Mr. Mullen has written this scene relying as little as possible on the cutback. It is one continuous, intense scene, unbroken, the power of which is cumulative foot by foot until Joe Garson breaks down and confesses the murder. But for that matter Mr. Mullen’s work is good from first to last. No fine point of the play has escaped his eye. With respect to “Within the Law” he has proven a good screen dramatist and Mr. Veiller is a stage dramatist.

The production of the piece which was in charge of William P. S. Earle is indeed excellent. The settings are always appropriate, realistic and well selected. Both scenario writer and director have seen to it that none of the comedy embodied in the role of Aggie Lynch has been lost. Adele DeGarde was a most happy choice to assume the part Mary Nash created on the stage. She is ever the sly but childish habitue of the underworld, and the manner, in which she plays the role is highly satisfactory. Mr. Mullen has seen to it that she is aided in her comedy-relief work by subtleties taken from the play. Hers is a character long to be remembered and her comedy is as sharp in contrast to the tense moments as could be desired. The part further goes to show the technique of the author. The full value of such a contrast in action was never before exemplified on the screen.

Alice Joyce, in the featured part of Mary Turner, and Harry Morey as Joe Garson do work that is satisfactory, particularly in the more definite phases of the action. Eugene O’Rourke, it must be said, does the best acting in the entire cast as Inspector Burke. Walter McGrail makes a likable hero.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Mary Turner (Alice Joyce), sales girl in a department store, is found guilty of shoplifting and sentenced to three years in prison though the crime was in reality committed by another. During her time Mary studies law and when released and after several futile efforts to gain honest employment she takes up the practice of making a living within the law, but without the bounds prescribed by society. In league with Joe Garson (Harry Morey) and Aggie Lynch (Adele DeGarde), she proceeds to fleece the fleecers of others. In time an opportunity to revenge herself on Gilder (Anders Randolph), the owner of the department store presents itself in the person of his son, Dick (Walter McGrail). Though loving Garson she marries Dick and thus obtains her revenge. Inspector Burke (Eugene O’Rourke), a friend of the Gilders, plans to “get” Mary. Through a stool pigeon he arranges for Garson to attempt to rob the Giders’ home. Mary discovering the “lay” goes to the house in an attempt to dissuade Joe from his purpose, which is plainly without the law and in which Burke is involved. The frame-up is discovered and the stool pigeon killed by Joe. When Dick enters he sends Joe away and for Mary’s sake lies to the police saying that she as his wife has a perfect right to be in his home. Then follows their arrest and the various attempts by Burke to accuse Mary of the murder. Joe is finally arrested and that Mary may go free he confesses the deed.

Robert Gaillard, Billie Billings, Bernard Siegel, Bernard Randles, Joe Devolene and Miss Bruce have prominent parts.

“Happiness”
(Triangle Inc—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

FOR comedy-drama “Happiness” certainly reaches the high-water mark and occasionally laps over it. It contains many moments that fairly glitter with pure humor, and when it borders on the farcical, as it does in an assuming way a number of times, the audience is sure to derive just as much fun from it as do the certain characters in the story. Written by C. Gardner Sullivan, “Happiness,” besides being perfect in point of technique, is often times noticeable, because of the manner in which the author has found comedy in the most commonplace of situations. He never goes out of the way to draw a laugh; they all result from natural incidents. Certainly Mr. Sullivan has never written such good subtitles as are inserted in the picture. They, too, follow the same course as the action, always being spontaneous.

“Happiness” also offers Enid Bennett the role of Doris Wingate, the best she has created as yet. As the masquerading girl who is considered a snob, when to the contrary she is fully gen-

Robert Gaillard, Billie Billings, Bernard Siegel, Bernard Rand-dall, Joe Devolene and Miss Bruce have prominent parts.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Doris Wingate (Enid Bennett) is the topic of a feature story in a Sunday magazine, conferring on her the title of the most snobbish girl in America. In reality Doris is as democratic as they come; and it is her aunt who makes a business of creating the false impression. Her uncle ships her off to a co-educational college where unfortunately her manufactured reputation has gone ahead of her. She finds all the students determined to outdo her in snobishness. However, in Bob Hollister (Charles Gunn), who takes in washing to earn his tuition, and in his little helper (Thelma Salter), she finds true friends. How she finally proposes to Bob and overcomes his “conscientious objection,” and how she “puts it over on her aunt” and shatters all her false notions complete this delightful photoplay.

The Trust Starts Activities
"The Candy Girl" (Thanhouser-Pathe—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"The Candy Girl" is another Gladys Hulette picture, this time written by Phillip Lonergan, containing comedy and drama, but reversing the usual order of the Hulette pictures and placing the stress on the latter element. Mr. Lonergan's vehicle gives the star many an opportunity to put her attractive personality across. She is an appealing figure, as ever, and accepts all her chances with grace. Nor should the pleasant humor provided by the author be overlooked. The scenes in the candy shop, where the policeman takes refuge from his beat to the feigned wrath of his superior officer, tickle the sensitivities to a delightful degree. Mr. Lonergan has also provided homely pieces of comedy from the dinner which Nell gives to her old friends and from the character of the crusty old rent agent. Helen Bonley, the charming Thanhouser kidlet, is also present in a pretty little part.

The comedy of the first half of "The Candy Girl" lays a good foundation for the rather heavy material of the latter part. When Jack Monroe turns out to be a drug addict the aspect of the whole picture is suddenly changed. One might express a mild wish that Mr. Lonergan had seen fit to develop this side of Jack's character a little earlier in the picture and so institute another current of suspense. However, such a small item is not worth quibbling about. As a whole "The Candy Girl" entertains quite as fully as did its predecessors. W. Eugene Moore gave it an adequate production.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Nell (Gladys Hulette) forsakes a chicken farm to open a candy store in the city. Customers are not hers until Jack Monroe (William Parke, Jr.) starts to boom trade by sending various children of the neighborhood to her with money to buy. Jack becomes a suitor for Nell's hand, finally marries her and takes her to his home to introduce her to his father (J. H. Gilmour). Old Monroe then tells Nell of his son's curse—that he is a drug addict and to annul the marriage, but Nell prefers to stick it out and eventually cures her young husband.

"Moral Courage"
(Peckless-World—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

"Moral Courage" must certainly be put on the "preferred list."

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Joshua Allen (Edward Elkas) is a miserly mill owner who has lived only for his son, Chadwick (Arthur Ashley), whom he hopes to see marry a "society" girl. Chadwick, however, falls in love with a pretty mill girl, Mary MacClinton (Muriel Ostriche). Angus MacClinton (Robert Forsyth), being a thrifty Scot, has picked out a mate for Mary, and, after this bête, Mary slips out with Chadwick and goes skating with the merry throng. News of this travels fast and both parents object, Angus thinking the boy is merely trifling with his daughter, Joshua not wishing his son to waste his time on a poor mill girl, especially in his own mill.

So Joshua "frames up" Mary. Thugs are employed. An attempt is made to drug her in an unfrequented inn, and Mary slips out with Chadwick and they return to beg forgiveness. Joshua offers $100,000 to divorce Chadwick immediately. She accepts, goes to Reno, comes back with her papers, and with the $100,000, cash in hand, defies Joshua to bring further pressure to bear, calling his attention to the fact that his agreement did not require her to promise not to remarry. The old man decides he is glad his son has such a clever wife.

"A Royal Romance"
(Fox—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

"A Royal Romance" is not new in theme, but it has that touch of the human, in us so often wished for but so seldom realized, that the story it tells is pleasingly accepted as one throbbing with undisguised feeling and that humane instinct which prompts even the most confirmed dignitary to throw reserve to the winds and "cut up."
The Captain of the Grey Horse Troop

(Vitagraph—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

This play from Hamilton Garland's story is an unusually good offering to exhibitors. As an "Indian" it is entirely different, and we believe will please even the most ardent admirers to the wild melodramatic "Westerns" that use red men in feathers and war paint to bolster up improbable stories.
At the beginning Edith Storey makes it rather hard to imagine she is going to be picked out by any self-respecting lover as his heroine, but she shows a spark of human feeling after a few scenes and the story develops very naturally to a strong climax.

Mr. Moreno makes an ideal "Captain Curtis," whose life is devoted to seeing that the Indians under his charge get fair play.

What makes this play thoroughly enjoyable is the naturalness of all the parts. William Wolbert in his direction has not sought to glorify the red man or the white man. There is no silly sentiment, but fair play and justice—in other words Americanism as applying to the red man as well as the white man, which cannot fail to appeal to all who like fair play. And we believe American audiences will enjoy this story, even in the far West where the Indian is sometimes considered a lazy, good-for-nothing nuisance. It is a sincere bringing together of the good qualities of both races into a heart-interest drama. The fearless stand of the hero for highest principles of honor wins the girl. The coming of the "Grey Horse Troop" to protect their government from a lawless lynching on United States soil is a thrilling climax well executed.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Captain George Curtis (Antonio Moreno) undertakes to see fair play given the Indians on the government reservation. Crawling Elk (Otto Lederer) and his son, Cut Finger (Al Jenning), welcome the new white chief and his fair methods, but the ranchers and their political ally, ex-Senator Brisbane (H. A. Barrows), and his daughter Elsie (Edith Storey) resent his coming and plan to "get him."

A rancher is killed by Cut-Finger, who confesses his guilt to save his tribe from punishment, but Captain Curtis insists he shall have fair trial. A lynching is planned and averted only by the timely assistance of the Grey Horse Troop. Meantime Elsie loses her prejudice against Captain Curtis when she learns that Lawson (Edward Cecil), his predecessor, had stolen from the Indians for private graft. And when the reputable citizens of the county seat take sides with right and justice, Captain Curtis "wins all around."

"Sacrifice"

(Lasky-Paramount—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THAT Margaret Illington will get close to the hearts of picture audiences, and that very soon, as she has on the speaking stage, is indicated by her first entrance into her new realm of expression in "Sacrifice."

Not only is she given, as a "starter," the longest and most perfectly executed double-role scenes it has ever been our pleasure to note, but she is called upon to register every emotion from dancer to the king's guards to murderess.

Her double-role work is perfect. The two sisters do not at any moment seem to be the same person. And the "trick" photography giving the illusion of two different persons in the same brightly lighted room allows no possible detection, for there is no lap or joint, or variation even of shading in the two elements making up the picture.

Miss Illington's personality, as the dancer, which is the colorul role of the two, is fully as magnetic as any screen star we know in pictures with the exception of Miss Clark and Miss Pickford, we somehow do not feel that Miss Illington has the experience under her belt that Miss Clark and Miss Pickford have, but we do not think of this play as a "popular hit." On the contrary we do think Miss Illington will be a great favorite when furnished just the right vehicles.

"Sacrifice" is a well constructed play (specially written by Charles Kenyon), with good measure of dramatic elements. Frank Reicher has made a powerful drama of it in pictures. It ranks with the best Paramount plays, from an artistic standpoint, doubtless even higher than some that have made "big hits." "Sacrifice" will back up the exhibitor's claim that he has secured a great star in a most unusual picture, splendidly staged and acted.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Nordhoff and Zandria are enemy countries. Stephen (Winter Hall) and his daughter Mary (Miss Illington) visit Zandria to unearth war secrets. Here Mary meets a young Zandrian captain (Jack Holt) and it is love at first sight. The war issue becoming acute, Stephen returns to Nordhoff and Mary is about to cross the frontier. In the meantime Vesta Boris (Miss Illington), a notorious dancer, in reality Mary's half sister, for her country steals the plans, murdering Count Wenzel (Noah Beery) to get them, and is on her way to Nordhoff, when she is stopped at the border. Seeing Mary waiting in the depot, Vesta induces her to exchange passports and goes on to Nordhoff with the plans traced in invisible ink on her underskirt. Mary is arrested as Vesta and sentenced to be shot at sunrise. Vesta returns and changes places with Mary, receiving the bullets of the shooting squad. Peace is declared and Mary is thus saved to her soldier lover.

Ditmars' "Monkey Capers," "The Hermit of Hood," "The Ice Harvest"

(Educational Films Corporation—On Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

In "Monkey Capers," a full reel of "The Living Book of Nature" series now being shown at the Strand theatre, New York, Raymond L. Ditmars is given his first opportunity to study the more interesting subject that will please everybody. The Celebes ape and the long-armed baboon of West Africa have close resemblances to human types we all know, and their inquisitive nature and seeming ability to simulate even human passions, likes and dislikes by facial expressions clearly brought out.

It will especially tickle the kiddies to see them making grimaces in the mirror at themselves, and carefully investigating their keeper's hair for uninvited guests.

"The Hermit of Hood" and "The Ice Harvest in Wisconsin" is a split-reel of two really interesting subjects. Keeping fire-watch at the highest point in the United States, where as the title ingeniously mentions "Saturday's bath of melted snow has to be planned the Thursday before," must be about the loneliest job on earth. Cloud-effects are shown in this picture that are marvelous in their beauty and resemblance to a fuming volcano.

Scientific ice harvesting with a mechanical equipment that cleans and planes each cake as it is packed away with the aid of an endless carrier, gives a new conception of the advance in this as a modern industry.

"Her Torpedoed Love"

(Triangle-Keystone—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

Fast and snappy action, much bewildering and hilarious trick work, and clever subtitles put "Her Torpedoed Love" in the best class of comedies of the rough and tumble sort. Considerable crockery is broken, usually over the heads of the principals, but comedy is extracted from even this conventional practice. The Keystone trick work has never shown to better advantage. There is the chase and it is crowded with surprises and weird stunts that are as hair raising as they are uproarious.
The cast is headed by Ford Sterling who contributes that sort of work which not long ago was responsible for his great popularity. Louise Fazenda leads a supporting cast of well-known individuals. "Her Torpedoed Love" is real Mark Sennett comedy, which after all is praise of the highest sort.

"The Neglected Wife." (Balboa-Pathe—First Two Episodes) REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

RUTH ROLAND is the star and Mabel Herbert Unner the author of Pathe's latest serial produced by Balboa. As the title suggests, the first two episodes deal with domestic complications based on the lines and the eternal triangle. It is evident from the first number that there are to be sensational stunts intermingled with the situations arising from the domestic triangle. That peculiar railway running up one of the Los Angeles hills is brought into the first episode as a scene of an accident which is executed in good style. The mechanism of the car goes out of commission and the car itself crashes to the bottom of the hill. This closes the first two reels at the necessary exciting moment.

Mabel Herbert Unner is a well-known newspaper writer. Her serial here pictured is fair to continue on the original lines it has started. There is no element of mystery or trick stuff. Just plain, straight action with here and there a thrill. From a logical viewpoint "The Neglected Wife" is superior to many other serials. The action is plausible if nothing else, and it is quite refreshing to find no Japanese spies lurking in the offing. The serial must put itself over without recourse to the American flag.

Ruth Roland possesses a certain following concerning the value of which an inventory should be taken. Her work is entirely acceptable in the two numbers already shown. The support which Roland Bottomeley heads is complete. The settings for the serial were done by Will M. Ritchie, and are concise and swift moving as is all his work. The production can best be described as of a typical Balboa sort.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

"The Woman Alone" introduces Margaret Warner (Ruth Roland), a struggling magazine writer, who obtains secretarial work from Horace Kennedy (Roland Bottomeley), a well-known lawyer, who is slowly drifting apart from his wife, Mary (C. Renee Grant). Kennedy has earned the hatred of another lawyer, Doyle (Neil Hardin) by causing his disbarment. He gradually discovers that Margaret is the girl he loves. The last night of their work he escorts her home, but on the way they are caught in an accident.

"Weakening," the second episode, begins with the accident and shows clearly that Kennedy is in love with Margaret. Mrs. Kennedy leaves the city and consents to divorce with the lawyer once more. During the meal Doyle throws a flower pot on their table from the balcony above with dire intent but luckily nothing serious happens. He is pursued over the roof and the pursuer falls through the skylight into the fountain of the restaurant. After this episode both Margaret and Kennedy receive threatening letters which disclose the fact that some one has learned of their meetings. Philo McCullough, as Frank Norwood, a clerk, who is many times repulsed by Margaret has another important role.

"Kidnapped" and Other Pictures (Conquest-Forum Films—Second Program—Six Reels) REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

TO Alan Crosland who directed the production of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous work of adventure, "Kidnapped," is due a lot of credit for the fine picture it presents. Stevenson's masterful use of the English tongue and Scottish dialect is all that seems to be lacking and even nice bits of the dialect find their way into the captions. It presents the genius of a talented artist in a masterful way. There is much of Stevenson's work omitted, no matter what the gist of the story, the human side, the adventures of David Balfour, by land and sea, is presented with a touch of reality that only the author's rare gift of imagination could improve upon. The continuity of the story as picturized is remarkable for its smoothness of action. The characters themselves so closely resemble the ones we had pictured from reading the book that we are almost back to the time of the brig "Covenant." "Alan," the gentleman outlaw, and Ebenzer Balfour whose selfishness and sordid propensities fairly lurks in the atmosphere about the picture as presented by Joseph Hurck with all the realism of the times. The encounters aboard the brig between the baby, "the heart of Balfour," his newly acquired friend, the Scottish outlaw, and the pirate crew, were staged with the realism of pictorial verve.

Ray McKe, as David Balfour, is splendid. Robert Cain, as Alan Breek, could not much improve his characterization. The photography is up to the grade of the work. Miss Dixie is Stevenson's own mental pictures. William Wadsworth, Franklin Hauna and Sam Nihlack are others in support. Not a woman appears in this picture. The production is in four reels.

"The Portrait in the Attic," a picture drama in one reel, is a touching story of the love of a child for her mother, who is dead, and her new love for a step-mother.

"He Couldn't Get Up in the Morning," a comedy in one reel, featuring Ray McKe, is original in its comedy stunts and will be well received by lovers of the semi-slapstick variety.

Official British War Pictures

(Pathe—Third and Fourth Installments Two Reels Each) REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

These instalments of the pictures taken by the British Government are almost entirely new and not shown before. Interesting views of the British dreadnoughts, the soldiers in the field, and the American organized hospital service are presented. Mine sweepers, the launching of British dreadnoughts, which we are told are being built at the rate of four a year, and pictures of seaside salvoes of these floating fortresses of our big ally against Germany are most impressive.

The commissary department of the British army comes in for some commendation, with views of field ovens baking 17,000 loaves a day, so it is claimed. These pictures are distinctly propaganda now most acceptable in this country, as showing in the most favorable aspect the allied forces working against our enemy.

There are no gory battlefield scenes in this installment of these pictures, the showing of the ambulance corps being the nearest approach to such.

"American Methods." (Fox—Pvlce Reiels) REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THIS is a hurrah story for American consumption, that we are sure will go over strongly, and we must admit there is considerable meat in the plot, etc. George Ohnet's novel, "The Ironmaster," furnished the theme.

There is the usual wrong man chosen by the woman who ought to know better, and the American directness of doing business is applied to love as well as business very attractively.

As William Farnum portrays the role, it is no wonder he wins over the aristocratic false pride of the woman who became his wife through pique. The only wonder is that any woman could fail to see the sirenth of his love sooner. However, things can't happen this way if dramatic climax is to work its regular plan.

Several stirring titles will give our American pride another swell or two. Frank Lloyd has directed this picture well, and the only principals give excellent support to Mr. Farnum, who rises to the few but well punctuated occasions for heroism with his usual success.

"One Law for Both." (Ivan—Eight Reels) REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

ONE LAW FOR BOTH has big advertising possibilities both in its title and its cast, which includes such popular artists as Rita Jenet, Vincent Ferraro, Leah Baird, Pedro de Cordoba, Paul Cappelain, Anders Randolph, James Morrison and Margaret Greene, who have parts prominent at one time or another throughout the compartment. The suggestion of dramatic force created by the title fails to materialize in the picture. It is quite a pity, for Mr. Abramson was possessed of the theme rich in possibilities that showed great promise in his foremost. In the main the fault of the picture can be traced to an overwhelming introduction, in which character planting and hardly anything else occurs. The author might possibly aim to excuse this lengthy preface by referring to the fact that there are so many characters in his story that three or four reels were actually needed to plant them firmly in the spectator’s mind. The excuse might partly suffice, for the superfine characters in “One Law for Both” are not the least of its faults. Furthermore, each one of them is treated as a principal in the introductory reels, whereas many might be seen and dismissed with a mere subtitle. But the theme and the main plot of “One Law for Both” is never touched upon, let alone developed, in the first episode.

When at last it does appear in the interesting propaganda evolved by Mr. Abramson it fails to get very near the surface, for in his capacity of director he has slighted the high lights of his story and introduced much incident that not only refuses to convince but at times appears ridiculous. The sight of the wife pardoning her erring husband with no more than a smile and welcoming the child of his mistress into her own home with open arms is a tax on the credulity of any audience. The wife of this particular phase of the story is an extremely unnatural figure.

The final preachment, which excuses an erring wife on the same grounds as the erring husband, is the vital point in Mr. Abramson’s picture, and it is the only point that approaches conviction. However, the very force of the parallel between the man and the woman is lessened by poor handling of the story. Where a dramatic moment might have thrilled and held the spectator in the greatest suspense, it only mildly entertains and leaves little if any effect because of the poor approach to it and the mediocre manner in which it has been acted. To forsake a constructive ripping apart of Mr. Abramson’s picture, its sole value can be summed up in its title. It is a valuable one, and too good to mislead the public into seeing its contents.

In the matter of properties the picture is fair. Expense was lavished in no direction except on the cast, which, however, is capable of better things than it shows here. Miss Jolivet as Elga creates the most favorable impression. She is very much inclined to overact, but manages to put a deal of appeal in her role despite the fact.

“One Law for Both” opens a New York engagement at the Lyric next Sunday.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

In Russia, Elga (Kila Jolivet) sacrifices her honor to free her fellow revolutionists from jail. She goes to America and marries Hutchison (Vincent Serrano) without informing him of her past. Hutchinson takes particular pains to patch up the domestic misunderstanding of his sister (Leah Baird) and her husband (Pedro de Cordoba), caused by the latter’s mistress (Margaret Greene). Shortly afterwards he discovers Elga’s past and denounces her. His sister manages to bring them around to a better understanding by relating her own experience to Hutchinson and dwelling on the fact that if it was right for her to excuse her husband it would be equally right for him to excuse his wife. A reconcilation follows.

“First Impressions of Japan,” follows its caption in detail and shows points of interest in various of the many islands of Japan. When writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers when the writing to advertisers
TABLOID REVIEWS FOR BUSY EXHIBITORS

General Film Program

"The Deserted Engine." (Episode of "A Daughter of Daring." Kelton, One reel.)—The thrill in this episode reveals Katz returning to tracks which are rather surprising. Helen Gibson, the daring railroad girl, is supposed to leap from a trestle to the platform of a flying train. It is obviously a "trick shot." A photograph shows her leap behind the train; the next flash shows her on the moving platform.

"The Vanished Line Rider," (Episode of Kelton's "The American Girl," series. Two reels.)—Good old fashioned mystery of a type which is making Kelton's "American Girl" series quite famous, predominates in this number. The story concerns a rider who has been bound, gagged and hidden by a gang of Chinese smugglers. Main basis contributes the main thrill by sliding down a rope into a ravine to save the captured rider, and the thrill goes over nicely.

"A Race to the Drawbridge." (Episode of Kelton's "Daughter of Daring" Series. One reel.)—As a spine tickler, the thrill is this week's Kelton railroad picture, occupies a place by itself. The story is better than usual, too, dealing with the capture of a band of bank robbers.

"The Honor of an Outlaw." (Gold Seal, Three reels. Week of May 14.)—Written and produced by Fred Kulesic, it is a decided winner in the story of the capture of the so-called "old chief." There's plenty of rough humor in the makeup of this film and doubts whether it will go through successfully for the most part.

"The Ransom." (Cub. One reel, Thurs., Apr. 26.)—George Ovey as Jers so neatly makes good here and, although he goes through nightmare of being taken to Denver City, the Mexican bandit, he sidesteps all obstacles, rescues E. J. Pickens andcaps off the daughter and her paper's thanks. There's no musica, salad and sauce in this one tenderer than to be found generally in a run and almost any audience will appreciate it.

Mutual Program

"Mutual Tours Around the World, No. 26." (Gaumont, One reel. Tues., May 1.)—This beautifully photographed and splendidly photostory of Scandinavian scenery from Gothenberg to Christiania, then goes to the picturesque eastern valley of the Lut River in Southern France, and then north to the snowclad beauty of St. Gery Lappone, of Warsaw, Poland, and winds up with a splendid exhibition of the prominent art centers and the view points of horsemanship and sword skill.

"And In Walked Uncle." (Strand, Wed., Apr. 25.)—Billie Rhodes, aided by Jay Belasco, makes this one reel a decidedly worth while effort. Uncle is wise to the tactics of his nephew and newly married wife and, although the former is a pronounced woman hater, he falls an easy mark when Emily Floyd heaves in sight. Mary (Billie Rhodes) and Jack (Jay Belasco), the newlyweds, have tried hard to put one over on "Nunk's" and would perhaps have succeeded but for his "geytree" after all these years—then they take courage! The whole matter is well conceived, aptly acted and admirably carried out. For a study of K. U. (Emily Floyd), a bunch of punch and should prove a winner anywhere.

"A Plaster Feud." (Vogue, Two reels. Set., Apr. 26.)—Considerable slapstick effect is brought in to play in this double reel, but then, of course, Paddy McGuire and Rina Rogers are old favorites and the help cover what deficiencies there may be. One thing in particular may be said: great stress upon and that is the unfinished parts of buildings about to be plastered, and the whole theme rests upon the completion of certain works as to which of two plastering concerns sets the big contracts. Police and fire departments are called into play to great effect and Teddy and his girl work to advantage and win the contract for the "Old Coast." There's plenty of rough humor in the makeup of this film and doubts whether it will go through successfully for the most part.

Universal Program

"To Oblige a Vampire." (Nestor. Week of May 14.)—Edie Lyons and Lee Moran encountering the wiles of a vampire fill in a dream make this reel excellent from a burlesque point of view. Olive Adair is the vamp, Hoodly and Palmer prepared the scenario.

"The Honor of an Outlaw." (Gold Seal. Three reels. Week of May 14.)—Edie Lyons and Lee Moran encountering the wiles of a vampire fill in a dream make this reel excellent from a burlesque point of view. Olive Adair is the vamp, Hoodly and Palmer prepared the scenario.

"A Good Little Bad Boy," (J-Na. Two reels. Week of May 14.)—Phil Dunning once again in a cap and tie trick comedy of unusual merit. Much funny business and original gags such as a sliding cover for free lunch makes the two reels pass quickly. Dunning is a liar, and has for support pretty Lucille Hutton, Merta Sterling and Charles Under.
FEATURES—CURRENT AND COMING

Have your releases in by Saturday noon—The Exhibitor wants them

Art Dramas, Inc.
Apr. 12. The Inevitable (Anna Q. Nilsson), Erskergraph
Apr. 19. The Little Brother (Myrna Hartson), Apollo
Apr. 26. A Mother's Odyssey (Jean Sothern), Van Dyke
May 3. The Auction of Virtue (U. S. Pathe), Mutoscope
May 10. Little Miss Fortune (Erskergraph)
May 17. The Mystic Hour (Apollo)
May 24. House of Cards (Katharine Kaelred and Frank Mills), U. S. Amuse.
May 31. A Mute Appeal (Van Dyke)

Artcrites Pictures
May 5. A Poor Little Rich Girl (Mary Pickford), Famous
May 28. Broadway Jones (George M. Cohan), Famous
Apr. 30. In Arms and Agony (Douglas Fairbanks), Famous Coming—A Million-Dollar Mystery (Mary Pickford)

Bluebird Photoplays
Apr. 16. A Jewel in a Pawn (Ella Hall, Walter Belasco and Antrim Short), Bluebird
Apr. 23. Tamer Girl (Dorothy Phillips), Bluebird
Apr. 30. The Clock (Franklyn Farnum and June Caprice), Bluebird
May 7. Little Miss Nobody (Violet Merle), Bluebird
May 14. Treason (Alan Holubar and Joseph Girard), Bluebird
May 21. The Flashlight Girl (Dorothy Phillips), Bluebird
May 28. Romance (Myrtle Gordon and George Hernandez), Bluebird
June 4. Bringing Father Home (Franklyn Farnum and Brownie Vernon), Bluebird
June 11. A Doll's House (Dorothy Phillips), Bluebird

Butterfly Productions
May 7. Eternal Love (Douglas Gerrard and Ruth Clifford), Famous
May 14. The Phantom's Secret (Mignon Anderson, Hayward Mack and Molly Malone), Famous
May 21. Little Lady (Herbert Hendon and Neva Gerber), Famous

Fox Film Corporation
Apr. 2. Her Greatest Love (Theda Bara), Famous
Apr. 9. Tangled Lives (Genevieve Hamper), Famous
Apr. 9. Her Temptation (Gladya Brockwell), Famous
Apr. 16. The Girl in Black (Myrna Loy), Famous
Apr. 23. She (Valea Burat), Famous
Apr. 30. Golden Horseshoe (William Par- num), Special
May 6. A Small Town Girl (June Caprice), Famous
May 6. A Small Town Girl (June Caprice), Famous
May 13. The Book Agent (George Walsh), Famous

Ivan Feature Productions
Mar. 18. Two Men and a Woman (James Morrison, Christine Mayo, Blythe De Remer, Guy Cohn, John Reinhardt and Helen Arnold), Famous June — One Law For Both, Famous

Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay
Apr. 23. Skinner's Bubbles (Bryant Washburn), Essanay
May 7. The New Adventure (Henry Walton and Mary Chatsworth), Essanay
May 14. The Mystery of No. 47 (Ralph Hertz), Selig
May 21. The Man Who Walked on Water (George Fawcett), Selig
May 28. The Uncharted (William Mason), Essanay
June 4. The Mystery of No. 47 (Ralph Hertz), Selig

McClure Pictures*
Mar. 5. Seven Deadly Sins, "Sloth" (Charlotte Walker, Shirley Mason, and George Hanlon), McClure
Mar. 12. Seven Deadly Sins, "The 7th Sin," (Marie Doro, Shirley Mason)

*Released through Triangle Exchanges.

Metro Pictures Corporation
Apr. 15. The Power of Decision (Frances Farnum and Brownie Vernon), Famous
Apr. 30. The Millionaire's Double (Lionel Barrymore), Famous
May 14. The Soul of Magdalen (Mme. Petreva), Popular Plays and Players
May 28. The Greatest Power (Ethel Barrymore), Famous
June 4. Lady Barnacle (Violet Dana), Columbia

Mutual Film Corporation
Apr. 9. A Soldier of War (May Ward), Mutual Pictures
Apr. 9. Mrs. Baldwin (Nance O'Neill), Feature
Apr. 19. The Eternal Sin (Florence Reed), Mutual
May 7. The Prime Ugly (William Russell), American
May 14. The Little Magician (Mary Miles Minter), American
May 30. Whose Wife? (Gail Kane), American
May 14. In the Days of Old (Nance O'Neill), Famous
May 14. Annie for Spite (Mary Miles Minter), American
May 14. The Man Who Made Good (Wini- fred Allen and Jack Devereaux), Famous
May 23. The Valentine Girl (Marguerite Clark), Famous Players
May 26. The Girl Friend (William Martin and Jack Pickford), Famous
May 30. Heart's Desire, Famous Players
May 31. Singing the Nightingale, Famous
May 7. The Primrose Ring (Mae Murray), Famous
May 10. The Lost Partner (Blanche Sweet and Thomas Meighan), Famous
May 14. The Great Escape (George Be- ran), Famous
May 17. The Eternal (Kathryn Williams and House Peters), Famous
May 21. Her Better Self (Pauline Frederick), Famous Players
May 24. The Shepherdess (Mae Murray), Famous
May 28. For Love and Money (Helen Hunt, and Jack Pickford), Famous
May 31. Unrequited (Blanche Sweet), Famous
June 4. The World Apart (Wallace Reid and Marie Doro), Famous
June 7. Give Becky a Chance (Vivien Mar- tin), Famous

Paramount Pictures Corporation
Apr. 9. The Cost of Hatred (Kathryn Williams and Theodore Roberts), Famous
Apr. 12. Tides of Barnegat (Blanche Sweet and Paul Brooke), Famous Apr. 16. Sleeping Fires (Pauline Frederick), Famous
Apr. 19. The Lonesome Chap (House Peters and Lilian Gish), Famous
Apr. 23. The Valentine Girl (Marguerite Clark), Famous Players
May 26. The Girl Friend (William Martin and Jack Pickford), Famous
May 30. Heart's Desire, Famous Players
May 31. Singing the Nightingale, Famous
May 7. The Primrose Ring (Mae Murray), Famous
May 10. The Lost Partner (Blanche Sweet and Thomas Meighan), Famous
May 14. The Great Escape (George Be- ran), Famous
May 17. The Eternal (Kathryn Williams and House Peters), Famous
May 21. Her Better Self (Pauline Frederick), Famous Players
May 24. The Shepherdess (Mae Murray), Famous
May 28. For Love and Money (Helen Hunt, and Jack Pickford), Famous
May 31. Unrequited (Blanche Sweet), Famous
June 4. The World Apart (Wallace Reid and Marie Doro), Famous
June 7. Give Becky a Chance (Vivien Mar- tin), Famous

Pathé Exchange, Inc.
Apr. 15. When Love Was Blind (Florence LaBadie, Thomas Curren, Ina Palmer, Helen Badg- ley, Loyd Marshall, Ethyl Cook and Harry Gordon), Thanhouser.
Apr. 29. Summer Night in Paris (Marie Gre- borne), Balboa.
May 6. The Soul of Magdalen (Mme. Pet- rova), Popular Plays and Players
May 20. The Candy Girl (Gladys Hulette, Helen Holmes, Muriel Barnes, William Bowes, Car- dy Hastings, Thomas A. Curren, William Parks, Jr., and J. H. Gilmour), Han- nover.

Red Feather Productions
Apr. 23. The Heart of the Hour (Jack Mac- haff)

Selznick Pictures
Feb. — The Argyle Case (Robert Warwick), Famous
Feb. — The Price She Paid (Clark Kimbal- Young), Famous March — The Eternal Sin (Florence Reed), Famous
April — The Easiest Way (Clark Kimball Young), Famous
April — The Lonesome Chap (House Peters), Famous
May — The Lone Wolf (Hazel Dawn and Milton Sills), Famous
May — Poppy (Norma Talmadge), Famous
May — A Modern Othello (Robert Warwick), Famous

Triangle Distributing Corporation
Apr. 12. An Old Fashioned Young Man (Rob- ert Harron), Famous
Apr. 15. Paddy O'Hara (William Desmond), Ince-Kay Bee
Apr. 19. Two Women (Geraldine Farrar), Famous
Apr. 22. Cheerful Graces (Besse Love), Famous
Apr. 29. The Desert Man (Wap. S. Hart) Ince-Kay Bee
Apr. 30. Hands Up (Wilfred Lucas), Famous
Apr. 30. The Pinch Hitter (Charles Ray), Ince-Kay Bee
May 5. Might and the Man (Lincoln and Meyers), Famous
May 5. The Secret (Besse Briccorca), Ince- Kay Bee
May 13. The Man Who Made Good (Wilf- red Allen and Jack Devereaux), Famous
May 13. Happiness (Enid Bennett), Ince-Kay Bee
May 20. Souls Triumphant (Wilfred Lucas and Lilian Gish), Triangle
May 20. Wildfire (Lorne M. Dalton), Ince-Kay Bee

Vitagraph V.L.S.E.
Apr. 9. Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation (Alice Joyce and Harry Mory), Famous Apr. 16. Sally in a Hurry (Lillian Walker), Famous
Apr. 23. The Hawk (Earle Williams), Famous
Apr. 30. Her Secret (Alice Joyce and Harry Mory), Famous
May 7. The Captain of the Grey Horse Troop (Antonio Moreno and Ruth Storry), Famous
May 14. The Sixteenth Wife (Peggy Hyland, Francis de Murnac, Max Darmount), Famous
May 21. Clove Rebellion (Anita Stewart), Famous
May 28. The Soul Master (Earle Williams), Famous

World Pictures
Apr. 16. Forget-Me-Not (Kitty Gordon), Famous
Apr. 26. Backward, Airline (Ann Ring), Famous
Apr. 30. The Page of Mystery (Carlisle Black- well, June Elvidge and Evelyn Grewe), Famous
May 7. Mothers of France (Sarah Bernhardt), Famous
May 14. Moral Order (Mamie McCurrie and Arthur Ashley), Famous
May 21. Yankee Doodle (Ethel Clark and Montauk Love), Famous
May 28. Matron (Charles Ray), Famous
June 4. The Price of Pride (Carlisle Black- well, June Elvidge and Evelyn Grewe), Famous June 11. The Moral Angle (Robert Warwick and Gail Kane), Famous

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Vol. 15. No. 20
SHORT SUBJECTS CURRENT AND COMING

Educational Film Corp. of Amer.
From Dimity’s “Living Book of Nature”
Apr. 30, The Larger Birds — 500 feet
May 14, Audubon’s Birds — Split Reel
May 21, Odd Hooed Animals — 500 feet and 1 reel

Fox Film Comedies
Apr. 23, His Love Light (Hank Mann), 2 C
Apr. 30, An Aerial Joy Ride — 500 feet
May 6, His Passionate Career
May 13, A Basket of Picturesque Dauphine
May 20, His Bomb Policy — 2 C

General Film Company
BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
One First at Roseneau (1st of O. Henry Series), 2 D, 21850-61
Friends in San Fransisco (1st of O. Henry Series), 2 D, 21879-90

The Shooting Star, C, and Harvesting the Wheat Crop in Alberta, Can., Educ., 21851
Mending with Marriage (1st of “Is Marriage Sacred?” Series), 2 D, 21855-59
Cinamatograph Nostalgia, No. 28, and 21872
Cinematograph Nostalgia, No. 29 (Cart-C) 21880

FORTUNE PHOTOPLAYS
The Death of a Banker and Mr. Conklin, 2 D, 21843-46
The American Girl (William Payne), 2 D, 21866-69
Vengeance of the Dead (Henry King and Lilian West), 4 D, 21882

KALEM
The Vanishing Bishop (24th of “Grant Police Reporter” Series), 1 D, 21856
The Mystery of the Burning Freight (5th Episode of “A Daughter of Dancing”, 1 D, 21882
Dancing with Death (Joseph Comstock), 1 D, 21871
The Skeleton Canyon Raid (6th of “The Stage Sacred?” Series), 2 D, 21875-74
The Secret of the Borgias (24th of “Grant Police Reporter” Series), 1 D, 21877
The Long Point Prowl (4th Episode of “A Daughter of Dancing”), 1 D, 21881
The Last of the Balloon Mountain (7th of “American Girl” Series), 2 D, 21891-92

SELIG
The Power of Fins (2nd), 2 D, 21864-65
Selig-Tribute, No. 27, 1 Top, 21870
Selig-Tribute, No. 30, 1 Top, 1 reel, 21893
Mr. Bingo the Bachelor (John Lancaster), 1 C
Mr. Bing’s Reissuc (2nd), 1 D, 21882
The Daughter of “Gas House” Dan, 2 D, 21893-94
Selig Tribute, No. 29, 1 Top, 21889
Selig-Tribute, No. 30, 1 Top, 21893
Bill and the Bearded Lady, 1 C, 21894

Metro Pictures Corporation
Monday, May 7, 1917
ROLMA—The Regeneration of Reginald (Ralph Ford), 1 C
Drew — Her Lesson (Mr. & Mrs. Sidney Drew) 1 C
Drew — Her Lesson (Mr. & Mrs. Sidney Drew) 1 C

Mutual Film Corporation
Monday, May 14, 1917
MUTUAL—(Close of “The Great Dis- astcr (Chapter No. 6, “The Railroad Disaster”), 2 reel
CAHILL—When Betty Bet (Marie Cahill), 2 C
GAUMONT—Mutual Tours Around the World, Famous French Castles Across the British West Indies, 1 Travo, 05520

Frank Bronson, and Grace Cunardj, I D, 02416
BISON—Casey’s Border Raid (William Ford), 1 D, 02407
POWERS—With the Knndy Elephants (Jimmie Dale), 2 D, 02440
VICTOR—Break the Family Strike (Matt Moore and Jane Gail), 1 C, 02412
IMP—The Gift of the Paird (Rudolph Lonicer and Grace Cunard), 1 C, 02442
VICTOR—The Voice on the Wire (Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber), 2 D, 02425

Paramount Pictures Corporation
Monday, May 14, 1917
BURTON HOLMES—With the Kandy Elephants, 1 Top
BURTON HOLMES—Batavia, the Javanese Capital, 2 D
KLEVER COMEDY—Movement (Victor Moore), 1 C
PICTOGRAPH—No. 68, 1 Mag.

Pathe Exchange, Inc.
Sunday, May 13, 1917
Mystery of the Double Alibi, 2 D, 02413
The Neglected Wife Episode No. 9, “The Woman Alone”, 2 reel.
(Ruth Roland, Corinne Grant, Roland Bottomley and Neil Harlin, 2 D, 02419
Know America, the Land We Love, No. 8 (Central Arizona, Scenic, Combitone), 1 reel.
Florence Rose Fashions, No. 31 (Rose), 1 reel.
Jimmie Dale” Series), 2 D, 02428
Gladys VardenJ, 2C 02430
Bill and the Bearded Lady, 1 C, 02492

Universal Film Company
Week of May 14, 1917
NESTOR—Tours Around the World: Famous French Castles Along the River Loire, Barbadoes—An Island of the Britian West Indies, 1 Top.
GOLD SEAL—The Honor of the Outlaw (Harry Carey and Claire Dufrey), 1 D, 02411

Triangle Pictures
Sunday, May 13, 1917
A Laundry Clean-up, 1 C
His One-Night Stand, 1 C
The Camera Cure, 1 C
Two Troubles, 1 C

Universal Film Company
Week of May 21, 1917
SPECIAL RELEASES
May 19, 1917
SIEM—The Man in the Mirror (J. Gordon, Esq.), 1 C

Vitagraph V-L-S-E
Monday, May 7, 1917
Chinks and Chases (Tom Hulce and Henry Mack), 1 C
Monday, May 14, 1917
Heavy Hugh and Hula Hula (Hughie Mack), 1 C
Monday, May 21, 1917
Gall and Gostaine (Hughie Mack) 1 C

The Latest French Creations (Fash.), 1 reel.
Jerry on the Job—Quimine (C. Carro), 1 C
Korea, So. Pacific, 1 Top.
STATE RIGHTS CURRENT AND COMING

For Manufacturers' Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News

American News Weekly
One reel each week exclusively on Army and Navy activities.

American Standard M. P. Corp.
An American Daydream (J. Fantoni, Sunshine), C. 1 reel
Apr. 8, The Golden Roseway, D. 5 reels
Apr. 14, The Red Antenna, Educational Subject (Sunshine), D. 1 reel
Apr. 21, A Forked Romance (Sunshine), Educational Subject (Sunshine), D. 1 reel
Apr. 28, (Educational Subject), D. 1 reel
May 5, James Jonah Day (Sunshine), C. 1 reel
May 7, When Justice Errs, D. 5 reels
May 12, (Educational Subject), D. 1 reel
May 14, The Daughter of Darkness, Episode No. 1, D. 2 reels
May 19, Ghosts (Sunshine), C. 1 reel

Anti-Vice Film Company
Is Any Girl Safe? 6 reels

Argosy Films, Inc.
The Celebrated Sue Low Case 6 reels
Where I've Got That Stuff 5 reels
Absinthe 6 reels

Arrow Film Corporation
The Denmother (Deedle A Caine) 9 reels

Rex Beach Pictures Co.
The Barrier 7 reels
Cardinal Film Corporation
Joan the Woman (Geraldine Farrar) 11 reels

Charter Features, Inc.
The Lincoln Cycle (Benjamin Chapin), one episode each week, 1 reel

Christie Film Company
Father's Bright Idea 1 reel
With the Mormons' Help 1 reel
The Magic Mail 1 reel
The Milby Way 1 reel
His Last Will 1 reel

Claridge Films, Inc.
The Birth of Character 5 reels
The Heart of New York 3 reels

Clune Productions
Remora 10 reels
Eyes of the World 2 reels

Corona Cinema Company
The Curse of Eve (Enid Markey) 7 reels

Cosmofolofilm Company
Incomparable Miss Courtesie Belleirs 4 reels
Libery Hall 4 reels
The Missing Spot 4 reels
Victoria Cross 4 reels
His Vindication 4 reels

Creative Film Corporation
The Girl Who Didn't Think (June Gall) 6 reels

Dixie Films
Tempest and Sunshine (Evelyn Greely) 5 reels
Just a Song at Twilight 5 reels

 Ebhony Film Corporation
A Natural Born Shooter 1 reel
Dat Blackhand Woman 1 reel
Shine Johnson and the Rabbit's Foot 1 reel

E. I. S. Motion Picture Corp.
Trooper 44 5 reels

Enlightment Corporation
Enlighten Thy Neighbor 5 reels

Eugenic Film Company
Birth 6 reels

European Film Company
Fighting for Verdun 5 reels

Eveline Features, Inc.
Where is My Father? 7 reels

Frieder Film Corporation
The Birds Christmas Carol (Mary Louise) 5 reels

Friedman Enterprises
A Mormon Maid (Mae Murray) 5 reels

Frohman Amusement Corp.
The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Jack Sherrill, Helen Arnold, Marie Sherrill and Baby Cummings) 10 reels
Conquest of Canaan 5 reels

Germanic Official War Films
Germany and Its Armies Today

Gold Medal Photoplays
The Web of Life (Hilda Nord, James Cruze, George Spencer) 5 reels

Grand Feature Film Company
Rex Beach On the Spanish Main 5 reels
Rex Beach in Pirate Haunts 5 reels
Rex Beach on Footsteps of Capt. Kidd 5 reels

Graphic Features
The Woman and the Beast 5 reels
D. W. Griffith
Intolerance 9 reels

Frank Hall Productions, Inc.
The Bar Sinister 9 reels

Hanover Film Company
Maciste 4 reels
How Untamed (U. S.) Features 4 reels

Harper Film Corporation
Civilization 9 reels

Hawk Film Company
Monster of Fate 6 reels

Herald Film Corporation
Around the World in 80 Days 6 reels
Hiller & Wilk, Inc.
The Battle of Gergysburg 5 reels
The Wrath of the Gods 5 reels
Sessue Hayakawa 5 reels

Hippodrome Film Co.
At the Front with the Allies 10 reels
M. H. Hoffman, Inc.
The Sin of Woman 5 reels
The Sin Woman (Irene Fenwick, Clifford Bruce and Reine Davies) 7 reels
Who Killed the Seven Cardinal Virtues 7 reels

Honor System Booking Office
The Honor System (Mitton Sills and Miriam Cooper) 10 reels

Jaxon Film Corporation
Strife (George LeGuere) 5 reels
"Police and Johns" 1 reel each

Juvenile Film Corporation
World War in Kidland 1 reel
A Chip Off the Old Block 1 reel
Chip's Backyard Barn Stomper 2 reels
Chip's Rivals 1 reel
For Sale, a Daddy 1 reel
Chip's Champion 2 reels

Kinetocartoon Corporation
Cartoons, One Each Week
King Bee Comedies

Kuefbeeldes
Germany on the Firing Line 6 reels
France on the Firing Line 6 reels
The Unborn (Bessie Bondhill) 5 reels

Edgar Lewis Productions
The Golden Woman 8 reels

Lincoln Motion Picture Company
The Realization of a Negro's Ambition 2 reels
Troupe of Troup K 3 reels

C. P. M. A. Enterprises
The Wonder City of the Underworld (Greater N. Y. by Day and by Night) 4 reels

Moral Uplift Society of America
It May Be Your Daughter

B. S. Moss M. P. Corporation
The Power of Evil (Margaret Nicholson) 5 reels
The Girl Who Doesn't Know 5 reels
Boots and Saddles 5 reels
In the Hands of the Law 5 reels
One Hour (Sequel to "Three Weeks") 6 reels

Paragon Films
The Whirl 6 reels

Peter Pan Film Corporation
Midnight Frolic 1 reel
Goldie Locks and the Three Bears 1 reel
Jimmy Gets the Pennant 1 reel
In the Jungle 1 reel
Out in the Rain 1 reel
A Trip to the Moon 1 reel
Dolly Dool (Louis Dool) 1 reel
A Kitchen Romance 1 reel

Private Feature Film
— Ignorance (Earl Metcalfe) 6 reels

Radio Film Company
Satan the Destroyer of Humanity 7 reels

Selig Special
Beware of Strangers 7 reels
The Ne'er-Do-Well 7 reels
The Garden of Allah 7 reels
Who Shall Take My Life? 7 reels

Sherriott Pictures Corporation
The Black Stork (Dr. Harry J. Haisel- dean) 5 reels

Sherrin Film Inc.
The Crisis 10 reels

Signet Film Corporation
The Masque of Life 7 reels

Standard Newsfilm, Inc.
Demons of the Air 2 reels
Submarine Film Corporation
The Submarine Eye 2 reels

Donald C. Thompson Film Co.
War at Its Really Worst, Reed Special 6 reels

To-day Feature Film Corp.
To-Day (Florence Red and Frank Mills) 6 reels

Triumph Film Corporation
The Libertine 6 reels

Unity Sales Corporation
The Bishop's Secret 4 reels
The Lottery Man 4 reels
The Marriage Bond 5 reels

Universal Film Mfg. Company
Ile Wives Where My Children Are 5 reels
Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea 10 reels
People vs. John Doe (Harry De Mone) 5 reels
Robinson Crusoe (Robert Leffard and Margarita Fischer) 4 reels
Hell Morgan's Girl 6 reels

Variety Films Corporation
My Country First 6 reels
The Pursuing Vengeance 5 reels
The Price of Her Soul 7 reels

Warner Brothers
Robinson Crusoe (Savage) 5 reels
Are Passions Inherited (Dorothy Farley) 5 reels
Chasing Camelots 6 reels

Edward Warren Productions
The Warfare of the Flesh 7 reels

Lois Weber Productions
Even As You 1 and

Wharton, Inc.
The Great White Trail (Doris Kenyon) 6 reels
Below Zero (Eddie Vogt) Comedy 2 reels
JUST OUT

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
STUDIO DIRECTORY
(THIRD EDITION)

Contains the biography of every actor, actress, director, scenario writer, studio manager and cameraman

50c POSTPAID

IF YOUR LOCAL DEALER IS SOLD OUT, SEND REMITTANCE DIRECT TO
MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Ave., N. Y. City

SMALL OUTSIDE OFFICE
TWO LARGE WINDOWS
RIGHT NEXT TO ELEVATORS

FOR RENT

IN GODFREY BUILDING
729-7TH AVE., NEW YORK

APPLY

MOTION PICTURE NEWS, INC.
729-7TH AVE., NEW YORK
CLASSIFIED

Picture Show only one in City of 4,000. Accommodates 400. Last week cleared $77.00. Per quiet sale $15.00. Write Frank Berg. General Delivery, Rochester, N. Y.

"BERNIE SAYS: "INSTALL "AMERILUX" LENS FILTERS,"" PREP INC. INCLUDING BUSINESS, GETTING SLIDE $ 3.50. W. J. VARNER, 3408 W. 40TH ST., COLUMBUS, OHIO.

Open Chases—5,000 slightly used, excellent condition, 50c up. Shipped crated, subject to inspection. New chases at direct factory prices. Atlas Screen Company, 15 East 49th Street, New York.

FOR SALE—3, 4, 5 and 6 feature projectors in excellent condition with advertising matters. The Big A Film Corp., 145 West 46th St., N. Y. Cty.

TOOLS

Many high class tools are attractively priced in our "Odds and Ends" pamphlet which is mailed free on request.

MONTGOMERY & CO., INC.

STUDIO LIGHTS

Cooper Hewitt Electric Company

EIGHTH & GRAND STREETS,
"HOBOKEN" N. J.

PATRIOTIC SLIDES

Beautifully hand colored. Write for list.

MONTGOMERY & CO., INC.

Your Best Laboratory Insurance

Corcoran Tanks with the Patented Joint

A. J. CORCORAN, Inc.
735 Jersey Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

PICTURE THEATRE BUYERS!

If you are looking for a theatre in Los Angeles, large or small City, Country or Theaters, Correspond with LEO RYAN, 730 S. Olive St., Los Angeles, California.

STAR CARBONS

Write us for descriptive circular and price list.

JONES & CAMMACK
13 Bridge St., New York, N. Y.

ACCESORY NEWS SECTION

DEPARTMENTS

Editorial

Projection (Union Announcement) Slides

The Camera

Music and the Fictional

Building and Furnishing (Directory of New Theatres)

SCREEN EXAMINATIONS

"American Methods" (Fox).

"Candy Girl, The" (Pathe).

"Captain of the Gray Horse Troop, The" (Vitagraph).

"Christian" (Historic Features, Inc.).

"Green Door, The" (O. Henry-Vitagraph).

"Guilty Party, The" (O. Henry-Vitagraph).

"Happiness" (Triangle-1)." (Triangle-Keystone).

Her Torpedoed Love (Triangle-Keystone).

"Herald of Hope" (Educational Film Corp.).

"Hold in the Wall, The" (Pathé).

"Ice Harvest, The" (Pathé).

"Kidnapped" (Conquest Forum Films).

"Land of the Rising Sun, The" (Pathé).

"Marionettes, The" (O. Henry-Vitagraph).

"Monkey Cages" (Educational Films Corp.).

"Moral Courage" (Pathé).

"Neglected Wife, The" (Pathé).

"Official British War Pictures" (Pathe).

"One Law for Both" (Ivan)." (Ivan).

"Royal Romance, The" (Pathé).

"Serenade" (Lasky-Paramount).

"Squad Triumph" (Pathé).

"When Jail Birds Fly" (Pathé).

"Within the Law" (Vitagraph).

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE MAILING LIST SERVICE

We rent lists of or address contemplating or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our last list. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.

80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

Phone, 3227 Chelsea

425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO

Phone, 2003 Randolph

Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

New Improvements of The Motion Picture Camera

Send postpaid. Know how Universal Motion Picture Camera gives Greater Durability, Speed, Accuracy. Light Weight. Results A dozen good advantages. Address—Burke & James, Inc., 240 E. Ontario St., Chicago. Sole Wholesale Agent.

Write for Announcement

PATRIOTIC SLIDES

Novelties and Souvenirs

Write for Samples and List

Novelty Slide Co.

115 East 23rd St. New York

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.

80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

Phone, 3227 Chelsea

425 ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO

Phone, 2003 Randolph

Write for Announcement

PANTHER BURS

Novelties and Souvenirs

Write for Samples and List

Novelty Slide Co.

115 East 23rd St. New York

TransVCR

Automatically supplies only such voltage as are required. No waste of current in ballast.

HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.

W. 144th St., Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A.

Mailing Lists MOVING PICTURE THEATRELIST

Every State—Total 25,009

1400 Film Exchanges $ 4.00

200 Production and Studio Supply Dealers $ 50.00

250 Picture Mechanics Supply Dealers $ 50.00

Parallels.

A. F. WILLIAMS

114 W. Adams St., Chicago
The Improved Model Motiograph

STANDARD OF VALUE AND QUALITY
Made of the very best material and yet reasonably priced.

JUST A FEW OF ITS IMPORTANT POINTS OF MERIT!

Lamphouse—Large, well made and well ventilated.

Arc Lamp—To take 8" lower and 12" upper carbons. Has 4 different adjustments.

Condenser Mount—So arranged that either condenser can be removed separately when desired; one of the latest improvements on the MOTIOGRAPH.

Mechanism—Runs quiet, requires very little attention from operator, projects rock-steady pictures; due to accuracy in manufacturing.

Star and Cam—Accurately ground and run in oil bath.

New Patented Sliding Disc Connection—which has been used in the MOTIOGRAPH for over fifteen months is becoming more popular every day with the users due to its “no wear” qualities and rigidity produced in the framing device. (Hall Arbor used in former models has been discontinued.)

Two Balance Wheels—To insure perfect action and steadiness of picture.

Pedestal—Heavy, designed so as to eliminate vibration.

Magnifier—Made of heavy material, will hold 2000 feet of film.

Motor—1-3 H.P., entirely enclosed. Machine can be purchased with or without motor.

Rheostat—Adjustable, 20 to 55 amperes.

Regular MOTIOGRAPH Lens with each equipment.

Outside Shutter—New used on the MOTIOGRAPH instead of inside shutter as on former models.

Place MOTIOGRAPH projectors in your booth and you will get maximum machine life at minimum cost—Superior Service with supreme projection.

Write for Literature.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO., 568 W. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
Western Office: 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.
Twenty Years in the Carbon Business
An experience of vast proportions

HAVING achieved unparalleled success in the various other carbon products, we were compelled by the enormous demand of exhibitors and operators to also enter into the manufacture of "Speer Projector Carbons."

OUR factory was first devoted to the manufacture of high class cored and solid carbons, the styles with which operators are most familiar. The latest developments also produced the famous "Hold-Ark" negative carbons, which are making tremendous strides in revolutionizing the entire motion picture industry.

In order to produce the best photoplays, high amperages are necessary. The metal coating of the "Hold-Arks" provides the additional carrying capacity and still permits the use of a small carbon in the lower holder.

"Hold-Arks" are also manufactured in several different sizes for all operating conditions on direct current.

Absolute steadiness of arc, the paramount requirement of critical operators is the essential feature of these carbons. The hard core turns the trick.

Exhibitors and operators who desire perfect projection should trim with a Speer cored upper and a "Hold-Ark" lower. A mere trial of this combination will afford proof of this statement.

A beautiful theatre and elaborate equipment, with inferior carbons in your lamp house is like a ship without a rudder. The start may be ideal, but trouble will soon follow.

Why have a light with ghosts and flickering shadows when they can easily be eliminated. Speer Carbons are today recommended by projection experts and indorsed by skilled operators and critical exhibitors as a remedy for these ills.

These carbons, stamped with the well known slogan, "Made in U. S. A.," have taken their place in the foremost ranks of the carbon manufacturers of the world. That they will remain there is evident, as quality alone is the first consideration.

Operators who find their projection inferior to the high standards they desire, should familiarize themselves with Speer Carbons. Results that others have obtained can easily be told, yet first hand facts are invariably the most convincing.

Write today for prices and request that samples be sent.

The Carbons With a Guarantee

SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS PENN'A.
Screen Surfaces

(Continued)

Last week on this page we advocated the making to order of screen surfaces for given conditions in specific theatres. In order to make the reason for this clear it might be well to compare the two screen extremes—FIRST, the highly reflective surface, and, SECOND, the white plaster wall.

Every ray of light which is thrown on a screen is reflected so that the angle of incidence is equal to the angle of reflection. In the diagrams given, this results in the greatest intensity of reflected light falling along the line of vision from a given point “S” to the screen at the point “R,” which reflected ray is the direct reflection of the ray thrown from the projection point “P” to “R.” It is understood that the point “R” is movable as the relations of “P” and “S” are changed, the angles of incidence and reflection being always equal.

Each reflected ray at any point has its definite reflective value which can be plotted in the form of a curve, which in every case shows that the maximum of reflected efficiency falls along the line of vision. These curves are plotted on both diagrams, the difference in the form of curve being due to the difference in character of projection surface used.

For the sake of simplicity we have taken the two screen surface extremes—the white plaster wall and the mirror, the right extreme, “R.” “P” is the lens of the projection machine and “S” is the most extreme seat at the right of the house.

On the MAXIMUM REFLECTING SURFACE we see that the plotted curve value of the light along the lines of vision take the form of a long pencil-like curve, which means that each ray is concentrated and not diffused, so that from “S” the only point on the screen which has any intensity of light is at the point “R.” In looking at the point “C” we find the ray reflected back upon itself, so that the only light value at point “C,” which is effective at “S” is that shown by that portion of the line of vision from “S” to “K” which penetrates the reflective curve from “Y” to “C.” This will be seen to be small. The same condition is found at point “L,” except that the light value is still further reduced as the distance from “X” to “L” is even less than that from “Y” to “C.” From this it can be seen that the highly reflective surface in this broad house (without balcony) is of absolutely no value.

On the WHITE PLASTER SURFACE we find a different condition. Here the reflection curve is like a mushroom. The light when it strikes any point is reflected in every direction, so that its intensity is diffused.

Taking the same theatre conditions as described above we find that from the same seat “S” the light value at “R” is “J” “S,” which is far less than on the highly reflective surface. At “C” the light value as shown by “C,” “Y” is approximately the same as at “R.” At “L,” the light value as shown by “L,” “X” is approximately the same as at “C” and “K.” This proves that in the broad house the light values at all points on the screen are approximately the same from the point “S,” which means that from this point all parts of a picture thrown on the screen are plainly visible, which is not the case with the Maximum Reflecting Surface.

The same principle applies vertically as horizontally, for if the projection is raised so that the angle of incidence is increasingly acute, the intensity of the light on the Maximum Reflecting Surface will be such that from a given seat “S” the only point on the screen which will receive maximum illumination, will be the point “R.”

It is therefore easily seen in the long narrow houses with one floor and perfectly horizontal projection, that a far more brilliant screen can be used than in the square house. On the same basis in the long narrow house when the projection room is elevated, the highly reflective screen cannot be used.

Therefore the screen surface should vary with the house conditions, for by exactly suiting the surface to the conditions, surfaces can be specified which will save the current bills and produce a better picture for the audience.

E. K. Gillett.
EQUIPMENT OPERATING

PROJECTION

By I. G. SHERMAN

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Care of the Projection Machine

A WAY back in the days when motion pictures became recognized as a form of entertainment, the operation of projection machines was shrouded in mystery. Projectors were carefully guarded, so that no layman could find out the means employed to project the picture on the screen. After the show the machines were taken down, packed and locked up, and in some cases even taken home by the operator after each performance. They were then regarded as an expensive piece of mechanism and given the care that expensive mechanism usually receives, such as being kept scrupulously clean and well oiled. As the number of machines and operators increased the mysterious side of the question gradually faded away, and operators, instead of taking special pride in their apparatus, began to look around for machines that were simpler in construction and which would not require any great skill or ability on their part to take care of. The position of the operator became less lucrative, the machines were more easily handled and kept in order, and as less care and knowledge were needed, the usual result took place: operators became careless and in many cases shifted the work of operating on the shoulders of half-grown boys, known as assistants, these assistants very seldom receiving any emolument other than being admitted to the exhibition without buying a ticket. Gradually the market became surfeited with "operators" (?), and what had once been a profession became a laborious one, according to the interest he shows in his work and the care of the apparatus under his control.

A projection machine, if new when first installed, will with reasonable care last for a long time, although in the opinion of the ordinary observer it would be thought that it could last but two years where the machines are subjected to steady grinding, where high-class work should be the rule. This refers particularly to the larger theatres where motion pictures make up the entire program. It will not take any great amount of neglect to impair the excellence of the work by the projection machine, one of the chief complaints—unsatisfactory pictures—being caused by neglect. Cleanliness of the machine, and of the gate in particular, will prevent dirt on the film, and regular cleaning and oiling of the machine will allow the spindles and bearings to retain their good fitting qualities for a long time. A new machine rarely runs quite as well as a machine that has been in use for some time. The spindles and bearings, the gear teeth and other working parts must first be "tuned up," which can be done by several days' use. To hasten this "tuning up" and also prolong the life of the projection machine one should be careful to oil it thoroughly before each day's run, and by wiping off all surplus oil with a clean, soft cloth. At the end of the run, the black, dirty oil that has worked out of the bearings should also be wiped off. This should be continued until the oil runs from the bearings almost clean, and when this is the case the machine will probably be in the best condition it will ever experience, for all grit and dirt in the machine will have been washed out, and the spindles and working parts will have been turned off the minute irregularities which had been unavoidably left by the tool maker, and the fittings of all the parts will not have become loose by the grinding which would have taken place had not the dirty oil containing the fine particles of metal and grit been carefully wiped off. The gate should receive special attention when starting a new machine, especially the tension springs. Although beautifully smooth and highly polished, it is likely the best way to make this adjustment is to start off with the springs too weak, when the picture on the screen will have a large amount of faulty registration up and down, and by gradually increasing the tension the jump will be reduced. This should be continued, testing the machine from time to time till no further improvement is noted. Speed may be increased to 90 per minute, and if there is no un-steadiness to the film then, you will have adjusted the tension springs in the best possible manner. One point to bear in mind is that the friction of the film against the tension springs has a tendency to wear down rapidly, and the springs should be examined quite often to see how far wear has proceeded, and whether the springs by wearing thin and becoming weak are affecting the film. It is thus important to keep both the film sharp and to spoil the quality of the picture. The springs should be replaced by the manufacturer long before the time when they will wear clear through, otherwise the resultant parts of the spring, being of razor sharpness, may shear off the edge of the film, from end to end, ruining the film, and causing danger of fire, because some of this shearing might become ignited by reason of having become lodged in the path of the light.

Birth of the "Anti-Misframe League"

The announcement made in the department a week or so ago that we were to follow the suggestion of "J. C. P., Gary, Ind." in regard to the formation of an "Anti-Misframe League" among operators met with a ready response, as is shown by the following telegram received by an operator for whom I feel a great amount of respect, this man is one of the most sincere "union" men that it has been my pleasure to know, and with the co-operation of such men as he there is no reason why the Anti-Misframe League should not grow and become a power for good in the motion picture industry.

I. G. Sherman, Motion Picture News:

Leading in all other things your paper now leaves a ing for the advancement of the industry. Register me a member of your anti-Misframe League. Letter follows.

W. J. Murray.

Mr. I. G. Sherman,
Motion Picture News,
New York City, N. Y.

Dear Sir and Brother:

I received my copy of the News, date of May 5th, and was certainly well pleased with same; in fact as well pleased with the old stand-by as I am each week on receipt of my copy.

Now I personally think that the suggestion made by "J. C. P.," Gary, Ind., relative to the "Anti-Misframe League" is one of the best suggestions that I have heard in many a long day, and I am pleased to submit my name as a member of such a movement; in fact, I think that any operator who has any interest whatever in his work should become a member of such a movement, and it will be no time at all until the membership of such an army would embody all operators that think anything of the "goose that lays the golden eggs"—the manager. I will say that from my observation throughout the country, the GOOD OPERATOR is the man that is wanted, and I believe that the suggestion of such men as he there is no reason why the Anti-Misframe League should not grow and become a power for good in the motion picture industry.

Freeland, Penna.

W. J. MURRAY.

I. G. Sherman, Motion Picture News:

I have been a quiet reader and subscriber of Motion Picture News for the last two years. I was much interested in your article in the April 28 issue, "Film Destroyers," and especially the part where you mention the misframes. I believe I have more of that to put up with than any other operator in Indiana. (How about this, Scobey—Ed.) Enclosed you will find some patches I removed from a—a movie I ran yesterday. You can plainly see that they are out of frame. How can an operator do such work? Now you will notice there is no dividing line between the pictures on these pieces of film. I find nearly all—pictures to be this way. I always take out all misframes after the first show and have found as many as fourteen misframes in one reel. That means lots of extra work, believe me. They always jump at the beginning of the sub-titles or at the end, and some would-be operators believe if there was a dividing line there it would help a great many operators, and some would-be operators, in making patches, and we would not have so many misframes. Take a film where one scene fades out and the next one in; it will fade out and the film will fade in again out of frame, which would not happen if there was a dividing line; then, too, if there should happen to be a break the average operator will cut and patch without figuring it out, and the result will be—misframe. It seems like it falls to me to fix up all of these kind of patches, and, like a good boy, I do it. I don't have this trouble with other film, so I think it is up to Mr. Scobey to do something, don't you? Well, Brother Sherman, if this is worth anything, use it; if not, I guess your waste-paper basket will hold it. I'll bet you thought you were getting a love letter from some fair one when you saw the envelope of this letter.

Like a Good Boy He Does It

C. E. W., Indiana, writes: "I have been a quiet reader and subscriber of Motion Picture News for the last two years. I was much interested in your article in the April 28 issue, "Film Destroyers," and especially where you mention the misframes. I believe I have more of that to put up with than any other operator in Indiana. (How about this, Scobey—Ed.) Enclosed you will find some patches I removed from a—a movie I ran yesterday. You can plainly see that they are out of frame. How can an operator do such work? Now you will notice there is no dividing line between the pictures on these pieces of film. I find nearly all—pictures to be this way. I always take out all misframes after the first show and have found as many as fourteen misframes in one reel. That means lots of extra work, believe me. They always jump at the beginning of the sub-titles or at the end, and some would-be operators believe if there was a dividing line there it would help a great many operators, and some would-be operators, in making patches, and we would not have so many misframes. Take a film where one scene fades out and the next one in; it will fade out and the film will fade in again out of frame, which would not happen if there was a dividing line; then, too, if there should happen to be a break the average operator will cut and patch without figuring it out, and the result will be—misframe. It seems like it falls to me to fix up all of these kind of patches, and, like a good boy, I do it. I don't have this trouble with other film, so I think it is up to Mr. Scobey to do something, don't you? Well, Brother Sherman, if this is worth anything, use it; if not, I guess your waste-paper basket will hold it. I'll bet you thought you were getting a love letter from some fair one when you saw the envelope of this letter."

In Reply: Shame on you. An operator writing letters on paper bordered with green. The laugh is on you, though, for your "fair ones" don't like old men, and so I knew it couldn't be that kind of a letter. I don't just get the idea of your being a "quiet reader and subscriber." And now that you have broken the quiet I hope that you will become very noisy; that is, let us hear from you often. The patches you enclosed will be sent to the manufacturer in question and we will see what suggestion he will make. It is indeed almost impossible to make a patch with any certainty that it is going to be in frame. The patches you enclosed will be sent to the manufacturer in question and we will see what suggestion he will make. It is indeed almost impossible to make a patch with any certainty that it is going to be in frame. The patches you enclosed will be sent to the manufacturer in question and we will see what suggestion he will make.
Inexpensive, patriotic novelties and souvenirs are being distributed by many exhibitors.

An excellent selection can be had of small silken flags, flag bows, the President's message to Congress, also national anthems in booklet form, flag buttons, etc.

The Novelty Slide Company, 115 East Twenty-third street, is sending samples and their catalogues to all interested exhibitors.

New Pennsylvania Law Regarding Operating Rooms

Governor Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, has in his hands awaiting his signature, the amendments that have been approved by the Legislature to the law regulating motion picture machines and booths. As there was no opposition to the amendments on the part of the law-makers it is thought likely the Governor will give them his approval.

As under the present plan, the new measure places legislation of booths and machines under control of the Department of Labor and Industry. Permanent booths must be fireproof and at least seven feet high. The floor space for one machine must be 6 x 8 feet; for two machines 9 x 8 and for three machines 12 x 8 and so on.

The booths must be constructed of structural steel with four horizontal structural members at top and bottom; four corner uprights, and the members supporting the roof must be of angle iron, 1/2 x 1/2 x 1/4 inches. The uprights must be spaced every two feet and may be made either of angle iron or 2 x 1 inch tee-irons. Joists shall be made of steel plates and all hanger rivets shall be flat head rivets. The frame shall have a doorway six feet high and two feet wide, and the top and sides of the booth shall be of asbestos at least one-quarter inch thick.

All openings where combustibles are exposed must be plugged with asbestos cement. The floor shall consist of boards at least seven-eighths of an inch thick with an upper floor of asbestos at least three-eighths of an inch thick.

It is provided, however, that the booths may be made of concrete, brick or hollow tile. The windows in the booths shall not exceed two for a machine, and the window for the machine shall not be more than six inches high and twelve long. The operator's window shall not be more than four inches wide or more than twelve long. Gravity doors must be furnished for each window.

The door shall be provided with spring hinges and is to be kept closed at all times. Two shelves, two feet long by one foot wide, are permitted in the booth and they shall be of slate, or wood, painted with asbestos paint.

Each film roll must be kept in a separate fireproof metal case, made without solder. Film must be kept in its case when not in the magazine of the machine.

Ventilation is to be provided by fifteen-inch inlets. They shall be three inches from the floor on all sides of the booth. These inlets are to be covered with wire netting. A circular opening, not exceeding twelve inches in diameter, must be provided at the top of the booth, connecting with a vent flue leading to the outside of the building.

Electric wires must be carried into the booths in conduits, and where the house lights are controlled from the booth an emergency control shall be provided near the main exit. The rules and regulations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters shall govern all electric wiring and equipment.

Rheostats shall be mounted and fastened to slate insulators; all machines must be securely fastened to the floor and shall be equipped with automatic shutters. At least one one-quarter fire extinguisher shall be provided for each booth.

The new bill provides for portable booths as follows: Portable booths shall be at least six and one-half feet high and five feet square and shall be permitted for the use of one machine only. The structural part is very similar to that of the permanent booths, except that the covering shall be of approved asbestos cloth. The flooring is to be an asbestos mat.

The fines for violation of any of the provisions of this new measure range from $25 to $200 or imprisonment of from ten to sixty days.

Comment: Reading over the proposed new amendments it is quite evident that the operators’ organizations throughout the

(Continued on page 3187)
UNION ANNOUNCEMENTS

Official Union Slide

At the last convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada, held in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, February 26 to March 2 inclusive, the following recommendation was made for the adoption of a universal slide for motion picture operators locals:

We recommend to the Twenty-third Convention for adoption, that it be compulsory that all M. P. M. O. Locals use the official I. A. T. S. E. slide, said slide to have a small blank space blocked out for register number of members of local unions.

Committee:
- W. H. Weston, No. 170.
- C. B. Koch, No. 228.
- G. S. Harris, No. 164.
- Morey Cohen, No. 110.

Where previously each local union had their own ideas as to what the slide should look like it now becomes imperative that each local union should purchase their slides direct from General Secretary-Treasurer, Frank G. Lemaster, 107 West Forty-sixth street, New York. The illustration shows the official slide of the Motion Picture Operators affiliated with the International Alliance, and was designed by the Excelior Slide Company, of New York City. The I. A. emblem is as before, surrounded by a circle of red. The emblem has a blank space in the center for the local union number and the smaller blank space is for the card number of the member to whom the slide is loaned. Doing away with a superfluity of lettering which was one reason for objection on the part of exhibitors to having the Union Slide shown upon their screen, this slide should find no such difficulty, and it is to be hoped that ere long it will be shown upon every screen in the United States and Canada, where motion pictures are shown.

Local 323, Springfield, Ill.

Beginning May 1, the motion picture operators of Springfield, Ill., will receive an increase of salary amounting to $1.50 per week. Their previous scale was $18.00. The new contract also calls for a reduction in working hours and better sanitary conditions.

306 Growing

The last two meetings of Local 306, Motion Picture Operators of Greater New York, have been unusually large ones, and the number of new applications for membership have fairly swamped the officials of the organization. Over thirty new members have been admitted to membership since April 1.

Your Patrons’ Eyes

The profits of your theatre depend upon your regular patrons—those upon whose attendance you can count for week in and week out.

To build up and hold a regular patronage, you must show pictures that do not strain or tire your patrons’ eyes.

Equip your projector with a Marlux lens and insure clear and sharply defined pictures.

Do not let an inferior lens keep down your box office receipts. Remember the quality of the lens affects every picture you show.

See your Dealer or write direct to

CROWN OPTICAL COMPANY
Rochester, N. Y.
International Projection Association, Inc.

The motion picture employees of the Bronx, desirous of getting together and exchanging ideas, and promoting a spirit of good fellowship among themselves, made application for a charter under the laws of New York State to hold meetings and conduct a club room wherein their members could meet and discuss the many problems with which they are from time to time confronted.

On February 28, 1917, the "International Projection Association, Inc." received their charter. Charter members of the association are: Al Poland, who is also the president of the association; M. Scher, vice-president; Marcus Rattiner, secretary-treasurer; Morris "Jay" Rotker, recording secretary, who was insistent that I should not forget the "J," and Edward Stewart, chairman of the board of trustees.

Club rooms have been secured at 652 Bergen avenue, Bronx, New York, and it is planned to equip these rooms with pool and billiard tables, card tables, reading tables, etc. Lectures are to be given the members from time to time on matters pertaining to projection as well as fraternalism. The initiation fee is small and the dues nominal, and there is no reason why the association should not become a means of great good among those who are employed in the motion picture theatres in that part of Greater New York.

While this association is by no means a "union" organization its members comprise a large number of operators who hold membership in Local 306.

I am in receipt of an invitation to visit the International Projection Association, and will do myself that honor at the earliest opportunity. For the present all I can say is, Good Luck, and may success attend you.

"B" Wins

Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

A claims that if one outside wire of the three-wire system carries 15 amperes and the other 18 amperes, the neutral carries 33 ampere. He claims this for the reason that where he is working the fuse block for house lights is fused with 30 ampere fuse on the neutral, and 15 ampere fuses on each outside wire, and that anything less than 30 amperes will blow at the neutral. He claims that the neutral carries the combined amperage of the two outside wires. B claims that the neutral carries the difference only, that is to say, if one outside wire carries 15 amperes and the other 18 amperes the neutral would carry 3, and if both outside wires carry 15 amperes the neutral would carry nothing. We await your verdict.

Answer: Here it is: B wins. Under the circumstances named if a 30 ampere neutral fuse blows there is something wrong. And I would suggest that you examine all connections and see if one end of a wire is not connected to one of the outside wires back of the fuse block, and the other end connected to the neutral ahead of the block, causing a freak circuit somewhere. It does not seem possible, but it is the only explanation I can think of. Nevertheless B is correct in his diagnosis.

Another Operator, Maybe?

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Rotker, 1022 Stebbins avenue, the Bronx, became gladdened on Thursday, May 3, when an addition was made to the family by the arrival of a 71/2-pound younger, who arrived at 8 P. M. The time of arrival will cause many to predict that he will adopt the profession of operating as a means of livelihood as soon as he is able to secure a license. Morris will propose him for membership in Local 306 as well as the International Projection Association, Inc., as soon as permissible. A suggestion for a name has been made by George C. Edwards, president of 306, and if it meets the approval of the fond parents they have our permission to use it. Call him "Wheeler Walker" Rotker.

Another Battleship Takes Power Machine

One of the large dreadnaughts of the United States Navy bought a Power's Cameragraph, No. 6B, just before putting to sea last week. Installations of Power machines in Post Exchanges, on battleships, etc., continues in a manner most satisfactory to the Nicholas Power Company.

THE ONE PROJECTOR

THAT HAS CONSISTENTLY WITHSTOOD THE TEST OF ALMOST TWENTY YEARS UNIVERSAL SERVICE, SATISFYING EVERY DEMAND OF THE INDUSTRY.

SERVICEABLE - DURABLE - EFFICIENT
POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH
CATALOG D MAILED UPON REQUEST

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY
NINETY GOLD STREET
NEW YORK, N. Y.
Two Sent, Only One Received

THERE is a saying, "The first shall lie last and the last shall be first." This applies to your first edition, which has not put in its appearance yet. Your letter did not give me the idea that you were seeking praise, but you certainly deserve it. Any one that takes the time to remove forty-eight misframes in one subject, let alone the two and three hole patches, is worthy of more than praise. The exchange should pay you for work such as this. I will take up the matter of poor condition, with the exchange you mention and let you know the results later. Why don't you send in some news regarding the progress of your local? Let the rest of the world know what you are doing. Here's hoping that your next will contain much good dope for the benefit of the "boys" throughout the country.

Evansville's Fireproof House

THAT modern conveniences, building improvements and worthwhile motion pictures are sound investments has been eloquently proved by the Evansville, Ind., theatre-goers in the manner in which they respond to the attractions offered by the Novelty theatre, Seventh and Main streets.

Among the number of exclusive features boasted by this popular theatre is the fact that the Novelty is the only absolutely fireproof theatre in the city. Another point believed to have found favor among the patrons is that the Novelty is the only moving picture theatre in Evansville with a five-piece orchestra.

With hundreds of fine, comfortable, wide seats, a cooling system without an equal, one may spend an hour amid varied performances of music and the best feature moving picture productions as is possible in the largest cities of the country.

The Novelty is strictly a union house.

Samuels Back in Town

Mr. M. J. Samuels, vice-president and general manager of the AmericanPhotoplayer Co., has just returned from Lancaster, Pa., where he was a guest of J. George Krupar, manager of the Hamilton theatre. Mr. Krupar has just installed an expensive pipe organ, manufactured by the American Photoplayer Co.

WE ARE SATISFIED TO HAVE YOU JUDGE OUR PRODUCT BY OUR CUSTOMERS

Here are the big film producers using Simplex projectors:

- Artcraft Pictures Corporation
- Biograph Film Company
- Essanay Company
- Fox Film Corporation
- Metro Pictures Corporation
- New York Motion Pictures Corporation
- Paramount Pictures Corporation
- Selanick Pictures
- Triangle Film Corporation
- Work Producing Company (D. W. Griffith)

Representing 90 Percent of the Film Manufacturers

The Preference the above have shown cannot be considered other than

A REMARKABLE TRIBUTE to

Simpler PROJECTORS

The Precision Machine Co., Inc.
317 East 34th St.--New York

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
A Photographic Bibliography
(Continued from last week)

Optics

So important is the application of correct optical theory to the production and projection of motion pictures, that it is desirable to give special attention to this section of the Bibliography. Considerable experimenting has been done upon the optics of cinematographic projection, and some inaccurate and misleading efforts have been made to explain the theory of optical imagery for the benefit of cameramen, but it appears that the various "projection engineers" and "motion picture experts" (so called) have had very little education in the real fundamentals of optical imagery or the nature of light and the action of lenses and optical instruments.

There will in the future be no excuse for the issuance of articles or communications of empirical and misleading nature upon the optical aspects of cinematography or cinematographic projection, because we take the opportunity to place upon record in the Camera Department, for the benefit of all technical workers in the industry, a descriptive list of the basically and historically important works upon the theory of optical instruments and the optics of photography.

We are aware that some of the works here mentioned are of a deeply mathematical nature, and that in order to successfully negotiate them some of the "boiler-maker" projection-engineers and self-styled "film experts" might have to take a course in school, but, nevertheless, the laws of optics and the exact performance of optical instruments are authoritatively treated in the books we mention, and in publishing the subjoined list as part of "The Photographic Bibliography" we believe that we have supplied the motion picture industry with the first correct data upon the optical phases of photography and optical projection.

Although a pretentious array of important works is here described we make no claim to absolute completeness, because the description of certain important volumes is reserved for subsequent bibliographies upon subjects to which such treatises are more relevant.

The following works may be divided, roughly, into two classes, e.g., theoretical optics (treated mathematically) and photographic optics. We shall designate the former of these two categories:

This is one of the classics on the subject of practical lens computation, and its pages reflect the learned mind of Dr. Adolph Steinheil of the celebrated Munchen optical firm which bears his name. In addition to laying down the principles of optical image formation, this work treats in comprehensive manner the actual computation of lens systems (such, for instance, as telescopic or photographic objectives). Considerable space is given to some actual lens computations, a feature of these sample computations being a simplified (although now generally superseded) system of computing marginal rays which do not intersect the lens axis. Steinheil and Voit's treatise is much esteemed by practical lens makers.

This is a large and comprehensive treatise covering the entire field of optics, the various ramifications of the subject being dealt with by upwards of fifteen noted German physicists and optical experts. The feature of the volume is the section on the "Theory of Optical Instruments—According to Abbe," which was prepared by Czapski (see later). In addition to important chapters on photometry, spectroscopy, etc., we can especially commend to optical students the chapters on Refractometry, by Dr. Pulfrich, of Jena. It would be good news to optical manufacturers and students to see certain sections of this work translated into English.

For a comprehensive, accurate and readily understandable treatise covering the entire domain of optics we doubt if Professor Lummer's "Optics" in the ninth edition of the Muller—Pouillet Physics has ever been equaled. The theory of optical instruments is particularly well treated, while photographic lenses are given a masterly exposition.

It is, as has often been remarked, surprising that large portions of Abbe's "Lehrbuch der Physik" have never been translated into English, although his diction is so clear that even an elementary German student can get on with it. The diagrams and illustrations are exceptionally fine and very plentiful, and in this work also some specimen lens computations are given. We could get along fairly well in our optical studies with the aid of Lummer's "Optics" alone, if some one were to take away all our other books upon the subject.

Here, fortunately, is an important German work which has been done into English. As is generally known the introduction of the so-called "Jena Glass," by Abbe and Schott, has made possible the present-day corrections of photographic lenses. Jena Glass is commonly spoken of by all photographers, but very few are acquainted with the nature of its difference from ordinary optical glass. While it is believed by most photographers that Jena Glass is merely a highly refined grade of optical glass, it is, as a matter of fact, not this respect in which Jena Glass differs from other optical glass, but rather the Schott works, where the Jena glasses are made, have succeeded in producing optical glasses having entirely different physical characteristics from the conventional crowns and flints from which "old achromats" were constructed.

In Hovestadt's book these differences are gone into at length, in addition to the true history of the Abbe-Schott researches being chronicled. About 150 pages are devoted to the subject of lens corrections by the use of the Jena glasses, and this subject is well treated—many references to important literature being given. The book is not, however, given over to lenses and optical considerations entirely, for many other characteristics and applications of Jena Glass are treated in other chapters.

The appendices present further interesting data to photographers and optical students, for here is given a copy of the Schott catalog of optical glasses (1902 edition), and in addition some notes on some of the colored varieties of Jena glass which may be used as light filters in color photography.

It is indeed a fortunate circumstance that an English version was prepared by Dr. Hovestadt's work, and no student of photographic optics should neglect to study the text of "Jena Glass."

This translation of Drude's "Lehrbuch Der Optik" falls into two main divisions, e.g., geometrical optics (theory of optical instruments) and physical optics (the nature of light), and is...
mathematical almost from the first page in its treatment of the subjects. On the whole it is fortunate that this work has been translated, for we have found many good points in Drude's exposition of optical theory. The first section, on optical instruments, will prove most useful to the student of lens optics, and in these pages the subject of optical image formation is developed after the fashion of the best authorities and with as much simplification as possible.

Some very interesting considerations upon the Lippmann process of interference color photography are to be found on pages 156 to 158, and while a tolerable training in mathematics is required in order to negotiate Drude's treatise successfully, this English translation is a valuable aid in the negotiation of some other works in German.

24. "GRUNDZUGE DER THEORIE DER OPTISCHEN INSTRUMENTE—NACH ABEE"—BY DR. S. CZAPSKI
2nd Edition—Edited by Von Rohr and Epstein
Publisher—JOHANN A. BARTH, LEIPZIG, 1904
Price $4.00

When Czapski's treatise on optical instruments first appeared (in Winkelmann's Physics), in 1893, it was at once appraised as the master work on optical instruments, and it holds first place, now as then, as the basic treatise on the theory and construction of optical instruments.

The original text has not been altered to any noticeable extent in the succeeding editions, but the edition here mentioned has been improved in the hands of Von Rohr by valuable additions from his own pen and from that of A. König.

However, as it does, first place among the literature on lenses and optical instruments it is surprising that Czapski's "Theory of Optical Instruments" has not been translated. Some other works have endeavored to present the best portions of the Abbe-Czapski doctrines in their English treatise, but we are inclined to think that on the whole their time might have been better employed in rendering parts, or the whole, of Czapski into English. A remarkable work.

25. "A SYSTEM OF APPLIED OPTICS,"
BY H. DENNIS TAYLOR
Publisher—Macmillan & Co., Ltd., London, 1906
Price $10.00

Here is a power in the hands of the student who aspires to a real knowledge of the theory and proper function of lenses and lens systems. The name of H. D. Taylor is sufficient guarantee for a rigorous and efficient treatise, but since Taylor's book has been rightfully designated as the foremost of the English works on optics the following review is in order.

As the basis of his "System of Applied Optics," Taylor has taken the theorems and formulae of Airy and Coddington (Coddington's "Treatise on the Reflection and Refraction of Light" Cambridge, 1829), and expanded and improved upon them in extensive and elegant manner. Although Taylor's work is as prominent an English optical literature as is Czapski's among the German treatises, Taylor has evolved his entire system without recourse to the higher mathematical formulae of the continental opticians, and a tolerable mathematical knowledge will enable one to negotiate this work.

We long ago adopted Taylor as our standard reference on lens problems and data, and we recommend the study of this work by photographers and those interested in the action of lens systems.

26. "OUTLINES OF APPLIED OPTICS,"
BY P. G. NUTTING
Publisher—P. BLAKISTON'S SON & CO.
Philadelphia, 1912.
Price $2.00

This instructive and valuable treatise is a truly American creation and is the work of one of our best optical authorities. Dr. P. G. Nutting is well known for his researches at the United States Bureau of Standards and his present connection with the Kodak Research Laboratory, and he has endeavored in his book to outline the attractions which the scientific student can find in the field of optical work.

A wealth of oft required information upon lenses of all kinds, the correction of aberrations, the eye and vision, color, refractometry, photometry and sensitometry is to be found in Nutting's treatise, a copy of which should be the cherished possession of every photographer.

We believe that the author's description (in chapter XI) of the principles of the H. & D. method of sensitometry has never been...
When we say that Eastman Film is dependably uniform, we are not making a claim but stating a fact. Look for the stencil mark "Eastman" in the film margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

PHOTO CINES NO. 4 CAMERA and TRIPOD
fitted with Zeiss Tessar Lens F3.5—Automatic diaphragm dissolve, single turn and reverse action, film punch, adjustable frame line.

Price $250.00 Complete
SEND FOR COMPLETED CATALOGUE
TOPICAL-PATHE-DEBRIE CAMERAS AND ACCESSORIES
G. GENNERT
24-26 E. 13 St. 320 S. Wabash Ave.
New York Chicago
455 S. Olive St. 593 Mission St.
Los Angeles San Francisco

equalled in clarity and simplicity, while his methods of investigating the resolving power of photographic emulsions (detailed in the same chapter) are also of interest and importance. Scientific photographers as a class are eagerly awaiting the publication of Dr. Nutting's further researches upon photographic resolving power.

A feature of this work is the diagrams, all specially drawn, with which it is illustrated. These in connection with the text make "Outlines of Applied Optics" a work of especial value to the lay student. Some knowledge of mathematics and physics is essential to a thorough appreciation of this treatise.

27. "PRINCIPLES AND METHODS OF GEOMETRICAL OPTICS"
by J. P. C. SOUTHELL
PUBLISHER—THE MACMILLAN CO., NEW YORK, 1913
PRICE $5.50
Here is another American work of high merit, and we mention it here more as a tribute to its compiler than as a recommendation to its perusal by photographers. Southell has endeavored, in the main, to treat in English the theory of optical instruments along the lines followed by continental authorities. The result is an acceptable exposition of the theories and methods of Petzval, Von Seldel, Czapski, Lummer, Abbe and others, and this work will essentially find its adherents among manufacturing opticians. It is evident that Southell's task in compiling his book was a large one, and our only comment is that a section on refractometry would have been desirable in a work of this type.

28. "DAS ZEISSWERK"
by Felix Auerbach
FOURTH EDITION
PUBLISHER—GUSTAV FISCHER, JENA, 1914.
PRICE $1.00
It is always interesting to study the historical development and methods of a large and successful manufacturing concern, and in this fascinating volume is presented the story of the world-famous Carl Zeiss optical works at Jena, Germany. The author, Dr. Auerbach of the University of Jena, is well qualified to prepare such a work as he is an accomplished physicist and was for years in intimate touch with Abbe, Czapski, Schott, Zeiss and others identified with the Zeiss works. Although not much data of a technical nature would be expected in a book of this type, there is, in fact, considerable information of value to the optical student. The illustrations are exceptionally fine and very plentiful in Auerbach's book, and the frontispiece is a portrait of Dr. Ernst Abbe in photogravure. Were it not for the fact that this work is in the nature of advertising the book would doubtless cost several dollars more than the price mentioned.

(To be continued next week)

Valuable Camera Publication

THE D. Van Nostrand Company, of 25 Park Place, New York City, have just put on the market Luckiesh's book, entitled "Light and Shade." This book is of particular value to cameramen and it gives very valuable information on the application of light effects in photography.

This book retails for $2.50 and should be in the library of every motion picture producing company, as well as in the library of every individual cameraman, as there are practical and scientific helps given which will materially help both the amateur and professional cameraman.

Eastman Fire Protection Book

EXPERIMENTS have just been completed by the Eastman Kodak Company on the storage and handling of motion picture film. These experiments have extended over a period of more than a year, and are as complete a combination of facts on this subject as can be found anywhere. These facts have been carefully edited in a book issued by the Eastman Kodak Company under the title of "Suggestions on Fire Protection." It is well worth the attention of every motion picture film executive in the country.

SUPERIOR TITLES
Clear, Clean and Brilliant.
Eastman stock.
Wording Perfectly Balanced. With or Without Borders.
ROTHACKER FILM MFG. CO.
1339-51 Diversey Parkway Chicago, U. S. A.
Popular Music for Pictures

Harleton, Pa., March 14, 1917.

Editor Music Department:

I have read with much interest the letter of Mr. G. Pinkerton, criticizing my view of playing pictures, published in your issue of March 17. Allow me to say before answering his criticisms, that my reply is written in the same friendly spirit in which he declared himself.

However, I am forced to believe from the way Mr. Pinkerton writes that he belongs to that class of musicians, who are not "born with music in their souls," but who have by long and diligent study acquired a good knowledge of the fundamentals of music, and not having what we are usually pleased to call "musical souls," can only fully appreciate the mechanical side of the art of music, that is, they delight in compositions that give them an opportunity to display wonderful technique. This class of musicians have unfortunately gotten into the habit of calling "popular music" "trash."

I could never be convinced that popular music is trash. To show Mr. Pinkerton that he is wrong in his supposition that organists who play popular music lack a real musical soul will say that my library contains some 5,000 compositions, and mostly consists of standard music by recognized authors. I have all of the compositions named in his letter. It has taken me ten years to accumulate my library. I play the classics, and thoroughly enjoy them. But we are not discussing personal taste. The subject is "What do the audiences appreciate most, in the interpreting of motion pictures with music?"

My contention is that the type of picture show decides the kind of music. If a western picture is on and a number of the proverbial "western dance-hall" scenes are shown, I would like to ask Mr. Pinkerton what classic he would use in playing that part of the picture. If popular music is cheap and "trashy" then it should never be used. But how would Mr. Pinkerton play the Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle Picture, "The Quest of Life," with "To a Wild Rose" and "To a Water Lily" or any other classical piece of music? The picture is full of fox trots, one step and Waltzes. If he didn't play popular music with such a picture what would he play? This is only one instance, I could name a million.

It is the duty of the organist to fit his music to the picture or, as D. W. Griffiths says, he must "create the proper atmosphere." In doing this I must insist that an organist must play popular music. Mr. Pinkerton should remember that a picture audience is usually widely different from a good opera audience. If he adheres strictly to classics and ignores the "trash" his "atmosphere" won't help the picture any.

Yours very truly,

Harold Price

Coulaf Thanked by Navy

Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, has wired Joseph F. Coufal, the head of the Novelty Slide Company of New York, thanking him for his patriotic offer of the use of their slide manufacturing plant.

The Naval Publicity Bureau has accepted the offer and the Novelty Slide Plant is now partly devoted to Government work.

THE WOMEN AND THE BEAST

(Reviewed on page 304)

"On Wings of Love" (4/4 Andante Sustenuto) by Bendix is the Love Theme

1— "Cerentime Overture" by Ziegler (note—first movement only)
2— "A Religious Song" (2/4 Andante Moderato) by Dedicat until—T: "Good morning, you bum.
3— "Good Processional March" until—T: "Rose is a Widow, etc.
4— "Processional March" until—T: "Flashback to Procession.
5— "Processional March" until—T: "Big Frink is the one.
6— "Swan Pond Song," A Melodic Sentiment (2/4 Andante) by Langry until—T: "Will you listen to my music?"
7— "Marie Marie," Neapolitan Song by Di Capua Note as a Vocal Solo with Guitar accompaniment until—T: "You are welcome, my son.
8— "Venetian Serenade" by Kretschmer until—T: "Before many weeks.
9— "Love Theme until—T: "The Following Day.
10— "Dramatic Tension No. 1" by Reissinger until—S: "John near death.
11— "Suvata Intermezzo" (2/4 Moderato) by Lorane until—T: "Would you love me always?
12— "Love Theme until—T: "The next Day.
13— "Dramatic Tension No. 1" by Ascari until—T: "So amid great festivities.
14— "Credo" from the "St. Cecile Mass" by Gounod until—T: "You are welcome, my son.
15— "Dramatic Tension" by Winkler until—T: "If you were only a man like him.
16— "Love Theme until—T: "Whenever John is called away.
17— "Dolorosa, Poeme D'Amour" (4/4 Moderato) by Tornini until—T: "So you bought it for Mr. Gray.
18— "Good Agitato" until—S: "Little girl near Animal Cage.
19— "Good Agitato" until—S: "Little girl near Animal Cage.
20— "Good Agitato" until—S: "Little girl near Animal Cage.
21— "Cansoneotta" (2/4 Allegretto) by Godard until—T: "Keep out of here, you bum.
22— "Dramatic Overture" by Schubert until—T: "Stand back, you fellows.
23— "Continue if until—S: "After the fight.
24— "Adoration" (4/4 Andante Moderato) by Barnini until—S: "Lion escapes.
25— "Adoration" (4/4 Andante Moderato) by Barnini until—S: "Lion escapes.
26— "The Lion Chase" (Grand Galop) by Koeiling until—S: "Boy Fishing.
27— "Silver Brook" Waltz by Brahms until—S: "Flashback to hunting Lion.
28— "Olympia" (Dramatic Overture) by Ascher to action pp or ff until—S: "Child is carried into the house.
29— "Broken Melody" (Dramatic) by A. Van Biene until—T: "Oh so you have not seen your Canary.
30— "Rustles of Spring" (Dramatic Agitato) by Sinding until—T: "We have not seen your Canary.
31— "Prelude" (Dramatic Letter) by Rachmaninoff until—T: "The next day.
32— "L'Aide" (12/8 Dramatic Andante) by Pavarger until—T: "I'm proud of you.
33— "Love Theme until—S: "The Saints be
THE BARTOLA ORCHESTRAL STOPS WILL MAKE YOUR PIPE ORGAN UP TO DATE LOW IN COST

ORGAN AND ORCHESTRAL WITH ONE PLAYER

Organ and Orchestral Instruments and Effects Combined with any Pipe Organ

Write for Particulars Today

Add 100% to Your Music

BARTOLA MUSICAL INSTRUMENT CO.
CHAS. C. PYLE, Gen. Sales Agent.
707-712 Malls Bldg., Chicago
FACTORY, OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN

LA CINE GAZZETTA
the most important weekly publication of the Italian cinema industry.
13-16 pages
In two colours; large size.
Subscription abroad: 20 frs yearly.

CINEMA YEARLY DIRECTORY
Complete guide to the cinema industry and commerce both in Italy and abroad. World wide circulation—20,000 addresses—500 illustrations. Contains all legal and business informations about the cinema trade. Big volume of 1000 pages, handsomely bound in cloth. Price: 10 frs.

PUBLISHERS:
UGO LETTI CO.
Via Boccaccio, 8-ROMA (Italy)

"AMERICAN METHODS" (Fox Special Release)
(Reviewed on page 3163)
American Method Theme—American Comedy—Overture by Puerger. Love Theme Revery (4/4 Lento) by Riesland.
1— "Prelude" (Waltz Intermezzo) by Macmillan until—T: "The former home of the Armstrong Family."
2— "The Intermezzo Francese" by Hammer until—T: "The Aristocracy of Point Avenue."
3— "Valse Poemee" by Poppie until—T: "The newly rich family of the next Estate."
4— "Beau Brummel" (Valse) by Bendix until—T: "The American Invasion."
5— "American Method Theme" until—T: "Where are the Iron Works?"
6— "Among the Lilies" (4/4 Moderato) by Frey until—T: "When would the bees call?"
7— Continue to action until—T: "Same results of the American Methods."
8— "American Method Theme" (Watch Steam Whistle—tis an important effect) until—T: "I would be remiss, etc."
9— "Dramatic Tension No. 1." by Archer until—T: "You did not kill him."
10— Continue pp until—T: "He must be handled with tact."
11— "Moon Moths" (Melodies) by Kuesnner until—T: "Thursday another American Invasion."
12— "American Method Theme" to allegro Movement only—if too short, continue with:
13— "A La Bien Amie" (Valse Lente) by Schuett until—T: "In Paris."
14— Continue to action until—T: "The hurt of wounded pride."
15— "It was a Dream" (9/8 Andante Sostenuto) by Lassen until—S: "Farnum in a close-up with part of crowd near window."
16— "Love Theme" until—T: "With the knife ready to thrust."
17— "L’Adieu" (12/8 Andante) by Fugger until—T: "You have done me the honor, etc."
18— Repeat "Love Theme" until—T: "May I introduce my Fiancee."
19— Continue to action until—T: "The wedding of the Ironmen."
20—Organ solo to action until—T: "Village Scene—Carriage and horses."
21— "American Method Theme." Note—About first 16 bass fl—then pp until—T: "At the beginning of part of crowd near window."
22— "Romance from "Concerto No. 2" by Weiniabski (12/8 Andante non troppo) until—T: "Don't touch me."
23— Continue "ff" until—T: "Morning the delirium hysteria."
24— "Love Theme" by Herzberg begin fl then to action until—T: "Shortly afterward the De Bligny, etc."
25— "Gavotta" (6/8 Andante tranquillo) by Schuett until—T: "How dare you kiss me?"
26— "ff" until—S: "In the garden."
27— "In a Garden of Melody" (4/4 Allegretto) by Sudds until—T: "I have greatly changed."
28— "Em Mæreten" (4/4 Maestoso) Fantasia by Bach until—T: "Oh, I know these mercenary Americans."
29— Continue "ff" until—T: "I was blind, selfish, etc."
30— Continue to action "pp" until—T: "The Battle of Love."
31— "Love Theme" until—T: "Betty's Surprise Party."
32— "Velvet of the Rose" (Waltz) by Baradarn until—S: "De Bligny kisses Farnum's wife."
33— "Herodiade Fantasia" (Dramatic) by Massenet until—T: "So you still carry on."
34— Continue "ff" until—T: "Leave my home."
35— "ff" or "Tremoto" if possible until—S: "Farnum in a close-up with girl in park on bench."
36— Silence until—T: "My wife's request is law."
37— "French Agitato" to action until—T: "With the duel arranged."
38— Repeat "Herodiade Fantasia" by Massenet. Note: Begin with letter "B" until—T: "My willfulness, my pride—are all swept.
39— Continue "ff" and to action until—T: "Promise you won't fight that duel."
40— "Love Theme" until—S: "De Bligny loading pistol."
41— "Crede" from St. Cecilia Mass (Dramatic) by Gounod to action until—S: "De Bligny struggling with woman."
42— "French Agitato" to action until—T: "Betty's surprise Party."
43— Silence until—T: "I should kill you now."
44— "Agitato" pp until—T: "The shot."
45— Produce effect continued by
46— "Same Agitato" if until—T: "No, I have not killed him."
47— Continue "pp" until—S: "Farnum and his wife."
48— "Love Theme until—END."

THE BARTOLA
Simplicity of operation with beautiful tone production.
CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 707-712 Malls Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Factory Oshkosh, Wis.

For Better Music
THE FOTOPAYER
42 West 45th Street
AMERICAN PHOTO PLAYER CO.
New York City

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
"ROYAL ROMANCE" (Fox Production) (Reviewed on page 360)

"Nocturne in C Minor" (2/4 Moderato by Krz延ewsky is the Theme

1— "Pamela" (6/8 Andantino) from the English Suite by Bendix until— T: "In the neighboring Kingdom."
2— Dramatic Maestoso No. 3" by Ascher until— T: "At the same hour.
3— "Intemperanza" by Pierino (3/4 Allegro) until— T: "The Emperor's annual visit at the Monte Carlo.
4— "Chant du Voyageur" (Melodie) by Paderewski until— T: "A message from the Prime Minister.
5— Theme by Moszkowski (6/8 Andantino tranquillo) until— T: "While at the capital of America.
6— "Mysterioso No. 28" by Lake until— T: "An unromantic beginning for a romance.
7— "Serenade Mignonne" (4/8 Allegro) by Groendahl until— S: "Young lion in view.
8— "La Chasse" (Hunting Song) from the Seasons by Tschaikowsky until— T: "And in return she should be rewarded."
9— "Very short organ to action until— T: "Hunting the big game."
10— Continue "La Chasse" until— T: "Help! Help!"

11— "Love Theme" begin— then to action until— T: "We have discovered a plot against the Emperor."
12— "Very short Mysterioso until— Flashback to interior scene of Inn.
13— "Love in Idleness" (4/4 Allegro Moderato) by Macbeth— watch shot until— T: "Isn't it odd, Max, how much, etc.
14— "Whispering Flowers" (Characteristic) by Blan until— T: "In heaven's name, where did you find that?"
15— "Cupid's Prince" (4/4 Allegro Moderato) by Stahl until— T: "Moonlight music love, etc.
16— "Piano solo— improvisation to action until— T: "Mother, let's sing their National Air."
17— Vocal solo and piano— NOTE— As no particular air can be played for this purpose, suggest that the Piano Player improvises on some Maestoso until— Exterior Scene.
18— "Theme" until— T: "At the Capital."
19— "Nina" (2/4 Allegro) by Von der Mehden until— S: "Guards walking up and down.
20— "Maximilian Overture" by Ascher, first movement only, repeat— necessary until— S: "Guard attempts to murder the Emperor."
21— "Cymbal and Tympany Roll— followed by—"
22— "Organ to action" until— T: "An hour of triumph."
23— "Theme" until— T: "Have we discovered a plot against the Emperor."
24— "Adagio Patetique" by Gogard until— T: "Gerald arrives to represent, etc.
25— Continue to action until— T: "I have evidence, etc.
26— Continue "Tympany Rolls during exciting scene until— T: "The Prime Minister receives a letter.
27— "Vesicae of Love" (6/8 andro Allegro) can effect— by Liszt until— T: "Look your Majesty."
28— "Silence until— T: "I fear we inside."
29— "Theme until— END.

"THE BIRTH OF PATRIOTISM" (Butterfly Pictures) (Reviewed on page 360)

"Nocturne in F" (Andantino) by Krz延ewsky is the Theme

1— "Ye Old English Waltz" by Tobani until— T: "The Private Bar, etc.
2— "Violette" by Tobani until— S: "Woman fighting.
3— "Agitato" to action until— T: "Mary Holmes."
4— "Very short organ to action until— S: "Interior of office.
5— "Melody" (4/4 Moderato) by Kretschmer until— S: "Interior of Barracks.
6— "English Patriotic Air" until— T: "Flashback to Office."
7— "Melody" (Moderato) by Trinkeus until— T: "After the Ceremony."
8— "Organ to action" (SOL0) until— T: "Their New Home."
9— "Intermezzo" (3/4 Allegro) by Pierre until— T: "Sam Peters, a coster."
10— "Ye Old, England Waltz" by Tobani until— T: "The first shadow of War."
11— "Dramatic Tension" by Reinsiger until— T: "In the early days."
12— "Doloroso" (4/4 Allegro Moderato) by Tobani until— T: "As I say."
13— "Fantasia" (4/4 Maestoso) by Bach until— T: "It's a long way.
14— "It's a long, long time to Tipperary" song until— T: "You looked right, etc.
15— "Theme" until— T: "You can sleep here."
16— "Dramatic Tension" by Puccini until— T: "Aimlessly wandering, etc.
17— "Intermezzo" (4/4 Moderato) by Barnard until— T: "War!"
18— "Battle Hurray" to action until— T: "In the weeks that followed."
19— "Theme" until— T: "The first partial list."
20— "English Patriotic Air" until— T: "Winter was here."
21— "Amore" (Dramatic) by Rhythm until— S: "Soldiers leaving."
22— "It's a long, long way to Tipperary" until— T: "Ann's home."
23— "Theme" until— T: "A baby, a blessed baby."
24— "Battle Hurray" until— T: "The counter attack."
25— "Battle Hurray" to action until— T: "Night on the battlefield."
26— "Pathetic Andante" by Magris Berger until— T: "The Compact of Home."
27— "Baby Sweetheart" (6/8 Allegro) by Corri until— T: "The Aftermath."
29— "From Longing" (Andante) by Bendix until— T: "During Ann's convalescence."
30— "Piano solo to action until— T: "Interior of salon."
31— "Good" (4/4 Moderato) until— T: "Out of the night."
32— "Dawn of hope" (Andante) by Cassia until— T: "Did you want anybody?"
33— "Theme until— END.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
Attractive Indiana Theatre

The Virgin Theatre Corporation, which owns and operates the Virgin theatre at Oakland City, Ind., has a house noted for its simplicity in construction and attractiveness. Robert B. Crow, of Columbus, Ind., was the architect who was responsible for the plans and specifications of the structure, which was completed during 1916. The theatre has a frontage of 34 feet 8 inches and a depth of 145 feet. It is constructed of concrete and brick.

The front is of Oriental rug brick with white stone trimmings. Two display frames which are enclosed in glass have been built into the front wall on either side of the entrance to the lobby.

The lobby, in the center, is finished in rug brick. It measures 10 feet by 12 feet. The box-office is centered between the two doors leading into the theatre proper. The semi-indirect lighting system is used in the lobby, the fixture being of the opalescent bowl chain suspended type. Several display frames on easels and some which have been fastened to the wall add a great deal to the attractiveness of the exterior of the theatre.

The interior is neatly decorated and has a seating capacity of 500, comfortable opera chairs having been furnished by the American Seating Company. Steam heat and indirect lighting systems are used here.

The projection booth, which is constructed of metal and concrete, contains two Power's 6B projectors and a Fort Wayne Compensator. The length of throw is 65 feet on the main floor and 250 on the balcony. Heywood Brothers and Wakefield furnished the opera chairs. The indirect lighting system was installed exclusively. The theatre is heated by steam and a blower ventilating system with mushroom ventilators in the floor is used.

The music for the picture is furnished by a Chickering Concert Grand Piano and a Wicks Pipe Organ.

Triangle, World, Vitagraph and Art Drama features are shown at this theatre. There are three performances daily, consisting of six reels each. Admission price is ten cents for both matinee and evening performances.

The building measures 36 feet in width by 100 feet in depth and is constructed of concrete block and brick, making it absolutely fireproof.

The house is heated by steam used in connection with electric forced draft ventilating system. This system serves the same purpose as a more expensive outfit, and keeps the theatre well heated and ventilated at all times. The semi-indirect electric lighting system is used.

The projector room, in charge of Albert Bright, is equipped with two Power's 6B projectors used in conjunction with a Fort Wayne motor generator set. An F. J. Rembusch Mirror screen has been installed. The length of throw is 117 feet.

The Strand theatre, situated on South Harrison street in Shelbyville, Indiana, is owned by W. C. Meloy and operated under the management of P. H. and J. B. Meloy. Plans and specifications for the theatre were drawn up by Haagland and VanMeter, architects, with offices in Indianapolis, Indiana. The theatre is constructed of concrete, steel and brick, measures 40 feet in width by 139 feet in depth. The building was completed in 1916.

The lobby is 30 feet in width by 14 feet in depth. Display fixtures were furnished by the Newman Manufacturing Company of Cincinnati. The box-office contains a National Cash Register Ticket Selling Machine. The interior of the theatre is beautifully decorated in Tiffany sky blue, with floral decorations in the panels.

The theatre has a seating capacity of 500; there are 550 seats on the main floor and 250 on the balcony. Heywood Brothers and Wakefield furnished the opera chairs. The indirect lighting system is used exclusively. The theatre is heated by steam and a blower ventilating system with mushroom ventilators in the floor is used.

The projection room, in charge of Albert Bright, is equipped with two Power's 6B projectors used in conjunction with a Fort Wayne motor generator set. An F. J. Rembusch Mirror screen has been installed. The length of throw is 117 feet.

The music for the picture is furnished by a Chickering Concert Grand Piano and a Wicks Pipe Organ.

Triangle, World, Vitagraph and Art Drama features are shown at this theatre. There are three performances daily, consisting of six reels each. Admission price is ten cents for both matinee and evening performances.

The theatre is located in the business district of the city and advertises extensively in the daily newspapers, on billboards and by distributing heralds and programs.

"War Brides" had a successful run at this house, and many of the stars, such as Alice Brady, Clara Kimball Young, Douglas Fairbanks, Anita Stewart, Norma Talmadge, Ethel Clayton, Carlyle Blackwell, Frank Keenan and William S. Hart have large followings here.

The theatre was completed in 1912; the plans and specifications were drawn up by J. A. Bruck of that city.

The building measures 36 feet in width by 100 feet in depth and is constructed of concrete block and brick, making it absolutely fireproof.

The lobby measures 12 feet by 30 feet, is neatly decorated, and contains several brass display frames taking one and three sheet posters.

The interior of the theatre has a seating capacity of 411, is plainly but attractively decorated. The seating capacity of the main floor is 356, the balance being balcony seats.

The house is heated by steam used in connection with electric forced draft ventilating system. This system serves the same purpose as a more expensive outfit, and keeps the theatre well heated and ventilated at all times. The semi-indirect electric lighting system is used.

Indiana Theatres

The Kentland theatre, of Kentland, Indiana, located in the heart of the business district, is owned and operated by R. A. Shobe.

The theatre was completed in 1912; the plans and specifications were drawn up by J. A. Bruck of that city.

The building measures 36 feet in width by 100 feet in depth and is constructed of concrete block and brick, making it absolutely fireproof.

The lobby measures 12 feet by 30 feet, is neatly decorated, and contains several brass display frames taking one and three sheet posters.

The interior of the theatre has a seating capacity of 411, is plainly but attractively decorated. The seating capacity of the main floor is 356, the balance being balcony seats.

The house is heated by steam used in connection with electric forced draft ventilating system. This system serves the same purpose as a more expensive outfit, and keeps the theatre well heated and ventilated at all times. The semi-indirect electric lighting system is used.

The Strand theatre, situated on South Harrison street in Shelbyville, Indiana, is owned by W. C. Meloy and operated under the management of P. H. and J. B. Meloy. Plans and specifications for the theatre were drawn up by Haagland and VanMeter, architects, with offices in Indianapolis, Indiana. The theatre is constructed of concrete, steel and brick, measures 40 feet in width by 139 feet in depth. The building was completed in 1916.
New Pennsylvania Law
(Continued from page 3176)

State of Pennsylvania have been caught napping; otherwise this joker could not have been slipped over on us. Dissecting it by paragraphs we will pass over the first and second which are all right in their way, and take up the third. "It is provided, however, that the booths may be of concrete, brick, or hollow tile." There can be no cry now that the manufacturers of booths have a monopoly on the situation in Pennsylvania. And surely a concrete, brick, or hollow tile operating room is as absolutely fireproof as any booth constructed of asbestos. Another thing in the favor of boilers of brick construction is that they eliminate all objectionable sound and noise which emanate from an asbestos booth to the distraction of that portion of the audienco seated in close proximity. The second and third sentences in the third paragraph prove by their utter ridiculousness that a practical operator had nothing to do with making any suggestions to the honorable law-makers, for, if he had the words
"shall not be more" would have read "shall not be less." The size of ports must be regulated according to prevailing conditions in the theatre itself, and if gravity doors must be furnished for each port we cannot see where there can be any objection to a port twice as large as that mentioned. From practical experience the writer does not believe that good results can be obtained upon the screen when one is forced to gaze through a slit four inches in width. But perhaps the honorable members of the Legislature care nothing about "good results on the screen," or it may be they are to make another amendment requiring the pres-cence of two men in the operating room at all times. If so we withdraw our objections to the four-inch ports. If not then they should be made at least not less than twelve inches square.
The gravity doors will offer as much protection to the larger as to the smaller openings.

In the fourth paragraph we cannot see why it is not as practical to use metal shelves as well as those of slate or wood; they are surely cheaper than the former and certainly more fireproof than the latter.

The fifth paragraph is a safety first measure, and we have nothing against it, but would call attention to the fact that no consideration is given to the rewinding of films.

The sixth paragraph shows that whoever sponsored the bill gave very little thought concerning the health of the operator; for if he had the clause reading "a circular opening, not exceeding twelve inches in diameter must be provided at the top of the booth," would have read a circular opening, not less. The larger the opening, provided it leads direct to the open air, the sooner would smoke be carried away should a film fire occur, and the more fresh air would be furnished the operator when everything was running smoothly. An adequate vent flue in conjunction with the proposed inlets will insure an ever changing current of air in the operating room at all times, but the Lord knows, in an operating room with three machines in operation during the months of July and August a vent "not exceeding" twelve inches in diameter will never carry off the intense heat generated fast enough to allow the operator to wear a boiled shirt and a starched collar.

We can only comment on the seventh paragraph by saying we think that a fire extinguisher should be located near each machine used, in easy reach of the operator.

The portable booths are of ample size for the use required of them.

The fines for violation are just, but we sincerely hope if any further amendments are to be made the legislators will ask for suggestions from some official of the many operators' unions throughout the State of Pennsylvania.
Give Your Patrons the Habit of coming to your theatre for

Good Advertising at Low Cost

[D] Program that Pulls

Star Portrait Card-Programs

[Here is a program with which you can hold the interest of your patrons week in and week out. Get them into the habit of looking for you pictures of the leading stars in filmland. Let them start using these Star Portrait Cards and watch your house fill up every night. Send for list of 52 stores and prices. Cards are post-card size, beautifully printed in process colors. They come with plain, unprompted backs unless your order calls for printing. We will be glad to print them for you or your local printer can do it. Also ask us about our De Luxe Programs, FREE Advertising Service and other novelties such as Movie Star Hugs and Buttons.]

Cahill Igoe Co., 117 W. Harrison St., Chicago

LOBBY DISPLAY FRAME SPECIALISTS

MENGER & RING, Inc.

NEW YORK: 36 W. 42nd St.

ATLANTA, GA:

Southern Theatre Equipment Co.

JUST OUT

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

STUDIO DIRECTORY

THIRD EDITION

Contains the biography of every actor, actress, director, scenario writer, studio manager and cameraman.

50c Postpaid

If Your Local Dealer Is Sold Out, Send Remittance Direct to

MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 7th Ave., New York City

DIRECTORY OF NEW THEATRES

ALABAMA

The old Bijou theatre at Birmingham has been completely and thoroughly remodeled. The whole front of the theatre will be of a freshened aspect opened recently to capacity business.

The Bijou has been newly painted and全新的, and the rest of the theatre has been entirely remodeled. The theatre is now ready for business.

ILLINOIS

Workmen are busy excavating prior to the erection of a modern picture theatre on Main street. The Wyatt-Hotelcon is behind the project, and it is intended to construct a thoroughly modern building.

Last St. Louis is to have another theatre. The plans have been drawn by Architect George E. Feilchen and the bids for its erection will be opened next week, and the contract awarded Monday. Maurice V. Joyce is building the theatre, which has already been leased at a term of 9 years.

A new theatre will be constructed in the nearby neighborhood. The plans have been drawn by Architect E. H. Broun, who has the construction contract, and the work will be done as rapidly as possible.

The building is the property of E. H. Broun who has been a leading part in the business. The work will be done by the Middleway Building Company, and the theatre will be a modern structure.

ILLINOIS

In the vicinity of the new theatre on Main street, a large and substantial building will be erected for a theatre.

The building will be of the latest design, and will be equipped with all modern conveniences. The plans have been drawn by Architect George E. Feilchen, and the bids for its erection will be opened next week, and the contract awarded Monday.

A new theatre will be constructed in the vicinity of the new theatre on Main street. The plans have been drawn by Architect George E. Feilchen, and the bids for its erection will be opened next week, and the contract awarded Monday.

INDIANA

An effort is being made to organize a moving picture theatre company here to erect a building on the lot at the southwest corner of Mulberry and Charles streets. The building will be of the latest design, and will be equipped with all modern conveniences. The plans have been drawn by Architect George E. Feilchen, and the bids for its erection will be opened next week, and the contract awarded Monday.

A new theatre will be constructed in the vicinity of the new theatre on Main street. The plans have been drawn by Architect George E. Feilchen, and the bids for its erection will be opened next week, and the contract awarded Monday.

TEXAS

Plans are being made for the construction of a $250,000 building for the Majestic theatre at Dallas, Texas. An option for a site has already been purchased. The Majestic theatre will be one of the largest and most modern in the state.

The plans for the new theatre are being promoted by Karl Holzbrotte of the Interstate Amusement Company.
The Speed That Counts

The typist who has a variety of work needs every possible convenience. She may have to write letters, telegrams, checks, labels, cut stencils, address envelopes, fill out index cards, make out invoices—all in the same day, on the same machine.

The typewriter that enables her to do this in the shortest time must have certain mechanical conveniences for quickly changing from one class of work to another.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

is constructed to give results. It enables the operator to do more work and a greater variety of work.

Send for free catalog of the "Silent Smith," describing our Model B, in which 50 to 75 per cent of the ordinary typewriter noise is eliminated.

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter Company
311 Broadway New York City
Factory and Home Office: Syracuse, N. Y.
Branches in all Principal Cities

Brought 49,000 Cash Patrons Into This Live Man's Place

EXHIBITORS—Take Notice!

YOU can do what W. O. Hopkins, of the Evansville, Ind., Terminal Station, did, by fitting with a Butler-Kist Pop Corn Machine.

He started March 17th that he had kept account of the number of sales of Butler-Kist Pop Corn Machines made in the year 1916, by a tabulation of his register. He has just a little stand there, and his Pop Corn Machine sold 23,015 people in 1916. He said he would go on operating that machine if he lost money doing it. Yet in his estimation, anything that would bring 49,000 people into life shop was worth while even if operated at a loss. His sales of Ladies' Home Journal, for example, jumped from 6 month to 80 after the Butler-Kist Machine began to operate. His sales of Popular Mechanics jumped from about 20 a month to 75. His sales of bottles drinks increased. And the profit on Butler-Kist itself is over 20 per cent. As he states, he has no ornamental. He says he just used a little brain work, and he believes that anybody ought to be able for not only make big money out of the Pop Corn Machine, but make it a leader that will bring business amounting to more than its own sales, by attracting people into the Butler-Kist place.

Makes 70c Net Profits on $1

Stop a moment. Figure what such thousands of patrons will mean to you, besides the extra cash sales. It's new customers that make your theatre more popular, attracted by BUTTER-KIST

POP CORN—TOASTY FLAVOR

Leading theatre managers are now making $600 to $3,120 extra net cash profits yearly this way. Adds plus to your business. Takes nothing away. We send you the plans.

No City Too Large, No Hamlet Too Small

—No Matter Where Your Theatre Is—

CROWDS come from all directions to buy delicious Butler-Kist Pop Corn,是 crossing, white and twenty-served. Made only by the famous Butler-Kist Machine.

Easy to Pay Us From Your Profits

A small cash payment starts the Butler-Kist Pop Corn Machine bringing in the nickels, dimes and quarters. Balance soon paid out of Butler-Kist sales.

"America's New Industry"—FREE

Our valuable book gives full details, photos and proof of profits. Next free to any Manager. Mail your address on the coupon, or write today, without delay.

HOLCOMB & HOKE MFG. COMPANY
608-622 Van Buren Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

This Brings Profit Book FREE

HOLCOMB & HOKE MFG. COMPANY
608-622 Van Buren Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Without obligation, send your profits making book, free, postpaid—"AMERICA'S NEW INDUSTRY."

Name.
Business.
Address.

Screen Light That Never Fails

The ORIGINAL Gold Fibre Screen—Perfected

MINUSA "SCREEN LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS"

MINUSA CINE PRODUCTS COMPANY

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
UTE STANDS FOR THE PIONEER CONCERNS IN U.S.A. DISTRIBUTING M.P. THEATRE EQUIPMENT!

Now is the Time for You to Provide

Your Theatres with New Machines, Motor Generators, Transformers, Arc Controllers, Screens, Supplies, Carbons and Equipment. Don't Delay! Our factories are very busy and transportation may be seriously interrupted at any time.

BE WISE—ORDER NOW!!!

The Picture Theatre Equipment Co.
J. H. Hallberg
Novelty Slide Co.
New York
Ludwig Hommel & Co.
Feature Film & Calcium Light Co.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Southern Theatre Equipment Co.,
Atlanta, Ga., and Dallas, Texas.
Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co.
Motion Picture Supply Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

AND OTHERS

carry everything you need in stock at any of the above Branch Offices, and you will find a well posted manager in charge who will give you courteous treatment, with prompt and efficient service.

BACKED BY OUR UNITED GUARANTEE

We are DISTRIBUTORS and RETAILERS of the Leading Motion Picture Machines, Hallberg 20th Century Motor Generators, Transformers, Instruments, Gasoline Engine Generators and other specialties, Novelty Slides, Fulco and Kleine Specialties, Minusa Screens, Imported Condensers and other Lenses. Highest Grade Projector Carbons, all sizes and styles.

We Are PIONEERS of PERFECT PROJECTION

WE MAKE LIBERAL ALLOWANCE FOR YOUR OLD EQUIPMENT IN TRADE FOR NEW

UT E THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION

1604 BROADWAY EXECUTIVE OFFICES NEW YORK, U. S. A.
The State Rights Picture

To the Exhibitor: Often you are at a loss to know just who handles a state rights picture in your section—because of the lack of advertising that generally follows the disposal of territory.

We have this information for you, complete and ready.

Drop us a postal; and by return mail we will give you the buyer’s name and address, our review, the cast, and other valuable and up to the minute information. For the name of any state rights picture refer to our release page—"State Rights Releases—Current and Coming."

Watch our editorial department, "In the State Rights Field." It will give you the latest and most reliable news on new productions and how current pictures are booking; this department was the first of its kind and will remain the best.

To the Buyer: Are you getting, each week, our special bulletin? We inaugurated this kind of service. It gives you the very latest, most complete and accurate information—not from the state rights gridle. Watch our advertising pages. Motion Picture News—alone—gives you each week all the announcements of the market.

To the Seller: Six months ago, anticipating the importance of the state rights market, Motion Picture News sent a representative out to visit every buyer in this country. We have information of value to you and available for you—information to be had nowhere else. Motion Picture News is the accepted medium today with every buyer in the state rights field.

For any information, or service, address:
STATE RIGHTS DEPT.,
Motion Picture News,
729 7th Ave.,
New York City.

Our state rights service is an all-around service, equally in the interests of the exhibitor, buyer and seller. Like the other service departments of Motion Picture News it was conceived and is carried out in the business interests of all its readers.
Mme. Petrova makes her debut in Paramount Pictures in a powerful drama of Egypt.

"The Undying Flame" is an enthralling reincarnation tale and a picture calling for "extra time" by popular demand.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
Four Eighty Five Fifth Avenue 44 Forty First St.
New York, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation
"A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."

Paramount Pictures

is the photo play name that means most to your patrons.

Paramount Pictures Corporation

FORTY-NINTH & PINE STREET
NEW YORK, N.Y.

Controlled by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation

BLUEBIRD
PHOTOPLAYS INC.
PRESENT
A MASTERLY FILM VERSION OF THE GREAT
HENRIK IBSEN'S FAMOUS PLAY
"A DOLL'S HOUSE"

WITH DOROTHY PHILLIPS - LON
CHANLEY AND WILLIAM STOWELL
DIRECTED BY
JOSEPH DE GRASSE

BOOK THROUGH YOUR LOCAL BLUEBIRD EXCHANGE OR BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS INC. 1600-BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY
Who is Burton Holmes?

A distinguished traveler and lecturer known the world over from the crowned heads with whom he is in intimate terms to the millions who have heard his lectures in the auditoriums at $2.00 prices and read his many books on travel. His almost uncanny insight into what the public wants to know about the "other fellow" and see in foreign climes, makes his travel pictures distinctive and far superior to any others ever released.

Paramount Burton Holmes Travel Pictures—personally photographed, assembled, titled and edited by Mr. Burton Holmes, and released, one single reel each week, by Paramount exchanges.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
YOUR EIGHTY-SIX, FIFTH AVENUE, FORTY-FIRST ST.
NEW YORK

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
Marguerite Clark

No other star appearing exclusively in the Famous Players productions has added so much to the "drawing power" of Paramount Pictures.

This dainty little star's next picture, now in preparation, will be her greatest screen success to date.

Paramount Pictures Corporation
454 FIFTH AVENUE, FORTY-FIRST ST.
NEW YORK

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
 Apparel, Cliffs, Hotel, Law, Police, Curb, M. Munich, contrasts General

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Billie Burke

Coming in the first of her "open booking"
Paramount Pictures
by arrangement with
F. Ziegfeld, Jr.
"The Mysterious Miss Terry"
by Gelett Burgess.
Produced by Famous Players

Paramount Pictures Corporation
FIFTH AVENUE  48TH STREET
NEW YORK
Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
“Fatty” Arbuckle’s second two-reel “screamer” in which he plays the dutiful but erring husband, is the latest “thing” in comedy—it is a smashing, howling comedy, but the “pie is silent as in Paramount”

“A Reckless Romeo”

although a riotous, roaring rough-house, makes the “old boys” wish they could get in it, and sends everybody home laughing, satisfied, rested and happy.

Released May 21st
MOTOY COMEDIES

Comprise All the Elements of Surprise and Delight

THEY PLEASE

The Public
Educational Films Corporation of America
Greater New York, New York State and Northern New Jersey.
Standard Film Service Co., 14 West 7th Street, Cincinnati, O.
Southern Ohio and Kentucky.
Standard Film Service Co., 7th floor, Columbia Bldg., Cleveland, O.
Northern Ohio.
Standard Film Service Co., 10th floor, Peter Smith Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

The Exhibitor
Upper Peninsula.
Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.
Lea Bel Co., 64 Randolph Street, Chicago
Illinois, Indiana and Southern Wisconsin.

Some Territory Still Open

PETER PAN FILM CORPORATION
729 Seventh Ave.

New York City

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.
What Money Can’t Buy

The great popularity of the stars whose photoplays are released through Artcraft Pictures Corporation means a daily advertisement for the exhibitors who show their productions.

Pictured above are only a few of the national magazines of this month which selected Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and George M. Cohan as subjects for cover pages or leading articles. They circulate into millions of homes. They are displayed on hundreds of thousands of newsstands. It is publicity that money can’t buy.

But—

You can cash in on their popularity by exhibiting their latest pictures released through Artcraft Pictures Corporation.

The biggest and best theatres use them—so do the best of the smaller houses.

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres., JESSE L. LASKY, Vice-Pres., CECIL B. DEMILLE, Director General

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
THE SUPREME COMBINATION OF MOTION PICTURE GENIUS
Artcraft presents
Mary Pickford
in
Cecil B. DeMille’s
beautiful production
“A ROMANCE OF THE REDWOODS”
by Cecil B. DeMille and Jeanie MacPherson
Released to all leading theatres May 14th

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
The Most Monumental Booking Ever Taken

WITHIN THE LAW

The First Production Ever Booked to EVERY Greater New York City Circuit

LOEW MOSS KEITH POLI PROCTOR FOX MAYER & SCHNEIDER

The first 120 days of this unparalleled booking will be played within 7 days of release date

GREATER VITAGRAPH

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
For First Time Need of Competitive Protection Wiped Out by Public Demand

'WITHIN THE LAW'

So great that theatres of these circuits will play it simultaneously in the same districts

No production in the history of the industry has ever had such a demand and endorsement

GREATER VITAGRAPH

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
A Five Part Blue Ribbon Feature

America's Daintiest Actress

ANITA STEWART

in

"CLOVER'S REBELLION"

Showing that Love Will Find A Way In Spite of Dukes and Riches and the Ambitions of Scheming Relatives

By James Oliver Curwood — Directed by Wilfrid North

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
At the highest price ever paid for a feature picture in the territory, Marcus Loew has just bought the rights to "The Whip" for New York State. Mr. Loew, who owns many theatres in New York City, knows that a picture which can make a real run in the metropolis to capacity business, as "The Whip" did at the Park Theatre, is the thing not only for him and for the patrons of his houses, but also for theatres throughout the state.

The rights for the great North-west have been bought by the DeLuxe Feature Film Co. of Seattle. This Company takes it for Washington, Oregon, Montana, and Idaho. The men in charge know their territory thoroughly, and a picture as good as "The Whip" is what they want.

At the Cort Theatre in San Francisco, "The Whip" has started off to a run with phenomenal success, and its reputation is spreading so quickly that Sol Lesser, who bought the rights for California, finds an unusual demand for the spectacular picture in other cities of the state. Mr. Lesser has also bought the rights for Nevada.

Only a few more states left. Get busy.

Apply to Paracon Films, Inc.
914 Longacre Bldg., New York.
The World-Famed "Strand" Books All Goldwyn Pictures

MITCHEL H. MARK and Harold Edel, Managing Director, have signed a contract that makes their New York Strand Theatre the home of Goldwyn Pictures in America's greatest city.

All twenty-six Goldwyn productions made in our first year of operation are booked under this contract for presentation in the largest picture theatre in the entire world.

That one of the ablest and keenest exhibitors in the industry should demand Goldwyn Pictures for his tremendously successful institution proves to all other exhibitors that Goldwyn productions have the quality claimed for them.

The Strand is one of the greatest of all the picture theatres—and the pioneer quality house in America. It has given faith and courage to all producers with ideals. It has educated a vast public to demand motion picture superiority.

Into this splendid house, beginning in September, come Goldwyn Pictures—with their beauties, their dramatic values, their refinements and their remarkable stars.

Is there any exhibitor anywhere who requires greater proof of Goldwyn quality than this?
May 7, 1917

Mr. Samuel Goldfish,
President, Goldwyn Pictures Corp.,
16 East 42nd Street,
New York City.

Dear Mr. Goldfish:

From the day of the first Goldwyn announcement we have expected much from your organization. The personnel of ownership places the stamp of expertise and thoroughness upon your company.

As you know, we have seen but portions of your four completed pictures - untitled and still unassembled - but on the basis of what these revealed to us we have been willing to close an annual contract for what we consider to be truly remarkable pictures.

The quality of your photography is undeniably beautiful. The novelty and fineness of your settings introduce a new note into pictures. The cleanliness and strength of your stories is another thing to be commented on. We are convinced that you will still further uphold the motion picture art.

The contrast we have signed for The Strand Theatre is the best proof of our belief in Goldwyn. If there is value to Goldwyn in linking our names or the prestige of our theatre with your organization, this letter is at your disposal for that purpose.

We do not hesitate to tell you that the quality and excellence of your productions will further stimulate the Strand to maintain the high level of picture showmanship which we are known to have established and for which we have received credit throughout the industry.

Sincerely,

Michael B. Mark,
President

Max E. Goldstein,
Managing Director.

Goldwyn Pictures
Corporation
16 East 42nd Street, New York City

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
SELZNICK PICTURES

DO YOUR PATRONS LIKE A MODERN MYSTERY STORY WITH AN ABSORBING LOVE INTEREST AND A PLOT THAT HOLDS THEM THRILLED WITH EXPECTANCY? THEY DO? THEN GIVE THEM ROBERT WARWICK in "THE SILENT MASTER" By The Master Story Teller F. Phillips Oppenheim. Directed by LEONCE PERRET

THERE ARE A HUNDRED REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BOOK CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG in "THE EASIEST WAY" By Eugene Walter FIRST: BECAUSE IT IS A PICTURE THAT WILL PACK YOUR HOUSE TO THE DOORS NEVER MIND THE OTHER NINETY NINE

HAVE YOU APPLIED FOR "THE BARRIER" by REX BEACH WIRE THE NEAREST SELZNICK-EXCHANGE NOW

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

May 26, 1917

How's This for a Thriller?
It's only one of hundreds in HERBERT BRENON'S
GREAT PHOTO-MELODRAMA
"THE LONE WOLF"
By Louis Joseph Vance
With HAZEL DAWN and
BERT LYTELL
ACTION! ACTION! ACTION!

Panthea and the Law of Compensation were great hits but when you see
NORMA TALMADGE
in "POPPY"
You will agree that it is this charming star's finest contribution to the art of the screen
Dramatized from Cynthia Stockley's fascinating
Story of South African Life
By Ben Heald and John P. Ritter
Directed by EDWARD JOSE

HAVE YOU APPLIED FOR
"THE BARRIER" by REX BEACH
WIRE THE NEAREST SELZNICK-EXCHANGE NOW
Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
MACK SENNETT
PRESENTS

MISS MABEL NORMAND
AND HER OWN COMPANY
IN "MICKEY"

THE LITTLE GIRL
YOU WILL NEVER FORGET

METHOD AND DATE OF RELEASE LATER
MABEL NORMAND FEATURE FILM CO.

LONGACRE BLDG. NEW YORK CITY.
MARJORIE RAMBEAU HAS EXTRAORDINARY ROLE IN "THE MIRROR"

MARJORIE Rambeau is the star of one of the two Mutual Star Productions released the week of May 21st. This is the fourth Rambeau-Mutual Picture released to date. The others are "The Greater Woman," "Motherhood" and "The Debt." The new one bears the title "The Mirror." It is in five acts. Clara S. Beranger wrote it. Frank Powell directed the production.

Story of Theatrical Life.

"The Mirror" is a story of theatrical life. It offers Miss Rambeau a most extraordinary role—one remarkably well suited to her talents. As an ingenue with ambitions Miss Rambeau comes to New York to win fame and fortune on the stage. The picture has to do with her struggles to secure a hearing, and what happened after she was given "her chance." It is lavishly mounted—superbly costumed. Some of the scenes are laid in the famous big restaurants and cafes that make Broadway what it is. The costumes worn by the feminine members of the cast will prove of exceptional interest to women. It is in every respect an unusual attraction—one that will draw big houses.

Directed by Frank Powell.

Frank Powell directed "The Mirror." Marjorie Rambeau, the star, is drawing houses of $10,000, $12,000 and $15,000 per week on Broadway in "Cheating Cheaters." And now any exhibitor can offer this popular Broadway star in his theatre. The nearest Mutual Exchange can arrange bookings on the whole Rambeau Series of Mutual "Big Stars Only" Pictures.

Juliette Day Now American—Mutual Star

American Film Company, Inc., Signs Famous Star of "Chin Chin," "Upstairs and Down," etc.

Juliette Day has just been signed by the American Film Company, Inc. She has enjoyed a continuous series of triumphs on the speaking stage. She has been cast in principal roles in such productions as "Chin Chin," "The Yellow Jacket," "Marrying Money," "Twin Riders" and "Up Stairs and Down." She is noted for her beauty and talent. Now, in films, she bids fair to duplicate her speaking stage triumphs. Vehicles especially written for her will be provided. She will work at the Santa Barbara studios of the American Film Company, Inc. Rolla Sturgeon, the famous director who has been supervising the Gail Kane-Mutual Pictures, will be in charge of production on the Day Pictures, thus insuring their artistic excellence.

Miss Day began her stage career at the age of six; in fact she is scarcely out of her teens at present. After playing under the management of Charles Dillingham, she toured the country with the Ben Street Players—appearing as Puck in "Mid-Summer Night's Dream." Winthrop Ames became her manager and her first decided triumph was scored in the role of Plum Blossom in "The Yellow Jacket." Exhibitors may be sure she will be cast in roles specially suited to her ability. All the productions in which she appears will be of the superlative sort released under the Mutual's "Big Star Only" policy. Reservations on the Day-Mutual Pictures may be made now at all Mutual Exchanges.

JACKIE SAUNDERS' THIRD MUTUAL FILM IS "THE CHECKMATE"

The third of the Jackie Saunders Series of Mutual Pictures will be released the week of May 21st. "The Checkmate" is its title. Capt. Leslie Peacock wrote the story. Sherwood McDonald directed it. It is in five acts.

Star in Dual Role.

Miss Saunders appears in a dual role in "The Checkmate." She plays the part of a country lass who goes to the city, as well as that of her sister. The roles are of a widely different type but Miss Saunders succeeds in interpreting them wonderfully. In one she is sweet and winsome but mature. In the other she is younger, more unsophisticated and inclined to be reckless. The older sister in the city discovers that men are inclined to take advantage of her beauty and inexperience. In terror she flees to her country home and resumes her old life. Shortly afterward she discovers her sister in the clutches of the same man who, in the city, had attempted to mislead her. Then and there the older girl sets about a plan to checkmate the man who would wrong her sister. For a time it seems her plan may fail, but at the critical moment she succeeds in carrying it out in spite of all opposition and both girls find happiness as the picture ends.

Mutual Star Productions For May

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Lead</th>
<th>Week Beginning</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hedda Gabler</td>
<td>Nance O'Neil</td>
<td>May 1th</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Frame-Up</td>
<td>William Russell</td>
<td>May 10th</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annie-for-Spite</td>
<td>Mary Miles Minter</td>
<td>May 21st</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Mirror</td>
<td>Marjorie Rambeau</td>
<td>May 21st</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Checkmate</td>
<td>Jackie Saunders</td>
<td>May 28th</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Serpent's Tooth</td>
<td>Gail Kane</td>
<td>May 28th</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Two Big War Specials Are Now Available

Mutual now has ready for release two big new War Specials—pictures which are particularly timely and up-to-the-minute. They are entitled "Manning the Navy" and "A Zeppelin Attack on New York." Each is a single-reel subject. Both should prove unequaled attractions now when the whole country is throbbing with patriotism. These pictures will enable you to "do your bit" to aid recruiting. Your nearest Mutual Exchange can arrange bookings on either or both of these one-reel subjects. Be the first in your territory to show them.
Frank Powell Presents

MARJORIE RAMBEAU

in

"THE MIRROR"

Released the week of May 21st.

Moving Picture World, reviewing the last Rambeau-Mutual Picture said: "In this five-reel production the exhibitor will find the highest standard of merit."

Marjorie Rambeau, who is drawing houses of $10,000, $12,000 and $15,000 every week in "Cheating Cheaters" on Broadway, will bring big business to your theatre with this new series of super-productions. Exhibitors who have shown "The Greater Woman," "Motherhood" and "The Debt" are eagerly awaiting "The Mirror." It's the fourth Rambeau-Mutual success. You can book it at any Mutual Exchange.

Produced by Frank Powell Producing Corporation

MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

John R. Freuler, President
Exchanges Everywhere
E. D. Horkheimer Presents

JACKIE SAUNDERS

IN

"THE CHECKMATE"

"It is a good, wholesome, entertaining film play. It is a film that will make the public enjoy pictures better than ever and will swell box-office receipts," says Exhibitor's Herald of "Sunny Jane," a recent Jackie Saunders-Mutual Picture.

By showing Jackie Saunders-Mutual Pictures you are assured capacity houses. You give the fans the star they enjoy seeing. "Sunny Jane" and "The Wildcat," featuring Jackie Saunders, are now playing everywhere to big business. "The Checkmate" is the third Saunders-Mutual release. The series is comprised of six big box-office winners. Your nearest Mutual Exchange can supply you.

MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

John R. Freuler, President
Exchanges Everywhere
Samuel S. Hutchinson  President
AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, Inc., Announces
The Acquisition of

JULIETTE DAY

To Appear in MUTUAL STAR PRODUCTIONS

Juliette Day, noted stage beauty and star of "The Yellow Jacket," "Chin Chin," "Marrying Money," "Twin Beds" and "Upstairs and Down" will soon appear in a series of feature productions to be made at the Santa Barbara studios of the American Film Company, Inc., and to be released through the Exchanges of the Mutual Film Corporation.

The plays in which Miss Day will appear will be especially selected and will be produced under the direction of Rollin S. Sturgeon. This announcement marks another step forward in the march of Mutual Pictures—"Big Stars Only." Exhibitors can secure detailed information about the new Day pictures and can make reservations at any Mutual Exchange.

Produced by
AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, INC.
Samuel S. Hutchinson, President

Distributed by
MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION
John R. Freuler, President
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

May 26, 1917

MUTUAL

Jimmie Dale
Alias "The Grey Seal"

Adapted from Frank L. Packard's
The Professional Adventures of Jimmie Dale" in People's Magazine

Starring

E. K. Lincoln
Doris Mitchell, Edna Hunter,
Paul Panzer

"Action, pep, snap, mystery, these are the things that make popular "Jimmie Dale," alias "The Grey Seal," say the Salt Lake City Republican.

Sixteen Mutual Featurettes—
each complete in two reels.
A new one every week. They ginger up business—satisfy patrons—make regular patrons out of "now-and-thens."

Produced by
Monmouth Film Corporation
Harry McRae Webster, President
Jules Burnstein, General Manager

Directed by
Harry McRae Webster

Booking NOW At All Mutual Exchanges

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
VOGUE FILMS, Inc., Presents—

"CAUGHT IN THE END"

TWO REELS RELEASED MAY 19th

FEATURING BEN TURPIN

Moving Picture World commenting recently on a Vogue Comedy said:—

"The action is light and diverting. The photography is clear and pleasing. It is well suited to the ordinary audiences."

For putting laughs into a program Vogue Comedies are hard to beat. Many exhibitors find them just the spice needed to balance their show. There's a new Vogue each week. Ask for them at your nearest Mutual Exchange. "Caught in the End" is released May 19th. Directed by Robin Williamson.

VOGUE FILMS, Incorporated
General Offices: 6335 Broadway Chicago, Illinois
REleased May 24, 1917

"JERRY JOINS THE ARMY"

A CUB COMEDY

Featuring

GEORGE OVEY

An up to date one reel subject dealing with a short man who is "long" on troubles in his efforts to fight for his country. And when he finally "gets by" the recruiting officer he has more troubles as a "rookie," but ends by winning fame and a pretty girl.

Book through any exchange of the Mutual Film Corporation

DAVID HORsLEY PRODUCTIONS
"CHUBBY INHERITS A HAREM"
FEATURING THAT NIFTY LITTLE COMEDY STAR
MADGE KIRBY
DIRECTED BY M. DE LA PARÈLLE FOR LA SALLE FILM COMPANY
AT ALL MUTUAL EXCHANGES MAY 21

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
George H. Wiley presents

"A Song of Sixpence"

The Life Story of a Mercenary Woman

PHOTODRAMATIZED FROM THE CELEBRATED NOVEL OF THE SAME NAME

BY FREDERIC ARNOLD KUMMER

Featuring the distinguished artists

MARIE WAYNE and ROBERT CONNESS

Supported by a carefully selected cast of popular picture players

Produced by

VAN DYKE FILM PRODUCTION CORPORATION

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
TRIANGLE

FROM EVERY ANGLE

TRIANGLE

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
A Splash of Beauty—

This is just one of the dozens you see in every

Mack Sennett-Keystone Comedy

MACK SENNETT-KEYSTONE COMEDIES
RELEASED ONLY BY TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
Power of Paralta Plan

The cry of the times is—PREVENT WASTE! Make 100% efficiency your mark and shoot straight at it.

Any product that is not kept directly moving develops WASTE, for every potential dollar-making quality in it that is not worked to its limit means loss. This is particularly true of a moving picture film.

A successful production on the regular dramatic stage, playing twice in a day in a theatre of 1,250 capacity, can show to but 2,500 people.

On the other hand, a successful photoplay may be shown to a million people for every thousand who may see a regular, old-time dramatic play. It is only a question of intensive development of exhibiting possibilities.

It is not incredible, when one indulges in a little calculation based on well known facts, that a single successful photo-drama could be developed in its exhibiting possibilities so as to be seen by 20 millions of people. That’s 100% exhibiting efficiency.

Every day a successful production lies in a can on the shelf means loss of rental—loss in its earning capacity. If this be not developed to the limit and the picture is not constantly kept running till its exhibiting possibilities are exhausted, there is waste.

According to conservative calculation, the fullest possible exhibiting limit of a successful picture is presentation to over 20 millions of people. If this be true, the greatest element of waste in connection with any picture is represented by the difference between the number of people who actually see it and the number who possibly could see it, and who would see it if given opportunity.

This difference represents a tremendous waste, which could, under favorable conditions, be turned into cash. Why not do away with this waste and develop a production to its full exhibiting possibilities, as far as practicable?

That is an essential part of the Paralta Plan.

There is more money in making a really great artistic production and exploiting it to the limit of its exhibiting possibilities—i.e., perhaps, the entertainment of the larger part of 20 millions of people—than there is in a production distinguished mainly by “footage,” which attracts but passing attention, meets mainly with but faint praise and soon passes to the film scrap heap.

Both may have originally cost about the same, but the income to the exhibitor and producer is not to be compared, especially if the exhibiting possibility of the “better than ordinary” one is developed to its full limit.

Real merit in a picture assures its booking. The greater the booking the lower the rental; the more constant the booking, the smaller the percentage of waste and the greater the profit to both exhibitor and producer.

The Paralta Plan stops waste by turning it into cash to the benefit of the exhibitor in the form of lower rentals, exclusive exhibition territory and repeat runs without charge.

The Paralta Plan does not maintain idle prints; it supports no “deadwood”; doubt has no place in it, and certainty, to the limit of human knowledge, is its foundation.

The sense of doubt—uncertainty—is one of the greatest evils the exhibitor has to face. Under the present “System” of distribution he doubts the quality of the picture he books; he is in constant doubt as to what his rentals are going to be next week or next month, and he is always in doubt as to whether or not next month he will have the program he has been pushing. He can never forget that cancellation clause in his contract.

STUDY!!!

The Paralta Plan—An Original System Founded on Principles of Fair Play to All Exhibitors in Distribution of Paralta Plays.
Absence of All Doubt

To eliminate every possible doubt and element of uncertainty from the Paralta Plan of distribution its founders worked and investigated for two years before they formed Paralta Plays, Inc.

They had to know every point of certainty or uncertainty in relation to star-value, individual drawing power in different localities, the sectional popular likes and dislikes as to form of production and where thrills are most wanted and laughs are best liked.

They had to know every detail of distribution and exhibition in every centre of the country; rentals charged in different localities on the same productions, or otherwise; and every influence that had any bearing on the booking and exhibition of films, general or specific, from Maine to California.

All this labor was to eliminate doubt and uncertainty—to prove the Paralta Plan and establish it free from known existing evils. The Paralta Plan is as clear from doubt as any business proposition ever conceived, for it is based on the surest possible foundation—exact knowledge and actual experience.

Its success naturally depends on the merit of the productions it releases, and to this end it has sought to eliminate all doubt by seeing to it that Paralta Plays shall actually be of the highest class in every feature—in stories, stars, supporting casts, details of production and in technical and dramatic direction.

All Paralta Plays will be notable stories by notable writers—there will be no doubt of their merit. The principal roles will be played by widely known and well established artists who are screen stars of great talent. There is no doubt of their ability and drawing power. They will be supported by players who are well known and have large personal followings. This eliminates another element of uncertainty.

The productions will be as well made as a liberal outlay of money can insure, and the direction, both dramatic and technical, will be in the hands of directors who have been identified with many of the most successful photo-dramas ever presented on the screen. Even these directors have established box-office value.

There is not an inexperienced person connected with the development of the Paralta Plan or Paralta Plays—everyone is seasoned timber; his ability and experience are essential elements in establishing the absolute absence of doubt and uncertainty in every part of the Paralta Plan.

In distribution the Paralta Plan will have the co-operation of the ablest and most experienced men in this work—men who really know the needs of the local exhibitor through years of intimate association with him. These men will honestly co-operate with him in securing the best results for all concerned, for their success depends entirely on the exhibitor’s success.

Devoid of all uncertainty, the Paralta Plan stands a tower of strength, unshakably founded in that most powerful of all human motives—self-interest and co-operation for greater personal financial gain and benefit than can be had in any other way, or from any other source, in the moving picture industry.

That’s absolute absence of doubt.

THINK!!!

The Paralta Plan Exhibitor Begins to Work for Himself the Moment He Secures a Paralta Exhibiting Franchise

PARALTA PLAYS, Inc.

CARL ANDERSON, President HERMAN FICHTENBERG, Chairman Directors
ROBERT T. KANE, Vice-Pre. HERMAN KATZ, Treasurer
NAT. I. BROWN, Secy. & Gen’l Manager

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.
OPENING AT THE
BROADWAY THEATRE
NEW YORK
THE GREAT EDGAR LEWIS SUCCESS

THE TRIBUNE (NEW YORK'S MOST EXACTING NEWSPAPER) SAID:
"THE BAR SINISTER IS ONE OF THE BEST THINGS THAT HAS EVER BEEN SEEN ON THE SCREEN."

Every State Rights Buyer and Exhibitor who has seen "The Bar Sinister" is struck by its tremendous commercial value. The powerful human appeal of Anthony P. Kelly's gripping story and its intensely interesting treatment of the race question, approached from an entirely new angle, together with Edgar Lewis's masterful staging of its red-blooded climaxes, gives "The Bar Sinister" a wonderful drawing power equally effective in every section of the country. It strikes a responsive chord in the hearts of men, women and children of every race and creed, while its advertising possibilities are recognized immediately by every "showman."

Prices for territorial rights now ready

FRANK HALL PRODUCTIONS, Inc.
LONGACRE BUILDING :: :: NEW YORK

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
TRADE SHOWING
BROADWAY THEATRE WEDNESDAY MAY 16 AT 10 A.M.

JANE GREY
IN HER FIGHTING CHANCE
BY
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD STAGED BY
EDWIN CAREWE

THE POPULARITY OF THE STAR
THE STRENGTH OF THE STORY
THE FAME OF THE AUTHOR
THE RECORD OF THE DIRECTOR MAKE

HER FIGHTING CHANCE

AN UNUSUALLY ATTRACTIVE STATE
RIGHTS PROPOSITION WORLD RIGHTS CONTROLLED BY FRANK HALL
PRODUCTIONS INC.

PRODUCED BY
A.H. JACOBS PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

LONGACRE BUILDING
NEW YORK

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
NEW YORK'S GAY BOHEMIAN LIFE

IN MOTION PICTURES

The romance of America's Latin quarter told in the fascinating novel

"THE TRUFFLERS"

From the famous stories by Samuel Merwin in the COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE.

Now a living, breathing actuality on the screen.

Presenting the famous star

NELL CRAIG

With SIDNEY AINSWORTH, ERNEST MAUPAIN and RICHARD C. TRAVERS.

Arranged and directed by Fred E. Wright. Presented by Essanay and International.

READY NOW!

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
HENRY B. WALTHALL

with

MARY CHARLESON

is presented in

“The Saint’s Adventure”

One of the most fascinating stories ever screened.
A handsome young rector of an ultra-fashionable church reads a newspaper report of his own death while on a vacation in the North woods. Indignant because his church appeals to the rich instead of the poor, he disguises himself as a laborer in order to aid them. A woman of the slums mistakes him for her missing husband. Together they carry on the work of aiding the people of the tenements. Love and happiness follow for them. Rapid action and beautiful scenic effects make this picture of Fate's playthings wholly delightful.

Screen time 1 hour, 15 minutes

Directed by Arthur Berthelet
WHO DARES
Say Children Do Not Count
ESSANAY
Is Releasing a Series of Twelve Pictures on Do Children Count?
Each One Independent, Featuring
LITTLE MARY McALLISTER
The Most Winsome Child Actress on the Screen
The audacity of this question will attract every man, woman and child. These pictures touch the tender heart fibres, all human emotions responding to the heart throbs of a world-wide humanity. They make the public halt, think, investigate. Clean morally and full of pulsating human interest. They are in two reels
LOOK OVER THIS LIST AND LOOK AT THE PICTURES AT ANY K.E.S.E. OFFICE AND YOU WILL BOOK NOW

THE GUIDING HAND  WHEN SORROWS WEEP
THE WONDERFUL EVENT  THE UNEVEN ROAD
STEPS TO SOMEWHERE  THE SEASON OF CHILDHOOD
THE YELLOW UMBRELLA  THE LITTLE WHITE GIRL
A PLACE IN THE SUN  THE BRIDGE OF FANCY
WHERE IS MY MOTHER?  THE KINGDOM OF HOPE

WRITTEN BY CHARLES MORTIMER PECK

Essonay
1333 Argyle St., Chicago

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
SELIG offers

VIVIAN REED

the Girl-With-The-Million-Dollar-Smile, in

"THE LAD AND THE LION"

Edgar Rice Burroughs' Sensational Drama of the Sea and the Jungle. See the Shipwreck! See the Attack of the Lion! Wonderful Lighting Effects. Directed by Al Green.

BOOK "THE DANGER TRAIL"

Every foot of the five thousand in "The Danger Trail" spells action.—James S. McQuade in Moving Picture World.

Interest never falters at any point in the tale.—Genevieve Harris in Motography.

A wealth of suspense in its development and picturesque Alaskan settings hold the interest until the closing scene.—Frances Agnew in N. Y. Telegraph.

There is a fight to the death in a deserted cabin that is a wonder of realism.—Mae Tinee, Chicago Tribune.

SELI G POLYSCOPE CO., Chicago, Illinois
KLEINE EDISON SELIG ESSANAY

SHIRLEY MASON

IN

THE TELL-TALE STEP

(For Release May 28th)

KLEINE-EDISON-SELIG-ESSANAY SERVICE

63 East Adams Street, Chicago, and other principal cities

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
Pathé Gold Rooster Plays

have attained and will maintain a uniformly high standard. Not only are the stories written by the best authors but the production is of the very best. The recent engagement of

Mrs. Vernon Castle
The best known woman in America definitely illustrates the policy of having only stars of Real box office value

Other Gold Rooster stars follow:
Baby Marie Osborne
Pearl White
Gladys Hulette
Mollie King
Frederick Warde
Florence La Badie

Is it any wonder that Exhibitors write us as follows?

"No features have seemed to please our patrons or secure for us the business that Pathé Gold Rooster Plays have. We have yet to see an uninteresting story, a poorly cast production or inferior quality in Gold Rooster Plays. No exhibitor will regret booking these features."

Charles Sweeten, Gen'l Manager,
Orpheum and North Side Theatres, Evansville, Ind.
Pathé

Special Announcement!

$2,000.00 will be paid in cash prizes to the persons who, seeing

The Neglected Wife

send the best solutions of life's greatest problem, the neglectful husband, the neglected wife, and the other woman. Everybody in your audiences will want to win one of these prizes. For details see the newspapers of your own city.

Produced by Balboa
The problem of the day put into the motion picture serial of the year

The Neglected Wife

Hundreds of thousands of readers of Mabel Herbert Urner's famous novels will want to see it

Starring

Ruth Roland

A box office attraction everywhere

Booking now
There are more runs of from two days up on

MYSTERY OF THE DOUBLE CROSS

than on any previous serial. Exhibitors and public alike have recognized the extraordinary merit of the production, the interest and suspense of the story and the charm and talent of

Mollie King

The star

Produced by Astra
Directed by Wm. Parke
The following are just a few of the houses which are showing MYSTERY of the DOUBLE CROSS for three days or more.

- Pantages, Minneapolis, 7 days
- Palace, Los Angeles, 7 days
- St. James, Boston, 3 days
- Colonial, Utica, N.Y. 3 days
- Metropolitan, Cleveland, 3 days
- Abeles Opera House, Easton, Pa. 3 days
- Hippodrome, San Diego, 4 days
- Park, St. Louis, 4 days
- Proctor's, Schenectady, N.Y. 3 days
- Orpheum, Allentown, Pa. 3 days
- Proctor's, Elizabeth, N.J. 3 days
- Proctor's, Newark, N.J. 3 days
Coming soon!

Gladys Hulette

in delightful heart interest
Gold Rooster Play

The Candy Girl

Produced by
Thanhouser

These Gladys Hulette pictures have given the Exhibitor something new. They cash in for him.

"After seeing 'Pots and Panes Peggy' one can imagine the feelings of Mr. Columbus of 1492. It is a great experience to discover something new in filmdom, which seems generally all mapped and charted. Here is a sparkling little story, original in concept, procedure and characterization, a blithe bit of fun."

Kitty Kelly,
Chicago Examiner

Coming soon!

Another Gold Rooster Play of solid worth

The Iron Heart

with
Edwin Arden

A play of strong story, fine acting and excellent production.

Produced by Astra
Directed by George Fitzmaurice
WILLIAM FOX Offers
THE HONOR SYSTEM

A Box Office
Dreadnaught
in any City or Weather.

Steam through a great career —smashing box office records where-ever shown.

Get aboard the big money ship.

Wire, Write or Call

The Honor System in 10
great reels.
The greatest human story.

For New York and New Jersey Bookings

FOX FILM CORPORATION

Honor System Office, 4th floor
130 W 46th St New York City
"THE SILENT LIE," NEW R. A. WALSH DRAMA, IS STELLAR PROGRAMME ATTRACTION

Director Who Made "The Honor System" Completes Notable Production.

"The Silent Lie," an R. A. Walsh drama, and a coming William Fox release, is one of the greatest programme attractions any exhibitor could desire. Mr. Walsh, who directed it, is, of course, known throughout the country as the genius who staged the stirring cinemelodrama, "The Honor System."

The cast of "The Silent Lie" includes such noted players as Miriam Cooper, Charles Clary, Ralph Lewis and Monroe Salisbury. Larry Evans wrote the story.

"The Silent Lie" is Mr. Walsh's first cinema since "The Honor System." He has also made such sterling photoplays as "Carmen," "Blue Blood and Red," "The Serpent" and "The Regeneration."

JEWEL WAS AT HOME

Jewel Carmen was right at home in the French atmosphere of "American Methods," the Fox feature starring William Farnum. Jewel taught the "Parlez vous" language for two years before entering the film industry.

MARY MARTIN MAKES HIT

Mary Martin, who played opposite Stuart Holmes in "The Derelict," a recent William Fox photoplay, has just returned from Philadelphia, her native home.

Miss Martin, a veteran Fox player, made personal appearances at several theatres showing "The Derelict." She and her talk upon motion pictures were received enthusiastically.

REMARKABLE TRIBUTE PAID TO "THE HONOR SYSTEM"

Big Theatre Playful Film Two Weeks for First Time

"The Honor System" deserves thoroughly its title of "the heavyweight champion of the box office." It was booked for a week at the Academy of Music, one of the country's leading photoplay houses. Although the doors opened daily at 10 a.m., the crowds seeking admission were so great that the Academy retained R. A. Walsh's master drama another week. This is the first time in the theatre's long history that any production ever played there for two weeks.

"The Honor System" was also held over for more "time" by three other big theatres in New York City.

SCREENING "KIDDIE FEATURE"

No more is heard the dramatic tones of actors and actresses who once held sway in one of William Fox's Fort Lee, N. J., studios. In their stead is the childish treble of many youngsters. These are being directed by Kenean Buel, who is filming one of the "Fox Kiddie Features" soon to be released.

FOX CURRENT RELEASES

William Farnum in "American Methods"—Special
Virginia Pearson in "Royal Romance."
June Caprice in "A Small Town Girl."
R. A. Walsh's Drama "The Silent Lie."
Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul"—Special.
Stuart Holmes in "The Broadway Sport."
Nance O'Neill in "The Final Payment."
Valeska Suratt in "The Slave."
George Walsh in "Some Boy!"
Virginia Pearson in "Wrath of Love."
William Farnum in "When a Man Sees Red."—Special

FOXFILM COMEDIES

Hank Mann in "His Love Fight."
Ray Griffith in "An Aerial Joy Ride."
Billie Ritchie in "His Smashing Career."
Tom Mix in "A Roman Cowboy."
Charles "Heine" Conklin in "His Bomb Policy."
STARR WHOSE BRILLIANCE IS LIKE THE DIAMOND

An electro of this series of Brockwell pictures will be supplied free to any Fox exhibitor upon request.

PEARSON WASN'T THIRSTY AT THE END OF THIS SCENE

Virginia Pearson has declared in favor of films without a headache. The statuesque William Fox star had an experience in “Royal Romance,” her most recent release, which resulted in this declaration. Miss Pearson had one scene in which she drank wine. For one reason and another it was necessary to have six re-takes of the wine-imbibing act. Each time the star had to drain a glass. Tableau!

BARA WEARS SCARAB RING

Theda Bara, the incomparable William Fox artiste, soon to be seen as Cleopatra in a film classic made by J. Gordon Edwards, wore throughout the picture a scarab ring which archaeologists declare to be an antique of extraordinary value.

FIRST SUNSHINE COMEDY

In the first Sunshine comedy, directed by Henry Lehrman and presented on the Foxfilm programme, Billie Ritchie is supported by Gertrude Selby and Victor Potel. Miss Selby has the feminine lead in “The House of Terrible Scandals.” Mr. Potel will be recalled for his fine work in “Hearts and Saddles.” For laughs, thrills and surprises it is one of the most unusual pictures ever screened.

Eighth Caprice Photoplay

June Caprice, William Fox’s “Sunshine Maid,” is now acting before the camera for her eighth photoplay. John G. Adolfi, who screened “A Small Town Girl” and Miss Caprice’s other subjects, is the director.

Reminiscent Note

Velma Whitman, appearing with “Smiling George” Walsh in “Some Boys!” played with Cora Payton’s company when a child.

BROCKWELL SUPREME IN EMOTIONAL WORK

Has Won Reputation For Strong Screen Portrayals

Gladys Brockwell has come to the fore as an actress of unquestioned versatility and dramatic talent in the comparatively short time since she allied herself with the William Fox forces.

She has been aptly termed “the girl of a thousand expressions” because of her remarkable facility in interpreting emotions. The Fox star always plays with admirable repression — witness her work in “Her Temptation”— and never acts “all over the shop.”

WHITE WAY IN PICTURES

You’ll see some of the most famous places in New York’s Great White Way when “The Broadway Sport,” with Smart Holmes in the title role, is flashed upon the screen. Contrast with rural scenes earlier in the film adds to the effect. The subject is a forthcoming Fox production, directed by Carl Harbaugh.

William Farnum Back East With Director

William Farnum, the notable William Fox star, returned to New York City last week from Hollywood, Cal., to make films in the East. The screen’s pre-eminent fighting man comes back after ten tremendously successful productions in the West. His initial screen drama on the Coast was “Fighting Blood”; his last, “When A Man Sees Red,” is based on Larry Evans’s well-known Saturday Evening Post story, “The Painted Lady.” Frank Lloyd, who has directed Mr. Farnum’s super productions, came with the star and will continue to stage his photodramas.

Violet Palmer Cast

Violet Palmer, co-star in “The Blue Streak,” is in Velma Whitman’s supporting cast in “The Slave,” a coming William Fox release. Miss Palmer is an accomplished pianiste and did concert work for several years.
A Message of Importance
To Exhibitors and Buyers

You exhibitors, who have satisfied your patrons and profited by featuring our versatile star in ordinary vehicles, will be pleased to know that Peggy Hyland will now have opportunity for showing her true worth in Productions created expressly for the demonstration of her remarkable personality and ability.

STATE RIGHT BUYERS
can, for the first time, profit through the popularity of PEGGY HYLAND by securing reservations for the forthcoming productions of this Corporation.

Write at once—or wire.

MAYFAIR FILM CORPORATION, 10 WALL STREET, NEW YORK
May 26, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

MAYFAIR FILM CORPORATION
M.A. SCHLESINGER
PRESIDENT

MAYFAIR FILM CORPORATION, 10 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

Peggy Hyland
THE FIRST MAYFAIR STAR

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
Century Comedies
PRESENTS
Alice Howell
in
"Ballooanatics"
DIRECTED BY
J.G. Blystone
STATE RIGHTS BUYERS
WATCH FOR OUR BIG DOUBLE PAGE AD NEXT WEEK...

1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
Renowned Pictures
Present
"IN TREASON'S GRASP"

Tremendous War Time Drama
Intense Interest and Power

Announcement of the tremendous War Time Production "IN TREASON'S GRASP" places before State Rights Buyers an extraordinary Opportunity. Five reels of thrilling and intensely gripping dramatic action, played by a splendid cast of chosen players.

STATE RIGHTS

"IN TREASON'S GRASP" is now being sold on State Rights. It will prove itself a gold mine, because of the timeliness of this production.

GRACE CUNARD
AND FRANCIS FORD

-known to and popular with millions of moving picture fans the world over. Two Stars whose names alone guarantee the success of this feature. Communications will be given attention in order of their receipt.

Write or Wire Today
Don't delay. Get terms, territory and full details TODAY.

Write or wire direct to

RENOWNED PICTURES CORPORATION
1600 Broadway New York City
Suite 405

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
STATE RIGHT BUYERS

Radio Film Co.

INC.

Presents

The Drama of
The Hour

Tremendous in Heart
Interest

The Spirit of 1917

Featuring
James J. Harkness
as Carl Sturmer

Gripping in Dramatic Tension

Radio Film Company, Inc.
Godfrey Bldg., N.Y.

Be sure to mention "Motion Picture News" when writing to advertisers
Two of the most alluring, most vivacious and most popular stars in comedies today are MARGARET GIBSON and BETTY COMPSON, Stars of CHRISTIE COMEDIES.

MARGARET GIBSON with EDDIE BARRY in "WITH THE MUMMY'S HELP" released May 7th.
THE MILKY WAY released May 14th.

BETTY COMPSON and NEAL BURNS in "HIS LAST PILL" released May 21st.

All CHRISTIE COMEDY releases are OPEN MARKET releases.

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
HARRY RAPF PRESENTS

FLORENCE REED

IN THE GREAT SENSATIONAL PHOTO-DRAMA BASED ON THE PLAY WHICH RAN FOR ONE SOLID YEAR ON BROADWAY,

"TO-DAY"

BY GEORGE BROADHURST AND ABRAHAM SCHOMER WITH AN ALL STAR CAST

DIRECTED BY RALPH INCE

EXHIBITORS! WATCH FOR DATE OF PRIVATE SHOWING; ANNOUNCEMENT SOON.

PRODUCED BY TO-DAY FEATURE FILM CORP.

1564 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
WILLIAM A. BRADY
President of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, says:

“Ever since I became interested in the screen, I have dreamed and planned for what I am now able to do. I wanted to bring to America’s screen Europe’s best, and under the best possible conditions.”

Current Release:—
Regina Badet in “Atonement”

CURRENT RELEASES ON THE DEPENDABLE PROGRAM

SARAH BERNHARDT in “Mothers of France”
ALICE BRADY in “Maternity”
MURIEL OSTRICHE and ARTHUR ASHLEY in “Moral Courage”
CARLYLE BLACKWELL and JUNE ELVIDGE in “The Crimson Dove”
ETHEL CLAYTON and MONTAGU LOVE in “Yankee Pluck”
ROBERT WARWICK and GAIL KANE in “The False Friend”

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
STATE RIGHTS BUYERS

A Big Ten-Reel Feature Five Years in the Making

Public and Private Schools and Colleges Co-Operate in Advertising This Picture.

“FLOWER OF THE SUN”
Bride In The Wedding Ceremony in “A Trip Thru China.”

A Trip To Pekin
Hong Kong
Shanghai
Canton
Tientsin
Wusih
Soo Chow
Macao
Hangchow
Kowloon
Aberdeen
Nanking
Etc. Etc.

Openes at
ELTINGE THEATRE
42d STREET AND BROADWAY, N. Y.
MONDAY, MAY 21st
25c. to $1.00 scale

CHINA THE NEW ALLY IN
THE WORLD WAR
PREPARING

Chinese Army Preparations, Drills, Fortifications, Etc.

“MOTION PICTURE NEWS” says:

“This film is so vastly different from the general run of tour films that it stands in a class by itself; it is comprehensive and treats with every conceivable feature of Chinese life: her customs, fashions and beliefs. It is at once geographical, historical and scenic—hence, very interesting.”

“MOVING PICTURE WORLD” says:

“Ten reels of remarkable pictures covering historic China: her people and her customs. One of the most interesting groups of pictures that have reached America. One is impressed with the fact that little of informational character with regard to the daily life and superstitions of China has been omitted and that they contain much that is of historical value.”

SUPREME FEATURE FILMS, Inc. of California
D. S. MARKOWITZ, Manager
1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
Pokes and Jabs

A few territorial franchises have not yet been closed. Correspondence invited with Exchanges that can give their customers service as well as pictures.

Twenty releases ready for screening.

Jaxon Film Corporation
Candler Building
NEW YORK CITY
IN ALL HER SCRAPPY, SKINNY MAJESTY!

THESE NOW IN PEPPERATION

FLORA THE INTERNATIONAL SPY
FLORA JOINS THE CHORUS
FLORA IN THE MOVIES
FLORA THE SCHOOL TEACHER
FLORA THE LIFE-SAVER
FLORA THE DRESSMAKER
FLORA THE MANICURE GIRL

Flora’s all wound up now, and going like what war is said to be! When you see “The International Spy,” Flora’ll Floorya—she will!

WARNING!

Having nothing to put under this heading, and not knowing any new jokes, we are just writing this to fill up the space.

H. GROSSMAN
DISTRIBUTING CO.

729 7th Ave.
New York

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers.
"Welcome, Wholesome Films"

From Exhibitors Herald, May 12, 1917

Welcome, "Wholesome Films"

There has been born into the motion picture world a company committed to the policy of publishing pictures that are scrupulously clean in theme and in presentation. It is the Wholesome Film Corporation and its plans contemplate interest only in such productions as will be thoroughly consistent with the name of the company—wholesome productions.

The birth of this company can justly be acclaimed a great step forward in promoting the best interest of this business as the purveyor of wholesome, inspiring and educational entertainment for the masses.

The logical future of the motion picture is to be the purveyor of erudite plays for the sophisticated few, or morbid dramas for the lovers of sensationalism, but to be the purveyor of the clean, wholesome picture to that vast army of amusement-seekers whose own lives are tempered to the dictates of decency and who will not tolerate moral filth in whatever form it may be presented.

The "Exhibitors Herald" has frequently pronounced its conviction that the richest picture is commercial suicide and that the best interests of the business are entirely away from that type of picture and toward the goal of the wholesome film, depending for success not upon cheap sensationalism or the delinquency of society's unfortunate few but upon the ability of its author, the art of its players and the judgment and capability of its director.

Hence, we welcome the Wholesome Film Corporation as a great, potential force for the advancement of the high ideals of this art-industry.

This clean cut, unqualified endorsement, coming from Exhibitors Herald, proves Wholesome Films have met the crying need in the business of motion pictures.

Wholesome Films mean greatly increased box office receipts. Prepare now for the Wholesome landslide.

Watch for our announcements

Wholesome Films Corporation
M. J. Weisfeldt, Manager
Executive Offices: Consumers Bldg., 222 South State Street, Chicago

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
“The SUBMARINE EYE”

Within a Fortnight This Magnificent Deep Sea Drama Will be Drawing Capacity Crowds to the LIBERTY THEATRE
New York City
Territory Selling Rapidly WIRE FOR COMPLETE INFORMATION WILLIAMSON BROTHERS Executive Offices, 8th Floor, Longacre Bldg. NEW YORK CITY
B. A. Rolfe offers
The rising Star of Pictureland
EMMY WEHLEN
In the play by Charles A. Logue and John Clymer
The DUCHESS of DOUBT
A METRO wonder production adapted and directed in Five brilliant Acts by George D. Baker and released on MAY 28th on the
METRO PROGRAM
In this Special Metro Production de Luxe

The Greatest Actress of the American Stage becomes the Greatest Actress of the Screen

ETHEL BARRYMORE

in Edward Sheldon's

The CALL of her PEOPLE

Seven Smashing Acts of drama, novelty, beauty, romance and power

AT ALL METRO EXCHANGES
Your Weak Spots

A weak "Feature" is the dread of the Exhibitor.

But a successful Exhibitor takes out an Insurance Policy against this contingency by building a strong show around it.

Our releases are famous as a builder of programs.

Let the following Exchanges write your "Insurance Policy."

Book our Scenics—Educational and Ditmars at the following Exchanges

Photoplay Exchange, Salt Lake City
UTAH, COLORADO, WYOMING, NEW MEXICO
Lambson Film Exchange, Seattle, Wash.
OREGON, WASHINGTON, IDAHO, MONTANA
Educational & Children's Films Co., Kansas City, Mo.
MISSOURI, KANSAS, IOWA, NEBRASKA

Broadway Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.
MICHIGAN
Metro Pictures Service, Chicago, Ill.
ILLINOIS, INDIANA
American Feature Film Co., Boston, Mass.
NEW ENGLAND STATES
Zenith Feature Film Co., Minneapolis, Minn.
WISCONSIN, MINNESOTA, NORTH AND SOUTH DAKOTA

Consolidated Film Corp., San Francisco and Los Angeles
ARIZONA, CALIFORNIA, NEVADA
EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA AND SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY

The following Exchanges handling only Scenics and Educational

OHIO, WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA, KENTUCKY
Regal Films Ltd., Toronto, Canada
DOMINION OF CANADA

The following Exchanges handling only Ditmars

Quality Film Company, Pittsburg, Pa.
WEST PA. & WEST VA.
Standard Film Service Co., Cleveland, O.
OHIO AND KENTUCKY
Robert Lieber, Indianapolis, Ind.
(TERRITORY) INDIANA

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORPORATION
729 7th AVENUE NEW YORK, NY

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
"The crowds flock to the LaSalle to see "Should She Obey?" It is a sensation." — Louella O. Parsons in the Chicago Herald.

"Should She Obey?" is a motion picture that tells a story, carries a message, and carries with it a warning that more forcefully than the best of any of these has ever been done before." — Report of John P. Breen, superintendent of public schools.

"It means better minded and better homes." — Superintendent of Chicago Schools, John D. Shoop.

"It is a picture that will do more to unlearn domestic violence and prevent their cause than this great motion picture epic." — Judge Marcus Kavanagh, Illinois Divorce Commission.

"I know of no other factor that will do more to bestow domestic violence and to prevent the cause than this great motion picture epic." — Judge Marcus Kavanaugh, Illinois Divorce Commission.

"Photography, direction, and acting are set on a par with the highest standards set in story interest — Worthy of double success." — The Chicago American.

State rights reservations now being granted. Don't miss this chance to get hold of this proved money-making winner. The picture that is pulling the biggest crowds to the LaSalle Theatre, Chicago, since "The Little Girl Next Door." Hits the bullseye in every locality. Grips the very heartstrings of every human being that sees it. Gets more mouth to mouth advertising than any feature picture ever filmed, and bar none. Don't think about it. You've got to act smash bang without an hour's delay. It's a big wide open door of opportunity for wide awake exhibitors. For open territory, wire at once.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
“Foursquare” Pictures Mean

Photoplays in which the four departments are balanced and equally taken care of.

“PLAYER PLAY
PRODUCTION
POLICY”

It is the over emphasizing or slighting of one of the above departments that causes unsuccessful film plays. In “Foursquare” pictures, each department bears its own burden and no picture will be called “Foursquare” unless it can qualify for “Foursquare” standards in the first three departments—the standard of the last, being in our own hands, will never be lowered.

“WHO KNOWS”

a five-part drama of the Golden West full of mystery and healthy suspense, featuring BETTY BRICE. And “HUMILITY”

The first of the Seven Cardinal Virtues are “Foursquare Pictures,” produced by Isadore Bernstein, the “Champion of the Clean Minded Millions.”

STATE RIGHTS NOW SELLING
Address wires and letters for information to
M. H. HOFFMAN, Inc.
Sole Distributors
729 Seventh Avenue	NEW YORK

STATE RIGHTS NOW SELLING
Address wires and letters for information to
M. H. HOFFMAN, Inc.
Sole Distributors
729 Seventh Avenue	NEW YORK

M. H. HOFFMAN, Inc.
DISTRIBUTING HEADQUARTERS
729 7th Ave. By City

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
"GUARANTEED TO SATISFY"

This is how the Motion Picture Reporting Service, a review by exhibitors from the exhibitor's standpoint, stamps

MAX LINDER'S
latest comedy

"MAX IN A TAXI"

It continues: "Pleasing situations and pleasing plot. More action than former releases. Acting good, photography and settings very good." If you haven't already booked "MAX COMES ACROSS" and "MAX WANTS A DIVORCE"

Do it now!

His only three American made comedies. EACH ONE IS A SCREAM!

ESSANAY
George B. Selig President
1333 Argyle St., Chicago

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
TO Alfred H. Black, president of the Maine Theatres, Inc., we are indebted for a concise statement that we believe represents the opinion of many exhibitors regarding organization.

Writing to Fred Herrington, National Organizer of the League, Mr. Black declares:

"There is not the slightest question but that Maine should have a strong organization. But whether right or wrong, I have never had the confidence in the National League that one should have.

I don't know anything about the rights or wrongs of your affairs, but I do believe that something is wrong when a large majority of exhibitors lack the confidence so necessary in such a movement."

**

It is true that National exhibitor organization in the past has been, too largely, a pettifogging ... an up hill and down hill organization commanding neither power nor respect. Every exhibitor knows this.

It has gone up hill just before the holding of each year's convention and down hill immediately afterward—down hill and into complete disintegration.

It has been nothing but a crest upon a piece of paper. Upon its own face it has done nothing but let a few members hold an exposition annually, of which no financial report has ever been published.

In all fairness we exempt from this statement the Presidential year of Fred. J. Herrington, who took over a debt saddled and all but dead organization and brought it free of debt and up to the very creditable showing made last year at Chicago.

Only to have it once more resume its downhill course.

Once more confessing to a bankrupt treasury — once more begging vainly the confidence of representative members.

**

So it is that in the minds of theatre owners of Alfred H. Black's type the issue has been squarely defined: "Exhibitor organization versus the National League.

They are anxious to co-operate in securing that end.

But—and here is the point of these words—they will not succeed until they do co-operate, until they do jump in and fight, until they make of the League a League that will command their confidence.

**

It can be done. The opportunity lies clean-cut and open at Chicago this year.

But side-line criticism will not do it.

You—Mr. Exhibitor outside the ranks—must turn to and help the active, energetic State organizations already in the League, the hundreds of progressive members hungering for real organization.

Decide—now and absolutely—that you will be on the firing line in Chicago.

If you are not a League member make your application to-day.

If your state is not organized—get busy at once. Say the word and we will help you.

See that un instructed delegates are sent from your state—free to choose the man worth the job, not one who merely wants the job.

Let your voice be heard in forming an organization in which politics will play no part—one designed to be active and permanent, one so arranged as to be constantly and closely in touch with the state units.

Then let there be a budget sufficient to hire men—outside men if necessary—experienced and capable enough to represent the exhibitors' interest, at Washington, before any state legislature and within the industry—throughout the year.

**

CHICAGO is the do or die opportunity. It remains for you to pronounce the verdict.

You have no right to pass the work to be done at Chicago on to the other fellow. You have no reason to expect anything to be done at Chicago unless you yourself go there.

If you have any criticism of the League then it's up to you to create the right kind of organization; otherwise you will have to step criticizing and blame no one but yourself when legislative and business injustice oppresses you.

Copyright, 1917, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Entered as second class matter October 18, 1913, at the post office at New York, New York, under the Act of March 3, 1879.
Speaking Editorially:

The Public Be Taxed

In our opinion there are just three things to do about the War Tax.
First accept it as inevitable—namely as a ten per cent. tax added to the admission price.
Secondly, to endeavor to have the tax collected in the shape of a separate ticket, this ticket to indicate clearly to the patron that the government is levying the tax, and that the exhibitor is not raising his admission price.
Thirdly, to endeavor to have the tax measure make impossible the giving away of these tax tickets by any exhibitor.
Again, we reiterate, this is a tax upon the public, not upon the exhibitor. And it should be so levied, and collected, and so made clear to the public.

Congratulations, Mr. Lasky

We frankly regard Mr. Lasky’s announcement in last week’s Motion Picture News as one of the most important ever made in the field.
In effect he said: “We have decided to give each director of Paramount pictures free rein—to the end of securing the highest individual expression he is capable of. He will have his own writing staff and the author’s constant cooperation. The central scenario bureau policy will be discontinued.”
This is specialization in production—the proper recognition of production and the way to achieve production. It is also the recognition of longer runs and the proper way to achieve longer runs.

The Voice of the Industry

“WHOLESALE Films” are announced. Another trade slogan reads: “Pictures For The Clean Minded Millions.” A prominent producer of comedies announces that his productions will be “Clean Comedies for Children.”
We welcome these names, slogans, and announcements, as the real voice of the industry. They deserve and shall have our support. They deserve and should have the support of every exhibitor in the country.
Welcome the day, and we believe it is fast approaching, when most any family in the United States can decide to go, one and all, to their nearest theatre without first investigating its program to see if a picture made by the studio one-half per cent. of producers has found its way by chance into the neighborhood.

Money in the Movies!

AGAIN the stock-jobber!
One of the too few documents in the hands of the Ways and Means Committee at Washington to guide its efforts to lay an equitable war tax upon motion pictures was a large advertisement clipped from a Pittsburgh newspaper, of a new stock-jobber in the motion picture field.
The stock-jobber, we presume, said, as is customary, that the industry was reeking with huge profits; thirty thousand picture theatres in the country were wallowing in wealth, etc., etc.
Here’s another individual to join the man who makes film—write hope, in jail.
Each is in the same striking minority, but each is a damnable and deadly enemy to the industry, each is a huge drain upon its legitimate profits and its logical future.

National Advertising

HERE has come to our attention a letter written to exhibitors by the motion picture representative of a string of prominent daily newspapers. The letter details the advantages of national advertising of pictures by the manufacturer and asks the exhibitor to O. K. the idea.
This strikes us as a captious proceeding. We believe heartily in the national advertising of pictures.
And we believe that newspapers are decidedly the logical mediums; so also many exhibitors believe.
But we doubt if any exhibitors will obey the newspaper agent’s request to O. K. the proposition offhand. They will first want to know who pays for the advertising, what papers will be selected, what rates are to be paid, how the advertising matter is to be prepared, and a few other pertinent and important phases of the matter.

Step Aside, Gentlemen

AND now Pennsylvania looms up with a threatened tax of $450,000 a year upon the producer of motion pictures.
We take pleasure in calling the attention of the patriotic politicians of Pennsylvania—and all other states to a large and pertinent fact: Uncle Sam is going to tax industries and amusements just about all they can limp along under. The tax is for war:
The States will have to devise other ways of helping out sadly deficient budgets and of creating new jobs for ambitious office seekers.
Let this business stop! Sweep the State Legislative decks clean of this nonsense and iniquity. Practice economy; stop grafting.
One argument alone is enough, namely: We are facing War—not politics.

Camel’s Backs and Last Straws

JUST a word in passing—at a time when patriotism demands that one say as little as possible.
Has it occurred to the committees toiling over war schedules at Washington that the picture exhibitor is already paying without a whimper the war tax levied close to three years ago?
Has it occurred to them that the telephone and telegraph companies and other industries have long since been absolved from the taxes imposed for the self-same purpose?
We are willing to bear our share of straws, but will someone please label the last one?
Just a word in passing—that is all.

The Doomed Daily Change

THE threatened sidetracking of express shipments, the countless proposed tax measures—State and Federal—the atmosphere of “ruthless economy,” which is creeping over the country—all of these elements are forcing the daily program change relentlessly against the wall.
It will mean less production and better production. Eventually it will mean fatter profits to the overburdened exhibitor.
The downfall of the daily change is as inevitable as the downfall of Prussianism.
HARRY CRANDALL, the prominent Washington exhibitor, had a problem on his mind last week, which he believed of paramount interest to the exhibitors of the country. Between the light task of managing five prosperous city theatres and fighting a valiant and almost single-handed battle on behalf of exhibitors before the Senate and House committees, he was engaged until Friday in a vain search for Lee A. Ochs. He had two equally strong reasons for believing that Lee Ochs could be found in Washington.

In the first place, Lee Ochs is president of the National Exhibitors’ League, and with possible confiscatory taxes being framed by the Senate and House, there could be no other place for the League’s head man. In the second place, Mr. Crandall had as long ago as Saturday, May 5, read in Lee Och’s own organ, the following glowing description of the publisher’s activities in the capital:

National League President Goes to Washington for Tax Conference

Lee A. Ochs, President of the Motion Picture Exhibitors’ League of America, left Minneapolis at the close of the Northwest Exhibitors’ Convention, Thursday, for Washington, to take an official and active part in representing the interests of exhibitors at conferences at the capital for the purpose of determining the best method of raising the motion picture’s share of the war tax.

Armed with the protests of various Western organizations against the ten per cent gross receipts tax now being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Ochs’ endeavor will be to arrive at a satisfactory substitute which will attain the government’s ends, without injury to the exhibitor.

Upon his arrival in Washington, Mr. Ochs counted on meeting Crandall and other District of Columbia exhibitors. A number of prominent exhibitors from other parts of the country are expected to reach Washington shortly to join forces with the leaders already there.

Harry Crandall was sure that he had not been joined by Mr. Ochs, and as for the fate of the “protests of various Western organizations,” he feared the worst. And yesterday he was becoming increasingly wrathful at the apathy of the industry in the face of an appalling situation.

Early Thursday morning a Motion Picture News representative interviewed the Washington exhibitor in his office above the Crandall theatre, Ninth and E streets.

“You have ever seen such utter indifference as is being displayed toward a tax which may easily wipe out the business of half the country’s exhibitors,” he declared.

“Here we are with Senate and House committees pushing the latter, who are working entirely in the dark on tax schedules that affect the pockets of every exhibitor of pictures. They are open to suggestions, to advice and co-operation—more open and anxious to safeguard the interests of an industry than any legislative committees I have ever seen. Yet not a word has been heard from the elected representatives of the industry.”

“Where is Lee Ochs?” he was asked.

“Don’t ask me,” snapped the reply. “I read last Saturday that he was conferring with me, but it’s Thursday morning now and I have yet to see him. There’s a stack of mail on my desk waiting for me. Over in the corner are some telegrams. And if the girl in the booth had time between selling tickets to make out record forms there would be a pile of telephone slips for Lee Ochs from exhibitors who have been calling ever since Sunday. There’s been a good bit of long distance telephone money squandered.”

“On Monday Charles Pettijohn, attorney for the Indiana Exhibitors’ Association, arrived here to aid in our fight. So that we might adopt a definite plan of campaign we called up Ochs’ New York office, but were told that they did not know where he was.”

Harry Crandall is termed by all who know him as the live wire exhibitor of high voltage. The phenomenal success of his theatrical ventures is one evidence of this, his untiring efforts on behalf of exhibitors last week another. But of the latter he is slow to speak. Crandall modestly tells you at length of the wonders wrought by the powers that be. His friends tell you of the real wonders wrought by his own efforts.

THE fight within the circles of the Chicago Motion Picture Exhibitors’ League has been once more resumed and the belligerents are the same two factions that caused all the excitement and upheavals during the period between the last November and the past March.

Louis J. Frank, who at that time was forced from his appointed berth as manager of the coming National Exhibitors’ Convention and Exposition, has begun suit for $50,000 damages against Peter J. Schaefer, Joseph Hopp, Ludwig Schindler, Lee Ochs, Alfred Hamblen and Thomas Furniss charging libel and conspiracy.

Schaefer, who is chairman of the convention Finance Committee and auditor, has been charged with libel and the other five with conspiracy.

In short, the suit is merely a revival of the unpleasant and bitter factional fight that was waged within the Chicago League and the National League, beginning last November and which ended in March with the resignation of Frank.

According to Frank and his adherents, the move against him started when Peter J. Schaefer in November sent a form telegram to National President Lee Ochs, and the other defendants named, demanding the resignation of Frank.

In this telegram Frank and his attorneys also allege that Mr. Schaefer sought to convey the impression to the recipients that all was not right in his (Frank’s) handling of the funds of the 1916 convention and exposition. To further foster this impression it is declared that Schaefer, as auditor, withheld the books and reports of the convention until after Frank had been ousted as manager of the convention.

After Frank had been forced out he threatened the league with injunction proceedings averring that his removal was illegal. He was then reinstated and asked to resign which he did. Since that time, early in March, all has been quiet in Chicago and National League circles.

Preparations for the coming convention have been going along, with Ludwig Schindler as manager in Frank’s stead. Now, unexpectedly, comes the suit, and all is in turmoil again.

National President Lee Ochs is the only one that has been served with papers thus far. Upon his arrival in Chicago from the Northwest Convention at Minneapolis and just before his departure for Washington on May 5, the papers were served on him. All of the others, with the exception of Thomas Furniss, a Northwest exhibitor, reside in Chicago.

“We are in no hurry about the others, we always know where to find them,” is the answer of Frank to Petijohn, when asked when the others would be served. They will be reached when occasion demands.

Lee A. Ochs Sued for Conspiracy by Frank

President of Exhibitors’ League and Others Named Plaintiffs by Louis J. Frank in $50,000 Suit Revival of Factions Fight
Industry's Leaders Before Senate in War Tax Hearing

Tax Certain, Film Men Seek Only Equitable Treatment—Bear Ticket Tax—Producer's Levy Meats Ruin for Many, Says Powers

Representatives of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry received their opportunity to go before the Senate Finance Committee and present the motion picture industry's case on the proposed War Tax at 11 o'clock Monday. The chance to be heard came after an exhausting all-day wait on Saturday, only to have the Senate hearings close just as the film men's turn was about to come.

William A. Brady, of World; P. A. Powers, of Universal; Harry Raver, of Art Dramas; Paul Cromelin, of Cosmopolitan; Walter W. Irwin, of Vitagraph; Lucien Wheeler, of Selig, and Hamilton Smith, of Singer, were among the representatives of the manufacturers on hand Saturday for the hearings. Lee O. Ochs, Ernest Hariman, of Boston; Isador Stern, of Philadelphia, were the visiting exhibitors, while Harry Crandall headed a delegation of Washington theatre men.

The expectation of film men is that following Monday's hearing the fate of the tax provisions will rest in the hands of a Conference Committee of Senators and Representatives. The Federal Revenue Bill reported from the House Ways and Means Committee calls for a tax on all admissions, a flat one-cent tax on children, and exemption of five-cent houses. Proponents of the bill, saying that a tax of one-half cent a foot and a positive tax of one cent a foot, is provided. The exhibitors' tax is an addition to the present seating capacity war tax, which has been paid since the outbreak of the war in Europe, and the manufacturer's tax will be a burden additional to the corporation and excess profit taxes provided by other sections of the War Revenue Bill.

For this reason the industry's leaders made their appearance before the Senate Committee with a campaign mapped along these lines: First, they say the law should make it obligatory that the ten per cent admission tax be paid by the purchaser, either by the use of separate tickets or the affixing of stamps. Secondly, since the manufacturers' tax, resulting in a levy of fifteen dollars on every reel in use, would in the end find its way to the exhibitor, every effort possible be made to secure the removal of this provision of the bill.

Further, it is the belief of the film men that in the elimination of the five-cent house, some point of difference should be made in regard either to seating capacities or the age of film shown. Complaints received from exhibitors throughout the country operating ten-cent theatres in competition with five-cent houses were numerous during the week since the first exclusive announcement in Motion Picture News that the legislators contemplated the elimination of the five-cent theatres from the provisions of the bill.

Exhibitors have found it extremely difficult to agree on anything, a very necessary method of taxation to submit to the Senate. Many prominent exhibitors have stated that they would rather pay a flat percentage tax on gross receipts than risk the possible losses in admissions and other certain troubles incidental to the collection of one and two cents from each patron. This applies, however, only to exhibitors certain of large improvement in gross receipts. In most cases, the theatre owners see their only salvation in a tax place squarely on the patron, and phrasing of the bill forbidding any exhibitor from seeking an unfair advantage through not charging his patron the tax.

In this connection, H. A. Crandall, the Washington exhibitor, raised an interesting point, with the query as to what would prevent some exhibitors employing a subterfuge by nominally reducing their admission prices two cents, so that the present fifteen and twenty cent admission prices would include payment for the war revenue ticket. It is certain that the Government cannot attempt to regulate admission prices.

Regarding the manufacturer's tax, P. A. Powers, of Universal, was emphatic in his protest. "Should the proposed levy of fifteen dollars a reel be carried out," he declared, "it will make little difference whether the five-cent theatre is taxed or not. For there will not be any five-cent theatre. Such a tax would eliminate the program and the moderate priced feature and leave the market entirely to the feature beyond the reach of the five-cent house.

"But what is worse, it would also take an increased levy from the better class houses. Is it not reasonable to expect that with the costly feature alone in possession of the market rentals will take a sky-high jump."

"Mind you, this is considering the fifteen dollar tax from the exhibitor's viewpoint alone. I am not discussing what it means to the manufacturer. That can, perhaps, be told very plainly on the face of the figures."

The following telegram was sent to Motion Picture News by Frank J. Rembusch, of Shelbyville, Ind.:

A tax of 10 per cent on gross receipts figures twenty-five times more than present capacity tax and under present conditions will ruin and close up 90 per cent of motion picture theatres. Hearing today in Washington did not give exhibitors time to explain their views; therefore we should ask for another hearing. Three per cent would be enormous, or better treble our present capacity tax. Please advocate a hearing where all exhibitors can be present.

Mr. Rembusch addressed another telegram, as follows, to Lee A. Ochs, at Washington:

Ten per cent will bankrupt all but large theatres. Canada tax unfair. Hearing should be held so that states can have opportunity to be present. Ask for later hearing.

Reel Club Holds Gala Ball

The Reel Club members and hundreds of their friends thronged Palm Garden on Saturday evening for a most successful ball. The Reel Club, whose membership is secret, was formed by those in the sales end of the industry in New York, are officered by Morris Eisner, president; John N. Weber, treasurer, and William V. (Pop) Hart, secretary. John J. Brown was chairman of the reception committee.

Among the stars in the grand march were, Sidney Drew, Wilton Lackaye, Hughie Mack, Florence Labadie, Mother Maurice, Hortense Alden, Catherine Page and Bobby and Helen Connolly.

Nebraska and Iowa Theatres Boost Prices 100%

"Because of War," Increase in Film Rentals, and War Tax Given as Reasons—Five-Cent Houses Now Ten Cents—Others Proportionately

A GRADUAL increase in admission and film rentals is being witnessed by theatre owners in both Nebraska and Iowa. The war tax of 10 per cent was another reason. Some of the theatre proprietors are hesitating, but by fall every house in the two states is expected to increase. A very small percentage still charge five cents. Most are ten and fifteen cents, and a rapidly increasing number are ten and twenty cents. The latter figure is the one reached within the past few days.

W. J. Thomas of the Lyric, Fremont, Neb., announced in the newspapers the other day they had increased their admission tax by fifteen dollars on every reel in use, would in the end find its way to the exhibitor, every effort possible be made to secure the removal of this provision of the bill.

Further, it is the belief of the film men that in the elimination of the five-cent house, some point of difference should be made in regard either to seating capacities or the age of film shown. Complaints received from exhibitors throughout the country operating ten-cent theatres in competition with five-cent houses were numerous during the week since the first exclusive announcement in Motion Picture News that the legislators contemplated the elimination of the five-cent theatres from the provisions of the bill.

Exhibitors have found it extremely difficult to agree on anything, a very necessary method of taxation to submit to the Senate. Many prominent exhibitors have stated that they would rather pay a flat percentage tax on gross receipts than risk the possible losses in admissions and other certain troubles incidental to the collection of one and two cents from each patron. This applies, however, only to exhibitors certain of large improvement in gross receipts. In most cases, the theatre owners see their only salvation in a tax placed squarely on the patron, and phrasing of the bill forbidding any exhibitor from seeking an unfair advantage through not charging his patron the tax.

Regarding the manufacturer's tax, P. A. Powers, of Universal, was emphatic in his protest. "Should the proposed levy of fifteen dollars a reel be carried out," he declared, "it will make little difference whether the five-cent theatre is taxed or not. For there will not be any five-cent theatre. Such a tax would eliminate the program and the moderate priced feature and leave the market entirely to the feature beyond the reach of the five-cent house.

"But what is worse, it would also take an increased levy from the better class houses. Is it not reasonable to expect that with the costly feature alone in possession of the market rentals will take a sky-high jump."

"Mind you, this is considering the fifteen dollar tax from the exhibitor's viewpoint alone. I am not discussing what it means to the manufacturer. That can, perhaps, be told very plainly on the face of the figures."

The following telegram was sent to Motion Picture News by Frank J. Rembusch, of Shelbyville, Ind.:

A tax of 10 per cent on gross receipts figures twenty-five times more than present capacity tax and under present conditions will ruin and close up 90 per cent of motion picture theatres. Hearing today in Washington did not give exhibitors time to explain their views; therefore we should ask for another hearing. Three per cent would be enormous, or better treble our present capacity tax. Please advocate a hearing where all exhibitors can be present.

Mr. Rembusch addressed another telegram, as follows, to Lee A. Ochs, at Washington:

Ten per cent will bankrupt all but large theatres. Canada tax unfair. Hearing should be held so that states can have opportunity to be present. Ask for later hearing.

Reel Club Holds Gala Ball

The Reel Club members and hundreds of their friends thronged Palm Garden on Saturday evening for a most successful ball. The Reel Club, whose membership is secret, was formed by those in the sales end of the industry in New York, are officered by Morris Eisner, president; John N. Weber, treasurer, and William V. (Pop) Hart, secretary. John J. Brown was chairman of the reception committee.

Among the stars in the grand march were, Sidney Drew, Wilton Lackaye, Hughie Mack, Florence Labadie, Mother Maurice, Hortense Alden, Catherine Page and Bobby and Helen Connolly.

Nebraska and Iowa Theatres Boost Prices 100%

"Because of War," Increase in Film Rentals, and War Tax Given as Reasons—Five-Cent Houses Now Ten Cents—Others Proportionately

A GRADUAL increase in admission and film rentals is being witnessed by theatre owners in both Nebraska and Iowa. The war tax of 10 per cent was another reason. Some of the theatre proprietors are hesitating, but by fall every house in the two states is expected to increase. A very small percentage still charge five cents. Most are ten and fifteen cents, and a rapidly increasing number are ten and twenty cents. The latter figure is the one reached within the past few days.
Wheeler Bill Dies as Tax Plan Is Born in Pennsylvania

New York State Senate Witnesses Death Struggles of Tax Measure—Pennsylvania Lawmakers Planning to Measure Off Amount of Red Tape with View to Burdening Film Men

JUST when the film business is preparing to applaud its successful efforts in defeating the Wheeler Tax Bill, in New York State, the news comes from Pennsylvania that a $450,000 tax measure is under consideration in that State.

The Wheeler bill died a painless and lingering death in the New York State Senate chamber on the evening of May 10. The night before, in Harrisburg, Pa., Frederick K. Beyer, a representative from Philadelphia, took the floor of the Pennsylvania Lower House, and introduced a bill providing for a State tax of one per cent, per foot on all motion picture films passed by the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors.

Last year, the censors passed 45,000,000 feet of film, the tax on which, under the proposed plan, would have amounted to $450,000.

This Pennsylvania tax proposal is part of a revenue raising measure designed to help meet an estimated $12,000,000 increase in the State's general expenses for the next two years.

The Smith Bill, prohibiting the showing of motion pictures in any place licensed to sell liquors was passed by the Lower House.

This Pennsylvania tax proposal is part of a revenue raising measure designed to help meet an estimated $12,000,000 increase in the State's general expenses for the next two years.

The Smith Bill, prohibiting the showing of motion pictures in any place licensed to sell liquors was passed by the Lower House.

This Pennsylvania tax proposal is part of a revenue raising measure designed to help meet an estimated $12,000,000 increase in the State's general expenses for the next two years.

On Thursday evening that Majority Leader Brown reluctantly admitted his defeat, and so informed Senator Walters who had been leading the forces against the measure.

Much credit for the downfall of the Wheeler bill is due Grant Anson, legislative representative of the Exhibitors' League, whose zeal and night was unflagging.

The National Association was represented at Albany during the past week by Frederick H. Elliott, executive secretary who managed the forces in opposition to the Wheeler bill, Arthur S. Freund, of the Famous Player-Lasky Corporation, J. Robert Rubin, Metro, members of the Local and Legislative Committee of the association, Grant W. Anson, representing the Exhibitors' League; William Brandt, president of the Brooklyn Exhibitors and a member of the Executive Committee of the association, who also rendered valuable assistants. Samuel H. Trigger, president of the Exhibitors' Organization in Manhattan; Earl L. Crab, manager Strand theatre, Buffalo; Valentine O'Tuday, secretary, Buffalo Theatrical Managers' Association; Theodore Wharton, Wharton, Inc.; J. Welk, president Motion Picture Exhibitors' League, Syracuse, N.Y.; A. N. Wold, president Rochester Exhibitors' League, and David Cohen, Buffalo, were all active in securing support against the bill.

Following the defeat of the bill, Assemblyman Wheeler, after the adjournment of the Assembly on Thursday night, publicly announced that he would not return to the Legislature next year, and said goodbye to his associates.

Organizer Herrington Reaches Milwaukee

Enthusiastically Undertakes Revival of Defunct State Organization—Arranges Convention Dates for May 30 and 31 with Bright Prospects

"The exhibitor all over the country is waking up to the necessity of a real organization free from politics."

In these few well chosen words Fred J. Herrington outlined to the Motion Picture News representative at Milwaukee the conditions of things as he has found them in his whirlwind swing through the East and Middle Western states.

According to Mr. Herrington, the threatened war tax and the general unrest throughout the country has awakened the exhibitor as nothing else has done to the absolute necessity of presenting a strong, unbroken front to the world.

Mr. Herrington received a most enthusiastic reception when he arrived in Milwaukee Saturday. A special meeting was held by the Milwaukee exhibitors Monday, at which time it was arranged to hold a state convention in Milwaukee, May 30th and 31st. An instructed delegation to the Chicago convention July 14th.

At the same time the Milwaukee exhibitors filed an emphatic protest against the proposed Federal tax on the gross receipts.

The Milwaukee exhibitors have practically perfected their plans for the resurrection of the defunct state exhibitors' association, and from all indications at this writing, the state convention should be a large and enthusiastic one. The Milwaukee exhibitors are profuse in their praise of Mr. Herrington's activity, and it is to his credit that the credit should go for bringing back to life the state organization.

"I feel," said Mr. Herrington, "that there will be lots of new blood put into the organization in the Northwest through the election of several of the live wires whom I met at Minneapolis. Among them are Al Steffes, Mr. Green and Mr. Campbell. In Edition of the Allied Amendment, the exhibitors have a friend and champion whose value they cannot too greatly estimate. Dave Rogers, is another splendid worker, who stands for no politics in a business organization and who insists that the delegates to the National Convention be uninstruction."

While in Milwaukee, Mr. Herrington went into detail and explained to local exhibitors exactly what conditions were confronting them. He also met Mayor Hoan, and was greatly impressed with his friendliness to the local exhibitors. "It is difficult for me to say," said Mr. Herrington, "what branch of the industry is making the most demand on our time, but from my observations, that it is not the exhibiting end. In many states that I have been in, I find the exhibitors in the small towns and suburbs, where the houses are only open evenings are employed during the day in other positions working for wages."

War Tax Measure Fought by Cleveland Theatre Men

Strong feeling against the proposed War Tax was evinced at the meeting of Cleveland Local No. 1 on Tuesday, May 8, when for three hours this measure was the principal topic of discussion. As a result, the Sawyer preamble and resolution protesting against any tax whatever upon tickets or patrons by the coupon system, but favoring a direct income tax upon the owners and managers as the only clean cut way to get revenue was passed.

Judgment of the ten per cent, tax upon gross receipts would, it was pointed out, close half of the Cleveland theatres, inasmuch as they are not making ten per cent, upon their investment. The same effect in similar proportion, would be felt throughout the state of Ohio, it was said.

Unanimous support was offered by Cleveland Local to any direct income tax proposition, though the exemption clause might be made as low as $1,500 for single meals, $2,500 for married men; the contention being that where mothers and fathers are willingly giving their sons for service they should not be further taxed while visiting the movies to relieve their "mental stress" due to war conditions.
Goldwyn Analyses Complaints of Exhibitors

Although Goldwyn Pictures Corporation is as yet a company without a production, as far as releases are concerned, the interest which the announce-ments of this company have aroused among the exhibitors of the country has been great. The Goldwyn offices have received letters from exhibitors of every class throughout the United States, in which are discussed the intimate problems which affect both the producing and the exhibiting end of the business.

Many phases of these problems have been very frankly stated, with an expressed desire that the operation of the new concern could be so framed as to eliminate or avoid the friction spots. In a statement from the Goldwyn offices, analysis of this constructive criticism reveals the fact that the relations between exchanges and exhibitors is by far the chief source of trouble. That exchanges either are not run on hard and fast business principles, do not do business in a businesslike manner, are not efficient, or are not profit-minded, are not courteous, or are short-sighted and do not have the ultimate good of the exhibitory, who is their customer, at heart, and frequently descend to petty methods for revenging themselves on exhibitors who have incurred their displeasure, are the complaints most commonly met.

"Give us business men—not overgrown office boys," pleads one. "Give us gentle- men to deal with," pleads another. Looking closer, we read that delay in shipments of film from the exchange to the exhibitor is a frequent complaint, and the shipment of film in a bad condition is another.

The quality of the film itself, the exchange's fair expressions both ways on film shipments is constantly dis- cussed by the men who run picture houses. Aside from the kicks over advance de- posits with the exchanges, another source of trouble is found in the lack of a hard-and-fast scale of prices for pictures. Ex- hibitors have complained that they have had offers turned down by the distributor only to find, later on, that the same picture has already been sold at a lower price to a rival. The exhibitor has, as he naturally concludes, double-crossed him. There are many com- plaints of this.

With the buyers of regular programs the "fighting phrase" seems to be "special re- lease." "There are weak sisters in most programs," they argue, and if we run these we are entitled to all the strong pictures at the regular price. Having to pay extra for so-called special releases, we have to charge advanced prices to our patrons, with a resultant backlash of kicks at the house office proposition.

And allied to this is the great dissatis- faction many exhibitors have voiced with the State-rights system. Many contend that the pictures are sold at such high prices as to make the permanent showing of State- rights pictures a ruinous proposition for the exhibitors, since regular patrons are driven away by the resulting advance in admission charges, and others complain that the people who exploit State rights often have no far-seeing policies for good of the business.

Abrams Gives Portland Its Baseball Team

Producer's Home Town Turns Out to Greet a Favorite Son — Special Train for Ceremonies

Mr. Lasky told the diners how much re- spect the film industry had for Mr. Abrams. Mayor Chapman assured the gathering that New Yorkers have no better liking for Mr. Abrams than have Portlanders.

Walthall Leaves Essanay

Walthall, popular character actor, has left the Essanay company, under whose brand he appeared in many of his best known productions. Mr. Walthall's contract expired last week.

Mr. Lasky told the diners how much res- pect the film industry had for Mr. Abrams. Mayor Chapman assured the gathering that New Yorkers have no better liking for Mr. Abrams than have Portlanders.

Patty Arbuckle is said to have studded his crown with a few more gems as an after dinner speaker.

The question of paying express both ways on film shipments is constantly dis- cussed by the men who run picture bouses.

The negotiations between the Lone Star Corporation, owners of the pictures, and Mr. Glucksman were conducted by the Oceanic's manager, B. J. Brandon, and Frederick H. Knocke, New York purchasing agent for Mr. Knocke.

Globe Films Handling Ivan Product in Canada

Arthur Cohen, president of Globe Films Limited, Toronto, Ont., announces through the New York office of Ivan Film Productions, Inc., that the Canadian distribution of Ivan's films is successfully launched. M. Fischer, manager of Globe Films, will shortly make a business trip to the outlying provinces.
Exhibitors Face New Crisis in Threatened Express Tie-up

May 26, 1917

TIME TO WAKE UP!
Don't wait until the express companies are tied-up. Get in touch now with the postmaster of your town and find out about parcel post shipping.

The postal authorities are anxious to serve you; they will do all in their power to expedite film shipments.

Experts agree that the railroad situation is serious. What are you going to do about it?

Exhibitors Face New Crisis in Threatened Express Tie-up

Exhibitors of America are facing a possible new crisis, brought about by America's plunge into the war. Express shipments of film, unless the railroad congestion is relieved soon, may be absolutely uncertain. Express service in the near future threatens to be paralyzed.

Although some railroad companies in the country are taking off trains, some of which are express carriers, and putting the locomotives to work hauling freight, railroad service, for economical reasons too, is being slashed everywhere.

Monday, May 15, the Erie Railroad discontinued 65 trains.

Railroad executives, when interviewed for Motion Picture News admitted that affairs are in bad shape.

One official stated that the lack of mechanics had partly paralyzed the railroads.

"The excessively heavy traffic of the past winter," he said, "has left the locomotives weakened for this spring's haulage. A locomotive is like a human being. It has to have rest, and when a locomotive has received no rest the engine houses are exhausted of good mechanics by the munition factories."

Another railroad man said: "Economy—ruthless economy—is to be practiced from now on. Useless passenger trains (and express trains among them) are to be taken off at once. That means a discontinuance of many so-called theatre specials."

The theatre specials are very often the means by which the exhibitor ships his film by express, after the show, to the next town.

Edward Hungerford, of the Wells Fargo Express Company, and a prominent industrial writer, takes a more optimistic view, although he admits that the express service will suffer.

"Many short runs to suburban communities will be decreased," said Mr. Hungerford to Motion Picture News. "Probably the express service will be injured somewhat. I don't say that it will be crippled—not as far as the exhibitor is concerned. I estimate that the decrease in express company service will not amount to more than 10 per cent."

There are many who do not share Mr. Hungerford's optimism.

At the New York offices of the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee members there admitted that the whole railroad situation is serious. The railroads of the entire country are in charge of a "Committee of Five," who exercise complete jurisdiction, composed of the following:

Chairman, Hale Holden, President of the Burlington; Howard Elliott, Chairman of the Northern Pacific; Fairfax Harrison, President of the Southern Railway; Samuel Rea, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Julius Kruttschnitt, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Southern System.

The committee has charge of routing and shipments of all kinds. In case of necessity the "Committee of Five" will use their dictatorial power as they see fit. In case of railroad congestion nothing but absolute necessities will be carried, such as food and munitions. All "superfluous" matter, as one official expressed it, will be put aside until the congestion is relieved.

The Committee on Car Service, which recently was absorbed by the National Defense Committee, has been sitting in Washington for the past four months deciding upon what will be considered "superfluous matter." That means that the receipts of the receipt, dispatch, and delivery of this kind of mail, and postmasters will have to be notified of the arrival of parcels containing film.

Complaints received at the Department indicate that packages containing motion picture films are not being delivered as promptly as possible. As soon as a mail train comes in the mail are sent right up to the post office, there are sent right up to the post office. There is no delay.

Mr. Mulker believes that the point of greatest interest to the exhibitor in the order from the First Assistant Postmaster General is the clause: "That addressee should be notified that a parcel containing motion picture films . . . has arrived."

This notification, said Mr. Mulker, will incur no expense to the post office. In other words, if the exhibitor will get in touch with his post office, very likely the postmaster will notify him by telephone when films come in, provided the exhibitor defrays the telephone cost.

In view of the impending seriousness of the express situation it is deemed advisable by many that such an organization as the National Association of Motion Picture Industry should immediately get in touch with the First Assistant Postmaster General in Washington to devise means of further expediting film shipments by parcel post.

Postal authorities are anxious to secure film shipments because of the revenue they bring in, and they would undoubtedly be willing to consider all sound schemes for speeding up film handling.

Friedman in New York

Ben Friedman, president of the Friedman Enterprises, Inc., controlling the world rights of the feature "The Mormon Maid," has arrived in New York from a trip throughout the West. He will attend to further business connected with the exploitation of the picture.

Slowing Up of Express Service Likely, Due to "Ruthless Economy" of Railroads and Urgent Demands for Freight Trains by War Council—Post Office Gets Order to Expedite Film Delivery

"Complaints received at the Department indicate that packages containing motion picture films are not being delivered as promptly as possible at all offices."

The use of the postal service for the transmission of motion picture films depends largely upon the confidence on the part of the shipper that the parcels will be handled expeditiously. This is essential to the efficient exchange of films.

To the end that prompt delivery shall be effected of this kind of mail postmasters at city-delivery offices will please give special attention to the receipt, dispatch, and delivery of motion picture films. When the postmaster shall in any way fail to ensure that the letter carrier the addressee should be notified of the fact that a parcel containing motion picture films has arrived at the post office and will be delivered within call."

As a result of the delivery of the film post office special attention will be given in the receipt, dispatch, and delivery of this kind of mail, and postmasters will be notified of the arrival of parcels containing film."

"J. C. Koons, "First Asst. P. M. Gen."
Selznick last week came out with a strong statement impressing the value of the long run to the exhibitor, "It is surprising," says Mr. Selznick, "that in New York, for example, there are only two houses in the downtown section, where pictures are given a week's run. And it is still more astonishing that in these two theatres no photodrama, no matter how excellent, is permitted more than its seven days. Yet in Los Angeles, with only a fraction of the population to draw from, there are six houses in the business section where no picture goes on for less than a week, and if business warrants continuance, they are kept for two, and three weeks at a stretch."

"Now every time I mention reforms, I have to mention the program system for contrast, and so I cannot be accused of standing alone, I want to quote what Julian Johnson, editor of Photoplay Magazine, says about long runs and programs in an editorial in the June issue.

"There is no reason why a photodrama should not be as carefully made as the best play you ever saw," he said, "but patience and diligence are not worth while when the affair is flung into the projection booth at noon and yanked out at midnight."

"Good plays and their endurance on the screens are demolishing the program's last stronghold in this country."

Actors Combine and Produce First Picture

Not to be outdone by the combination of producers, State rights buyers and exhibitors, who have followed each other in quick succession, a number of well-known actors have formed a combination to produce their own features and market them through State right buyers under the brand name Fraternity Films.

The plan originated last December. Charles Abrams and Arthur Werner, of Abrams and Werner, worked out the details, and the first picture, which was started on Jan. 1, has just been completed. It is a modern drama of college life in nine reels, entitled "The Devil's Playground," written by Dallas Tyler and Harry McRae Webster. Miss Tyler also appears in the picture, while Mr. Webster was its director.

The idea of actors sharing in the profits of pictures which are financed and produced by themselves is, in itself, an innovation, but an added interest attaches to the "The Devil's Playground" because of the fact that four months were given to its making instead of the usual few weeks.

Among the names prominent in Fraternity Films, Inc., are Vera Michelenia, William H. Toolker, Robert Cummings, Harry Spingler, George Trimble, Dallas Tyler, Charles Abrams and Werner, who are looking out for the business interest of the organization.

Look for U. S. Carbon Embargo

Canadian exhibitors are laying up moving picture carbons in the expectation of an embargo from the United States, due to the fact that the United States has entered the war.
New Tax Bill Aroused British Columbia Exhibitors

The Provincial Government of British Columbia has introduced an amusement tax bill which has caused consternation among the theatre men of the province.

The bill provides a tax of 5 cents to be levied on each admission ticket costing 15 cents, and it is claimed by representative exhibitors that the attendance will thereby be decreased to an extent that will not only cripple the theatre seriously, but will fail on this account to bring the government the revenue which they expect.

They point out that the admission tax has been raised and extra large attractions furnished and the attendance at once dropped in numbers and also in the total receipts as compared with the cheaper admission fee.

The different amounts to be levied are as follows: When the admission fee is 10 cents or under the tax will be 2 cents on each ticket; when the admission fee is over 10 cents and not over 50 cents, the tax will be 5 cents; when the admission fee is over 50 cents and not over $1 the tax will be 10 cents, and when the admission fee is over $1 the tax will be 15 cents.

The onus of collecting the tax will be on the exhibitor, and both he and the person who enters a place of amusement without paying the tax will be liable to a fine of not less than $10 and not over $100.

Sunshine Film Company Formed at $100,000

Among the corporations of the week reported to Motion Picture News by the Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey is the Sunshine Film Co., of New York City, which has been formed with a capitalization of $100,000 by Maurice Lef- fert, Edmund Field and Emil Harder, all of New York.

Other new corporations reported are:

1. Educational Feature Company, New York City, incorporated at $5,000 by Louis B. Bloom, Walter A. Sheehan and Jacob Ginsburg.
2. Sidney Olcott Players, Inc., amount of capitalization unstated. The organizers are: R. B. Seymour, J. J. Gallagher and Sidney S. Bobbs.

The Titan Pictures Corporation was formed in Wilmington, Del., for $100,000, by E. B. Brennan, R. B. Marlowe, Clarence F. Hoy and F. R. Clark, all of Chicago.

Lack of Certainty in Tax Causes Building Abandonments

The refusal of the Fredericton, New Brunswick, city government to name a just and equitable tax for the motion picture houses doing business in Fredericton has caused George W. Fenety and A. J. Greg- ory, promoters of a $20,000 house, to abandon their plans for constructing this Summer and may mean that a bill will be introduced in the 1918 legislature asking that the city be empowered to name a stipulated fee for all motion picture houses.
Strand Contracts to Take Goldwyn Pictures

Mitchel H. Mark of Strand Theatre, signed a contract for first run of Twenty-six Goldwyn Features, Year’s Output.

Beginning in September the Strand, one of New York’s largest photo-play houses, will present Goldwyn Pictures taking the entire year’s output of twenty-six productions, showing one every second week in the year. This was announced by Goldwyn Pictures Corporation after a contract to that effect had been entered into and signed by Mitchell H. Mark and his associates, owners of the Strand, Harold Edel, manager of the theatre, and Goldwyn Pictures Corporation. This means that Goldwyn Pictures will be shown first to the New York public at the Strand theatre.

This alliance is significant in the motion picture world, and its importance can be summed up best by a letter to Samuel Goldfish, president of Goldwyn, written by Mitchell H. Mark, of the Strand, as follows:

"From the day of the first Goldwyn announcement we have expected much from your organization. The personnel of ownership places the stamp of expertise and thoroughness upon your company.

"The contract we have signed for the Strand shows the best proof of our belief in Goldwyn. If there is value to Goldwyn in linking our names or the prestige of our theatre with your organization, this letter is at your disposal for that purpose.

"We do not hesitate to tell you that the quality and excellence of your productions will further stimulate the Strand to maintain the high levels of picture showmanship which we are known to have established and for which we have received credit throughout the industry."

It is announced that the Goldwyn organization, beginning with the first showing of their pictures by the Strand will take an active part with the management of that theatre in devising a particular type of exhibition not to be repeated in the showing of Goldwyn pictures. This alliance will give to the Strand the screen ideals of Goldwyn stars, and Goldwyn’s staff of specialists.

Greater Vitagraph Hard Hit by War Call

Following in the wake of Morgan Picture News’ warning, of the severity with which the war call would hit the ranks of the film business, comes a report from the New York office of V-L-S-E, in which it is stated that that organization will lose at least 50 per cent of its men.

The V-L-S-E auditing department at 1000 Broadway, New York, alone loses six employees, all of whom already have enlisted. They are: William H. Willis, Officers’ Training Camp; David McBeth, First Field Artillery; Charles McGovern, Naval Militia (battleship); John Marek, Naval Militia (submarine chaser); William Munn, Naval Militia (submarine chaser), and Frank Hladik, Hospital Corps. This comprises more than half of the auditing department, which is under C. Wyckoff.

Walter W. Irwin, general manager of V-L-S-E, believing the situation to be serious, sent out a list of questions which every V-L-S-E employee will be compelled to answer. With the questions, which inquire into the physical ability and domestic obligations of the men, was a letter stating that the charting was necessary in order that V-L-S-E might protect patriotic employees on their return from war should any be called to the colors.

"In the meantime we will advance in position the employees who for any reason are unable to respond to the call," said Mr. Irwin.

The suggestion that women be trained to take the places of the men is said to have been met with skepticism. They were given a two weeks’ trial. "Two weeks," says a statement from V-L-S-E, "proved beyond all doubt that V-L-S-E might protect patriotic employees on their return from war should any be called to the colors.

"In the meantime we will advance in position the employees who for any reason are unable to respond to the call," said Mr. Irwin.

The suggestion that women be trained to take the places of the men is said to have been met with skepticism. They were given a two weeks’ trial. "Two weeks," says a statement from V-L-S-E, "proved beyond all doubt that V-L-S-E might protect patriotic employees on their return from war should any be called to the colors.

Garfield Has "Submarine Eye"

Herman J. Garfield, a state rights buyer of the middle west, has just closed for "The Submarine Eye" for the Roman Film Co. Mr. Garfield expects to open up larger offices in a more favorable location which will probably be the Keith Hippodrome.

Mr. Garfield has handled Dante’s "Inferno," "Neptune’s Daughter" and other large productions.

Warren and Palley Active

The Warren and Palley Film Company, Campau Building, Detroit, have made a number of important purchases during the past thirty days, all of which will be controlled by them for the State of Michigan.

These purchases include "Web of Life," feature; Billy West Comedies, and the Ivan productions.

Broadway Run for Williamson’s "The Submarine Eye"

Within the next two weeks Williamson Brothers will present their third subsea drama "The Submarine Eye" at the Liberty theatre, New York, for an indefinite run. The fact that Klaw and Erlanger have sufficient confidence in this feature to book it indefinitely, was taken by the producers as a big tribute to the artistry shown in filming, and a hearty endorsement of the picture itself.

Aside from the producers claim that "The Submarine Eye" is a super-dramatic story of intense interest, the particular appeal of greater import than mere entertainment, lays according to Williamson Bros., in the revelation of an inverted periscope that points the way to effective preparedness against skilful submariners. It may be, they say, that a variation of it will be soon employed in the big subsea conflict.

Buys World Rights to "Her Fighting Chance"

Frank G. Hall, who recently bought the world rights to Edgar Lewis’ "The Bar Sinister" has acquired the world rights to "Her Fighting Chance," a seven-reel drama depicting life in the Canadian Northwest, and starring Jane Grant. Thomas Holding, who has appeared in many Paramount productions, has the principal male role. Territorial rights to the photodrama will be marketed by Frank Hall Productions, Inc., of the Longacre Building.

Big Central Studio Taken by Mayfair Company

Mayfair Film Corporation has taken a long period lease on the studio situated at 315-517 West 54th Street, New York, in accordance with the desire of President M. A. Schlesinger to have a roomy plant readily accessible to all members of the company.

Extensive alterations are being made at the present time under the supervision of experts in studio lighting. Many extra banks of Cooper Hewitts, Wohl Bordsides and Kliegel lights are being installed.

An extra loft has been secured away from the studio proper and here the scenes will be erected and the carpenter and work shops housed so that no noises will interfere with the work of the players. With the idea of giving the studio an atmosphere of newness and conducive of pleasant surroundings the entire plant is being repainted and renovated.

These alterations will be completed by the 21st of May when Miss Peggy Hyland, under the direction of Mr. Charles J. Brabin will commence work on her first Mayfair production.

Hall in New Suite

Frank Hall Productions, Inc., through which the territory rights to the new Edgar Lewis drama of race equality, "The Bar Sinister" will be distributed, is established in a suite of offices on the seventh floor of the Longacre Building.

In addition to marketing productions Mr. Hall will direct his chain of theatres in New Jersey, and also the affairs of the Civilization Film Corporation of Newark, from the New York headquarters.
Fox Gives Ogden Exhibitor Newspaper Boost

NEWSPAPERS almost without exception are willing to throw open their columns to genuine news stories, even though the stories are inspired by some live-wire press agent or exhibitor. That was one reason why Manager Joseph F. Goss of the Orpheum theatre, Ogden, Utah, had no trouble in getting columns of publicity in the Ogden and Salt Lake papers a few days ago, when he induced William Fox of the Fox pictures to stop over a short while in Ogden on his way back to New York from Los Angeles.

Manager Goss rounded up a few newspaper reporters, informed them that William Fox, one of the foremost producers in the country, was to stop over in Ogden for a short time, and suggested that they might get a good story from him on the effect the war would have upon the motion picture industry in the United States. Realizing the interest the reading public would take in the views of a man of Fox’s prominence, the newspapermen were only too glad to avail themselves of the opportunity.

When asked what effect the participation of the United States in war would have upon the motion picture business, Mr. Fox said:

“I don’t think the war will have any effect whatever upon the motion picture industry. For that matter, I don’t believe it will have any particularly bad effect on business conditions in this country at all. Things have been a little panicky for the last few days, there have been some depressions in stocks, and some people have foolishly withdrawn their deposits from the banks. This will all pass over in a week or so, however, and things will continue as before.”

Fox on Intrinsic Value of Picture Publicity

Jacob Wilk, of the firm of Hiller and Wilk, State rights film brokers, says that publicity in picture promotion should equal, for successful results, the actual value of the production.

“That is to say,” said Mr. Wilk, “that, however good a motion picture production may be, it should have a sum of publicity value equal to its own intrinsic dramatic excellence. Suppose you spend $50,000 on a production, then you should give it publicity to the estimated value of $50,000 before you really make your picture the asset that it should be.”

“A Mormon Maid is remarkable in these days for the enormous publicity value that it has received since its initial trade showing on Feb. 1 at the Strand theatre, New York City. The theme is being discussed in the newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic.

“Mormonism is one of the developments of theology which is so new, and which had so many primitive practices associated with it only a few short years ago, in Utah, that the world still talks about it, and still contemplates with awe, wonder and possible horror the alleged mysterious rites that were associated with this form of religion.

“A Mormon Maid’s” high dramatic qualities, careful direction and superb photography (it is one of the best pieces of camera work seen in a decade) focussed universal attention upon it so soon as it was first shown to the public. It began to be talked about, was admired and appreciated. State right men bought; and state right men are still either buying or negotiating for the picture at the present time.

“Now comes its presentation at the Park theatre, Columbus Circle, New York, and there it has drawn large and appreciative audiences. In its way, it has had more valuable publicity than most pictures of recent prominence.”

Linder Better—May Soon Work Again

Essanay last week stated that Max Linder who was several weeks ago reported stricken with a touch of tuberculosis is greatly improved, and should his health permit would launch into the production of his fourth comedy for Essanay, the script of which is already prepared very shortly.

Big Deal Closed for Art Dramas In Northern Territory

Following a hurried trip West on the part of George Wiley, president in the Art Dramas organization, comes the announcement that long-pending negotiations between that company and the Standard Film Corporation were closed for the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Upper Wisconsin.

R. C. Cropper, president and general manager of the distributing organization, took advantage of the recent Exhibitors Convention in Minneapolis and spent several days there for the purpose of studying conditions in the territory and to make arrangements for the location and opening of new offices.

Frank Woods on Way East

Frank E. Woods, for the past four years general manager of production at the Griffith Fine Arts Studios, and right-hand man to the producer, The Birth of a Nation,” has finally completed his connections with Triangle, and is expected in New York toward the end of this week. Following the recent Triangle reorganization Mr. Woods was urged to continue with that company. He consented only to remain until the completion of the pictures then under way at the Fine Arts Studios, and is now looking forward to a much-needed vacation, although having several propositions under consideration.

Round World in Three Years

Lorimer Johnston’s Record

Lorimer Johnston, producer, has returned from Africa’s diamond region, having been away from his native heath since 1914. Much of his time was spent in Africa near Johannesburg, Transvaal, and in the wild districts to the north.

A “Patria” Ball

At the presentation of “Patria” in Portland, Ore., the Ladies’ Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans gave a “Patria” ball. More than four hundred persons including many regular Army officers, Spanish War Veterans and members of the National Guard were present.
WITH THE EXHIBITOR

South Carolina Assn. Celebrates First Year

Business Meetings and Barbecue Plans Under Discussion

Forty-seven highly enthusiastic exhibitors from many sections of the state attended the first annual session of the South Carolina League at Columbia, May 9. A feature of the day was a barbecue served at Irwin Park by the Columbia exhibitor. The next meeting will be held at Wrightsville Beach, June 14, 15 and 16, with the North Carolina association.

Officers elected were: George C. Warner of Columbia, president; Albert Sollite of Charleston, C. L. Henry of Spartanburg and J. M. O’Dowd of Florence, district presidents; E. Capers Haselden of Georgetown, secretary, and H. B. Wells of Newberry, treasurer. The directors include the following: S. W. Craver of Columbia and S. A. Miller of Sumter.

Several business sessions were held at the Jefferson Hotel, the address of welcome being delivered by Lewie A. Griffith, mayor of Columbia. R. B. Anderson of Charleston introduced all of the speakers.

Percy Wells of Wilmington, president of the North Carolina League, discussed the value of organization and of the results which have been secured in his state.

U. T. Cook read a paper on the relation between the exhibitor and the exchange. James Kelly of Atlanta told of early experience of the Texas state organization.

H. H. Warner, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina League, sent a paper on the value of organization.

U. T. Cook read a paper on the relation between the exhibitor and the exchange. James Kelly of Atlanta told of early experience of the Texas state organization.

Michigan Convention Plans Maturing

The annual convention of Michigan Branch No. 4, A. M. P. E. L. of America, will be held at Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12 and 13, with headquarters at the Hotel Pantlind.

President Kleist and Secretary A. J. Moeller have not yet announced the complete program of the meetings, but a very rigid business program is being outlined. It will be to the interest of every exhibitor in the State of Michigan to make an earnest endeavor to be in attendance. Grand Rapids was selected on account of the complaints from exhibitors in the central and northern part of the state, that the distance to Detroit was too far, and it is expected that these sections will be well represented. In view of the fact, that the censor bill was defeated and that the Sunday closing bill was not put over, it is none too early to prepare for the renewal of the attack at the legislative session two years hence.

Personal assurances from several of the largest exhibitors in the state have been received, that they will take an active interest, which is very encouraging.

The following telegram has been received from Washington by Secretary Moeller:

"Your telegram received, I shall oppose the assessment of tax being placed on gross business of theatres, it is an unjust tax and I shall oppose it vigorously."

"(Signed) Wm. Almen Smith."

Michigan Convention Plans Maturing

The annual convention of Michigan Branch No. 4, A. M. P. E. L. of America, will be held at Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12 and 13, with headquarters at the Hotel Pantlind.

President Kleist and Secretary A. J. Moeller have not yet announced the complete program of the meetings, but a very rigid business program is being outlined. It will be to the interest of every exhibitor in the State of Michigan to make an earnest endeavor to be in attendance. Grand Rapids was selected on account of the complaints from exhibitors in the central and northern part of the state, that the distance to Detroit was too far, and it is expected that these sections will be well represented. In view of the fact, that the censor bill was defeated and that the Sunday closing bill was not put over, it is none too early to prepare for the renewal of the attack at the legislative session two years hence.

Personal assurances from several of the largest exhibitors in the state have been received, that they will take an active interest, which is very encouraging.

The following telegram has been received from Washington by Secretary Moeller:

"Your telegram received, I shall oppose the assessment of tax being placed on gross business of theatres, it is an unjust tax and I shall oppose it vigorously."

"(Signed) Wm. Almen Smith."

Joining Universal Office

W. H. Teeple is a new addition to the Sales Staff of the Canadian Universal Film Co., at Toronto, for the Ontario Territory. Mr. Teeple was formerly with the Mutual Film Co., and for a while will handle Bluebird Photoplays.

Cropper Urges Des Moines Exhibitors to Organize

R. C. Cropper, president of the Standard Film Corporation, Art Dramas distributors, made an inspection tour of the Des Moines and St. Louis offices of his company last week, arriving in Des Moines at a very opportune time. Mr. Cropper had formerly been an active leader in that territory, and his local manager, Mr. Williams, had tipped off some of the prominent local exhibitors to his visit. The result was that Mr. Cropper laid aside all other business to help these men form an organization, and gave them one of the best straight-from-the-shoulder get-together-exhibitor talks ever listened to by them.

ON THE FIRING LINE

Mary Pickford, Bessie Barriscale, Douglas Fairbanks and Bill Hart, are the favorite stars of patrons of the NUSHO and COLUMBIA THEATRES, Anadarko, Okla., reports Manager W. H. Moore, who dates back six years in the game in the same place and has always banked on the efficacy of a varied program. He has used a selected program picked from the first-class pictures available in his territory. "A little of everything" as he expresses it.

"She's a Peach."—We are telling you about the new ELBERTA THEATRE, BRIGHAM, UTAH. W. R. Dredge, manager, says this peach of a theatre, named after the crop that makes Brigham City famous, has a "peach" of a sign seven feet in diameter, which we can picture in its attractive coloring true to nature's glory of blushing tints. Metro and Vitagraph pictures make a "peach of a program"—and prices are always the same, 5 and 10 cents. No "specials" are used that require price raising to make money for the house. Building reputation for consistently good pictures is the aim.

The STRAND THEATRE, Altoona, PA., was built May 21, 1916, and has just completed a successful first year, absorbing and closing the PASTIME THEATRE on April 1 last. This is a strictly "open booking" house, operated by SILVERMAN BROTHERS, who report "business getting better weekly." The Strand is a fireproof structure with all modern improvements seating 1,600.

E. E. Brady is a newcomer breaking into the "movie game." He is using many years' experience on the road to put ginge into the FAMILY THEATRE, Altoona, PA., and reports good business so far. He finds he has to keep his eyes wide open with road attractions, but those who have tried to "get him" have found his eyes-teeth pretty well cut.
Exhibitors are Organizing
—Are You?

Maine has sent in a call for the services of Fred J. Herrington, national organizer. Virginia exhibitors have also asked for his presence and a Virginia convention has been set for May 25th at Richmond. A big turnout is promised. Virginia exhibitors want to organize.

South Carolina exhibitors held their State Convention at Columbia on May 9th. Other exhibitors, Branch No. 1, will hold an important pre-convention meeting in Cleveland May 15th. Big state conventions to follow are: Texas, June 12th and 13th; Michigan, Hotel Pantlind, Grand Rapids, June 12th and 13th; North Carolina, Wrightsville Beach, June 14th and 16th.

Leaving Kansas City, Mr. Herrington's present itinerary takes him through the South. He will gladly arrange to visit any Southern State. Write or wire us and we will wire him.

Many states have joined the national organization which have never been in before. Every state will probably send a delegation to Chicago.

Every state should. Right now a huge annual war budget of more than twenty million dollars faces the exhibitors of the country.

This budget must be collected equitably. Only one thing will assure every exhibitor of just treatment this year, and that is his membership in a national organization capable of protecting his interests.

You must join the League this year. You must go to Chicago.

Fred J. Herrington will help you organize. His services are at your disposal.

Let us know when you want Mr. Herrington and we will advise him at once.

Send this coupon in to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 729 Seventh Ave., New York City.
Mr. Tanklown X, Editor,

My Dear Tank:

This concern, it is quite evident is flying in the face of Providence. It actually strikes some strong points as made in the accompanying letter from the subtle pen of Leander Richardson, from which we quote:

"But Circle, through oversight, I presume, neglects to tell you that the bonding company does not become financially responsible until all of a sudden, and not until you are right or wrong, your credit is impugned and you sustain the burden of having forfeited your bond.

The discovery of these carefully thought out cures for the ills of your life and your brother's life, is one I know of that does not indulge in these practices, is World Film.

And now, by easy, graceful stages let us proceed to the heaven-born proposition of Circle to do away with the open booking system of the various pictures so that any exhibitor needs in order to be within reaching distance of health, wealth and happiness, is less philanthropy and more square deals. Indeed, it seems to me to be extremely strange that all business relations in every walk of life have not been readjusted long since in a manner to change an investment into a bet.

"Yours in deep concern,

"O. N. Looker."

EXHIBITOR PERSONALS

ILLINOIS.— Evanston: G. F. Teettel, the new manager of the Triangle theatre on Chicago avenue, has quite a task confronting him. Among his plans will be an effort to go courteous to get contracts for higher class pictures than have been shown for some time. Other improvements which the old management had not thought of will be put in operation as soon as possible. Teettel knows the business in all its details, since he handled three show houses in Chicago before coming to Evanston. He lives at 559 East Sixty-third street, Chicago.

Hoopston: A. M. Kelly, owner of the Princess and Lyric theatres of Hoopston, is to erect a new electric sign 13 x 8 feet, on which message will be given to patrons of the theatre. The new signs will be erected just outside the doors of the theatre, and will be visible from a distance of one-fourth mile.

Benton: Manager Cloves, of the Mars theatre, is planning to increase the seating capacity to 700. New chairs and new draperies will be installed on the partitions between the theatre, and the room formerly occupied by the box office, and remove the box office, lobby, etc., into this room, leaving the entire floor space in the Mars room for seats. Mr. Cloves was in St. Louis three or four weeks ago buying additional seats and furnishings.

Among other things, an up-to-date cooler system is to be installed, so as to make the place comfortable through the heated season. The theatre is to be remodeled, redecorated throughout, making it the prettiest and most comfortable picture house in Southern Illinois. In the meantime the place will be closed and the Auditorium used until it is ready to reopen with the special feature, "God's Country," a new Western picture produced by the Vitagraph people.

Hardin: Pete Casebner was here last Thursday and Friday to store clearing the store for A. B. Campbell with which he will run picture show. He may later light up the village. Pete is an enterprising man, doing the local and a help to any community. He was in the employ of Fred Pender, one of Butchertown's merchants.

INDIANA.—Greensburg: Ezra Rhoda, proprietor of the LéSalle theatre at South Bend, has the lease on the theatre at Greentown from the Attorney of South Bend for a period of five years. He will take possession next Monday. The old theatre has been in the same theatre about 18 months ago and it has been used for motion pictures. This policy will probably continue.

TOWA.—Dubuque: The Orpheum theatre, managed by Lasker & Co., has been rechristened the Plaza. This popular house runs Paramount pictures every Wednesday and Friday.

KANSAS.—Hiawatha: Roy Sweetland, manager of the Sixth Street theatre, Hiawatha, has just recently given the school girls the ball of the year, which is the Famous Players - Paramount production, "Flying from Holland." The girls of the Hiawatha High School took the affair very seriously, and Mr. Sweetland has favored us with a post bath photograph showing the large audience that was so active on this special occasion.

Philadelphia: W. R. Gates, manager Airdome theatre here, has arranged to give a series of benefits for the benefit of the Negroes are given every Thursday night, at which time the Paramount pictures are shown. Mr. Howat has two other theatres now showing the pictures during the week, one on Friday night, at which time the film "Bright Lantern" and Burton Holmes travels. The other one on Saturday night with a Paramount-Bray Comedy Cartoon.

Kansas City: Dr. C. W. Wyman has purchased the Mozart theatre here. The Wymans have recently moved to Kansas City from Kirkville and the doctor is ably assisted in the management of the Mozart by his wife.

MICHIGAN.—Ironwood: The Rialto theatre opened its doors last Thursday to reveal a new show. The theatre is to be run for several days. The inside of the theatre has been remodeled and redecorated in a tasteful manner. The new theatre is to be a showpiece for the city and the management is to be commended for its efforts.

Sault Ste. Marie: New motion picture machines have been installed in the Temple theatre by Messrs. Cook and Gallagher of the Sault Amusement Co. The new machines are the latest type, the already up-to-date equipment of the theatre. Two Power shows have been placed in the Star theatre while a new show is being made complete on the market, has been installed in the Temple theatre.

Port Huron: Herbert Weil, a newspaper man of Port Huron, has leased the Bijou theatre in that city. He says he is going to show Majestic as he has been doing for some time and will offer a full season of pictures at a cheap price. Mr. Weil is managing editor of the Port Huron Times-Herald.

Royal Oak: The Royal Oak theatre has been sold to Edward Breidahl, who plans to enlarge the house and transform it into a practically new theatre.

MISSOURI.—Paris: Nipper and Sebastian, managers of the Opera House here, have been busy this week in closing their theatre because of contagious disease in the city. They thought it best to close all public gathering places, even including churches for a short time.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo: McCarthy Bros., owners of the Isis theatre here, and other moving picture houses in North and South Dakota cities, have been visited by the city health officer from Ed. Nelson, and take charge May 15. The city health officer is doing a very thorough investigation of the Isis, a number of improvements are contemplated.

PENNSYLVANIA.—West Philadelphia: Stanley V. Masibaum has just purchased the Globe theatre, West Philadelphia from Charles Cunningham for $150,000. This theatre, which has a seating capacity of 3,000, is one of the newly built picture houses and is well equipped. Although Mr. Masibaum was the individual buyer, the theatre will be managed by the Stanley Company, and the Globe will be a photoplay theatre. This adds another to the already large list of moving picture houses now controlled by the Stanley Company.

WISCONSIN.—Boscobel: V. M. Smrcina, of Prairie du Chien, formerly manager of the Metropolitan theatre here, has purchased the Star theatre. He may later light up the village. Pete is an enterprising man, doing the local and a help to any community. He was in the employ of Fred Pender, one of Butchertown's merchants.

Vol. 15. No. 21

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
"Beware the Snake"

The engagement of Mrs. Vernon Castle in "Patria" was given some clever advertising in Robinson, Illinois. The Strand management placed a barrel in front of a local store. The barrel was covered with a heavy netting and a sign reading, "Don't feed the snakes," was placed on top of it.

Noble Stiel, a Robinson youth, stood nearby and cautioned passers-by. They made it a point to give a peep into the barrel, but no snakes were visible. A sign in the bottom of the barrel advertised Mrs. Castle. Needless to say a record business was done.

Elmwood Stops Mailing List Waste

The Elmwood theatre, Buffalo, has an ingenious way of stopping the waste distribution which occurs in any mailing list. In sending out its announcements for the forthcoming week, the Elmwood uses an envelope with the words in large type: "Is this your correct address?"

The Elmwood's leaflet, incidentally, is attractively arranged. It is a folder with three leaves. Besides the news of coming events, the manager, E. O. Weinstein, finds room for a small advertisement which probably offsets the cost of printing considerably.

Whole Sale Use of Billboards for O. Henry Films

The new Rialto theatre, San Francisco, has gone in whole heartedly for 24-sheet posters in connection with the O. Henry pictures, which are being released on the General Film Program. The Rialto is using forty-four stands of 24-sheets. The advertising is said to be drawing very well.

How Is Business?

We know that you are an extremely busy man, and that the time you can spare to devote to mapping out advertising, programs, etc., is extremely limited. Is your advertising expenditure earning what it should? We will be glad to study your programs and advertisements, to criticize and to make helpful suggestions. It won't cost you a cent.

Economize on Programs

A prominent publisher told us recently that the war is sure to double the cost of print paper. That means, for one thing, that programs will cost more than ever. Programs in most cases are necessary. If the weekly program is popular, but we urgently recommend the monthly program, provided you can secure your release dates ahead of time.

On this page is reproduced a four by six-inch program, published in Buffalo, which earns its own living. The advertising it carries more than pays for the paper and printing. Probably there is a fat little margin of profit, too.

The program is such a logical advertising medium—there is no reason for advertisers to "hold out."

When you first bucked the don't-want-to-advertise-in-your-program bugbear in your town, you had a hard time making them see things your way. We would like to know your experiences in getting program-advertising accounts. Please write.

Another Recruiting Booster

L. A. Sheridan, manager of Des Moines Pathé Exchange, to demonstrate his belief that motion pictures can be utilized effectively to promote recruiting, has arranged a campaign to be carried on in connection with the Des Moines Navy Recruiting office. Ensign J. J. Gillam, U. S. N. officer in charge of that station, sends two uniformed representatives over the state, spending from two to seven days in each town, distributing literature and urging enlistment of all eligible young men. Mr. Sheridan and Mr. Gillam have arranged to show the two-reel Pathé Picture, "Our Fighting Forces," displaying in detail the life of our sea fighters, in the leading moving picture theatre during the stay of the navy representatives in each town. The managers of the theatres will co-operate with the navy by advertising the film widely and by displaying the regular naval display boards in the lobby, the jacksie talking with the patrons personally.

Armored Car Timely in Parade

The big gray car built to resemble an armored automobile which helps keep "Civilization," the Ince film, before the public every day while it is being shown in various towns, was used to unusual advantage in Hazleton, Pa.

It struck that city just as Battery A, Third Pennsylvania Artillery, one of the last commands to leave the Mexican border, reached home.

Hazleton gave the boys a great welcome and there were over 5,000 men in line in the parade tendered in honor of the militiamen. The "Civilization" campaign was carried on at the end of the parade and made a fitting climax to the array of three-inch cannon which the battery boys handled in the procession.
Giant Flag Draws Mob

The second largest flag in New England was raised by Manager Pinanski of the Modern theatre, Boston, before hundreds of people last Thursday afternoon. City and state authorities including Mayor Curley were loud in their praise of the patriotic spirit shown by the management. He declared that if every business house would only declare themselves in a like manner, Boston would be a better city to live in.

Patriotic and popular music was played during the demonstration by the Sixth Regiment M. N. G. band, which had been delegated to the theatre by Major-General Sweetser in charge of the Massachusetts troops. Singers from the Remick Music Agency led with the mayor in singing the Star Spangled Banner, after Mayor Curley had announced that everybody should bare their heads.

"If the man next to you does not doff his hat, tap him on the shoulder, and request him to honor the flag, if he still persists in being obstinate, knock it from his head," declared Mayor Curley.

Other speakers included Judge Robert Harris, A. E. Pinanski of the Boston Elevated and W. T. A. Fitzgerald.

"If You Like Us, Tell Others; If You Don't, Tell Us"

Between shows at the Clemmer theatre, Seattle, after the slides announcing the next three or four pictures have been thrown on the screen, a few of the most exciting scenes from the feature which is to follow immediately after the present program is shown. Then a slide announcing that "The Clemmer theatre shows the most consistently good pictures of any theatre in Seattle," is the next to appear, followed by a second which asks, "Why not tell your friends how good our shows are and how good they are going to be?"

This is a new version of the familiar line "If you like us, tell others; if you don't like us, tell us."

Some doubt stillingers in the minds of expert advertising men as to the judgment of using this catch line.

Brings Part of the Forest to His Theatre

H. O. Mugridge, manager of the Museum theatre, Akin, Minn., recently had a load of evergreen trees hauled into town and erected tastefully before his theatre, to draw attention to the fact that he was playing "A Lass of the Lumberlands" at that particular time. The ticket window was banked with green spruce, and the impression of a patron on the act of entering was that of walking straight into a dense forest.

Gift Gardens Win Children and Grown Ups

Mildred Champagne, playwright and author, who is manager of the Mildred Champagne theatre on Berkley street, Boston, has been securing space in Boston and Cambridge daily papers by a unique application of the "Do your bit idea."

Miss Champagne has nearly an acre of land around her theatre, and has offered the use of it free to the children who patronize her Saturday afternoon matinees. Further than that, Miss Champagne will provide seed, gardening tools and everything necessary to make gardens on this land. The vegetables raised will be the property of the youngsters by whom the plots are held.

Miss Champagne is the only woman theatre manager in Boston, and through her writing ability and knowledge of the value of constructive publicity is conducting a publicity campaign that makes the managers of other Boston houses sit up and take notice. Miss Champagne's campaign is not solely confined to the newspaper space, but she gets close to her audience by appearing on the stage in person on Saturday afternoons and speaking to the boys and girls about the gardens.

Her speeches have a patriotic tinge, and are always applauded. The garden idea has made a big hit with her Boston audiences as was evidenced last week, Saturday, when first applications for garden plots were received. Two hundred youngsters, ranging between 8 and 15 years of age, applied for plots, and this number has been subsequently increased to nearly 500.

Work on the gardens will start within a few days. Seed has been ordered, and Miss Champagne is awaiting its delivery before proceeding further with the idea. In her address from the stage last Saturday Miss Champagne said, "Each and every one of us must do his bit for the country now. You children who are too young to go on the farms can help here."

Manager Pinanski of the Modern theatre, Boston, Mass., caused ten thousand people to remove their hats when a giant flag was raised before his theatre, and "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

"If the man next to you won't take off his hat," said the mayor on making his address at the flag raising, "knock it off!"
FEATUES

“Souls Triumphant” Screens Lillian Gish
In All the Beauty of Youthful Love
(Triangle Fine Arts Five Reel Production)

There is a new desire among exhibitors for the morbidity of the human parasite, no more convivial way of introducing one's audiences to what is going on the screen. Only the actuality itself could be more convincingly suggested than there is a small number of us who have the opportunity of seeing life as it is actually lived—life that forms part and parcel of this world, however unfortuant may it be for the community at large, we should all seek to know the faults of these unfortunate in order That their faults may be rectified and perhaps the reputation of a friend saved. This is the attitude Lillian Gish has taken in Triangle Fine Arts, entertaining picture-drama, “Souls Triumphant.” In this picture Miss Gish plays the part of the daughter of a curate, whose youthful innocence prompts him to do good, and whose beneficence extends even to a chance passer-by on the road whom he worked to save into a life of a human parasite. The events leading up to a strong climax and the clever acting of a talented screen artist will be seen on the screen of the theatre on of week, when Lillian Gish, supported by Wilfred Lucas, Scottiswoods Aitken and Louise Hamilton, appear in “Souls Triumphant.”

Girlish Simplicity Plus Human Tragedy

“The Candy Girl” With Clady's Hulette
(Metro Fine Reel Production)

“The Candy Girl”—Gladys Hulette is everything that the term implies in this picture. She is a mixture of girlish simplicities and human tragedy. Not only one but two men enter into the candy-girl’s life before she is long in the big city. The title does not indicate that there is tragedy to follow in its footsteps, but it does in Miss Hulette’s story. It has been seen in a more fitting part. Helen Badley, the comedy star, has been seen in this picture. In support of Miss Hulette are William Payne, L. H. Gilmore and Thomas H. Curran. Philip Lonergan, who has written many screen successes, wrote the story. “The Candy Girl” will be at the theatre on of week.

“Tlie Beautiful Lie” — Adapted From A Poem By Ella Wheeler Wilcox— Frances Nelson. Star (Metro File Production)

In the current magazines and Sunday papers you have at one time or other read one or more of Ella Wheeler Wilcox. but when serving as a stage for the soul-stirring Theda Bara to enact the entrancing role of a siste...size her dreams — then it is that we cannot imagine the connection but will have to be convinced by theTheda Bara will be seen in her latest picture, “Heart and Soul,” at the theatre on of week.

“Yankee Pluck” — Ethel Clayton, Montague Love—Washington's Official Life Picturized
(World Fine Reel Production)

Official Washington, on which the eyes of the world are now fixed because of the move to the Capitol City. You should see “Yankee Pluck” for its timely appeal at the theatre on of week.

Kathlyn Williams—Hone Peters Depart Days of “49” In “The Highway of Hope”
(Morris-Paramount Five Reel Production)

The human touch that usually accompanies a picture of the gold rush and the life mining camp is contained in this presentation with a steel-hearted woman in the lead, and the usual appeal, greatly augmented in its attractive-ness by the presence of Kathlyn Williams and Hone Peters, who make their initial appearance together in this picture. Kathlyn Williams and Hone Peters are co-starred in a more recent Paramount Production, the latter of which is at present one of the biggest pictures of the season. Hone Peters plays the part of a heroine, the character of whom she is so well adapted. The picture opens with the story of the gold rush days when Death Valley was literally “dug up” by the thousands in quest of gold. The life of the “desert rats,” so called because of their persistent and patriotic efforts in the longitude places in the desert regions of California and Nevada in the search for gold, is the theme of the story. The characteristics given by the exceptionally strong cast in this Metro-Paramount, whose productions are true to the actuality of this life. Willard

FEATUES

TITLE OF PLAY
Theda Bara—“Heart and Soul”—Willi...
Motions Picture News

Mysteries of the Occult Revealed In "The Mystic Hour"—Study in Psychology

Art Drama Reveals Effects of Love on Religion

Thrills Plus Brilliant Ball Room Scene in "Railroad Raiders"—Helen Holmes

"The Mirror" Reflects Marjorie Rambeau In All Her Stage Attractiveness

All New and Unexpected Turn Given to "Double Cross" Mystery in Late Chapter

New and Unexpected Turn Given to "Double Cross" Mystery in Late Chapter

Realistic Encounters and the Unexpected Happen in "Voice on the Wire" Episode

"The Mirror" marks Welsh for a real bargain you go to the nearest five and dime store to get your entertainment; so that you had better make arrangements to ace Herbert Rawlinson and Neva Gerber in "Like Wildfire," to be shown at the New Theatre on—of—week.

"The Mirror" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.

"Like Wildfire"—It Flashes on Screen

The Story of Love and Keen Competition (Universal-Butterfly Five Reel Production)

When you want a real bargain in a woman's serial, go to the nearest five and dime store, but would you think of going there to see life's drama enacted in a way that will be in harmony with the way you were the owner of the Woolworth building, one of the sights of New York. Its narrator has spread the story of "Like Wildfire" will spread after you see it on the screen, and you will find that the story of the three episodes of the serial has inspired you to improve a mining interest which the owner thinks worthless, to the ex—miners and miners in every county.

"Like Wildfire" will be shown at the theatre on—of—week.

Woman's Movement in "Wild Winship's Widow"

Dorothy Dalton, who has this role, could not have found a more fitting vehicle in which to display her remarkable ability to please from the audience. As the young widow who sits down in devotion to the memory of her departed husband, and who afterwards is found deserted and in despair from her vision, leaving her to pursue the road of happiness to the last, not long and not blind of her blindness, Miss Dalton will leave you all to believe that you will pronounce her the most entertaining widow on or off the screen.

"Wild Winship's Widow" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.

Marjorie Rambeau in "Clover's Rebellion"

Anim Stewar defeat schemes of Social Climbers in "Clove'er's Rebellion" (Pathe Special—Two Reels)

New and Unexperted Turn Given to "Double Cross" Mystery in Late Chapter (Pathe Serial—Two Reels)

Mysteries of the Occult Revealed In "The Mystic Hour"—Study in Psychology

Art Drama Reveals Effects of Love on Religion

New and Unexpected Turn Given to "Double Cross" Mystery in Late Chapter (Pathe Serial—Two Reels)

Escapades of Philippe Brezzer in the "Mystery of the Double Cross" (Pathe Serial—Two Reels)

"The Voice" marks Welsh for a real bargain you go to the nearest five and dime store to get your entertainment; so that you had better make arrangements to ace Herbert Rawlinson and Neva Gerber in "Like Wildfire," to be shown at the New Theatre on—of—week.

"The Voice" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.

Thrills Plus Brilliant Ball Room Scene in "Railroad Raiders"—Helen Holmes (Mutual Serial—Two Reels)

The heroine of "The Railroad Raiders," Helen Holmes, is a splendid specimen of the conventional dress of the telegrapher and the sporting habit of the west; and although we were not surprised to see this daughter of daring in the very first episode, we were not entirely unprepared when the eighteenth chapter of the "Railroad Raiders" was "Missed" (Mutual Serial—Two Reels), and we are not prepared for more than a few unusual stunts of daring, "the little thriller in way of diversion and incidentally for a purpose spends a key on following social function given by Lord and Lady Melbourne, and affords you one of the cutest picnics that one may see in this wonderful world."

"The Railroad Raiders" will be shown at the theatre on—of—week.

"The Mirror" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.

"Like Wildfire"—It Flashes on Screen

The Story of Love and Keen Competition (Universal-Butterfly Five Reel Production)

When you want a real bargain in a woman's serial, go to the nearest five and dime store, but would you think of going there to see life's drama enacted in a way that will be in harmony with the way you were the owner of the Woolworth building, one of the sights of New York. Its narrator has spread the story of "Like Wildfire" will spread after you see it on the screen, and you will find that the story of the three episodes of the serial has inspired you to improve a mining interest which the owner thinks worthless, to the ex—miners and miners in every county.

"Like Wildfire" will be shown at the theatre on—of—week.

Woman's Movement in "Wild Winship's Widow"

Dorothy Dalton, who has this role, could not have found a more fitting vehicle in which to display her remarkable ability to please from the audience. As the young widow who sits down in devotion to the memory of her departed husband, and who afterwards is found deserted and in despair from her vision, leaving her to pursue the road of happiness to the last, not long and not blind of her blindness, Miss Dalton will leave you all to believe that you will pronounce her the most entertaining widow on or off the screen.

"Wild Winship's Widow" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.

Marjorie Rambeau in "Clover's Rebellion"

Anim Stewar defeat schemes of Social Climbers in "Clove'er's Rebellion" (Pathe Special—Two Reels)

New and Unexperted Turn Given to "Double Cross" Mystery in Late Chapter (Pathe Serial—Two Reels)

Escapades of Philippe Brezzer in the "Mystery of the Double Cross" (Pathe Serial—Two Reels)

"The Voice" marks Welsh for a real bargain you go to the nearest five and dime store to get your entertainment; so that you had better make arrangements to ace Herbert Rawlinson and Neva Gerber in "Like Wildfire," to be shown at the New Theatre on—of—week.

"The Voice" will be seen at the theatre on—of—week.
Washburn in "Filling His Own Shoes," June 11

June 11 has been fixed for the release of Bryant Washburn’s next Essanay feature, "Filling His Own Shoes." This is the title. It is an adaptation from the novel of that title by Henry C. Rowland, which was one of the "six best sellers" a year ago. The Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay Service will handle the film.

Amusing Triangle Release with Bessie Barriscale

When "Bawbs o’ the Blue Ridge," the Triangle-Kay Bee production, in which Thomas H. Ince will present Bessie Barriscale, is released June 3, admirers of the versatile actress will find her in the role of an untamed mountain girl. They will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

When "Bawbs o’ the Blue Ridge," the Triangle-Kay Bee production, in which Thomas H. Ince will present Bessie Barriscale, is released June 3, admirers of the versatile actress will find her in the role of an untamed mountain girl. They will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

"Back to the Primitive," and ready for August delivery to exhibitors.

Two Features and Four Comedies on Mutual List

MARJORIE RAMBEAUX and Jackie Saunders Present Week of May 21

Two new features and four comedies are scheduled for release in May on the Mutual program. They are "Reel Life" and "Mutual Tours," both by Jackie Saunders, and "A Naked Soul," "Back to the Primitive," and "The Car of Chance," all by Marjorie Rambeaux.

The scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario are said to be the most amusing that have ever been shown in a Bessie Barriscale production.

First Myers-Theby Comedy

The week of May 13 will signalize the release of the first Myers-Theby comedy on the Path program. It is expected that "The Delicatessen Mystery," as it is called, will be well received by all admirers of "legitimate" comedy and that the many exhibitors who have played Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby in the past will find that the new brand shows marked improvement over the old.

Amusing Triangle Release with Bessie Barriscale

When "Bawbs o’ the Blue Ridge," the Triangle-Kay Bee production, in which Thomas H. Ince will present Bessie Barriscale, is released June 3, admirers of the versatile actress will find her in the role of an untamed mountain girl. They will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.

Phineas has already buried three wives, as a result of his close-fisted policy in providing, but when he hears that Bawbs has been left a tidy fortune through the accidental death of her guardian, the old skin-flint array himself in his best bib and tucker and creaks his rheumatic way to the scenes in which the miser gets in his heavy work as a homespun Lothario and will also find J. J. Dowling, the character actor, in the part of Phineas Bradley, aged and crusty miser.
Three Lasky Productions in June for Paramount

Margaret Illington, Fannie Ward and Sessue Hayakawa Star in Stories from Pens of Writers George Middleton and Basil King

JESSE L. LASKY has completed three productions to be released by Paramount during the month of June, starring Margaret Illington, Fannie Ward, and Sessue Hayakawa. The literary talent represented in these three productions includes the novelist, Basil King; the playwright, George Middleton, and such photo-play technicians as Beatrice C. De Mille, Leighton Osmun, and Charles Maigne.

Margaret Illington will appear in "The Inner Shrine," an adaptation of Basil King's well-known novel. Fannie Ward will star in "Her Strange Wedding" and Sessue Hayakawa will appear in "The Jaguar's Claws."

"The Inner Shrine" is the story of an American girl who married a French nobleman and later became involved in numerous Parisian scandals until her husband fought a duel in protection of his own name. Upon the death of her husband she came back to America, where she met a man who had been in love with her before her marriage. The struggle which this girl makes against popular scandal-mongers and her efforts to check the influence of the deliberate lies told by her husband's adversary form the crux of the story. Elliott Dexter and Hobart Bosworth are in the supporting cast. The picture was adapted from Basil King's story by Beatrice De Mille and Leighton Osmun and was directed by Frank Reicher.

"Her Strange Wedding," in which Fannie Ward stars, relates the dramatic adventures of a girl who marries the younger and weaker of two brothers because of her failure to realize the powerful character of the elder and less impressive brother. Jack Dean and Tom Forman appear as the elder and younger brothers respectively. The production was directed by George Melford and adapted from George Middleton's original story by Charles Maigne.

"The Jaguar's Claws," starring Sessue Hayakawa, was prepared for the screen by Beatrice De Mille and Leighton Osmun. It is the thrilling story of a Mexican bandit which relates the adventures of a party of Americans who fell into his vicious clutches. The picture was staged by Marshall Neilan and is particularly interesting because it marks the return of Marjorie Daw, the little protege of Geraldine Farrar, after a long absence at school. Tom Moore, Tom Forman, H. B. Carpenter, Mabel Van Buren and Fritzie Brunette are other important players of the cast.

Metro-Drew Comedy, Late Release, "Nothing to Wear"

The Metro-Drew comedy scheduled for release the week of May 21, is entitled "Nothing to Wear." Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, the stars, adapted the scenario from an idea as suggested by Berty Badger Moyer. The story hinges on the extravagance of Henry's wife who has a complete wardrobe, but complains of not having anything to wear. Henry has to donate a check frequently. He teaches her a lesson by removing the gowns from her wardrobe and when he has made her realize her extravagance, he writes her a check for a golfing suit and invites her to join him.

Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul" on May 21

Two William Fox productions will be released on May 21. In one, "Heart and Soul," a super de luxe picture, Theda Bara will star in the title role. The other film, "The Final Payment," Nance O'Neill will play the stellar role.

"Heart and Soul" is founded on Sir Rider Haggard's novel "Jess." Director J. Gordon Edwards and Adrian Johnson, who scenarized the novel, are said to have given this story an up-to-date patriotic thrill. In this photoplay Miss Bara is seen in a struggle of love and duty. Grown to womanhood on a Hawaiian plantation, she is true to a promise to protect her younger sister, Bess, who is wooed by a cruel planter. She chooses John Niehl, a young American, however. There is a revolution and a number of stirring complications, according to Fox, in which Miss Bara, as Jess, saves the life of her sister's lover, whom she really cares for, but dies at the hand of the enraged planter.

Jungle Story Told in Late K-E-S-E Release

Selig's Red Seal Photoplay, released through K-E-S-E May 14 is titled, "The Lad and the Lion," is a story of adventure, and presents something a bit different from the usual run of adventure stories. Miss Vivian Reed is in the featured role, and is supported by Will Machin, Charles Le Moyne and Al W. Filson. It was written by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Al Green directed.

It is essentially a jungle story. A lion and lioness play important parts in the production. It is the story of a lad who is shipwrecked and looses his memory. He makes friends with a lion and wanders aimlessly about Africa, where he meets an Arabian Princess, whom he loves and marries. A shipwrecked scene is shown.

"Lonesome Luke's Honeymoon," the two-reel comedy announced by Pathe for release on May 20, is the third of the new "Luke" comedies to be released, the others being "Lonesome Luke's Lively Life" and "Lonesome Luke in Tin Can Alley."
Universal Offers Five Part Butterfly Feature

"LIKE WILDFIRE," a five-part Butterfly Feature, directed by Stuart Paton, is the chief feature of Universal's Program for the week of May 21. Louis Writtrenbrook wrote the story, and Herbert Rawlison and Neva Gerber head the cast which includes L. M. Wells, Howard Crampton, Burton Burton, John Lake and Willard Wayne. The release date is May 21.

On the same day the Nestor one-act comedy "Moving Day," with Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edith Roberts will be shown.

The feature for Tuesday, May 22, is the Gold Seal three-act Western Drama, "44-Calibre Mystery," in which Harry Carey and Claire Dailey have the leading roles. This picture was written by T. Shelley Sutton and produced by Fred Kelsey.

The other Tuesday offering is the Victor comedy, "Who Said Chicken?" featuring Ernie Shields and Marcia Moore.

Charles Ray and Seena Owen

Other pictures in this issue of the Mutual Weekly are also devoted to the war. Since a million men and women, should they be called out for an emergency, is another picture that has a martial flavor.

New York on this gala occasion, presented dense crowds which congregated to welcome the hero of the moment, General Joffre. A close-up of General Joffre is particularly effective.

Seena Owen's vehicle is a story of the Texas sheep ranches, with a love theme as the main ingredient.

Charles Ray and Seena Owen

Appears in "The Candy Girl," with William Parks, Jr., Opposite—Two Chapters of "Neglected Wife" Serial—Other Surrounding Subjects

Gladys Hulette Shines on Pathe Program May 20

With four big stars and a comedy team of the first magnitude, Pathe announces a strong front for the week of May 20. Gladys Hulette, in what is looked upon as her best Gold Rooster feature to date; two episodes of "The Neglected Wife" and "Mystery of the Double Cross," a two-reel Lonesome Luke comedy, and a Myers-Thelby one-reel comedy, are features of the program.

"The Candy Girl" is a Gold Rooster play, produced by Thanhouser, written by Philip Lonergan and staged by Eugene Moore. Gladys Hulette stars. "The Candy Girl" is said to be a strong, interest-compelling story from beginning to end, and it gives Miss Hulette a wonderful opportunity, while William Parke, Jr., plays opposite her as Burton Law, Johnnie Coyle rights and wins against a terrible craving for drugs.

The second episode of "The Neglected Wife," in which Ruth Roland is the star, is entitled "Weekending." A crisis in the lives of the beautiful and innocent young woman and the marriage partner, quite him, has fallen desperately in love with her, is reached in this episode.

Mollie King is starred in the tenth episode of "Mystery of the Double Cross," entitled "The House of Whispers." The three-act dramatic and action and the title is the keynote of this episode, produced by Astra, under the direction of William Parke, photodramatized by Bertram Millhauser, from the original story by Gilson Willets.

The third of the two-reel Lonesome Luke comedies is entitled "Lonesome Luke's Honeymoon." It tells even more of a story than either "Lonesome Luke's Lively Life" or "Lonesome Luke on the Trail." The attempts of an heiress to marry Luke in order to destroy the chances of a wilful villain form the crux of the humor。

Harry Myers and Rosemary Thelby appear in "Jumping Jealousy," a one-reel drama in which each member of the marriage partnership attempts to make the other jealous, and succeeds beyond his or her fondest hopes.

The combinte scenic pictures are represented by the ninth release of the "Know America, the Land We Love" series, entitled "The Copper Industry." It shows scenes of the great copper mines at Bisbee, Arizona, the greatest copper producing state in the Union.

The International cartoon and scenic split-reel release is made up of "Jerry on the Farm," "Quinine," cartoon, and "Seoul, Korea," scenes.

Hearst-Pathe News No. 42 and No. 43 complete the program.
Gaumont Cameraman Returns

Despite the fact that he was hampered in many places by conditions created by the war, Edward Guetlein has returned to the Gaumont Studios at Flushing, N. Y., with many thousands of feet of film which is the cream of his motion picture work in the tropics. Mr. Guetlein was sent south specially for "Reel Life" and "Tours Around the World," the popular Gaumont single reels which are released through Mutual.

"Although I have not been arrested as often as Mr. Van der Veer, who is taking Gaumont pictures in the West Indies," said Mr. Guetlein in discussing the war as it affects Central America, "I was arrested at Cartago and at As-seri.

"At San Jose the government supplied me with such pack animals as I required, as well as riding horses, and everywhere I was accorded that gracious hospitality which one always associates with the people of Spanish America. After visiting San Jose and Port Launon I traveled across to Bocas del Toro. From Bocas I sailed for Havana. In the Cuban capital I encountered difficulties because the nation is now on a war basis.

"The delights of travel as a cameraman do not blind me to the inconveniences and hardships, yet the romantic side of the calling appeals the stronger, and I am ready for another trip. Inconveniences consist of the daily rain at this season, primitive means of travel when you get off the main highways, and the overwhelming desire of the small boy to get into every picture.

Mr. Guetlein is now engaged in cutting and titling his various pictures. It is planned to incorporate them in early issues of "Reel Life" and "Tours Around the World."
Seven Big Circuits Book "Within The Law"

New York's Largest Houses in Competition Will Show Vitagraph Picture 120 Days Within Week After First Presentation - Long Runs

E VERY big New York circuit of theatres last week booked "Within the Law," the Vitagraph version of the stage success. This fact is said to establish in a measure a record, inasmuch as the big New York theatrical men have heretofore refused to book any picture taken by a competitive house.

The circuits that have booked "Within the Law" are those controlled by Marcus Loew, S. Poli, William Fox, B. S. Moss, F. F. Proctor, Meyer and Snyder, and B. F. Keith. The presentation of "Within the Law" on these circuits will start on May 21, and the booking contracts call for the presentation of the picture for 120 days, to be played within the week after the first showing of the picture. This long run will probably be extended considerably, as several of the circuits have reserved the privilege of lengthening the runs.

It is believed by experienced motion picture men that this unprecedented booking of "Within the Law" is the forerunner of longer runs of pictures and the preliminary death struggle of the daily change of program which has been fought by many of the wiser men in the business.

Through the booking by the big circuits "Within the Law" will be playing in approximately sixty of the largest motion picture houses in Greater New York at the same time. Not one of the houses seats less than 1,200 persons, and several of them will accommodate 2,000. Conservatively estimated, 90,000 residents of Greater New York will be able to see the picture at the same time in sixty houses. As many as three of these houses are grouped so that they are within a stone's throw of each other. It has been the history of the business in Greater New York when one syndicate house owner made a success of a certain territory that territory was invaded immediately by another syndicate owner. A third soon followed, and in some cases five syndicate house owners have invaded the same district, and all of them will show "Within The Law."

In booking "Within the Law" the syndicate house owners agreed to carry on a big advertising campaign so that all may share in the return from the cumulative advertising.

The Marcus Loew circuit alone has agreed to use not less than 220 four-sheet stands, and also will send nearly 100,000 postal cards to persons whose names appear on their lists. All of the other circuits will do their share of the advertising.

Augurs Success for "Night Workers," an Essanay

Strong prerelease bookings everywhere are reported for "The Night Workers," the Essanay feature, which is scheduled for release through the Klein-Edison-Selig-Essanay Service May 21. Trade showings of this picture, which presents the serious side of the fascinating night life of a big city, are now in progress at all K-E-S-E branch offices.

From early reports of these trade showings, Marguerite Clayton has done the best work of her picture career in the role of a girl reporter on a metropolitan newspaper. Miss Clayton won many admirers for her characterization of the princess in "The Prince of Castile." "The Night Workers" introduces to filmland for the first time, Jack Gardner, the musical comedy star.

Big Money Results on Showings of Official War Films

"No motion picture director's conception of battle gives you one hundredth part of the thrill that Pathe's Official Government Pictures of the War give you," says Robert Courteny, in a two-column story in the Denver Post. "Though they are grim and terrible they are fascinating, too, and if you see the first episodes you will want to see them all."

"It is the truth," says Pathe, "that these pictures are creating a sensation, and playing to very large business. The Boston Opera House box-office statement shows one day's receipts of $4,066.50, and a sold out house. Chicago reports an opening night's sale of $10,000. The Metropolitan Opera House of Philadelphia got a lower admission price was entirely sold out at $3,367, and equally encouraging reports have come in from other quarters.

Rialto Engagements

The name of George M. Cohan has been added to the list of stars whose forthcoming photoplays will be seen first at The Rialto. Through arrangement with the Articraft Picture Corporation, Mr. Roth- apfel has secured the radio premiere and presentation of Mr. Cohan's next picture, as well as those of Douglas Fairbanks, Geraldine Farrar and Elsie Ferguson.
Ivan's Latest Production Opens Strong at Lyric

"One Law for Both," Ivan Film's latest production, had its premiere at the Lyric theatre, Broadway and Forty-second street, New York, on Sunday May 13, and is scheduled for an indefinite run. Following close upon the showing of Ivan's "Enlighten Thy Daughter" which had an extended run at the Park theatre, New York, this latest offering will, it is thought meet with equal success. "One Law For Both" was produced by Ivan Abramson who wrote also the scenario.

The plot is laid in Russia and its plea is for the equal consideration for the two sexes, better economic and social conditions and a more tolerable law for the lower classes. The question of equality is taken up in a fair-minded sense and draws comparisons between the above mentioned conditions as they were in Russia and similar conditions in our own country. The story opens in Russia, where the workings of the revolutionary society are exposed. The work of unscrupulous Government officials, the Black Hundreds under the direction of a monastic and the secret service are all taken up and reproduced on the screen.

The producer seeks to bring out conditions as they really are in Russia and he has chosen his cast of characters with that end in view. The theme of the production is timely and the characters are representative of those men and women who accomplished the freedom of the newest Russia.

In "One Law For Both," the producer sought to bring out social conditions. Throughout the story there runs an underlying thread of realism which tends to the human. It reaches into the recesses of social and economic conditions in Russia and demands one similar law for both the sexes.

Rita Jolivet, James Morrison, Leah Baird, Vincent Serrano, Paul Capellani, Pedro De Cordoba, Margaret Greene, Andrea Randolf and Helen Arnold comprise the cast of leads.

Standard Film Company Wants to Help Exhibitors Advertise

The Standard Film Corporation, distributors of Art Drama films in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska, desires to call attention to the thoroughness of its publicity department.

M. C. Cropper, president of Standard Film, said in an interview:

"Particular attention is being paid to the matter of mailing lists as a desirable medium for the theatre manager to utilize. The publicity department of this company has, through systematic records, proven the profitable results that can be had through the use of a well-kept mailing list.

"This department works solely for the exhibitor in assisting him to put over his pictures. Special literature, copy for newspapers, novel stunts etc., are extended as a part of the service free, but particular attention is given to the preparation of mailing matter. No profit is figured on printing—in fact, a multigraphing department makes it possible to reduce the cost to a point below which the exhibitor cannot have the work done in his own city."

"The point is this," added Phil L. Ryan, sales manager, "We know that a good circular letter or an attractive piece of small mailing matter advertising a certain production can be placed in the hands of the people whom the exhibitor wants to reach at a very cheap cost, and always where we are successful in encouraging our friend manager to utilize this media his results are paying. For instance, one of our representatives recently induced a new customer to announce the presentation of his picture by a circular letter, at the bottom of which read this letter and 15 cents

Arthur D. Gans, Manager, American Standard Standard Film Service

Ivan's Latest Production Opens Strong at Lyric

"One Law for Both," a Study in Sociology—Well Conceived, of Russia

The slogan adopted by Mr. Bernstein—"Pictures for the Clean-Minded"—is said to be followed in this film. It is adapted from the story by Ethel and James Dorrance. The adaptation was in charge of Rosalie Ashton and Beatrice Morse and the text of the story which is of a mystery character was closely followed in the photoplay. To insure that the picture would be popular with the classes that have set about to improve the quality of film, producer Bernstein sought to keep every reference of crime out of this picture, and in addition to succeeding in this he has proven that an interesting subject may be made from a story of this quality.

The film will serve as a debut vehicle for Betty Brice as a screen star. Previously, she has appeared in a number of stage successes and the film shows she registers as well on the screen as before the footlights.

The supporting cast includes several well-known players of the screen, including Charles Arling, who takes the character lead; Jay Morley as juvenile and two child players—Edna May Wilson and Dorothy Clark.

Alice Howell Pictures to Be Known as Century Comedies

Julius Stern has decided to adopt the title and trade-mark of Century Comedies for the Alice Howell pictures, to be released through state rights channels. Another name for the pictures in which Miss Howell will star has been announced, but the decision to change to Century Comedies is now final and definite.

J. G. Blystone, general director of L-Ko Comedies, will personally produce all comedies in which Miss Howell will appear. With several manuscripts accepted, and in the work, three releases have been made ready to go out under the Century brand: "Neptune's Naughty Daughter," "Ballonatics," and "Automatikos." In all Century Comedies Miss Howell will be the star, her name having the benefit of principal display in the advertising.

Radio's Big Production

"The Spirit of 1917," the latest achievement of Charles Penser, secretary and moving spirit of the Radio Film Company, Inc, is well on the road to success according to reports from the producers.

This subject is to be sold on the state right plan. Mr. Penser's associates in Radio are all well known in the trade.

Who Knows? Completed; Will Soon Be Released

The first Isadore Bernstein production, "Who Knows?," which is to be distributed by M. H. Hoffman, according to negotiations completed in Los Angeles, last week, has been completed, and showing is shortly to be made in New York for the trade.

The slogan adopted by Mr. Bernstein—"Pictures for the Clean-Minded"—is said to be followed in this film. It is adapted from the story by Ethel and James Dorrance. The adaptation was in charge of Rosalie Ashton and Beatrice Morse and the text of the story which is of a mystery character was closely followed in the photoplay. To insure that the picture would be popular with the classes that have set about to improve the quality of film, producer Bernstein sought to keep every reference of crime out of this picture, and in addition to succeeding in this he has proven that an interesting subject may be made from a story of this quality.

The film will serve as a debut vehicle for Betty Brice as a screen star. Previously, she has appeared in a number of stage successes and the film shows she registers as well on the screen as before the footlights.

The supporting cast includes several well-known players of the screen, including Charles Arling, who takes the character lead; Jay Morley as juvenile and two child players—Edna May Wilson and Dorothy Clark.

Alice Howell Pictures to Be Known as Century Comedies

Julius Stern has decided to adopt the title and trade-mark of Century Comedies for the Alice Howell pictures, to be released through state rights channels. Another name for the pictures in which Miss Howell will star has been announced, but the decision to change to Century Comedies is now final and definite.

J. G. Blystone, general director of L-Ko Comedies, will personally produce all comedies in which Miss Howell will appear. With several manuscripts accepted, and in the work, three releases have been made ready to go out under the Century brand: "Neptune's Naughty Daughter," "Ballonatics," and "Automatikos." In all Century Comedies Miss Howell will be the star, her name having the benefit of principal display in the advertising.

Radio's Big Production

"The Spirit of 1917," the latest achievement of Charles Penser, secretary and moving spirit of the Radio Film Company, Inc, is well on the road to success according to reports from the producers.

This subject is to be sold on the state right plan. Mr. Penser's associates in Radio are all well known in the trade.
Better Territorial Knowledge Needed, Say Independents

Motion Picture News Sets on Foot Plan to Effectively Map Country to Aid Seller in Securing Efficient Distribution

S a proper knowledge on the part of the seller of the most effective state rights territorial divisions the one factor now most urgently needed for the improvement of jobber distribution.

Two prominent independent distributors have within the week written to Motion Picture News declaring that it is. Our representative on his tour of the country in the interest of the independent buyer and seller heard similar declarations in every city. Exchange owners throughout the country echoed this one sentiment:

"It is because the makers and handlers of special state rights features are not thoroughly familiar with the various territorial divisions, with the abilities of the different exchanges to handle efficiently the different territories that they do not secure the proper return for their product in many cases, and that in others they ask ridiculous prices. Less long range guessing and more intimate acquaintance would quickly Miss about one hundred per cent. distribution for the manufacturer, and satisfaction for the distributor."

Motion Picture News has set itself the task of aiding in the solution of this pressing problem. We want to hear from every independent exchange in the country. From time to time we will publish the opinions of the various jobbers regarding the proper territorial divisions. As speedily as possible the results will be tabulated—and, carrying out the suggestion of R. O. Proctor, of the Art Dramas Service, Chicago, Motion Picture News will see that "an accurate state rights territorial map is drawn up, listing each of the state rights' buyers in the territory, it would materially assist the purchaser and the state rights' distributor when he came to subdivide his territory. The exchange man could then purchase an allotment of territory such as he could serve to the best possible advantage.

"A canvass of the state rights people will prove, I believe, that there is certain territory which each cannot dispose of to advantage. A map made up (as outlined above) for ready reference in the offices of every exchange and distributor would be a great advantage to offset this."

"Uncle Sam" Now Boosted by Peerless

Peerless Productions, of Boston, finds itself in an enviable position with the present war interest. This independent organization is handling "The Battle Cry of War," formerly the "The Battle Cry of Peace," its territory and "How Uncle Sam Prepares." The latter production has just completed two weeks' run at the Tremont Temple. The advertising matter boosts it as "Not a rehearsal from any of the weeklies; not a single scene has been duped or lifted from any previous production, but it is an accurate and complete portrayal of the actual methods of training our country's defenders."

Lea-Bel Territory Goes Fast

From H. E. Belford, of the Lea-Bel Company, of Chicago, comes word that he has already disposed of several territories on the five-reel production, "Modern Mother Goose." Lea-Bel is withholding Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, which are being successfully handled from the Chicago office.

This corporation has also just completed a contract with the Peter Pan Company to handle Moty Comedies for Illinois, Indiana and Southern Wisconsin.

Wharton's "Great White Trail" to Have Trade Showing Soon

A trade showing of the Wharton Brothers' first independent picture, "The Great White Trail," will be given within the next three weeks.

The picture, which is in eight parts, was directed personally by Leopold Wharton and stars Doris Kenyon. She is supported by Paul Gordon, Hans Roberts, and Edgar L. Davenport. The greater part of the story is based on conditions found in the Klondike days of "ninety-eight."

"Overflow" State Rights News will be found on Page 3268.
“God’s Law” Used in Fight Against Capital Punishment

THE Universal film “God’s Law,” which was recently changed from “The People vs. John Doe,” was the instrument used a few days ago by a group of Pennsylvania State legislators to drive home the injustice of the death penalty as punishment for crime.

The film, which is said to be a powerful lesson to those who still cling to the belief that capital punishment is just, was projected on a private screen in the Pennsylvania house.

The next day the Philadelphia Public Ledger published a two-column story on the first page calling attention to the ingenious use to which the film was put. The Ledger was instrumental in securing the film and arranging for the projection.

A Universal official, speaking of the performance, said: “Many of the representatives went out of their way to speak to me following the performance.”

Representative Lex N. Mitchell, of Jefferson County, declared that he was very deeply impressed by the film. “I am against capital punishment,” he said, “and this picture only confirms my belief. It also exposes another horrible fault in our system of dealing with persons charged with crimes. That is the third degree. I believe it should by law be abolished and a heavy penalty inflicted upon detectives who practice it.”

Representative Isadore Stern, of Philadelphia, said: “I was never more antagonistic to capital punishment than I am since seeing the ‘John Doe’ picture. It is the most wonderful motion picture I have ever looked at. Since I looked at that picture tonight I say that I would rather 900 guilty men escape punishment than one innocent man suffer unjustly. The picture was a tremendous argument for the bill to abolish capital punishment.”

Representative Leopold C. Glass, of Philadelphia, said: “It is the most convincing reason I have had advanced to me for the bills to abolish the death penalty.”

Big Plans in Announcement of Corona Company’s Policy

CONVINCED that there is a tremendous demand for multiple-reel features through the medium of the open market and in the State-rights field, due to the avalanche of inquiries he has received from every section of the country regarding the forthcoming presentation of the ten-part drama “The Curse of Eve,” F. E. Keeler, president of the Corona Cinema Company, this week announced the future policy of his organization.

Corona will be a permanent producing company, and plans are now being perfected which will enable the production of eight big subjects a year measuring from seven to ten reels. Two companies will immediately start work, and the aim will be to complete four plays each in twelve months.

Negotiations have already been started with several of the best-known writers of fiction for the outright purchase of their efforts for screen purposes. All of the Corona productions will be picturizations of popular novels and photodramatized by established and successful scenario writers.

The architect’s plans for an immense motion picture plant have been accepted by Keeler and acreage in the Hollywood section of Los Angeles, close to other studios in the vicinity of Santa Monica Boulevard, has been bought.

Enid Markey, long prominent as a member of the Thomas H. Ince forces, has the stellar role in “The Curse of Eve,” playing the part of the modern Eve. Jack Standing and Ed Coxen share equally in the leading male characterizations, and others included in the cast are Elsie Greeson, Eugenie Besserer, Clarissa Selwynne, Willam Quinn, G. Raymond Nye, and Arthur Allard.

Third “Cardinal Virtue,” “Justice,” by Wilbur Hall

Wilbur Hall has been engaged by the Bernstein Film Productions, to write “Justice,” the third of “The Seven Cardinal Virtues.” Word to this effect was received by W. A. Bach, sales manager of M. H. Hoffman, Inc., New York office. Mr. Hall is well known for his stories which have appeared at times in the Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. Bernstein has disposed of “The Seven Cardinal Virtues,” and his first picture, “Who Knows,” in eleven Western States including Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico. The states rights represented by above territory were purchased by the Supreme Photoplays Co. of San Francisco.

“Hate,” Big Fairmont Film, Ready for Marketing

A seven-reel picture “Hate” has been completed by the Fairmont Film Corporation, of which William A. Mooney and Robert Bolling are the leading officers, and will be marketed on a state right basis.

The subject was long in the making, and the scenes were for the most part taken in and around Savannah. Walter R. Stahl was director, and Adelaide Holland and Morgan Jones had the leading parts. J. Walter Mead was responsible for the story.

“Her Fighting Chance” Premiere

A special screening of the latest A. H. Jacobs Photoplays, Inc. production of Jane Grey in “Her Fighting Chance,” will be given at the Broadway theatre, New York, Wednesday, May 16th, at ten in the morning.

“Gettysburg” in Ohio

Spitzer Demands No Contracts for King-Bee Comedies

NAT H. SPITZER, vice-president and sales manager of King-Bee Film Corporation announces that King-Bee comedies may be rented without the usual franchise rule, by which a buyer is compelled to take every picture of a series, after signing.

Speaking of the plan, Mr. Spitzer said: "If the proposition the King-Bee establishes is a new one in the State Rights field and one of the few in the industry that absolutely insures the buyer against loss.

Instead of assessing the State Right buyer for the franchise rights of a territory, thereby compelling him to accept all pictures released whether good or poor, King-Bee asks nothing for rights and are only paid for those pictures accepted; this always gives Mr. State Right buyer value received for his cash and the privilege of discontinuing, when pictures are not up to the standard we have now established; it throws the burden where it belongs—in the producer. If we cannot keep on making comedies that will be in demand, there is no sane reason why the State Right buyer should purchase experiments. We stand or fall by the merit of our productions and not by the franchise money we may have collected in advance from the exchange man—it's up to us and realizing this, we will release "nothing but the best," we want the public to "laugh with us" not "at us."

Meaney in New York to Arrange Western State Rights Branch

Don Meaney, well-known in Western motion picture circles, visited New York City last week to make arrangements for the opening of a state rights branchoffice in Los Angeles.

There are at present no state rights offices on the Western Coast.

Mr. Meaney told Motion Picture News that labor conditions are serious in the West. He said that blond ingenues are impossible to secure, and that leading men are scarce, also juveniles. The lack of blond ingenues, explained Mr. Meaney, is caused by a prevalence of leading men and women who are brunettes, and who need blonds for support.

Mr. Meaney will open his state rights office in Los Angeles, upon his return from New York.

Leah Baird Pursued by Polite Villain—Eludes Him

Leah Baird, who is starring in a photoplay the name and distributors of which are to be announced soon, has an exciting story to tell of a Turkish nobleman. It happened during Miss Baird's stay in Bermuda, when she was appearing in one of Herbert Brenon's pictures. Each evening after work she bad dinner in the Hotel Cecil with Mr. and Mrs. Brenon. Here she attracted Hassan el Bay, a Turkish diplomat. He succeeded in gaining an introduction, and in a few days costly presents were being delivered to Mrs. Brenon and Miss Baird.

Shortly afterward the film company received orders to go on to Paris, and Miss Baird breathed a sigh of relief, believing she was rid of her swarthy admirer, who, while a most distinguished cavalier, impressed her with a peculiar feeling at times. Only a few days passed in Paris before he turned up again, following the sending of a beautiful diamond bracelet. This had come to Miss Baird's hotel addressed to "The Sister of Venus." Miss Baird adopted the subterfuge of telling him that she was engaged to an American who was a noted athlete and football player; furthermore, that he was extremely jealous and was on the road to her, arriving in a few days and this ruse was effective for Miss Baird was left with nothing more to bother her than her conscience.

"Mormon Maid" Sub-Titled After Investigation

F. E. Backer, in order to lend the weight of absolute authority to the film "A Mormon Maid," which Hiller and Wills are disposing of on the State-rights plan, went to Washington, D. C., and made a careful study of the Senatorial records of the investigation of Mormonism at the time of the Senator Smoot inquiry. The document is 152 pages in length and is said to contain much data which a 12-year-old girl would have difficulty understanding.

The most dramatic of the findings have been incorporated into subtitles for "The Mormon Maid," which Mr. Backer is showing in New Jersey.

Harris Pushing "20,000 Leagues"

Z. M. Harris, controlling the Iowa rights to "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," reports that the undersea picture is meeting with unusual success in that territory. Mr. Harris is backing the picture with energetic handling with the result that he finds the Universal production at present occupying all his time. He says: "The sex picture is no longer wanted."

Initial Public Showing of "The Bar Sinister," May 27

The first public presentation of Edgar Lewis' new nine-reel drama of race equality, "The Bar Sinister" will be given on Sunday, May 27, at the Broadway theatre by Frank G. Hall, who controls the world rights to the production. The picture will have an indefinite engagement at the Broadway, where Mr. Lewis' "The Barrier" also had a protracted run several weeks ago.

"Idle Wives" Opening

"Idle Wives," for which Al Brandt, 707 Columbia Building, Cleveland, has the state rights for Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, opens in Indianapolis, at the English Opera House, May 6. The theme of the picture is "Discontent."
E A R L S M O T I O N  P I C T U R E  N E W S

LIVE NEWS FROM THE PRODUCERS

Essanay Signs Taylor Holmes, Noted Stage Star

TAYLOR HOLMES, who scored in "Bunker Bean," which experienced an exceptionally long run in New York's prominent theatres, has signed a contract with Essanay to star in the picturization of the "Efficiency Edgar" stories which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Kleinie-Edison-Selig-Essanay are to release the pictures, and in announcing the fact, said nothing regarding Mr. Holmes' salary. It is taken for granted, however, that he will be well taken care of, and that George K. Spoor, president of Essanay, will give lavish production to the forthcoming films.

Mae Busch Joins Fox Forces—Forthcoming Comedy Films

MAE BUSCH, musical comedy star, and who sojourned as a Keystone for some time, and Paddy McGuire, screen comedian have been added to the Foxfilm comedy forces at the Hollywood studios. Miss Busch is an Australian and gained her first starring position in taking Lillian Gish's place when she left the Eddie Fox company in "Over the River." Since then she has played with Weber & Fields and William Collier, entering pictures two years ago. Paddy McGuire has played comedy leads in screen companies for several years. Both of these players make their Fox debut in a forthcoming picture starring Charles Conklin.

Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay also announce that they are to distribute a series of twelve Essanay features entitled "Do Children Count?" in which little Mary McAllister is featured. These stories were written by Charles Mortimer Peck, and the pictures will be released under these titles: "The Guiding Hand," "The Wonderful Event," "Steps to Somewhere," "The Black Umbrella," "Where is My Mother?" "When Sorrows Weep," "The Unseen Road," "The Season of Childhood," "The Little White Girl," "The Bridge of Fancy," and "The Kingdom of Hope."

Bernstein Declares Censorship An Absolute Failure

CENSORSHIP is a failure, according to Isadore Bernstein, who has just completed the fifth episode of "The Seven Cardinal Virtues," which are to be released by M. H. Hoffman, Inc., in the very near future.

"To realize this, one has only to look at the kind of film which manages to get by the censor board," continued the producer. "While they are haggling over some trifling incident of pettiness, the tracks of concentrated vice and vampires will slide onto the screen over the heads. And when the public rises and demands how this happened, they point to the fact that in reel four, scene six hundred and twenty-two of "Union Pacific," how this happened. They point to the fact that in reel four, scene six hundred and twenty-two of "The Seven Cardinal Virtues," how this happened.

"In the first Sunshine comedy, directed by Henry Lehrman and presented on the Foxfilm Program, Billie Ritchie, is supported by Gertrude Selby and Victor Patel. A big cast supports Hank Mann in his next Foxfilm comedy. Peggy Croft, previously seen in a Foxfilm comedies with Charles Conklin, plays the ingenue role. The juvenile is Billy Mason who was the featured comedian in the Foxfilm comedy, "Brainstorm." Aileen Roberts plays the amateur vampire, and Max Ascher is the heavy.

To Furnish Thrill for Helen Holmes Serial

J. P. McGowan, director of the Mutual-Signal serial "The Railroad Raiders," has ordered the technical forces of the company to erect a railroad bridge across a canyon near South Pasadena which is to be burned in the eleventh installment of the serial. The bridge will span a gully thirty-five feet deep and approximately seventy feet wide. There is to be no faking of the burning of the bridge says Mutual. Instead it is to be saturated with oil and burned to the ground.

Bluebird Abandon Trade Showings of Productions

Bluebird has decided to abandon the showings of features for the benefit of advance reviews. In common with other distributors, Bluebird has been presenting it own projecting room features to be subsequently released on the program, inviting reviewers from the trade newspapers to be present and pass critical opinion in published form.

In many cases it has been necessary to show features in what was practically a sample print form. Frequently the titles were not inserted in regular form, and many features have not been edited properly. Admittedly the practice has of necessity worked to Bluebird's disadvantage for the reason that films have not been presented in their best light.

Marcus Loew's New York theatre shows Bluebirds on preview and in future reviewers will be invited to get their critical look at these features when they are shown in complete form before an audience. At all events, the experiment will be tried for a while, to see how it works out in practice. "Southern Justice," set for release May 28, will be the first Bluebird offered for review under the new conditions, showing at Loew's New York, Wednesday, May 16, with Myrtle Gonzalez and George Hernandez featured.

Basil King Novel for Ethel Barrymore

Motion Picture rights to Basil King's novel "The Lifted Veil," have been purchased by Metro for use of Ethel Barrymore, and work on the production is already under way. This story has been appearing serially in the McClure's Magazine. B. A. Rolfe will present the five-act play adapted from the novel by Albert B. A. Rolfe. George D. Baker, who directed Miss Barrymore in "The White Raven," is also in charge of this production.

The cast engaged to support the star in this production includes Frank Gillmore, William B. Davidson, and Ilean Hume.

Credit Where It Is Due

Philip Bartholomae and not George Fitzmaurice as was announced last week, wrote the scenario for "Carroll of the Secret Service" in which Mrs. Castle is playing. Mr. Fitzmaurice is directing the production and Mr. Bartholomae is head of the Astra Scenario Department.

Emerald Studio Active

Raymond Hitchcock, the musical comedy star has been hard at work the last week or more in the second Motion Picture Company, Chicago, in "The High Cost of Living," which the Emerald company is producing for the "Follies of the Week" company.
Rex Beach Picture Nearing Completion

"The Auction Block," the second production of the Rex Beach Pictures Company, is rapidly nearing completion and the final studio scenes will be taken in a few days at the Weehawken Studio of the company. There will remain but a few exterior scenes. Director Larry Timble will take the company to Pittsburgh to film a steel mill scene which will be done in one of the big plants near the smoky city. It is expected that the production will be ready for exhibitors about September 1. The picture is far different from "The Barrier" or in fact any of the other Rex Beach stories, since it is a story of Broadway life with a chorus girl for the heroine.

The principal roles are played by Ruby DeRemer, Tom Powers, who is also acting the principal role in "Oh, Boy," Walter Hitchcock, Florence Deshon, Dorothy Wheeler, Florence Johns, and other well-known players.

Costumes and sets have already been designed for Miss Marsh's fourth Goldwyn Picture.

Amy Dennis, New Screen Star in Hoyt Comedies

Miss Amy Dennis, a new screen star, discovered by Selig Polyscope Company, of Chicago, will be featured in the Charles Hoyt comedies, which have been adapted to the screen and produced by William N. Selig. These comedies will be released on the K-E-S-C Program, two each month, the first, "A Hole in the Wall," to be released May 28.

Release Dates of Paralta Plays May Be Moved Ahead

The work of organization of the Paralta enterprise has advanced so fast that the original release dates of Bessie Barriscale and "Jack" Kerrigan pictures may be moved forward at least one month. As has been announced, Miss Barriscale's first release will be "Rose of Paradise," but the subject of Mr. Kerrigan's first release will be "Rose of Paradise" but the subject of Mr. Kerrigan's first picture has not yet been selected from among four stories that have been bought for his use. This matter will not be decided till Mr. Kerrigan reaches Los Angeles, June 1.

Several Fox Productions Almost Ready

The appearance of Stuart Holmes in a new film and novel role is announced by Fox to take place shortly. The picture is entitled "The Broadway Sport." Rapid progress is also being made on Valeska Suratt's next photoplay. The June Caprice company has been augmented by the addition of Edna Munsey, who has appeared in musical comedy successes while on the Pacific Coast. Marie Davis has also joined the Fox organization.
Thanhouser Directors Keeping Studios Unusually Active

The unit of three directors whom Mr. Thanhouser recently referred to as "the studio producing staff in the world," continues, he says, to make the New Rochelle studios one of the busiest feature workshops in the country. Director Emilie Chautard is busy on "False Colors," a double Passion Gold Rooster production, in which Frederick Warde, Jeanne Engels, and an unusual Thanhouser cast will appear. While counting heads in the studio one of Mr. Chautard's assistants discovered that the Chautard company contained a representa-tive of almost each nationality composing the Allies.

Ernest Warde has just completed his first seven-reel production to follow "The Vicar of Wakefield." Unlike the latter picture, the new Warde production is a modern play, and great things are expected of it on its release. The working title is "The Heiress," and the star is Florence La Badie, who has a supporting cast that includes J. H. Gilmour, Gertrude Dallas, Wayne Arey, Richard R. Neil, Arthur Bower, and Claude Cooper.

Gladys Leslie smiles again in a Gold Rooster production under the direction of Van Dyke Brooke that has been entitled "An Amateur Orphan." This picture gets over the attractions of life on a farm, and the Thanhousiners officials think that it will do much to mold the sentiment of the public toward farming, in line with the Government's call for increased national effort in that direction. Miss Leslie's company spent two weeks on a farm for the "atmosphere" scenes. There are also in the company, Roy Hallor, Chester Morris, J. D. Barnes, and Carey Hastings.

Exceptional Paper Commendation for Mary Pickford Film

Unusually extensive interviews were carried by Philadelphia papers last week upon the initial showing of Mary Pickford's newest Arlcraft picture, "A Romance of the Redwoods," which was given prerelease exhibition at the Stanley theatre.

Our Military Activities in News Weekly

It is announced by Cinema War News Syndicate that two camerapersons are to be sent on tour of all forts, military establishments, and mobilization camps throughout the country, and that arrangements are now being completed for their trip. The American War News Weekly will show the views of the most recent military activities at these centers in their releases, which should be productive of much good in the matter of enlistments.

New Thanhouser Seven-Reeler

Hard upon the heels of "The Vicar of Wakefield" and Edwin Thanhouser's prediction of further seven-reel special productions, comes the news from New Rochelle of the completion this week of a seven-reel "special" that has been in work three months.

The working title is "The Heiress," but it is said to carry no indication of the true import of the subject.

It has been produced by Ernest C. Warde, director of "The Vicar of Wakefield," but the theme is handled as thoroughly and startlingly modern.

Two Mutual Stars Working on New Features

Work on their next production has been started by Gail Kane and William Russell, Mutual-American stars.

Miss Kane will play in "The Woman in Black," described as a drama of love and war, dealing with the secret service of a great European nation. Henry King is directing.

For a Lady's Name" is the title of William Russell's vehicle, in which he appears as a young society man who has become bored by his easy victories over women and starts to find a woman who is elusive and whom he can pursue. Kathleen Kirkham will appear opposite Mr. Russell, Francesc Billington, William Conklin, and Ashton Dearthall also have important parts.

Triangle to Offer Bessie Barriscale Still

Bessie Barriscale, it is announced by Triangle, will remain on the "T" program throughout the current year. Finishing touches are being put to a number of productions starring her at the Kay-Bee studios in Culver City under personal direction of Thomas H. Ince, prior to expiration of her contract.

"The Snarl," released May 6, is the most recent of her Triangle productions to be shown. "Bawbs of Blue Ridge" follows June 3, and every month thereafter until the end of the year a Bessie Barriscale feature will be available to Triangle exhibitors.

According to Triangle, no expense has been spared in the creation of these plays, to which Thomas H. Ince has given his personal attention. In two cases entire villages were built to create realistic atmosphere.

Bessie Barriscale has been one of the big box office attractions of the industry since the formation of the Triangle. Up to the present she has appeared under the supervision of Ince in twelve Kay-Bee productions.

New Subject for Cleo Madison

Cleo Madison has signed up with Captain Wilbert Melville for a special feature in which she will be starred. The Captain has just completed an up-to-date studio in Hollywood.

"What Is Wrong with Critics?" Asks Brenon

Herbert Brenon last week in a short talk deplored the fact that, although the public has taken motion pictures most seriously, the dramatic critic does not.

Although he sees thousands of people walking into a beautiful theatre for the opening night of a dignified photoplay, he will consider it beneath his dignity to witness and criticize," said the director.
Art Drama's Next Release "Song of Sixpence"

An adaptation from Frederick Arnold Kummer's novel, "A Song of Sixpence," which caused such a sensation when it appeared in book form, will be the next Van Dyke release on the Art Drama program. It will follow "The Mystic Hour" which had its premiere last week.

The story deals with a woman who is obsessed with the idea of "marrying well" and the author so bared the shallowness of the typical woman of today that the novel was discussed by pulpit and press and the women's clubs throughout the country took it up with interest.

Ralph Dean, who is responsible for many of Frohman's successful photoplays, directed with Marie Wayne and Robert Conness co-starred. In the opening scenes of "The Little Boy Scout," Ann Pennington, the Ziegfeld Follies star, makes her third appearance on the Art Drama program. It will follow "The Little Boy Scout" which has already been commenced on the production of a similar story, and many spectacular effects will be introduced. Among the thrills will be scenes depicting the sinking of the "Lusitania." For one of these scenes an immense tank, measuring 50 x 100 feet, is being built for which the ball-room of the liner will sink. This feature alone will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. It is said, that Miss Pickford, who also directed Miss Pickford in "A Romance of the Redwoods," will stage the subject, and that the actual filming of scenes will commence in a few days. Although the exact nature of the story has not been announced, it is understood that the picture will disclose a real life impression in presenting "America, Sweetheart!" in "The Little American," produced this time by Cecil B. de Mille.

Following "The Little American," Mary Pickford will appear in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," the famous story and play by Kate Douglas Wiggins. It is understood that this production will also be staged at the West Coast studios. Marshall Neill, who recently signed a two-year contract with the Famous Players-Lasky organization, will stage this picture, and will supervise its production.

Thrills in "Neglected Wife," Late Episode

The third episode of "The Neglected Wife" serial, entitled "In The Crucible," is a thriller, Pathé announces. The climax of this episode is reached when an automobile runs off of a trestle into the river a distance below. The climax of this action which deals with domestic relations is reported to be a most interesting part of the serial. "The Neglected Wife" is a story wherein the cowboy, the character for which he is noted.

Exhibitors Pick Chambers' Stories for Vita Production

Vitagraph's recent announcement that exhibitors would have a chance to choose their own pictures from among Robert W. Chambers' most popular works has borne fruit. This new idea of having the exhibitor co-operate with the producer from the very ground up has caused some surprises in New York, for books the head office had overlooked entirely have been brought to prominence. Vitagraph as a result has decided to adopt a similar plan for all possible future plays.

The selection of "Anne's Bridge and Between Friends" was particularly significant, for this story had been entirely overlooked by the Vitagraph scenario staff as a real contestant with some of the more popular sounding titles. A reader has been assigned to investigate the public's choice, and says this story has very great picture possibilities.

Sub-Titles in Vita Picture Are Praised

Favorable and specific criticism was accorded the sub-titles in "The Sixteenth Wife," the latest Vitagraph production, featuring Peggy Hyland and Robert Conness co-starred. In the supporting cast are Margaret Townsend, Alfred Heming, Rowden Hall, Nell Pemberton and Gene LaMotte. Mr. Kummer is a well known author.

Sub-Titles in Vita Picture Are Praised

Ann Pennington Back Again

In "The Little Boy Scout" Ann Pennington, the Ziegfeld Follies star, makes her third appearance on the screen. It will be remembered that Miss Pennington appeared last year in two Famous Players pictures, "Susie Snowflake" and "The Rainbow Princess." Her new photoplay, "The Little Boy Scout" is claimed to be entirely different from either of these previous productions in conception and its general treatment. The opening scenes occur across the border in Mexico at the time that the National Guard was on duty along the Rio Grande.

"The Little American" and Kate Wiggins Story for Pickford

UPON his return from the West Coast studios, Jesse L. Lasky, who, in accordance with the recent Famous Players-Lasky-Artcraft affiliation, consulted with Mary Pickford in the matter of her future productions to be released by Artcraft, announced their plans involving the next two subjects following "A Romance of the Redwoods," now just completed.

Mr. Lasky stated that the next Pickford vehicle will be a timely subject of patriotic appeal, entitled "The Little American." Work has already been commenced on the building of sets at the Lasky studios, and many spectacular effects will be introduced. Among the thrills will be scenes depicting the sinking of the "Lusitania." For one of these scenes an immense tank, measuring 50 x 100 feet, is being built for which the ball-room of the liner will sink. This feature alone will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. It is said, that Miss Pickford, who also directed Miss Pickford in "A Romance of the Redwoods," will stage the subject, and that the actual filming of scenes will commence in a few days. Although the exact nature of the story has not been announced, it is understood that the picture will disclose a real life impression in presenting "America, Sweetheart!" in "The Little American," produced this time by Cecil B. de Mille.

Following "The Little American," Mary Pickford will appear in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," the famous story and play by Kate Douglas Wiggins. It is understood that this production will also be staged at the West Coast studios. Marshall Neill, who recently signed a two-year contract with the Famous Players-Lasky organization, will stage this picture, and will supervise its production.

Story by Waldenmar Young, Big U Feature

Following a year of inactivity in the motion picture industry, G. M. ("Broncho Billy") Anderson will emerge from retirement, it is announced, by presenting himself in a new six-reel feature photoplay called "Humanity." Apart from the statement that a strong story is provided, it is announced that "Broncho Billy" is again the central figure in a story wherein he portrays the cowboy, the character for which he is noted.
First Wholesome Film Production Soon—To Be Self-Censored

The initial presentation of "Wholesome Films" is soon to be made. Plans completed in Chicago provide for an extensive distributing organization with branches in all principal cities.

M. J. Weisfeldt, for many years with the Mutual Film Corporation and well known to the trade, will be general manager of the Wholesome Film Corporation and have direct supervision of its activities.

The aim of the new corporation is to present pictures that are wholesome in every way, fit for the best of theatres and all classes of audiences, yet without being intrusively educational or hinting of propaganda. The stories to be used for Wholesome Films are to be the best obtainable from American authors, strong and virile, yet wholesome in theme and presentation.

"In other words," announces General Manager Weisfeldt, "we will censor our pictures in the manuscript so that the finished pictures on the Wholesome program will be all the name implies.

"We have already contracted for the literary services of some of America's most popular authors, as well as the motion picture rights to the works of a greatly beloved writer recently deceased."

"By having constantly in mind the idea of wholesomeness we will be able to offer a program of good, clean entertainment absolutely devoid of all sex taint or the sensationalism that keeps active the censor boards of the country."

"In a few weeks we will have a very important announcement to make to the exhibitors of the country."

The general offices of Wholesome Film Corporation will be Consumers Building, Chicago. The other officers are A. M. Allen, president; Milton Daily, vice-president, and E. W. Stanhope, secretary and treasurer.

A third screen play, which was started on the west coast in the week is a photoplay, Mr. Walsh's next release will be "The Huck Agent," to be issued on May 14.

Mr. Walsh's brother, "Smiling George," communicated work on another production under the direction of Otis Turner. Doris Pawn will be the "opposite," and the rest of the cast consists of Velma Whitman, Hector V. Sarano, N. A. Myles and Carolee Rankin.

Mr. Walsh's next release will be "The Bank Agent," to be issued on May 14.

A third screen play, which was started on the west coast in the week is a photo-dramatization of a child's story said to have been written by an author of international renown. It is now being filmed by C. M. Franklin.

The production will be a "Fox Kiddie Feature," one of the series of photoplays recently launched by Fox Film Corporation. Eleanor Washington has one of the important adult parts in it.

Mr. Mannist has hope that other players, especially those of Canadian descent, will come forward with a boost for the Prisoners' Aid Society Carnival. All communications should be addressed to him, "Prisoners' Aid Society Carnival, Fort William, Ontario."

Fairbanks Picture Breaks Rialto Records

Police were necessary at all times to care for the crowds which sought at every performance to make their way into the Rialto theatre (New York), where the first Douglas Fairbanks - Paramount picture was given its initial showing 'last week, breaking all house records. On occasion lines of patient ticket-buyers extended several blocks up Broadway. S. L. Rothapfel, manager of the Rialto declared the picture was "simply great."

A Boost for Producers

Greater Vitagraph last week had two pictures running in Broadway houses in New York, within two blocks of each other and both playing to capacity business.

"The Sixteenth Wife" was at the Rialto theatre and "Within the Law" at the Broadway theatre.
Comedy and Drama Seen on the Mutual Program.

Jackie Saunders Next Seen in “Betty Be Good”

“Betty Be Good” will be Jackie Saunders’ next star production for Mutual. The picture is under way at the Herkheimer-Mutual Studio, Long Beach, California, under the direction of Sherwood MacDonald.

The story was written by Will M. Ritchey. Arthur Shirley plays opposite Miss Saunders. Captain Leslie T. Peacock appears in the role of her father. The cast includes Mollie McConnell, Albert B. Ellis, William Reed, Ben Rossier, Mignon LeBrun and C. H. Youte.

Jackie plays the role of millionaire’s daughter. Tiring of her life of luxury she decides to leave home. She drives through a giant facsimile telegram, nine by twelve feet, to avoid meeting her father and emerges in a barnyard where her life as a runaway begins.

Broadway Life Depicted in “The Mirror”

Life as some New Yorkers who inhabit Broadway of early morns—before the one o’clock law came into being—is the theme of “The Mirror,” Marjorie Rambeau’s latest photoplay, released by Mutual, May 21.

As Blanche Merrill, married to and intensely in love with Bob Merrill, a portrait painter, Miss Rambeau is said to run an emotional gamut.

Miss Rambeau wears ten gowns in the production, each of which, says Mutual, cost $1,000. Irene Gerfeld, Robert Elliot, T. Jerome Lawler and Frank Ford are in the supporting cast.

Next Minter Story Chosen

“Melissa of the Hills” will be the next vehicle for Mary Miles Minter.

Miss Minter as Melissa is the devoted young daughter of Jethro Stark, whose unappreciated duties are to instill the peace of God into the hearts of the feuding families of the neighborhood, for little or no remuneration.

Florence Reed Praises Efficiency in “Today” Filming

“I have never seen work done with such economy of time and effort.”

So spoke Florence Reed on the day she finished the last reel of the last reel of the new photodrama “To-Day,” which within a very few days will be ready for its first private showing to exhibitors.

“Although during the making of this picture I have been playing eight performances a week in ‘The Wanderer’,” she continued, “I seem to have accomplished more for the camera during the four days I have worked each week than ever before during an entire six days. This fruitful result I set down solely to the intelligent preparation that had been made by Mr. Rapf, president of the To-Day Company, and to the efficiency of this big feature. The scenario had been through my hands several times long before we started. We had discussed and decided on certain changes, and then these were considered and discussed again. Mr. Rapf did not wait to put these changes into effect; the script was revised by the author promptly to conform with the consensus of ideas, and when we reported at the studio we had a perfect manuscript to begin with. So complete was it that not more than two or three changes were made during the filming of the picture, and these only in the details. It was the most perfect scenario I have ever read, strong, dramatic, full of contrasts; always in good taste, and beautifully constructed. It contains at least one surprise not in the original play, one which I fully believe will make it appeal to the universal public.

“When we started making the picture it was apparent within the first half hour that everyone concerned was familiar with the work ahead. Mr. Rapf executed a master stroke when he secured Ralph Ince to direct it. So comprehensive was Mr. Ince’s knowledge of his subject, so thorough his plans, that he went straight ahead from the very first, and there has not been a single hitch anywhere.”

Novel Introduction of Toto

A view of Toto, the Hippodrome clown signed for Pathé for comedy productions, was had by picture audiences at the Balboa and other representative New York houses last week when a short piece of film was run introducing Toto to the audience and showing him in his acrobatic tricks. Then as the film faded out the clown appeared in person.

Balboa Companies Active

Production is well along of the second story of the “Little Mary Sunshine” series of Balboa make. Robert Ensminger is directing.

Balboa has on hand a dramatic comedy written especially for Jackie Saunders by Lee Arthur. Arthur Shirley is scheduled to play opposite.

Two directors, William Bertram and Edgar Jones, are working on “The Twisted Thread” serial, and this production of Balboa will soon be concluded. Kathleen Clifford, who suffered an accident a short time ago, is again at work.

“Outcast” Ready for Release

Ann Murdock, the Mutual star, has completed at the Empire All-Star Studios the production of “Outcast,” the picturization of the Frohman stage success which was written by Hubert Henry Davies, the English playwright.
Pathe Executives Enthusiastic Over First Castle Feature

Enthusiastic over Mrs. Castle’s work in her first Astra picture, Pathe has made arrangements to take over the Solax Studios at Fort Lee for her production.

Here George Fitzmaurice and Frank Crane, who has just been engaged to work in conjunction with him, will be given a free hand, and Mr. Fitzmaurice says that with every resource of the studio directed to making perfect Castle pictures he will have a very efficient organization.

The first Castle feature deals with the United States Secret Service, and though it is of the same type as “The Hunting of the Hawk,” in which William Courtenay has just made such a big success, the story is said to be entirely different in treatment.

---

Country-Wide Poster Campaign on “Womanhood”

Exhibitors all over the United States awakened on May 10 to find that practically over night the city large and small was literally covered with the flaring posters calling upon the country to “prepare.” Eighteen thousand stands, or four hundred thirty-two thousand one sheets covering regular stands, honsetops and barn sides. And this bill posting campaign, says Vitagraph, did not cost the exhibitors one cent either directly or indirectly.

Other than the fact that V-L-S-E is following the wishes of Government officials in promoting “Womanhood” with the poster campaign, it also is looked upon as a business experiment which will be followed by larger. Vitagraph’s big preparedness picture, “Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation,” is of the same type as “The Hunting of the Hawk,” in which William Courtenay has just made such a big success, the story is said to be entirely different in treatment.

---

Billie Burke Production Is as Mysterious as Its Name

“The Mysterious Miss Terry,” the first production in which Billie Burke will be starred by the Famous Players Film Company, is heralded as a story as unfathomable as the title indicates. The opening scene shows a cab driving along a deserted street in the dead of night. From the window there appears the anxious face of a girl, and as the cab passes under an electric light, beams of which suddenly illuminate the girl’s face, she draws back in a startled manner and quickly veils herself.

Stopping the cab she alights and makes her way toward a huge, gloomy mansion. The door of the big dwelling swings open and the butler is seen coming down the steps. The girl watches her chance, slips inside the door and goes to the upper room of the house where she begins to tamper with a wall safe. She has switched on the lights, and the butler, who is talking to a policeman at the corner of the street, suddenly sees the lights in the supposedly deserted house and rushes back to investigate.

These are the opening scenes in Miss Burke’s first picture and they are said to be but an indication of the mysterious and insolvable tangles of the threads of this story which was written by Gelett Burgess, the well-known author.

J. Searle Dawley, who has been directing Marguerite Clark’s most recent Famous Players’ successes, is staging this production for Miss Burke.

---

Lasky Engages Well-Known Writer

Frances Marion, author of many original and adapted photodramas, and formerly head of the scenario department of the World Film Corporation, has been engaged by Jesse L. Lasky as a writer of special features for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. She will divide her time equally between the Eastern and Western studios. Her first work under the new arrangements will be the adaptation for the screen of “Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm,” in which Mary Pickford will appear as the star. It was Miss Marion who prepared “The Poor Little Rich Girl” for the screen.
Hayakawa as Mexican in Next Paramount

The Jaguar's Claws, which is scheduled for release by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, on June 14 presents Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese actor in the picturesque role of a Mexican bandit. Furthermore it marks the return of Marjorie Daw, the protege of Geraldine Farrar, to the Lasky Studio after a long period spent at school and with private tutors. The cast also includes Marjorie Daw, Fritzie Brumette, Mabel Van Buren, Tom Moore and Tom Forman.

The story was prepared for the screen by Beatrice De Mille and Leighton Osmun from an original story by William M. McCoy and directed by Marshall Neilan.

El Jaguar is a bandit who rules the Northern states of Mexico by fear. He demands a tribute from the manager of the American oil fields and terrorizes him into resigning his position. The company then sends young Phil Jordan as its representative. The struggle for supremacy between the wily Mexican and the courageous young American makes the story.

Pre-Release Interest in "The Night Workers"

Trade showings of "The Night Workers," the next Essanay feature, are now in progress at all Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay branch offices. This production, featuring Marguerite Clayton and Jack Gardner, is receiving a large amount of pre-release bookings, according to reports from K-E-S-E headquarters. It is receiving particular attention from exhibitors in small cities, where the fascination of a big city's night life, which the picture unfolds, has its strongest hold.

Rameau Picture Finished

Frank Powell has finished the filming of "The Dazzling Miss Davison," adapted from Florence Warden's widely read mystery novel, which is the fifth of the series of feature pictures, starring Marjorie Rambeau, made for distribution through the Mutual Film Corporation.

Loew to Run Art Drama Program at New York Theatre

THROUGH Modern Feature Films, Inc., and New York Exchange of Art Dramas, a deal was consummated last week whereby Marcus Loew contracted to run one Art Dramas release each week at his New York theatre, at Forty-fifth street and Broadway. This agreement took effect on May 18, when "The Mystic Hour," an Apollo production, released on Art Dramas program, was shown. Regularly thereafter every release on the Art Dramas program will be shown weekly at this theatre.

Loew's New York theatre, situated in the heart of New York's busiest section, ranks with some of the best theatres in the greater city and runs only the features. Art Dramas program has been run in other Loew theatres, but not until recently has he booked it as a regular run at his New York theatre. Mr. Loew is said to have evinced entire satisfaction with the showing of "The Mystic Hour," the first Art Dramas release to be seen at his New York theatre. Officials of Art Dramas are well pleased over this deal, and express great satisfaction over their progress.

Warwick Picture Completed

With "The Silent Master" ready as the May release of the Robert Warwick Film Corporation, the second production under the Selznick banner, Harry Rapf, president of the producing company, announced the completion this week of this star's newest feature, "A Modern Othello."

Leonce Perret, the French producer, who is making his American debut as director of "The Silent Master," is both author and director of the latest Warwick picture, "A Modern Othello."

Elaine Hammerstein has the principal feminine role. Others in the cast include Madam Valentine Petit, Edward Kimball, George Flateau and Frank McGlynn.

Christie Signs New Star to Long Term Contract

So well pleased is Al. F. Christie with the work of Margaret Gibson in her first four pictures that he has offered her a term-contract, which has been accepted and will insure the appearance in Christie Comedies of this star for sometime to come. Although her first comedy, "With the Mummies' Help," is just now being released (May 7), Mr. Christie feels that his eight years of successful comedy production qualify him to predict that Miss Gibson will be an instantaneous success with his following.

World Announces "Crimson Dove"

Carlyle Blackwell, June Elvidge and Dion Titheradge, in "The Crimson Dove," will be the week's publication by World-Pictures Brady-Made. A lumber camp, a church, the gold room at Rector's and a backwoods faro bank with a woman dealer are some of the backgrounds against which the love story of this play is laid.

Metro Gets Browning

Tod Browning, until a few weeks ago director for Fine Arts, has joined the Metro forces. His first work will be the direction of Mabel Talaferrato in "Will o' the Wisp," a forthcoming Metro wonder-play presented by B. A. Rolfe.
If You Are Not On the Mailing List of the Moving Picture
Weekly—GET ON!

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO., Carl Laemmle, Pres.

THE EXHIBITORS GUIDE

Big Situations

Mark Every Episode of the Surprise Mystery
Serial “THE VOICE on the WIRE”

Polly Marion—HYPNOTIZED—ATTEMPTS TO KILL HER LOVER

At every episode of the Universal’s surprise mystery serial, “The Voice on the Wire,” there are big situations, so original and unique as to compel the attention and draw the crowds back week after week. Ben Wilson, the popular Universal star, playing the part of Shirley, relentlessly trailing the gang back of the mysterious “voice” is suddenly confronted by his own sweetheart, Polly Marion, armed with a gun which she proceeds to press against his heart with the words “I am going to kill you.” That’s a sample of the unexpected situations that keep the fans on the edge of their seats. The play is founded on the novel of the same name (already enjoyed by multitudes) by Eustace Hale Ball. The producer of the wonder drama, “20,000 Leagues Under the Sea,” Smart Paton, directed the serial and again proves his mastery. Exhibitors everywhere report record business on this latest Universal success serial. Book now through any Universal Exchange.

For Further Details of the Universal Program see the Moving Picture Weekly

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers

Universal Screen Magazine

Meeting the demands of Exhibitors by giving them what the public wants is a happy habit with the mighty Universal. True to its reputation it has scored an immense hit with its great one-reel novelty feature the Universal Screen Magazine. Leaping into favor overnight, a demand for its release every week instead of twice-a-month, was quickly met. Today it leads the list of novelty features that are booked by Exhibitors to boost a program, bolster up a weak performance, or help put over a weak feature. That is its value. It will get the crowds when nothing else will attract them. Book it for your dullest day. It is replete with the most interesting and fascinating subjects such as make the reputation of the big popular magazines—and there is something to please every member of the family—all in moving picture form. Write your nearest Universal Exchange for a free booklet which gives you what you want to know about this box-office winner. Or address UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE, 1600 Broadway, New York.

“Song Hits In Photoplay” is another instantaneous hit. In some of the biggest houses in the country (names on request), it had the audience wild with delight, listening to their favorite songs while they watched the moving picture story of the songs on the screen. If you want to make a hit in your town get full particulars NOW from your nearest Universal Exchange.
To Successful Booking

Greatest of All

Unprecedented Demand for Short Subjects Fully Met by the Mighty Universal Program

"Stick to the program if you want to win," says a Texas Exhibitor in a leading trade paper. (Names on request.) "Quit letting the feature stars make all your money after you spend money building and developing them." This is the experience service you get these days from thousands of successful exhibitors. The growing demand for short subjects which patrons may see without having to attend the theatre at a certain set hour under penalty of seeing the show backwards, is responsible for the success of the mighty Universal Program, which in quality and quantity is greater than all competitors. Read the list of releases below and you will understand the overwhelming popularity of the mighty Universal Program.

Specials

On the Universal Program Week of June 4

Butterfly—"The Circus of Life" (Five-Reel Drama) Little Zoe Bae, Mignon Anderson and Emmy Johnson.

Norton—"A Burglar by Request" (One-Reel Comedy) Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edith Roberta.

Gold Seal—"The Almost Good Man" (Three-Reel Western Drama) Hardy Corey and Chote Dallrey.

L-Ko—"Dry Goods and Damp Deeds" (Two-Reel Comedy) Phil Dunham, Lucille Hutton, Chas. Innes and Merta Sterling.

Universal Animated Weekly—Issue No. 34.

Universal Screen Magazine—Issue No. 22.

Joker—"Simple Sapio" (One-Reel Comedy) Gale Henry and Jack Bill.

Powers—"They Were the Happy Days" (Comedy Cartoon) and "Superlative China" (Derby Educational)—Split Reel.

Regulars

Universal Program Week of June 4

Victor—"A Box of Trucks" (One-Reel Comedy) Billie Moore and Marcel Moore.

Laemmle—"The Missing Wallet" (One-Reel Drama).

Rex—"Tacky Sue's Romance" (Two-Reel Costume Drama) Ruth Monongray and Chester Bennet.

Imp—"Doomed" (One-Reel Drama) Clara McDowell, Chas. Malles and Jack Nelson.

Nestor—"Who's Lookin' Now" (Two-Reel Comedy) Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Billie Rhine.*

Ilol-Bison—"The Wildcat" (Two-Reel Western Comedy Drama) Jack Ford and Yvette Mitchell.

Imp—"The Hunted Man" (One-Reel Drama) Lee Bill and Mignon Anderson.

If your patrons are strong for fine, clean dramatic subjects, with brilliant stars, masterly direction and complete and lavish productions, make your selections from this list of "regular" releases on the Universal program. You can always look to this list week after week for the punch subjects that you need to get the crowds and send them away satisfied. Every week among these "regulars" on the big U Program there is offered an array of talent not obtainable anywhere else on earth. If you are not watching these two pages of the Universal Bulletin every week you are not keeping in touch with all the possibilities open to you. Get in touch now with your nearest Universal Exchange and ask for full particulars, or write the Home Office.

If you are not on the Mailing List of the Moving Picture Weekly—Get On!

The Film News Printed Here Will Lead Any Exhibitor to Sure Success
The Latest and Greatest Newspaper of the Screen

UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS shown privately (first release) was pronounced by Exhibitors—far and away the finest release in news weeklies the Trade has ever seen. Novel—Unique—Startling—the cleverest thing before the public, and it has won its fame practically overnight.

During the NEW YORK FRENCH COMMISSION celebration, wherever the eyes of Marshal Joffre turned, he stared directly into the waiting eye of a UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS cameraman—thus is preserved as a record for the world's history a marvellous event for posterity to view in wonderment and glory.

This is the purpose of UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS. To preserve to the world, events that are and that will make history. To book UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS now means much to you. It will surpass any competitive release of its kind by miles. Remember it has no connection whatsoever with the Universal Animated Weekly. Book UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS thru any Universal Exchange or

UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS
1600 B'WAY
NEW YORK
BUTTERFLY PICTURE

Present: "The Circus of Life"

featuring

Little Zoe Rae

with

Harry Carter, Elsie Jane Wilson and an all Star Cast

Directed by Rupert Julian

Produced by the UNIVERSAL FILM MFG @

Carl Laemmle, President

Book through any UNIVERSAL Exchange

A magazine's success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

GOD'S LAW

Tremendous LOIS WEBER Drama

STATE RIGHTS Now Selling

The Universal Film Mfg. Co. will accept BOOKINGS in all UNSOLD State Rights territory on the following Successful Box Office Attractions.

"GOD'S LAW" A stupendous Lois Weber production that, under the title, "The People vs. John Doe," has captured the country. An unusual picture.

Choice open territory.

"EVEN AS YOU AND I" An extraordinary 7-reel Lois Weber production that stamped Broadway. Elaborate campaign book tells how to put it over. This will get the money. Write for the book.

"20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA" Four States left—Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska. Has broken all records wherever shown. $25,000 in two weeks on Broadway. For bookings or remaining State Rights on either of these three box-office attractions, address STATE RIGHTS DEPT., UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. COMPANY, Carl Laemmle, President, 1000 Broadway, New York.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
TO ANY BONAFIDE EXHIBITOR IN THE U.S., ITS POSSESSIONS, CANADA OR MEXICO TRIAL SUBSCRIPTIONS
FREE
3 MONTHS
TO MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY.

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY is a gold mine of information, suggestions, advice, stunts, tips, leads on how to put productions, sales and other bits of the very freshest kind of information that constitutes exactly that kind of information that thousands of live Exhibitors are seeking. You can get all this information and lots more besides in MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY, which we now offer to send to ANY Bonafide Exhibitor in the U. S., its Possessions, Canada or Mexico, FREE on trial for THREE months.

Take Advantage of This Offer Before
It Is Withdrawn

REMEMBER there are positively no strings to this offer. It is plain and above board and means exactly what it says. We won't approach you to subscribe regularly after your three months' free subscription are over.
If after three months of MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY's information, advice and other helps come to you and you want to continue your subscription regularly, you may do so. BUT WE AINT GOING TO ASK YOU TO.

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY will win your enthusiastic endorsement and you won't want to be without it for a single issue after you have begun to appreciate and fully realize what MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY brings to you every week. This is a temporary offer. When the list is full no more free subscriptions will be offered. Get under the wire now, before the list is full. If you wish to take advantage of this offer, fill in and mail the coupon today. REMEMBER also, this offer is to bona fide Exhibitors or Theatre owners ONLY.

MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY,
409 Pearl Street, New York City.

Please send me MOVING PICTURE WEEKLY for three months FREE as per your offer in Moving Picture News, issue of May 26th, 1917.

Signed ..................................................

Theatre Name ..................................................

City .................................................. State

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
Costly War Picture Banned;
Courts Appended Too

Just on the eve of opening, and after its premiere in Chicago had been heralded for a fortnight with a vigorous and costly advertising campaign, the showing of Robert Goldstein's monster patriotic spectacle, "The Spirit of '76," was stopped by Major Funkhauser, the local censor board, backed up by the local head of the Federal Department of Justice, Hinton C. Chabang. The picture was scheduled to open at Orchestra Hall on Monday evening, May 7, and the sudden ban placed on it threw consternation into the ranks of the promoters and brought disapproval to thousands who had planned to see the spectacle.

The film is a historical one showing all the political intrigue and physical combat and suffering of the Revolutionary period. The refusal to grant the permit for its showing came after Major Funkhauser and his board decided that it might serve to arouse bitterness and sectional feeling against England, now one of the United States Allies in the present war. The battlefield horrors also contained in the picture they said might mitigate against recruiting. In taking steps to stop the showing of the picture Major Funkhauser got in touch with the Department of Justice officials here and in Washington and they are said to have backed up his contentions and advocated the ban.

The making of the film had been in progress for nearly a year and the expenditure in preparing it and staging it is said to have cost a huge sum of money and effort.

Robert Goldstein, a California motion picture man, arranged the scenario and directed the production.

Two Big Pictures Start Runs

Last week "The Crisis," Winston Churchill's Civil War story, replaced "Joan the Woman" at the Colonial, and "Should She Obey," a nine-reel divorce preachment spectacle, got off for a good start at the La Salle.

The run of the "Should She Obey," a nine-reel divorce preachment spectacle, got off for a good start at the La Salle.

Leaks in the Loop

Harry Leonhardt, western general manager for Fox in back in Chicago from the West. As G. M. in the West for Fox, Harry's territory lies between the Windy City and Honolulu. He is wondering therefore where he might be able to pick up a pair of seven league boots.

Bill Hart, arrived in Chicago last Thursday on his way East from Incolve. This is the first time that William S. has deserted the West Coast film colony, since he left the legitimate stage three years ago to set the "bad man" pace in the films.

The program for the coming national convention and exposition of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, is being printed. It is being done by W. J. Donovan, a local printer. Ten thousand copies are to be run off at a cost of $500.

Roe Tapley, of Greater Vitagraph, who is trying to bring about a closer communion between producers, exhibitors and audience in the motion picture world, started her speech-making itinerary here last Monday at the Ziegfeld theatre. She will remain here for two weeks.

Mary Pickford started another drive on the town at the Studebaker last Sunday in her latest picture, "A Romance of the Redwoods."

Ralph O. Proctor, manager of the local Art Drama's office wishes to announce that a thief made away with a film can containing the picture, "A Man and the Woman" from a delivery wagon last (Continued on page 3301)
Leaks in the Loop
(Continued from page 3001)

week. The film was on its way from the Art Drama's office to an exhibitor when stolen. Mr. Proctor offers a reward of $50 for its return.

Fred J. Herrington, national organizer of the Motion Picture Exhibitor's League, stopped off in Chicago last Tuesday coming from Milwaukee, where he attended a meeting of the State league there. He reports them as a live organization planning for a big convention to be held in Milwaukee, May 31 and June 1.

The management of the Playhouse, now putting on Bluebird pre-releases, has pledged as its share to the Red Cross fund 20 per cent of the gross receipts from the showing of "Treason" there last week.

Watterson Rothacker spent the time between Limiteds in New York last week.

It was Universal Night at the Reel Fellow's Club on last Friday. All the members and attaches of the Universal Chicago office were guests. Jack Haag, R. O. Proctor and others of the Reel Fellows provided a buffet luncheon for the exchange boys.

Canadian Office Jottings

Clair Hague, general manager of the Universal Company in Canada, is on a trip to Montreal to make important changes in the Montreal branch.

T. O. Byers, who has been manager of the Montreal office of the Canadian Universal Film Company for sometime has resigned to accept a similar position with the Famous Players.

J. Smyth of the Connaught theatre and F. Boyd of the Rex theatre, Montreal, have resigned to ally themselves with the General Film Company as salesmen.

Allen Christie, formerly of the Universal Company, Montreal, has entered the employ of the Independent Film and Supply Company, as manager of the St. John office at 67 Dock street.

Succeeds to Head of Los Angeles Mutual Office

Newton E. Levi has been promoted to the managership of the Los Angeles Mutual Film Exchange by Dennis J. Sullivan, assistant general manager of the Mutual Film Corporation.

Mr. Levi succeeds W. J. Drummmond, who resigned April 30. Mr. Levi's promotion comes after a number of years of consistent service to the Mutual Film Corporation, largely on the Pacific Coast.

Back in Selznick N. Y. Office

Henry Siegel, formerly one of the salesmen of the Lewis J. Selznick, New York Exchange, has returned to the Selznick forces in the capacity of assistant to Sol J. Berman, manager of the New York office.

Mr. Siegel recently transferred his activities to take charge of the New Jersey Selznick Exchange, which was under the control of Herman Jans.

New K-E-S-E Detroit Manager

A. J. Reed, formerly with the K-E-S-E in Kansas City, has been appointed manager of the Detroit exchange to succeed W. H. Irvine. Mr. Reed was also connected with the Triangle and the V-L-S-E in Kansas City.

Special McClure Emissary

W. F. Wilkerson, who until recently had the distribution of Pictures for the States of Texas, Arkansas, and Oklahoma, has been sent to Syracuse by general manager Sheehan to do some special work throughout New York State.

JUST FOR FUN

By LONGACRE

THE stark played a return engagement last week, at the home of John C. Flinn last week, bringing with it a baby boy. When first booked it presented a girl to the Flinn family, but believing in the old adage that variety is the spice of life, it made its second appearance with the boy. Pete Schmid, who is our informant on the above matter, coined an original phrase when he reported that both mother and child were doing well.

A RETURN ENGAGEMENT

IF the Kansas City censor board is really serious in its edict to eliminate cigarette smoking on the screen, it ought to go a step further in these days of all modern improvements and define a cigarette.

THE SEVEN AGES OF A SCENARIO

(With a Convertible Ending)

Dream       Theme       Type       Sale or Fail
Mail

"It may interest you to know," runs a postal card, "that in the May 12 issue of the All-Story Weekly there is a story entitled 'Dupe' by Paul Lang." Our interest is great, and as Paul Lang has been scenario editor for Kalem for so long, it is with some years and is at present acting in an executive capacity at the Kalem Studio in Glendale, Cal., we pass the word along to the rest of the trade.

LOCAL NEWS

-Walt Hiltt sends in a Sweet Day and wants eagerly to see what it will get him. Well, Walt, this seems self-same things in a cigarette holder which is sort of inconsistent, we aver.

-Also tendered liquid refreshment to the Keen's Well done last wk. Well done and brave Van, say we.

-Ham McLaurin, who it may recall, discarnes no more, having served as a stage hand before joining the team. He is now a mighty picture soldier.

-Tom Kennedy has joined the Nat’l Guard of N. Y. Tom is showing the true spirit of patriotism.

-Frank Brady has joined the Nat’l Guard of N. Y. Frank is showing the true spirit of patriotism.

-Bess Meredyth, who is doing scenarion for the eastern Triangle at the moment, was a pleasant caller last week. Come again Bess, say we, even though Jessen has gone back to the W. K. W.

-Roy Somerville, another writer of picture plays of note, calls every now and then. Always welcome Roy.
Higher Court Overrules Decision and Fines Exhibitor

Judge Ralph Latshaw, of the Criminal Court in Jackson County, Missouri, fined William H. Rudolph $1 on one of four counts, charges involving showing films unpassed by the censors in Kansas City. The other counts were dismissed on the understanding that a plea of guilty be entered. Rudolph is not in Kansas City. He had leased the Maze theatre, where he was running the "Unborn," when the owners hesitated to enter a contest with the city, the film having been put on without censoring, and Mr. Rudolph wishing to make it a test case of the censorship.

After his refusal to submit to censorship and the disapproval of women who came to see the picture, officials brought proceedings against him on the ground that the picture was not fit to be shown. The Police Court judge viewed the picture and said it taught a highly moral lesson and told Rudolph to go ahead. The decision was appealed from, chiefly to support the city's authority to censor films, and the fine was the result.

Exhibitor Appointed Censor

John Hamrick, manager of the Rex theatre, Seattle, has been appointed to serve on the censor board of the city by Mayor Gill.

Boston Mayor with Theatre Owners in Protest to Governor

Boston Mayor, James M. Curley, should ever take up Clara Kimball Young's offer of $50,000 a year as a film star, made during her recent trip there, Boston managers would fight to the last cent to prevent it, Mayor Curley showed his fighting spirit recently by uniting with house managers all over the city in protesting to Governor McColl against the Massachusetts movie house law.

The new law, which has recently been passed by both branches of the legislature, is now before the Governor for action. The bill if signed by Governor McColl will make moving picture shows possible in any city, regardless of a city council's provision for an asbestos booth or for the Fred H. Solomon photoplay, "The Invisible Government," or "The Downfall of a Mayor," which was given its premiere at Clune's Auditorium, Los Angeles, April 23rd, when an indefinite run was begun.

Ex-Mayor Sebastian not only furnished the incidents but played the leading role in the photoplay which may be classed as an expose of crime as practiced in American cities. It begins with his acceptance of a position on the police force of Los Angeles and shows his career in which he rose to be the chief magistrate of the Pacific Coast city. Los Angeles Chinatown, underworld dives of the past, anarchistic plots, ward bossism by criminal gang leaders are reviewed in most realistic manner with the scenes taken on the actual locations of the events.

The subject while highly melodramatic is also a study of crime from the viewpoint of the police that will no doubt prove of value to students of criminalology in addition to being entertaining from the standpoint of a photoplay produced for amusement purposes only.

The film brings out that ex-Mayor Sebastian was not only a good policeman and city executive but is the mayor who is reformed by the mayor. Jean Hathaway takes the character heavy and Jack Connolly appears in the role of a grafting policeman. Seymour Zehli was King of Chinatown. The production contains a great array of exceptional types, suitable for such a story containing scenes from the underworld.

The Solomon picture as originally shown is entirely too long for the subject matter to hold interest in cities other than Los Angeles. There it is of particular interest because of local characters being portrayed under fictitious names. The picture is being reedited during the Los Angeles showing and will be materially reduced in size before offering it to the trade.

"Downfall of a Mayor," True to Life Film, Given Premiere

INCIDENTS from the life of former-Mayor Charles E. Sebastian of Los Angeles, together with a romance which runs through the film make up the text for the Fred H. Solomon photoplay, "The Invisible Government," or "The Downfall of a Mayor," which was given its premiere at Clune's Auditorium, Los Angeles, April 23rd, when an indefinite run was begun.

Ex-Mayor Sebastian not only furnished the incidents but played the leading role in the photoplay which may be classed as an expose of crime as practiced in American cities. It begins with his acceptance of a position on the police force of Los Angeles and shows his career in which he rose to be the chief magistrate of the Pacific Coast city. Los Angeles Chinatown, underworld dives of the past, anarchistic plots, ward bossism by criminal gang leaders are reviewed in most realistic manner with the scenes taken on the actual locations of the events.

The subject while highly melodramatic is also a study of crime from the viewpoint of the police that will no doubt prove of value to students of criminalology in addition to being entertaining from the standpoint of a photoplay produced for amusement purposes only.

The film brings out that ex-Mayor Sebastian was not only a good policeman and city executive but is also an actor. The photoplay covers approximately twelve years of his life. H. C. Stafford, former scenario editor at U. C. L. A., city, is responsible for the scenario directions and also played the role of Joe Durant, the underworld boss. Duke Worne appears as juvenile and Virginia Nelson as his sweetheart, a girl of the underworld who is reformed by the mayor. Jean Hathaway takes the character heavy and Jack Connolly appears in the role of a grafting policeman. Seymour Zehli was King of Chinatown. The production contains a great array of exceptional types, suitable for such a story containing scenes from the underworld.

The Solomon picture as originally shown is entirely too long for the subject matter to hold interest in cities other than Los Angeles. There it is of particular interest because of local characters being portrayed under fictitious names. The picture is being reedited during the Los Angeles showing and will be materially reduced in size before offering it to the trade.

Baltimore Houses Lose—War Is Thought Cause

There has been a decided falling off in the attendance of the various motion picture houses in Baltimore for the last three weeks. Exhibitors say the only possible explanation is that there has been some apprehension due to certain classes feeling the declaration of war which has resulted in economic steps being taken.
THE EASTERN STUDIOS

Drawbacks of most discouraging nature were encountered by Hobart Henley in the production of "Parentage." In the first place he had worked on the script for three years at odd moments without ever finding time to produce the picture without interfering with his contracts. Then finally the manuscript disappeared. So Henley sat down and wrote it all over again.

Then there were most unusual difficulties in getting the right players to fill the characters. Much time was later wasted in searching for tykes for the big scenes. Illness of players held up production. Finally however, patience triumphed and "Parentage" was a reality.

Following the showing of Art Drama's release "The Auction of Virtue," at Marcus Loew's Orpheum theatre, New York, recently, the management instituted a novel means of introducing Naomi Childers who had the leading role in the picture. Miss Childers appeared in person but not in the customary way of coming before the audience informally.

In the pose of the Goddess of Freedom, with draperies of the stars and stripes, Miss Childers was placed in the spotlight with the orchestra playing "The Star Spangled Banner.

In "The Auction of Virtue," Miss Childers impersonates the goddess in several scenes so that the appearance was not only apropos to the nation-wide feeling of patriotism but to the picture itself. "The Auction of Virtue" was produced by the U.S. Amusement Corporation and released on the Art Drama's program.

Frank Gillmore, well-known leading man of the dramatic stage, will make his screen debut with Ethel Barrymore in a picture version of "The Lifted Veil," by Basil King, which Metro Pictures Corporation will issue as a five-act feature. Mr. Gillmore has the part of the Rev. Arthur Bambridge. H. A. Rolfe will present this Metro wonderplay, which George D. Baker is directing.

At the special invitation of the Actors' Fund Fair Committee of Arrangements, Virginia Pearson has agreed to make a personal appearance at the forthcoming benefit, on Saturday evening, May 19. The Fox star is at present spending much of her spare time in connection with the preparation of several novel surprises for her many admirers on this occasion, the details of which she is withholding from even her most intimate friends. One hundred personally autographed photos have already been donated to the fair by Miss Pearson, to be sold at auction. In addition to accepting the invitation to appear at the Motion Picture Booth, Miss Pearson has agreed to donate her services at the United States Navy Booth, at the fair.

Cupid has been busy among the members of the King-Bee Comedies company at Jacksonville, Fla., of which Ethel Burton is the ingenee lead. Ethel like Maud in Tennyson's poem is "tall and stately," likewise a smiling blonde. Arvid Gillstrom, the director of these comedies is shrewd in his generation and made up his mind not to let Ethel run loose any more than could be helped. Those who know Gilly credit him with being the best in life.

The Heart of a Thoroughbred has just been filmed at the Edison studios for release on the Forum program. This Edison Conquest Picture is an adaptation of Anna Sewell's "Black Beauty," and Don Pulano, the $100,000 horse, has been featured in the production. Special arrangements were made with the Humane Society for taking "Don" to and from his "place of business." Besides, "Cowboy" Elliott, owner and pal of "Don," used every precaution for his safety.

Marjorie Rambeau, in "The Dazzling Miss Davison," on which she is now working in the Frank Powell Studio, has to change costume every few feet. The costumes run from grave to gay. This production is adapted from Florence Warden's novel of the same name.

Aeronautics as an aid to slapstick has probably never been employed in motion pictures, but it will be soon if "Fatty" Arbuckle, the jocose comedian, who is now working in the Frank Powell Studio, has anything to say about it. "Jumping from an automobile running in a circle at the rate of ninety miles an hour to another one going at the same rate of speed isn't of course, as easy as rolling off the proverbial log," said Mr. Arbuckle. "However, it can be done as I have shown in 'The Reckless Romeo.' The possibility of calisthenics in mid-air as funmakers are infinitely greater than those on terra firma, so I am going in seriously for aviation, for at least one picture."
THEDA BARA, who has arrived in Los Angeles on her first trip to the Coast, is the only one of the big stars of screen- dadom who has never worked at a Western studio. She began her film career three years ago with the Fox Company in New York in “A Fool There Was.” With Fox was Frank Lloyd, his director, who left for New York, where they will make two photoplays before they return to the Coast. Harry Weil, assistant director; Billy Foster, cameraman, and Marc Robbins, scenario reader, accompanied the star and director.

A new member of the Fox scenario staff is Marie Pavis, who has had twelve years’ experience as a screen actress and who has written many photoplays. Miss Pavis is at present engaged in story writing, but will return to acting in a short time.

Baby Virginia Corbin, the four-year-old actress, who has just taken contract with Fox, is now at work on a screen version of “Treasure Island,” which has been rewritten as a special vehicle for the little star.

The Cowboys’ Reunion of East Las Vegas, New Mex., have chosen Dustin Farum, of the William Fox Company, and William Hart, of the Ince forces, as “the two most typical looking cowboys extant,” and have written their respective companies to get a still of the two stars shaking hands, so that they may have the picture as their insignia to typify the reunion spirit of the big cowboy celebration held in Las Vegas every July—this year the 3rd, 4th, and 5th.

THE Helen Holmes Company at the Signal Studios began filming the eleventh important episode of the serial “The Railroad Raiders” entitled “A Desperate Deal!” this week under the direction of J. P. McGowan. A number of the water scenes for the installment were made during the recent visit of the company to San Francisco. In this episode the characters of the story are taken inland from the coast to a mushroom mining camp, Copper City, located on the desert edge. The town set has been erected by the technical men in the Arroyo Seco, several hundred yards from the studio. There crooked streets have been laid out, with the pine shacks, gambling resorts, and general merchandise stores necessary for the business section.

Charles U. Wells, one of the well-known players of the Signal Company, took examinations this week for admission into the Ince-Triangle program in “Love of Justice,” a feature film by Lambert Hill.

ENID BENNETT, Olive Thomas, and Sylvia Bremer are three Ince-Triangle stars who have formed a class for instruction in nursing and have engaged a prominent surgeon of Los Angeles as teacher. The girls are devoting an hour each day to practical hospital work and will be in training for a month, when they expect to be fit for field service.

Charles Rusoff, assistant of William S. Hart, who left Los Angeles a week ago, will meet Triangle exhibitors and appear at theaters in Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Wilmington, Philadelphia, Trenton, Newark, New York City, New Haven, Boston, Albany, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Toledos, Detroit, Chicago,waukee, St. Paul, Spokane, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco. Mr. Hart expects to return on Saturday morning, June 9.

FREE SERVICE FOR PLAYERS
We Will Be Your Post Office
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
STUDIO DIRECTORY
has established a letter department for actors, actresses, directors and others connected with the production end of the Film Industry.

The "Directory" will forward mail of everybody affiliated with the studios.

Have your letters sent to us and we will forward them promptly to any address, no matter where you may go.

No more lost letters. You will be sure of receiving your mail at all times.

THE SERVICE COSTS YOU NOTHING
Your address will be considered confidential information for use in forwarding letters only.

Have mail sent to
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
STUDIO DIRECTORY
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

JACK VOSBURG, late leading man of the American Film Company at Santa Barbara, is a late addition to the Thomas H. Ince corps of players. Mr. Vosburg has been engaged to play leads, and it is expected that his first picture (Ince) will be one in which he will play the lead opposite Louise Glauin.

Ruth McCord, the Ince-Triangle girl, has left Los Angeles on a motorcycle trip to visit exhibitors all over the country. Her first stop will be at San Diego, where there will be a Triangle monument erected. The journey taken by Miss McCord will cover 10,000 miles. Moving pictures of the start were taken, and Producer Thomas H. Ince gave Miss McCord letters to all Triangle constituents.

Charles Ray is to appear as star in the screen version of “Sudden Jim,” by Lambert Hillyer, taken from the story by Clarence Dunnington Ketland in the Saturday Evening Post. J. J. Dowling will play Zaanan Freme, a quiet character in the story who has his own method of solving the problems of those around him. Sylvia Bremer, the young Australian actress, has been assigned the leading feminine role of Marie Ducharme. Those in the cast include Lydia Knott and Frank Whitson. The company, with Victor Schertzinger as director, has left for the lumber country near Santa Cruz, Cal., where they will remain for a fortnight taking the important exterior scenes.

LOUISE GLAUIN is to be starred in the Ince-Triangle program in “Love of Justice,” a feature film by Lambert Hill.
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Vol. 15. No. 21

One of the thrilling scenes in the Alaskan story at the Culver City studios which will offer Dorothy Dalton as star took place this week between Kenneth Harlan, the new Ine-Triangle lead, and Melbourne MacDowell, the recently acquired character man. The fight was staged on a street set which has been built to represent the main thoroughfare of Nome, Alaska, during the first gold rush.

ZOE BECKLEY, special writer of the New York Evening Mail, and James Dollomb, of the New York Evening Post, were guests of Jack Cunningham, scenario editor, at Universal City this week.

"Checkmate" will be the Horkheimer release for May and will feature Jackie Saunders. "A Hit of Kindling" will be the June release of this star. "Betty Be Good" is the title of the July release. Will M. Ritchey is the author, and the part of Betty allows Miss Saunders an unusual opportunity to display her ability.

Gloria Joy has completed her first picture in a new series of "Little Mary Sunshine" and has begun on a new one just completed for her. The little Miss is supported by Leon Perdue, of "Shadows and Sunshine" and "Told at Twilight" fame.

Frances Guihan and Lela Liebrand are new adjuts to the Balboa scenario department. Miss Guihan is a St. Louis girl and Miss Liebrand comes from Kansas City.

Kathleen Clifford, the star of the Horkheimer serial "The Twisted Thread," has arranged for a Red Cross benefit at Los Angeles. Miss Clifford's assistants will all be screen stars.

Will M. Ritchey, who for three years has been chief of the Balboa scenario department, has gone East, where he will become a member of the editorial staff of the Astra Company at New York.

Lee Arthur, well known for his authorship of "The Auctioneer," "The Gay Mr. Lightfoot," "We 'uns of Tennessee," "Private John Allen," "Cohen's Luck," "Breaking Into Society," and the dramatization of "Huckleberry Finn," is a new member of the Balboa studio staff. His first work for the Balboa Company will be the preparation of a story for Jackie Saunders, which will be placed in charge of Sherwood Macfadden. Mr. Arthur is a former lawyer and newspaper man, and for the past ten years has been affiliated with the Edison Company.

WILLIAM C. DE MILLE is again directing at the Lasky studios after having spent some time taking charge of the scenario department. The stars in his first production are Louise Huff and Jack Pickford.

A new screen actress in support of Wallace Reid and Myrtle Stedman in a recent production at the Morosco studios is Florence Carpenter, daughter of the manager of the Paramount Empress theatre, of Salt Lake City. Miss Carpenter has had previous stage experience, but has spent the past six months "learning the camera angle." She will be cast in another production shortly.

A swimming pool is under construction at the Lasky studios for use in the forthcoming production of Cecil B. de Mille and the filming of any other scenes in subsequent productions that require it. The pool measures 40 feet wide by 60 feet long and is 10 feet deep. In order to have it ready for Mr. de Mille three shifts of men have been at work on the pool the past week.

Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, whose business has compelled to live in the East, has returned to California and will take up his residence, with the other members of his household, in Hollywood. Mr. Lasky expects to spend six months of the year in Los Angeles and the other six months attending to his business interests in New York City.

GERALDINE FARRAR, of "Carmen" fame, has returned to Los Angeles after a season in the East and in Europe. Miss Farrar was met by her husband, Lou Tellegen, and a number of friends.

Douglas Fairbanks is surrounding himself with a notable company of players. For work with him in his latest production, "A Regular Guy," he has engaged Sam de Grasse, formerly a Triangle-Fine Arts star. The characterization of Mr. de Grasse as "Bud Fraser" in "The Good Bad Man" caused his selection by Director John Emerson for a part in the coming Artcraft production. Besides promising roles in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Dance of Flame" Sam de Grasse was featured in a series of two-reel Reliance and Majestic photo-plays.

Mr. Fairbanks also has Arline Pretty, who appeared in "In Again, Out Again," and Frank Lloro, who is noted for his playing of low comedy characters. Arnold Lucy, Helen Greene, and Walter Walker are also among Mr. Fairbanks' recruits.

"Laugh and Let Live" is said to characterize the humorous personality of Douglas Fairbank as nearly as print possibly can. There are as well as many others, a number of admirable examples of the one-and-only Fairbanks type of humor. We hope that anybody who reads "Laugh and Let Live" will learn what is behind "Doug's" remarkable grin.

RATHER a departure from the customary rehearsal of a scenario is being made by Douglas Fairbanks and his Artcraft company under the direction of John Emerson in "A Regular Guy." The different members of the cast are required to speak the lines of the scenes with the same dramatic effect that they would use on the stage. According to Mr. Fairbanks, the actor is thus made a more integral part of the story and does his work with considerable more feeling and appreciation.

"Humility," the first of the "Seven Cardinal Virtue" plays, puts on at the Bernstein studios, where pictures for the cleaning purpose are produced, is ready for the cutting room. The play serves as an introduction to the screen of little Irene Yarger, who is reported to be a child actress of unusual talent. Betty Bricke and Murdock MacQuarrie are supported by Jay Morley and Charles Arling. The direction of the production has been under Jack Pratt, with his assistant Sam Wood. Some striking effects are promised in the way of interior decoration.
THE Rolin Company announce two additions to their roster. William Blaisdell, formerly of the Balboa Studio, and Vivian Reed are the featured players. The entire cast has not been selected as yet.

Director Colin Campbell is busy with the preparation of a new Selig feature which is yet untitled. Tom Santch, Bessie Eyton and Fritzi Brunette are to be the principal players.

Al Santell, who has been directing the Kalem Ham Comedy Company, is laid up with a broken rib. While driving, his new Mercer in the downtown district of Los Angeles, he was run into by another machine. Lloyd Hamilton is again directing this comedy company, and has just finished the picture "A Jail Jam," which has been released.

Harry Pollard, the comedian of the Rolin Company, has married Myrtle Webb, a Kentucky girl, and will reside with his wife in Hollywood.

"Miss Captain Kiddo." The last picture is completed by the Kalem Company, headed by True Boardman, and will be released on the Mutual Program. The Kalem American Girl series, has been equipped with electric lights, and Director Home is now making some striking night scenes for the fifteenth episode, "Sage Brush Law." This series will be in twenty episodes.

The Western street scene used in the Kalem American Girl series, has been equipped with electric lights, and Director Home is now making some striking night scenes for the fifteenth episode, "Sage Brush Law." This series will be in twenty episodes.

The Kalem Strike Company headed by True Boardman is making scenes for the fifteenth episode, "Sage Brush Law." This series will be in twenty episodes.

Al Santell, who has been directing the Kalem Ham Comedy Company, is laid up with a broken rib. While driving, his new Mercer in the downtown district of Los Angeles, he was run into by another machine. Lloyd Hamilton is again directing this comedy company, and has just finished the picture "A Jail Jam," which has been released.

Harry Pollard, the comedian of the Rolin Company, has married Myrtle Webb, a Kentucky girl, and will reside with his wife in Hollywood.

"Treads of Fate" or "Strings to Her Heart." The story by Epes W. Sargent has to do with the "string suit" or dress suit used for quick changes on the stage where a string is pulled and the entire suit drops off. George French and Ethel Lynne are featured.

The first Margaret Gibson feature, "The Forteenth Man," has been completed. The final scenes called for a prize fight, and a ring set was constructed at the studio, and two local pugilists, Clifford Jordan and Robert Powers, were put on in a match.

Frank Woods, late manager of production at the Fine Arts Studio, has gone to New York, where he will consider several offers, which await him in the picture field. Mr. Woods' work for the Fine Arts was very successful. Mr. Woods accompanied by Mrs. Woods, motored to San Francisco, and from there went to Portland and Seattle, then on to New York.

L-Ko Director Dick Smith, who has just finished "Shattered Hearts and Battered Faces," is starring Bob Mckenzie in a new comedy, the working title of which is "Doping the Rube." The supporting cast includes Chester Ryckman, Eva Novak, Harry Lorraine, Russell Powell and Thomas Del Mar.

"A Baby Mix-up," a two-reel L-Ko comedy, under the direction of Noel Smith, was completed Saturday. The scenario, which was written by Director General J. G. Blystone, required a "type baby," which made it necessary to advertise in the Los Angeles papers, and, according to report, the following morning the L-Ko lot resembled nothing more than an orphanage.

Phil Dunham's picture, "Chicken Chased and Hen Pecked," under the direction of Vim Moore, is ready for release.

An entire circus tent has been erected at the L-Ko Studios to accommodate a large number of extra players which will be used for scenes in the circus picture, "The Honor of the Sawdust," in which Alice Howell is featured.

On account of change of plans at the Eastern Vitagraph Studio, Antonio Moreno will probably be starred in another picture on the West Coast. "The Pre-tender" is the name of the new feature intended to star Mr. Moreno and Mary Anderson, under the direction of William Wellman.

Harry Morey, who was reported as coming to California, has also changed his plans, and will not come to the West Coast until he has finished one more feature picture. At that time Mr. Morey and Mrs. Moreno will exchange studios.

Mr. De La Parelle, director for the La Salle Film Company, of Chicago and Los Angeles, has arrived in Los Angeles, and is now busy selecting a studio where he will begin the production of fifty-two one-reel comedies, which are to be released on the Mutual Program. The La Salle Company will also produce five-reel comedy-dramas from time to time. King Vidor, well known in film circles, will be assistant to Mr. De La Parelle. The company has had sent out to them two carloads of furniture and props from the Chicago studios.

P. G. Lynch, formerly studio manager for the American Film Company at Santa Barbara, has joined with the Argonauts Company, with offices at 828 South Los Angeles street, Los Angeles, in the official capacity of assistant to the president. Mr. Lynch has been in the picture industry since 1910, his first engagement being with the Theatre Film Service Company, of San Francisco, where he was in charge of the booking department, and later was appointed manager. A year later Mr. Lynch became identified with the Novelty Motion Picture Company, which was absorbed by the General Film Company. In 1913 Mr. Lynch opened the San Francisco exchange of the Mutual Film Corporation. and three months' later became affiliated with the American Company at Santa Barbara, where he proved himself a very popular and capable studio manager.

A LICE WILSON, who was known as Alice Rae at the Fine Arts Studio, has left for New York. Her last engagement in California was in the feature directed by George Seigm in for Chicago capital.

Ruth Stonehouse and her husband, Joe Reach, scenario writers, have as their guests B. B. Schuler, the personal representative for Adolph Zukor and head of the Famous Players publicity and advertising department at New York.

Jess Meredyth, formerly affiliated with Don Meaney at his Hollywood offices, has left for New York where she will establish her own offices as author and playwright's agent. In connection with her work as agent, Miss Meredyth will write photoplates regularly for the Triangle films.

The Rosamay Superfilm Company is the name of a new concern opening studios in Los Angeles. Henry V. Romayne is the president, and Bright Stringham Young has been engaged as general manager.

The National Film Corporation of America has begun activities on their production, "Tarzan of the Apes," at their recently-purchased studio at Santa Monica and Gower streets, Hollywood. William E. Wing is in charge of the scenario. The story calls for a large number of people, and the properties will include ship, jungle and forest sets.

J. G. Blystone, director general of the L-Ko, is completing his circus comedy, "The Honor of the Follies." He needed a bunch of babies for the film and the baby wailing and the music from the calliope he's using in Alice Howell's circus picture makes some duet.

These directors are mighty severe sometimes. Think of making poor Tony Moreno escape in a boat while real bullets were fired after him just because the splash of the real bullets registered better!

T. O'Tool, R. R. Neilson, M. G. Watkins and a lot of other film folks. A beauty of the organizations is that... Sweeney, who is the secretary of the league of exhibitors who worship the filmsters of our fair town.

(Continued from last week)

There's a lot of interesting people in Chicago. Vic. Eubank, for example, who keeps everything straight at Essanay — everything but George Spoon's cigar which always points skyward. And there's Julian Johnson, the editor, and Jemima Quirk the secretary of Photoplay Magazine. They have a lot of fun skylightin' with the paper trust to get enough paper to supply the millions who want to read their picture album and grow into fans.

Bill Lord Wright is devoting his time to helping the government secure volunteers and has turned out a poster that is a work of art. We'd like to meet many more, but the rival was off for Broadway. Chicago must be careful.

A TRIBUTE to the publicity and advertising department of the Universal was paid this week by Albert D. Lasker, president of Lord & Thomas, one of the country's largest advertising agencies, when he told President Carl Laemmle at Universal City that he had an efficient and capable studio manager.

Agnes Vernon, co-star with her husband, Jerry "Brownie" Cline, writes HOOKUP that the pictures are good. "I'm not married, just don't have the time," she tells her friends.

Paul Willis has been wearing a mask in the latest Metro pictures. The Haunted Mansion has the hopes to goodness that he'll be able to wear the nattiest, cut-the-latest in the U. S. industry.

Now that milk has gone up, the Big U. zoo is quite a luxury. "Beverly's" daily diet consists of eight pint bottles of milk, a little bit of bread, and a little bit of fruit.

Harry Ham was arrested by a Marjorie Daw, and he says that breakin' quarantine and runnin' around after the messmates is bad because the doctor diagnosed it as poison Ivy.

The suitor's accounts are mighty severe sometimes. Think of making poor Tony Moreno escape in a boat while real bullets were fired after him just because the splash of the real bullets registered better!

T. O'Tool, R. R. Neilson, M. G. Watkins and a lot of other film folks. A beauty of the organizations is that... Sweeney, who is the secretary of the league of exhibitors who worship the filmsters of our fair town.

(To be continued)

SEEING AMERICA FIRST

(Continued from last week)

George Spoon and George Spoon's cigar are the talk of the town. When George Spoon's cigar which always points skyward.

J. A. Crosby, head cameraman for the Rolin Films, has just gotten himself a 1917 Paige-Crosby Special.

They say Margaret Gibson is coming to "The Fourteenth Man" in a suit of her "real husband's" clothes.

Terry Ramsay is busin' than our old friend the cat.

George Spoon has been wearing a mask in the latest Metro pictures. The Haunted Mansion has the hopes to goodness that he'll be able to wear the nattiest, cut-the-latest in the U. S. industry.

This week in "Hollywood Hookum" (To be continued in our next)}
"A Romance of the Redwoods"

(Atcraft—Seven Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

W e had thought to use the line, "Mary Pickford gives conclusive proof in "A Romance of the Redwoods" that she is justly popular," as an opening shot in this review, but suddenly the intelligence swept over us that somewhere at some time it had been employed before. "Little Mary still has no rivals," prove just about as original, and "The latest triumph of the darling of the screen" doesn't surpass either of the former in novelty. However, now that we've written them all we are firm in our purpose to stand by them. But it would take a good many catch lines and pet press agent phrases to adequately convey the quality of Miss Pickford's performance in this, her latest Artcraft picture. Her imitators who tack on a curl here and there and jump around after the manner of kittens are quite out of date. Miss Pickford is not only her usual adorable self, but she handles her dramatic moments excellently. A lot of foolish flapping around is not in any sense Pickfordian.

The story provided her by Cecil B. DeMille and Jennie MacPherson is simplicity itself, and in its way simplicity is constantly entertaining. There is an undercurrent of suspense, beginning in reel one and ending in reel seven. The various crises in the scenario are approached deftly, and when they arrive they carry the required punch. When Jenny, after her long journey, discovers herself at the mercy of "Black" Brown, who she learns of his trade, holding up the stage coaches, when she realizes he has broken his promise to her to go straight, and when finally she saves him from lynching-law by compromising herself before his captors, form moments that create the highest tension. Neither have the authors failed to provide the balancing element of comedy. There are hearty laughs in the spectacle of Jenny, fresh from staid Boston, encountering the crude methods of living prevalent in the West in the days of '49, in her announcement that she wants laundry work, and the various efforts of the miners to be first in tendering her their respective shirts, and also in the final discovery of the Vigilance Committee that the compromising story told by Jenny to free "Black" Brown was a clever little lie, cooked specially for the occasion. In fact, the picture is superbly balanced from first to last.

Naturally does the picture show the results of Mr. DeMille's direction, but where his work as author begins is unknown. At any rate, he has gotten the most from his players, has handled every scene effectively. The photographic effects and lighting introduced by Alvin Wyckoff are realistic to the extreme and include some clever novelties such as were seen in "Joan the Woman." The scenes selected are typically Western, and there are some beautiful long shots. In fact, in the matter of production "A Romance of the Redwoods" leaves not a thing for the hungry eyes of the hypercritical to seize upon.

Chief in the supporting cast are Elliott Dexter as "Black" Brown, who gives a thorough characterization of the role, and Charles Ogle as Lyn, a part rich in comedy, in which Mr. Ogle does the best work of his long career. Brady Maxwell and Roesmond Hatton have parts of lesser importance, parts which really might have been awarded less capable performers, but which are acted splendidly as a consequence of the casting.

In passing it is worthy to note the practice of the Arctraft Company in assigning different directors to each picture in which Miss Pickford appears. Perhaps this plan is due to the recently announced policy of Mr. Lasky in permitting various directors to produce pictures of the sort to which they have shown particular adaptability. If this is the case, then we may look forward to a continuance of the variety that has characterized the first set of pictures Miss Pickford has done for the company. The star is not confined to a single track. Her field gives promise of broadening to the distant limits of the field of pictures in general.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Jenny Lawrence (Mary Pickford) is sent West to join her uncle. He has been killed by Indians, and "Black" Brown (Elliott Dexter), a road agent, takes his name and his respect as a cloak to shield himself from his many deeds of outlawry. Jenny realizes what has occurred, but is forced to accept the protection half-heartedly offered her by Brown, in preference to the only other shelter of the town—the dance hall. Gradually, Brown falls in love with Jenny. She discovers the meaning of his long journeys from home, and influences him to reform. But the lure of the past is too great for Brown, and he decides to turn one more trick. Jenny, a passenger on the stage, shoots him in the hand when the coach is held up, and this later proves the means to identify him and results in his capture. Despite the pleadings of Jenny, the Vigilance Committee prepares to hang the newly arrived and much more capable performer, but which are acted splendidly as a consequence of the casting.

The illusion of Miss Hyland herself doing a wonderful toe-dance is one of the specially noticeable feats accomplished by good direction, using all the tricks of photography to so combine close-ups of face, toes, and motion that they seem one person throughout. We fully endorse the director's selection of "fifteen wives," too, and the "sixteenth" does not suffer by comparison. He is really funny at times, and no one could have been more suitable as having the necessary qualities of that character, but not painfully so. He is really funny at times, and no one could have been more suitable as having the necessary qualities of that character, but not painfully so. He is really funny at times, and no one could have been more suitable as having the necessary qualities of that character, but not painfully so. He is really funny at times, and no one could have been more suitable as having the necessary qualities of that character, but not painfully so. He is really funny at times, and no one could have been more suitable.
improved on, and George Forth as Warburton does his "bit" in excellent style.
"The Sixteenth Wife" will entertain immensely audiences in better class theatres.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Olette (Peggy Hyland), a wonderful "Russian Dancer" with a "Nubian Slave," falls a prey to a Turkish Kadir (Marc MacDermott), who wants to make her his "sixteenth wife." After some near-tragic adventures in the Kadir's palace, in which her manager and press agent, Hackel (Templar Saze), proves a poor protector, she is finally recognized by an old friend, Jimmie Warburton (George J. Forth), newspaper reporter and live wire, who keeps her secret to mutual advantage, rescuing her from the terrible Turk and winning the affections that the amorous foreigner is denied.

"Annie for Spite"
(American-Mutual—Five Reels) REVIEWED BY P. G. SPENCER

THE sweetly charming nature of Mary Miles Minter is considerably underestimated when she is made to pose as Annie in Fred Jackson's latest, "Annie for Spite," produced by the American Company through Mutual, but the three M's improve on every occasion, and still there's that reminiscence, that makes one wonder; for Mary Miles Minter is a finished artist, and whether she be portrayed as a kitchen mechanic, a salesgirl in the basement of a department store, or a girl in affluent circumstances, she carries out the embodiment of every environment.

She is simply Mary Miles Minter, no matter where placed.
Her sweetness of nature, her desire to look only upon the broad and the good and the kindly in mankind is manifest in every line of her role.

The picturization is uniformly balanced, though there evidently has not been very much pains spent on securing good locations. It is a picture that will have a strong following.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

A disgruntled old curmudgeon, with malice in her heart, is Mrs. John Grant Nottingham (Gertrude Le Brandt), mean from her heart, with not a pleasant ever passing over her countenance, hence "Annie for Spite."

And there is the story.

Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emily Nottingham (Eugenie Forde), is at heart a grafter; her son is dead, her grandson lives.
"Show me the homeliest, ugliest, no-nothing girl, and upon her will I bestow my wealth, just to spite my daughter-in-law."

"But," the lawyer interposes. "I would not advise that, and yet if I don't some other lawyer would, so here goes—"

In a department store he finds Annie Johnson (Mary Miles Minter), who is the most forlorn looking creature one ever gazed upon. In her gingham dress and with a dirty face, she is presented to Mrs. Nottingham, who is pleased, indeed with the odd spectacle. But Annie begins to radiate joy and happiness, and this quality, with new gowns, shows her in a different light, and she wins over the old woman, and is made sole heiress.

The daughter-in-law, however, contests the will and wins, but Annie is made happy in the love of Willard Kaine Nottingham (George Fisher), the old lady's grandson.

Others in the cast are George Periolat, Lucille Ward and Robert Klein.

May 14 is the date set for its release.

"The Highway of Hope"
(Morosco-Paramount—Five Reels) REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

SPLendid direction has been given the weakest Paramount story that has come to our notice in some months. Willard Mack furnished the scenario. For the greater part of the story Kathryn Williams is pictured as a mining camp slavey, just the poor, unfortunate person you are sorry for and want to have something happen to, to get her out of her misery. But no such luck. She meets her hero, and he is drunk (the most realistic idea of intoxication we have seen in many a day). He marries her to save her from a brute who would force her to marry him. This is not particularly thrilling, and the plot drags on with more misery. A letter from home which greets the hero, telling him (in effect) if he had not done the right thing by this girl he might go back East, among "real people." All the way through the hero and heroine are not of their surroundings. They hate themselves, they hate life, they hate everything about them. There is no relief to this misery. And here the director has kept the audience interested with clever little incidents, wonderful staging, picturing of the mining camp, and a lot of detail that had to be used to fill the gap in the story. Finally the poison cup is introduced and a parting, during which the woman becomes a lady and the man becomes a vagabond, starts a new misunderstanding, but makes possible the happy ending. Yet even the ending is incomplete—never connects with the folks back home—with the real heart interest that is promised at the start but never develops.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

The drudge of a mining camp, Lonely Lou (Kathlyn Williams), is bullied by Missouri Joe (Jim Farley), and is about to be forced into marrying Joe when Steve King (House Peters) protects her by marrying her himself. Steve is drunk. In the morning he wakes to find his life seemingly blasted—for he is really a city man—and he takes a burro, some grub, supplies, and much booze, with his miserable wife into the mountains. He strikes gold, then starts to take poison to end it all; Lou sees the poison, thinks it meant for her, pretends to die from it, and not till years later, when she is the rich owner of the mine, does Steve find her and learn the truth. Then they are happy.

"The Millionaire's Double"
(Metro—Five Reels) REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

"THE MILLIONAIRE'S DOUBLE" never waxes brilliant, is light in structure, and drags in spots. Lionel Barrymore makes the very best of a situation wholly improbable. His fine acting and Evelyn Brent's excellent support are its two redeeming features. If the strength of the title were followed throughout the run of the picture it would have few equals. As it stands, it leaves the impression that extremes had to be resorted to in order to stretch the picture to five reels.

It is difficult to even imagine a possessor of millions jeopardizing them in order to play a joke on his or herself—in this case an American millionaire who, heads of his stock company by drowning, nonchalantly dismisses the matter, and takes the chance of his large estate being administered and his fortune disposed of, merely that he may perpetrate a joke. The plot has little or no strength. There are bits of comedy injected which relieve an otherwise dull situation. Harry Davenport has handled what material there is very capably. It will prove good entertainment for lovers of light amusement.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Bide Pennington (Lionel Barrymore), a young millionaire, goes abroad to forget an unhappy marriage and his wife's elopement. After ten years he returns, having received news of his wife's death. His deserted home proves unattractive, and he decides upon a trip across the continent. Robbers enter his home, make away with his sealskin coat, a wallet containing several personal papers, and, upon orders from their leader, Richard Glendon (Harry Northrup), they leave the coat, containing identification cards, on an East River pier, and the following morning the announcement of the suicide of the millionaire appears in the papers.
Glendon then proceeds to force under duress Constance Brent (Evelyn Brent) to pose as Bennington's widow in order that fortune might be obtained. Bennington reads of the fact that a widow has set claim to his millions, and he decides to impersonate himself and thwart the scheme of the crook. He meets his "widow," and is induced to pose as Bennington because of the strong resemblance. Complications arise, but everything turns out satisfactory. He marries his "widow." Others in the cast are H. H. Pattee, John Smiley, Jack Raymond and Louis Wolheim.

"The Lad and the Lion"

SELIG-K-E-S-E—Five Reels

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THIS is a story of narrative romance, with a most unusual setting and one of the most remarkable animal characters we have ever seen. We cannot say that the dramatic punches held us spellbound, nor that the realistic leaps of the lion made us shiver, but we feel that audiences not so inured to the tricks of the camera will perhaps get the real thrill intended. It is there, logically. The chief reason it did not get us was that the action was too rapid, and too foreign to our sympathies, to hold us to the spot.

The hero appears throughout as a wild man. His character is most extraordinary and perfectly realistic, but somehow we do not care much whether he loves Nakkia or whether Nakkia's love is won by him. He lives without apparent support, other than a sheep he steals occasionally with the aid of his friend, the king of beasts. Probability is the least thing one must allow to worry him if he is to enjoy this play.

Having cleared the decks of all possible criticism against this production, we want to say that the lion acting is real; it is wonderful; we have seen nothing to even compare with it in naturalness; and the desert settings of the picture are magnificent. Vivian Reed as Nakkia is pretty and attractive. She is not required to register emotion in sufficient quantities to characterize its quality. All the emotion is registered by the wonderful lion, who is the real hero of the play.

Don't overlook the children on this picture. They will marvel. They will gasp. They never will be able to figure it out.

"The Saint's Adventure"

ROSAOEY-K-E-S-E—Five Reels

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

HENRY WALTHALL's performance as the minister in this feature is its outstanding feature, and it has many other good points. Mr. Walthall never made his reputation on any one director. He has proved that often enough. Here as the Reverend Paul Martin he acts with the same nice restraint and the same telling use of gesture that makes every one of his created characters stand apart from the ordinary. It is indeed hard to tell what "The Saint's Adventure" would have been minus the services of the star, although in many respects the story is unusual.

Its suspense is derived through the mistaken identity trick, which, however, has a real theme behind it. The Reverend Martin is one of the ministers preaching to a congregation that adores his religious gaiety. But a crook upsets everything, and the innocent minister is easily capable of penetrating the falseness of it all, and soon sickens of it. Consequently, when by the hand of fate he is suddenly forced to act as Joe Farley, a steevedore, he is given a chance to put into practice those ideals he would have liked to bring to the fashionable congregation. His love affair with the real Joe Farley's wife and the final climax of the story are elements that serve to heighten the suspense and stimulate one with a mental thrill.

The story was written by ex-Judge Willis Brown and directed by Arthur Berthelet.

"The Lad and the Lion"

SELIG-K-E-S-E—Five Reels

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THIS is a story of narrative romance, with a most unusual setting and one of the most remarkable animal characters we have ever seen. We cannot say that the dramatic punches held us spellbound, nor that the realistic leaps of the lion made us shiver, but we feel that audiences not so inured to the tricks of the camera will perhaps get the real thrill intended. It is there, logically. The chief reason it did not get us was that the action was too rapid, and too foreign to our sympathies, to hold us to the spot.

The hero appears throughout as a wild man. His character is most extraordinary and perfectly realistic, but somehow we do not care much whether he loves Nakkia or whether Nakkia's love is won by him. He lives without apparent support, other than a sheep he steals occasionally with the aid of his friend, the king of beasts. Probability is the least thing one must allow to worry him if he is to enjoy this play.

Having cleared the decks of all possible criticism against this production, we want to say that the lion acting is real; it is wonderful; we have seen nothing to even compare with it in naturalness; and the desert settings of the picture are magnificent. Vivian Reed as Nakkia is pretty and attractive. She is not required to register emotion in sufficient quantities to characterize its quality. All the emotion is registered by the wonderful lion, who is the real hero of the play.

Don't overlook the children on this picture. They will marvel. They will gasp. They never will be able to figure it out.

"The Saint's Adventure"

ROSAOEY-K-E-S-E—Five Reels

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

HENRY WALTHALL's performance as the minister in this feature is its outstanding feature, and it has many other good points. Mr. Walthall never made his reputation on any one director. He has proved that often enough. Here as the Reverend Paul Martin he acts with the same nice restraint and the same telling use of gesture that makes every one of his created characters stand apart from the ordinary. It is indeed hard to tell what "The Saint's Adventure" would have been minus the services of the star, although in many respects the story is unusual.

Its suspense is derived through the mistaken identity trick, which, however, has a real theme behind it. The Reverend Martin is one of the ministers preaching to a congregation that adores his religious gaiety. But a crook upsets everything, and the innocent minister is easily capable of penetrating the falseness of it all, and soon sickens of it. Consequently, when by the hand of fate he is suddenly forced to act as Joe Farley, a steevedore, he is given a chance to put into practice those ideals he would have liked to bring to the fashionable congregation. His love affair with the real Joe Farley's wife and the final climax of the story are elements that serve to heighten the suspense and stimulate one with a mental thrill.

The story was written by ex-Judge Willis Brown and directed by Arthur Berthelet.
"Her Better Self"
(Famous Players-Paramount—Five reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

This is not the most important story Miss Frederick has appeared in, but it ranks with the better ones, and will please audiences generally. Miss Turnbull has here cast the star as a society butterfly who learns a deeper duty through watching the work of a young doctor among the poor and afflicted. She has taken characters true to life and has built an interesting story, the only fault of which is that she has not cut out as strong a role as Miss Frederick is capable of handling.

The incidents of the plot are splendidly handled by Director Robert Vignola, the court-room scene being a most unusually attractive set, in which the lawyers, the witnesses, and the court officials and judge are placed in the "spot" for a change, instead of a self-conscious looking jury and a lot of "extras" as audience.

Miss Frederick does not get an opportunity to display her best known talents. She is just a society girl who falls in love with a doctor whom she believes has wronged another girl, and her work is "straight dramatic," one might say. The plot moves along consistently, and builds up to a strong climax, and the lawyer's, the witness, and the court officials and judge are placed in the "spot" for a change, instead of a self-conscious looking jury and a lot of "extras" as audience.

The legion of playgoers who enjoy Miss Frederick in any play will find "Her Better Self" a very satisfactory production.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Vivian Tyler (Pauline Frederick), society debutante and engaged to marry the young Count Bellotto (Frank D. Rheim), meets Dr. Robert Keith (Charles Wellesley), Grace's father, becomes one. Mrs. Van Puyster (Maude Turner Gordon) aids the young Count, but in her heart Grace realizes that the young Doctor is the young Doctor. Then she accidentally comes on Aggie May (Alma Herlick), a woman of the streets, who tells her Doctor Keith gave her his picture for her pocket. Grace misunderstands, and coming again on the Doctor with Aggie in his arms, whom he is trying to comfort against a fear of Dopey (Armand Cortez), a dozen of the slums, who threatens to "get her" if she tries to reform, she tries to forget Keith. The climax agrees for Grace to see Aggie kill herself, which is such a shock Grace is under care of physicians for weeks. During this period Doctor Keith is tried and about to be convicted of Aggie's murder, when Grace learns of the trial and races in an automobile to the court-room just in time to prevent a verdict of "guilty" and secure a new trial, which, of course, results in clearing the Doctor.

"Yankee Pluck"
(World Film—Five reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

Produced from a story by Willard Mack, "Yankee Pluck" creates an average amount of suspense, and is enlivened by one or two good punch lines and a generous supply of comedy. Fundamentally, it is plainly conventional, but a formidaible amount of incident and several situations not always common in plots of a similar character result in its being possessed with a quite unusual power to entertain. The producers have not, however, gotten far enough away from the Hackneyed to withstand all criticism. There is a Japanese spy after submarine plans which is not at all indicative of good diplomacy, and there are moments when one need not be possessed of an abnormal amount of perspicacity to call the turn on Mr. Mack.

The production which was in charge of George Archainbaud is good enough with the exception of a minor slip or so. A decent town wood house bearing the very proper name of "The Maryland Country Club" looks like a gangster's rendezvous when the interior comes to view, and a suitable mentioning "afternoon and the scene following showing people in evening dress were the only inconsistencies that stand out. But the few bothersome details done away with "Yankee Pluck" stands as a very fair picture—nothing extra and not equal to others on Mr. Brady's program—but very fair.

Ethel Clayton and Edward Langford appear in the leading roles. Johnny Hines does a great comedy part, and Montagu Love as the spy, and Charles Bowser as the father, create interesting characters.

"The Neglected Wife"
(Balboa-Pathe—Third Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

The action grows unusually sensational in "In the Crucible," the third episode of Pathé's latest serial. There is the same sort of drama wherein Ruth Roland escapes from her infuriated landlady via the window route, and there is a hot fight staged in a department store between the floorwalker and a shopping clerk. The latter finally triumphs by shooting his opponent and makes his escape in an automobile. He is pursued, and as he crosses a drawbridge it is lifted and car and man plunge into the water.

That the clerk should have attempted to throw the blame on the heroine, when the fight was waged before a few score witnesses seems altogether improbable. However, this is the only glaring point in two reels so crammed with melodramatic action that flaws, if noticed, are quickly forgotten.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Margaret Warner (Ruth Roland) and Kennedy (Roland Bottomley) resolve not to see each other again. Norwood (Phil D. McCluggage), the editor, mails Margaret a check for her story, but as she has left the boarding house she does not receive it. She obtains a position in a department store, and shortly throws the whole place into confusion by innocently causing a fight between the clerk and the floorwalker. She is arrested and taken to the police station, where she is unable to decide whether or not to call on Kennedy to defend her.

"Wild Winship's Widow"
(Triangle-First—Five reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

A LIGHT comedy with just a touch of drama here and there is presented in this number from the Ince studio. Taken as a whole, its humor is derived from rather commonplace situations, which, however, have their beginnings at an unconventional source. The action follows a single line throughout, but is never allowed to drag because of the introduction of a number of very pretty scenes. In fact, the right adjective for "Wild Winship's Widow" is pretty. Director Charles Miller has seen to it that no opportunities were overlooked to give the picture an ideal setting.

The author, John Lynch, created several delightful characters to enact history. The sound mindedness of Aunt Minerva is well accentuated by several spoken titles containing a philosophy unusually humorous. Lilian Hayward brings life to the role in excellent style. The prototype of Archibald Herndon, the sentimental, and responsible for a large portion of the comedy, can readily be recalled. Rowland Lee excels in this character part. Dorothy Dalton and Joe King have the leads, which are straight, and which, strange enough, act more as foils for the comedy of the other characters.

To sum up, "Wild Winship's Widow" is fine, clean comedy. Nothing sensational, nothing terribly exciting, but a welcome change from the ordinary.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Catherine Winship (Dorothy Dalton) holds the memory of her dead husband in sacred esteem. When at last she wakes up to the fact that he was more of a rogue than a hero, she discovers that her constant suitor, Morgan (Joe King), is practicing the indifferent attitude in order to arouse her jealousy. He is seen constantly with Marjory Howe (Alice Taafe), and her suitor, Herndon (Rowland Lee), and all make up devotes himself to Catherine. All four keep up the game until Morgan, unable to restrain himself any longer, secures a minister and both couples are married, Catherine and himself and Marjory and Herndon.

"The Story and Players

John Pollard (Charles Bowser) plans to marry his daughter, Polly (Ethel Clayton, to his creditor, Singleton (Eric Wayne), in whose past is a lady of doubtful character. Mrs. Derwent (Isaette Monroe) is prominent. Polly marries, as her husband, Travers (Edward Langford), who is perfecting certain submarine plans invaluable to his country. Baron Wootchi (Montagu Love) taking advantage of Pollard's need of money, offers him a large sum to procure these plans. Pollard succeeds by a trick, but Polly interferes before damage is done, and saves the day. Trav- ers pardons Pollard, which is beautifully handled and ready to consent to Polly's marriage with the officer.
"Cris and His Wonderful Lamp" and Other Pictures (Conquest-Forum Films—Seven Reels)
REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

"CONQUEST PICTURES" run true to the standard as set in the first two in this third program. Variety in subjects seems to be the foreword. There is variety aplenty and it is of such a nature as to get response from the most cosmopolitan audience and it is in the extremes in both temperament and age. In a word, they please. "Cris and His Wonderful Lamp," the feature of this program, is something different—different in respect to the general run of features. A nice combination of child fantasy and adult eccentricities is contained in this offering which seldom finds its way into the regular five or six reel feature picture. The theme is suggestive of "Arabian Nights," "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp." The doings of Aladdin and his lamp are brought up to date with an idea, admirably conceived, of proper blending of the real and unreal. Much of the story calls for double exposure, but it is handled with such a characteristic that one does not tire of the frequency with which it is employed.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
The outstanding character is Cris (Thomas Carnahan) who grows tired of Professor Cipher's (Joseph Burke) academcy, and accidentally come into possession of an old incantation lamp, he rubs it as did Aladdin of yore; the magic spirit appears and grants him his every wish. Cris substitutes his spiritual doubly for himself at school and gets into all sorts of trouble with the professor and his father Carnahan does some good juvenile acting. Joseph Burke as the Professor can make a more than a ripple of laughter. His work is splendidly done. Peggy Adams has the ingente part, plays it with a nice consideration for the role, and although she has little opportunity to display real talent, what she does is accomplished with the foresight of an artist. A well-selected cast is in support. The picture is in four reels.

"The Mystery of the Double Cross"
(Pathé—Eleventh Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"LOVE'S SACRIFICE," as the eleventh episode is separately titled, concerns itself chiefly with the plotting of Bentley and, for the time being, the business of shedding more mystery on the identity of the Masked Stranger is dropped.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Bentley (Ralph Stuart) overhears Brewer discussing stocks with a business associate and decides to use this knowledge as a weapon to force Philippa (Mollie King) to marry him. Ames (Gladden James) sees Bentley enter a certain house, and calls the police, expecting to raid it. His plans are shattered, however, by the appearance of Philippa, who hurriedly enters the house in answer to Bentley's call.

"Little Miss Fortune"
(Erboigraph-Art Drama—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"LITTLE MISS FORTUNE" was written by Reverend Clarence J. Harris and produced by Joseph Levering with a cast headed by Marian Swayne. It has a very slight story and an absence of strong passions to become quite deplorable as the picture progresses. In fact, the producers of the picture relied wholly on the acting and personality of Miss Swayne to carry it over. But when it is taken into consideration that the star of greater popularity and greater talent than Miss Swayne, who work the "kittenish" stuff, are usually awarded vehicles of far better quality than "Little Miss Fortune," the results can best be imagined.

There is, to be sure, some share of comedy in the picture, and once in a while a little pathos comes to the surface, but even these elements of grace are extinguished when with real after effect the story fails to uncover anything dramatic. It has been given a good production and the support is average.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Sis (Marian Swayne), an orphan with histrionic ambitions, and after taking part in a village entertainment goes to New York. She gets a job as slave in a vaudeville boarding house, makes friends with Jim (Hugh Thompson), an actor, and helps him rehearse. She gets to know the leading woman's part in the act, and when her chance comes of taking it she makes good. Her happiness is made complete when she discovers that Jim is the long lost son of an old inmate of the asylum where she once lived. Bradley Barker and Lucille Dorrington are others.

"The Silent Partner"
(Lasky-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

BLANCHE SWEET is not furnished a role here that any one can be expected to compare favorably with her previous fine work in really dramatic parts. No stretch of the imagination will make a full-fledged romantic heroine out of the modern business woman, which this role makes Miss Sweet. Her sacrifice of the ten thousand dollars saved up for a home is the nearest to romance that the plot comes, even here it would seem that the poor old mother is the heavier loser.

Thomas Meighan as Edward Doyle has the unsympathetic part of a simple-minded man who marries the wrong woman and neglects his business at a time when he knows he should be there, because she asks him to pay more attention to her. He makes the part likeable, however, by the appearance of Miss Sweet makes us like her in part, but it is a play of business struggle which never reaches any real high point of dramatic appeal, except the final appreciation of the girl's worth as a business and life partner because of her loyalty, really born of love, for her employer.

This is not a play to end all, though up to the Lasky standard in mounting. It lacks the real human interest theme that, even though "common," is essential. And, besides, unfaithful wives, crooked partners, and heroes ruined over night by assaults in the stock market, are bad enough at best as themes—there is here not even a struggle by any one against these wrong conditions.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Jane Colby (Blanche Sweet) discovers Harvey Wilson (George Harvey) is crooked. Jane is Edward Doyle's (Thomas Meighan) secretary, but "saves" him. In the title naming this story, Wilson is his real partner. Jane shows up Wilson, and the partnership is dissolved. Meantime, Royle marries Edith Preston (Mabel Van Buren), who loves the former partner. Wilson and David Pierce (Ernest Joy), with the help of Edith, plan to break Royle through stock manipulation, but Jane saves Royle by using $10,000 she has saved. Royle sees the light and makes his silent partner a real partner "for life."

"The Marcellini Millions"
(Morocco-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

GEORGE BEBAN and Helen Eddy Carly divide honors in this production. The sentiment of the story, that after all there is no place like home, would carry it through without any further elaboration, but Mr. Beban's character work and Miss Eddy's excellent portrayal of the simple woman lifted out of her element help greatly.

In the George Beban style of picture architecture, which obliges him to enact always the same role in a different guise, we regard this picture as not equal to his former efforts. The heart interest is not quite so strong. The poor man out of his element is a sympathetic character, but we cannot feel quite so sorry for him as if he had bigger troubles, more solemn and sacred ties disrupted, as, for example, in "His Sweetheart," which permitted Mr. Beban's fullest expression of his art in Italian character sympathy compelling roles.

In "The Marcellini Millions" Guido works into a frenzy of rage at intruders, which lacks the sincerity of his previous efforts. He is too quickly calmed, overruled, by a woman who could not conceivably have cowed a man so big and certainly right. And so it required the circumstances of a somewhat improbable plot to place them back home and happy again. We do not rank this as equal to Mr. Beban's other productions. Miss Eddy's work, however, helps the picture greatly.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS
Marcellini (Pietro Sosso), a rich oil and wine merchant, dies after destroying his will. The estate goes to Guido (George Beban) and Antoinetta Bartelli (Helen Eddy). They take possession of the mansion, leaving their truck farm, and are embarrased by richies and servants. Antoinetta is dominated by Mrs. Murray (Ade Farrington), who stalks to teach her how to accept her new position gracefully. Guido, on the other hand, is kind, condescending, and welcome "guests" of Mme. Bartelli, returns to the humble home. Then it is discovered that Wade Crosby (Henry Woodward) is the real heir. Antoinetta, learning this, refuses to stay another moment and returns home with the baby to help Guido once more to enjoy the simple life. Both are now supremely happy.
"The Flashlight"

REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

The "FLASHLIGHT," adapted to the screen by Ida May Parkinson from the story by Albert M. Trenor, is a picture of merit, in rank with some of the best picturizations of dramatic narrative, and will stand as one of the best efforts of the Bluebird. Its story is essentially mystery. The suspense is skillfully sustained to the end.

There is almost too much of the mysterious about it—so much so that there is an obvious cliche. The trick in the telling of flashing pictures, which paves the way for the solution of the mystery, is not new, but its obvious strength as a stepping stone to a well-conceived climax is so deftly applied by the director that it is made to stand out with all the newness of an Easter hat. The action in the initial reel does not strike, at times, the desired pace, but with its footage run it attains a swiftness upon which an actual happening could not much improve. A clearer and more forcible explanation of the flashlight's connection as the basic principle of the plot, if given, would have added a certain strength to the picture which it lacks as it stands.

Dorothy Phillips and William Stowell in the leading roles give fine characterizations. Miss Phillips' talent for expressing emotion to an exaggerated degree, combined with Mr. Stowell's strong personality, adds to this picture a sterling worth. Lon Chaney in support is convincing. Superlatives can alone describe the photography and natural scenic effects obtained.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Jack Lane (William Stowell) goes into the mountains to experiment with his invention for photographing animals. The camera has a flashing arrangement which automatically explodes when an animal steps upon a certain triangle within range. Lane, in his search for a proper setting for his device, wanders some distance from his cabin, and is obliged to apply for a night's lodging at the cabin of a recluse. He is refused, and lies down in the woods to sleep, first setting his flashlight. During the night he is awakened by an explosion of the flashlight and rifle shots. Returning to his own cabin, he directions, and discloses the picture of a girl carrying a rifle and apparently in flight. He is puzzled. Through curiosity he again visits the recluse's cabin and is arrested for murder. He escapes and stops in his flight to sleep. He is awakened by the girl whose likeness developed from the plate. The girl, Delice Brixton (Dorothy Phillips), and he set off together with a sheriff in pursuit. Lane connects the girl with the murder, and she suspects him, apparently. Lane is recaptured; a trial is had and he is acquitted on testimony of the girl and the man supposed to have been dead. Brixton (Lon Chaney) gives himself up and testifies that he killed Brixton (?), the recluse, who was a half-brother, in self-defense. The girl is Brixton's daughter. Lane is acquitted.

"The Primrose Ring"

REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

OPINIONS will widely vary on the acceptability of this picture as entertainment. We have no quarrel with the author of such a charming story as has been adapted into pictures, nor could we suggest a more artistic manner of presenting, nor a star more suited to the principal role than Miss Murray. But we know that the motion picture's vivid power of portraying and making stand out will cause some sensitive persons to shudder at a few of the hospital scenes.

The story by Ruth Sawyer makes a fairy tale out of the sad plight of the inmates of an incurable ward in a hospital. Human kindness to the helpless little folk, whose only delight in life is the little nurse who was herself an incurable and "knows how it feels" to be left all alone to "scientific" methods. The play has dramatic quality, will be classed as most unusual and one that certainly is calculated to stir one's feelings, and we should say make a never to be forgotten impression on the mind of any little child. The operation all but shown in detail, from administering the ether to the raising of the surgeon's knife, offers contrast in plenty to the fairy dream of a little girl temporarily put to sleep to be made well again.

It is a pretty conception, dealing with an ever sad subject, marvelously well handled. Personally, we like its "different" theme, and believe audiences generally will enjoy it.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Dr. MacLean (Winter Hall) was kindly, human. He operated on Margaret (Mae Murray), a foundling named after himself, and from a member of the incurable ward he became nurse in that ward. Bob (Tom Moore), his son, returned from study abroad, "scientist." On the death of his father he took charge of the hospital. His first recommendation was the abolishment of the ward for incurables, because of shortage of funds for the work. When the time comes to take the little patients away he enters the room to be greeted by the children as the "big, white knight" who has come to save them from the ogre, pain. For Margaret has filled the lives of these hopelessly crippled children with fairy dreams that make life not all pain. This softens the doctor's heart, and instead of abolishing the ward, he prepares a new and real home for the children, with Margaret in complete charge.

"The Frame-Up"

REVIEWED BY F. G. SPENCER

FOR an absolutely clean, wholesome film with plenty of punch and a wealth of side-splitting episodes, let us commend "The Frame-Up." William Russell as Geoffrey Claiborne, son of an indulgent wealthy father, is "all man," and the risks he takes to accomplish his ends are strenuous to a degree.

For instance, he is being taken to police headquarters and is seated between two policemen in the back seat of a touring car. He stabs at his arms along the back of the seat behind the policemen, and with a back somersault catapults himself from the car and makes his getaway.

The photography is uniformly good, and the picture portraying Claiborne's father in an unruly racing machine is vivid indeed. This is a picture that may be shown anywhere and is bound to prove a winner.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Geoffrey Claiborne is tired of idling and wants a job with a "kick" in it, a desk in his father's office being far too prosaic for one of his red-blooded tendencies. By a chain of peculiar circumstances he secures a position from Mother Moir (Lucille Ward) as chauffeur in her garage. He falls in love with Jane Anne (Francesca Billington), the daughter. One day he overhears Jim Vance (William Spencer), a saloon keeper, threatening Mother Moir with an exposure of her past unless she hides three yeggmen who have just crossed the border after pulling off a job in Canada.

Having forsaken her evil ways and now endeavoring for her daughter's sake to lead a moral life, she at first declines to do Vance's bidding, but is forced to. Vance, in the meantime his father (Harvey Clark), a regular sport, is arrested for speeding, the fact being that the police get a clue and he is taken to police headquarters for examination.

In the meantime his father's horse (Harvey Clark), a regular sport, is arrested for speeding, the fact being that he has lost control of the machine and cannot stop it. Father and son agree to meet at police headquarters, and it's some meeting—the laughter of the two at each other's predicament is infectious.

Then there is the contrast of the helpless little folks, whose only joy in life is the little nurse who was herself an incurable and "knows how it feels" to be left all alone to "scientific" methods. The play has dramatic quality, will be classed as most unusual and one that certainly is calculated to stir one's feelings, and we should say make a never to be forgotten impression on the mind of any little child. The operation all but shown in detail, from administering the ether to the raising of the surgeon's knife, offers contrast in plenty to the fairy dream of a little girl temporarily put to sleep to be made well again.

But to return to the story, the yeggmen, unable to secure their release from the steel room wherein they were confined, dynamite the door of their prison, set the house on fire, but are captured with their loot.

Others in the cast are Manuel Sampson, Charles Newton, Clarence Burton and John Goff, all of whom handle their respective parts well.
"The Checkmate"
(Northheimer-Mutual—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. MCGRATH

A PICTURE with all its component parts good is "The Checkmate," with Jackie Saunders. The story, making use of a dual delineation, has been arranged in a pleasing and interesting manner. While it seizes upon a very trite angle of action for a part of its exposition, a young girl forever compromised by wine, a rich young blade and his bachelor apartments, it justifies recourse to this by switching it into a brand new, clever climax.

Jackie Saunders plays the dual character part which enables the action of the entire story. In it she alternates between a harum-scarum hoyden type of a country girl and a gown-crawning, city-life aspiring miss. The both types are sisters in the plot, and this Saunders’ work in both characterizations is without fault.

"The Wildcat" is one that perfectly suit Jackie Saunders. The story, making use of a modern story and a good sprinkling of comedy maintain the interest in this picture.

May 26, 1917

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

"The Phantom's Secret"
(Butterfly-Universal—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

TO employ once again that bromide: If Universal maintains the standard set by "The Phantom's Secret," the success of Butterfly pictures is assured. In fact, "The Phantom's Secret" attains a degree quite far and above the average and is suitable for exhibition in all houses. The story, by J. Grubb Alexander, has a strong vein of suspense, a good romance and plenty of heart interest. As produced by Charles Swickard its high lights are well brought out and one never finds time to look for technical faults if such there are in contemplation of the absorbing story.

Mignon Anderson and L. C. Shumway do good work in the leading parts and head a cast competent in every respect. The atmosphere for all phases of the story is convincing enough and the scenes and settings are well selected. The camera work is of an unusually high order.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Jeanne (Mignon Anderson) discovers that her father, Comte de Beauvoir (Marc Fontenot), is a crook. Before she dies she is forced to marry one of his associates, Franz (Hayward Mack). She is forced into a life of thievery, and eventually Franz's operations lead him to America. Here Jeanne meets an old school chum, Jane (Molly Malone), who is going to Florida to visit her aunt, whom she has not seen since childhood. Jeanne, escaping from her husband, will not tell her there is a railroad accident and Jane is killed. Jeanne takes her place, and on her arrival in Florida is welcomed into a happy home. Henry Marston (L. C. Shumway) falls in love with Jeanne, but when he proposes she has to refuse. Henry believes her in love with Frank Van Dyk (Paul C. Church), and is shocked by the deception. Things come to a climax when Franz appears on the scene and claims Jeanne as his wife. He is, however, put out of the way by an associate (Dan Leighton), who has cause to hate him. After that Henry claims Jeanne as his wife.

"Sowers and Reapers" (Rolls-Metro—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

GEORGE BAKER, author and director of "Sowers and Reapers," in which Emmy Wehlen is starred, delved into motion picture ancient history for his material. This applies not to much of the story, which takes various flights of fancy, but to the tone in which it is told. There is a similarity of the "take back the child and tear up the papers" variety and are apropos of the action every time. These are, too, a number of inconsistencies in the story and direction that are glaring, to say the least. It is difficult to understand how a body was burned to a point beyond recognition while the clothing and a letter found on the person still served as a means of identification.

In fact, "Sowers and Reapers" is in general such a cheaply inspired offering that to attempt a full list of its faults would be somewhat foolhardy. Its appeal, if any it has, is confined to that class who cheered and hissed at the ten, twenty-thirt' years since. Emmy Wehlen, extremely pretty, is the one bright spot in the picture. Her support is capable.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Bethesda Carewe (Jackie Saunders), the spoiled child of wealthy, indulgent parents, is known as "The Wildcat." Her father (Frank Currier) by deceit separates them and makes Annie believe he is faithless. Early, led to believe her dead, marries to suit his father. Annie, in the city, secures a position in a motion picture studio, and shortly becomes a star. She writes a scenario of her life, incorporating in it the episode of her desertion as she has been led to believe it. At a reception where the picture is shown Earle learns of his father's duplicity and hastens to explain matters. Annie, after she has learned the facts, pardons Earle and his father.

Others in the cast include G. A Parnell, Harry Davenport, Walter Horton, Kate Blanck, David Thompson, Grace Sampson, Claire McCormack and Emmanuel Turner.
May 30. Heart and Soul (Theda Bara, S. E. Vantine, Victor McLaglen), Vitagraph V-L-S-E.

May 20. Souls Triumphant (Wilfred Lucas, Myrtle Stedman), Columbia.

May 20. The Candy Girl (Gladys Hulette, Dorothy Home, John F. Hurley), Columbia.

May 27. The Iron Woman (Edwin Carewe, Gertrude Berkeley, Forrest Wintle, Helen Chandler), Columbia.

June 18. The Brand of Satan (Montagu Love, Gerda Holmes and Evelyn Greaves), Columbia.

Have your releases in by Saturday noon—The Exhibitor wants them.
SHORT SUBJECTS CURRENT AND COMING

Educational Film Corp. of Amer.
From Disarray “Living Book of Nature”
May 7. Royal Game Stock Corporation, 2 reel, 300 feet
May 7. Captive Cat Animals, 1 reel, 500 feet
May 7. Odd Horses of the World, 2 reel, 500 feet

Sciences and Educational—Split Reels
Apr. 28. The Science of Chess
Apr. 9. Our World as it Appears to the Eye, 1 reel
Apr. 16. New York to Florida, 1 reel
Apr. 28. The Science of Chess, and Picturesque Dauphine
May 28. Survey at the Zoo, 1 reel, 500 feet

Foxfilm Comedies
Apr. 23. His Love Fight, 2 C
Apr. 30. An Aerial Joy Ride, 2 C
May 6. A Man in a Million, 2 C
May 13. A Roman Cowboy, 2 C
May 20. His Bomb Policy, 2 C

General Film Company
BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
Part of 30, 1 reel (1st of O. Henry Series), 2 reel, 1805-06
Friends in San Rosario (2nd of O. Henry Series), 2 reel, 1806-09

ESSANAY
The Shooting Star, C
Harvesting the Wheat Crop in Alberta, Can. Ed., 21851
Meditating with Message (Ishmael “Secret” Series), 2 D, 21888-59
Cannibal King of the Bush, No. 29, 1 reel, 18782
Great Lakes Sc, Split reel, 21872
Great Lakes No. 29, 2 reel, 21689

ESSANAY-LINDER COMEDIES
Max Wants a Divorce, 2 C
Max Wants a Divorce, 2 C

FORTUNE PHOTOPLAYS
The Desert Bat (Ruth Roland and Wm. Conklin), 21843 46
The Yellow Bullet (Neil Hardin and Lucy), 21866-69
Vengeance of the Dead (Henry King and A. L. Ogden), 21885-88

KALEM
The Vanishing Bill, 2 reel “Grant Police Reporter” Series, 1 D, 21856
The Mystery of the Burning Fright (5th Episode of “A Daughter of Daring”), 1 D, 21867
The Secret of the Borgia (23th of “Grant Police Series”), 2 reel, 21873-74
The Lone Point Peud (6th Episode of “The Secret of the Borgia”), 2 reel, 21874-75
The Vulture of Skull Mountain (8th of “A Daughter of Daring”), 1 reel, 21885-88
The American Girl “Series”, 2 D, 21891-92
MISADES OF M. MUFF SUFFER (THIRD SERIES)
(Featuring Harry Watson, Jr.)
May 20. Starlight Slaves, C
KELLOGG-HOLT COMEDIES
The Power of Pin (Hank Mann), 2 reel, 2 D, 21864-65
Shel-Tribune, No. 27, 1 Top, 21870
Mr. Bingo the Bachelor (John Lancaster), 1 reel, 21875
The Daughter of “Gay House” Dan, 2 reel, 21883-84
Selby-Tribune, No. 39, 1 Top, 21889
Selig-Tribune, No. 39, 1 Top
Bill and the Bearded Lady, 1 C, 21894
May 28. A Hole in the Ground, 2 C
June 11. A Brass Monkey, 1 reel, 21899
July 25. A Married Woman, 2 reel, 21902
SPECIAL WESTERN COMEDIES
Apr. 15. The Fixer (Harry Watson, Jr.), Kleine
May 13. The Politicians (Harry Watson, Jr.), Kleine

Metro Pictures Corporation
Monday, May 14, 1917
Drew—Her Sight and His Sidney (Drew)
1 reel, 1916

DREW—Nothing to Wear (Mr. & Mrs. Sidney)
1 reel, 1916

ROMLA—The Blind Hand (Ralph Herz)
1 reel, 1917

Mutual Film Corporation
Monday, May 21, 1917
ROTHACHER—A Zeppelin Attack on
Navy Yard, reel, 5029

MUTUAL SERIALS—Missing Identity
Chapter 7 “The Railroad Raiders,” 2 D, 5530-31

LaSalle—The Cubby Bean’s Harem
(Madge Kirby), 2 C, 5543-44

GAUMONT—Flying Machines Around the Globe, 1 reel, 1917
May 29, 1917
05544

MUTUAL—Mutual Weekly No. 18, 1 reel
Top, 1917
May 22, 1917
05545

CUB—Jercy Tobin (George

ey), 1 reel, 1917

GAUMONT—Real Life—Going on Wheels, The Sugar Industry of the Barbados, Caviar, The Russian Motor Car, 05547

CAHILL—Pastry’s Partner (Marie Cahill), 1 reel, 1 reel

MAY 27, ORIENTAL LOVE
June 3, Cactus Rell, 1 reel

Universal Film Company

SPECIAL RELEASES
NESTOR—May Day (Harry Lyons, Lee Morlan and Edward Roberts), 2 D, 04247
GOLD SEAL—A Cuddle Mystery (Harry Carey and Catherine), 2 reel, 04248
L—KO—Bract Nuts (Dan Russell and Arthur Arden), 2 C, 04250
UNIVERSAL—American Weekly, No. 73, 2 reel, 04251

SHAKESPEARE—Allen’s weekly, 2 reel, 04251

VICTOR—Who Said Chicken (Bernie Moran), 1 reel, 04249

VICTOR—May in the Society (Ruth Stonehouse), 1 C, 04252

VICTOR—Irma’s Romance (Grace Canard and Fred Ford), 1 reel, 04249
LAEMMLE—Money’s Muckery (Douglas Wright and Fanny O’Malley), 21813 BISON—Dropped from the Clouds (Kellen
McDermott and Agnes Duff), 2 reel, 04248 LAEMMLE—The Light of Love (Jessie Arnold), 1 reel, 04249
BIG U—The Smashing Stroke (Jack Con-y), 2 reel, 04249
Week of May 28, 1917

UNIVERSAL—Animated Weekly, No. 74
1 reel, 04248

VICTOR—The Gunman’s Gospel (Jack Conway), 2 reel, 04252

LAEMMLE—Roped into Scandal (Harry Lor-don, Bert Roach and Eva Novak), 2 C, 04247

UNIVERSAL—Animated Weekly, No. 76
1 reel, 04248

GOLD SEAL—A Cuddle Mystery (Ruth Stonehouse), 3D, 04248

VICTOR—An Eight Cylinder Romance
(J. M. Postor and Rena Rogers), 2 reel, 04249

BIG U—Deception (Margaretta Pickard),
1 reel, 04249

VICTOR—By Speshul Delivery (Joe Res,
C.

IMP—The Puzzle Woman (Grace Cunard and Francis Ford), 1 reel, 04235 BISON—Swept Into Mercy (Elsie Seward, and Kingsley Benedict), 2 D, 04248

Vitagraph V.L.S.E
May 7, 1917

Chinks and Chapes the Spy (Maxine Mears), 1 reel, 04248

Chinks and Chapes the Spy (Maxine Mears), 1 reel, 04248

Heavy Hugh and His Match (Maxine Mears), 1 reel, 04248

Heavy Hugh and His Match (Maxine Mears), 1 reel, 04248

Call and Gasoline (James Aubrey), 1 reel, 04248

Call and Gasoline (James Aubrey), 1 reel, 04248
STATE RIGHTS—CURRENT AND COMING

For Manufacturers’ Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News

American News Weekly
- One reel each week exclusively on Army and Navy
  - April 7: Some Baby (Sunshine), 1 reel
  - April 8: The Golden Rotary, 3 reels
  - April 12: Educational Subject
  - April 13: A Porous Romance (Sunshine), 1 reel
  - April 20: Educational Subject

American Standard M. P. Corp.
- May 7: Daughter of Darkness (Sunshine), 1 reel
- May 12: Educational Subject
- May 14: The Daughter of Darkness, Episode No. 1, 2 reels
- May 19: Ghosts (Sunshine), 1 reel

Anti-Vice Film Company
- Is Any Girl Safe? 5 reels

Argosy Films, Inc.
- The Celebrated Stilwell Case, 6 reels
- Where Dye Get That Stuff, 5 reels
- Absinthe (King Baggott), Universal Reel Issue, 5 reels

####Arrowhead Film Corporation
- The Demonator (Derwent Hall Caine), 1 reel

Rex Beach Pictures Co.
- The Barrier, 7 and 9 reels

Cardinal Film Corporation
- Joan the Woman (Geraldine Farrar), 11 reels

Charter Features, Inc.
- The Lincoln (Chaplin), one episode each week, 2 reels

Christie Film Company
- Father's Bright Idea, 1 reel
- The Naked Truth, 1 reel
- The Magic Maid, 1 reel
- His Last Will, 1 reel

Claridge Films, Inc.
- The Birth of a Character, 5 reels
- The Heart of Me, 5 reels

Clune Productions
- Ramona, 10 reels

Corona Cinema Company
- The Eyes of the World, 1 reel

Cosmotofilm Company
- Incomparable Robert Scott, 4 reels
- Liberty Hall, 4 reels
- The Black Belt, 4 reels
- Victoria Cross, 4 reels
- O 18, 4 reels

Creative Film Corporation
- The Girl Who Didn't Think (Jane Gail), 6 reels

Dixie Films
- Tempest and Sunshine (Seylon Greely), 5 reels
- Just a Song at Twilight, 5 reels

Ebony Film Corporation
- A Natural Born Shooter, 1 reel
- Dar Blackhand, 1 reel
- Shine Johnson and the Rabbit's Foot, 1 reel

E. I. S. Motion Picture Corp.
- Trooper 44, 5 reels

Enlighten Corporation
- Enlighten Thy Daughter, 6 reels

Eugene Film Company
- Birth, 6 reels

European Film Company
- Fighting for Victory, 3 reels

Exclusive Features, Inc.
- Where is My Father?, 6 reels

Frieder Film Corporation
- The Birds' Christmas Carol (Mary Louise), 8 reels

Friedman Enterprises
- A Mormon Maid (Max Murray), 5 reels

Frohman Amusement Corp.
- The Winning Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Jack Navy, Arnold, Mark), 6 reels
- Showboat (Robert Montgomery), 6 reels
- Goddess of Canaan, 5 reels
- God's Man, 9 reels

Germanic Official War Films
- Germany and Its Armies Today, 5 reels

Gold Medal Photoplays
- The Web of Life (Hilda Nord, James Cruze, George Spencer), 5 reels

Grand Feature Film Company
- Rex Beach On the Spanish Main, 5 reels
- Rex Beach in Pirate Haunts, 5 reels
- Rex Beach in Foolproof Street, Capt. Kidd, 5 reels

Graphic Films
- The Woman and the Baptist, 5 reels
- D. W. Griffith, 9 reels
- Intolerance, 9 reels

Frank Hall Productions, Inc.
- The Bar Sinister, 9 reels

Hanover Film Company
- Maciste, 4 reels
- How Uncle Sam (U. S. Secret Service), 4 reels

Harper Film Corporation
- Civilization, 9 reels
- Hawk Film Corporation, 9 reels
- Monster of Fate, 9 reels

Herald Film Corporation
- Around the World in 80 Days, 6 reels
- Hiller & Wilk, Inc., 6 reels
- The Battle of Gettysburg, 5 reels
- The Witch of the Gods (Sessue Hayakawa), 5 reels

Hippodrome Film Co.
- At the Front with the Allies, 5 reels

M. H. Hoffman, Inc.
- The Sin of Sin City, 7 reels
- Who Knows?, 5 reels
- The Seven Cardinal Virtues, 5 reels

Honor System Booking Office
- The Honor System (Milton Sills and Miriam Cooper), 10 reels

Jaxon Film Corporation
- Strife (George LeQuire), 5 reels
- "Pokes and Jobs" Comedies, 1 reel each

Juvenile Film Corporation
- World War in Kidland, 1 reel
- A Chip Off the Old Block, 1 reel
- Chip's Evergreen, 1 reel
- Chip's Backyard Barnstormers, 1 reel
- Chip's Rivals, 1 reel
- Chip's Garden, 1 reel
- For Sale, a Daddy, 1 reel

Kineticartoon Corporation
- Cartoons, One Each Week
- King Bee Comedies, 2 reels

Kulee Features
- Germany on the Firing Line, 5 reels
- France on the Firing Line, 5 reels
- The Uniform (Bessie Bondhill), 5 reels

Edgar Lewis Productions
- The Golden Woman, 5 reels
- Lincoln Motion Picture Corporation, 5 reels
- The realization of a Negro's Ambitions, 3 reels
- Trouper of the Plains, 3 reels

C. Post Motion Enterprises
- The Wonder City of the World (T. D. Jackson, N. Y. by Day and by Night), 4 reels

Masterpiece Drama Productions
- Who's Your Neighber, 2 reels

Moral Uplift Society of America
- It May Be Your Daughter, 2 reels

B. S. Moss M. P. Corporation
- The Power of Evil (Margaret Nichols), 5 reels
- The Girl Who Doesn't Know, 5 reels
- Baddies Banned in Town, 5 reels
- In the Hands of the Law, 5 reels
- One Hour (Seven Days and Seven Weeks), 5 reels

Paragon Films
- The Whip, 8 reels
- Peter Pan Film Corporation
- The Magic Land of Oz, 8 reels

####Radio Film Company
- The Courage of Humanity, 7 reels
- Selig Special
- Beware of Strange Men, 7 reels
- The Ne'er Do Well, 10 reels
- The Garden of Allah (Selig), 10 reels
- Who Shall Take My Wife, 10 reels

Sheriott Pictures Corporation
- The Black Stork (Dr. Harry J. Haistead), 5 reels
- Sherman Elliott, Inc.
  - The Crisis, 10 reels

Signet Film Corporation
- Theatre of Life, 7 reels

Standard Newsfilm, Inc.
- Demons of the Air, 2 reels

Submarine Film Corporation
- The Submarine Eye, 6 reels
- Sunbeam Motion Picture Corp.
  - Ty Cobb in Somewhere in Georgia, 6 reels

Superior Films Company
- The Ersatz, 5 reels
- The Cowpuncher, 5 reels
- Donald C. Thompson Film Co.
  - War as it Really Is, 6 reels

To-Day Feature Film Corp.
- To-Day (Florence Reed and Frank Mills), 6 reels

Triumph Film Corporation
- The Libertine, 6 reels

Unity Sales Corporation
- A Trip to the Moon, 6 reels

Universal Film Mfg. Company
- Where Are My Children, 6 reels
- Swedish Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, 6 reels
- People vs. John Doe (Harry De Moe), 6 reels
- Robinson Crusoe (Robert Leonard and Margarita Fischer), 6 reels
- Nell Morgan's Girl, 6 reels

Variety Films Corporation
- My Country First, 6 reels
- The Pursuing Vengeful Wm (Wm. Conklin), 6 reels

Warner Brothers
- Robinson Crusoe (George Arliss), 5 reels
- Are Passions Inherited (Douglas Fairbanks), 5 reels

Edward Warren Productions
- The Age of the Pharaohs, 7 reels

Louis Web Productions
- Even As You and I, 5 reels

Wharton, Inc.
- The Great White Trail (Doris Kenyon), 8 reels
- Below Zero (Eddie Vogel), Comedy, 2 reels
General Film Program

“The Sign of the Scarf.” (Episode of Kalem’s “Grande Dame of the North.”) — Of course, Ollie Kirby departs from her usual vampire role and takes on the part of a pirate queen, in which she is admirably cast. The plot is complicated but full of interest. The chief elements are the presence of Helen Long, as a beautiful pirate, and Burke, as the duplicitous villain. The action is well staged and the stunts are effective. A highly interesting reel.

“The Man Hunt at San Pedro.” (Episode in Kalem’s “The American Girl” series. Two reels.) — The scenes of Western life shown in the Kalem “American Girl” series are sufficiently interesting in themselves to require no plot. The story starts off well, with the mysterious efforts of a cowpuncher to borrow $100 from Redking John Webb at interest. He fails, however, to recover his money and when he attempts to reclaim it, he finds it has been stolen. This he does and so an escape is effected. In the meantime the presence of the railroad raiders has lessened the interest.

Mutual Program

“Reel Life,” No. 123. (Gaumont. One reel. Thurs., May 10.) — Another of George Ovey’s amusing comedies that will be well received. Jerry (George Ovey) gets into trouble with his wife and are both sentenced to hard labor. Jerry, however, manages to secure his liberty and the film gets over well, with the exception of a rather long-drawn-out ending.

“The Overland Disaster.” (Signal-Mutual. Two reels. Mon., May 7.) — The celebration of Americanization Day in New York City is the opening scene of this two-reeler. The principal characters are a group of children participating in the ceremony and Mayor John Purroy Mitchel addressing them. The scene is well staged and the stunts are well executed. This reel is highly interesting and is bound to be acceptable to any audience.

“Bucking the Tiger.” (Vogue. One reel. Sat., May 5.) — Another of the Ben Turpin “classics.” A neat little cyclone that will be well received. Mary steals Jack’s fountain pen, and he abstracts something from her handbag. This reel will go down well.
WANTED—A THEATER!

I am a thoroughly experienced, progressive, up-to-date manager. I want to connect with a modern theatre anywhere.

I do not care how good, or bad your business. All I want are full details regarding location, opposition, capacity, equipment, cost, rent, etc.

I will rent, or manage on percentage if your proposition suits me.

A small town will interest me as much as a large one.

All communications confidential.

Address, WEST.

OLYMPIC THEATRE, CHICAGO, ILL.

Open and Close Every Show With

UNCLE SAM AND THE STARS AND STRIPES!

Exhibitors—Showmen—All Amusement Men
DON'T ALLOW YOUR PATRIOTISM TO LAG, AND DON'T FORGET THAT THIS IS THE ORIGINAL PATRIOTIC FILM TRAILER:

Remember, This is the Logical Time to Keep the Flag Before Your Patrons.

Sixty Feet or More of: Outline Map of U. S. A., Revealing Commodore Stephen Decatur's Immortal Words; President Washington, Lincoln and Wilson; The Most Intense Lines of Our National Anthem; Uncle Sam Himself; and OLD GLORY Waving at the Masthead in Spotlight—Tinted Red, White and Blue at Five-Foot Intervals.

A WONDERFUL PATRIOTIC DISPLAY AT 10c. PER FOOT.

Geo. Berg Film Co., 315 Maltese Bldg., S. Wabash Ave., Chicago. ON SALE AT Rialto Supply Co., 721 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minnesota. Manufactured and Sold by the AMERICAN BIOSCOPE COMPANY, INC. E. W., President and General Manager.

Exhibitors Worry Themselves Out of Business

As they have no means to solve their greatest problem, our honest report in detail will do this for you. There are two kinds of pictures that cause exhibitors to worry; the poor ones and the very good ones. The average good pictures can be booked for most any date. With our reports at your finger tips you are through worrying and your program properly balanced. Note names of pictures you have run together with your full address on margin of this page and mail it to us and we will send reports for your inspection.

PICTURE REPORTING SERVICE
64 W. RANDOLPH STREET, CHICAGO

WANTED

Negatives of new feature photoplays, four to six thousand feet each.

Must be first class productions in every respect.

P. O. BOX 56
Times Square Station
New York City

GET YOUR RELEASE DATES IN BY SATURDAY
THE DIXIE DISTRIBUTING COMPANY
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Organized by practical, experienced exchangers who are familiar with territorial conditions in TEXAS, ARKANSAS, TENNESSEE, GEORGIA, ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI and LOUISIANA, invite correspondence from Manufacturers and Owners of State Right Productions, with the view of handling your product on a percentage or Brokerage basis.

- An efficient Office and Sales Force will be maintained.
- Your productions protected by bond security.
- Modern, efficient marketing methods for the sale and distribution of all Features will be carefully followed.
- A careful accounting of earnings will be given and prompt remittances will be made.
- We assume the entire expense of distribution.
- You supply the film.
- We share equitably in the earnings.

THERE WILL BE ONLY ONE MOVIE EXPOSITION
THIS YEAR AND THAT ONE
IN CHICAGO, JULY 14-22, 1917
COLISEUM BLDG.

BUT THERE WILL BE THE FOLLOWING CONVENTIONS

1. MOTION PICTURE LEAGUE OF AMERICA \ollipop{ALL}
2. NAT'L ASS'N OF THE M. P. INDUSTRY \/popper{UNDER}
3. NAT'L ASS'N OF THE M. P. ENGINEERS \/popper{ONE}
4. THE FILM CLUBS OF AMERICA \/popper{ROOF}

THEY ARE IN!

PATHE, UNIVERSAL, MUTUAL, GOLDWYN, SELZNICK, FOX, WORLD, ENTERPRISE OPTICAL, NATIONAL, CARBON, CAHILL, IGGE, TYPHOON
FAN, M. P. NEWS, EX. TRADE REVIEW, M. P. WORLD, EX. HERALD, PHOTOGRAPHY, N. Y. TELEGRAPH, AMUSEMENTS, ETC., ETC.

HOW ABOUT YOU? For Space Apply to LUDWIG SCHINDLER, Exposition Manager
1416 Masonic Temple

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
Customer Service Equipment

TABLE OF CONTENTS

CLASSIFIED

PHOTOGRAPHIC SUPPLIES

FILM REPRODUCTION

TEERING MACHINE

ADVERTISERS BY PRODUCTS

CAMAEBAS
Burke & James

CARBONS
National Carbon Co.

CHAIRS
Family Opera Chair Organization

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT
Hertner Electric & Mfg. Co.

FILMS
Eastman Kodak Co.

LENS MANUFACTURERS
Baush & Lomb Optical Co.

MAILING LISTS
M. P. Directory Co.

MISCELLANEOUS
Amusement Supply Co.

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
American Photo Player Co.

PROGRAMS
Cahill Lee Co.

PROJECTOR MACHINE
Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co.

RENOVATORS
Rex Film Renovator Co.

REWINDERS
Duplex Machine Co.

SLIDES
Exhibitors’ Supply Co.

TANKS
A. J. Corcoran, Inc.

VENTILATING
Typhoon Fan Co.

CLASSIFIED

Pho. S.

ed and 4 real features in perfect condition at ad to the Dramatic Film Corp., 444 West 46th St., N. Y. C.

W. R. WARDLEY, E. E. BROAD ST., COLUMBUS, OHIO.

Want—New York Mystery, War Pictures, and other Serials and Features, suitable for South America. Send all particulars to Mr. Carlos Locade, Herald Square Hotel, New York.

Help Wanted Male Manager for the Pudineville to take charge of two of the largest houses in Great New York. Must understand film business thoroughly. Salary not subject to right man. Box 10, care Motion Picture News.

PLANET, Animated Man "Battle of Venus," excellently produced, 500 feet. Negatives and positive prints, with artistic titles, copyright, etc., novelty.

MAN, 412 Eighth Avenue, New York.

TOOLS

Many high class tools are attractively priced in our "Odds and Ends" pamphlet which is mailed free on request.

MONTGOMERY & CO., INC.

185 Fulton Street
New York City

TRANSMITTER

Automatically supplies the correct voltage as required. No waste of heat in ballast.

HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.

1047 Superior Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A.

New Improvements of The Motion Picture News

Send postal. Know how Universal Motion Pictures have given longer permanence, speed, accuracy, and weight saving. A complete demonstration. Address—Burke & James, Inc., 1425 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Write for Announcement

ADVERTISERS

BERKSHIRE ADVERTISERS

A. J. Corcoran, Inc.

Typhoon Fan Co

Exhibitors’ Supply Co

Excelsior Illustrating Co

Greater New York Slide Co.

Duplex Machine Co

Rex Film Renovator Co

Nicholas Power Co.

Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co.

M. P. Directory Co

Newman Mfg. Co

M. P. Directory Co

A. F. Williams

Menger & Ring, Inc

A. F. Williams

M. P. Directory Co

National Carbon Co.

Junes & Cammack

Eastman Kodak Co.

Evans Film Mfg. Co.

Cahill Lee Co.

Evans Film Mfg. Co.

Duplex Machine Co

Eastman Kodak Co.

Evans Film Mfg. Co.

LIMITED

442 West Adams St., Chicago.

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

DEPARTMENTS

Editorial

Projection (United States) (Slides)

The Camera

Music and the Movies

Building and Furnishing (Directory of New Theatres)

SILENT " " (American-Mutual)

"Hi-Y " (United States)

"The Case of Dr. Joan" (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Flashlight " (Bluebird)

"Frame-Up " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Little French Miss " (Republic) (Pathé)

"Lovers Sacrifice " (Pathé)

"Marcello Milius " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Millionaire’s Double " " " (Metro)

"Neglected Wife " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Phantom Secret " " " (Butterfly-Universal)

"Promenade Ring " " " " " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Romance of the Redwoods, A " " " " " " " (Artcraft)

"Saints Adventure " " " " " " " (Essanay-K.K-E.E)

"Silent Partner, The " " " " " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Sixteen Widows " " " " " " " (Pathé)

"Snipers and Raiders " " " " " " " (Kong-Morricone)

"Wild Winnie’s Widow " " " " " " " (Triangle-Ince)

"Wildcats, The " " " " " " " (Majestic) (Paramount)

"Yankee Pluck " " " " " " " (World Film)

WANTED

Motion Picture News
Reg. to U. S. Patent Office

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

CHICAGO—AND YOU! (W. A. JOHNSTON) 3259

EDITORIALS 3260

OFTS ABSENT AS CANDIDATE HIGHLIGHTS EXHIBITORS’ TAX BATTLE 3261

INDUSTRY’S LEADERS SEEK EQUITABLE TAX AT SENATE HEARING 3262

AS ALBANY BILL DIES PENNSYLVANIA TAX IS BORN 3263

EXHIBITORS’ FACE NEW CRISIS IN EXPRESS TIE-UP 3264

Lee A. Chesney Elected for Conspiracy by Frank 3264

Nebraska and Iowa Theatres Boost Prices 100 Per Cent. 3264

Goldwyn Analyses Complaints of Exhibitors 3264

Selig-Tribune Disputes by Screen Magazine 3265

Lionell Barrymore Stage to Direct Radio 3264

Stage Contracts to Take Notice 3265

Greater Vitagraph Hard Hit by War Call 3265

Short Film Comes Back Strong, Says Boster 3265

South Carolina Film Association Celebrates First Year 3265

Millennium for Exhibitor Not Yet Here 3266

Two Features and Four Articles on Mutual Plans 3266

Three Leaky Productions in June for Paramount 3266

Greater Offers Five-Part Butterfly Feature 3266

Glady's Hulett Shows on Path Program, May 8 3268

Seven Big Circuits Book "Within the Law" 3268

Ivan’s Late Production Opens Strong (Lyric) 3268

Short Film Company Wants to Help Exhibitors Advertise 3269

Essanay Signs Taylor Holmes, Noted Stage Star 3269

Thans horny Director Keeping Studios Unusually Active 3269

"The Little American" and Kate Wiggin Story for Pickford 3269

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

DEPARTMENTS

SLIDES

REWINDERS

PROJECTION MACHINES

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

MAILING LISTS

MISCELLANEOUS

PROGRAMS

RENOVATORS

REWINDERS

SLIDES

EXHIBITORS’ SUPPLY CO.

GREAT WEST SLIDE CO.

TANKS

VENTILATING

Typhoon Fan Co.

Mailing Lists

MOVING PICTURE THEATRES

Every State—Total 25,097

Price: $3.50 per M.

1450 Pore Machine and War Boots $4.00

200 Materials and War Boots $1.50

235 Picture Machine and War Boots $1.50

235 Picture Machine and War Boots $1.50

3333

3316

3333

3333

3333

3313

3313

3313

3315
If It's a Motiograph You Know It's Made Right

IT IS THE PROJECTOR THAT REPRESENTS THE STANDARD OF VALUE AND QUALITY

The Motiograph factory has the reputation of turning out a projector that is made of the best material available.

Did you ever hear of a Motiograph that, the need five or even ten years, that had to be replaced on account of becoming worn? The sliding glass connection, which took the place of the bell about July, 1915, has been continuously used on thousands of Motiographs since that date, and not one of them has been replaced or found of defective or worn.

The New Motiograph factory, placed on the warehouse in December last year, is receiving favorable reports from every part of the country. It has reduced condenser breakage to a minimum.

If you buy a Motiograph you have the satisfaction of knowing that it is made right and will give the best results at a price which is within the range of every conservative buyer.

The result of building a projector that is "made right" is that the Motiograph factory is compelled to work overtime to fill all orders promptly.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO., 568 W. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
Western Office: 333 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.
We Are Satisfied to Have You Judge Our Product by Our Customers

HERE ARE THE BIG FILM PRODUCERS USING SIMPLEX PROJECTORS

Acteract Pictures Corporation
Biograph Film Company
Essanay Company
Fonx Film Corporation
Metro Pictures Corporation
New York Motion Pictures Corporation
Paramount Pictures Corporation
Selznick Pictures
Triangle Film Corporation
Wark Producing Company (D. W. Griffith)

Erbograph Company
Famous Players Film Company
Goldwyn Pictures Corporation
Mutual Film Corporation
Paragon Films, Inc.
Pathé Frères
Thanhouser Film Corporation
Universal Film Manufacturing Company
Vitaphone Company
World Film Corporation

and many others

Representing 90 Percent of the Film Manufacturers

The Preference the above have shown cannot be considered other than a REMARKABLE TRIBUTE to

Simplex

PROJECTORS
May 26, 1917

ACCESSORY NEWS SECTION

SECTION OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Devoted to the technical branches of the motion picture industry, containing records of the latest accomplishments in the mechanical and scientific field; projection helps, inventions and suggestions; camera devices analyzed and commented upon; musical cue sheets for important feature pictures; improvements and innovations in the building and furnishing field.

Edited by E. Kendall Gillett

Competition

SINCE the announcement of the formation of the United Theatre Equipment Corporation, we have received many letters from all parts of the country asking what effect this large organization is to have on the equipment end of the industry.

In the first place, calling this new organization a combination is misleading. The idea was conceived by one of the leading supply dealers in New York City, who, through his personal endeavors, purchased the business of various supply men in the country, so that these various offices are now branch offices of the United Theatre Equipment Corporation and are owned by it.

The basis of the organization is one of better service to the exhibitor, in that one organization, through its own offices located all over the country, can offer better cooperation than would otherwise be possible. This in general is true. It was the case when the Woolworth organization started. It had its own stores and for some time was alone in its field. This, however, lasted but a short time—some other chain stores of the same kind started up and now we have many similar organizations all competing successfully and doing large businesses.

It is not right to assume that an organization such as the United Theatre Equipment Corporation will ever absorb all the successful equipment houses in the country. Men who have a good business are often slow to see the advantage of selling it on any basis, for they figure that a thing which is worth a given amount to them is worth that much and more to some one else—so why get rid of it?

MANY of those who have not been bought out are now preparing to open branch offices, if advices which we have received are correct. They take the attitude that more business is going to be built up by the continual pounding of the Motion Picture interests and that during the process healthy competition is going to increase the business of every equipment man.

Competition of the right kind is not going to be a detriment. There was never a business yet which did not finally die of dry rot unless there was a competitor somewhere in the bushes to keep it on the job, always forcing upon it improvements in order that it should hold its place. We have seen it in all branches of our industry and we know its results and can judge what will happen in this new equipment condition.

The exhibitors need not worry lest their requirements will not be taken care of. No one organization can corner the market and no one organization should want to, for it would lead to an unhealthy state. There are plenty of goods manufactured so that different dealers all over the country will be able to supply the theatre needs. There is little doubt but what we will see other comprehensive dealer organizations in the field, so that ultimately we may find that the supply of goods will exceed the available outlets. This is far more apt to be the case than that the dealers will not be able to get goods to sell.

The life of any supply house in future will depend upon the service and help which it offers to its customers. It is going to develop along the same lines as the automobile business. One of the first and most important questions asked of the automobile man is, how much service will you give me with your car when compared to the dealers across the street—the car is then purchased 85 per cent, on that basis.

The same thing will be true in our industry and it is only right that it should be so, for this is the basis of the survival of the fittest. It must be remembered, however, that service and price cutting do not go hand in hand. It is our hope that as this field develops the old idea that the only way to get business is by shaving the price will be done away with and that SERVICE will be the basis of HEALTHY COMPETITION.

E. K. GILLET.
Maintaining Constant Light

Every motion picture exhibitor desires to project the pictures shown in his theatre in such a manner as to produce an attraction of such merit that each performance will be given to a "capacity" house. To secure this result the exhibitor is ever on the lookout for film subjects of particular interest as well as those of unusual attractiveness. The film subject, however, is of secondary importance unless the projection equipment be up-to-date in every detail, because a good subject poorly projected will prove to be less of a drawing card than a mediocre subject well projected.

Given these, attractive film subjects, and up-to-date equipment, another factor is left to be reckoned with, the operator. It is essential, therefore, that the operator be one of the best; one

!Diagram of Connections for Two Lamps, with Panel Provided for Emergency Service

Extra Heavy Lines Indicate Wires Which Must Carry Current for Both Lamps

Extra adjustment required is that of feeding the carbons at frequent intervals to compensate for their consumption due to the natural burning away. These motor-generator sets are available in capacities of 36 amperes, 55 amperes, and 90 amperes; one of which will meet the requirements of practically any installation.

The majority of motion picture theatres operate two projectors who has a personal interest in his work, and also the skill necessary to perform his work in such a manner as to make the "movies" an attraction.

In addition to the above requirements is a source of power capable of supplying sufficient light of such constant quality that the pictures will be perfectly illuminated, is an absolute necessity.

To fulfill the most exacting requirements of motion picture service, the Westinghouse Electric Company, of East Pittsburgh, Pa., have developed a line of motor-generator sets and auxiliaries which have proven eminently satisfactory in numerous installations throughout the country during the past few years. Each motor-generator set is so designed that practically a constant direct current voltage is developed over the entire range of current operation required for one or two motion picture arc lamps. To maintain the current approximately constant, a ballast resistance is provided for each arc lamp, connected in series with the arc. By the use of this equipment, under normal operation the alternately for the production of a continuous picture comprising several reels. To provide for this, the motor-generator sets are designed to supply power successfully to both lamps for the short period of time required for “fading in” with the best results. To avoid any noticeable disturbance of illumination of the picture during the “fading in” process, the bleaft ballast resistance is connected in the circuit by opening a control switch mounted on the projection machine within convenient reach of the operator. This switch is opened just prior to striking the arc after which it is closed. In this manner the idle lamp may be connected to the circuit and operated without the audience becoming aware of any change in the illumination of the picture being projected. By skillful “fading in” on the part of the operator, the picture on the screen can be projected so continuously that the audience is never aware of the instant when one reel is finished and a new reel commenced. I have seen operators whose handling of this apparatus was so perfect that it was impossible to determine the exact moment when the “fading in” occurred, even though standing in the operating room, looking out of the operator’s port, and expecting it to happen at any moment.

The wiring for a typical installation, including the switchboard panel, is illustrated by Fig. 1. Although the projectors are usually a part of the Westinghouse equipment; also the wiring diagram for the same.

The photograph shown is of the operating room of the Crystal theatre, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., showing the installation of a motor-generator set with emergency panel, an equipment that if properly handled should, as we have said at the head of this article, assist materially in maintaining a constant light.

Operator’s License

G. C. R., Geneseo, Ill., writes: Enclosed you will find stamped envelope for which I would like you very much for answering the following question as soon as possible. Where operator’s license can be obtained and what steps I would have to take to get one?

In reply: I don’t quite get you, brother. If you are operating under a law, evidently there is no law there regulating the licensing of operators, otherwise you would not be. If it is your intention to go to some other city where a law is in force that is another question. Unless some clause is inserted in the municipal regulations whereby an applicant must have been a resident of that city for a given length of time the modus operandi would be to make an application at the fire headquarters or electrical board of the city, and if neither of these examine applicants can they tell you to whom to apply. The examination may be held every two months, which may be the case if such a thing were legal. Then if it is, and if you are not going to be a part of the city where application is made. Questions will be such as to determine your ability as a motion picture operator, and if you are “there” you should experience no difficulty in obtaining a license.

More Power to You

T. N. DeWolfe, Birmingham, Ala., writes: In the Projection Department of the News, May 5th issue, I noticed J. C. P’s article about the “Anti-Misframe League.” I think it is a good thing; that is if all would join, and it certainly would help the operators, to please put me down as a charter member of the charter is still open, and if not put me down anyway as that is one evil that could partly be done away with and I for one am willing to help do away with it.

In reply: Our friend J. C. P. evidently started something when he made the suggestion for an Anti-Misframe League, and now that you have joined the club, as have many others since, the charter is fast as they are received, and copies of letters will be sent to the various film exchanges asking their support.

”Anti-Misframe League”

Pledge

As a motion picture operator who has the interest of his profession at heart, and is willing to do what is necessary to eliminate some of the evils practiced in the operating room, I promise that I will to the best of my ability return films to the exchange in first-class condition. Furthermore, I will when it becomes necessary remove all misframes, bad patches, etc., that may be in the film which I receive and in this way co-operate with my brother operators and give greater pleasure to those who make up the motion picture audience by showing films that are free from such defects. I also promise that I will not make punch marks in film, and when film is received by me, with punch holes, I will notify the exchange to that effect so that they may use their efforts to correct this evil.

Roll of Honor

John C. Pastre, Gary, Indiana.
D. B. Shepard, Albany, New York.
Charles E. Wethered, Lebanon, Indiana.
C. C. Petersen, Clinton, Iowa.
Tom M. DeWolfe, Birmingham, Ala.
Rex Kieburque, Dentonville, Ark.
Glenn Woodbury, Tomah, Iowa.
Harold A. Alger, Wabash, Ind.

Editor’s Note: To brother Pastre belongs the honor of heading the roll for it was he who proposed the “League.” Names of operators will be add as fast as they are received, and copies of letters will be sent to the various film exchanges asking their support.

“Et Tu Brute”

C. C. Petersen, Clinton, Iowa, handed me a good laugh in the following letter: you will note the laugh brackets. Being a constant reader of the News naturally for the sake of looking for something new. In the May 5th issue I see where Brother J. C. P., Gary, Ind., wants a League organized, namely, Anti-Misframe League. You can enroll me and put my name in red ink if you desire, as I think that all operators knowing what is good for them will or should rush their names in for enrollment. This being my first attemp along this line, will cry sufficient (Dictated but not read).

In reply: I was forced to finish your letter with a laugh and to pay you back in your own coin I will not soon forget your correspondence. As the supply of red ink has given out your name has been entered on the Roll of Honor in the “regulation” manner. My best wishes to you and your fellow members of 332, and if this is your first attempt I hope it will not be your last, and I will expect to receive a very interesting letter from you regarding operating conditions in Clinton. So come across.

You’re Welcome

G. W. Pomeroy, Iowa, writes: Received my News yesterday and proceeded to carry out your instructions, and they are O. K. Thanks. I wrote you about two weeks ago that I had vibration in the head of my machine. I looked all over the machine and could not find any trouble. At last I looked at my upper magazine and found it was against the wall. I pulled back the machine, reached into it and everything is lovely now. With that I am strongly in favor of an Anti-Misframe League as suggested by J. C. P., of Gary, Ind. I am proud to say that no film leaves my operating room containing a misframe. Let us by all means have an Anti-Misframe League.

In reply: Glad to learn that my suggestions were of value to you. The Anti-Misframe League has been started; now it is up to the operators to get together and see if we cannot accomplish something that will be of benefit to all concerned. You too are to be commended for allowing “no film to leave your operating room containing a misframe.” Come again. The department is open to everyone.
Heart-Stirring, Hand-Colored Patriotic Slides
25 cents Each

There will be a roar of cheers and a storm of applause every time you throw one of our patriotic slides on your screen.

Every American wants to show his patriotism. These slides give him an opportunity to let out his enthusiasm. The Country needs this kind of stirring-up right now, and it is your duty to help the great cause along.

Send for Patriotic Folder--Free
Also Extraordinary Announcement and Advertising Slide Catalogue.

Excelsior Illustrating Co.
219 Sixth Ave.

GOOD NIGHT
(Tinted M. P. Trailers)

$2.25 each
5 Assorted, $10

T1.—Soldiers battling in aeroplanes, drop bombs. They explode, White House appears with words, Good Night.

T2.—Kewpies stand on bridge, moon rises, and letters. Good Night, come up, one at a time; then everything slowly fades away.

Many others, just as good. Also a variety of Comices

EXHIBITORS: We put out the largest variety of original Patriotic Slides in the Country. American, French, English Flags, President Wilson, Army and Navy Scenes, M1-K1 Christmas Slides, etc., etc.

25c each, any 7 for $1.50

Ask for big catalogue and patriotic folder, FREE

Greater N. Y. Slide Co.
(Linked to the M. P. Centre)
154 West 45th St.

SUPPLY HOUSES.—We've a proposition that'll interest you.

THEATRE AND EXCHANGE MAILING LIST SERVICE

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc. N 113

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO.
99 Fifth Avenue, New York
85 Ashland Block, Chicago

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.

SLIDES

The Excelsior Illustrating Co., 219 Sixth Avenue, New York, have just prepared a new large Patriotic Folder, in addition to their recently issued catalogue on advertising and announcement slides.

In this folder are many illustrations showing slides on most every phase of American patriotism. Exhibitors who are desirous of encouraging enlistment will find many timely and appropriate slides in this folder.

Each illustration is accompanied by an order number, which will save time for the busy exhibitor when ordering these slides.

A postal card, letter or 'phone call will bring by return mail a copy of both Patriotic Folder and catalogue.

THE Novelty Slide Co., which is distributing a line of patriotic novelties and souvenirs, such as small silk flags, bows, buttons, etc., states that many exhibitors who are running children's programs find these novelties a great aid in stimulating trade from the juvenile standpoint, inasmuch as each carries away a souvenir.

---

Ye Town Knocker---

SOME BRIGHT.

PRESS AGENT.

THOUGHT TO.

THROW A scare.

INTO the poor.

EXHIBITOR.

BY SENDING him.

A LURID warning.

THAT his OPERATOR.

WOULD probably BE.

DRAFTED for war.

AND that the,

EXHIBITOR should.

BREAK IN.

HIS WIFE.

OR his sister.

OR CASHIER.

TO OPERATE his machine.

WE HOPE.

THAT if he.

DOES.

HE WILL confine.

HIS EFFORTS.

TO THE particular.

BRAND OF FILM.

BOOSTED by the.

PRESS AGENT who.

SENT the.

WARNING.

AS THEREBY all kinds.

OF EXPERIENCE.

CAN BE obtained.

BY running.

ONE REEL.

IF you don't.

BELIEVE me.

ASK any.

OPERATOR.

I THANK you.

(With apologies to K.C.B.)

PATRIOTIC SLIDES

Beautifully hand colored. Write for list. Price, 25c. each. 5 for $1.00.

EXHIBITORS SUPPLY CO. 4th floor, Mailers Bldg.

STAR CARBONS

Write us for descriptive circular and price list.

JONES & CAMMACK

24 Stone St. New York, N. Y.

We save our customers 5% to 30% on M. P. machines, parts and supplies. Try us and be convinced. New stock of highest quality.

INDEPENDENT MOVIE SUPPLY CO.

6th Floor, 729 7th Ave., New York

"Courtesy with Service."
The Other Has Arrived

B. S., Albany, N. Y., who wrote and mailed two letters to the department on the same day, which was mentioned last week under the heading “Two Sent, Only One Received,” will be glad to know that the film has finally reached me. He writes as follows: “Dear Sir and Brother—I have been following your articles in the Motion Picture News lately concerning punch holes, bad splices, and the condition of film in general, and will say that it is one hard proposition to remedy; in fact, almost impossible, as the way some of the film exchanges send out film, it is utterly impossible to put the film in proper shape to run. You would be working all night on some of the film that I receive should you attempt to put it in perfect running condition. Now the only film concern that I am having trouble with is —. I receive film in terrible condition. It is impossible to enumerate the many times I have written in for help and cooperation with regard to helping them if they would help me. I am enclosing a piece of film from a comedy which I have been saving to show the representative when he comes to town, but will forward it to you as a sample. As to punch holes! If they are so numerous, I cut them out. I have found this is the only way to improve the film. Each day before the performance I change the end of each reel, which varies about one hundred feet or less, until I reach a fade-out or a letter, then split the film at this mark and attach a piece of opaque leader to the end of each reel. The result obtained cannot be improved. Of course, not always that the action is not disturbed. I am also enclosing some of the ends taken from — ‘Message to Garcia,’ the condition of which is, I think, inexcusable to any one who takes pride in the picture as his conditions permit. Now, the above is the way I take care of film each day I receive it. I do not think it is a bad plan, although it takes some time, and patience, but results are obtained. I am very sorry you did not find time to call upon me on your return from Cleveland, as I could have promised you at the time a regular party here, as I had all the boys enthused. But if you are ever up this way don’t hesitate to drop in and see us. We will be more than glad to entertain you at our best. In closing I might say that your department articles in their present crusade against the bad condition of film are the best I have ever seen on the subject. With best wishes and hearty co-operation (if necessary), I beg to remain, yours fraternally and sincerely.”

In Reply: I fully agree with you that this is going to be a hard proposition to remedy, but nothing is impossible, and I believe with the formation of the League and the right kind of agitation a remedy can and will be found. Exchange managers must co-operate with the operator, and the members of the League are not to be imposed upon by having films that are in bad condition sent with the expectation that they will put it in proper shape, and thus eliminate film inspectors in the exchanges. This is not our object, and operators are quick-witted enough to realize when they are being imposed upon. While we maintain it is no part of the operator’s duty to inspect and put in first-class condition film coming under his control, we feel that the operator will, as a matter of self-preservation, remove all misframes and bad splices which might show upon the screen as a detriment to good projection. Remember the audience does not know, and when they see misframes or are forced to wait for a break to be repaired, their first cry is: “Gee, that’s a bum operator.” If I were to receive film like the samples contained in your letter 1, too, I would most certainly cut them out. In one piece of film four inches in length there appeared no less than three different punch marks, with a total of twenty-one holes, and if every operator who receives this film were to place his individual punch mark upon it, and these punch marks were removed after the exhibition, you can readily see that the film would be reduced to nothingness in a very short time. Then, too, there are many times where the action of the play is carried right up to the very last foot of film, and if several feet were removed it would cause such a gap as to make one lose interest in the story. Some film manufacturers are now stamping a white seal in the film at the point where the dissolve takes place to show the following part. This seal is put on under pressure, and will not become loosened unless intentionally done by the operator. Other firms, notably Selznick Pictures, are using what I have always felt was the real answer to the problem, and which was inaugurated by the Edison Film Company, or perhaps Viacom or Vitagraph, and that is the finishing of one reel with a subtitle and the opening of the

(Continued on the following page)

“The Play’s the Thing”

This idea is rapidly gaining popularity with producers and exhibitors alike. Please your patrons by picking the best subjects you can find—and make their pleasure complete by showing them with the superior projection furnished by

Bausch and Lomb Projection Lenses

You get sharp, even illumination, right to the corners of the screen with Bausch & Lomb lenses.

Edison and Nicholas Power Machines include Bausch & Lomb lenses in their regular equipment. You can get them at your film exchange.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.

686 ST. PAUL STREET ROCHESTER, N.Y.

In Reply: I fully agree with you that this is going to be a hard proposition to remedy, but nothing is impossible, and I believe with the formation of the League and the right kind of agitation a remedy can and will be found. Exchange managers must co-operate with the operator, and the members of the League are not to be imposed upon by having films that are in bad condition sent with the expectation that they will put it in proper shape, and thus eliminate film inspectors in the exchanges. This is not our object, and operators are quick-witted enough to realize when they are being imposed upon. While we maintain it is no part of the operator’s duty to inspect and put in first-class condition film coming under his control, we feel that the operator will, as a matter of self-preservation, remove all misframes and bad splices which might show upon the screen as a detriment to good projection. Remember the audience does not know, and when they see misframes or are forced to wait for a break to be repaired, their first cry is: “Gee, that’s a bum operator.” If I were to receive film like the samples contained in your letter 1, too, I would most certainly cut them out. In one piece of film four inches in length there appeared no less than three different punch marks, with a total of twenty-one holes, and if every operator who receives this film were to place his individual punch mark upon it, and these punch marks were removed after the exhibition, you can readily see that the film would be reduced to nothingness in a very short time. Then, too, there are many times where the action of the play is carried right up to the very last foot of film, and if several feet were removed it would cause such a gap as to make one lose interest in the story. Some film manufacturers are now stamping a white seal in the film at the point where the dissolve takes place to show the following part. This seal is put on under pressure, and will not become loosened unless intentionally done by the operator. Other firms, notably Selznick Pictures, are using what I have always felt was the real answer to the problem, and which was inaugurated by the Edison Film Company, or perhaps Viacom or Vitagraph, and that is the finishing of one reel with a subtitle and the opening of the

(Continued on the following page)

 ADVANCED PROJECTION

When you place your order for a machine, do you realize the importance of GETTING THE PROPER LENSES? Our engineers are in a position to advise you as to the proper lenses for your requirements.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY

Largest Exclusive Dealers to the Moving Picture Trade

We Sell on the Instalment Plan

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES

Power-Simplex-Baird

HALLBERG’S 20th Century Motor Generators

MINUSA Gold Fibre Screens

SANIZONE Deodorants, the perfect perfume for Motion Picture and All Theatres

WE ARE DISTRIBUTORS

ASK FOR CATALOGUE

Lewis M. Swaab

1327 VINE STREET

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
UNION ANNOUNCEMENTS

General Executive Board of the "I. A." Meets May 31

INTERNATIONAL President Charles C. Shay has sent out official notification of the meeting of the General Executive Board of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada, to be held, pursuant to the call of the president, at the general headquarters, 107 West Forty-sixth street, New York, N. Y., Thursday morning, May 31, 1917. Sittings will be continued until all business properly submitted for action has been disposed of by that body.

Members of the Alliance will kindly take note that any business which they may wish to have considered by the General Executive Board must be filed with the general office on or before May 31.

Crickmore to Be Assistant International President

Owing to the resignation of Brother M. C. Higgins as Assistant International President of the Alliance, which left the office vacant for three days, President Shay appointed Organizer James Lemke, member of Local 29, Troy, N. Y., to act in that capacity temporarily, or until Brother Charles Crickmore, member of Locals 15 and 154, Seattle, Washington, can reach New York, when he will take over the office and assume the duties of Assistant International President. Brother Crickmore is one of the most popular members of the I. A., and we have no doubt that as soon as he arrives upon the scene and becomes familiar with his new duties, he will fill the position creditably to himself and the Alliance. We wish you success in your new job, Charlie.

Victory for 306

The strike conducted by Local 306 against the Metropolitan theatre, Manhattan avenue and Scholes street, Brooklyn, lasted for two days and ended in a victory for the local. Two members were arrested for picketing, but the case was postponed and complaint was later withdrawn by Lewis Traub, the manager, and case dismissed.

The theatre now employs a union operator with a relief man for two hours daily, and everybody's satisfied.

From the "Banks of the Wabash, Far Away"

H. R. A., Wabash, Ind., writes: Please enlist me as a member of the Anti-Misframe League for I think this is as good a movement as could be conducted by the operators throughout the country, and I think that every operator should become a member of the League. I also wish to state that if at any time fees are needed you will kindly notify me and I will endeavor to do my part. Here's success to the Anti-Misframe League. May it live long and prosper.

In reply: Your enlistment has been recorded as you will note on the Roll of Honor in this week's issue. Would respectfully call your attention to the reply to Brother DeVolfe, Birmingham, Ala. Many thanks for your kind offer of financial assistance, but fortunately it is not needed as the Anti-Misframe League is to be fostered by the Motion Picture News. I will be pleased to receive from you photographs of your theatre and operating room and a letter setting forth your equipment, as it has been many years since I last visited your city.

The Other Has Arrived

(Continued from preceding page)
following reel with a continuation of that same subtitle. In such a case punch holes are absolutely inexcusable, and the operator who is found guilty of marking these films should lose his position. Your desire to obtain results shows that you have the interest of your profession at heart, for I do not honestly believe there are many who would consume as much time, nor have the patience to do so, as you in putting your film in running order.

I also was sorry that I was unable to visit you on my return from Cleveland, and assure you that I shall make the opportunity of doing so at an early date. I am glad that you find some food for thought at least in the department, and would say that your co-operation is necessary. Come again. You're always welcome.

PROJECTION

Without Flicker!

SILVERTIPS ARE HELPING
IN THE REALIZATION OF THIS IDEAL

The projector light operates in an ideal manner only when the arc shows no tendency to flicker and wander. How many times have you been exasperated beyond measure by a jumping, wandering arc at a critical point in your picture?

Silvertips, with their small diameter, center the arc and hold it absolutely steady—they are the key to flickerless projection. Use them if you are seeking this ideal!

One of your number has appropriately called them "The Cure for Flicker"!

Send today for our booklet describing their advantages in detail.

NATIONAL CARBON CO., Cleveland, O.
I Apologize, Coulersport

S. E. C., Coulersport, Pa., writes: "Noted your reply to "F. J."
Belfast, New York, as to the fitting of the intermittent sprocket. As we have just purchased a new one for a Powers 6A we thought that you would be kind enough to give us the proper directions for fitting same."

Answer.—I apologize most humbly for my apparent neglect in answering your inquiry, but unfortunately your letter was mislaid, and it was only upon receipt of later letter, and careful search on my part that it was brought to light. If I am not too late I will now give you the information you asked for. Of course, while I do not recommend the adjustment to be made other than at the factory, it is quite possible that it can be done by the operator with fairly good results. First remove the apron, by taking out the two screws that hold it on either side (near the rollers at its lower end), then remove screw which holds fly wheel. After removing this screw, pull gently toward you the fly wheel; if it fails to slip off easily take a small block of wood and place it on the opposite side of the fly wheel and tap lightly with a small hammer until the wheel becomes loose. Then remove lower sprocket shaft by loosening screws which hold the sprocket and pull the shaft out from the opposite side of the machine. The large idler gear must then be removed, by turning the mechanism up side down, and looking in, you will notice on the shaft which holds this gear, a brass collar. Turn the gears until the set screw of this collar comes into position so as to enable you to reach it with your screw driver. Loosen the screw and then pull out the gear and its shaft. The oil casing cover may then be removed by taking out the three screws holding the cover, and tapping lightly on the cover so as to break the joint caused by the hardening of the shellac which is used to make the case oil tight. After following the above instructions, loosen the two set screws on the fly wheel shaft, and then forcing the bushes to the right, with a very fine file remove the burr caused by the screws after which the shaft and cam may be pulled out. Then remove aperture plate, also the screw which holds the eccentric bushing on the left hand side of the machine and carefully driving out the pins holding the intermittent sprocket on its shaft, with a very light hammer and a small steel point, not forgetting to remove also the right hand bushing; you will then be able to pull cross and shaft through the oil well.

All parts having now been removed, carefully fit the sprocket so that the holes of sprocket and those on the shaft match. Drive in the taper pins, being careful not to tap with your hammer hard enough to spring the shaft, and then by reversing the foregoing instructions place all parts back in their correct relation to. If purchased from the factory there should be no question of their matching. Then remove the sprocket and place the shaft bearing the cross back. As the end of the shaft comes into view place the large left hand bushing in place, then the sprocket and finally the right hand bushing after which tighten the screws holding these bushes sufficiently to hold the shaft without slipping. Then turn the sprocket so that the holes will come into position with those in the shaft. Drive in the taper pins, being careful not to tap with your hammer hard enough to spring the shaft, and then by reversing the foregoing instructions place all other parts back in their regular order. In replacing the oil cover scrape the edges clean and apply a coating of thick shellac to the edges only and clamp the cover in place, by fastening up the screws for that purpose. Do not get any of this shellac on the inside of the cover or the oil casing, otherwise you may work serious injury to the mechanism. Apply it to the edge of the cover only.

When the parts have been again assembled it will be necessary for you to make readjustments to the intermittent as well as to reset your shutter. I presume that you understand how to make these adjustments so I will not go into further detail.

Lockout in Harlem

MEMBERS of Locals 310 American Federation of Musicians, I, Theatrical Stage Employees, and Moving Picture Operators, are confronted by a lockout at the Dyckman theatre, 207th street and Sherman avenue. It is claimed that the lockout took place owing to the desire on the part of the manager to employ cheaper labor. This theatre being located in a rapidly growing section of New York City it hardly seems possible that the locals involved will experience any difficulty in thoroughly unionizing the above named theatre. We wish them success.
A Photographic Bibliography

(Continued from last week)

Publisher—Cambridge University Press, 1915
Price 60 cents

This is number seven in the series of Cambridge Tracts on Mathematics and Mathematical Physics, and has won an enviable place in the literature of geometrical optics. It is essentially mathematical in its treatment of the subject, but for the reader who desires concise and readily accessible formulae on the correction of lens aberrations, or a straightforward treatment of the sine-condition, the Seidel equations, resolving-power of optical instruments, etc., it would be hard to find more practical and comprehensive instructions than these by Whittaker. Some one has truly remarked that instead of being a tract it is, in fact, a treatise.

30. "Optique Geometrique," by J. Blcin
Encyclopaedia Scientifique—No 21
Publisher—Octave Doin et Fils, Paris, 1913
Price $1.00

Those who are able to negotiate French text will find in Blcin's work a clear and excellent presentation of the theory of optical instruments. In addition to possessing a good grasp of the subject, the author of this treatise has made a discriminating selection of the good points in other famous optical books, and the result is a compilation which we think surpasses even Whittaker's "Theory of Optical Instruments." The book is thoroughly modern, and in addition to a concise exposition of Seidel's theory and sums for the correction of lens aberrations, there is also a chapter on Hamilton's "Characteristic Function" and Brun's "Kikonal.

A bibliography of numerous important books and papers upon geometrical optics adds to the value of the book, but here the author, in common with other French writers upon optics, is inclined to slight the German optical workers, no mention being made, for instance, in Blcin's bibliography of Otto Lummer's writings upon optical instruments.

We can recommend "Optique Geometrique," however, as one of the best treatises we have seen, which is the more remarkable as it is only a pocket-size volume.

31. "Lens Corrections," by "Rhomb." Communicated to the Royal Photographic Society by Sir William Abney. Published in the Photographic Journal, issues of October and November, 1906; January, April, June, August and October, 1907; August, October, November and December, 1908; January, February, November and December, 1909, and September and October, 1910.

This interesting and instructive series of articles seems to have been completely overlooked by workers and contemporaneous writers upon photographic optics. The articles are devoted to the application of the Coddington and Petzval theorems and the Seidel formulæ in the correction of the various species of lens aberrations. Much that is new and good has been introduced by way of correction and amplification of the ancient Coddington equations, which are considered by "Rhomb," to be the original equations for certain lens corrections.

Under the subject of achromatism some interesting achromats are described, and the conventional "hard-crown" and "dense-flint" and the newer Jena glasses are investigated with regard to their practical utility in lens construction.

Other lens aberrations are also dealt with at length by "Rhomb." In his interesting fashion, and we can recommend the study of these articles on lens corrections for the enthusiastic student of technical optics. We cannot say with certainty who wrote these interesting articles, using the nom-de-plume of "Rhomb," but the style and treatment is similar to that of H. Dennis Taylor.

PHOTOGRAPHIC OPTICS

Strange though it may seem, this early treatise on photographic optics can hold its own with any of the modern works upon this subject, and regards to be found interesting by all who are scientifically interested in the subject, it is more thorough than some of the later works.

All photographic objectives which were on the market when Monckhoven's treatise was written are described in great detail, along with exact size illustrations of the lenses in question. The numerical data, such as curvatures, refractive indices, etc., is interesting to study, as is also the chapter on optical glass manufacture.

Monckhoven's "Optics" is hard to obtain, and a copy of this work is rarely seen in the United States, but it makes an instructive and interesting addition to any photographic library.

Under this title (Theory and History of Photographic Lenses) Herr Von Rohr, of the scientific bureau of the Zeiss firm, has compiled what is, without doubt, the master work on photographic lenses.

The book is divided into two parts—a theoretical section and a historical section, and the lens descriptions contained in the latter section were obtained by the actual measurement and testing of lenses from all parts of Europe, England and America.

In the theoretical section of this work, the functions, aberrations and corrections of the photographic objective are treated in a thoroughly scientific manner by Von Rohr, who, as one of the scientists of the Zeiss firm, is responsible for many of the technical advances in modern lens construction. The diagrammatic representations of the aberrations of lenses are the original creations of the author, and are most instructive to study.

The historical feature of Von Rohr's book is its greatest feature, for here are to be found descriptions and diagrams showing the construction and history of practically all photographic lenses which had been constructed up to the time the book was published (1899). The diagrams of the various lens systems are all drawn to the same scale (f=100 m.m.), and precise numerical and historical data concerning each objective is given. These features, combined with the exhaustive bibliography at the end of the book, make Von Rohr's treatise the court of last resort on the subject of photographic optical systems.

Leaving Von Rohr's treatise out of consideration, Lummer's work is the most important and valuable which the photographic student can turn to.

In these fascinating articles Lummer has set forth the conditions which must be satisfied in a photographic lens if it is to produce images which are stigmatic, distortionless and free from all other effects of the five aberrations as enunciated by Von Seidel.

Von Seidel's theory of the five aberrations is, in fact, the basis of Lummer's treatise, and all the considerations upon lens corrections in this work are given in terms of the Seidel equations. The credit for this book must be shared between Lummer and the late Silvanus Thompson, who, while preserving the full spirit of Lummer's original articles, has materially augmented them in preparing the translation. The additional data and explanations given by Thompson have been largely gleaned from Lummer's "Optics," in the ninth edition of Müller-Pouillet's Physics, which is a guarantee that the information is comprehensive and valuable.

The appendices prepared by Thompson for his English version of Lummer's articles are an important feature of the volume.

One is a resumen of Von Seidel's theory of the five aberrations and the application of his famous sums to their correction, while another appendix sets forth in comprehensive manner the fundamentals of Abbe’s “sine-condition” and its application in the construction of aplanatic lens systems. The third appendix gives a brief outline of the actual method pursued by opticians in computing a lens, and is of interest, notwithstanding its essentially mathematical nature.

We cannot say too much in praise of Lummcr’s “Contributions to Photographic Optics”; in fact, our determination to learn something about the actual principles of optical imagery came with our first reading of this work.

This book is more elementary than those previously described, but it is stated by the authors that the theoretical chapters have been patterned after Dr. A. Miethe’s "Photographische Optik" (Berlin, 1893). We have never seen a copy of Miethe’s work, but if Bolas and Brown’s preliminary chapters are a criterion, the German treatise must indeed be of great value. In the treatise now under consideration the subject of image formation by lenses is lucidly explained, as are also the aberrations of form to which an uncorrected (or partially corrected) lens is heir. There is a good chapter upon achromatism, patterned, seemingly, after Lummer’s work. The remaining chapters treat of the selection and practical use of lenses for photographic work, and nothing need be said about them, as we are here concerned with the purely technical aspects of photographic optics.

Although color photography, lantern projection and numerous other phases of photographic practice are treated in this book, the greater portion of the work is devoted to the subject of optics, with particular reference to photographic lenses.

Starting with the Gauss theory of image formation, the reader is led through the study of all the simple forms of lenses, their properties and aberrations and the correction of lens systems for use in photography. Of necessity the subject is treated mathematically, but in comprehensive style, and examples are given of the manner in which all calculations mentioned are to be worked out. This work, if carefully studied by photographic students will prove a stepping stone to the negotiation of more advanced treatises upon the same subject.

Something New in Film Printing

THROUGH the courtesy of Mr. Louis B. Jennings, president of the Standard Films Industries, Inc., we have had the opportunity of witnessing an exhibition of motion pictures said to be recorded in the usual sense of the word. Many inventors have taxed their wits with the proposition of applying the stereo effect to motion picture projections, so it will prove worth while to consider the practical and scientific aspects of this new process.

The inventors of this method are Andrew Harte and Frederick Taglang of the laboratory staff of Standard Films Industries, Inc. Perhaps the most interesting announcement in connection with the new process was that the positive films shown were printed from ordinary cine negatives (photographed with an ordinary cine camera and through one lens), and that the relief effect is imparted in the operation of printing the positive.

When we consider that the negative is taken with only one lens, and therefore depicts the subject photographed from only one viewpoint, it is at once apparent to the physicist, or the scientific student, that the positives made therefrom cannot equal in solidarity or plasticity of appearance a photograph or lantern slide photographed and displayed with binocular apparatus. This may seem a very inclusive statement, but the writings of such savants as Brewster, Helmholtz and Von Rohr confirm this statement.

Surprising as it may seem, however, to those experimenters who are wedded to the binocular theory, there is a sensible degree of relief in many of the cinematographic views printed by Harte and Taglang’s method. This being so, it will prove interesting to investigate the rationale of the method. According to President Jennings and the inventors, the negatives are printed through a line-screen, between which and the films (negative and positive) a lens is interposed. We have not seen the exact mechanical arrangement, but we have seen the exterior of the printing machine used, and have examined, both macroscopically and microscopically, a section of the film so printed.

To the naked eye a positive film image printed by this new

When we say that

Eastman Film

is dependably uniform, we are not making a claim but stating a fact.

Look for the stencil mark “Eastman” in the film margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Better Satisfaction

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements.

The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our cooperation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Arc Controllers
2. Inked Decs
3. Building Materials
4. Cameras
5. Camera Lenses
6. Carbons
7. Chairs
8. Chair Upholstery
9. Change Making Machines
10. Condensers
11. Converters and Transformers
12. Developing and Printing
13. Developing Materials
14. Developing Tanks
15. Disinfectants and Perfumes
16. Economizers and Rheostats
17. Electric Signs
18. Elevators and Escalators
19. Exterior Lighting
20. Film Cabinets
21. Film Carriers
22. Film Cleaners
23. Film Dye
24. Film Stock
25. Fire Extinguishers
26. Floral Decorations
27. Gas Engines
28. Heating
29. Interior Lighting
30. Interior Telephones
31. Lobby Displays
32. Metal Callboxes
33. Motors
34. Mural Paintings
35. Musical Instruments
36. Paints
37. Perforating Machines
38. Printing Machines
39. Projection Booths
40. Projection Lenses
41. Projection Machines
42. Projectors
43. Projection Machines (Home)
44. Reels
45. Rewinders
46. Safety Exit Locks
47. Screens
48. Slides
49. Stage Settings
50. Studio Lights
51. Ticket Selling Machines
52. Ticket Takers Machines
53. Uniforms
54. Ventilating and Fans
55. Vacuum Cleaners

Guestroom: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above list.

Name: ...........................................

Address: ...........................................

City: ...........................................

State: ...........................................

A. S. C.

method does not appear different from ordinary film positives, excepting that in some instances the film pictures are characterized by a somewhat plastic appearance. Examined under an ordinary hand magnifier, these films still appear like ordinary film positives, but upon examination under a magnification of 20 x, or higher, the film images are seen to be broken up by fine lines running horizontally and vertically over their entire area. Upon taking a 1x 7 inch enlargement from a section of this specially printed positive the screen pattern is readily and concretely apparent, as is also the general effect of the printing operation upon the film pictures.

It appears upon preliminary consideration to be not difficult to prepare a film positive in the manner practiced by Harte and Taglang. We believe it is done by having within the lamp housing of the positive-printer what might be termed a miniature stereopticon. This we will assume to be constituted as follows: first, a globe with focus filament and a condensing lens system; second, a slide carrier containing a piece of finely ruled photo-engraver's line-screen; third, a lens, suitably located, whereby the pattern of the line-screen (greatly reduced) is projected onto the negative at the exposing aperture of the printing machine. It will at once be apparent to those versed in photo-mechanical methods that printing through a line-screen entails an increase in exposures. This being compensated by the employment of a suitable light, we make our positive print and develop it in the usual fashion.

Suppose that we make a print by this method from a badly scratched film negative. It will be found, when the positive is projected that the scratches are not in evidence, since they have been disintegrated and largely effaced by the action of the line screen. This is a point in favor of printing positives by the method now under discussion. Considering further the action of the "printing-screen" it would seem that its action in breaking up the image-deposits, of the film pictures, into small areas (or units) would tend to reduce the sharpness of the film pictures. This does take place to a certain extent, but we can state, after a critical inspection of projected results, that the definition of the positives printed through the screen is comparable to that of a straight print from the same negative.

We must next consider the appearance of these screen-printed positives when they are projected. As was premised in an earlier paragraph an effect of absolute depth, or binocular solidity is not to be expected in these monocular (one lens) results, nor is any such effect apparent when they are thrown upon the screen, but if the negative from which the print is made possesses certain characteristics, a perceptible degree of relief will be apparent in the projected results.

The characteristics which a negative must possess, if its resulting positive is to possess a relief effect, were fully dealt with in our former article "Plastic Motion Photography" (Camera Department, August 5, 1916, pages 916-17), and are briefly as follows: extremely crisp definition; objects in all planes sharply focussed; strong foreground; contrasts between principal objects and their backgrounds. If, and only if, a negative possessing these characteristics is printed by Harte and Taglang's method, a pleasing relief effect is apparent when the resultant positive is projected, but in the case of negatives which have not been photographed in conformity with the requirements outlined, we were not able to notice that their depth of field was accentuated by the new printing method.

If a spectator was told, before seeing these films projected, that they were printed through a screen, he would not have experienced an exhibition, to see lines or dots in the projected results, but as a matter of fact, the screen pattern is invisible in most instances, even when the projection is studied at close range. It is not difficult to account for this if we have recourse to some fundamentals of physiological optics. When we consider that motion pictures are projected by the aid of a brilliant light source, it is not difficult to appreciate that the lines on the positive (caused by printing through a line-screen) are merged in the eye by the optical effect called irradiation.

Since witnessing Mr. Jennings' demonstration we have been advised that a negative for use in this process has been photographed through a screen attached to the cinematograph camera. We have not seen these negatives as yet, but judging from our experimental work along the same line, we are of the opinion that if a screen of fine enough texture to be invisible upon projection was used on the camera, the screen pattern would not be resolved by the rapid emulsion of cine negative film.
MUSIC AND THE PICTURE

A Music Roll with Every Picture
Music Editor, Motion Picture News, New York City:

DEAR SIR,—Received your very kind letter while I was playing at the Tivoli theatre, San Francisco, and have not made any answer owing to the fact that I was contemplating making a change and coming South. I have been at Millers theatre now for the past three months and will remain until the 15th of April, at which time I will locate with a new company, namely "The Filmusic Company," Hollywood, Cal.

The Filmusic Company's idea is to give to the managers some means whereby they may obtain appropriate and correctly selected music for their features, also making it an almost absolute impossibility for an operator to play music which does not fit each and every scene of the film.

To accomplish this it is necessary to view the features before their release and make a careful and complete selection of proper music for every scene, sometimes going to the studios and carefully watching the making of certain scenes, getting thereby a better idea of the directors' meaning. Then after the careful selection of the entire musical program, cut the same on one roll (or perhaps two, owing to the length of the feature), and timing each change of music so that the operator can almost set his or her time to the running of the film, shown by the picture operator, and by adding the necessary expression, need not watch the picture at all, thereby giving all his or her time to expression and combination of stops, and still have the music fit each and every scene perfectly. Our rolls will be timed to the average time of 10½ minutes to the thousand feet. There will also be furnished at a nominal expense, to all houses using our rolls, a patent device which attached to the picture machine, and wired to a small flasher at the organ which will indicate exactly how quick the music should be played. Our rolls will also be perfectly synchronized to the action of the film.

We are not particularly trying to reach the man who is employing a real first-class musician, but the smaller man who really wants and must have good music, but the location and size of the house does not afford a high priced musician. We do not mean to say that the real musician will not find these rolls a great help and benefit to him, because we will have an unlimited stock of real picture music and what we cannot find we will have composed specially for us by some of the finest musicians, which the Filmusic Company have working for them. In this way the real musician will find themes and melodies in our rolls that cannot be purchased by anyone and will not be played all over town by pianists and orchestras. An added feature to our rolls will be that in almost every theatre the musician does not have the opportunity of reviewing the feature before his first show, and by using the Filmusic rolls this difficulty will be entirely done away with.

I feel sure that this will be the means whereby we can do away with the awful music we hear in some of our houses. To create the proper atmosphere. The fine Love Melodies used by Mr. Lloyd, director of William Farnum, So the Filmusic Company, with whom I will be connected after April 15, have realized the importance of...
THE EASIEST WAY

Theme: “A Spring Song” (6/8 Andante Moderato) (Venetia) by Theo. M. Toboni

1—“Springtime” Overture by Ziegler until—T: “Somewhere in the Park.”
2—“Sunshine and Shadows” by Sudds (4/4 Allegro non Troppo) until—S: “Raining.”
3—Dramatic Tension No. 1* by Reissiger until T: “The Palace Hotel.”
4—“Nocturne in F” by Krzyszankski (3/4 Andante) until S: “Laura jumping out of bed.”
5—“Dramatic Tension No. 2*” by Reissiger until T: “Willard Brockton, hotel clerk.”
6—“Allegro” by W. F. Kretschmer (4/4 Andante) until S: “She wants to see her mother.”
7—“A La Ballerina” by L. Gregh (4/4 Moderato Moto Expressivo) until T: “Tom Burgess, New York。”
8—“First Waltz” by Aug. Durand until T: “Willard Brockton, hotel clerk.”
9—“Albummel” by W. F. Kretschmer (4/4 Andante) until S: “She wants to see her mother.”
10—Continue “pp” until S: “Rehearsal behind the stage.”
11—“Dance Panstique” by J. Reynard (Moderato) until T: “A pretty hand like this.”
12—“Theme” until T: “The dress rehearsal.”
13—Le Toilette from “Carmen” by Bizet until S: “After rehearsal.”
14—“Theme” until T: “Brockton knows the game.”
15—Continue to action pp or ff until T: “Brockton enters at his home.”
16—“Mon Plaisir;” by Le S. Roberts (Value Moderato) until T: “If you will come to New York.”
18—“Theme” until T: “Denver, six months later.”
19—“Piano Solo,” Improves to action pp or ff until S: “Laura talking.”
20—“Southern Reverie” by Bendix (4/4 Andante con Moto) to action pp or ff until S: “To her.”
21—Continue to action until S: “Office of the Denver Blade.”
22—“The Dying Rall.” by M. Gesualdo and S. (8 Andante) ff with ad lib. “Tympany Rolls during dispute until—T: “In time these two.”
23—Continue to action until T: “Laura spends her vacation.”
24—“Piano Solo,” Improves to action pp or ff until T: “The day after.”
25—“Legend of a Rose” by J. Reynard (2/4 Allegretto) until T: “Waiting for someone.”
26—“Theme” until S: “Exterior scene—John and Brockton.”
27—“Dramatic Andante” by Archer until T: “In New York.”
28—“At Sunset” by R. B. Brewer (4/4 Moderato Grazioso) until T: “It’s determined.”
29—“A Tale of Two Hearts” by Chas. J. Roberts (4/4 Andante) until S: “John and Dear.”
30—“Ein Morgen Frühling” by B. and S. (4/4 Moderato Molossus) until S: “Girl calls Brockton.”
31—“The Beach” until T: “Exterior scene—hills in view.”
32—“On Wings of Song” by Mendelssohn (6/8 Andante Tranquil) until—S: “Laura near grape.”
33—Continue or repeat to action until—S: “Telegraph.”
34—“Serenade” by C. M. wisdom (4/4 Moderato) until T: “You love him, marry him.”
35—“My Dream” by D. Lee (6/8 Andante Moderato) until S: “Madison street.”
36—“Continue or repeat ff” until—S: “Madison sees his friends.”
37—“A Melody Bright and Gay” by C. (4/4 Andante) until—T: “My friends saw something, Madison.”
38—“Theme” until T: “Young man playing.”
39—Continue “ff” until T: “Annie Anniett doll me up.”
40—“The Good Trot” until—S: “Aunt takes on road.”
41—“Chamber” until—S: “Aunt takes on road.”
42—“Intermezzo by Arensky” (2/4 Presto) until—T: “Laura on bench in park.”
43—“Dramatic Tension” by Winkler (watch telephone bell) until T: “Laura in hospital.”
44—“Theme” until  END.

ETERNAL LOVE

(A Butterfly Production)

Theme: “Dancing Scene” (6/8 Andante con Moto) by Archer until T: “At the ballroom.”

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION

(Reviewed on page 285)

Theme: “Nature’s Adoration” (4/4 Andante) by E. Brooks

The Palace of the Denver Blade. The same scene ends, with the ad. in progress, and the house lighting up as on the eve of leaving.”

“The Law of Compensation”

Sir: In reply to your recent inquiry concerning the Style 50 Photoplayer with which I recently installed in my Empress theatre, Kearney, Nebraska, over the recent installation ... that I am simply delighted with the instrument and know it is the best investment that I ever made.

My patrons all have the greatest praise for this instrument, and say they much prefer the Photoplayer than an orchestra of real musicians for the reason that you are able to play to the pictures.

In order, for instance, with the way the public prefer coming to my theatre in preference to the other show houses of the town, in order to hear this musical sensation of the age. If you wish of any exhibitions around this section of the country, you know that you can send me a notice to the effect, and I will be there to demonstrate this instrument.

I was very pleased to hear that you intend to have a Photoplayer in his program advertising, but in the newspapers as well. His letter reads as follows:

Sir: In reply to your recent inquiry concerning the Style 50 Photoplayer which I recently installed in my Empress theatre, Kearney, Nebraska, over the recent installation ... that I am simply delighted with the instrument and know it is the best investment that I ever made.

My patrons all have the greatest praise for this instrument, and say they much prefer the Photoplayer than an orchestra of real musicians for the reason that you are able to play to the pictures.
17—"Dramatic Tension" by Winkler until—T: "Girl on coach."
18—"Dawn of Hope Lento" by Castiglia until—T: "Girl looking at card."
19—Continue pp until—T: "Paris must always have."
20—"A La Bien Aimee" Valse Lente by Schuett until—T: "Girl looking at card."
21—"Heart Wounds" 4/4 Allegretto Expressivo by Grieg until—T: "Paris was mourning."
22—Organ improvise to action until * * * * END.

"SMALL TOWN GIRL" (Fox Production)

Love Theme: "Sweet Jasmine" (Allegretto) by Bendix
1—"New York Theme" until—T: "June's mother has little time."
2—"Hansel" (Melody) by Moretti until—T: "The most exciting event."
3—"Good-bye. Good Luck—God Bless You," Song until—T: "When I make good in the city."
4—"Love Theme" (Watch for railroad effects) until—T: "Paris must always have."
5—"Iris" (Moderato Grazioso) by Reynard until—S: "Interior of grocery store."
6—"Lunita" (Intermezzo) by Loraune until—T: "The first deceitful step."
7—"Affection" (Andante) by Paradis until—T: "Her idea of being a waitress."
8—"Capricious Ninette" (Andante) by Orth until—S: "Flash back to scene—June in her room.
9—"Album Leaf" (Andante) by Kretschner until—T: "You've spoiled the most wonderful, etc.
10—"New York Theme" until—S: "June in dressing room, 11—"Macummer" (Valse Lente) by Corri until—T: "The first deceitful step.
12—"Menuet No. 2 in G" by Beethoven until—S: "June jumping up from bed."
13—"Petit Mineur" (3/4 Allegro Giocoso) by Beethoven until—S: "June cleaning windows.
14—"Poor Butterfly" (Popular) until—S: "June and puppy on bench.
15—"Farewell" (3/4 Moderato) Intermezzo by Ascher until—S: "June cleaning windows.
16—"I'm so glad you came." Song until—S: "June in kitchen.
17—"Heart Wounds" (4/4 Allegretto Expressivo) by Beethoven until—S: "June cleaning windows.
18—"Romance" (6/8 Allegretto) by Rubens until—T: "While Frank starts towards fame."
19—"Return to Me Soon" (Allegro) by Beethoven until—T: "Paying an honest debt."
20—Continue and until—T: "Do I get my reward?"
Competition Between Lobbies, Rather Than Pictures

DON'T neglect your lobby. Remember, you are managing a place of entertainment—you are not a gatekeeper in a cemetery. An air of unmitigated gloom pervades some lobbies, and people might wonder if the management intends to have the death march from "Saul" as a fitting accompaniment. When you have made the outside of your theatre attractive by the use of wall panels and easels with effective paintings and posters, do not think you have done enough to draw patronage. The people are still on the sidewalk and haven't stepped up to the box office to buy tickets. Many a prospective patron, attracted by such exterior displays, has hesitated right at the booth window, because on glancing down the lobby he has been repelled by the sight of an ugly ceiling and bare, unornamented walls. The unprepossessing surroundings unconsciously induce a dismal state of mind. He decides he will not go to the show that time, without realizing what has influenced him. Then, too, if he does enter, he takes his seat with a gloomy, critical feeling. Under such circumstances the best bill the house can offer will fail to please.

A dingy lobby will curdle the cream of the funniest comedy flung on the screen and "sourball" the performance for the amusement seeker. Don't handicap your show when the remedy is simple. Make the lobby, inside as well as outside, a cheerful place, and the spectators will enter in a receptive mood. For the creation of the right impression, and making the theatre distinctive, you must pay as much attention to the lobby as you do to the decorative effects of the auditorium. A double lobby will carry through the effect of a double entrance, and will set apart a theatre from others. The lobby must be large enough to house a number of chair displays, and should be a gallery for the daily poster parade.

In the early days of the picture business a plain wall case was deemed sufficient for an announcement of the day's attractions. But for some time now manufacturers of lobby frames and progressive exhibitors have realized that utility plus beauty makes the theatre entrance a first-aid to increased box-office receipts. While frames and wall cases are made to order, to conform with special decorative schemes adopted by exhibitors running pretentious houses, there are now on the market many stock designs, Gothic, Adam and Art Nouveau, carried by manufacturers, to harmonize with simple conventional lobby decorations.

There have been instances of exhibitors, gifted with an artistic sense, who have made their lobbies attractive by the right use of easels and frames, although the lobby walls were almost bare of paint, moulding or adornment of any kind. On the other hand, richly decorated lobbies have been converted into veritable museum galleries by the skilful hanging of frames and the deft arrangement of easels mounting portraits of stars in oils.

Some of these poster frames and wall cases deserve detailed description. One case, manufactured by Menger and Ring, measures fifty-five by sixty-six inches and is large enough to hold six photographs eleven by fourteen inches. The photos show up prominently against a heavy velvet background. The whole case is designed in massive Gothic, made of well-seasoned oak. Corinthian caps top half rounded fluted columns, which are supported by turned bases. Unbreakable lignine carvings, flecked with rich antique gold and dark morocco finish at the top, make the case very ornate. Highly carved festoons under the entablature and a woman's head in relief at the top of each pillar contribute largely to its artistic finish. Such a wall case arrests the attention of patrons the moment they enter the doorway and lends distinction to the lobby.

It creates a subtle psychological effect on the mind of every beholder. Its substantial appearance, too, conveys an impression of solid worth to the enterprise it adorns, and the management rises instantly in the opinion of the public. Such a display indicates a progressive spirit—the manager has shown that he has not overlooked anything that will contribute to the enjoyment of his patrons; it is a deliberate tribute to their real or assumed appreciation of beautiful objects. They feel flattered without stopping to realize the exact cause. And besides, people who are ordinarily indifferent to a formal consideration of art matters are invariably susceptible to artistic surroundings. Thinking exhibitors know this and bear this trait of human nature in mind as a box-office asset when they spare no pains to make every part of the theatre beautiful. And exhibitors known as leaders among their colleagues consider lobby display and lobby decoration as important as the decoration of their auditoriums.

If you have been lagging in this respect, make a resolution to join the progressive throng of theatre managers. Don't let another day pass without saying to yourself: "Am I getting all out of my lobby that I should? Have I decorated it properly; have I used enough and the right kind of wall frames, or is it an eyesore to sensitive patrons?"

Your lobby should and can be made one of the biggest advertising factors of your business. You can make it a show place of the town, so that residents will point it out to visitors as an important point of interest, equal in attention to any notable building or local historical landmark. Travelers can be made to say to their friends, "If you ever go to — don't fail to take in the Blank theatre, just to see what a man who knows how can do in the way of artistic lobby decoration."

And, of course, it is almost superfluous to remind you that curiosity stimulated to such a high pitch ends in the purchase of a ticket and the desire to see if the things inside justify the trouble taken with everything outside. As you book only the best pictures (who doesn’t?), the "fan" goes away after the performance with the feeling that he has never been so completely amused in his life. But you might not have had him as a patron if, in the first instance, the lobby had not been the means of attracting him. He could have seen the same pictures showing at your house somewhere else.

Samples of Theatre Lobby Decorations. Left to Right: Regent Theatre, New York City; Poli's Bijou, at New Haven, Conn.; Another Lobby Made Attractive by Judicious Use of Frames.

In a way this resolves itself into one thing—a bid for patronage has become a competition, not between the merits of film offerings as much as between lobbies. The pictures are going to be shown to the public somewhere, anyway. You might have a first run house and feel that people will rush to your theatre regardless of any attempt to make it decoratively attractive. This is a mistaken idea. There is a large percentage of people who would rather wait and see the pictures later, when they are shown at a theatre noted for its handsome appearance inside and outside, and the home-like atmosphere created by the intelligent and considerate use of every device calculated to contribute to the pleasure and comfort of the audience.

Two theatres supreme in their lobby attractiveness are Poli’s Bijou in New Haven, Conn., and the Regent, New York City. The lobby of Poli’s is particularly striking on account of a wide marble stairway, with heavy balustrade and massive wainscoting of marble. A well-executed fresco of floral design, sweeping the length of the ceiling, and heavily molded panels in stucco on the walls are other impressive decorative features of the lobby. Specially designed display frames, one located close to the staircase and extending from the newel post to the box office, and the other set in a corner to hide a radiator, give the finishing touches to this unusually beautiful lobby.

In the interior lobby of the Regent the display boards have been set into wide openings of heavy architectural facings of composite marble, ornate in design, and surmounting the entablature is a series of bas-relief figures in half-circles of fluted moldings. Above these are coat-arms in tinted plaster.

The La Salle, of South Bend

The Surprise Theatre Company, a corporation incorporated under the laws of the state of Indiana, owns and operates the LaSalle theatre of South Bend, Indiana.

The theatre was completed during 1914, and is one of the most modern and best equipped theatres in this section of the country.

The plans and specifications for the theatre were drawn up by Messrs. Freymouth & Mauer, architects, with offices in South Bend.

The theatre measures 44 feet in width by 95 feet in depth, the interior measuring 30 feet in height.

The building is constructed of concrete, brick and steel; the front is faced with white terra cotta, and although kept within

Theater

Erbograph's "Winged Mercury"

There's a Big Crowd Followin' Me

Celt Ioodles.

NEWMAN" BRASS FRAMES AND RAILS DO YOU KNOW?

That 50% of all the above frames used in the moving picture houses throughout the country are "NEWMAN" WHY?

Because we manufacture and sell only the best; because the quality of our goods, even though others imitate, is imitated by no one. We urge you to use the goods that have given us the greatest number of orders. They are the goods that are selling and will sell the most.

THE NEWMAN MFG. COMPANY

717-19 Nycomece Street, Cincinnati, O. Established 1882

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS
STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT
DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING
BROADWAY & 42nd ST., NEW YORK

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

412th Floor, CANDLER BUILDING.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.

Lee Lash Studios

MOTION PICTURE STAGE SETTINGS

MOTION PICTURE SCREENS

STAGE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

DRAPERIES — ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

BROADWAY OFFICES, LONGACRE BUILDING

BROADWAY & 42nd St., New York

4 PAGE GRAVURE PROGRAM

that will individualize your theatre, also $1.75 per inch. Front page contains a beautiful head of a leading player (inset pose) which covers entire front, leaving a small space for the name of the theatre. Your patrons will certainly carry this picture home. You won’t sweep any of these programs from your floor. It’s big names now ready. Your local merchants would gladly buy space on back cover, thereby maintaining a House Organ for your theatre without any cost to you. Write for samples. Please state weekly requirements. A flat low price irrespective of quantity if used weekly.

KRAUS MFG. CO., 220 W. 42nd Street, N. Y.
OPERA CHAIRS
Steel—Cast Iron
Exceptional in Quality—Comfortable
You are invited to make use of our Service Department. Send blue print or sketch for Free Seating Plan.
If you are desirous of reseating, we can help you dispose of old chairs.
Write for Catalog N.
We manufacture Special Out-of-
Door Seating.

STEEL FURNITURE CO.
1475 Buchanan Ave., S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

the limits of plainness gives it a neat appearance, making it stand cut from the rest of its surroundings.
The lobby measures 32 feet in width by 12 feet in depth, and is reached from the street by metal doors which are finished in mahogany and set with plate glass panels.
The interior of the theatre is also attractively decorated, and while plain at the same time is pleasing and homelike. The woodwork in the interior is mahogany. The walls are finished in rough plaster, which has been tinted a dainty color. The ceiling and facade of balcony have been finished in gold.
The seating capacity is 735, leather upholstered opera chairs having been furnished by Heywood Brothers and Wakefield, and are everything that is desired for the comfort of the patrons.
There are 491 orchestra seats and 244 balcony seats.
The theatre is cooled and ventilated by two 36-inch exhaust fans used in conjunction with an abundance of overhead and side-wall fans.
The heating is done by means of steam supplied by the Municipal heating plant.
Semi-indirect lighting is used throughout the theatre. In the interior the ceiling fixtures are of the opalescent bowl type suspended by chains. There are several two-light side-wall fixtures of the direct lighting type. The theatre is illuminated at all times enough to enable one to read a newspaper without the least strain upon the eyes.
The projection room, located at the rear of the balcony, contains two Power’s 6A projectors used in conjunction with a Fort Wayne Compensator. The length of throw is 71 feet onto a Mirror screen.
A piano and a W. W. Kimball pipe organ furnish the music for the picture and the organist renders a classic bit of music as an overture at the beginning of each performance. Organ pipes have been placed on either side of the screen.

First Modern Theatre in Medford, Oregon, Soon to Open
MEDFORD, Oregon, is rejoicing over the fact that a new and attractively modern motion picture theatre will soon be opened and dedicated to the lovers of the Thespian art in the center of its most picturesque business district. Thrice welcome is the new picture house because on the entire Pacific Coast Medford is probably the only substantial little city of ten thousand people not supplied with a modern amusement temple.
H. L. Percy and A. J. Moran, two ambitious young men, are building the theatre on plans of the most modern type. F. C.
Clark, who designed the structure, is one of the best known of his profession on the Pacific Coast. In the interior outline of the new playhouse Mr. Clark has excelled any creation he has hitherto presented.
Percy and Moran will install a $10,000 photoplayer, two of the best type “S” Simplex machines, a Hertner transverter and arc controllers. A beautiful system of upholstered seating is furnished by the Heywood Bros. and Wakefield Company. The interior finish and technical design possess a modern charm in every detail.
Both Mr. Moran and Mr. Percy are members of the I. A. T.
S. E., Locals 213 and 297 respectively.
Service in the new theatre will consist of Mutual, Artcraft, Goldwyn and the new Ince productions; also Selznick and Bluebird.
A popular feature of the new playhouse is the Typhoon system of ventilation. The theatre is patterned on the unusually favored “L” system, the lobby and foyer being 25 x 100 feet. The auditorium will be 55 x 100 feet, with a seating capacity of 875 on center floor and with wicker loges seating 125, the house having in all a seating capacity of 1,000.
This theatre will be opened July 1.

THE BARTOLA
The Bartola gives BETTER MUSIC at LESS EXPENSE with MORE PROFIT
CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 707-712 Malleria Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Factory Oshkosh, Wis.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
W. T. Newbold has given Edmund a new motion picture theatre. The building is at the corner of 5th and Main streets. The theatre has been built by Edward J. Vickers, and is the largest in the city.

Dorchester is to have a new theatre—one of the biggest and finest in New England. It will be built in Codman Square and will be known as the Codman Theatre. The architect will be T. H. Bowne, a local real estate dealer.

F. Swirsky of Detroit is preparing plans for a building to be erected at 14th and Main streets. The building will be built by the Palace Clothing House and will contain a 2,000-seat theatre, stores and apartments. The owners are Louis Smilansky, an attorney, and Sam Levey of the Cadillac Theatre.

The DeLuxe Theatre Company, of which C. M. Orth is president and general manager, is determined to go ahead with its theatre on Commercial Avenue, and the building will be completed as soon as possible.

The New Majestic Picture Theatre will be under the management of H. E. Mansfield, which is sufficient warrant for the high character of the building.

The Strand in New York, home of the Strand in New York, has been considered for the new theatre, but it has been decided that the Strand should be in New York, Carolina, and not in New York.

The power plant will be in a building at the rear of the theatre, and will be supplied with power by the South Side Power Company. The power plant will be supplied with water by the South Side Water Company.

The power plant will be supplied with water by the South Side Water Company.

The power plant will be supplied with water by the South Side Water Company.
A TRADE ANNUAL

The Convention number of Motion Picture News, contemporary with the Seventh Annual Convention of the M. P. E. L. of America, Chicago, July 14th-22d, will comprise a Trade Annual.

This Trade Annual will include data and other editorial matter bearing upon all branches and departments of the industry.

The latter will have a permanent reference value, making this issue of Motion Picture News a desk fixture with all its readers. This editorial matter, which has been in preparation for some months, will be the most complete and authoritative thus far issued in the field.

This Convention and Trade Annual issue will be dated July 28th. Advertising forms close July 14th.

Reservations should now be made for color advertisements, inserts and special positions.

Address: ADVERTISING DEPT.,
Motion Picture News,
729 7th Ave., New York City.
HAVING achieved unparalleled success in the various other carbon products, we were compelled by the enormous demand of exhibitors and operators to also enter into the manufacture of "Speer Projector Carbons."

OUR factory was first devoted to the manufacture of high class cored and solid carbons, the styles with which operators are most familiar. The latest developments also produced the famous "Hold-Ark" negative carbons, which are making tremendous strides in revolutionizing the entire motion picture industry.

IN order to produce the best photoplays, high amperages are necessary. The metal coating of the "Hold-Arks" provides the additional carrying capacity and still permits the use of a small carbon in the lower holder.

"HOLD-ARKS" are also manufactured in several different sizes for all operating conditions on direct current.

ABSOLUTE steadiness of arc, the paramount requirement of critical operators is the essential feature of these carbons. The hard core turns the trick.

EXHIBITORS and operators who desire perfect projection should trim with a Speer cored upper and a "Hold-Ark" lower. A mere trial of this combination will afford proof of this statement.

ABEautiful theatre and elaborate equipment, with inferior carbons in your lamp house is like a ship without a rudder. The start may be ideal, but trouble will soon follow.

WHY have a light with ghosts and flickering shadows when they can easily be eliminated. Speer Carbons are today recommended by projection experts and indorsed by skilled operators and critical exhibitors as a remedy for these ills.

THESE carbons, stamped with the well known slogan, "Made in U. S. A." have taken their place in the foremost ranks of the carbon manufacturers of the world. That they will remain there is evident, as quality alone is the first consideration.

OPERATORS who find their projection inferior to the high standards they desire, should familiarize themselves with Speer Carbons. Results that others have obtained can easily be told, yet first hand facts are invariably the most convincing.

WRITE today for prices and request that samples be sent.

The Carbons With a Guarantee

SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS PENN'A.
Don't Lose Your Peace of Mind—and Lose With It a Piece of Money—By Gambling With Your Negatives

It's silly, and an evidence of faulty business judgment, to sacrifice quality in an attempt to "save" a fraction of a cent per foot—cheap developing and printing means extravagance, not economy.

It's so easy to be mislead by untruthful advertising and exaggerated claims. Beware of promises that are not guaranteed, and statements made without proof.

Our institution has recognized ability and reliability—we have been a factor in the motion picture industry since 1910; we take good care of our established reputation for superior quality, satisfying service and fair dealing.

Be safe and sensible and place your business where you will enjoy security and receive the treatment and results you desire and require.
BLUEBIRD PHOTOPAYS INC PRESENT
ELLA HALL IN "THE LITTLE ORPHAN"
A DRAMATIC HEART INTEREST STORY OF A LITTLE BELGIAN MAID - BY H.O. DAVIS - DIRECTED BY JACK CONWAY BOOK THRU YOUR LOCAL BLUEBIRD EXCHANGE OR BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAY CO., 1660 BROADWAY - NEW YORK CITY, NY.
is a comedy that will make even "dyed-in-the-wool" film fans and reviewers laugh. The moral of the story is: When you buy or rent a house, look at the house not the plan. But "Vie" didn't.

With all Paramount conservatism and care in mind, we state that this comedy is probably the best single reel comedy yet released.

Have this picture screened for you at the nearest Paramount exchange. If you want to see how they run—ask to see "Flivering" also.

Released May 21st

If your audience is very high class don't be simple! It has no rough stuff or slap stick, but good situations and a funny story.

Book them now
MARGUERITE CLARK

A star that has stood them twenty deep and with the selected stories to come will "top them all"

Her Triumphs in the Past

Her triumphs in the past have been recorded not only by exhibitors who have played many or all of the pictures, but by such authorities as the leading woman's magazine of the country. Helen Duey in the Woman's Home Companion says—

"In the two years she has been in films Marguerite Clark has appeared in 14 pictures, all of which have been recommended by the Woman's Home Companion—a distinction accorded no other screen star."

There are some exhibitors who have not been able to play these wonderful Paramount Pictures with Marguerite Clark, but now all restrictions are off and everyone can "cash in." It would be best to introduce the great coming Paramount Pictures with Marguerite Clark to your patrons, with some of the wonderful pictures advertised here—the pictures which made Miss Clark's marvelous "drawing power."

Assure Big Future

"Drawing Power"

If you look over the titles of the photoplays that are responsible for Marguerite Clark's great reputation, you will readily understand that her past accomplishments are only stepping stones to future triumphs. Her next picture, "The Amazons," adapted from the famous play of that name, is just a sample of the big things to come.
Marguerite Clark's pictures will be sold on the "open market," so every exhibitor in the United States can get them. Hundreds of theatres that couldn't get these pictures under the old program plan can now get them and there are new prints in every exchange to take care of the great demand.

You can put the marvelous charm, personality, beauty and heart appeal of Miss Clark to work for your theatre. Her reputation and chain of successes tell their own story. She stands within the charmed circle containing the two or three "sure fire," "rain or shine" "drawing cards."

Why Not a Repertoire Week?

Why not a repertoire week with Miss Clark—advertised big as such—and then another in about a month? This is a tested and proved idea and it can be worked every couple of months as long as the attractions can be secured.

Paramount is thinking of the exhibitor all along the line—trying to help him make money—but remember—

Any exhibitor can have the Paramount Pictures he chooses, when he chooses—if he chooses long enough in advance.

The time to choose is now.
ARTCRAFT
Presents:
MARY PICKFORD
In a Photoplay Production by
CECIL B. DeMILLE
"A Romance of the Redwoods"
By Cecil B. DeMille and
Jeanie MacPherson

ARTCRAFT PICTURES CORPORATION
729 SEVENTH AVE.
NEW YORK CITY

Controlled by FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

Aeroplanes, Dir., Jesse L. Lasky. Prod., Cecil B. DeMille, Director General.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
he hits the bull's eye
of American Screen Popularity

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
in his latest sure-fire hit—
"WILD AND WOOLLY"
by Anita Loos    Directed by John Emerson
RESERVE BOOKINGS NOW

THE MORE YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
ETHEL CLAYTON
And MONTAGU LOVE
in
"YANKEE PLUCK"

"Book it quick—it is right up to-the-second in timeliness, the story is laid in Washington, it deals with national affairs, and it is a WONDERFUL picture.
BILL IT STRONG."

WILLIAM A. BRADY

"The Realization
of
My Life's Dream"

WILLIAM A. BRADY

Current Release:
Regina Badet in "ATONEMENT"
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

"WITHIN THE LAW"

SELWYN & COMPANY
1451 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

May 9, 1917.

The Vitagraph Company,
1600 Broadway,
New York.

Gentlemen:

Congratulations on "Within the Law!" It was a great play and is a still greater film.

You have had an opportunity of looking over our books to see the phenomenal receipts which this piece played to all over the world, and we confidently predict that in film form it will even surpass its previous record.

With heartiest appreciation of the masterful way in which you have handled this property, we beg to remain

Sincerely yours,

[Signature]

GREATER VITAGRAPH

Bookings Are Breaking Every Record in the Industry!

Even

SELWYN & CO.,
Producers of
"Within the Law"
on the stage,

Say

"THE FILM IS GREATER THAN THE PLAY"

A Special Blue Ribbon Feature with ALICE JOYCE,
HARRY MOREY and an
All Star Vitagraph Cast
Directed by William P.S. Earle

Better to read fifty advertisements than to miss the one YOU need.
Some Recent Blue Ribbon Features that have played to capacity houses at THE RIALTO
New York's Photoplay Theatre De Luxe

GREATER VITAGRAPH
A Five Part Blue Ribbon Feature

Earle Williams in "The Soul Master"
By James Oliver Curwood
Directed by Marguerite Bertsch

"They call me 'the man without a soul' do they?
And they don't know why my soul is dead within me!"
Study these ever-growing circles of popularity—

Each month's business greater than the last—April with an increase of 87% over January—and the picture has been on the market for almost a year!

Thomas Dixon's Mighty War Drama
"The Fall of a Nation"
In Seven Tremendous Parts
With Special Musical Score by Victor Herbert

Proved by Exhibitors' Bookings
The Box Office Triumph of the Day

GREATER VITAGRAPH

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
Goldwyn’s First Warning To American Exhibitors

YOU are unfair to yourself as an exhibitor if you sign a contract now that ties up your theatre to a program or any other features until you have first seen Goldwyn Pictures.

You are robbing yourself of the opportunity to book better pictures than you are now playing.

You are depriving your theatre of stars that the great American public will demand to see.

You are forfeiting the chance to obtain productions that will make you a larger profit than the pictures to which you have bound yourself under contract.

When you have done these things you are virtually helpless — and some other exhibitor will reap the advantage that your theatre could have had over all of its competition.

Advisory Board:
SAMUEL GOLDFISH
Chairman
EDGAR SELWYN
IRVIN S. COBB
ARTHUR HOPKINS
MARGARET MAYO
ROI COOPER MEGRELL
ARCHIBALD SELWYN
CROSBY GAIGE
PORTER EMERSON BROWNE

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
Why You Should Wait For Goldwyn Pictures

All of the energy and brains of more than a hundred successful men and women have been applied for months to the creation of Goldwyn Pictures.

More than one million dollars is being invested in completed productions to be shown to you before you are asked to book them.

Exhibitors who have seen only our partially assembled pictures pronounce them to be unlike any screen productions they have ever seen—both as to quality and character.

In Goldwyn Pictures you have the exclusive services of five tremendously popular stars—Mae Marsh, Mary Garden, Maxine Elliott, Jane Cowl, Madge Kennedy, and others to be announced.

What exhibitor can afford—in a financial sense—to book any other pictures until he has first seen the Goldwyn productions?

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation

16 East 42d Street, New York City
Telephone: Vanderbilt 11
SELZNICK PICTURES

SMASHING ALL RECORDS

CLAARA KIMBALL, YOUNG

THE EASIEST WAY

by Eugene Walter

Directed by ALBERT CAPPELLANI

ASK THE MAN WHO'S PLAYED IT

A STAR ON THE ASCENDANT, CLIMBING STEADILY TOWARD THE ZENITH OF POPULARITY

IS

NORMA TALMADGE

HER MILLIONS OF ADMIRERS WILL BE DOUBLED WHEN THEY SEE HER IN

Joseph M Schenck's
Presentation

POPPO

A DELIGHTFUL ADAPTATION OF CYNTHIA STOCKLEY'S FAMOUS NOVEL

Directed by EDWARD JOSE

Bramatized by

BEN TEAL and JOHN P RITTER

THE BARRIER

by REX BEACH

WIRE THE NEAREST SELZNICK EXCHANGE

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
THERE IS EVERYTHING THAT MAKES A GREAT AND PROFITABLE PICTURE IN—

HERBERT BRENON'S FORTHCOMING PRODUCTION "THE LONE WOLF"
by Louis Joseph Vance
With HAZEL DAWN and BERT LYTELL

WONDERFUL STORY—SUPERB CAST—MASTERFUL DIRECTION

Harry Rapf
Presents
ROBERT WARWICK in "THE SILENT MASTER"
by E Phillips Oppenheim
A MYSTERY STORY OF THE PARISIAN UNDERWORLD

Directed by The Famous French Director... LEONCE PERRET

THE BARRIER by REX BEACH

A magazine’s success is measured by its advertising. Look at the "News!"
FOR STATE RIGHTS
AND ALL EXHIBIT
CENTURY CO
"BALLOONATICS" "AUTOMANIACS" "NEPTUNE"
WILL BE SOLD ON ST.
ON A BRAND NEW WRITE OR WIRE FOR FULL PARTICULARS

DIRECTED BY J.G.BLY
MAY 5, 1917

Motion Picture News

BUYERS ORS
MEDI:
ES NAUGHTY DAUGHTER
RTE RIGHTS
PLANS

STONE

Alice Howell

CENTURY COMEDIES

1600 BROADWAY - NEW YORK.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
MACK SENNEDT PRESENTS

MISS MABEL NORMAND AND HER OWN COMPANY IN "MICKEY"

THE LITTLE GIRL YOU WILL NEVER FORGET

METHOD AND DATE OF RELEASE LATER
MABEL NORMAND FEATURE FILM CO.

LONGACRE BLDG., NEW YORK CITY

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
GAIL KANE'S SECOND MUTUAL PICTURE IS
"THE SERPENT'S TOOTH"

Gail Kane’s second Mutual Picture is completed, “The Serpent’s Tooth” is its title. It is five reels in length and was staged at the American studios in Santa Barbara, California. The star is surrounded by a supporting cast that has seldom been equaled.

Directed by Rollin Sturgeon.

Director Rollin Sturgeon superintended the production of “The Serpent’s Tooth.” Every exhibitor is familiar with Sturgeon’s attention to detail and aware that his productions are always marked by stage settings and photographically above criticism. In this case, “The Serpent’s Tooth” is an excellent photoplay. Miss Kane is afforded some unusual opportunities for emotional acting in a powerful story of American life. It begins when the wife of Faith Channing, a wealthy young neighbor, instead of Jack Stilling, the good looking country physician who has been paying her attention, stills realizes he can scarcely support Faith in the position to which she is entitled in the world and gracefully accepts his dishonored proposal. Some months later, Faith, now the wife of Winthrop, discovers that her husband is being spoiled by his wealth and is no longer satisfied with the simple life they have been leading. As time passes he drifts farther and farther away from her, and Gossip, inside or outside, begins to whisper bits of scandal about Winthrop and a certain Mrs. Filliard. Faith struggles vainly to maintain appearances, and at last stansles her old associates by slipping out of her Puritan mannerisms and emerging as a beautiful butterfly. Even then the Winthrops find themselves on different planes, and their problem isn’t solved until the very end of the picture—and then it comes about in a most unusual fashion. During the production, Miss Kane appears in some stunning frocks which will add not a little to the interest of the feminine portion of any audience.

Released Week of May 28th.

“The Serpent’s Tooth” is released the week of May 28th. Her first American-Mutual Pictures—"Whose Wife," are showing to capacity business everywhere. Bookings on both can be made now at your nearest Mutual Exchange.

Henry King, who has directed some wonderfully successful pictures, has been signed by President Samuel S. Hutchinson of the American Film Company, Inc., and will supervise the future Gail Kane productions.

Mutual Star Productions For May

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Lead</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Frame-Up</td>
<td>William Russell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annie-for-Spite</td>
<td>Mary Miles Minter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Mirror</td>
<td>Marjorie Rambeau</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Checkmate</td>
<td>Jackie Saunders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Serpent’s Tooth</td>
<td>Gail Kane</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

“Periwinkle” Is Next Minter Production

Dainty Mary Miles Minter will make her next appearance in Mutual Pictures as a little waif, rescued from a shipwreck and raised by a beachcomber as his daughter. She is christened "Periwinkle," which gives the title to the picture. The play was adapted from a story of the same name by William Farquhar Payson. Little Miss Minter appears throughout the greater part of the picture in trousers, rubber boots, oilskin coat and sou’wester. Once more George Fisher has the leading male role opposite the diminutive star, and the balance of the supporting cast includes such well known people as Arthur Howard, Clarence Burton, Alan Forrester, Harvey Clark, James Kirkwood, as usual, directed the production. Bookings can be made now at your nearest Mutual Exchange.

Jackie Saunders in
"A Bit of Kindling"

As the fourth of the Jackie Saunders-Mutual Pictures, E. D. Hoekheimer will present his hoydenish star in "A Bit of Kindling." She enacts the role of a typical little newsboy—only she’s a girl. The rag and tatter she wears throughout four reels of the five feature with the bedraggled hat through which perches an occasional curl, would prove far too much of a handicap to any screen star, but to Jackie Saunders they are but an aid to her art, and she wins her way straight into the hearts of her audience. Arthur Shirley, the looking leading man, has the principal role opposite Miss Saunders as a young civil engineer, and these two are supported by a highly capable cast.

“RAILROAD RAIDERS” AND “LUMBERLANDS” WIN BIG POPULARITY

Helen Holmes’ latest Mutual successes—"The Railroad Raiders"—has captured the photoplay fans, theatres everywhere are reporting phenomenal business with this new chapter-play. It is proving a great success as a "A Lass of the Lumberlands," and "The Girl and The Game," the two Helen Holmes successes that are setting box-office records.

No more striking example of what Mutual chapter-plays are doing for the box-office can be cited than "The Railroad Raiders." From the standpoint of punch, thrills and action it hangs up a new record. Amazing as were the first two or three chapters, later installments outdo them. In a recent chapter, Helen Holmes is hurled off the end of a moving car-terry, locked in a boxcar, and only rescued as the car sinks beneath the waves of the harbor. The week following she braves death by driving a high-powered motor car off the end of a dock and crashing down upon a barge that has just moved away from the same dock. These are but two of a score or more of thrilling incidents in this one photo-novel. "The Lumberlands" proved just as fascinating in its way, though an entirely different type of story. In this fifteen chapter photoplay Miss Holmes won new laurels for herself. "The Girl and the Game," was Miss Holmes’ first railroad serial released by Mutual, and as a story of the rail proved a remarkably popular attraction. Exhibitors everywhere are familiar with "The Diamond from the Sky" and its success. "The Sequel to The Diamond from the Sky," in four absorbing chapters, each two reels in length, is proving a worthy successor—some even consider it better than the original tale.

You Can Book Them Now.

All these photo-novels are now playing. If you haven’t shown them at your theatre you have a wonderful opportunity now for boosting business through the summer days that are just at hand. The nearest Mutual Exchange will give you all the information regarding prices, open dates, posters, heralds and other accessories on any or all of these attractions.

Charlie Chaplin is rapidly completing work on his eleventh Mutual-Chaplin Special which is just as unique and laugh-provoking as "The Cure," "Easy Street" or any of the other ten Mutual-Chaplin Specials released to date.
Samuel S. Hutchinson, President
AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, Inc.

Presents

GAIL KANE

IN

"THE SERPENT'S TOOTH"

A gripping drama of American life.
In five acts. Directed by Rollin Sturges. Released May 28th.

"A story that is logical and interesting. The work of Gail Kane is pleasing" writes Margaret I. Mac-Donald of the Moving Picture World, in reviewing "Whose Wife," the first Gail Kane-Mutual Picture.

This winsome star has won a vast host of admirers by her screen work. Theatres all over the country are packed to the doors when a Gail Kane production is on the screen. Secure your portion of this business. Arrange now to show every Gail Kane-Mutual Picture. You can book the whole Kane Series at your nearest Mutual Exchange.

Producer
AMERICAN FILM COMPANY, INC.
Samuel S. Hutchinson, President

Distributor
MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION
John R. Frewer, President
The Bookman for May proclaims "The Adventures of Jimmie Dale"—the novelization of "Jimmie Dale, alias The Grey Seal"—the best selling book in America. This means millions of people are reading the story NOW. They will want to see Jimmie Dale in film form. You can bring them to YOUR theatre to see it. Grasp this opportunity TODAY.

Adapted from Frank L. Packard's "The Professional Adventures of Jimmie Dale" in Peoples Magazine.

Jimmie Dale
Alias "The Grey Seal"

Featuring E. K. Lincoln
Doris Mitchell
Edna Hunter
Paul Panzer

Produced by Monmouth Film Corporation

Harry Moreae Webster, President
Jules Burnstein, General Manager
Directed by Harry Moreae Webster

Now Booking At All Mutual Exchanges

The "NEWS" advertisers believe YOU worth while; justify them.
Caulfield Photoplay Company Presents

“A TWO CYLINDER COURTSHIP”

As the Ninth of the One-Reel Mutual Featurettes Starring

Miss Billie Rhodes

Supported by Jay Belasco

Released June 6th

Motion Picture News, reviewing a recent Strand-Mutual Featurette said:—"The whole matter is well conceived, ably acted and admirably carried out. For a single reel it carries a bunch of punch and should prove a winner everywhere."

“A bunch of punch” sounds like a review of a five reel feature —yet Strand Comedies are but one reel in length. Strand Comedies have set audiences to laughing all over the country. They seem to evoke just as much mirth in a Broadway theatre as they do at the “Opry House” in a small town. There’s a Strand for every week in the year. Be sure you get your share.

NOW Booking at all Mutual Exchanges

Distributed by
Mutual Film Corporation
Produced by
Caulfield Photoplay Company

Be sure to mention “MOTION PICTURE NEWS” when writing to advertisers
HELEN HOLMES in
THE RAILROAD RAIDERS

Released by
Mutual Film Corporation
John R. Freuler, Pres.

Directed by
J. P. McGowan

Produced by Signal Film Corporation
Samuel S. Hutchinson, Pres.

NOW Booking At All MUTUAL EXCHANGES

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
MUTUAL

"FEATURETTES" ON TIMELY SUBJECTS
ENDORSED BY MOVING PICTURE NEWS

(Motion Picture News, May 19, 1917)

The exhibitor who believes in specializing on programs appealing to regular classes of patrons will do well not to overlook the Gaumont "featurettes," released weekly through Mutual—"Reel Life" and "Tours Around the World." Gaumont also produces the Mutual Weekly which is crammed full nowadays of timely and patriotic features. But "Reel Life" and "World Tours" offer a special chance for the live exhibitor to build up a much neglected patronage from among the people who want to know what is going on in the world at large.

More and more the taste for carefully edited reels, supposed at first only to appeal to the "select" in an audience, is proven to be just the sauce that gives the finest flavor to a well-directed performance, whether at the Strand and Rialto in New York or Grass Valley, California.

LEADERSHIP UNQUESTIONED

In the Catalog of Selected Pictures released between January 1, 1917, and March 31, 1917, under the heads of

Industries, Science and Topical

GAUMONT has 77 Subjects
All Other Producers have only 73 "
Gaumont Lead over all others 4

These figures account for the unapproachable popularity of Gaumont's "Reel Life" and "Tours Around the World." You cannot afford to make up your programs without using these Gaumont single-reels. Keep these figures in mind. Remember that more than one-half the attention-compelling and interest-holding pictures are from Gaumont Studios.

S. L. Rothapfel says that many a program with a poor five-reel feature has been saved by its crisp, short pictures. HE SHOWS GAUMONT PICTURES.

Gaumont Co.

LONDON FLUSHING, N. Y. PARIS

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
RELEASED MAY 31st

"JERRY'S MASTER STROKE"

A Single Reel

CUB COMEDY

featuring

GEORGE OVEY

In which Jerry starts a "spy scare"—indeed "starts" several things and, in consequence, gets mixed up in a deep, dark political and criminal intrigue in which he impersonates an East Indian Prince and almost "gets away with it."

Book through any exchange of the Mutual Film Corporation.

DAVID HORSELY PRODUCTIONS
LIFE itself is a stronger drama than was ever written by man and when truly portrayed, it runs the entire gamut of human emotions.

In the SEVEN CARDINAL VIRTUES I am portraying LIFE.

HUMILITY is the base of every virtue and he who goes the lowest builds the highest.
BOMBARDED!!
EVERY THEATRE BOX OFFICE IN NEW YORK THAT PLAYED
THE HONOR SYSTEM

New York & New Jersey
Bookings accepted now—Don’t delay.
Honor System Office 4th floor. 130 W. 46th St.
Phone 9300 Bryant.

Watch for big announcement of renting plan for entire country—keep dates open for the best 25c to $1 picture on the market.

FOX FILM CORPORATION
WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

THEDA BARA
IN HEART
AND SOUL

Founded on Sir Rider Haggard's "Jess"
Directed by J. Gordon Edwards,
Scenarioized by Adrian Johnson.

FOX FILM CORP
The best Bara picture ever made.
A great patriotic theme. Will thrill American audiences.
Get in touch with Fox Exchange Manager now and secure your advertising allotment before the supply is exhausted.

Box Office Advice to Fox Exhibitors.
Use plenty of posters and newspaper stories. HEART AND SOUL will be a great boost for your theatre. Bill it strong and arrange for a record breaking business.

ORATION 130 W, 46TH ST, N.Y
SUCCESS!  SUCCESS!!  SUCCESS!!!

40 weeks in New York
14 weeks in Boston
8 weeks in Pittsburgh

22 weeks in Chicago
18 weeks in Philadelphia
7 weeks in St. Louis

NOW The First and only $1,000,000 Motion Picture Ever Made

WILLIAM FOX
Presents

A DAUGHTER OF THE GODS

With
Annette Kellermann

Will be played during the coming summer and the season of 1917-1918, at prices ranging from 25c to $1.00.

Positively the greatest box office attraction ever offered to the public.
NOTICE!

MANAGERS of high class theatres with big capacities who show only high class productions and have a patronage that pay from 25c to $1.00 for seats, are invited to communicate for dates during the balance of this year, and the winter of 1918.

State seating capacity by floor, number of pieces in orchestra, regular price schedule, number of projection machines and make. Particulars in full.

PERCENTAGE TERMS ONLY. Capacity must not be less than 1,000 seats.

Positively will not play this production at less than $1.00 top.

Wire, Write or Call

SAMUEL F. KINGSTON
Daughter of Gods Booking Office
7th Floor
130 W. 46th Street
NEW YORK
William Fox Pictures have a world-wide market—therefore financial returns assured to produce the best films
Foreign Buyers Invited to Communicate for Open Territories. All Communications Confidential.

ATION

130 West 46th Street,
New York City
Number One of the Selig World Library was released in General Film Service on Wednesday, May 16, and Instantly Struck the Popular Chord. Letters of Commendation Are Being Received from the One Individual We Try to Please—The Exhibitor.

Selig Polyscope Co.
Chicago, Ill.

Every Wednesday Selig World Library Will Be Released in General Film Service. It Supplants the Selig Tribune and is Issued in Response to a Demand for a Weekly Film Carrying Originality and Enterprise.

GIVE IT A TRIAL!
GENERAL FILM SPECIALS

BLACK CAT FEATURES

Are running stronger every day in the best theatres. The Motion Picture Reporting Service, which gives reviews by exhibitors from the exhibitors' standpoint, has guaranteed every one of these 25 minute photoplays to satisfy any audience. Read what it says of "Be My Best Man" and "Local Color":

"'Be My Best Man' features Edward Arnold and Hazel Daly. This story is interesting and has a lot of action. Will hold interest and go over good. Rated 90.

"'Local Color' features Webster Campbell and Alice McChesney. Good offering. Acting, photography and settings good."

Others just as good:

"Pass the Hash, Ann"    "Much Obliged"
"The Clock Struck One"    "Sunday in Fairview"

IS MARRIAGE SACRED?

Sixteen great 25 minute dramas, depicting the vital question of the hour. Every man, woman and child is interested in this problem of the home. Fascinating, clean, wholesome and moral.

Released through
GENERAL FILM COMPANY, INC.
NEW YORK THEATRES ABLAZE WITH LIGHTS ON "THE TRUFFLERS"

"The Trufflers," Samuel Merwin's beautiful story of Bohemian life in the city's Latin quarter, published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, attracted great crowds at theatres throughout the city," says the New York American. "It was a wonderful success at its premier in the great chain of B. S. Moss playhouses. Nell Craig imparts a reality to the photoplay that will live long."

* * * * *

The Motion Picture Reporting Service says: "'The Saint's Adventure' is a drama of human interest, featuring Henry B. Walthall and Mary Charleson. Typical Walthall production, very well acted and story very well told. It will hold interest all through and go over good. Photography and settings good. Rated 90."

"'Skinner's Bubble,' a comedy-drama featuring Bryant Washburn and Hazel Daly. Equally as good as 'Skinner's Dress Suit.' CLEAN, WHOLE-SOME, ABSORBING and very PLEASING all through. Good plot. Will go over good with any audience. Acting, photography and settings very good. Rated 95."

* * * * *

Lee L. Goldberg, manager of the Strand Theatre, Louisville, Ky., says: "I desire to enroll myself with the great and ever increasing army of exhibitors who have pronounced 'Skinner's Dress Suit' the greatest attraction of the time. We also wish to place 'The Truant Soul' and 'Little Shoes' in the par excellence class."
After a $7,000.00 advance sale the OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT PICTURES of the war played in Chicago Auditorium to $10,000.00 in paid admission in one day only.

No pictures have ever drawn the tremendous houses that these pictures have done, and at high admission prices.

The following Pathé Exchanges now have prints of this superlative feature:

- Chicago
- Minneapolis
- Boston
- Pittsburgh
- Philadelphia
- New Orleans
- Washington
- Omaha
- Buffalo
- Dallas
- Denver
- Kansas City
- New York
- Newark
- Cleveland
- St. Louis
- Atlanta
- Seattle
The Neglected Wife

Some reasons why

The Neglected Wife

is a big box office attraction

1. The $2000.00 prize contest will create a perfect furor of interest.
2. Ruth Roland, the star, is a real favorite. As the heroine of "Who Pays?" and "The Red Circle" she drew the people in and kept them coming to see every episode.
3. Mabel Herbert Urner's famous novels have millions of readers. These readers will want to see her works on the screen.
4. $80,000 will be spent in advertising the serial in the leading newspapers of the country. Your patrons will read these ads and want to see "The Neglected Wife."

Produced by Balboa
Ruth Roland

$80,000.00
will be spent in these papers in advertising

The Neglected Wife

Albany Knickerbocker Press
Atlanta Times Union
Atlanta Georgian
Atlanta Journal
Boston American
Boston Globe
Springfield Union
Providence Bulletin
Buffalo Times
Buffalo News
Rochester Photoplay News
Butte Post
Charlotte News
Charlotte Observer
Chicago Examiner
Chicago News
Cincinnati Times Star
Louisville Herald
Cleveland Plain Dealer
Cleveland Press
Dayton News
Toledo News Bee
Dallas Times Herald
Fort Worth Star Telegram
Houston Post
San Antonio Light
Denver News
Denver Post
San Francisco Examiner
San Francisco Bulletin
Washington Times
Baltimore American
Baltimore News
Des Moines Register and Tribune

Detroit News
Grand Rapids Press
Indianapolis Star
Terre Haute Tribune
Kansas City Post
Kansas City Star
Los Angeles Examiner
Los Angeles Times
Milwaukee Journal
Milwaukee Sentinel
Minneapolis News
St. Paul News
Newark News
Elizabeth Journal
New Orleans Item
New York Journal
New York World
Brooklyn Eagle
Omaha Bee
Omaha World
Philadelphia North American
Philadelphia Evening Ledger
Scranton Times
Pittsburgh Press
Pittsburgh Chronicle
Erie Times
Portland Oregonian
Salt Lake Herald
Seattle Times
Spokane Spokesman Review
St. Louis Globe Democrat
St. Louis Times
Richmond Dispatch
Who is the Masked Stranger, anyway?

That's what 5,000,000 eager persons want to know. It's what they've been asking ever since the first episode of

Mystery of the Double Cross

The serial that's making money for exhibitors from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., and from Alaska to the Gulf of Mexico. Produced by Astra. Directed by Wm. Parke.
MYSTERY!

Pathe serials must have action, thrills, suspense and mystery, that element that keeps people guessing - keeps them coming back for each episode. That's why the Masked Stranger in is today holding the attention of millions.

MYSTERY OF THE DOUBLE CROSS

Featuring

Mollie King
Box office stories!

Pathe Gold Rooster Plays
not only have great stars like
Mrs. Vernon Castle
but great stories without which no picture can be great.

The best works of writers like
Sir Gilbert Parker and Rudyard Kipling assure the exhibitor of box office stories as well as box office stars.
Sir Gilbert's "The Weavers" and Kipling's "The Naulahka", will soon be produced for Pathe.

Some of the most noteworthy of recent stage successes, those of

A.H. Woods

will also be put into Gold Rooster Plays, among them
"The Yellow Ticket"
"The Power of Money"
"The Other Woman" and
"The Narrow Path"

Box office stories, box office stars. You get them both in Gold Rooster Plays!

Pathé announces

Mollie King
in the five part
Gold Rooster Play

Blind Man's Luck

Produced by Astra
Directed by Geo. Fitzmarice

A box office star in a real box office attraction.

Coming soon!

Announcing

Gladys Leslie
in the five part
Gold Rooster Play

An Amateur Orphan

Produced by Thanhouser

Miss Leslie is charming in this play by Agnes Johnston. Her pranks
while “Playing Hookey” from home will have your audiences with her from the start.
America preparing is shown in each issue of the

Hearst-Pathé News

Your audiences will see the most interesting, the most timely and the most recent events of the war in the oldest and best news reel only.

The Hearst-Pathé News is doubly interesting in these days of great events. It will increase your attendance. Try it!

The only news reel issued twice a week.
Have been given in succession to six

THANHOUSER

features released by Pathe. Read!

"THE CANDY GIRL" (Releasing Next Week)

"Another Gladys Hulette picture, reversing the usual order of the Hulette pictures, but entertains quite as fully as did its predecessors."

—Motion Picture News.

"HINTON’S DOUBLE" (Just Released)

"Aside from the drawing power of the star, the play itself is of exceptional interest and will do much toward upholding the high standard set by Thanhouser productions during the past six months."

—Exhibitors' Trade Review.

"VICAR OF WAKEFIELD" (Special Release)

"This subject, in which Frederick Warde was featured at the Rialto, preserves all the qualities which characterize Oliver Goldsmith's classic novel."

—Moving Picture World.

"WHEN LOVE WAS BLIND"—"The characters portrayed will arouse sympathetic interest, while the fine continuity will please. What little of the 'Sex problem' there is in the story has been handled with great delicacy."

—Sunday Telegraph.

"POTS-AND-PANS PEGGY"—"Another very entertaining Thanhouser picture. It is a grateful relief to view a picture that avoids the sordid side of modern life."

—Exhibitors' Trade Review.

"HER BELOVED ENEMY"—"A mystery story from a little different angle, that may be added to Thanhouser's ever-growing list of unconventional screen stories."

—Sunday Telegraph.

THANHOUSER FILM CORPORATION

New Rochelle, N. Y.         Edwin Thanhouser, Pres.

European Office, Thanhouser Films, Ltd., 167 Wardour St. W., London

DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH NOTICES?
Triangle Plays are the expression of a high ideal. They grip with their realism, with their human interest, with their graphic presentation. There are stories sweet with love and romance; stories of life and action, on land and sea; daring and death-defying adventures; sparkling comedies that make your sides ache with laughter.

The Triangle Trade-Mark stands for the best in motion-story production. It stands for wholesome, harmless amusement for all manner of people.

Triangle Plays entertain without offense; they are instructive, satisfying, clean.
June 2, 1917

MORE SPLASHES OF BEAUTY
THEY APPEAR ONLY
IN
MACK SENNETT-KEYSTONE
COMEDIES

Are You
Wearing
The Keystone Smile?

RELEASED ONLY BY TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

Many a packed house is directly traceable to an advertisement in the "News."
BROADWAY THEATRE

The REMARKABLE EDGAR LEWIS PHOTODRAMA of RACE PREJUDICE

THE BAR SINISTER

"I AM A NEGRESS!"

NOT—Enormous Spectacle—Most Stupendous—Marvelous—
Magnificent—Awe-Inspiring—Staggering—Etc., Etc.

BUT—One of Those Rare Theatrical Hits—Those Powerful Human Interest Dramas That Play Upon the Heartstrings of Audiences and Do a Big Box Office Business Because Every Man, Woman and Child Talks About Them and Wants to See Them Again and Again.

"THE BAR SINISTER" Will Live Long as a Photodrama Classic Because It Contains That Mysterious Something Which Stirs the Soul and Appeals to the Masses.

PRICES FOR TERRITORIAL RIGHTS NOW AVAILABLE

FRANK HALL PRODUCTIONS, Inc., LONGACRE BUILDING
NEW YORK

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
King-Bee Comedies

State Right Buyers

Billy West

Our first three releases are taking the motion picture field by storm

May 15th "Back Stage"

June 1st "The Hero"

June 15th "Dough-Nuts"

Direction Arvid E. Gillstrom

Sole Foreign Representative: J. Frank Brockliss 729 7th Ave., N.Y.

Quality Attracts!

Lewis J. Selznick
Buys
New York State Rights

King-Bee Films Corporation

Louis Burstein  L.L. Hiller
President  Treasurer
NAT. H. Spitzer  Sales Mgr.
LONGACRE BUILDING  NEW YORK

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.
STATE RIGHT BUYERS

Radio Film Co.
INC.

PRESENTS
THE DRAMA OF
THE HOUR

A Patriotic feature different from the usual

TREMENDOUS
IN HEART
INTEREST

Unquestionably
the most opportune
presentation

The Spirit of 1917

GRIPPING IN DRAMATIC TENSION

Radio Film Company, Inc.
GODFREY BLDG.

Be sure to mention "Motion Picture News" when writing to advertisers
Unanimous praise from the Dramatic Editors of the Great Metropolitan Dailies for Ivan Abramson’s Latest and Greatest effort, “ONE LAW FOR BOTH”, now playing at the Lyric Theatre, New York City.

Thrills audience . . . powerful cast of stars.—N. Y. American.

Sensational, gripping, thrilling . . . a dramatic triumph.—N. Y. Eve. Journal.

Masterpiece . . . a screen triumph that grips the heart.—N. Y. Eve. World.

Reaches into the recesses of social and economic conditions.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

A Ringing Plea for Equality, for One Law, Politically, Economically, and in the Relations between the Sexes, Assembling a truly marvelous cast, including Rita Jolivet, Vincent Serrano, Paul Capellani, Leah Baird, Pedro de Cordoba, James Morrison, Anders Randolf, Margaret Greene and Helen Arnold.

Presented by

IVAN FILM PRODUCTIONS

130 WEST 46TH STREET

NEW YORK CITY
What the Papers Say:

All wool and a yard wide.—CHICAGO EXAMINER.

“Beware of Strangers” makes you think.—CHICAGO POST.

The picture holds interest from start to finish.—CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

If you see it you won’t want any more excitement for a week.—ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS.

If “Beware of Strangers” had been produced a few years ago, there would be many a richer and wiser person.—CHICAGO JOURNAL.

EXHIBITORS EVERYWHERE ARE CLEANING UP—ARE YOU?
PEGGY HYLAND'S popularity has been proven by the numerous responses to our recent announcement. Exhibitors and State Right Buyers should communicate with us at once to secure reservations for the next Peggy Hyland photoplay being produced under the direction of CHARLES J. BRABIN

MAYFAIR FILM CORPORATION

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
Reasons Why Exhibitors Are Booking

MOTOY COMEDIES

Variety to Your Program

Motoy Comedies add variety to your program—a necessity to attract and hold a class patronage. New York's largest Broadway houses are booking them, including "STRAND" and Loew's Circuit. They have good reasons for it—patrons are getting tired of the same old things—they want something new—Motoys are the answer.

Pleases Everyone

Motoy Comedies are made to delight both grown ups and young people as well. The clever acting and comedy will amuse the adults, while the mysterious workings of the dolls will surprise and hold the interest of the young folks.

Attract New People

Motoy Comedies attract new people and keep them coming to your theatre.

These are the kind of pictures that are valuable to you. Start booking now and attract new patrons.

Book at the following Exchanges:

Educational Films Corporation of America.
Greater New York, New York State and Northern New Jersey.
Standard Film Service Co., 14 West 5th Street, Cincinnati, O.
Southern Ohio and Kentucky.
Standard Film Service Co., 7th floor, Columbia Bldg., Cleveland, O.
Northern Ohio.
Standard Film Service Co., 10th floor, Peter Smith Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

M. R. Dick, 814 Produce Exchange Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.
Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Northern Wisconsin.
Upper Peninsula.
Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.
Lea Bel Co., 61 Randolph Street, Chicago.
Illinois, Indiana and Southern Wisconsin.

Some Territory Still Open

PETER PAN FILM CORPORATION
729 Seventh Ave.
New York City

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
You want square-from-the-shoulder human dramas that hammer vital questions of life, love, and home.

You want the finest quality of entertainment to completely satisfy the masses and classes.

You want positive box office insurance, seat-selling value, and patronage-pulling advertising possibilities—

So, as a progressive State Rights buyer, you will write to—

FRANK J. SENG

Times Building
New York

Every Adult
Should—
Any Child
Can See It

A Message

FRANK J. SENG
Presents
Hobart Henley's
Thought Film of Real Life

Do you tell your boy the vital truths about life that he should know, or allow him to learn them from a boy like this?

IN SEVEN PARTS
State Rights
To Be Sold

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!
EXHIBITORS IN AMERICA
BOOK THE WORLD'S GREATEST BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION

“WARNING”

BY THE

Rev. C. H. PARKHURST

IN COLLABORATION WITH HAL REID

The S.O.S. CALL of HUMANITY

NOW BOOKING AT THE FOLLOWING EXCHANGES:

||
| H. L. WALLICK | Willis Kent |
| PRINCE, ZAMMERMANN | FEDERAL P. & C. |
| B. M. GRAUMAN | FEDERAL P. & C. |
| WILLIS KENT | MASTERPIECE FILM ATTRACTIONS |
| WESSON COMPANY | PHOTO DRAMA COMPANY |

PHOTO DRAMA COMPANY, 220 WEST 42d STREET, NEW YORK CITY

Now booking Greater New York and New Jersey.

We have the following styles of lithographs: 2 styles of 1-sheets, 2 styles of three-sheets, one style six-sheet, and twenty-four sheet stand. Slides, Photographs, Heralds.

A FEW TERRITORIES STILL OPEN. SEE MAP BELOW

PHOTO DRAMA COMPANY
220 W. 42nd Street,
—Bryant 7691—
New York City, N. Y.
The fact that each story, each cast, and the leading players, together with other important details of the production of the films marketed under "FOURSQUARE" brand are personally supervised and O. Kayed by members of M. H. Hoffman Company, marks one of the widest and yet most logical changes in the business of film production and distribution.

This is of interest to the States Rights buyer and exhibitor because it insures the production of saleable pictures only. By this means, men who by their selling experience know what sort of pictures the people want, dictate what sort of picture shall be made and who shall play in them. Yet, the artistic and pictorial development of the picture is not spoiled, as this side of the production is still left entirely in the hands of the directors who know their business best.

"Foursquare Pictures for the Clean Minded Millions"

The adoption of the above slogan means that M. H. Hoffman, Incorporated, will ride on the crest of this latest demand of the public for clean pictures. Already in every quarter of the country, clean pictures are gaining daily in favor, and not only will "FOURSQUARE" pictures be clean, but they will measure up to the standard set for the play, players and entire production before they are marketed under this brand. In other words, "the quality must go in before the name goes on."

To-date, the producers allied under the "FOURSQUARE" banner who will release their productions through M. H. Hoffman, Inc., include George Backer Film Corporation, whose first production, "The Sin Woman," with Irene Fenwick, is already being booked in every centre, and the Bernstein Film Company, which has already produced "WHO KNOWS?" and starting on "THE SEVEN CARDINAL VIRTUES," the first of which, "Humility," is now completed.

Negotiations are also in progress with other prominent producers of the very best films, and an announcement of particular interest to the entire film world will be made in this respect shortly.

M. H. HOFFMAN, Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue
New York City
YOU Know

Pokes and Jabs

So do the Exhibitors and their Patrons.

YOU Also Know That:

Every Entertainment needs comedy—the kind that gets spontaneous laughter—the kind the people laugh with—not at.

Sure fire comedies are in demand.

Pokes and Jabs

Have proven themselves.

Jaxon Film Corporation
Candler Building
NEW YORK CITY

POKES AND JABS
Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
Now playing at Geo. M. Cohan's Theatre
Broadway & 43rd St. New York

Julius Steger presents

EVELYN NESBIT and her Son
RUSSELL THAW

"REDEMPTION"
A Photo-Drama of Life
Depicted with Relentless Truth

Produced under the direction of Julius Steger and Joseph A. Golden

A wonderful moral lesson fearlessly drawn from the heart of a great tragedy

Prices: Matinees 25¢ 50¢ Nights 25¢ to $1

For information apply Suite 524, Longacre Building, New York City.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
"TROOPER 44"

Featuring
The Black
Hussars
(The Mounted State Police of Pennsylvania)

and a Remarkable Cast Including
George Soule, Spencer and June Daye

A Smashing Five-Reel Feature

The Picture the People Want
Garfield Thompson's stirring, portrayed with the support of the powerful story of love and battle finest force of troopers in the mountains.

For State Rights Apply To
E. I. S. Motion Picture Corporation
203 W. 40th St., New York City
Telephone Bryant 8956

Or The Sales Agent
Jos. R. Miles, 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y. City

Be sure to mention "Motion Picture News" when writing to advertisers.
YOU have been reading about the PARALTA PLAN for several weeks. Now we are going to tell you something about the PARALTA PLAYS which are to be produced as a part of our original "SQUARE DEAL" system of distribution.

But while reading about PARALTA PLAYS, do not forget what we have told you about the PARALTA PLAN, which will help you make money and save money the same day.

A more effective system of real business thrift has never been thought out in connection with moving picture exhibition—or any other enterprise. You can learn all the details of the PARALTA PLAN by sending us your name for our mailing list and studying our instructive literature on bookings and rentals.

A merchant cannot sell a kind of goods buyers do not want. Neither can an exhibitor of motion pictures. He must have the genuine thing—the kind of pictures in class and entertaining value that his patrons want to see—"REAL BOX OFFICE ATTRACTIONS." All PARALTA PLAYS will bear such trade mark and can be readily identified.

A "REAL BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION" is founded on a story of genuine human interest. It must ring true in telling on the screen, or it will fail. One cannot fool a moving picture audience on this point. They quickly detect a crack in the bell—a story that lacks in human interest. PARALTA PLAYS will all be great stories by acknowledged great writers.

A "REAL BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION" must also be complete in production—in the casting of characters, in locality of scenes and in technical and dramatic direction. The principal roles must be played by great stars of popular standing, who meet all requirements in talent and personality. All PARALTA PLAYS will be complete in every essential of cast and production that goes to make up 100 per cent in box office value.

The story will be the thing considered "first, last and all the time." We will tell you more about PARALTA PLAYS next week. We know you will be interested in our "CAPACITY PLAN" too.

PARALTA PLAYS INC.
CARL ANDERSON, President
HERMAN FICHENBERG, Chairman
ROBERT T. KANE, Vice-Pres.
HERMAN KATZ, Treas.
NAT. I. BROWN, Secretary and Gen'1 Manager.
729 SEVENTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY
A Great Love carried her around the world in Edgar Franklin's Amazing Story of Lady Barnacle.

Directed in five acts for the Metro program by John H. Collins and published simultaneously to a million readers in All Story Weekly.

Metro releases it June 4th. All Story publishes the story June 2.
RIALTO THEATRE - NEW YORK WEEK OF
MAY 27th
and booked for runs of a week in the larger cities throughout the United States -

The Supreme Star
ETHEL BARRYMORE
in Edward Sheldon's
The CALL of HER PEOPLE
7 Smashing Acts
A tremendous production

METRO
Special Production de Luxe
THE WHARTONS PRESENT
SUPER-FEATURE NO. 1
FOR STATE-RIGHTS

THE GREAT WHITE TRAIL
(AN EPIC OF THE ARCTIC)

DO YOU REMEMBER
PATRIA?
THE EXPLOITS
OF ELAINE?
THE MYSTERIES
OF MYRA?
THE WHARTONS
MADE THEM

FEATURING DORIS KENYON

WHARTON, INC.
AT ITHACA, N.Y.
THE HOME OF CORNELL & QUALITY

The more YOU read those advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the “NEW.”
GUARANTEED TO SATISFY

This is how the Motion Picture Reporting Service, a review by exhibitors from the exhibitor's standpoint, stamps MAX LINDER'S latest comedy

"MAX IN A TAXI"

It continues: "Pleasing situations and pleasing plot. More action than former releases. Acting good, photography and settings very good." If you haven't already booked "MAX COMES ACROSS" and "MAX WANTS A DIVORCE"

Do it now!

His only three American-made comedies: EACH ONE IS A SCREAM

Essonay

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
WASHINGTON put a very clear mirror up before the industry last week. It ought to give us a sharp look at ourselves; and we ought to profit considerably.

Suddenly the picture industry, like many others, is confronted with a tax burden heavy enough at first sight to kill it.

Yet we are unprepared.

The National Association steps into the breach and does everything possible on an eleventh-hour call. A few manufacturers and a few exhibitors shoulder the burden for all the rest and do what is humanly possible.

But we have no cohesion; we have no facts and figures for briefs.

No cohesion. That means no adequate organization. No facts and figures for briefs. That means no organization— at least none commensurate with the tasks constantly facing us.

How long are you—you who belong neither to the National Association nor to the Exhibitors League—how long are you going to let the other fellow protect your business?

This isn't an editorial urging you to organize. We've just writing them. It seems useless.

It's a warning — we'll let it end there — to protect your own business, your own job, before it is too late.

THE second fault the mirror shows us so sharply is this: the public and especially the public's representatives in Congress— also, we may add, the representatives in every state legislature—have an utterly mistaken conception of the motion picture and of the motion picture industry.

They believe that the producer is literally wallowing in wealth. They believe that all theatres are gold mines. They rate the whole industry as a new and incomparable Klondyke.

They believe this. Argue otherwise, in a formal session, and they listen stonily. Take them aside and they'll call you good naturedly and slyly, an infamous liar.

They believe these things; and there's absolutely no reason why they shouldn't. They have been told just these facts; or at least they have been given facts that would only lead to such a conclusion.

And they have never been told differently; they have never had the real facts about this industry and about the motion pictures presented to them.

They have been told mostly about our high priced stars—told so constantly that the uppermost fact about the motion picture today in anyone's mind is so-and-so's salary. The public talks salaries, not pictures. The picture star's salary has become a seventh-day wonder.

We have told the public this—we, no one else. This is the publicity we have issued. And now we have the inevitable boomerang to face.

The tax of the star's salary is surely enough to bear — enough of a burden for any industry. But now we are to be taxed because of the huge tax the star levies, because of the natural assumption that any industry able to pay million dollar salaries is fully able to pay heavy taxes to the state and nation.

This star's salary publicity has been mighty poor advertising. It hasn't sold pictures. People go to pictures to be entertained—by the pictures. The star's acting counts; the star's name counts; but all the publicity given the star's salary has done nothing except to bring us to the tax tribunal.

What's to be done?

Well, in the first place, let's settle in our own minds the fact that this is a big, substantial, practical, merchandizing business—not a gambling hall.

Let us know the motion picture as a wonderful, elastic medium of expression; not as a mere creation of the most ridiculous and uneconomic salaries the world will ever know.

Let us use, in selling motion pictures, the same economical, judicious, efficient methods of advertising employed successfully in the exploitation and distribution of other wares.

And over and above all we need an educational campaign—through the press—to set the public mind thinking about pictures and thinking correctly.

There's a wealth of material—a great number of inter-

(Continued on page 3412)
The Exhibitor and the War Tax

An exhibitor who has an interest in six theatres and who has interviewed twenty other exhibitors, says the separate ticket and the extra penny admission are impracticable.

The feeling seems to be general. The difficulty of making change and the American public's dislike of the penny are the arguments used.

One exhibitor goes so far as to suggest the coinage of six and eleven cent pieces.

Many exhibitors seem to prefer a straight tax on gross receipts and to endeavor to meet this tax by raising the admission price. The exhibitor referred to above plans to add an additional fifteen cent night to his schedule. He will put on an extra picture and advertise a "Government Night," raising the admission price from ten to fifteen cents. He figures that the appeal to patriotism and the extra attraction will bring the public in and help him meet his tax burden.

Reviews and the Personal Equation

MOTION PICTURE NEWS is in hearty accord with the move on foot among many of the manufacturers to dispense with private projection room showings of features for trade paper reviewers.

The projection room viewpoint is the personal viewpoint, and in the matter of weighing picture value the personal viewpoint would seem to be too often found at variance with later results to warrant complete faith.

The reviewer reinforced by real theatre atmosphere and surrounded by "pay-as-they-enter" patrons is certainly more apt to give the exhibitor an estimate worth keying to his rental policies.

In fact this clash of the projection room opinion versus the paying patron's desires has prompted us to looking forward to "speaking editorially" on the subject at greater length in the near future.

And meanwhile we express the hope that the companies affected will not be delinquent in arranging pre-release theatre showings, enabling the reviewers to give their aid to the exhibitor when it is needed.

Get Down to Bed Rock!

(Continued from preceding page)

Don't Save Daylight!

SAVING daylight is a beautiful sentiment.

Pushing the clock ahead an hour, to save electric light bills, getting up an hour earlier to breathe the fresh air—it's romantic!

Australia thought so. Australia did. Now Australia regrets.

S. Barrington Miller, a prominent Australian film man, tells how sorry Australian exhibitors are elsewhere in this magazine.

People, he says, won't go to theatres in broad daylight.

They go to beaches and parks instead.

Theoretically, saving daylight is excellent.

But not for the exhibitor.
Express Shipments Tax Amended from 10 to 6 Per Cent.

Seat Tax Held Up—Various Tax Bills Being Studied Carefully and Slowly—Action of Congress on Motion Pictures Not Likely for One or Two Months—Attitude of Congress Inspires Optimism

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Moving picture exhibitors and producers will have to take to the action of the Senate if there are any changes to be made in the Revenue bill now before the House of Representatives. Any changes made will probably occur upon the recommendation of the Senate Finance Committee, which recently held hearings on the measure.

It is probable that little or no change will be made in the bill before its passage by the House, any changes that are made being of a minor character. One amendment of interest to the trade, however, has been made, changing from 10 to 6 per cent the tax that must be paid upon express shipments of merchandise. This will mean a considerable saving to exhibitors, especially when the merchandise is sent in film cases and other matter from one point to another by express. At the time this amendment was adopted, the House refused to accept a proposal to place a similar tax on steamers.

It is yet too early to predict whether any changes will be made by the Senate Finance Committee when the bill comes before it for consideration. The moving picture men who appeared at the hearings made very good impression upon the Senators; the proceeds of the hearings will shortly be printed, and copies laid before the members, who will no doubt give them very close attention.

The bill to be taken up by the committee title by title. This will mean that considerable time must elapse before it is reported to the Senate, if there are any changes to be made. Any change will occur upon the recommendation of the Senate Finance Committee, which recently held hearings on the measure.

North Carolina League Sends Bitter Protest to Congress

The North Carolina League, numbering 300 members, has sent a bitter protest to the Senate Committee on Finance against the possible levy of a 10 per cent. stamp tax. The North Carolina League seems to have the information that the tax, if imposed, will take the form of stamps to be pasted on admission tickets.

The exhibitors make the plea that theirs is not a rich section, that the admissions are from 5 to 10 cents, and that a tax will put them out of business. They say that to collect the tax from the public would necessitate a stamping clerk in each theatre.

One scathing paragraph of the petition reads:

"I am confident that the Senate will very largely revise the bill now under consideration and that the Senate bill will produce less revenue. While it may not be perfect, I believe the Senate bill will avoid many of the weaknesses and much of the unfairness and lack of wisdom contained in the pending legislation."

BULLETIN

[Here is a list of various financial and legislative developments related to the motion picture industry, including a notice that the tax on parcel post matter was not adopted, the imposition of a tax on super-feature films, and the threat of legislation that would require the death of the nickelodeon and the control of the industry by a single or two companies.]

 Virginia S. Cohen of the Sydney Photoplay Corporation, New York, advances the suggestion that in the event of the ten per cent. ticket tax being put into effect, the Government issue coins of six cent and eleven cent denomination, in order to obviate the difficulty at the cashier's window which would otherwise follow.

Maryland Men in the Fray

Members of the Maryland Branch, Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, are cooperating with the national organization in regard to the war tax proposal now pending before Congress.

It is the purpose of the national body to have a special ticket purchased by the public, which will cover the war tax to be placed upon the motion picture theatre.

A committee representing the Maryland Branch has been in touch with the Maryland representatives in Congress and will do everything in its power to cooperate with them. The Maryland committee is now waiting for a communication from the national body in order to learn how to proceed further in this matter.

Tax for Moncton, New Brunswick

A bill to provide for the taxation of the patrons of motion picture houses in Moncton, N. B., is now before the New Brunswick legislature and will be considered within the next fortnight. The bill, as it now stands, asks that the purchase of each theatre ticket be taxed one cent, the revenue to revert to the Moncton City Hospital.

New Coins Necessary

Sydney S. Cohen of the Sydco Photoplay Corporation, New York, advances the suggestion that in the event of the ten per cent. ticket tax being put into effect, the Government issue coins of six cent and eleven cent denomination, in order to obviate the difficulty at the cashier's window which would otherwise follow.
Cromelin Finds Direct Tax Unconstitutional

PAUL H. CROMELIN, vice-presidential executive of the Inter-Ocean Film Corporation, has returned to New York from a week's tour of Washington, where he studied various proposed tax bills and drew up briefs showing their manifest unfairness to the film industry.

Mr. Cromelin, who is an experienced lawyer, drafted letters to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance and the Ways and Means Committee of the House, respectively, in which he pointed out glaring weaknesses in the bills referring to industrial taxation.

In a letter addressed to Senator McSimmons, Committee on Finance, he pointed out that the proposed law (Section 1000. H.R. 4280, which provided an additional tax of ten per cent. ad valorem in excess of whatever specific or ad valorem tax exists now will be ruinous to American film exporters and importers as well. In case of the specific and on the free list they would suffer the same ten per cent. ad valorem tax.

New York and Washington customs officers when asked to interpret that law said that it means plainly that goods of American manufacture, which for some lawful purpose are temporarily out of the country, must suffer the ten per cent. tax, because nothing is admitted free.

That means that if an American film concern made a shipment of reels to Buenos Ayres and if the Buenos Ayres consignee should for any reason reject the shipment, or should in the meanwhile go bankrupt, the American manufacturer would have to pay a ten per cent. ad valorem tax to get his goods back in America, and at a loss.

Mr. Cromelin in his letter suggested that the bill be changed to exclude from taxation all goods returned from abroad and re-admitted to the United States.

One paragraph of his letter to Senator McSimmons reads:

"American manufacturers have been accustomed to ship their negatives to London in the past, to supply the English market and most of the other foreign markets from there. These negatives remain abroad a limited time and then are returned to this country. They have not been altered or improved in manufacture and are admitted duty free. They are coming in week after week. While it is difficult to estimate it is no exaggeration to say that the cost of the original negatives of this class now abroad is over one million dollars. If the bill was so construed as to cover goods of American manufacture returned, it would compel these American manufacturers, after having erected a large sum to get their negatives back to this country, to pay the ten per cent. tax.

The tax now imposed on imported films is one cent a foot for positives and three cents a foot for negatives, with a tax of one cent a foot for duplicate negatives, as was decided in a recent case before the New York Federal Court.

The ten per cent. ad valorem tax which is proposed, in addition to the existing specific tax of one and three cents, Mr. Cromelin points out to be a thoroughly ruinous measure. In separate briefs sent to the Senate Committee on Finance and the Ways and Means Committee of the House, he shows clearly that the specific tax was imposed on films in the first place after a thorough and thoughtful investigation. To tax films on the ad valorem basis would mean that each positive or negative would be taxed ten per cent. of the entire cost of production.

Mr. Cromelin points out that in taxing a negative in such a manner an ad valorem tax is unjust, because the negative does not by itself decrease in value. When points are taken from it, its value, as far as the market is concerned, is lessened materially.

He urges that this tax be changed from ad valorem to specific, increasing the tax from one and three cents, not by ten per cent., but by twenty-five or fifty per cent., if necessary.

In a brief prepared by Mr. Cromelin bearing upon sub-sections "C" and "D" of Section 600 of House Bill No. 4280, which propose to tax exported films at the rate of one-half cent on all raw stock and one cent per foot on developed film, he points out that such a law is unconstitutional. Section 9, clause 5, of the Constitution of the United States reads:

"No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State."

This clause, it so happens, was one of the first laws made by the framers of the Constitution in correcting the abuses which brought on the Revolutionary War!

Mr. Cromelin shows that the direct tax of one-half cent on raw stock to which is added the tax of one cent per foot on developed film, means that the entire, or combined tax, would violate not only the spirit but the literal interpretation of Section 9, Clause 5, if the film is shipped out of the country.

Lesser Promoting Merger of Big State Rights Men

Word came from the West late last week that a National Organization of the leading exchange men of the United States is being promoted by Sol L. Lesser of San Francisco.

Mr. Lesser announces that the organization has been perfecting its plans for many weeks, and that the final plans are practically complete, there being but few remaining details to be consummated by a clever organization will consist of big representative buyers from all portions of the country, a list of same to be announced at an early date.

Tens of thousands of dollars, he says, have already been pledged by the various members of the new organization. Investigation shows that it will also carry with it groups of leading theatres in the various territories that are also already pledged to the organization. Although definite details will not be announced until a later date, it is understood that the plan of operation will be the purchase of big feature productions for the United States, fixing a definite percentage of the cost on each territory, which will be assessed to the individual theatres that are pledged to the combination.

Story of Mrs. Castle's First Gold Rooster

Hundreds of letters and telegrams from exhibitors and fans requesting further details as to Mrs. Vernon Castle's Pathé Gold Rooster Plays are reported to have been received by the Pathé Company and its exchanges throughout the country.

Produced under the direction of George Fitzmaurice, the first picture is now so near completion at the special Fort Lee Studio taken over and used solely for the Castle features, that a synopsis of the plot, photo-dramatized from the story of Joseph Trant by Philip Bartholomew, the famous playwright, can now be given.

The working title is "Carroll of the Secret Service," but another name will be announced as soon as chosen.

The plot revolves around the mission of a young American, Curtiss Prescott, to deliver the "Kimberley Diamond" to London for the British Crown. A gang of international crooks are after the diamond. Carroll of the Secret Service (Mrs. Castle) becomes involved in the devilish troubles over the diamond and finally by a clever ruse succeeds in bringing about the arrest of the band of crooks and recovers the "Kimberley Diamond."

Additions to M. & J. Firm's Staff

The McMahan and Jackson Film Company's staff or road men working out of the Cincinnati office now totals eight men.

The Selig Topical Not Connected with Newspaper

The Selig Company announces that the Selig World Library, the new topical film service, is in no manner connected with any newspaper.
Foreign Experts Urge Exhibitors to Accept Ticket Tax

W. Barrington Miller, President of Australasian Films, Ltd., and W. A. Bach, Former Universal Publicity Manager for Canada, Relate the Success of the Pay-as-You-Enter Tax in Australia and Canada

EXHIBITORS who are lying awake nights, or assembling in Washington, or burning up the wires, or showing their agitation in other ways because of the threatened ten per cent ticket tax, are urged by men who have been through the same experience to stop worrying.

W. A. Bach, sales manager for M. H. Hoffman, was, until recently, in charge of the publicity department of Universal in Canada. He went through the tax panic in Canada.

W. Barrington Miller, president of Australasian Films, Ltd., and a visitor to New York, underwent the same excitement in Australia.

Both of these men have the same message: It isn't nearly as bad as it looks.

The ticket tax went into effect in Australia a little less than three months ago. Australian exhibitors were in a perfect frenzy. Now they have cooled off, and they are beginning to realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all.

"A wise government in Australia saw fit not to tax tickets of 12 cents and less," said Mr. Miller to Motion Picture News. "Tickets up to twelve cents are free of tax. Above twelve cents to 25 cents the tax is 2 cents. Above 25 cents, the tax is four cents.

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

He intended to pay it himself, and thereby gain advantage over his poorer rivals.

"But he soon saw his error and came in line with us. Since then there have been no other attempts."

"The war has cut down Australian theatre receipts about 20 per cent. But business is improving. When the lists of casualties on the battlefield first came, whole families went into mourning. Now, mothers who would mourn for months at the death of a son, realize that they have made a mistake."

W. A. Bach, formerly Canadian publicity manager for Universal, and now sales manager for M. H. Hoffman, Inc., had intimate contact with the ticket tax measure which went into effect in Ontario province shortly after war was declared, and has more recently been instituted in Quebec and the maritime provinces.

Some of Mr. Bach's energy is expressed in his appeal to the exhibitors of America: Don't fight the ticket tax!

"Panic? Of course there was panic at first!" declared Mr. Bach. "It seemed to the staring every exhibitor in the face. The ticket tax had been tried locally as a means of raising civic funds, and it had proved miserably.

"When the first shock wore off, exhibitors sighed. 'We may as well die like men,' and they unanimously prepared to go broke. They had the old idea that you can't be alone in a sort of failure. It was not because the business of exhibiting pictures was a mild crime and should be mildly punished.

"Prohibition had won in Canada and the exhibitors believed that they were considered to be the next vice in line to carry the load. But the government showed them how wrong that attitude was, and the government got busy and informed the public. That is the big duty of the American Government.

"Protest to the public as a patriotic necessity. The newspapers carried whole columns, explaining what the tax meant, and they appealed to the public to be a good fellow.

"Why, it was great publicity! People went to theatres more than ever. They didn't whimper."

"They wanted mourning for months at the death of a soul. They hadn't made a mistake,

"Mr. Miller will gladly discuss the folly of daylight saving with any representative motion people who care to avail themselves of his experience and observation. Mr. Miller is a member of the Council of Federated Employers, whose power and influence is felt throughout Australia.

"A wise government in Australia saw fit not to tax tickets of 12 cents and less," said Mr. Miller to Motion Picture News. "Tickets up to twelve cents are free of tax. Above twelve cents to 25 cents the tax is 2 cents. Above 25 cents, the tax is four cents.

"A wise government in Australia saw fit not to tax tickets of 12 cents and less," said Mr. Miller to Motion Picture News. "Tickets up to twelve cents are free of tax. Above twelve cents to 25 cents the tax is 2 cents. Above 25 cents, the tax is four cents.

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all.

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ruin you. It nearly ruined us."

"Mr. Miller (of Australia):"

"Exhibitors were in a frenzy. Now they realize that the ticket tax isn't such a terrible calamity after all."

"One exhibitor who gave tax tickets free, paying for them himself, was cured quickly."

"Fight daylight saving. It will ru
Higher Rental Prices Is Al Lichtman's Hint

A. I. LICHTMAN, general manager of Artcraft Pictures Corporation, found that the exhibitors in all the cities considered, are enthusiastic of the consolidation of Artcraft and Paramount and eager to sign the new contracts.—more important ones than ever before. Mr. Lichtman, who is based in Los Angeles, spoke enthusiastically of the new arrangements to a representative of Motion Picture News.

"The alliance between the two companies is the most tremendous producing and distributing company the business has ever seen," said Mr. Lichtman. "With the exception of two stars we now have every best box office star in the field. It has been a great undertaking, but I believe now that the present combine of Artcraft and Paramount forms a company upon which the future producing and distributing systems of the business will be based.

"The main point in the newly created combine is the fact that the exhibitor will now be urged to pay for his pictures in proportion to their box office success. We want them to raise admission prices where possible, but we don't want them to raise them for one particular feature or another. But the fact remains that for a picture presenting a star, whose salary is extraordinary large, the exhibitor must pay more. In the past, this has not been the case and so the producer has actually lost money on his best stars, merely because he practically had to give their pictures away.

"Paramount and Artcraft combined," continued Mr. Lichtman, "offer such a powerful array of stars that almost every one of them is a box office attraction—a proven box office attraction. The raise we want the exhibitor to make is because of this. Perhaps there will come a picture that fails to impress, because of the star's name, in a certain locality. But the theatre showing the program regularly will be in a position to attract patronage of those very few pictures on its reputation and even those few pictures will please. All of them.

"It was indeed gratifying," he concluded, "to find such a ready acceptance of the proffered terms from the largest exhibitors in the west. They readily realize that the cost of picture production must be more evenly distributed than it has been in the past and to this end we will bend all our efforts in the hope that we may be mutually benefited.

Pettijohn Applauds Brady's Clean Picture Stand

Higher Admission and Promotion for Safe-Fire Stars Certainly in Near Future," He Says

A PROBATION which from all sides greeted the caustic denunciation of fifth film makers by William A. Brady several weeks ago, was heartily echoed by Charles C. Pettijohn, who allows the pressing necessity of handling the cause of the Indiana exhibitors has become prominently identified with the industry, in an interview given recently.

"The Indianapolis attorney, who in a brief visit to Washington did more, according to the statement by Harry Crandall, prominent Capitol exhibitor, reported in the Motion Picture News of last week, to advance the cause of theatre owners than any other factor, paid a short visit to New York after his efforts with the country's lawmakers.

"To my mind," said Mr. Pettijohn, "William A. Brady has struck the canker of the industry a death blow. If the ordinary exhibitor and manufacturer cannot touch the handwriting on the wall as plainly outlined by Mr. Brady, there is not the slightest doubt in the world that he will perform soon be made to recognize it.

"There are two reasons why the unclean, suggestive film must go. One is finance, the other is not to countenance, and hence will not pay for the fifth film. The second is a political reason. The industry will not attain the respect and weight to which its innuendos entitles it, until the petty, eager-to-grab manufacturer, and his subsequent tool, the exhibitor, are made to change their tactics, or once and for all get out of the business.

When the condition obtains that the biggest men, the most influential factors in motion pictures, can with clean hands go before the country and outline their cause—when they wake up to the fact that direct, straightforward action will bring results rather than devious, half-hearted, catch-for-himself methods now followed by some, than there will be no difficulty in getting a hearing on the just plays and interests of the picture business. The situation can be competently handled from within. Mr. Brady himself might have been the way— it is for the others to follow the trail.

The poor old downtrodden public must be the victim and paying the tax is the only way he can be the goat. Choke anybody who suggests a seat tax! That means the exhibitor, and nobody else, is the victim.

Foreign Experts Urge Ticket Tax Plan

"There are two reasons why the unclean, suggestive film must go. One is finance, the other is not to countenance, and hence will not pay for the fifth film. The second is a political reason. The industry will not attain the respect and weight to which its innuendos entitles it, until the petty, eager-to-grab manufacturer, and his subsequent tool, the exhibitor, are made to change their tactics, or once and for all get out of the business.

When the condition obtains that the bigcest men, the most influential factors in motion pictures, can with clean hands go before the country and outline their cause—when they wake up to the fact that direct, straightforward action will bring results rather than devious, half-hearted, catch-for-himself methods now followed by some, than there will be no difficulty in getting a hearing on the just plays and interests of the picture business. The situation can be competently handled from within. Mr. Brady himself might have been the way—it is for the others to follow the trail.

These remarks, coming from a man who through in the Middle West has made himself strongly felt in the advancement of the picture cause of the country and who, if he will answer insistent calls, will come a big factor in the East, are but further boosts for the causes which Mr. Brady is so much in sympathy with, and for which Motion Picture News has so long fought—indirectly, the clean pictures—and primarily, the betterment of the industry.

Elton Leaves Bray Studios

Leslie Elton, one of the youngest cartoonists in the business, producing animated cartoons, has severed connections with Paramount Studios and will now devote his time to producing comedies featuring his own original characters.

Mr. Elton is now completing an animated cartoon featuring his two cartoon comedians that will be released shortly on the Universal Program under the title of "Billy and Squint in Palm Beach."

"There are two reasons why the unclean, suggestive film must go. One is finance, the other is not to countenance, and hence will not pay for the fifth film. The second is a political reason. The industry will not attain the respect and weight to which its innuendos entitles it, until the petty, eager-to-grab manufacturer, and his subsequent tool, the exhibitor, are made to change their tactics, or once and for all get out of the business.

When the condition obtains that the big-

cest men, the most influential factors in motion pictures, can with clean hands go before the country and outline their cause—when they wake up to the fact that direct, straightforward action will bring results rather than devious, half-hearted, catch-for-himself methods now followed by some, than there will be no difficulty in getting a hearing on the just plays and interests of the picture business. The situation can be competently handled from within. Mr. Brady himself might have been the way—it is for the others to follow the trail.

These remarks, coming from a man who through in the Middle West has made himself strongly felt in the advancement of the picture cause of the country and who, if he will answer insistent calls, will come a big factor in the East, are but further boosts for the causes which Mr. Brady is so much in sympathy with, and for which Motion Picture News has so long fought—indirectly, the clean pictures—and primarily, the betterment of the industry.

Elton Leaves Bray Studios

Leslie Elton, one of the youngest cartoonists in the business, producing animated cartoons, has severed connections with Paramount Studios and will now devote his time to producing comedies featuring his own original characters.

Mr. Elton is now completing an animated cartoon featuring his two cartoon comedians that will be released shortly on the Universal Program under the title of "Billy and Squint in Palm Beach."
Merry-Go-Round of Film Bills Before Penn. Lawmakers

All Seem to Be Taking Shot at Industry—Favorable Snyder Bill Shelved—Measure Up to Take 2 Per Cent. on All Money Earned by Theatre Companies—Building Amendments Passed

LAWS in profusion, of all natures and degrees, are pending before the Pennsylvania Legislature. Obliging intention to embarrass the motion picture industry is felt to be the motive behind this unfavorable legislative drive. An added thrust which has had distressing effect is the practical blocking of the Snyder Bill, which would have abolished the state board of censorship and substituted therefor a sound plan of regulation. This measure seems destined to go the way of almost all the legislation which picture interests have favored this year.

In a measure this is due to the fact that the sponsor of the bill, former Senator Chas. A. Snyder, who has just become auditor general of the state, has apparently lost interest in the same matters. Mr. Snyder was fathering when in the Senate. Politicians now declare that even if passed by the upper body the House would never consider it.

Most harmful and dangerous of the measures introduced recently is a bill brought up by Representative George P. Baker which would impose a two per cent. tax on all money earned by theatrical companies, generally assumed to include motion picture concerns—other than Pennsylvania corporations, exhibiting in Pennsylvania territory.

The proposed law requires the manager or lessee of the theatre where the company exhibition is to be responsible for the collection of the tax and for the money being returned to the state treasurer. Five per cent. of the amount of the tax is allowed to the collector. The bill was referred to committee and is said to have a fair chance of being enacted into law, as the state is hunting legislation in some form for the money it is seeking to raise by adding new measures designed to increase the state revenues this year.

The important clauses of this resolution follow:

Section 1. That a state tax of two per cent. is hereby imposed on all money earned as compensation for giving of or participation in any theatrical exhibition or performance within this commonwealth by a person, firm, association or corporation residing or domiciled without this commonwealth.

Section 2. Every person, firm, association or corporation being the owner, proprietor, manager, lessee or operator of a theatre or of any place within this commonwealth in which a theatrical exhibition or performance takes place shall deduct from the money so earned as such compensation, the tax hereby imposed and shall pay such tax into the state treasury on or before the tenth day of the month immediately following.

Section 3. Such owner, proprietor, manager, lessee or operator shall on or before the tenth day of each month, make and file with the Auditor General a written statement, under oath, showing the receipts from his theatre or place of display, and where his performance was held, for the month immediately preceding and also showing the amount of money earned as compensation for giving or participating in a theatrical exhibition or performance by a person, firm, association or corporation residing or domiciled without this state.

Section 4. The Auditor General, State Treasurer or any agent appointed by them in writing, may examine the books and papers of any person, firm, association or corporation to verify the accuracy of any report required to be made under this act.

Section 6. Any person, firm, association or corporation neglecting or refusing to file such reports or neglecting or refusing to deduct and pay to the State Treasurer within the time prescribed the tax hereinbefore imposed, is guilty of a misdemeanor in the first degree and shall be sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars or to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of one year, or both.

This bill which makes important amendments to the building code relating to motion picture houses and other theatres, with particular bearing on film booth construction, has passed both branches of the Legislature and been signed by Governor Ruttman, thus being upon the statute books of the state.

Exhibitors, Go to Washington, Plead Reimbursement

FRANK J. REMBUSCH, president of the Indiana Exhibitors' League, in a letter sent to the various State league presidents urges exhibitors to go to Washington and put the light of the tax proposition fairly and bluntly before the various Congressional committees now struggling blindly in the dark.

No one is looking after the exhibitor's interests, says Mr. Rembusch. Mr. Cranville, of Washington, has done his best and admits that he is frankly "up against an unbeatable proposition."

"Congress does not know really what is a fair and equitable tax and will not know unless exhibitors express themselves as to its fairness."

Several film manufacturers are advocating this 10 per cent. tax, for what reason I don't know and at the same time Mr. Ochs is frankly "up against an unbeatable proposition."

"My advice is for your State to get busy at once and ask for a hearing and send some one—an exhibitor—to Washington."

General Film to Welcome Outside Talent

Distributing Organization Undergoing Expansion—Outside Producers Now Welcome—Contributing Producers to Enlarge Output Long Features Decided Upon

THE General Film Company, it was learned Monday afternoon, has made up its mind to let down the hitherto ironbound, airtight bars, and accept for distribution the films of manufacturers other than its permanent contributors.

This revolutionary announcement which Motion Picture News takes pleasure in presenting exclusively, as usual, means that the most air tight distributing corporation has decided to recognize the merits of buying in the open market.

Harold Bolster, vice-president of General Film, gave out the announcement in an interview to Motion Picture News just before the paper went to press.

"We decided at a meeting last week to take films from independent manufacturers, other than our permanent contributors."

"This revolutionary announcement which Motion Picture News takes pleasure in presenting exclusively, as usual, means that the most air tight distributing corporation has decided to recognize the merits of buying in the open market."

"General Film within the time prescribed the tax hereinbefore imposed, is guilty of a misdemeanor in the first degree and shall be sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars or to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of one year, or both."
Herrington Finds Weakness in Northwest

WIDE-SPREAD comment which has followed the visit of Fred J. Herrington to the Northwest is of such a nature as to indicate the exhibitors in that section believe the national organizer has found some shortcomings in the business on his trip through that district.

He learned these things on his organization tour:

The Northwest on the whole is 50 per cent behind the national, but there are some men in the district and a closer co-operation between the successful exhibitors and those still in the depths of the struggles.

Mr. Herrington in the Northwest organization, a body that is going to stand on its own because it is really a small body and it found out at this convention for the first time that it had been drifting with the current and was dangerously near the shoals. As long as one man is willing to do the work, the others are willing to let him. Thus the exhibitors found that the convention had only the power to recommend action. They recommended that each state have a separate organization affiliated with the Northwest body, paying a nominal fee to make the membership legal.

The committee directed by David W. Rodgers will also try every legal resource to recover the advance deposits, as recommended by the convention.

Mr. Herrington didn't point to the 95 per cent that is unorganized, as a bad thing, but rather pointed to the organized, fighting five per cent as something on which to base a hope. The Northwest organization until last year was outside the greater fold. This year it plans to make a showing because it had learned of its latent power.

The exponent of the Western-Frontier as They Actually Were met a cortege of New York newspaper men in the Knickerbocker Hotel last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Hart went on to tell some excellent anecdotes about Fightin' Fritzy, his horse. He has two more films on the way and expects to be back at the grind in less than two months. He admits that he is in fine shape for a sanatorium. His trip through the Orient was the most romantic phase of American history. Common horse sense! It was the most romantic.

Mr. Hart next announced a very important feature of the "Trip Thru China," pictures to be shown at the Eltinge theatre, doubly interesting in view of the fact that China was the first remaining neutral nation to follow the lead of the United States in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, and her declaration of war is now daily expected. China has 85,000,000 men of military age.

Method of Serial Publication of "Neglected Wife"

Pathé's "The Neglected Wife" story in Western Newspaper Union plates for newspaper publication will be handled with three installments to each page instead of one, as heretofore. Each installment, per page in plate form will be the same size as the past—$1.50. In other words, where the publisher in the past has paid $1.50 for three installments in plate form, or a total of $4.50 for "The Neglected Wife," the Western Newspaper Union is putting out "The Neglected Wife" story in condensed form because of the present critical white paper situation.

Whirlwind Bill Hart Hesitates in New York

WILLIAM S. HART, who is in danger of having wished upon him the nickname of "Whirlwind Bill," came to New York City last week, after having bowed to the audiences of thirty-six cities in a zigzag route in the space of thirty-one days.

The exponent of the Western-Frontier Days-as-They-Actually-Were met a cortege of New York newspaper men in the Knickerbocker Hotel last Thursday afternoon. He was heard to declare that he was a cinch.

Mr. Hart, looking unnatural in city clothes, let the reporters ask him the usual questions and he answered them in the usual way. And then he made his visitors sit up and begin taking notes.

"Listen," said Hart. "At first I was overcome to think that all of those folks could go wild over one lonely man. And then I began to see daylight. They weren't applauding me at all, although the noise did sound good. What they were applauding was their own recognition of the fact that the frontier period was the most romantic phase of American history. Common horse sense! It was the most romantic."

"But others have tried the same thing and fallen down," suggested one of his listeners.

"I know my subject," answered Hart. "The public is quick to sense, mistakes in settings, costumes or anything. I know the frontier life, because I lived it. My pictures tell the truth, and the closer they are to the truth the better the people seem to like it. My subject is a million times bigger than I am, and the apparatus means only one thing to me: The public is just waking up to the romance of the old frontier."

Mr. Hart went on to tell some excellent anecdotes about Fightin' Fritzy, his horse. He has two more films on the way and expects to be back at the grind in less than two months. He admits that he is in fine shape for a sanatorium.

Big Travelogue, "Trip Through China," Opens

The picture was taken by Benjamin Brodsky, who spent ten years in China with his camera and took fully 100,000 feet of film, from which the best 10,000 feet has been selected to show the outside world the beauties, customs, industries, games, sports, and amusements of the least-known country of the world.

"China Preparing" is a most important feature of the "Trip Thru China" pictures to be shown at the Eltinge theatre, doubly interesting in view of the fact that China was the first remaining neutral nation to follow the lead of the United States in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, and her declaration of war is now daily expected. China has 85,000,000 men of military age.

A complete trip is provided from San Francisco to Pekin, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Canton, Tientsin, Wusik, Soochow, Macao, Hangchow, Kowloon, Aberdeen, and New-chang.
Factional Fight Opens in Chicago on Convention Eve

Frank's Libel Suit Against Ochs and Others Answered by Action to Oust Choyinski and Frank from Chicago Organization—Stormy Session Promised When Trial Opens

Following close upon the $50,000 suit that Louis H. Frank, former manager of the national convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, brought against Lee Ochs, national president; Joseph Hopp, president of the Chicago league and four other prominent members of that league, he and Maurice A. Choyinski, another of the leaders of the Frank faction who are opposing the party at present in power in the Chicago league, have been served with a notice that a complaint has been made against their continuance as members of the Chicago organization. They have been asked to appear before a special meeting of the league to be held Wednesday, May 23 to defend themselves and show cause why they should not be expelled from membership.

All of this action is the result of the factional disturbances that have been going on above and below the surface of the Chicago league during the last six months and which culminated with damage proceedings brought by Frank two weeks ago. Frank in his suit charges libel and conspiracy. Ochs was the first served with papers. All the others have since been served and answer to them is being awaited.

President Joseph Hopp of the Chicago league and one of those being sued signed the notice to Frank Choyinski, stating that he had called a special meeting to hear the complaint against them. The notice sent to both was as follows:

"Please take notice that a complaint has been filed against you as a member of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, Illinois branch, copy of which is hereto attached.

In accordance with Article Six, Section One and Section Two of Article IV of the By-Laws of this association, I have called a meeting of the association to be held on Wednesday, May 23 at 1 o'clock P. M. (Signed) Joseph Hopp, President.

The other notice of the charge against Frank and Choyinski was sent out to all the members of the Chicago league. It spoke as follows:

"We, the undersigned, members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, Chicago branch, hereby complain against the continuance of membership in said league of Morris Choyinski and Louis H. Frank, and hereby request that a special meeting of the members shall be called for the consideration of this complaint as provided for under Articles Four and Six of the By-Laws.

Very truly yours,
John H. Freundt.
William J. Sweeney.

Both Frank and Choyinski declared that they would answer the summons, but that they were unable to figure out what the charges against them were. They also added that they were going to the meeting fortified with counsel and that they will meet any move against them with ammunition that will cause a bigger stir within the league circles than has yet shook it.

The telegram that Peter J. Schaefer, chairman of the convention finance committee in 1916 sent out to President Ochs and the others named in the suit caused the action that Frank has taken. One particular declarative in this telegram is said by Frank to be the basis of his suit as he maintains that the rival faction has sought to hold him up in a false light during his capacity as manager of the 1916 national convention.

The index to the releases of the month of May will appear in the next issue of Motion Picture News, datet June 9th.

All pictures released, short subjects, program features and state rights are listed in this Monthly Index. The page of our review and music chart on the features is also given.

It is a most valuable record of activity in the picture field. Be sure to save your copies for future reference.

Paramount Plans May 25

The eagerly anticipated announcement of Paramount's new plan of "open booking," or, more strictly speaking, "star booking," is to be made May 25, according to latest advices from the Paramount offices. The finishing touches are now being put on the gigantic task of arranging the complete details of the most revolutionary step yet taken in the industry.

Simultaneously the big plan will be explained to exhibitors from all exchange centers, and it is predicted that Paramount's latest move will be received favorably by every exhibitor interested in quality production.

Whether the previously announced date of August 5 still holds good at the time of inauguration of the new plan, is not yet divulged by the Paramount heads. It has already been announced that Paramount exhibitors will use the releases to August 5 on the present program booking, after which a selection from the combined roster of Paramount and Artcraft stars will be available on terms said to assure any exhibitor wishing to use the Paramount stars an opportunity to make his own choice on a thoroughly equitable basis.

Flintom Has "Joan the Woman"

A. D. Flintom, president of the Kansas City Feature Film Company, has purchased the state rights to Jesse L. Lasky's production, "Joan the Woman," and Selig's "Beware of Strangers" for the States of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.
THE film business, considered individually and as a unit, intends to buy a giant block of Liberty Loan bonds. From all quarters the reports are rolling in that exhibitors and manufacturers are attacking the banks, clamoring for a chance to hit Germany with the war loan bond.

Brooklyn exhibitors at a meeting last Saturday night heard with approval the suggestion that the $5,000,000 demonstrative bond offered to exhibitors be applied to Liberty Bonds, the guarantor retaining the bonds for security and the exhibitors receiving the interest.

Not to be outdone in any display of patriotism, the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has subscribed for a $400,000 block of bonds issued by the Broadway Trust Co., of which Frederic G. Lee, chairman of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation is president.

This is the preliminary flanking movement in an effort by the National Association of Motion Picture Industry to raise a war loan fund of $1,000,000 from producers, exchanges, "and other components of the motion picture industry.

Arthur Zukor was appointed chairman of the fund which will be collected by the National Association.

There were present at the meeting, which was held in the offices of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry: Time-Transit Building, New York City:

Committee on Securing Subscriptions to Liberty Loan: Adolph Zukor, representing the Producers; Lee A. Ochs, representing the Distributors; and Walter J. Moore, General Division.

Committee on Slides: Joseph F. Coufal, Fred J. Hawley, and B. P. Shulberg.

Committee on Slides: Joseph F. Coufal, Fred J. Hawley, and B. P. Shulberg.

The following officers and committees were also appointed or continued:

Chairman, William A. Brady; Vice Chairman, Walter W. Irwin; Treasurer, William L. Sherrill; Secretary, Frederick H. Elliott and the chairmen of the sub-committees as listed below.

Finance Committee: S. Friend, Chairman; William L. Sherrill, J. E. Chadwick, R. H. Cochrane, and E. A. McManus.

Publicity Committee: Charles R. Willingham and Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, Arthur James, President and Richard H. Selig, General Manager, to prepare and issue the motion picture trade papers.

Committee on Securing Subscriptions to Liberty Loan: Adolph Zukor, representing the Producers; Lee A. Ochs, representing the Distributors; and Walter J. Moore, General Division.

Committee on Trailers: Lee A. Ochs, Chairman; J. E. Chadwick; R. H. Cochrane, Fred J. Hawley, and E. A. McManus.

Prize Beauty” in Goldwyn Film

A North Carolina girl, Louise Satterthwaite, one of the “prize beauties” unearthed in the “Beauty and Brains” contest of the Photoplay Magazine, has an important role in the third Mae Marsh production, now in course of filming.
All Chicago Exhibitors May Close Their Theatres

With the bugaboo of all sorts of drastic taxation ahead of them and facing the inevitable and natural slump in business that the hot weather will bring, a movement is on foot among Chicago motion picture exhibitors to close all picture houses in the city for a period of six or eight weeks during the middle of the Summer. Because of the hot weather conditions experienced in the past and added to by the abnormal and unsure war conditions of the present the move is being considered with general favor on all sides and definite action and decision may come about in a short time.

Most of the members of the Exhibitors' League are in favor of the proposition. Exchange heads and other men in the film trade throughout the city have declared the plan an advisable one and the only seeming difficulty in the way is the securing the consent and positive action of every theatre owner and manager in the city to comply with the temporary closing plan. One well known Loop exhibitor in discussing the move said: "I am willing to join in the temporary closing whenever it is decided upon and when every exhibitor in the city without exception joins in the action. It would be a good move to shut up for six or eight weeks in the hot weather and especially this coming Summer facing the war economy and taxation tax question. In addition, last year for instance, there were very few exhibitors in this city who got away with a profit. Some of them just paid expenses and most of them lost money."

Smith Back in Eastern Vitagraph Harness

Greater Vitagraph President Returns from Vacation to Western Studios with New Ideas and More Vima Than Ever

A. F. SMITH, president of Greater Vitagraph, has returned from his vacation trip to the west coast and has taken up the reins again at the Flatbush studio.

Just after arriving in California, several weeks ago, Mr. Smith was confined to his hotel by a nervous breakdown.

Upon his recovery Mr. Smith investigated the affairs of the western studio and before he finished he had awarded contracts for the rebuilding of much of it and for enlarging the plant in many ways.

"I desire to make the western studio the Pacific coast monument of Vitagraph," Mr. Smith said in explaining the improvements, "the same as our eastern studio is the monument on the Atlantic coast."

While at the western studio, President Smith caused to be posted on the studio bulletin board a notice that he would be in his office every day between noon and one o'clock for the purpose of hearing complaints from any employee.

Upon his return Mr. Smith declared that he purposed to install his "complaint hour" at the Brooklyn studio as soon as he had finished with the accumulation of work caused by his absence.
WITH THE EXHIBITOR

Pungent Remarks by Herrington in St. Louis

Exhibitors Hear Call to Organization—Deposit System Scored by National Organizer—Censorship and Taxation Fight Urged

FRED J. HERRINGTON, national organizer for the Motion Picture League of America, visited St. Louis for four days, arriving on May 9. Mr. Herrington saw all the principal exhibitors in the city and made an address at a special meeting of the Exhibitors’ Association, which was called for two o’clock on Saturday, May 12, at the headquarters of the Association, at the Hotel Beers building.

Mr. Herrington explained in his speech the benefit and necessity of a strong organization between exhibitors and urged further and greater efforts along that line. He said that the moving picture, which is conceded by all to be the greatest educator in the world, has in a great many instances educated everybody but the exhibitor. He spoke at length on the need of cooperation between exhibitors, and said that while many nationalities were in the business, there should be no Irish, no Germans, no Greeks and no Italians—nothing but exhibitors, when the present and ultimate good of the industry was considered.

He spoke of the injustice of the deposit system, and said that it could be eliminated if the exhibitors would secure the passage of legislation that would force any producer who compelled an exhibitor to make a deposit for his protection to put up a like amount for the exhibitor’s protection.

Mr. Herrington’s remarks, which were pugnent and to the point, were received with great favor by his audience.

He said that the producers and exchange managers often referred to the average theatre manager as the fly-by-night exhibitor, but he believes that if the average exhibitor could be called a fly-by-night, many of the producers and exchange managers could be justly called acrobats, as many of them were constantly on the fly.

Mr. Herrington urged strong cooperation in the fight against censorship and drastic taxation laws, and when the officers of the local Exhibitors’ Association began planning to tender him a banquet, he thanked them but declined the honor, with the advice that the money used for such a purpose could be better spent in the fight against adverse legislation and his suggestion was acted upon.

What Is Fair Price Protection For Down Town Theatre?

DETROIT—first-run exhibitors and exchange men have differing opinions on how many days should lapse between the first and second run of a big feature attraction. Not long ago a large downtown theatre in Detroit exhibited an eight-reel production at prices ranging from 25 cents to $1.50. One week later it appeared in an outskirt theatre at prices ranging from 25 to 50 cents.

The downtown theatre filed a vigorous complaint, but the man who owned the picture simply said: “Well, you did not want to pay for thirty or sixty day protection, and what else can we do?”

This same exchange man said to the News representative: “If a downtown theatre wants first run and then wants thirty or sixty days protection let them pay for that protection. No theatre, even though it is a large one, should expect the exchange to lay idle with its print after he gets through showing it a week or two.”

Whichever was to blame in the case cited, not only this exhibitor and exchange man suffered a serious damage, but other exhibitors and exchange men suffered.

We want to hear from exhibitors everywhere what their experience is on this matter of sliding prices. How much more can the “downtown” house charge for “first-run” and exclusive prestige, musical embellishment of the picture, and all that goes with skimming the first “cream” from the overflowing bowl of public patronage? How far precedent in time must the first-run house be placed?
ON THE FIRING LINE

E. A. Strank, managing The Star at Buchanan, W. Va., says, "I have only been entering pictures nine months and as yet I have had little success." Then he adds. "My greatest kick is that the films are old and worn."

E. D. Lloyd, of Luray, Va., has opened a new house in Buena Vista, Va., called the Dixie. Paramount, Pathé and Thri- meke are listed. "I have been a News subscriber for two years," says Mr. Lloyd, and find it the first aid to exhibitors. After trying many programs I find Paramount pictures and policies the best.

"Business here is fair," is the report from the Bela Steh Theatre, Inc., of Belfast, Me., operating the . . . . Stars. The program is changed daily with Paramount, World, Art Dramas and Metro furnishing the offerings. George C. Thompson is manager of the house.

Manager J. S. Phillips, of the Opera House, Arnprior, Ontario, reports: "This is a good show town, and we expect to show all the big pictures this year. We are putting in a new up to date booth, with an Edison Model B.

E. C. Steh, of Luray, Va., has opened a new house in Buena Vista, Va., called the Dixie. Paramount, . . . . Stars. After trying many programs I find Paramount the best." I have a letter, we hope every exhibitor and every exchange-man in the community take a good look at this letter, as it shows the way things are going.

Through the courtesy of R. P. Mattheus, Philadelphia manager of the American Photo-player Company, the large private auditorium of the Player Company will be used as the meeting place of the delegates. There are now 104 members of the Philadelphia Exhibitors' League. The first-class orchestra will play around the clock, from 2 P. M. to 2 A. M. Other features to drive dull care away will be introduced. Many leading photo-players will be guests of the convention.

Are Atlanta Exchanges Alone In This?

Executive Elliott of Georgia Suffers Stiffening Burden

Express Charges Twelve Per Cent of Total Daily Expense

Submarine Mine-Layer Idea from Science Magazine

Through an error, The Bray Studios, Inc., producers of the Paramount-Bray-Pictograph, gave credit for the information on which the "Submarine Mine-Layer" film was based, to themselves, when, as a matter of fact, this information was secured through Popular Science Monthly and the courtesy of Waldemar Kaempffer, the editor of that well-known monthly publication.

Through an error, The Bray Studios, Inc., producers of the Paramount-Bray-Pictograph, gave credit for the information on which the "Submarine Mine-Layer" film was based, to themselves, when, as a matter of fact, this information was secured through Popular Science Monthly and the courtesy of Waldemar Kaempffer, the editor of that well-known monthly publication.

Through an error, The Bray Studios, Inc., producers of the Paramount-Bray-Pictograph, gave credit for the information on which the "Submarine Mine-Layer" film was based, to themselves, when, as a matter of fact, this information was secured through Popular Science Monthly and the courtesy of Waldemar Kaempffer, the editor of that well-known monthly publication.

Through an error, The Bray Studios, Inc., producers of the Paramount-Bray-Pictograph, gave credit for the information on which the "Submarine Mine-Layer" film was based, to themselves, when, as a matter of fact, this information was secured through Popular Science Monthly and the courtesy of Waldemar Kaempffer, the editor of that well-known monthly publication.
Two Sides to Schmidt Case, Says Clune—"Customer Always Right"

The Clune Film Producing Company, by S. C. Rogers of Chicago, denies emphatically in a letter just received any intention not to pay W. Schmidt of Brees, Ill., the square kind of a deal. We refer to notice in May 12 issue of Motion Picture News that exhibitor Schmidt claimed reimbursement of a small amount of damages suffered him from cancellation of a film contract.

Without questioning Mr. Schmidt's sincerity, Mr. Rogers makes a very strong case for his own fairness and states frankly why Mr. Schmidt's claim was denied.

We reported the case on a letter, telegram, and contract sent us by Mr. Schmidt, which indicated arbitrary cancellation by the exchange, with refusal to consider Mr. Schmidt's claim, generally denying all obligations to the exchange.

Mr. Rogers now states, and Mr. Schmidt confirms this statement, that his exchange followed a wire not forty-eight hours after the booking, and a week in advance of the proposed date of showing, by offers to take a first-rider picture at full price or at any open date, explaining to Mr. Schmidt that the cancellation was made to protect Mr. Schmidt from an error in routing, by their road man who would have made it impossible to get the film to him on the day first booked. Mr. Schmidt did not even answer these letters, and not until weeks afterward presented a claim as follows: "For engaging billboard space and making heralds printed and telephone charge.

This was not clearly shown, and a spirit of fairness met in adjusting matters all around and booking the picture at later date. Mr. Clune's most insistent command to all his offices, he says, is "The patron or customer is always right."

Will Too Many Downtown Runs Spoil Neighborhood Business? Can we say in the larger cities it is not a good plan to have too many first-runs in the downtown section, because ultimately these theatres are certain to suffer? The News correspondent of Detroit, notes that the "Patty" Arbuckle first release, "The Butcher Boy," was shown by six of the large downtown houses in Detroit. Practically every leading outlet, has been booked for later run, but when they learned that so many downtown houses exhibited the film, some of them became fretful and sent in cancellations, which were later satisfactorily adjusted.

This brings up the question as to whether it is a good plan to put in a comedy, with such a well-known star, in too many first-run houses at the same time? Does it or does not hurt the outskirts house?

This question offers deep study. It is not to be answered off-hand by assuming everybody saw the picture downtown. The boast and advantage of the downtown showman, up to a certain point would help the neighborhood man whose show everybody knows was a big hit downtown. Were the downtown theatre owners right or wrong in their complaint?

Uses Paramounts Exclusively The Williamsburg Theatre, Brooklyn, is using Paramount Pictures exclusively during the week of May 20, S. Marcovich, who operates the theatre, has gradually increased the number of booking days in the past, week and for this one week makes the house an exclusive Paramount theatre. Each Paramount picture is run two days under regular contract.

EXHIBITOR PERSONALS

MICHIGAN—Calumet: Geoffrey Jefferson, former proprietor of the Royal, has taken charge of the management of the Paramount Exchange at Detroit.

John Vogel, fifty-six year old proprietor of the Calumet Picture theatre here, was hospitalized in his rooms over the theatre last night, suffering from a heart ailment, a fire which caused $15,000 damage. Vogel was taken to the Calumet and later to the Calumet and St. Mary's Hospital. He is improving.

The object of showing the film is to help improve the heart.

Charles A. McVicker has been appointed general manager of a booking house for the William F. Klatt theatres in Detroit, a position he formerly held. For the past three months he has been in the West recuperating for his health. The theatre manager, Detroit, is employing the only woman operator in the city, she is Mrs. June Eager, assistant manager, who is projecting the film, "Birth," at the Drury Lane and "Drury Lane is showing this film to women only during the hours of 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. after which it gives its regular picture and then employs its man operator. The "Birth" engagements are the only successful ones being its second week with prospects for several more.

MINNESOTA—Minneapolis: H. C. Andresen has been appointed manager of the H. C. Andresen Theatre which was recently acquired by Finkelement and Robben. Mr. Andresen has been city sales-man for Vitagraph's Minneapolis exchange before that he was manager of the Interna- tional Film Company.

MISSOURI—Pierce City: C. L. Martin of Forest City, recently closed the old theatre and opened a brand new one, which is named the Princess, is being equally assisted by his sister, Ada Martin who is at present looking after it. Ada Martin is making a trip to Colorado and California. Mr. Martin adopted the policy of a "Family Group Night," and secured the co-operation of Perry Carmichael, superintendent of the picture at the Princess.

Piedmont: Jules A. Frenon has recently completed the construction of a new theatre here which he has christened the Princess. It has a seating capacity of about 300, and is open three nights each week.

St. Louis: Mr. Cornelius, proprietor of a string of motion pictures here, has recently closed in St. Louis, has closed the Royal on Sixth street and the West End on Market Street, the Blue, the first of the Cornelius houses that was opened in St. Louis, is still open and does a lively business.

ONTARIO—Brant: The Strand theatre opened last week under the management of Mr. Murray.

Toronto: F. Coulton for the past two years manager of the Photodrome theatre, Queen street East, has been appointed manager of the Globe theatre, taking the place of Austin Cohen, who will handle his new exchange.

Toronto: L. Meyer of New York, has purchased the Strand theatre, Toronto, which has been on the hands of the assignee for two months.

London: Mr. Graves, who succeeded Eddie Bernard, the manager of the Strand theatre, London, Mr. Graves for sometime was manager of the Grand Opera house, London, Ohio.

Ottawa: W. J. Stewart has severed his connections as manager of the Casino theatre, Ottawa, and has been appointed assistant representative for Charles Stevens, of Stevens, for the Western territory, and is on his way to Vancouver. Mr. Stewart is associated with Mr. Charles Stevens in theatrical enterprises.

NEW YORK—Scotty Torso, who has recently been made that Warren Smith's new film will challenge all the big producers of motion pictures to motion pictures and muscle action.

PICTOR: Solomon Soffer, who opened his new movie theatre at Sag harbor, Sag harbor, has made arrangements with W. R. Hays of the moving picture house there, to turn over the Palace at Sag harbor, and he will continue a policy of high-class pictures, Including a large number of silent pictures.

NEW HAMPSHIRE—Concord: E. T. Green has opened the Columbia theatre, which he will devote strictly to motion pictures.

Dorothy Broggett will replace Mr. Rich in the management of the theatres.

NEBRASKA—North Platte: The Palace theatre at North Platte was badly damaged by fire in week.

Palls City: E. S. Nesbit has purchased the Vaudeville theatre at Palls City, New York.

Olcans: R. L. Rusy has purchased the Ed Meyer theatre, Rochester.

Shubert: Joseph Harper is the new owner of the motion picture house at North Bend. Ed. Mayer has purchased the movies house at North Bend.

Portsmouth: J. B. Smith and W. H. Palmer have taken over the lease of the opera house at Portsmouth, and will show motion pictures.

Wahoo: John Beemarker has purchased the Electric theatre.

Norfolk: H. Blunchel of the New Lyric, opened in Norfolk, several weeks ago. The Tully Sisters orchestra has been secured as a constant attraction at his theatre.

Black River Falls: Lee O. Lyon has purchased the moving picture outfit of Earl Jones, and has regular entertainments every Tuesday evening.

Utica: W. G. Johnson has opened a new moving picture house here.

Ort Perry has opened the Electric theatre.

Goode: The work of remodeling the Sounders building at Cob, Neb., to be used as a moving picture theatre, is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

Dixon: Ray Flaherty and Frank Dunn have purchased a new moving picture theatre and have taken charge.

Bernard: W. C. Harrington, of St. Louis, has sold the Ideal theatre to J. H. Hrza.

TEXAS—Dallas: The Washington theatre here has been using up its stock of pictures and is now attracting attention to its offering of "Womanhood," a new picture that has received a special attention. The film is an exact duplicate, in miniature of one of United Western's modern dramatics.

Austin: William J. Whitley, the manager of the Bell Airdrome, at Austin, has made arrangements to show pictures to the students, formerly with the Hancock Opera House will be the house that will show all pictures which will be used.

Childress: G. S. Layton, former owner of the Monogram theatre at Childress, Tex., has taken charge of the La Grande.

Belleview: E. E. Kinney has opened his theatre here, after having installed modern machinery.

San Antonio: The Grand Opera House, at San Antonio, Tex., under the management of Mr. Scott as manager. The initial offering was the "Vita" a new picture of the Glory of the Nation. Mr. Scott will use the added attraction of singers during the showing of pictures.

Culro: The Fox theatre has been opened at Culro in addition to its showing of motion pictures in addition to act of the Morris Musical Com-
Join the National League

Maine has sent in a call for the services of Fred J. Herrington, national organizer. Virginia exhibitors have also asked for his presence and a Virginia convention has been set for May 25th at Richmond. A big turnout is promised. Virginia exhibitors want to organize.

South Carolina exhibitors held their State Convention at Columbia on May 9th. Other exhibitors, Branch No. 1, will hold an important pre-convention meeting in Cleveland May 15th. Big state conventions to follow are: Texas, June 12th and 13th; Michigan, Hotel Pantlind, Grand Rapids, June 12th and 13th; North Carolina, Wrightsville Beach, June 14th and 16th.

Leaving Kansas City, Mr. Herrington's present itinerary takes him through the South. He will gladly arrange to visit any Southern State. Write or wire us and we will wire him.

Further calls from Southern States have rearranged the itinerary of National Organizer Fred J. Herrington, which now stands as follows:

After the convention of Virginia exhibitors at Richmond, May 25th, Mr. Herrington will return to the conventions to be held in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Pennsylvania, etc.

Exhibitors are alive to organization this year. The Chicago convention is already assured of the greatest attendance of exhibitors ever brought about.

--- COUPON ---

Are you a League member? If not, why not? Will you attend the National Convention in Chicago—July 14-22nd?

Do you favor instructed or uninstructed delegates? Who is your choice for President?

Remarks

Signed

Theatre

City
Potatoes and Good Will

Motion Picture News has, more than once, announced itself in favor of the exhibitor who takes a lively interest in the doings of his town. Manager George Sarvis, of the Columbian and Library theatres, Warren, Pa., is the latest candidate for congratulation.

Recently a food shortage in Warren was accompanied by a sinkage in the city gas pressure, so that many factories suspended operations, and hundreds of laborers were thrown out of employment. The Salvation Army Corps started relief work.

Manager Sarvis loaned his two theatres to the good cause, got in touch with the newspapers and instituted a "Potato Day." Only children were admitted, and the price of admission was one good Irish potato. With the newspapers behind him, a little money spent decorating the billboards and two large barrels in front of his box-offices, Mr. Sarvis turned his theatres into grocery stores. The kids ran-sacked grocery stores and cellars in search of "Murphys," and, when the day was over, twenty-one bushels of potatoes were taken for 2,000 admisions.

Putting the Apple of Eden on a Commercial Basis

Manager Walter F. Davis of the Palace theatre, Des Moines, stopped busy business men passing his door last week by a novel and effective display just outside of his lobby on Metro's "The Secret of Eve." minds of the public, of Eve and the apple. Mr. Davis procured a whole barrel of big, juicy apples and stood it under the canopy with the following placard attached: "Today. The Secret of Eve."

People of all classes questioned the manager's accuracy in supplying so many apples, but all had their curiosity aroused to see the picture, as was evidenced by full houses the three days the film was shown. As the photograph indicates, it was necessary to cover the apples over with a piece of woven wire to keep the hungry public from devouring the display.

Hats Off to Crossley

J. F. Crossley, manager of the Sorg theatre, Middletown, Ohio, who has been mentioned in the columns of Motion Picture News for his success in abolishing the daily program change, is using a program that we can point to as a model in many respects. As the photograph indicates, it was necessary to cover the apples over with a piece of woven wire to keep the hungry public from devouring the display.

HARSH WORDS, BUT TRUE!

A. H. Hilton, who fairly crackles with live-wire ideas for the benefit of Lewis- ton, Iowa, remarks scathing-ly in the current issue of "Paramount Progress":

"Some Fellows Never Advertise Until They Advertise Their Place For Sale!"

Hats Off to Crossley

J. F. Crossley, manager of the Sorg theatre, Middletown, Ohio, who has been mentioned in the columns of Motion Picture News for his success in abolishing the daily program change, is using a program that we can point to as a model in many respects.

1. It contains the entire month's program.
2. It carries advertising, enough to pay the printing bill.
3. It is easy to understand and read, because, in spite of its small size, the type is not crowded.
4. It has four pages, each measuring 2 1/2 inches by 4 1/2 inches. The back cover is occupied by two advertise-ments.

Stock Exchange "Call Board" Draws Folks to "The Barricade"

For the purpose of calling attention to "The Barricade," a Wall street story with Mabel Taliaferro at the head of the cast, which is featured among the current Metro releases, Manager E. C. Bostick of the Merrill theatre, at Milwaukee, used a sign in the form of a "call board." This was an exact imitation of the black-board used in brokers' offices and in Chambers of Commerce to record the movements of stocks and bonds, grains and live stock as the quotations come in over the "ticker."

Hanging from the wall of the theatre lobby, near the entrance, the device attracted the interest of passers-by and was the means of causing hundreds to stop and see the picture, who otherwise would have passed by.

SPARKS OF GENIUS

When Exhibitor Wall, Fremont, Nebras- ka, was showing a Baby Marie Os- borne picture, he offered to take a motion picture of the youngster in the town who most closely resembles the Pathé heroi-nette. It brought the crowds.

In New York there is a law which says that children under sixteen cannot attend picture shows unless accompanied by an adult. The Empire Theatre, Bronx, New York, conducts children's matinees every Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Board of Education. Mrs. Irving Crane and her assistants act as guardians for children who come unac- companied. Coupons attached to hand bills admit the children.

Letting the Scouts Help

When "The Battle Cry of Peace" played the Colonial theatre, Bucknell, Ind., sixty boy scouts were induced to march through the streets, bearing flags and banners an- nouncing the show. After the parade the boys were given tickets to be sold on 20 per cent commission. At each performance a number of the boys lined up before the theatre. Besides the commission, each of the scouts was given a free pass.

Walter Davis played the part of Adam, and covered the apples with chicken wire, so that none of the passing Eves wouid succumb to temptation.

The striking but inexpensive use of rules is an advertising reminder that cannot be hampered upon thoroughly enough. Mutual has taken advantage of broken rules nicely in this advertisement of a Gail Kane Picture. Typewriting of this sort can be set up in any newspaper office.

SPARKS OF GENIUS

A. H. Hilton, who fairly crackles with live-wire ideas for the benefit of Lewis- ton, Iowa, remarks scathing-ly in the current issue of "Paramount Progress":

"Some Fellows Never Advertise Until They Advertise Their Place For Sale!"

When "The Battle Cry of Peace" played the Colonial theatre, Bucknell, Ind., sixty boy scouts were induced to march through the streets, bearing flags and banners an- nouncing the show. After the parade the boys were given tickets to be sold on 20 per cent commission. At each performance a number of the boys lined up before the theatre. Besides the commission, each of the scouts was given a free pass.

The striking but inexpensive use of rules is an advertising reminder that cannot be hampered upon thoroughly enough. Mutual has taken advantage of broken rules nicely in this advertisement of a Gail Kane Picture. Typewriting of this sort can be set up in any newspaper office.
The Wholesale Admission Plan

C. B. Yost, manager of the Royal theatre, Hutchinson, Kan., recently hit upon an ingenious idea of bringing the whole family to the theatre. He offered to admit the entire family for 25 cents. On several occasions he nearly regretted the flash of genius that was packing his theatre.

Mr. Yost reckoned that the average family comprised five people. That would have narrowed the admission down to 5 cents a head. However, he failed to take into consideration that some Kansas farmers have more ambitious ideas as regards families than the folks who live where gold isn’t so free.

His first surprise was the appearance of John Haberkorn, a Scandinavian farmer, proud father of eight. His party included, as well as his wife and eight lusty youngsters, two adopted nieces and a sister-in-law, making thirteen in all.

Many other families of more than ten members made haste to take advantage of Manager Yost’s magnanimous offer.

Womanhood Has Patriotic Opening in Omaha and Des Moines

“Womanhood,” the patriotic spectacle recently completed by Vitagraph, is the subject of intensive and fertile thinking on the part of Des Moines and Omaha exhibitors. It opened at the Garden theatre, Des Moines, on April 22. The lobby was decorated with flags, the music was martial, and a soldier in dress uniform stood at attention before the box-office. Patriotism was the predominant note of the newspaper advertising. Manager Thomas of the Strand theatre, Omaha, advertised “Womanhood” during the week preceding its opening. He induced Mayor Dahlman to make a recruiting speech before the screen every evening.

The army, navy and marine recruiting stations placed officers with enlistment blanks and with literature in the lobby; patriotic tableaux such as “The Spirit of 1776” were staged; the theatre was profusely decorated in patriotic colors and liberal advertising, with an unusual amount of free comment by the newspapers, “put the picture over.”

To stir patriotism Manager Thomas of the Strand accepted the offer of the Omaha Menoma chorus to sing patriotic numbers and to lead the audience in such singing for a quarter of an hour preceding the picture, “Her Father’s Keeper,” on Monday evening, April 23. At this time a liberal announcement of “Womanhood’s” coming was made.

Aitken Returns from Fight Waged on Tax

Harry Aitken, president of the Triangle Film Corp., has returned from Washington, D. C., leaving his brother, Roy Aitken, to carry on the work he has started.
LET US HEAR FROM YOU!

Service that is Service must be keyed to the wants of the reader.

We are giving you the efforts of a top-notch advertising man in these Ready-Made Ad-Talks because Service—real Service—has always been the motto of Motion Picture News.

But all Service can be bettered—with your cooperation. Tell us what you think of these Ready-Made Talks, how you are making use of them, what additional improvements would increase their value to you.

Write to-day; we'll expect to hear from you.

---

READY-MADE AD-TALKS

Charles Ray in "The Millionaire Vagrant,” Typical Story of an Adventurous Spirit
(Triangle Free Roll Five-Feet Production)

It is not ordinary to see a millionaire living the life of a beggar. But ordinary is sure to be more than interesting and suggestive immediately to the mind that some- where, some time, somebody telling of such a million- aire there is adventure and perhaps romance. Therefore the story of the pages that follow would be pleasant pastime but if this same story were told through the medium of the screen before you it is sure to please the more.

"The Millionaire Vagrant," a story well worth seeing on the screen. Charles Ray, Triangle's young star, is seen in the role of the one-armed little orphan. His story is told in the role combined with the strong plot contained, makes a screen version beyond comparison. As Stephen Du Peyser, he gives up all the comforts usually attributed to the millionaire and goes to the slums to live on an income of six dollars per week. He goes for one purpose only for the publicity. His eyes have been opened to injustices which is often visited on the unfortunate poor just because they are poor and unable to defend themselves. While living in the slums he meets a girl in the person of Sylvia Bremer whose good name is threatened because of an unfair advantage is sought to be taken of her. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

The Millionaire Vagrant" with Charles Ray in the leading role will be seen on the theatre on — week.

"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

The novelist who has written a story of marital life has been happy in his writing. It is almost inconceivable in the present day to turn to the divorce courts to straighten out marital affairs. Many people who have been unhappy for years are finding that the divorce court is not the place for the reason that they do not understand the many tragedies of married life which have not found their way into their homes. These people are fortunate, to be sure but are those fortunate themselves against the future when more unhappy may happen to them? For their own good and the improvement of their happiness they should acquaint themselves with such a book as "Freakles" which is in the front rank. Gradually everyone will discover the necessity for the divorces which are given to free the married people who is destroying the last evidence of happiness in their lives. The greater happiness is in the life of the one who has not written a story of a great, serious problem, happiness. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff as "Freakles" in "The Millionaire Vagrant," a story well told in the role combined with the strong plot contained, makes a screen version beyond comparison. As Stephen Du Peyser, he gives up all the comforts usually attributed to the millionaire and goes to the slums to live on an income of six dollars per week. He goes for one purpose only for the publicity. His eyes have been opened to injustices which is often visited on the unfortunate poor just because they are poor and unable to defend themselves. While living in the slums he meets a girl in the person of Sylvia Bremer whose good name is threatened because of an unfair advantage is sought to be taken of her. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

*"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

"Freakles," a Lasky-Paramount offering, featuring Fannie Ward and Louise Huff, is adapted from the story by Robert Travers. The novel has been widely read and enjoyed not only by those interested but by everyone with a appeal and a touch of heart-interest which the picture has. It has the wholesome simplicity which is the thing necessary for any reader. The book is a touch of pathos embossed in the lives of unmarried orphans. "Freakles," as presented by Jack Pickford and Louise Huff is a story well told through the screen. The picture will be seen in the leading role combined with the strong plot contained. It is the story of a daughter who has not been imbued with the idea of nobleness and whose modest, unassuming man- ner has earned her the catch name of "Angel." "Freakles" meets the "Angel" how to win over the prize, then comes the great result of the story all leading to an admirably conceived climax. "Angel" is the name of the picture which is novel in its every turn. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff make up a strong supporting cast. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

*"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

"Freakles," a Lasky-Paramount offering, featuring Fannie Ward and Louise Huff, is adapted from the story by Robert Travers. The novel has been widely read and enjoyed not only by those interested but by everyone with a appeal and a touch of heart-interest which the picture has. It has the wholesome simplicity which is the thing necessary for any reader. The book is a touch of pathos embossed in the lives of unmarried orphans. "Freakles," as presented by Jack Pickford and Louise Huff is a story well told through the screen. The picture will be seen in the leading role combined with the strong plot contained. It is the story of a daughter who has not been imbued with the idea of nobleness and whose modest, unassuming man- ner has earned her the catch name of "Angel." "Freakles" meets the "Angel" how to win over the prize, then comes the great result of the story all leading to an admirably conceived climax. "Angel" is the name of the picture which is novel in its every turn. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff make up a strong supporting cast. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

*"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

"Freakles," a Lasky-Paramount offering, featuring Fannie Ward and Louise Huff, is adapted from the story by Robert Travers. The novel has been widely read and enjoyed not only by those interested but by everyone with a appeal and a touch of heart-interest which the picture has. It has the wholesome simplicity which is the thing necessary for any reader. The book is a touch of pathos embossed in the lives of unmarried orphans. "Freakles," as presented by Jack Pickford and Louise Huff is a story well told through the screen. The picture will be seen in the leading role combined with the strong plot contained. It is the story of a daughter who has not been imbued with the idea of nobleness and whose modest, unassuming man- ner has earned her the catch name of "Angel." "Freakles" meets the "Angel" how to win over the prize, then comes the great result of the story all leading to an admirably conceived climax. "Angel" is the name of the picture which is novel in its every turn. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff make up a strong supporting cast. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

*"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

"Freakles," a Lasky-Paramount offering, featuring Fannie Ward and Louise Huff, is adapted from the story by Robert Travers. The novel has been widely read and enjoyed not only by those interested but by everyone with a appeal and a touch of heart-interest which the picture has. It has the wholesome simplicity which is the thing necessary for any reader. The book is a touch of pathos embossed in the lives of unmarried orphans. "Freakles," as presented by Jack Pickford and Louise Huff is a story well told through the screen. The picture will be seen in the leading role combined with the strong plot contained. It is the story of a daughter who has not been imbued with the idea of nobleness and whose modest, unassuming man- ner has earned her the catch name of "Angel." "Freakles" meets the "Angel" how to win over the prize, then comes the great result of the story all leading to an admirably conceived climax. "Angel" is the name of the picture which is novel in its every turn. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff make up a strong supporting cast. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-

*"Unconquered," Starring Fannie Ward

Offers Problem of Marital Unhappiness

(Lasky-Paramount Five-Feet Production)

"Freakles," a Lasky-Paramount offering, featuring Fannie Ward and Louise Huff, is adapted from the story by Robert Travers. The novel has been widely read and enjoyed not only by those interested but by everyone with a appeal and a touch of heart-interest which the picture has. It has the wholesome simplicity which is the thing necessary for any reader. The book is a touch of pathos embossed in the lives of unmarried orphans. "Freakles," as presented by Jack Pickford and Louise Huff is a story well told through the screen. The picture will be seen in the leading role combined with the strong plot contained. It is the story of a daughter who has not been imbued with the idea of nobleness and whose modest, unassuming man- ner has earned her the catch name of "Angel." "Freakles" meets the "Angel" how to win over the prize, then comes the great result of the story all leading to an admirably conceived climax. "Angel" is the name of the picture which is novel in its every turn. Hobart Bos- hworth as "Freakles" and Louise Huff make up a strong supporting cast. The Millionaire Va- gramt is a story well told in a delightful way and will afford you the opportunity of seeing Charles Ray and one of his character-
Gail Kane in "The Serpent's Tooth".

Story of a "Dope" Fiend Versus Love

(American-Museum Five Reel Production)

The "dope" film is a study in the frailties of human beings. It centers around the effects of the evil of dope on the life of a couple. It shows that wholesome happiness can be built upon a justifiable love.

"Madame Bu-Beep" a Picture for "Heart" Week, with Scene During as Octavia (Margaret-Five Reel Production)

The wide, expansive West is sure to suggest adventure to many of the millions of families on the open country. It is sure to be fun to all of the children who have not been able to travel far from home. It is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Maundy Thursday" a Picture for "Heart" Week, with Scene During as Octavia (Margaret-Five Reel Production)

The wide, expansive West is sure to suggest adventure to many of the millions of families on the open country. It is sure to be fun to all of the children who have not been able to travel far from home. It is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a picture about the life of a girl in the West, is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a Picture for "Heart" Week, with Scene During as Octavia (Margaret-Five Reel Production)

The wide, expansive West is sure to suggest adventure to many of the millions of families on the open country. It is sure to be fun to all of the children who have not been able to travel far from home. It is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a picture about the life of a girl in the West, is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a Picture for "Heart" Week, with Scene During as Octavia (Margaret-Five Reel Production)

The wide, expansive West is sure to suggest adventure to many of the millions of families on the open country. It is sure to be fun to all of the children who have not been able to travel far from home. It is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a picture about the life of a girl in the West, is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a Picture for "Heart" Week, with Scene During as Octavia (Margaret-Five Reel Production)

The wide, expansive West is sure to suggest adventure to many of the millions of families on the open country. It is sure to be fun to all of the children who have not been able to travel far from home. It is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.

"Madame Bu-Beep," a picture about the life of a girl in the West, is sure to be of interest to all of the families who are looking for a change of scenery and new surroundings.
Drama of Mistaken Guilt on Universal Program

"Money Madness," Five-Part Butterfly, with Mary MacLaren and Eddie Polo. Ruth Stonehouse Directs and Stars in Subject—Others Listed

An attempt by an unscrupulous official, who places the guilt on an innocent man, to wreck a strong financial institution, forms the basis of the five-part Butterfly Picture, "Money Madness," which heads the Universal Program for the week of May 28. Mary MacLaren and Eddie Polo have the leading roles. Henry Mack directed. Charles H. Mailes, Alfred Vossberg, Ben Bulley and Rex de Roscell are in the supporting cast.

The date of release is Monday, May 28 and on the same date will appear the Nestor comedy, "Tell Morgan's Girl," featuring Eddie Lyons, Lee Moran and Edith Roberts.

The feature for Tuesday, May 29, is the Gold Seal three-act society and mountain drama, "The Stolen Actress," with Ruth Stonehouse in the stellar role. This was written by Fred Jackson and produced by Miss Stonehouse. The cast includes George Webb, Lydia Titus, Jane Bernoudy, Chester Bennett and others.

The Victor one-act drama, "The Gunman's Gospel," featuring Jack Mulhall, is the other Tuesday release.

Heading the releases on Wednesday, May 30, is two-part L-Ko comedy, "Roped Into Scandal," a burlesque, with Harry Lorraine, Bert Reach and Eva Novak contributing most to the fun of the picture. The regular issue of the Universal Animated Weekly will appear Wednesday.

"An Eight Cylinder Romance," a two-part-comedy drama, featuring Reno Rogers and J. M. Foster, will be released Thursday, May 31. Margarita Fischer in the Big U drama, "Delilah," is the other offering of this date.

Little Zoe Rae, the child actress, the principal role in the Victor comedy drama, "By Special Delivery," which will appear Friday, June 1. The Imp drama, "The Puzzle Woman," with Grace Conard and Francis Ford, and Issue No. 21 of the Universal Screen Magazine, are the other Friday releases.

A drama of railroad life in two reels is offered Saturday, June 2, under the Bison brand. It is entitled "No. 10 Westbound," and features Eileen Sedgwick and Kingsley Benedict. The third issue of Universal Current Events and the Joker comedy, "Uneasy Money," with William Franeey, will also be released on Saturday.

The twelfth episode of the Universal mystery serial, "The Voice on the Wire," entitled "The Fifth Victim," will be released during the week.

"Freckles" Released May 28

The Lasky adaptation of Gene Stratton Porter's novel and play, "Freckles," has been scheduled for release on May 28. It presents Jack Pickford and Louise Huff as co-stars for the third time. Among those in the supporting cast is Hobart Bosworth, who once again reverts to the powerful type in the role of the head of the MacLean Lumber Company. Billy Elmer appears as a two-fisted villain, and others in the cast are Lillian Leighton, E. H. Martin, Jane Wolfe and Ernest Joy. The production was made at the Lasky West Coast Studios.

Pickford in "The Little American," July 4

Walter E. Greene, president of the Artcraft Pictures Corporation, last week announced that the next Mary Pickford picture following "A Romance of the Redwoods," now scoring another triumph for Mary in first-run houses throughout the country, would be released July 4. "The Little American" is the title of the forthcoming Pickford vehicle now nearing completion under the direction of Cecil B. De Mille at the Lasky-Hollywood studios in California.

For the first time in many months "Little Mary" will be seen in this picture as a grown-up American girl in modern gowns. As the young society girl of the U. S. A, she is caught in the terrible tide of the German invasion of France.
June Productions Announced by Pallas-Morosco

Viola Dana in "Lady Barnacle" Presentcd June 4

"Lady Barnacle," a Metro productions of the year, starring Viola Dana, will be released by the Metro Pictures Corporation on June 4. This five-act feature, adapted for the screen by June Mathis, from a story of the same name by Edgar Franklin, is presented by B. A. Rolfe. Simultaneously with its release on the Metro program, the story will appear in the All-Story Weekly. John H. Collins, who has directed many of Miss Dana's successes, directed this feature.

Miss Dana has the role of an Indian princess whose love for a prince in opposition to her parent's wishes brings her into all sorts of adventures which of course end happily.

Robert Walker, Augustus Phillips and Marie Adell have prominent parts in the photodrama.

Metro Next Presents Emmy Wehlen in "Duchess of Doubt"

"The Duchess of Doubt" is announced as the next starring vehicle for Emmy Wehlen on the Metro program for the week of May 28. The locale of the story is at Palm Beach and St. Augustine, Florida, and many of the scenes are said to have been taken while the winter colony of pleasure seekers at these resorts were present. George D. Baker adapted and directed the picture from the story by John B. Clymer and Charles A. Logue. B. A. Rolfe presents this attraction on the Metro program.

Miss Wehlen has the part of a girl who is mistaken for a Duchess traveling incognito. In the opening scene she appears as a housemaid in a small-town boarding house. A boarder gives her lessons in the use of the French language and a book called "The Duchess of Doubt." She gels an inspiration from the book and quickly rises to the station of a "Duchess" incognito. In this picture, it is said, Miss Wehlen wears some fashionable "creations." Some of those in support of Miss Wehlen in the Duchess of Doubt" are: George Stuart Christie, Frank Currier, Peggy Parr, Kate Blancke, Walter Horton, Ilean Hume, Charles Eldridge, and others.

Interesting Features and Comedies on Mutual Schedule

"The Serpent's Tooth" is Gail Kane's second American feature production, and will be released through Mutual on May 28. It is a melodramatic story which is said to afford Miss Kane opportunity for heavy emotional acting which suits her admirably.

In short the story is a sermon against the drug evil; it shows how money and fast friends will change a man's life; it shows how a woman can use her love to make or break a man's life; and it shows that there is nothing more despicable than a false friend.

A Knotted Cord" is the title of chapter VIII of the photo-novel, "The Railroad Raiders." In an auto Helen Holmes makes a leap of twenty feet between the pier and a moving vessel and lands right side up with care on the deck of the boat with the engine still running.

As the title of the story, "A Rogue's Defeat," suggests, Jimmy Dale, as the Grey Seal, foils the attempt of a scoundrel to force a man to make him a payment of $50,000 which is not yet due. This two-reel featurette is released on June 1. On May 28 will come to the screen the second of Marie Cahill's comedies, entitled "Patsy's Pardner," in which the fun centers around Miss Cahill's pardner, "Judge Barker," her bulldog.

The Strand comedy of the week, ready May 30 and featuring Billie Rhodes and Jay Belasco is "Bluffing Father." "Jerry's Master Stroke," with George Ovey playing the lead, is the Cub comedy for May 31.
LOUISE HUFF and Jack Pickford in "Freckles" and Fannie Ward in "Uncovured" are the two featured pictures, which Paramount will release the week of May 28.

Surrounding these features will be the sixty-eighth edition of the Paramount Photographs, the magazine-photo-series; the sixteenth release of the series of weekly trips around the world, conducted by Burton Holmes, in which he takes his fellow-journeymen on a journey through Java, and a Black Diamond Comedy entitled "Susie of the Pollies."

"Freckles" is a story by Gene Stratton Porter, one of the fiction successes of the period and has already succeeded as a play.

The story tells of Freckles, a little one-armed waif in an orphanage. After many struggles, and with hunger, he meets Jack McLean, a wealthy lumberman, who hired the manner of the little fellow, appoints him watchman of the lumberyard.

While there, Freckles meets the "Angel," a girl whom wealth cannot spoil. Eventually many adventures Freckles is made happy through true love.

A theme of motherlove is pursued in "Uncovured," in which Fannie Ward is featured. Beatrice De Mille and Leighton Osman wrote the story, which tells of the trials of a woman who married a millionaire when she was too young to know of his character, and with her thoughts centered in her little son has had almost insurmountable difficulties to surmount before she is able to reach her husband with a renunciation of her worth.

The tenth release of the Combilonc scenic pictures is shown under the title of "Love's Sacrifice." It is shot, and Clyde escapes. Beth's mother dies, and she comes West the day after the attempted robbery. On the hand of Bob, who finds the ring she has given her husband, and is informed he is dead. Bob falls in love with her only to find out the truth when he proposes upon the eve of Clyde's return. Eventually Beth follows the dictates of her heart and all ends happily.

Long Heralded Picture "Freckles" Ready

Three Big Stars, Louise Huff, Jack Pickford and Fannie Ward, on Program for May 28: Several Comedies Specialties Round Out Schedule

Dean, Hobart Bosworth, Tully Marshall, Mabel Van Buren and Jane Wolfe.

The sixty-eighth number of Paramount-Bray Photographs, Pietro Puzzles and a travelogue by Burton Holmes completes the program with the addition of a comedy.

Pathé May 27

PATHÉ'S program announced for the week of May 27 includes a dramatic feature, two serial episodes, a comedy with Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby, scenic picture, the International cartoon and scenic split reel, and the Hearst-Pathé News Nos. 44 and 45.

Edwin Arden is starred in the dramatic feature, "The Iron Heart," written by Quida Bergere and produced by George Fitzmaurice. In support of Mr. Arden are Forrest Winant (Leonace Harris), Gertrude Berkeley and Helen Chadwick. The story deals with a mill owner whose only ambition is to make money and become wealthy. He meets a woman as unscrupulous as himself, and the iron heart is melted.

The third episode of "The Neglected Wife" serial, with Ruth Roland, is one of the two serial numbers offered. The story of a girl's fight against the temptations of the world is pictured in this episode. It is entitled "In the Crucible."

"Love's Sacrifice" is the title of the eleventh episode of the "Mystery of the Double Cross," with Mollie King, produced by Astra under the direction of William Parke.

Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby are seen in "Rustiecateting," a one-reel comedy. It tells of the attempt of a city-bred couple to find peace and quiet in the country.

The tenth release of the Combilonc scenic pictures is shown under the title of "Love's Sacrifice." It is shot, and Clyde escapes. Beth's mother dies, and she comes West the day after the attempted robbery. On the hand of Bob, who finds the ring she has given her husband, and is informed he is dead. Bob falls in love with her only to find out the truth when he proposes upon the eve of Clyde's return. Eventually Beth follows the dictates of her heart and all ends happily.

Vic Moore as a "Bungalower" in Klever Komedy

Tied up to a contract to buy a bungalow by paying a dollar down and a dollar when he could be caught—such is Victor Moore's position in "Bungalowing," his latest Klever Komedy, to be released by Paramount June 4.

Mosquitoes arrive by swarms the first night Vic and his wife spent at the bungalow, this despite the assurances of the real estate agent. Attempting to circumvent the pests, Vic dons a gas mask, and is taken for a ghost by his son. Next comes a fishing excursion, with its consequent troubles, during which Vic's son falls in the water, the lines become tangled, and finally a regular cyclone blows up. The bungalow becomes a merry-go-round in the clutches of the wind, and finally Vic is "finished"—at least with bungalowing.
Big Scenic, “A Trip Thru China,” Opening

Having been five years in the making, and heralded after pre-release views as a wonderful scenic, “A Trip Thru China,” in ten parts, opens at the Eltinge theatre, May 22.

The Militia of Mercy will receive the proceeds from this engagement.

The picture provides a complete trip from San Francisco to Hong Kong, Shanghai, Canton, Tientsin, Wusih, Soochow, Macao, Hangchow, Kweichow, Aberdeen, Newchang and Pekin, with the first thirteen pictures that were ever permitted to be taken of scenes in the “Forbidden City.”

The home and customs of the people of the cities and the adjoining provinces are shown, and the industries and commercial pursuits, agriculture, games, sports, amusements and the various forms of labor of these 40,000,000 people are seen.

China Picture is an important section of the picture, providing views of the present-day Chinese army in its drills and exercises, doubly interesting in view of the fact that China was the first of the remaining nations to follow the lead of the United States in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, and its formal declaration of war is daily expected.

“House of Cards” Described as Problem Play

The theme of “House of Cards,” the U. S. Amusement Corporation—Art Drama which marks the debut on Art Dramas Program of Catherine Calvert and Frank Mills, is that the duty of a mother is to her child, and not to a career.

Catherine Calvert, widow of the late Paul Armstrong, the playwright, takes the part of the woman. This is her first public appearance since her husband’s death.

Miss Calvert plays the role of Ethel Howard, a young woman who will not allow marriage to interfere with the proper caring for her children. James O’Neill, Howard Small, Volande Duquette and Helen Nagel arc seen in the chief supporting roles.

Two Popular Stars on Triangle Program, First Week of June

JACK DEVEREAUX and Bessie Barri-scale are the stars of the Triangle feature releases for the week of June 3. Jack Devereaux appears in a comedy entitled “American—That’s All!” The story was written by Robert Shirley and directed by Arthur Rosson under the personal supervision of Allan Dwan. Thomas H. Ince presents Bessie Barri-scale in a Kay Bee production of life among the remote districts of the Southern mountains, known as “Bawbs o’ Blue Ridge.”

“American—That’s All!” is the story of Monte Boggs, son of a retired pickele manufacturer, who finds himself involved in a bewildering series of misadventures when he runs counter to his doting parent’s desire to make the name of Boggs shine in the annals of American aristocracy. The Pickle King spends huge sums in trying to evolve a noble ancestry with family trees, crests and all the requisite trimmings, thinking that Monte will live up to the magnificent setting, but such does not prove to be the case. Monte falls desperately in love with a pretty but plebeian ingénue; and is promptly thrown out of the Pickle King’s eternal mansion. But the young lovers marry, and between them they evolve an idea that nets them a snugg fortune, and is also instrumental in bringing the royalty-imped Pickle King to his final and ignominious climax.

As “Bawbs o’ Blue Ridge,” Bessie Barri-scale takes the part of a harum-scarum young dryad of the Virginia mountains, who has been brought up by her spinster aunt, “Maw Becky.” Bawbs has been raised with practically no knowledge of the world, but typifies the very spirit of the beautiful pine forests in which she has made her home. Ralph Gantner, a novelist, invades Bawbs’ sanctuary, seeking inspiration for his latest book. He meets the mountain girl, but has great difficulty in winning her confidence. Bawbs finds a letter dropped by the author, which convinces her that he is poor. “Maw Becky” goes to town and is killed in a runaway. Before she dies she tells Bawbs of a box of money hidden under the floor of their cabin. When the novelist finds Bawbs up, she reprimands him, thinking he has neglected her in her trouble. Pinmeas Bradley, an aged and miserably hermit, hears of Bawbs’ fortune and comes courting her. In the meantime the girl has sent another to her money, thinking he needs it. The old miser is driven away by Bawbs’ colored mammy and a reconciliation takes place between the novelist and Bawbs.

Wide Demand for “Mutt and Jeff”

But Fisher, who now personally manages the production and distribution of the “Mutt and Jeff” Animated Cartoon Enterprise, reports an unusual increase in bookers on his comedies. Exhibitors throughout the country are said to be steadily requesting that Fisher release two weeks, but on account of the demand for the work involved in the production of the “Mutt and Jeff” Animated Cartoon, the creator of these world-famous characters has found it impossible to comply with their wish.
Appropriate War "Specialties"

A MERICA'S entry into the war has had a decided effect on educational films and many theatres are now showing subjects relating to the military. A particularly interesting subject is shown by the International on its split-reel just released through the Pathé exchanges. This 500-foot subject shows the making, the launching, and the trials of 550 submarine chasers manufactured by the Elco Company of Bayonne, N. J., for the British Government. These chasers are in design high-powered and speedy motor-boats, being fitted with twin engines of 250-horsepower each, which drive the boats about twenty-five miles an hour. How the parts were cut out and assembled is of especial interest. "Our Fighting Forces," two-reel Pathé Specials, is another picture which will flash a message of patriotism to the millions of theatre patrons.

President Wilson, Secretaries Baker, Daniels and Lansing are first shown and universal Military Training

Frank R. Abrams, president of the CameraPhograph Company, has completed a picture in two reels of the Cadets of the New York Military Academy, illustrating how universal military training can be adapted to all schools. The boys range from fourth to the senior classmen, through Francis Holley of the Bureau of Commercial Economics, and the National Security League, have requested screenings.

Educational's Double Offering

The weekly releases of the Ditmars Book of Nature from Educational Films Corporation takes us into a study of the cat animals. There is quite some resemblance between tabby of the old maid's parlor, and feline "bobtail" and other ferocious looking beasts of prey, and then again there is some difference, as will be seen from this picture. Hereditarily hatred of the cat for the dog, coming down through ages from the struggles of their ancestors, the wild cats and the wolves, is snappily, rather scratchily illustrated in a cat and dog encounter in which push passes off the honors distinctly.

One of the most important scenes we have seen is the beautiful showing of "The Riviera," including several of the famous cities of Southern France along the Mediterranean—before the war, of course. Monaco, the little principality which includes Monte Carlo, where ten suicides a month is the average mortality from the lure of the gambling palaces, Nice, and other well-known resorts are pictured in very clear and pleasing photography. On the same reel "Peculiar Pals" shows an odd association between a pet fox terrier and a monkey.

Current Event Reel of U Jumps Into Favor

Universal reports a new record for booking a single reel release on the first showing of the new special reel special feature "Current Events." The first appearance of this reel was on May 14 and twenty-eight of the leading New York theatres showed it on first run. This number included almost all the big houses on Broadway from Forty-second to 110th street. Two days each was the length of run. The Rialto theatre played it a solid week.

Varied Subjects in Pictograph, Paramount's Magazine Film

Under the title "The Key to Beauty" is demonstrated by an enviable "example" of the beneficial results obtainable, how modern art can make herself charming to the last degree without cosmetics, nor tight-laced stays, in the sixtieth release of Paramount-Bray "Pictograph."" The ukelele, Hawaii's magic musical instrument, locally called the "houncing flea," is shown in the making in a San Francisco "factory." "Travelling for Snappers" shows the hardy fishermen of the Northern Coast of Auckland, with their steam trawlers in the choppy sea, gathering an avalanche of shiny fish.

Bobby Bumps and the Pup take a "Day-light Camping Trip," which ends in a hurry when the terrors of night come. This Paramount-Bray Pictograph is said to be of very great interest. Important Gaumont Featurettes Now Ready from Mutual

The first single-reel from the Gaumont studios in June is "Tours Around the World." No. 31, released June 5. This is a very entertaining reel, representing Europe, Africa and the West Indies. Europe contributes pictures of "Winter in Galicia" and "The Monastery of Piedra, Saragossa, Spain." The former shows the character of the country exposed to Russian invasion beyond the Carpathian mountains. The latter is one of the most picturesque spots in Spain. The monastery was built in 1194. Africa offers pictures of Morocco's chief seaport, Tangier. St. Kitts is an island of the British West Indies.

Gaumont's topical screen newspaper, the Mail of the Weekly, will appear June 6. It will contain the news of the week, as well as an appeal for the Liberty Loan.

June 7 Gaumont will issue Reel Life No. 38. "Modern Footwear" explains the making of shoes by machinery, "Bass Fishing in Florida" shows a picturesque paradise at Lake Poinsette, Fla. "Launching a Lifeboat," a new device for rapidly getting the boat over the side of the vessel, and "Electrical Gardening," which is most timely, illustrates how an electric current is used to hasten the growth of plants. The reel concludes with pictures of physical education, mainly by means of dancing. Both the popular Dalcroze and Demyen methods are illustrated.
"The Barrier" Reports Record Booking in New York

In New York "The Barrier" is now playing the Loew time, after which it will be seen on the entire Fox and Poli circuits. From the Pacific Coast come reports of highly successful runs at the Portola theatre, San Francisco, and Clune's in Los Angeles, and the booking for the J. G. Clemens' houses in Seattle, Portland, Spokane and Tacoma. "The Barrier" is also already booked for Sacramento, Fresno, San Jose and Oakland, in each of which cities it will play an extended engagement. The Majestic theatre in Grand Rapids is playing "The Barrier" for a week and applications are in from hundreds of other houses of equally high class, whose contracts will be closed as rapidly as the various Selznick exchanges can handle them.

The foreign rights to "The Barrier" have been secured by J. Frank Brockliss and altogether the prospects for this production are extremely brilliant. "You don't have to sell "The Barrier,"" reports Sol Berman, manager of the New York Selznick exchange. "It sells itself. Our difficulty lies in taking care of the rush. They all seem to want to play it on the same date."

Mr. Hampton, president of the Rex Beach Pictures Company temporarily occupied offices at the Selznick headquarters last week but has established offices for his company at 1604 Broadway.

Although there is no official announcement as to further relations between the Rex Beach Company and Mr. Selznick, it seems to be generally understood that the latter will have first call on all the productions of that company.

Thrills Draw for "Lone Wolf"

The triple thrill contained in "The Lone Wolf," apart from all other considerations is drawing attention from exhibitors and public alike, according to reports from Selznick-Pictures.

"The Trufflers" Popular

Kleine - Edison - Selig-Essanay announce many inquiries from exhibitors and many bookings on "The Trufflers," due in part to the country-wide advertising campaign in the Hearst publications that has been going on for the past two weeks and is planned to continue until well into June.

Business Reported Booming on Special "Bluebird Days"

The "special day" idea, being followed by scores of exhibitors on which they center great interest through special advertising effort, is coming to benefit Bluebird in great part, according to reports of Bluebird branch managers and letters from theatre men on the many "Bluebird Days" held.

For more than a year the Bluebird publicity department has been offering suggestions in advertising helps and by incorporating in reading notices references to "Bluebird Day," and this material has been an assistance in furthering the movement. The brand lends itself most readily to the scheme—for there is a fall on bluebirds—bluebird handkerchiefs, favors, china, candies and no end of bluebird novelties that serve as souvenirs for "Bluebird Day."

Lillian K. Collins, who manages the Burke theatre, Kenosha, Wisc., has been specializing in "Bluebird Day" for more than a year and declares that the move has been of increasing benefit to her gross business. Wednesday and Thursday are "Bluebird Days" at C. A. Lick's New theatre, Little Rock, Ark., and letters have been received at Bluebird headquarters from all parts of the country telling how various exhibitors have profited by creating "Bluebird Day" and featuring it every week.

The Bluebird people are preparing special advertising helps for exhibitors who decide to adopt the feature as a part of their business scheme. Towns that contribute to the theatre a regular family trade and boast few transients in their daily population are best adapted to respond when "Bluebird Day" is promoted. This has been proven by experience and the advertising helps and suggestions that have been planned will be directed especially to such communities.

Denver Women's Picture Club Endorses Bernhardt Film

The "Better Film Movement Association," of Denver, Col., is the latest critical body to give endorsement to the Sarah Bernhardt picture play, "Mothers of France," which has been acclaimed in the largest cities.

After viewing the picture the secretary of the association wrote to the manager of the World Film Corporation, in Denver, heartily endorsed the subject and declared it a picture that every mother in America should see.

Two Blue Ribbons Making Mark

Record bookings on "The Girl Philippa" and "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," are reported by Albert W. Goll, assistant general manager of V. L. S. F.

With the exception of Omaha it is announced every city over 100,000 population has taken "The Girl Philippa." With the exception of Boston, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, "Womanhood" has also entered every city in the country over the 100,000 mark in population.

Service to Directors Idea

American Bioscope of Chicago, has issued a novelty in the form of a Studio Film Directory of "Mid West Screen Talent." This, in short, is motion picture strips of the various leads, ingénues, comedians, comedienne character and other types available in and around the Windy City. All is assembled to suit the requests of the casting directors handling "parts to fill."

This may mean the elimination in all cases of the unnecessary transportation expenses of extras and people filling the lighter parts of stories demanding scenes in the Middle West. It will save many a producer considerable time and worry formerly wasted in the "pruning system," no matter as a simple request by wire or mail will bring an assembled reel or two of all talent available at that time.

Consult on Selig Picture

Colin Campbell, Selig director, was in Chicago last week for a consultation with William N. Selig on the forthcoming production, "The City of Purple Dreams." Mr. Campbell recently completed a feature film drama, "Caleb Conover," with George Fawcett as the star. He expects to take a number of special scenes called for in the story in Chicago and his players will arrive there later.
Sherman-Elliott Company is Reorganized

According to an announcement issued from the offices of the Sherman-Elliott Company, 854 McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn., the management of that company has been completely altered.

The announcement was in the form of a printed card, which was sent to the trade papers and to various state rights buyers, sellers and prominent exhibitors.

H. A. Sherman, one of the company's organizers, has resigned, his place being taken by Edward Nelson, the new president.

F. H. Peterson has been elected secretary and treasurer to take the place of John Elliott, secretary, and Edward Nelson, treasurer.

At the New York office of the Sherman-Elliott Company it was stated that H. A. Sherman is now on his way East and will establish himself in the vicinity of New York as a producer of large features.

Mr. Sherman is moving his household effects to New York.

On a recent visit here, Mr. Sherman made the following announcement:

"I am preparing for two big pictures—ten-reelers at least, and they are now being adapted from two very well-known books by authors of high reputation. They are common sense books that have appealed to millions, and their stories always will. You know there are some stories that will never die. I expect to start producing shortly so that they will be ready for release early in the Fall, probably in September. They will cost a fortune to produce, but they are worth it. To put on a real picture these days much money must be spent.

"I am uncertain at present how they will be released. I am contemplating an exchange of my pictures to the southern exhibitors, says Abe H. Kaufman, president of Kaufman Specials, distributors. Mr. Kaufman writes that the vampire pictures are sadly on the wane, the demand running to comedies and animated cartoons as fillers on a featured program in the South.

Mr. Kaufman says that he recently returned from New Orleans, where he closed a contract with the Boehringer Amusement Company, who operate the Triangle and Columbia theatres in that city, for seven days' consecutive run of Flora Finch comedies.

Mr. Sherman is moving his household effects to New York.

TO THE EXHIBITOR:

If you are at a loss to know just who handles a state rights picture in your section—because of the lack of advertising that generally follows the disposal of territory.

Do have this information for you, complete and ready.

Drop us a postal, and by return mail we will give you the name of any state rights picture refer to our release page—"State Rights Releases—Current and Coming."

New York Rights to "God's Man" Sold to Samwick

Harry A. Samwick, general manager of Producers Feature Service, has bought the New York state rights to "God's Man," Frohman Amusement Company's production, through Jesse J. Goldburg. Mr. Samwick intends to start an extensive advertising campaign in the interest of this picture.

Mr. Samwick, in commenting upon the transaction, said that he paid a good price for this production because he believes it to be the only picture ever made that depicts "Broadway life."" in its various angles and which shows the many phases of this life with which most people are acquainted. Mr. Samwick stated that the price was in excess of $20,000 and that he relied upon the judgment of several exhibitors before taking the step.

King-Bee Subjects Not to Be on Any Program

Nat. H. Spitz, vice-president and sales manager of King-Bee Films Corporation, denies emphatically rumors circulated that King-Bee Films are to be included in the releases of a well-known program company.

"Nothing is further from the truth," states Mr. Spitz. "We have a mighty good proposition in these comedies and we intend to market them exclusively ourselves on the state right plan. I am happy to say that we are closing contracts all the time, and that in a very little while our comedies will be seen in motion picture theatres all over the world."

H. L. Charnas in New York for Week

H. L. Charnas, of the Standard Film Service Company, Cleveland, Ohio, arrived in New York last Saturday and will remain until May 26. Mr. Charnas says that his company is in the market for feature productions and single-reel productions for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. He may be located at 801 Godfrey Building, 729 Seventh avenue, while in the city.

War News Weekly and Comedies for Peerless

Peerless Film Service is distributing from their San Francisco office "American War News Weekly" and "Pokes and Jabs" comedies.

"Business in this territory," writes E. H. Emmick, president of the company, "is slow at the present owing to war conditions. Mr. Emmick says, however, that after the people become accustomed to conditions, business will become normal.

H. Macnattac, Los Angeles manager for the Peerless Company, and Mr. Emmick expect to make personal trips to all the exhibitors in their territory by automobile in the future.
NUMEROUS responses have been re-ceived to Motion Picture News’ open proposal in last week’s issue of this publica-tion to inaugurate a plan to effectively map out the country. The immediate concern of the State rights sellers and jobbers. These responses are unanimous in the opinion that it is a most significant and timely plan and is bound to change for the better the long-standing conflict of interest prevalent in the state rights field to-day.

As Nat H. Spitzer, of Hiller & Wilk, said in commenting on the plan of the Motion Picture News: “Since the initial step has been taken by the editor to aid the producer and buyer of state rights pro-ductions, I have heard a lot of buzzing in the air immediately surrounding state rights camps and the plan is bound to de-velop into something big.”

The following is Mr. Spitzer’s idea of the steps which should be taken in order to bring order out of chaos:

“The state rights producer, who wants to stay in the game,” said Nat H. Spitzer of Hiller & Wilk, “will have to meet the buyer with the same degree of consideration, forethought and afterthought as the program man meets the exhibitor through the medium of the local exchanges.

“The average state rights producer thinks he is doing his duty if he carries an advertisement here and there during the pendency of the disposition of his product. After the production leaves his hands he takes the attitude of the man who has rid himself of an objectionable companion and dismisses the matter with an indifferent wave of the hand. The duty of the pro-ducer is to help the buyer not alone in the disposition of the product, but before the initial steps are taken in the pro-duction of his picture. The producer, should acquaint himself with various localities and ascertain in what manner his picture is going to be received by the local board of censors.

“This, I believe,” continued Mr. Spitzer, “is the seat of all the inconsistencies now existing in the state rights field. Take, for example, a problem play or one dealing with the race question—the question of per-cent-age should not be definitely concluded by the producer until he first finds out just how his production is going to be received in certain sections of the country.

“The Board of Censorship of Ohio, for instance, will pass adversely upon a cer-tain production, and if we consider the entire state rights territory on a 100 per cent basis this would mean that practically eight per cent, which Ohio doesn’t contribute toward the 100 per cent, is to be reflected on the other territories which will have to repay results to all concerned in the state rights field,” continued Mr. Spitzer, “and their efforts in this direction are highly commendable.

“Another important phase of the state rights problems problem is the transportation question,” said Mr. Spitzer in conclu-sion. “Transportation facilities have been overlooked in many territories. State rights territory should be grouped systematically and with an eye toward convenience for all, not for one. They should be set off in groups so that the point of distribution should be not more than twelve hours from the point of destination. The fellow in California should be given the same advantages so far as possible as the fellow in New York.”

Western Supply Boosting Minter Film

The Western Supply Company, of which F. W. VanHusan is president, has just completed its first pro-duction, “The Fairy and the Wait” for the Iowa and Nebraska ter-ritories. Mary Miles Minter is the popu-lar star of this feature, which is controlled by the Educational Films Corporation. Already the Western Supply reports that exhibitors of the territory are showing a keen interest in the picture, which, in addition to featuring the popular Mary Miles Minter, also has the backing of being a Frohmam production.

MacMahan and Jackson Have Strong List

MacMahan and Jackson, the independ-ent operators of Cincinnati, are at present boosting one of the strongest lists of fea-ture attractions ever offered in the special field. “Purity,” with Audrey Munson, tops the list in point of popularity, unusual business being reported throughout the ter-ritory.

“The Witching Hour” has been put over in the Ohio field by MacMahan and Jackson in a big way, while it has been found necessary to secure new prints on “The Conquest of Canaan” and “The Libertine,” in addition to featuring the popular Mary Miles Minter, also has the backing of being a Frohomam production.

Munson. tops the list in point of popularity, unusual business being reported throughout the ter-ritory.

Another important phase of the state rights problems is the transportation question,” said Mr. Spitzer in conclu-sion. “Transportation facilities have been overlooked in many territories. State rights territory should be grouped systematically and with an eye toward convenience for all, not for one. They should be set off in groups so that the point of distribution should be not more than twelve hours from the point of destination. The fellow in California should be given the same advantages so far as possible as the fellow in New York.”

Campaign for “Decemter” In-augurated in Northwest

F. A. Wilson, of American Made Film Company, Minneapolis, Minn., writes that this month he has just inaugurated a sales campaigning for Hall Caine’s popular work, “The Decemter,” produced by Arrow Film Corporation. Mr. Wilson says that the company has adopted a new inno-vation in the far western Minneapolis territory is concerned, of leasing this film to the ex-hibitors not for a day but for a year.

In this communication Mr. Wilson says that the demand in his territory has swung from vice and sex films to successful pic-turizations of meritorious works of fiction.

“We are led to believe,” continues the writer, “that the picture most in demand now is the one of sufficient real merit to act as a stimulant to the present weak-kneed box office.

“We thank you for the interest you manifest on behalf of the state rights buyers and we congratulate you upon this intelligent activity you are bestowing upon this branch of the film industry,” concludes the writer.

Wolf Added to Photoplay Exchange Staff

Elmer W. Woolf, for the past fifteen years connected with the General Film Company’s Salt Lake office, has joined the forces of the Photoplay Exchange and will act as special representative in the Idaho and Montana territories. Mr. Woolf has already started on his first swing around the field.

The Photoplay Exchange is at present boosting “The Witching Hour,” “War’s Women,” “The Conquest of Canaan” and “The Libertine.” In addition the Ivan produc-tions and Educational Company’s re-lieves find a strong place on the Photoplay Exchange list. A. L. Stallings, manager of the Photoplay Exchange is a newcomer to the distributing end of the business, though he has been an exhibitor for nine years in Southern Utah and is favorably known in the industry.
Abramson Film Acclaimed by New York Critics

“One Law for Both” Well Received on Initial Presentation at the Lyric Theatre, Where It Will Play Indefinitely—Public Appreciative

NEW York critics were as one in favorable comment on “One Law for Both,” the latest attraction produced by Ivan Abramson for Ivan Films. Excellent business was reported done at the Lyric theatre the opening week. The picture is playing an engagement of indefinite length.

Most of the leading players in the production, including Edna Jolivet, James Cagney, Vincent Serrano, Paul Capellani, Pedro de Cordoba, Margaret Greene, Helen Arnold and Anders Randolf were present at the opening performance, as well as a number of celebrities of the film world.

Almost all of the reviews from the New York dailies concurred in the opinion that because of the intense interest in Russian affairs, which is so widespread in this country, the production would be a tremendous financial success. The fidelity to detail throughout the picture was also commented on, as well as the basic strength of the theme, which embodies a three-fold plea for equality, economic, political, and in the relations between the sexes. C. F. Zittel, “Zit” of the New York Evening Journal, says in part, concerning “One Law for Both”:

Yesterday I was invited to witness Ivan Abramson’s latest effort to the screen, “One Law for Both.” I take this mean to thank Mr. Abramson for according me the pleasure of witnessing what I would term a dramatic triumph.

“One Law for Both” has been unanimously passed by the Board of Censors. It’s a serious subject—a subject right up to the very day, for part of the story is laid right here in America. It shows the great sacrifice a woman will make. The picture shows where the rich suffer, as well as the poor—where the monarch is treated the same as the peasant.

The New York Evening World, in reviewing the production, said:

They blazed not only one but several stars into the firmament of Forty-second street last night with the first evening presentation in the Lyric theatre of the Ivan Film Company’s latest masterpiece, “One Law for Both.”

Many novel settings enhance gripping situations of the plot, and a special musical programme by George Beynon offers the best of the older Russian classics in a two-hour and a half entertainment.

The reviewer for the New York American, said:

Ivan Abramson’s new film play, “One Law for Both,” was given an auspicious presentation at the Lyric theatre yesterday. The film thrilled the audience; a powerful cast of stars interpret the important roles."

Standard Corporation of Kansas City Abolishes System

THE Standard Film Corporation, through its president, R. C. Cropper, has announced the abolition of the deposit system. This important decision from one of the largest independent distributors in the country closely follows the appeals made by the Exhibitors’ League of Kansas and the Northwest at their recent conventions that the system of demanding large advance deposits from exhibitors be abandoned.

The Standard, which has its main office at 1205 Walnut street, Kansas City, operates in the territory covered by Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, upper Wisconsin and southern Illinois. In Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska it is handling the Art Dramas program.

When interviewed by Motion Picture News regarding the radical step, Phil L. Ryan, sales manager, of the Standard, declared: “There are no strings or loopholes to this proposition, such as bonusing or accepting notes. Mr. Cropper has made this decision in line with the policies of cooperation he has always followed in dealings with exhibitors. You can realize that a decision of this kind involves no little expense on our part. It certainly proves that the Standard Corporation is not dependent on exhibitors’ money to continue operating. As a matter of fact you know that our investment in pictures represents thousands of dollars before we have a chance to receive any rental from exhibitors.”

Louis Burstein, President and General Manager
King Bee Films Corporation

Variety of Advertising on “The Whip”

A schedule sheet, issued by Paragon Films, shows that the spectacular racing production, is backed by an extensive variety of advertising matter. In the list will be found paper in all sizes, from half sheet cards to twenty-four sheets, various sets of lobby display photos, newspaper cuts, slides, heralds, press sheets, and even an oil painting of the big scene made especially for the purchaser. The price made to state rights buyers are all on a moderate scale.

Kentucky Rights to “Joan, the Woman,” Bought

Big Feature Rights Corporation of Louisville, Ky., has bought the Kentucky rights to “Joan, the Woman,” and the picture will have its Kentucky premiere at the Strand, Louisville, soon.

H. E. Matthews, who is traveling with “The Crisis,” through the Carolinas, wrote his company that the Confederate veterans of these states were invited to see this picture, and many of them said that they had never been in a picture theatre before. This company has the rights to “The Crisis” for Indiana, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina.

Ivan Sends Mysterious Note to Buyers

The Ivan Film Corporation sent out the following mysterious notice regarding their photoplay, “One Law for Both,” which was a trade showing at the Broadway theatre last Monday:

“Don’t let anything stop you from being at the Broadway theatre, Monday morning at ten o’clock. The party that invited me won’t let me tell you about the event, but if you miss it, you will never forgive me for not asking you to come.

“It must be mighty important if I spend fifty cents to post you.

“Regards to everybody,”

“ELA.”
"God's Man" Sold for Northern New Jersey

After spirited bidding by no less than four exchanges, it is announced by President William L. Sherrill of the Frohman Amusement Corporation that he entered into contract for his corporation with F. E. Backer, president of Dreamnaught Pictures, Inc., of 729 Seventh avenue, New York City, whereby the latter corporation has acquired lease to exclusive booking privileges of the recent Frohman Pictures, "God's Man," starring H. B. Warner, for the territory of the northern section of the State of New Jersey.

Augmenting the array of advertising matter with which the Frohman Corporation has surrounded "God's Man," the Dreamnaught Corporation has designed many new departures and box-office aids, in conjunction with the Frohman service department.

To Exploit "Intolerance"

Frank O. Limbert, president of the What Cheer Film Company, arrived in New York to complete arrangements for a studio, where the final scenes of "Right and Wrong," the five-reel prohibition drama, will be finished under the direction of William H. Grcar and featuring Win- field Blake.

Benjamin Friedman Reports Mid-West Taking War Calmly

Benjamin Friedman, owner of "A Mormon Maid," which opened at the Park theatre, New York, for a several weeks run, a little over a month ago came to New York on last week for a brief business visit with Heller and Wilk, his Eastern representatives.

"A Mormon Maid," he said, is doing splendid business wherever it is playing. The remainder of the territory in this country will be covered shortly. What is left of the foreign territory Mr. Friedman expects to close out before he leaves for the West. He is now negotiating for two productions which are on a scale similar with "A Mormon Maid." One of them is not yet completed; so that announcements will not be forthcoming until early fall.

Asked about the affect of the war declaration on the exhibitors in his territory, Mr. Friedman said:

"Exhibitors are taking the attitude of Canada. They are expecting the worst; and they are hoping for the best. So far their business has not suffered. Business is steady in St. Paul, Chicago, and Minneapolis. For some reason, war has given Chicago a big boom, especially in the outlying districts. "Exhibitors are fortunate in being in a business that the public considers a necessity, not a luxury. The Chicago picture boom is probably a direct result of the 'economy spasm' which is taking hold of the whole country. People are cutting out the high priced theatres, but the movie show is the last thing in the world they would forgo.

"As far as a tax is concerned, most exhibitors don't seem to know what it is all about. They have heard that their gross receipts will be taxed ten per cent, and most of them are preparing to raise admissions in order to meet it.

"As a matter of fact, most of them are not giving it much thought. They are just waiting for somebody to start something!"

"Bar Sinister" Is Sold in Australia

Negotiations for the disposal of the Australian rights to "The Bar Sinister," Edgar Lewis's new nine-reel photodrama of race equality, were consummated by Frank G. Hall of the Longacre Building, who controls the world rights to this production, and the Australasian Films, Ltd. The price is said to have been one of the biggest ever paid for a production of similar length in that territory. The deal was negotiated by Miss Edna Williams.

Delicate Subjects Can Be Handled Without Sensationalism

That motion picture producers can handle subjects dealing with intense and vital questions of modern-day morality, and at the same time, avoid any possibility of conflicting with the censorship, is the belief of F. E. Keeler, president of the Corona Cinema Company, the producers of "The Curse of Eve."

Speaking of eliminating the lurid film, Mr. Keeler said, "A prominent exhibitor recently expressed his opinion that producers should eliminate all subjects dealing in opposition to questions of immorality and kindred topics. But he overlooked the fact that in the greatest literature of the world, and also, in the spoken drama, there have been many subjects dealing with topics of morality which were handled in such a way as to preserve the dramatic and moral values, yet not including anything in the least manner objectionable, and the same principles will surely apply to the screen."

"In eliminating the lurid picture," continued Mr. Keeler, "there is a two-fold duty to be performed. In the first place, it should be the duty of the picture producer to handle his themes with due regard for the picture-going public, which at heart desires photoplays which deal with all the dramatic phases of life, yet are wholesome and uplifting. The exhibitor, in the second place, owes it to his clientele to select those films which measure up to the standards.

"Short sighted exhibitors may show the lurid films, may placard their (ex-appalling advertising over to the community, and may, for once or twice, get big box-office returns. But, if they look ahead, such exhibitors will eventually kill their houses."

Unusual Theme in Radio Film

"The Spirit of 1917," a five-reel production about to be released by the Radio Film Company of New York, promises to be a somewhat different film than the usual ones of that kind. The main features of the story are said to be purely dramatic. The theme presents the true American spirit imbuing those of foreign birth or of foreign extraction; once for all taking the view that those enjoying American liberty permit nothing, no matter how close previous ties, to stand between them, and the spirit which is "All for America." Carter B. Harkness in the leading part of Carl Sturmer, playing a man who in his early childhood had fled to our hospitable shores with his parents, is said to play his role with unusual force.

Sell New York Rights to Preparedness Film

Captain Charles E. Kimball of the Hanover Film Company has disposed of the Greater New York and New York State rights on "How Uncle Sam Preparers" to the Pioneer Feature Film Corporation, through its president, Mr. Nathan Hirsh.

Mr. Hirsh will announce the date of his first trade showing in a prominent New York theatre very shortly.

Scandinavia Takes King-Bees

The Scandinavian rights for King-Bees Billy We Be Comedies have been acquired by E. Maitson, Times building, New York. The territory embraces the countries of Denmark, Sweden and Norway.
Barbara Castleton, who plays opposite John Henley in the high super-feature, "Parentage," is said to be the only leading woman in moving pictures who has seen active service in France as a Red Cross nurse.

Mo-Toy Comedies, the animated dull film controlled by the Peter Pan Film Corporation, of 729 Seventh Avenue, New York, have been booked for the Strand theatre, New York, beginning the week of May 21. Territorial rights buyers are reported to have evinced keen interest in these new 500-foot subjects and the interest has been further whetted by the announcement that the Mo-Toys Comedies will also be a part of the program of the circuit of Marcus Loew theatres. Additional territories to those already covered were closed during the past week.

These latest novelty comedy creations are in 500-foot lengths, and will be released one each week. Aside from their novelty and dissimilarity from anything else in motion pictures that doll figures are made with, the awful misery which these Mo-Toys comedies are said to have received commendation from many sources on the story value of the pictures as well. It is not claimed for them that they are pictures that will keep an audience in a constant roar of laughter, but those films that are in one way or another likely to appeal to the chuckle-valves through their simple charm. Mo-Toys are the sort of program fillers that make an audience wish that there were five reels of them instead of only 500 feet.

And the appeal of Mo-Toys is not limited. In some quarters the impression has arisen that Mo-Toys are suitable only for children. This is far from being the case as is evidenced by their being made part of the entertainment offered by New York's discriminating theatres.

Leading Woman of "Parentage" Has Seen Horrors of War

Barbara Castleton, who plays opposite Hobart Henley in the big super-feature, "Parentage," is said to be the only leading woman in moving pictures who has seen active service in France as a Red Cross nurse.

This actress, who has appeared in some of the biggest successes on the legitimate stage during the past five years, spent her holiday last year by taking a trip to Paris. While on the continent she was so deeply impressed with the awful misery which surrounded her that she decided to try and do her share towards alleviating some of the suffering of her fellow-beings. Without her mother's consent she joined the American corps of the French Red Cross and was commissioned in one of the big hospitals. Later she was sent to a big improvised hospital at the rear of the French lines where she remained for six months, after which she returned to this country.

"Despite the heart-rending scenes I witnessed over there, I may return as soon as my health improves," she says. "I was compelled to come back by the doctors who told me I must take a rest or ruin my health entirely. I shall never forget the awful tragedies I beheld while I was attached to the American corps."

Miss Castleton saw many incidents of the horrors of war. One in particular which impressed itself on her decided to try and do her share towards alleviating some of the suffering of her fellow-beings. Without her mother's consent she joined the American corps of the French Red Cross and was commissioned in one of the big hospitals. Later she was sent to a big improvised hospital at the rear of the French lines where she remained for six months, after which she returned to this country.

"Despite the heart-rending scenes I witnessed over there, I may return as soon as my health improves," she says. "I was compelled to come back by the doctors who told me I must take a rest or ruin my health entirely. I shall never forget the awful tragedies I beheld while I was attached to the American corps."

Miss Castleton saw many incidents of the horrors of war. One in particular which impressed itself on her was the death of a young Frenchman. The man fell against the door of the chateau where the actress was living and when carried into the house was found mortally wounded. Before dying he told Miss Castleton he, too, was an American of French parentage, and before the war had been a waiter at the Hotel Astor, New York.

Butterfield Active in Michigan

Owing to the steady growth of Flint, Mich., W. S. Butterfield and his associates are building a hundred thousand dollar theatre there, named The Palace, which will be ready to open August 23rd. This will give them three large theatres in the city of Flint for next season. The New Palace will seat fourteen hundred and fifty people and will play vaudeville; the Majestic seats eleven hundred and people and will play the road shows and the high-priced motion pictures, being open every night in the week; and the Garden theatre, which will be remodeled during the summer, seating capacity arranged to accommodate one thousand people, and a Wurlitzer Hope-Jones organ installed; will play a straight program of moving pictures at ten cents.

The National Films Company, which controls the Michigan circuit of theatres, is also installing a Wurlitzer Hope-Jones organ in the Bijou theatre in Battle Creek.

Newspaper Strips Good Ad for "Mutt and Jeff"

Exhibitors, who play the "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoon comedies, are complimenting themselves on the publicity they derive from the "Mutt and Jeff" newspaper strips that appear in the leading dailies in cartoon form. These cartoons are well displayed on the sporting page.

Territories Sold for Minter Film, "Fairy and Waif"

E. W. Hammond, vice-president and general manager of the Educational Films Corporation, announces that he has sold several territories on "The Fairy and the Wait," featuring Mary Miles Minter. The territories closed are as follows: The Western Supply Company, Omaha, Neb., for Iowa and Nebraska; Essex Harris Feature Films Company, New York City, have bought Northern New Jersey. The day set for release is May 21.

Country Almost Sold for "Beware of Strangers"

Few unsold states remain for "Beware of Strangers," the Selig feature, which the producers represent as one of their most successful productions. The following are the states at yet open: Oregon, Washington, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Eastern Pennsylvania and Michigan. All other territory was sold within sixty days after the picture was first presented.

"Beware of Strangers" presents the swindling games that have been used by smooth criminals in robbing the unsuspecting public of many millions of dollars. Gilson Willets wrote the story, which was directed in production by Colin Campbell. The cast includes Thomas Sanschi, Vivian Rich, Jack Richardson, Bessie Eyon, Edward Coxen, Fritzi Brunette, Al W. Hilton, Eugenie Besserer and others.

The photography, it is claimed, is all that could be wished for, while many of the interior sets are pronounced of unusual beauty and depth. "Beware of Strangers" ran for weeks at the LaSalle theatre, Chicago.

Manager of "Idle Wives" in Midwest Territory

E. J. Schmidt, former special representative of the "Idle Wives Photo Play Company," has been appointed manager to succeed A. E. Brandt, who recently resigned.

Mr. Schmidt formerly handled "Nep- tume's Daughter," "Where Are My Chil- dren?" and Blue Bird productions.

He will have his offices at 707 Columbia Building, Cleveland.

Mr. Schmidt's territory will include Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Alaskan Subjects Released

About June 1 the Educational Films Corporation will start releasing through their independent exchanges, a series of pictures taken in Alaska by Al. J. Smith. This series comprises four reels and is filled with adventure and exciting incidents throughout. Bear hunts, natives, and the hardships of living in this country has all been clearly portrayed. Advertising and publicity matter has been prepared to accompany the picture.
Bessie Barriscale as Scullery Maid in New Film

With the opening scenes of the play laid in an old castle near the coast of Scotland, "Mladh of Tuchs and Tatties" is reported by the Ince Studios to contain some of the most beautiful costumes and sets that have yet been seen in a picture on the Triangle Program. Bessie Barriscale is presented in the leading role. The time of the action is during the Revolutionary War, directed by Raymond B. West.

Word is brought that Paul Jones in his famous Bon Homme Richard is hovering off the coast and the inhabitants of the castle, from the Lord and Lady on down, with the exception of one little scullery maid, played by Bessie Barriscale, all flee. Then the courageous mistress of the pot and pan has a glorious time masquerading in the fine Gainsborough silks and satins of the castle guests and is mistaken for the Lady of the Manor by both the British troops sent from a nearby garrison and the landing party from the Bon Homme Richard, who drive the redcoats back. And Bessie finally trips lightly down to the shore and sets sail for America, with Paul Jones and his famous ship.

Ingenuine Stays with King-Bee

Contrary to widespread rumor, the marriage of Ethel Burton, the young ingenuine of King-Bee Films, will not interfere with her picture of eleven years. Comedy, drama or comedy-drama subjects are acceptable.

Want Child Scripts

The Sterling Film Manufacturing Corporation of Baltimore, Md., is in the field for one-reel scenarios featuring a child actress of eleven years. Comically, drama or comedy-drama subjects are acceptable.

Fifty Films of Russian Drama in New York

The Russian Revolution has sent America a producer of considerable importance and a series of pictures designed to play a prominent part in the American picture field.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Kaplan, of Petrograd, arrived in New York last week by way of San Francisco, having made the trip across Siberia, Japan and the Pacific. Mr. Kaplan's departure terminated a three year stay in Russia, where he and Mrs. Kaplan have been engaged in filming the works of famous Russian authors and embodying them as accurately as possible, the genuine spirit of that troubled country.

The production are from five to ten reels in length. The scenarios were adapted from the works of L. Tolstoy, Ostrovsky, Pushkin, Ostrovsky and others. The parts were taken by actors from the imperial theatres, all of which were controlled until his downfall by the Czar.

The Chaunceyff and Erdardell studios, Moscow, were employed. No attempts have been made so far to exploit the films outside of Russia. They were first shown to the Czar and his family in their private theatre at Charko Zello.

Mr. Kaplan decided not to exhibit or have any picture exhibited until he was prepared to make releases on fixed dates and on a regular schedule, without delays or disappointments.

The negatives for over fifty subjects are now in New York.

Trade showings will be given in due time, of which announcements will be made later. The business will be conducted by the Russian Art Film Corporation, a company formed for the purpose. It has not been definitely decided whether exchanges will be opened throughout the country or whether arrangements will be made with existing exchanges.

Sherrill Wants Big Stories at Any Price

Painstaking effort to obtain exceptional stories for production is reported by the Frohman Amusement Company. President William L. Sherrill is scouring the market of plays, books and original scenarios and confesses to having read some seventy old scripts himself the past three weeks.

He announces there is no limit to the amount he will pay for the proper vehicle to receive its production under the Frohman banner. It is requested that synopsis only be submitted and that the most likely material for their acceptance is not that which favors the sex problem, but rather the writing of those themes of every-day life.

Wide Exploitation of New Film

The Hearst-Palhe News is being extensively advertised in New York, Boston, Chicago, Atlanta, Los Angeles and San Francisco. These ads have given the contents of the current issues and have been illustrated with pictures of the events shown. Insertions have been made in each paper at least twice a week.

The results are said by Palhe to have justified the large expense. The theatre showing Hearst-Palhe News have reflected the increased interest in it by their larger audiences. Furthermore, the patriotic and timely nature of the topics in the Weekly is recognized by frequent applause.

Four of Vitagraph's Brightest Stars, Earl Williams, Alice Joyce, Anita Stewart and Harry Morey
Vita Re-Issues as "Favorite Film Features"

At the suggestion of Exhibitors Will Release Short Subjects Popular Some Years Ago with Star Casts—Eight Subjects Ready Now

RE-ISSUE of many of the Vitagraph short-reel subjects which were popular several years ago, and which have been in demand since they were withdrawn from the market, has been arranged by the producing company. "Favorite Film Features" will be the trade name of the issues.

The casts of these re-issues include many of the names of the most popular stars in the silent drama. Included are: Clara Kimball Young, Sidney Drew, Anita Stewart, Harry Morey, Edith Storey, Rose Tapley, Josie Sadler, E. K. Lincoln, Ralph Ince, Charlie Edwards, Harry Northrup, Herbert L. Barry, Hughie Mack, Temporal Saxe, William Shen, James Young, Kate Price, Naomi Childers, Bobby Connolly, James Lackaye, Ned Finley, Flora Finch, Eileen Gerald, Helen Connelly, Louise Beaudet, L. Rogers Lytton, Alberta Gal-latin and Ethel Lloyd.

The formation of "Favorite Film Features" as a unit of the V-L-S-E release service is the direct result of a suggestion made by one of the largest motion picture exhibitors of the Northwest.

"Why don't you give us some of those wonderful pictures you made years ago, as an increased service?" this exhibitor asked Walter W. Irwin, general manager of V-L-S-E, a few weeks ago. As an example of just what he meant the exhibitor cited the film "A Regiment of Two." The cast of this comedy consists of Sidney Drew, Anita Stewart, Harry Morey, Edith Storey, Rose Tapley, Josie Sadler, E. K. Lincoln, Ralph Ince and Charlie Edwards.

War Not Hurting Industry in Newspapers

War news is not cutting into the space allotted by newspapers to the motion picture industry to any great extent, judging from a test by McClure Pictures.

McClure Pictures publicity department canvassed 680 of the leading American newspapers, confining the list to those publications that conduct real photoplay departments. A follow-up system was used and replies were received from 578 newspapers. Only seventeen replied that they had discontinued the use of motion picture publicity, a ratio of 29 per thousand.

Photoplay departments in newspapers, for the most part are directly connected with the advertising departments and would be disposed of if motion picture exhibitions were so affected by war conditions that they were forced to withdraw their advertising.

To Embellish O. Henry Films

Special art titles are to be provided for future O. Henry pictures released through General Film, in order to add another high quality touch to the work of production which General claims to be of the best.

"Screen Tomboy" in New Role

Jackie Saunders has a new-fashioned role in "The Checkmate," new Mutual-Horkheimer production, released May 21. The photodrama was written especially for Miss Saunders by Captain Leslie Peacocke. Sherwood MacDonald directed the subject.

In her new play Miss Saunders starts out as "Yv. Hoyden," fighting Filipino cocks in a nice secluded spot on her father's stock farm.

America and Russia United in Purpose, Says Foreign Player

That the views held in America, as expressed in President Wilson's earlier notes and speeches, form the basis of thought of the whole Russian people as to the outcome of the war, is the opinion of Miss Hedda Nova, the young Russian actress, who recently attained popularity by her splendid portrayal of the role of Belle Davis in Edgar Lewis's new production of race equality, "The Bar Sinister."

"The views of America sway the whole Russian people," declared Miss Nova. "I was born in Odessa and lived there till three years ago and I know whereof I speak. I have made a deep study of conditions in my country."

"Although the mingling of Russian soldiers with the foe was considered a menace to my country, I believe the army of Russia will be revitalized as soon as it realizes the United States of America is taking active participation in the great conflict."

Recent events have shown that the revolution, while it saved the republic, temporarily disorganized the army—so much so that hostilities along the East front ceased and the Germans were able, so I have learned, to transfer twenty-five divisions to the West front to combat the British and French. But the army of Russia is now reorganizing and it is only a question of weeks before the Germans again will feel its might."

First of Essanay's Westerns is Completed

"Land of Long Shadows," the first of Essanay's series of Western dramas, has been filmed. This picture, which is laid in the beautiful scenic country of the Canadian Northwest, will be given trade showings shortly at all Kleine-Edison-Essanay Service branch offices. June 18 has been fixed as the release date.

Jack Gardner, former musical comedy star, will make his debut to photoplay patrons in "Land of Long Shadows," supporting him will be Ruth King. Carl Stock- dale and C. J. Loxon. W. S. Van Dyke wrote the scenario and directed its production.
Audience Wires Bernhardt
The audience witnessing "Mothers of France" on Thursday evening at the Alhambra theatre in Cincinnati, was moved to such a pitch of emotion that its members could not restrain themselves from taking special action. Accordingly a committee was formed and the following telegram was sent:

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt,
Mt. Sinai Hospital,
New York City.

Having just viewed your magnificent work in the motion picture "Mothers of France," we as an audience desire to express our unbounded appreciation. We cannot give you up, divine Sarah! We know your unconquerable spirit will win you back to perfect health, just as the spirit of your beloved country, our ally, will lead her to victory. May you live to enjoy the triumph. A message from you as to your real condition will be greatly appreciated by those who have been inspired by your wonderful work in the motion picture "Mothers of France."

(Signed) CHRISTINE MAYS
CHARLES WEIGEL
DR. OTTO DICKKAMM
GENEVA MURRAY
Committee Representing Audience of Alhambra theatre

Jack Byrne in Charge of Rothacker Scenario Department
Watterson Rothacker announces that he has signed up Jack Byrne to take charge of the scenario department of the Rothacker studio. Mr. Byrne arrived in Chicago last week to take up his new duties. He will also be first assistant to N. J. Baumer, the vice-president and studio manager of the Rothacker Company.

Jack Byrne is well known to the studios throughout the country. He has had more than six years' experience with the following producing companies: Biograph, Reliance, Majestic, Universal, Keystone, Lubin and Fox. He comes to the Rothacker plant from the Fox studio at Los Angeles.

"Charity Castle" by Erbograph
Erbograph Company announces that its next picture on Art Dramas Program will be entitled "Charity Castle." This is from the pen of a well-known author and will be acted by a carefully selected cast. Announcement of the principals and the director will be made later.

Mutual Bring Week's Production Near 30 Reels
NEARLY a score of big pictures have been completed or are in the course of production at the studios which produce for distribution through Mutual to meet the demand under President John R. Freuler's policy of "big stars only" and "quality first." Ten stars and their respective companies are producing Mutual features.

Four companies are at work for the Weir studio of the American Film Company, Inc., at Santa Barbara, and a definite and strenuous program has been laid out for them for some time to come.

Gail Kane, American's newly acquired star, who appeared in "Whose Wife?" released April 30, and whose second production, "The Serpent's Tooth," is scheduled for release May 8, is at work on "The Upper Crust," which will be completed in time for release June 23. Her fourth picture will be "The Woman in Black." The story was written for Miss Kane by Julius Grinnell Furthmann, and will be directed by Henry King. Following "The Woman in Black," Miss Kane will start "The Unafraid" by J. Russell Case.

William Russell, under the direction of Edward S. Sloman, has finished "Shackles of Truth," which is scheduled for release June 4, following "The Frame-up," and is at work on "The Weakness of the Strong," Constance Crawley and Arthur Maude. "Pride and the Man," by Edward Kaufman, has been chosen as Mr. Russell's vehicle when he completes "The Weakness of the Strong."

Mary Miles Minter is now busy producing "Periwinkle," which follows "Amur for Spite," her May release. "Periwinkle" has been scheduled for release June 11. As soon as the final scenes are shot along the coast—it is a sea picture—she will start working on "Melissa of the Hills," by Mabelle Heikes Justice.

Juliette Day, America's newest acquisition, has left Birenbaum for the West, and will be under direction of Rollin S. Stur-geon in her first production, "Betty and the Buccaneers."

Margaret Fischer is at work on "Little Miss Moline," at the Pollard studios, and at the Horkheimer studios in Long Beach, Cal., Jackie Saunders is filming "Betty, Be Good."

In the East, Marjorie Rambeau is at work on "Mary Moreland." The next picture of this star has not yet been selected.

Edna Goodrich, having completed "Reputation," is starting on "Queen X," while Ann Murdock is engaged in making "The Imposter."

"Charlie Chaplin's next, the title of which has not been announced, will probably be released late in June.

In addition to all these, little pictures with big stars are being rapidly produced. Mutual's releases are running close to an average of twenty reels a week, and some weeks go to thirty reels.

Gossip Danger Theme of "Babbling Tongues"
The harm wrought by loose tongues forms the basis of the plot of "Babbling Tongues," a scenario prepared by William Humphrey and George F. Hall. Great dramatic possibilities are said to be contained in the story.

The cast is composed of James Morrison, Arthur Donaldson, Grace Valentine, Paul Capelani, Louise Beaudet, Carolyn Birch and Holden James.

The story is one dealing with the trials and vicissitudes brought about by misunderstandings and actions of people, not exactly malicious, yet so poignant in their effect that it brings death to a noble and kind man, the destruction of the peace of others who were enticed by their inherent virtues to the happiness which is the reward of righteousness. Then, being whipped and scourged by evil tongues out from the shelter of society, the victims find happiness and peace in each other's arms, conscious of the merit of pure love tried as by fire.

Nicholas Power Co. Executive Back from Cuba
Arthur J. Lang, export manager of the Nicholas Power Company, who has been absent from New York on a trip to Cuba, returned last week with every enthusiastic report regarding conditions down there. He states that Cuba is rapidly recovering from the temporary demoralization caused by the revolution and that the motion picture business will be as good, if not better, after complete order is restored.
Bluebird Preparing for Late Summer and Fall

"The Clean-Up," by Waldemar Young, Author of Several Big Successes,
One of a Number of Subjects Being Prepared Scheduled Attractions

Preparedness seems to be a holdover with the Bluebird management, for the announcement is at hand that producers on the West Coast are now working on attractions that will not be required for release until late in the Summer. Some of them will not be needed until well into the Autumn so abundantly has Bluebird provided for the future.

Jack Conway, having completed "The Little Orphan," in which Ella Hall will be featured week starting June 16, is now employing "Little Miss Fix-It," written by J. Grubb Alexander and Fred Myron, designed as Miss Hall's following subject in the series.

Bluebird's woman director, Ida May Park, has finished two subjects in which Dorothy Phillips will be starred and is now at work upon a third, "The Rescue." This feature, based on Hugh Baber's story, will not reach the screen until August, for the reason that Miss Phillips' appearances for the intervening three months are provided for in "The Flashlight," May 21; "A Doll's House," June 11, and "Fires of Rebellion," July 3.

Miss Phillips in "A Doll's House," the other two were supervised by Miss Park.

Rupert Julian, who stars and directs, offers "A Kentucky Cinderella" as the Bluebird for June 18, sharing honors with Ruth Clifford and a cast embracing Emory Johnson, Harry Carter, Eddie Polo, Little Zoe Rae and Gretchen Lederer. Incidentally Mr. Johnson and Little Zoe Rae have been stars in earlier Bluebirds.

Emily Stevens Back with Metro in "The Slacker"

Having recently completed her season in "The Fugitive," Emily Stevens, screen and stage star, returns to the silent drama in a five-act Metro play of war, "The Slacker," work on which was begun last winter under direction of William Christie Cabanne. Previous to her stage work this year Miss Stevens was seen in several Metro plays. Her new contract calls for four pictures a year and the figure is said by Metro to be $75,000.

"The Slacker," as written by Mr. Cabanne, deals with an American youth who marries in lieu of going to the front. At first his wife agrees with him, but when her patriotic spirit manifests itself she orders him to fight for the flag. Throughout the stirring narrative many incidents of the present war times are shown, and Mr. Cabanne says the production will materially aid in recruiting for both the army and navy.

The plays in which this star has already been seen are, "Destiny, or the Soul of a Woman," "Cora," "The House of Tears," "The Wheel of the Law" and "The Wager."

"Soul Mates" Not Directed by Scardon

In the recent issue of the Motion Picture News Studio Directory, Paul Scardon, the Vitagraph director, was credited with the direction of "The Soul Master" through error. Mr. Scardon had no connection with the production of this picture in any way whatsoever, although he is responsible for many of the big Vitagraph successes.

Quirk Directing Black Diamonds

Billy Quirk, well-known motion picture director and president of the Screen Club, the picture actors' club of New York City, is now directing Black Diamond Comedies at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, for the Paramount Pictures Corporation.
Women Factor in Industry - War Employment a Benefit

So far as women are concerned the film industry, far from suffering from the extra employment of them during the period of war, will benefit, inasmuch as use of the gentler sex in the film business, quite contrary to popular opinion, is far from an experiment.

Such is the statement of Edwin Thanhauser, who places a great part of the development of the motion picture on the energy and initiative of women.

"Never has a business been so open to women as ours in those last ten years. Never has a business profited so through its female workers, and never have females won the financial rewards they have in this business. The salaries that came gapping from the ladies are, with only two or three exceptions, earned by female artists. The leading director, it is true, is a man, but there are important women producers close behind him. You will find women's names affixed to the most successful scenarios and women editors in charge of the delicate work of revising and editing the films."

Women, in fact, need no war-time or other call to the film business. They have always been in it, or inclined to it."

Elda Millar in the Triangle release, "Her Excellency the Governor," a production featuring Wilfred Lucas and Miss Millar, and managed by Allan Dwan.

"Never has a medium been so open to women as ours in those last ten years. Never has a business profited so through its female workers, and never have females won the financial rewards they have in this business. The salaries that came gapping from the ladies are, with only two or three exceptions, earned by female artists. The leading director, it is true, is a man, but there are important women producers close behind him. You will find women's names affixed to the most successful scenarios and women editors in charge of the delicate work of revising and editing the films."

Women, in fact, need no war-time or other call to the film business. They have always been in it, or inclined to it."

Elda Millar in the Triangle release, "Her Excellency the Governor," a production featuring Wilfred Lucas and Miss Millar, and managed by Allan Dwan.

Evelyn Nesbit Depicts Life in "Redemption," Big Feature

For the first time the Cuban theater, New York, became the home of motion picture production on May 21, when "Redemption," the spectacle with Evelyn Nesbit and her son, Russell Thaw, opened there. Hundreds were reported turned away on the opening night and the presentation was said to have met with big success.

The story is based on the former life of Evelyn Nesbit, yet is distinctly away from it. The audience came to see the initial performance without knowing what to expect and without knowing how closely the film would follow the life of Evelyn Nesbit.

The outstanding feature of the production is based on the former life of Evelyn Nesbit, yet is distinctly away from it. The audience came to see the initial performance without knowing what to expect and without knowing how closely the film would follow the life of Evelyn Nesbit.

Picture Series Under Way for Military Relief

The American Military Relief Association is having produced in Chicago under its auspices and for its benefit a series of one-reel comedies known collectively as "Follies of the Week," under the able direction of Colburn Holmes Ferrell. Each week will see a travesty upon some one of the popular topics of the day featuring some well-known and famous stage star. The first "Folies," for example, features Raymond Hitchcock, the well-known comedian and musical comedy star, supported by Mrs. Gertrude Busch and Miss Margaret Fair, both of whom are appearing with him this season in his musical comedy success, "Betty."

The purpose of these one-reel "Follies" is to provide a fund to be administered by the American Military Relief Association for the benefit of the men who have gone to the front, in the purchase of candy, cigars, tobacco, and such other creature comforts as the average man craves, but which are not supplied by the United States Government.

These pictures are being distributed by Titan Pictures Corporation, of which Frederick Russell Clark is president. Titan Pictures Corporation is located on the twelfth floor of the Century Building, corner Adams and State streets, Chicago. This corner now bids fair to become the real reel center of the film industry.

Sartorial Display

An array of gowns that will go straight to the feminine heart are those worn by Elda Millar in the Triangle release, "Her Excellency the Governor," a production featuring Wilfred Lucas and Miss Millar, and supervised by Allan Dwan.

"City of Purple Dreams," a Selig Feature

The next Selig feature production to be made under direction of Colin Campbell will be "The City of Purple Dreams," adapted by Gibson Williams from the book of the same name. This is a story with scenes laid in Chicago, dealing with the meteoric career of a human derrick whose rapid rise through sheer luck and inspiration to a position of wealth form the basis of the action. The cast will be headed by Thomas Santchi, Fritz Brunette and Besie Eylon.

Wide Distribution of Fox Pictures in Line with Ideals

THAT the motion picture spreads the gospel of an international spirit is the statement of William Fox, president of the Fox corporation. As a practical evidence of his theory, it may be cited that the company is steadily adding new links to the chain of countries by which he hopes to encircle the globe.

Fox films have been shown for some time in Norway, Sweden, Spain and Portugal, and contracts have recently been closed for the following countries: Chile, Peru and Bolivia, and arrangements are being made whereby the Fox pictures will be shown in remote parts of Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, as well as Brazil, in which latter country the Fox pictures have been established for the past two years.

Elsie Ferguson Starts Production Under Maurice Tourneur

ELSIE FERGUSON has arrived in New York. The following conclusion of "Shirley Kaye," one of the season's most successful theatrical offerings, and will commence her motion picture activities for Artcraft Pictures within a few days. Simultaneously with her arrival it was announced by Mr. Tourneur, one of Miss Ferguson's first picture, "Barbary Sheep," by Robert Hichens, will be staged under the direction of Maurice Tourneur, producer of the Mary Pickford Pictures, "A Poor Little Rich Girl" and "The Pride of the Clan" as well as various other recent film successes.

The story of "Barbary Sheep" is laid in Algeria and as a book, proved Robert Hichens' greatest seller since "The Garden of Allah." Mr. Tourneur, several years ago, spent many months in the Northern part of Africa, and his familiarity with the country will prove a great asset to him in the production of this picture.

To those who are familiar with "Barbary Sheep" and the talents of Miss Ferguson, it will readily appear apparent that this subject should afford an admirable vehicle for the well-known actress. Immediately upon completion of the picture now being staged by Mr. Tourneur at the Fort Lee Studios, he will start on the Ferguson play.

Kerrigan Soon Starts Producing

JUNE 5 has been tentatively fixed as the date on which J. Warren Kerrigan will begin his career as an independent producer at the studio of his company in Hollywood. The organization of the company has been going on since the expiration of Mr. Kerrigan's contract with Universal some months ago, and it is announced there is plentiful financial backing to the project.

Oscar Apfel will be supervising director. Three other directors will have charge of the productions, and from eight to ten plays will be screened during the year.

Robert Blum will direct the art and technical features of Mr. Kerrigan's pictures. The first story for screening has already been selected, one that originally appeared in a magazine.

Further announcements are promised by Mr. Kerrigan the early part of June.

Juliette Day Starts Work at American Studio

Juliette Day, who has recently joined the array of stars appearing in Mutual features, has completed her engagement in the musical comedy, "Up Stairs and Down," which has had such long run on Broadway, and has gone West to take up her work at the American studio.

The first production in which Miss Day will appear is "Betty and the Buccaneers," a story written especially for the new star by J. Edward Hungerford.

Miss Day will be under the direction of Rollin S. Sturges, who has been directing the work of Gail Kane at the American studio.

It is interesting also to note that the following countries are still available for foreign buyers: Italy, France, Russia, India, Dutch East Indies, Japan, South Africa, Philippine Islands, Central American republics and Panama.

Even in disrupted Russia, where almost every living condition is unsettled, negotiations are now being made for showing the Fox Productions.

In some cases theatres are said to be actually built to properly introduce the Fox films. This is more recently true in Spain and Portugal, where plans are being rushed to complete new theatres to show Fox features to the Spanish and Portuguese picture-loving public, so great is the demand.

Paralta Takes Over Clune Studio in Hollywood

Robert T. Kane, vice-president of the Paralta Play-Corporation, who has established his offices in Los Angeles, has taken over the studio of the Clune Company, for one of the Paralta subsidiary producing concerns.

This studio is located at Melrose Avenue and Gower Street, in Hollywood, and is one of the best constructed and equipped in the center of the industry. The grounds cover an area of about 178 acres.

Immediately he secured possession of the premises, Mr. Kane set a large number of men at work making renovations, alterations and additions. These changes will be completed by the second week in June.

In the meantime new properties in furniture and other appurtenances for interior settings are being received from New York and Chicago.

Toto, Hippodrome Clown, Leaves for Coast

"Toto," the Hippodrome clown, left New York Thursday for the coast, where he will be featured in a series of comedies by the Rolin Film Corporation releasing on the Pathé program. The comedies will be made at Los Angeles. Hal Roach, president of Rolin, accompanied "Toto" on the trip. Tom North, of Pathé, was at the station and arranged accommodations for the "funny man." Before the train left, Toto moved into his "make-up" and had several snap-shots taken of himself dangling from the observation platform. Mr. Roach said that he expected to start "Toto's" first comedy immediately upon arrival at the Los Angeles studio.

Next Van Dyke Release

"A Song of Sixpence," filmed from the story by Frederick Arnold Kummer, is announced as the next Van Dyke release on Art Drama's program. This will be before the public in the latter part of May.
Pick First Paralta Subject for Bessie Barriscale

Bessie Barriscale has returned to Los Angeles and is at work on her last picture under her contract with the Triangle Company. She will have finished this picture by June 14, and will then begin her first independent production for her own company under the dramatic direction of James Young, who will be one of the three directors she will employ in her plan to make eight to ten big productions a year.

Her first photoplay will be founded on Grace Miller White's novel, "Rose O'Pardis." This picture will be made at the Clune Studios in Hollywood, which has been taken over by Paralta. Pending completion of Miss Barriscale's own studio she and her company will work at the Clune establishment.

Village Blown Up in Metro Film with Barrymore

An entire village was recently blown up "somewhere on Long Island." It was not a gunpowder explosion, nor was it a German bomb that destroyed the thirty houses that went up in smoke. The village was erected in one week by Edward J. Shulter, technical director of the Metro-Rolfe studio. The scene will be one of the greatest screened and will be shown in the next Metro super-feature in which Ethel Barrymore will star.

"The Greatest Power" is a story that calls for this work on the part of the technical director, and Mr. Shulter spent many days finding a suitable location for the village that was destroyed by a mighty explosion.

Comedy and Drama Mix in Beban Picture

In "A Roadside Impresario," in which George Beban stars under direction of Donald Crisp, the Italian character actor is seen as owner of a bear which gets mixed-up with an apiary. The execution is brightful, but this is merely one of the episodes of the picture.

Harrison Ford, Fred Huntley, Adele Farrington and Julia Faye are prominent in the cast. Bruno is played by himself.

Novel Plans Adopted to Give "Better Pictures"

Clara Laughlin, Organizer of Wholesome Films Scenario Department, Tells of Hopes Profit-Sharing by Authors as Means to Improved Films

MISS CLARA E. LAUGHLIN, the writer, who is at present undertaking the organization of the scenario department of Wholesome Films Corporation, has little regard for the present system of picture production. She doesn't want a perfectly serious-minded character in one of her stories to enter a scene on his head to grapple the whim of a scenario writer, seeking to appease what he believes to be the appetite of the public. In all seriousness she fails to see why a scenario writer should be a self-appointed gauge of the public taste when the word which he is adapting is written by an author whose finger is ever on the public pulse.

"I am not foolish enough to entertain the thought that every writer of fiction can pretend to know the technique of the screen," said Miss Laughlin to a representative of Motion Picture News. "But I do believe that instead of permitting the adaptor free rein regarding alterations of a story or play, he should take the author into constant consultation. And not only should these two work together but the director should come into the pre-production conference as well.

"On such a foundation, I hope to set the production department of Wholesome Films working. I well realize the difficulty I am to encounter, but I believe firmly that such can be accomplished. The difficulty of securing the "better-than-the-average" story is another matter the company intends to surmount. I do not believe in the adage of giving the public assorted trash because this sort of stuff has proven lucrative. Give it something better and it is sure to appreciate it. The Wholesome Films Corporation intends to get the better story by offering its authors a share in the profits on their pictures. Such a system not only serves to encourage better work, but attracts better authors to the screen.

"Wholesome Films Corporation in itself explains the quality of picture we intend to produce," continued Miss Laughlin. "The organizers of the company, Mr. Daily, Mr. Allen and Mr. Stanhope are men of no mean means and of business ability. They have kept track of the picture industry and realize there is plenty of room for a project such as theirs. It is not their idea to turn out subjects of a milk-and-water mixture. Strong dramas and good comedies is their aim, but they want them finished so that they will be fit to display in a Sunday school room, before a congregation of old ladies without giving offense. They want them to be free from the ridiculous knifc of the stage and city censor boards. Bodily which eliminate the distasteful at the expense of the story.

"To carry out these plans the company intends establishing a string of a dozen exchanges in the principal cities of the country placing them in charge of men capable of holding intelligent conversation with the Sunday school superintendent as well as the exhibitor."

Writers' Names Held Better Attraction Than Stars!

The prestige of the writers whose books are being adapted for Edison Conquest Pictures will prove a better drawing medium than any "stars," according to W. W. Hodkinson, president of Forum Films.

"In making this statement," said Mr. Hodkinson in a recent interview, "I am by no means belittling the artistry of those screen players whose distinctive work has carried them into stardom. But a part of the star's success depends upon his or her physical attributes.

"Who has the temerity to say that we shall ever be able to replace a Robert Louis Stevenson, a Richard Harding Davis, a Howard Pyle and some others whose works are being adapted for the Forum program?"

Pathé's Clean Pictures

Illustrative of Pathé's clean picture policy is the March and April Bulletin of the National Juvenile Motion Picture Board. Out of a list of sixty pictures suitable for children, there are twenty-eight from the Pathé Program.
Brady Believes in and Will Follow Dual Star System

THE plan whereby certain players who work best together are continually associated, which has been quietly carried out by World Pictures Brady-Made, has made such success that it will become a permanent institution, according to a statement issued last week by William A. Brady.

"Naturally, it is not possible to carry out this idea through the entire cast as in the old stock company days upon the speaking stage, for the production of photoplays is a vastly different matter from the production of oral drama," said Mr. Brady. "But the filling of the leading roles by the same player in each production a picture soon indicates to the public that a satisfactory all-around performance is coming."

"For example, we have been casting June Elvidge for the biggest female role in each of Carlyle Blackwell's plays for several months now, beginning with 'A Square Deal,' and including 'The Social Leader.'

"Do Children Count?" Series

ESSANAY begins its "Do Children Count?" series June 6. These productions, twelve in number, will be released one each week thereafter through the Klein Edison Selig Essanay Service.

"Do Children Count?" was written by Charles Mortimer Peek, author of Essanay's recently concluded cycle of matrimonial problem plays, "Is Marriage Sacred?"

"Good entertainment is announced as the primary aim of these pictures. Though they hinge on child life, and feature little Marc McAvier, need six years, every effort has been made to inject enough real human humor and realism into them to provide pictures which will be intensively interesting to the "grown-ups" as well.

"In Steps to Somewhere," the second to be released, June 13, the parents quarrel over who shall control their child. A separation results, and the little girl is left to face the world alone.

"The Wonderful Event" is a story of a little girl who wants a baby brother so much that she steals one from its nurse in the park. The result is a near-tragedy, but things come right in the end, for the stork brings a baby boy to the little girl's home, and so bridges an impending disaster.

"The Yellow Umbrella," "A Place in the Sun," and "Where is My Mother?" will be the visits to follow in the succession in which they are named. The titles of the six remaining units will be announced shortly.

Alice Howell Directed in Century Comedies

IN all of the comedy offerings in which Alice Howell will star—the name of which offerings will be, as announced, Century Comedies will be directed by E. G. BlSTONE. He will have charge of every detail from selecting the scenario to editing the final outcome.

The name "Century Comedies" was selected by Julius Stern after another title had been given the productions originally.

For three years Miss Howell has worked under Mr. Blstone's direction and has established herself a favorite with exhibitors and the public through her abilities as a comedienne. "Ballonettes" will be the first Century offered to State-right buyers, and all of the subsequent issues in the Century series will be distributed by direct sale of territory.

President Julius Stern will handle the business affairs of the organization from his office in the Ince Triangle Building, the product of which has been sent along with the West Coast as fast as Mr. Blstone can turn out the attractions. In the near future "Neptune's Naughty Daughter" and "Automnances" will be released for State-right purchase, following the full distribution of "Ballonettes."

Offering a comedy program with a woman as the star is novel enough to make the Century series attractive, but when the star can boast the enthusiastic following Miss Howell has among theatres, there is an added value to exhibitors in the announcement of the new producing firm.

Boston Takes to Pickford

The latest Mary Pickford feature, "A Romance of the Redwoods," is on at the Modown, Boston, for a fortnight's run. The reviewers speak highly of it, commending Miss Pickford's adequacy, no matter what demands of drama or comedy are made on her powers of expression, so keen is her perception.

Change Title of Warwick's Latest Offering

"The Shadow of Night," has been selected as the title of Robert Warwick's latest Selznick Picture. Just completed by Director Leonce Perret, under the working title of "A Modern Othello." This picture will follow "The Silken Ties," the Warwick production now ready for release.

"In changing the title of "A Modern Othello," Harry Rapf, president of the Robert Warwick Film Corp., was guided by his belief that next to the drawing power of the star, the interest of the public in any production depends upon the attractiveness of the title.

Society Women Give Showing of Official War Film

In the ballroom of the Ritz Carlton, on the afternoon of May 18, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Miss Anna Morgan and others interested in the American Ambulance Field Service in France, gave a private performance of the third episode of the official British War Pictures, controlled in this country by a company of which W. K. Vanderbilt is the head, and released by Pathé, the big international film concern.

A subscription was taken for the benefit of the American ambulance, the activities of which are shown in the remarkable pictures filmed under the auspices of the British Government.

Lockwood Film Should Go Well

The advance publicity received by "The Haunted Pajamas," through its appearance in book form is looked upon by Fred J. Balshofer to give impetus to the demand for the picture in which Harold Lockwood stars. Francis Perry Elliott is author of the book which has attained wide circulation.

Countless embarrassing situations surrounding the pajamas are said to be faithfully reproduced in the picture version.
LEAKS IN THE LOOP

Through the courtesy of George K. Spoor the Chicago Historical Society will receive a film record of the visit of Marshal Joffre and Premier Viviani to this city. The pictures of the reception to the French party are being made at the F.K.N. studios and will be placed in the Society's archives.

The Lea-Bel offices have been removed to 612-14 in the Schiller Building on West Randolph street.

The American Bioscope Company has opened downtown offices in the Continental and Commercial National Bank Building at No. 208 South LaSalle street.

J. Schoenstadt and Sons have purchased the Halsted theatre at Fifty-fifth and Halsted streets. It is a modern house and has a seating capacity of 1,000. They are arranging to show Arctect program. This now makes six theatres under the Schoenstadt direction.

The local Vitaphone office announces that they are dickerling for the securing of a big Loop theatre for the opening of "Within the Law." Their Peggy Hyland feature, "The Sixthteenth Wife," ran at the Ziegfeld theatre last week.

The new Slicfe Film exchange, being run by Greiver and Herz, has moved from the fourteenth floor of the Consumer's building to the fourth floor. They are now permanently installed with a line layout of offices and shipping room that covers 2,000 square feet of space. They will handle a weekly and bi-weekly program of short subjects, together with a list of nine multiple reel subjects now ready.

The members of the Chicago Exhibitors' League, aided by Harry Leonhardt, western manager of Fox, drafted two hundred telegrams of protest against the proposed government tax on film footage and sent them to Illinois congressmen and senators at Washington.

Elmer Pearson, formerly Chicago sales manager of the Max Linder comedies, has been made sales manager of the K.E.N.E offices here, it was announced last week.

Jones, Linick and Schaefer have purchased the Illinois state rights to "The Crisis" from Schuman-Elliott, who purchased the world rights to the picture made the arrangement for the trans-serral.

The Rose theatre, Harry Miller manager, distributed a nifty little picture of Douglas Fairbanks during the run of "In Again—Out Again" at that theatre. The Rose is an all-night house.

Picture Taxation Change to Be Fought Out

The meeting of the Committee on Revision of Licenses of the Chicago City Council will be held Thursday of this week to again take up the matter of change in the taxation of motion picture theatres in the city. The proposed bill now in the hands of the committee plans to do away with the present uniform tax rate on all theatres and substitute a gradation scale of taxation, according to the capacity of each house.

While this method of taxation has been working in a number of cities throughout the country the Chicago exhibitors are opposed to it. The present uniform rate of taxation on Chicago theatres, no matter what size, is $200 a year. In view of the fact that the proposed graduating tax will have as its minimum levy the sum of $200 the exhibitors see no relief in sight.

In order to make a fight against the proposed bill the exhibitors of Chicago will have a representation at the coming meeting of the committee to urge that the bill be killed.

Enlarge Offices of Arctect-Paramount

Since the coming together of the Paramount and Arctect interests it has been announced that plans for enlarging the Arctect Chicago office in the Consumers' Building are under way. A part of the Paramount force, whose local offices are in the same building, will be moved into the Arctect suite.

Police Stop Exhibition of "Spirit of '76"

Fifty policemen and detectives, with heavy night sticks, loud voices and other means of displaying their force, swooped down on Orchestra Hall, Chicago, on Monday night, May 14, and stopped the attempt of Robert Goldstein to show his much advertised picture spectacle, "The Spirit of '76". Goldstein, after spending thousands of dollars in display advertising for the premiere of his picture in Chicago, scheduled for May 7, was informed two days before the opening that a permit could not be granted by the police council board.

From that time until the night of the sensational police interference, Goldstein had tried every means to secure a permit. Several thousand feet of the film was cut out, numerous other changes were made and mandamus proceedings were started against the city by the producer. Suddenly on Saturday, May 12, Goldstein came out in all the Chicago papers with another advertisement stating that the picture would be "positively" shown on the following Monday night. The raid followed.

Tuesday night, May 15, Goldstein gave a private showing to Judges Baldwin and Walker and the Chicago Council Board. The result is awaited with interest in Chicago motion picture circles.

Red Cross Aid Advocated by Reel Fellows

The Reel Fellows' Club started their "boisterous nights" program of entertainment going in a lively and satisfactory manner in their clubrooms on Friday night, May 11. The occasion was announced and entitled as Universal Night and all of the employees of Universal's local exchange who could possibly attend were present to share in the fun and camaraderie that filled the air.

Sol. Lesserman, manager of the Lorraine Exchange, and E. J. Finkhart, sales manager of Universal, spoke to the Reel Fellows on behalf of their organization, and great was the enthusiasm aroused.

During the course of the speeches it was proposed to take some immediate and helpful action on behalf of the Red Cross campaign for funds. A suggestion to have slides made and run in all the Chicago houses appealing to the public to aid the Red Cross was unanimously favored. Voluntary donations from these present brought enough money to pay for the making of the slides.

Starts Military Drill

Waterson Rotbacker has started a movement among the employees of his plant to drill them in military tactics. They are being instructed daily in the studio under the direction of a private tutor, and all are evidencing great interest.

Scene from "Beware of Strangers," (Beig.)
THE HANDY LIST OF WINNERS

THE BIG "VOICE"

The Universal’s Surprise Mystery Serial Making a Big Noise Everywhere

The mammoth serial production—the Universal’s latest and greatest the surprise mystery serial photo-drama "THE VOICE ON THE WIRE"—is the big noise in movie circles these days. It is not only one of the most fascinatingly mysterious dramas ever filmed, but to add is if directed by Stuart Paton (who filmed the big Universal spectacular, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea"), that there are punches in every reel and every episode leaves the audience in a state of suspense that is sure to bring them back to the next.

Ben Wilson, popular Universal star, plays the lead, and opposite him is beautiful Neva Gerber. They are supported by Joseph Girard and a huge and brilliant cast, while the production is lavish on the extreme. Every sort of thrill that appeals to the movie patron is present in this multi-reel drama, from the deeds of daring and the element of mystery to an all-absorbing romantic and adventurous love story.

"THE VOICE ON THE WIRE" first appeared in book form. It was written by Eustace Hale Ball, who novelized "Traffic in Souls" and other successes. It has been read and enjoyed by multitudes and its appearance in film form has been eagerly greeted by these readers throughout the country.

So strong an impression did this wonderful serial make at a private showing that it was booked for the entire circuit of Marcus Loew theatres. These prosperous houses have first choice of everything on the market, yet in spite of all competition and solely on merit, "THE VOICE ON THE WIRE" was chosen. Here is in touch with your nearest Universal Exchange today and arrange for a booking or address the Home Office.

Dull Days Disappear When Right Picture is Shown

SCREEN MAGAZINE GETS CROWDS

Just as the demand for information and the average person’s love for pictures has made huge successes of the great illustrated periodicals, so the Universal Screen Magazine has made its popular appeal to the masses who want to be informed, instructed and entertained at the same time. The Universal Screen Magazine is a huge popular illustrated magazine in moving picture form. Its range is so wide as to include something of interest for every person who sees it, regardless of age or sex. There are cooking lessons and beauty hints; latest progress in science, industry, manufacture and the arts; detailed views of the making of many things in daily use; physical culture subjects; our dumb animal friends; what we eat; intimate views of great cities and the remarkable animated sculpture by the famous sculptor Willie Hopkins. No mere list of subjects can begin to give any idea of the fascinating character of this one-reel feature. Wherever it is shown it creates its own demand. So strong an impression did it make that once you must be prepared to show it every week. Get in touch with your nearest Universal Exchange today and if your competitor hasn’t already beaten you to it, you can book this wonderful release that will pack them in on the dullest day. Or address UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE, 1600 Broadway.

COMEDIES THAT TICKLE

Bring the Tinkle-Tinkle-Tinkle of Coins to the Till—Three Varieties to Choose From Comedy night is the night of profits—as every Exhibitor knows—if you have the right comedies. The mighty Universal makes this easy by supplying three distinct circles of comedy under the Nester, L-KO and Joker Brands. The first is in the nature of polite or parlor comedy, though the funny antics of Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran are bold enough at times to satisfy even a lover of horo ply. L-KO’s are unique. There are perhaps more laughable stunt stunts put out under the L-KO Brand than are usually found in the so-called stunt dramas. L-KO’s are deservedly popular. They are cutting the money for exhibitors everywhere because they are big-gest and therefore prime favorites with fans. Jokers are always screams. If you want to book the funniest comedy ever filmed get "The Cross-Eyed Submarine," a bartique

WATCH FOR "THE GRAY GHOST"

Based on the Famous Saturday Evening Post story "LOOT" by Arthur Somers Roche.

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers.
PICTURES TO PLEASE PEOPLE

KEEP EM POSTED

Universal Animated Weekly
Gives the Fans the World’s News First on the Screen

NEVER in the history of the country have newspaper circulations reached the amazing figures that prevail at the present time. There is no lack of news these days and people who ordinarily would look at a paper occasionally now read as many as they can get. Today the world’s news affects every man, woman, and child. In villages and hamlets, as well as in the great cities people want the latest news and no other.

So it is with the Universal Animated Weekly. It is always first on the screen with the latest news of the world in pictures and the movie patrons know it. The demand for prints is increasing every week at a most gratifying rate. Nowadays people want not only to read and know of the world’s doings, but they want to see the events in moving pictures, exactly as they happened. Book the Universal Animated Weekly and you will be giving them what they want. That is why the F. A. W. will pack them in on the dull day when nothing else will muster a corporal’s guard. Book thru any Universal Exchange.

“SONG HITS IN PHOTOPLAY”

To a split reel release that you should ask your Exchange about at once. Get it before your competitor does. The story of the greatest song hits of the day are told in moving pictures and the narratives are portrayed by leading singers who have helped to make these songs popular. Great chance for song contests, etc. Full particulars from your Exchange.

THE FIRST SATURDAY EVENING POST STORY EVER FILMED IN SERIAL FORM

P E O P L E hate to see an entertainment backwards. They hate to go to a feature performance and find that a reel has been run, and they have to see the last four reels first. They like to go to a theatre and see a good program show. They can drop in any time and get the whole show. That is but one of many reasons why the Universal Program is followed by millions of fans throughout the world and why it is now in both quality and quantity greater than all competition combined.

SPECIALS

On the Universal Program Week of June 11

REGULARS

On the Universal Program Week of June 11

The Exhibitors’ Best Friend is Followed
Every Week by Millions of Fans

The Mighty UNIVERSAL Program

- The FIRST SATURDAY EVENING POST STORY EVER FILMED IN SERIAL FORM

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS."
BUTTERFLY

Pictures
present

"The FIELD of HONOR"

with

Allen Holubar and Louise Lovely

A Stirring Military Drama of a Coward who became a Hero

Written by Brand Whitlock,
U.S. Minister to Belgium
Directed by Allen Holubar

Produced by the UNIVERSAL
Film Manufacturing Co
Carl Laemmle, President
Book through any
Universal Exchange

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers
UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS

Proof of the instantaneous popularity and superiority of UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS over ANY and ALL news weeklies is the immediate booking of UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS in New York's biggest Broadway Houses, including THE RIALTO, THE BROADWAY, THE NEW YORK LOEWS Theatres, FOX Theatres, the largest houses in the country.

You don't need to know any more about the UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS than to know that the BIGGEST and BEST Houses in the U. S. have instantly booked it.

If the BEST and BIGGEST Houses understand instantly, so will you.

If you can get it, BOOK IT IMMEDIATELY

All the world's biggest events recorded in marvelous news-style that will pack your house at every showing. Book thru any Universal Exchange or direct thru UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS, 1000 Broadway, New York City.

If you like the "News," write our advertisers; if not, tell us.
Eight Branches in Milwaukee Move Quarters

The last week in May will be moving day for the great majority of Milwaukee exchange men. An order promulgated some months ago, by the building inspector, is the cause of this general migration of Milwaukee exchanges.

Some eight exchanges will forsake their present quarters and take up new ones in the Toy Building, by the first of June. Shortly after Christmas the building inspector notified the various exchanges that they were not in fireproof buildings and designated a number of the downtown buildings which he considered suitable for their purpose. The result is that the art dramas, the Independent Film Co., Pioneers Film Exchange, Magnate Film Co., Kose Co. and the Grauman Amusement Co. will be shortly housed in the Toy Building.

Three new film exchanges will also have their quarters in the Toy Building. They are the Triangle, which will open in Chicago with the management of Ralph A. Weist, the Metro Film Co., under the management of E. H. Hoyt, and the World Screen Co., which will have its office on the second floor of the Toy Building.

Goldwyn Pictures, Ltd., of Canada Inaugurated

Simultaneous with the releasing of its productions in the United States and elsewhere in September, Goldwyn Pictures Corporation will enter actively into the Canadian field through the medium of Goldwyn Pictures, Ltd., a company just organized as the distributing medium for the Dominion.

Goldwyn offices will be in active operation in six important Canadian cities in June, by which time the American offices will also be opened for business. The head offices of Goldwyn Pictures, Ltd., are already in operation at 37 Yonge street, Toronto, Ontario, and correspondence with Dominion exhibitors is all handled from that city.

The five other cities in which Goldwyn offices will be operated are Montreal, St John N. B., Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

Publications will be begun at once from Toronto of the "Goldwyn Pictures Bulletin," a Canadian news and service sheet for exhibitors to fully acquaint them with the pictures of this company.

Los Angeles Mutual Manager

J. J. Meyberg is the new manager of the Mutual Los Angeles Exchange, succeeding Mr. Levy, who has been transferred to the San Francisco office of this exchange. T. C. Malcom has been appointed coast supervisor. L. G. Stang, formerly booker, has been appointed chief clerk of the Los Angeles Mutual office.

Notes of Texas Exchanges

L. B. Remi, who is now handling the super-production, "Joan the Woman," and who was until recently manager of the Triangle Exchange in Dallas, Texas, will be installed in charge of the Goldwyn office in this territory, when it is opened during the summer.

R. W. Lynch, who has been managing the Paramount in Dallas, is now in charge of the Triangle office, and E. E. Owens, who has been assistant manager has been promoted to the management of the Paramount office.

E. T. Peter, well-known Southwest exchangeman, has been selected to manage the A. C. Cressy Interests in Dallas, the exchange handling Clara Kimball Young and other Solanick productions.

St. Louis Exchange News

C. E. Shurtleff, of the New York Pathé forces, is in charge temporarily of the Pathé branch in St. Louis at 320 Locust street, until a successor can be found to C. S. Edwards, former manager of the exchange. While he is in charge here Mr. Shurtleff is making some changes in the sales system, to conform with the methods of the Eastern offices.

The Vitagraph Exchange at 3630 Olive street, St. Louis, has a new traveling representative in the person of Harry Strickland.

War Calls Pathé Branch Men

H. M. Osborn, manager of the Philadelphia Pathé Exchange, reports that three of his office force have enlisted. The young men are: J. J. Keating, Albert Spein and William Bevan.

General Film Expanding

Owing to reported improved business of General Film Company, and its added product of selected short length subjects, a number of the branches in the Central West are to have larger quarters.

Business Manager H. H. Buxbaum has made a trip to Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, to inspect those branches of General Film, arrange for the handling of a doubled output, and to see toward securing enlarged quarters for each of the exchanges. The volume of business at each of these exchanges is said by him to be so great as to make their existing space seem cramped, and when the added releases are all listed a great deal more room will be in demand.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Al. Lichtman, general manager of Artcraft Pictures Corporation, is back in New York after a trip to the West Coast and various exchange centers.

Louis Burstein of the King Bee comedies is in New York to remain about three weeks before returning to the Jacksonville studio.

Ben Friedman, of Friedman Enterprises, left New York yesterday, after a few days' stay, on business in connection with "The Mormon Maid."

Ben Shulberg, general manager of Paramount Pictures Corporation, is back at his desk after a visit to the Lasky studios in Los Angeles.

"The Great Holdup," a Scene Secured at Great Risk of Life
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Just for Fun
By Longacre

FROM the looks of certain picture screens Willard Mack must be a first class salesman as well as a scenario writer.

THERE are many who aver that Patty Arbuckle is the most diplomatic member of the profession in withdrawing from a game while still ahead of it.

WITH CERTAIN APOLOGIES
Said H. H. Van Loan to George T. Pardy.

"I've started strong although I'm tardy." Said George T. Pardy to H. H. Van Loan.

"Your stuff is making the whole trade groan."

YES, Bluebirds are no longer shown in the privacy of the projecting room and Butterflies too must be sought for elsewhere. Reviewers have found themselves forced into the pursuit of nature on the sly, and now may be seen any day rushing frantically about Broadway endeavoring to discover the hiding places of the 'birds and 'flies.

AT that though the chase sometimes takes on the aspect of a Fox hunt.

COLUMNIST F. P. A. of the New York Tribune instituted the "War Wagon" not so long ago and set it in motion to the delight in pointing out the lack of plausibility in picture plots. Naturally they are not always wrong, but we wonder how many different postal cards he thinks he was sending.

SOME mean person with a contorted sense of humor, suggested in re the selective draft that press agents be sent the front as gas bombs.

ORACE FULD, once a reviewer, now a salesman, has attained heights of prominence, then they asked to his life. Happening into one of the Lasky bar rooms he discovered the assoc.

JESSE LASKY is now going about with a gun in search of Hiram Abrams who told him the trip to Portland would cost him nothing.

"Word that --- was in the neighborhood spread quietly but quickly through the building. Customers came running from far and near to have a look at those Girls from the ribbon counter bolted, one might say, and rushed to the front room to have a peep at the hero."

"Ladies who had sold buttons for the last ten years forgot everything else in their desire to see --- in the flesh."

"The elevator boys enjoyed a rush season. Stairways creaked beneath the rush of many feet. It seemed as it another Pied Piper had established himself in the second floor front."

JEROME BEATTY says that Mary Pickford is the coming Shirley Mason of motion pictures.

WILLARD BRADLEY begs to make a few corrections in his biography as printed in the Studio Directory. Of chief import are the denials made by Mr. Bradley of the statements that he rides for divers entertainment is whether he is directing just now, but free dancing was in the scenario line while he is not under the Bergere or any other management except his own.

We caught a glimpse of a postal card which Bennie Zeidman sent to Pete Schmid all the way from Los Angeles. Cameramen having nothing on the artful Bennie in the way of superspionage. We wonder how many different postal cards he thought he was sending.

The Longacre Lampoon
All the News That Fits, We Print
Longacre Square, N. Y., June 2, 1917

EDITORIAL

St случаи adherence of the spoken drama seem to take delight in pointing out the lack of plausibility in picture plots. Naturally they are not altogether wrong, but we wonder why they bother so much about the screen. As far as we can see the great majority of the stage plays contain about as much or as little plausibility in proportion to the number produced as the offerings of the screen. Whenever a human, real picture comes on it is allowed to pass without comment from the venemous critics of the picture. But when an unusually meallower, bellies, lines, one that is given large prominence, then they set to work and call all pictures foolish, impossible, ridiculous and whatnot. Ignorant criticism like ignorant censorship is not always to be laughed at either. Sometimes it takes serious proportions.

In reality the man who goes out of his way to pour scorn on the business in general usually possesses some ulterior motive. If his skeleton were ratted a bit, probably a few rejection slips would show themselves. And if this was the case, manuscript scripts that caused the rejections might possibly be found to be more unreal, more outlandish or at best striking a lower water mark in regard to anything produced for the screen.

LOCAL NEWS

Griffin is conducting a states rights dog's for world these days, which almost leads one to believe a new breed is being evolved.

Ye olde known Herman Selby Pud longer than Geo. T. Pardy and agree with him as to his opinion of the former, only more so.

Agnes Spell had a story in the Sun noir of the m. p. morning Telegraph about the N. Y. p. and is in no danger of being arrested from now on.

—Claire Thoughts, the writer of verse, is visiting N. Y. at the present writing.

—Adam Hall Shirk, Art Hall now and ye ol. of Pete's latest war pictures the other Sat. eve.

—W. W. Schmid, the lst of June is on hand, to speak, and we'll make our list of guests also over the wire.

—Bill Johnston is staking the songwriters' stuff when he heads an edit. "Chicago—and You." Ah, there, Bill.

—M. P. News, Inc., is beginning to think about vacations. Christmas will be here soon, say they.

—Billy Quirk, the w. k. terror of French buildings, president of the Screen Club and director, is now producing Black Diamond pictures and vast improvements.

—A. Parsons is another p. a. who also writes at times, he has a new No. June No. of "Forest and Stream."

—Naas Dabbs is seeing a lot of the m. p. bus these days acting as p. a. for Frank Hall.
"Prosperity, Not Depression, Result of War Times"
J. I. Holcomb, President of Big Popcorn Machine Works, on Canadian Trip Finds Wholesome Condition Motion Picture Dome Not Heated

Returning from a trip to Canada, where he spent some time making a thorough investigation of business conditions, J. I. Holcomb, president of the Holcomb and Hoke Manufacturing Company, world's largest popcorn machine makers, whose machines are used in front of many picture theatres, has words both of hope and warning as regards conditions during the war.

"Don't peddle war scare," is the striking keynote of Mr. Holcomb's opinion.

"I feel sure," he said, "that every man in the moving picture trade will make more money than he has ever made before, not despite the war, but because of the war. And the duration of the war makes little difference in the final result. Congress recently voted $7,000,000,000 to be used for war purposes. Most of it will go for new business in this country. Think what that means. The great middle class of this country and the laboring class will spend more money and have more actual cash to spend than they have ever had before. This is especially true considering that purchases in this business, I believe, average considerably less than $1. People will think they are practicing economy. But as a rule they forget the dimes and remember the dollars. And they are always ready to spend ten dimes, if the ten purchases are made at separate times, when they would think twice about spending one dollar.

"I have just returned from a trip to Canada, where I was looking over business conditions. I interviewed the managers of the Commercial Agencies, Government officials, business men, etc. The unanimous opinion was that Canada is enjoying the greatest era of prosperity ever known. Workers are scarce, wages are high, collections are good and business is booming. It is only fair to assume that conditions in this country will be identical as those in Canada at the present time.

"It seems to me that the business man who imagines that his business will be seriously curtailed by the war has groundless fears. And if he exercises a little common sense he will recognize that right now is the time to get his share of the easy money which this country is ready to spend. His problem should not be one of retrenchment, such as cutting down expenses by reducing his clerical forces, stock and advertising.

"Instead he should - he must - make every effort to get his share of the $7,000,000,000 which is waiting for him -- but not by those methods.

"In a nutshell, my idea of business during the war is that dealers never before have had such an opportunity for making big money as they have today. And all that is necessary to make big money is that the dealer take the live man's viewpoint. He should refuse to listen to the little fellow and go after business for all he is worth. In other words sell war prosperity - don't peddle war scare."

Absolute Enforcement of Blue Laws in Iowa

Iowa has Sunday closing. Attorney General Havener on May 13 began his campaign to enforce the "blue laws" which have been in existence but not enforced for years. Less severe laws were proposed at the last legislature and defeated. The Attorney-General declares he will not have a law on the books that is not being enforced.

Sunday, May 13, he began operations in Des Moines, the state capital, closing all amusements and businesses, except the prescription counters of drug stores. The first move is a test case. If it succeeds Iowa will be under the ban of one of the most severe Sunday closing laws in the United States. Former Attorney-General Cosson explains he believed community interest should govern and that the laws should not be enforced where the community as a whole objected.

Marion, Ia., was really the first city to fall under the ban. Even the cigar stores were closed there Sunday, May 6, along with the motion picture theatres. Many Iowa towns have voted local option to close the motion picture houses on Sunday, but in all the larger cities and towns they are open on Sunday.

The Attorney-General has announced he will send letters to county attorneys in all the counties within ten days ordering them to enforce the law.

"Better Pictures" Shown by St. Louis House

The Visual Library, which is the St. Louis branch of the National Committee on Films for Children, gave its first matinee at the Delmar theatre, one of the Cornelius group of motion picture houses, on May 5, to an audience of eight hundred.

Miss Sarah Edwards, who promoted the movement in St. Louis, says that the plan of the association is to put the program in other theatres in other parts of the city, which has been separated into districts, with one house showing the program in each district.

A number of coupon cards will be sold to the parents and children in each district, and each card will be good for twelve admissions to as many matinées. The exhibitor is guaranteed $25 for each performance.

Theatre Aids Church

The Jefferson theatre, Dallas, Tex., has given its noon hour during which time the shows are in progress, over to Rev. George W. Truett, for twenty years pastor of the First Baptist Church. The house is filled to its capacity daily. In this way the amusement people are showing a broad-minded spirit of co-operation with the different parts of the public.
One minute to live was "Wolf" Lowry's offer to a man who insulted a woman. "Wolf" quick on the trigger, ranchman -- portrayed by W.M. Shart, falls in love with her but surrenders when her first love appears, and goes to Alaska.
"Her Fighting Chance"
(Arthur Jacobs—Frank Hall—Seven Arts)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S wild story of the Canadian Northwest, "The Fiddling Man," upon which "Her Fighting Chance" is based, has been given a magnificent setting by the producers. Director Edwin Carewe took his company to some northern spot where there was plenty of snow and just the right scenery in which to set Mr. Curwood's story. Several times was the invitation audience at the Broadway theatre moved to applause by the transcendent beauty of the scenes.

In all other respects "Her Fighting Chance" is a picture the likes of which are seldom seen. The story has one long, powerful vein of suspense. Technically, the scenes have been so arranged that the utmost has been gotten from this valuable property. Certain incidents are withheld from the audience just long enough, and when finally they are flashed across the screen their effect is thrilling, to say the least.

The cast is headed by Jane Grey, who handles the role of Marie excellently. Thomas Holding as Thoreau and Percy Standing as Corporal Blake of the Northwest Mounted Police are the other principals. The picture is really a three-act one after the story gets under way. That the interest is kept up to such a pitch with the play practically wholly between the three characters is another tribute to the adaptor and director in their fine arrangement of the continuity.

"THE STORY AND PLAYERS"

Corporal Blake (Percy Standing) is sent to apprehend the murderer of Francois Breault (Fred Jones). All evidence points to Thoreau (Thomas Holding) as the guilty man. Blake arrives at his cabin while he is away and is greeted by Marie (Jane Grey), his wife. Posing as a friend of her husband's, he learns from her that Thoreau and Breault quarrelled shortly before the murder was committed and that the former was absent from his home at the time. This, together with the dying man's confession that Thoreau was the murderer, seems undeniable evidence. Blake, fascinated by Marie, agrees to let Thoreau escape providing he pay the price. After a supreme struggle, he is ready to acquiesce to his demands when Thoreau arrives. Blake arrests him, but during the night Marie helps him to escape. Blake goes in pursuit. In the meantime the officers at the post have received the dying confession of Pastamoo (William Kohl) that he committed the murder and Thoreau's cabin. The chase has led pursuer and pursued around a circle and back at the cabin. Blake mistakes another officer for Thoreau and fires at him. The officer returns fire, the firing, the villain, Thoreau and Marie then learn that they are free from suspicion.

"Atonement"
(Bluebird—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"ATONEMENT" is the first of the selection of foreign-made pictures to bear the Bluebird World Film label, which promises to be a series of excellent productions, not only for their artistic effect but for their dramatic interest as well. The story is an interesting one, and the acting and direction are excellent.

"SOUTHERN JUSTICE" (Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

"SOUTHERN JUSTICE" in its simplicity and charm, in its richness of scene and realism of setting, and in the manner in which the story gets under way, And like its predecessors "Southern Justice" is a comedy-drama of a sort that entertains more by the colorful bits infused in it by its author-director than by plot. Frankly the plot of this picture is extremely slow in beginning; there is a wealth of scenery that are "atmosphere" and little else, but when atmosphere makes you laugh and makes you warm with its very homely realism, then the absence of conflicting forces is hardly noticeable. "Southern Justice" is laid in the South in springtime. The scenes secured on large estates are chosen with an eye for their artistic effect. They are always enhanced by excellent photography. The characters in the story become friends to be remembered when the picture draws to an end. George Hernandez's part of Judge Morgan is a delightful one, and Charles Maila's as Major Dilron contributes much to the characterization. Elwood Bredell, a clever youngster, plays the part of the boy, Daws Anthony. Myrtle Gonzalez is charming as the heroine.

"I Encountered"
(Lasky—Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

THERE are points about this play which make it very hard to judge of its qualities as good entertainment for Paramount audiences which is what we are expected to estimate. The role of Mrs. Jackson, taken by Fannie Ward, is that of a mother whose one thought is for Little Billy (Jacobs), and as a fond mother Miss Ward is a few dramatic moments, and a tremendous climax when the mother learns her
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Vol. 18, No. 22

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

S. pictured, "The Boy Who Cried Wolf," from the story by Richard Harding Davis, does not measure up to the story itself as a source of entertainment. As the feature of the Conquest Pictures program it is not up to the standard. The story offers far better opportunities between the covers of one of Davis' books of short stories than on the screen. He never pretended that his particular story should be adapted to the screen, else he would have put it into more of sustaining interest, more action and less of the light, dreamy narrative. What it lacks in strength of plot it makes up in its timely appeal and good, wholesome thought for the younger generation who are instilled with the desire to show their patriotism. "The Boy Who Cried Wolf" will serve as an excellent filler for a featured program. It is in two reels. E. H. Griffith directed.

Albert Hackett presents the part of Jimmy, a Boy Scout, who, after hearing a lecture by a war correspondent, is instilled with the desire to be of service to his country. The correspondent had told the Scouts that every suspicious character whom they saw should be watched. Jimmy from that time on is on the watch and discovers a suspicious looking man making a map of the topography of the country surrounding his home town. The suspicious stranger is in reality a spy, and Jimmy receives the honors of his troop.

"Crystals and Their Beauties" is a good scientific offering in a split reel with "The Making of Hundred Ton Guns," a timely industrial showing.

"The Story of Plymouth Rock" is a one-reel drama telling of the Pilgrims.

"Skylarking on Skis," a scenic sport picture, shows Dartmouth College students in stunts on skis.

"Farmer Alfalfa's Wayward Pip" an animated cartoon, completes a good program.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

"Freckles" (Lasky-Paramount—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

We always look to thorough enjoyment and sincere entertainment when Jack Pickford comes onto the screen. With Louise Huff in "Freckles" we predict the greatest success the famous Mary's brother has yet attained. Gene Stratton Porter's remarkably dramatic play has been staged in most beautiful settings, and it is only a case of giving the right emphasis to all the good points in this production, which from several angles will bear sincere praise.

As stated, Pickford lives his part, as usual. He obviously does not gain our sympathy because of his good looks, though his expression and manner on the stage compel interest at once, but he has that something which has made his big sister the highest salaried artist, and that something, as we have explained before, seems to be his ability to live any natural role that is assigned to him, as if he were actually that character.

He can look the most sorrowful, the most bored, the most cheerful, and happy boy, as occasion may require, and as Freckles we frankly say we like his

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Freckles (Jack Pickford) is an orphaned orphan waist, runs away and finally is given the name of the father of John McLean (Hobart Bosworth), a lumber baron, who takes a fancy to him and makes him a member of his household. In the forest he meets Angel (Louise Huff), whom he worships desperately. In an encounter with lumber thieves he is all but killed, and taken to a hospital where he is nursed back to health by Angel, whose true love he learns. In the meantime his father, an English nobleman, dies, and his uncle traces him to the hospital, where he learns of his noble birth, and now he can declare his love to Angel—whom he has felt far too good for an unknown, as he believed himself to be.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

"The Boy Who Cried Wolf" and Other Pictures (Conquest-Forum Films—Six Reels)
REVIEWED BY JOSEPH L. KELLEY

A picture, "The Boy Who Cried Wolf," from the story by Richard Harding Davis, does not measure up to the story itself as a source of entertainment. As the feature of the Conquest Pictures program it is not up to the standard. The story offers far better opportunities between the covers of one of Davis' books of short stories than on the screen. He never pretended that his particular story should be adapted to the screen, else he would have put it into more of sustaining interest, more action and less of the light, dreamy narrative. What it lacks in strength of plot it makes up in its timely appeal and good, wholesome thought for the younger generation who are instilled with the desire to show their patriotism. "The Boy Who Cried Wolf" will serve as an excellent filler for a featured program. It is in two reels. E. H. Griffith directed.

Albert Hackett presents the part of Jimmy, a Boy Scout, who, after hearing a lecture by a war correspondent, is instilled with the desire to be of service to his country. The correspondent had told the Scouts that every suspicious character whom they should be watched. Jimmy from that time on is on the watch and discovers a suspicious looking man making a map of the topography of the country surrounding his home town. The suspicious stranger is in reality a spy, and Jimmy receives the honors of his troop.

"Crystals and Their Beauties" is a good scientific offering in a split reel with "The Making of Hundred Ton Guns," a timely industrial showing.

"The Story of Plymouth Rock" is a one-reel drama telling of the Pilgrims.

"Skylarking on Skis," a scenic sport picture, shows Dartmouth College students in stunts on skis.

"Farmer Alfalfa's Wayward Pip" an animated cartoon, completes a good program.
"The Millionaire Vagrant"
(Triangle-Ince—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"The Millionaire Vagrant" presents the story of a rich young man who, on a bet lives in one of his own tenements on six dollars a week and there runs headlong into romance and has his eyes opened to the hardships of the poor. The theme of the picture is a rather inconsequential affair. Any rich young man who believes he can get along easily on six dollars a week doesn't appear terribly attractive in the spectators' eyes. Perhaps that is why the author chose to call him Du Peyster. After it's all over Du Peyster decides to erect educational institutions and help the poor along, which is an ending divided in the first reel.

One wishes that J. G. Hawks had rescued his story without regrets to such unconvincing things as the prosecuting attorney, who is both guilty and a prisoner and who writes her a note in the court room to meet him that evening. This girl, supposedly another needy creature, turns out to be secretary to some Reform Society. The picture also needs much explanation in the way of subtitles. There are too many of them for the good of the continuity. Then too the continuity is spoiled more than once by certain jumps that give the appearance of having been caused by the editor.

Charles Ray brings to the artificial role of Du Peyster his winning personality and manages to make the part effective in some of the scenes. Victor Shorteinger directed.

ANNE THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Steven Du Peyster (Charles Ray), a young millionaire, bets with an attorney, Blackridge (J. Barney Sherry) that he can exist in the tenements on six dollars a week. In his new surroundings Steven becomes acquainted with Ruth (Sylvia Bremer) and half a dozen folk in various stages of poverty and despair. Ruth is artful on some charge not altogether clear. Steven, in attempts to regain some of his valuables held by Blackridge, in order to provide counsel for the girl discovers that the lawyer is a ruse. He acts as prosecuting attorney in the trial and drops the case when Ruth seems willing to accede to his suggestions. He writes the note which Ruth makes public. Du Peyster, his bet won, enters on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Jack Gilbert, Elvira Well, Dorcas Matthews, Aggie Herring, Josephine Hendley, Carolyn Wagner and Walt Whitman are others in the cast.

"Mystery of the Double Cross," No. 12, "The Riddle of the Cross"
(Triangle—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

This is a tense chapter of continued mysteries, well sustained, keeping the audience guessing at every turn in a manner which has marked this serial throughout. Bentley Bentlcy tries to take advantage of Philippa's love for her father to trick her into marrying him, but fails through Dick's watchfulness. The masked stranger has little to do with this episode, which gets its on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Steven Du Peyster (Charles Ray), a young millionaire, bets with an attorney, Blackridge (J. Barney Sherry) that he can exist in the tenements on six dollars a week. In his new surroundings Steven becomes acquainted with Ruth (Sylvia Bremer) and half a dozen folk in various stages of poverty and despair. Ruth is artful on some charge not altogether clear. Steven, in attempts to regain some of his valuables held by Blackridge, in order to provide counsel for the girl discovers that the lawyer is a ruse. He acts as prosecuting attorney in the trial and drops the case when Ruth seems willing to accede to his suggestions. He writes the note which Ruth makes public. Du Peyster, his bet won, enters on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Jack Gilbert, Elvira Well, Dorcas Matthews, Aggie Herring, Josephine Hendley, Carolyn Wagner and Walt Whitman are others in the cast.

"The Neglected Wife," No. 1, "Beyond Recall"
(Balboa—Pathé—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

There is more plot to this picture than has been usual in some "serial" offerings. This episode, by itself, has all the dramatic elements of a complete story, well acted and smoothly presented by Ruth Roland and a highly competent supporting cast.

Pauline Starke, Kate Bruce and Jennie Lee have other roles.

"An Amateur Orphan"
(Pathé—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

The underlying idea in this little play is clever, the poor little rich girl being willing to change places with a less "fortunate" orphan, in order to escape the tyranny of an unsympathetic old governess. It seems to us Gladys Leslie at times overdoes the effervescent child-spirits business to the point of almost losing consciousness with proper adaptation to circumstances and surroundings.

Her fatal gust of enthusiasm for any and everything which does not offer the stiffing restraint of an ugly goodness, are far

SACKFEE to social ambitions, greed of power, and all the concomitant merriments that attend a young soul offered on the marriage market by a heartless mother, seems to us a theme we have met somewhere before. The inevitable Duke adds variety. And the other woman, who loves the Duke and finally by her jealousy saves the girl.

From the above you will see that Anita Stewart has not a chance to do anything here in this production, and she meets that opportunity just as she finds it, trying to conquer with her own pleasing personality a series of situations that have been done so many different ways by so many capable artists of the stage and screen, we almost know by rote what is coming next.

As with other serials, the plot here is a complicating of a good thing, with some very fine night scenes of a train and an automobile and the dragging of a mur- deress out of a Pullman berth.

This is not up to Vitagraph standard. It will not seriously horrify admirers of Anita Stewart, but certainly does not offer her a worthwhile role.

THE STORY OF THE CAST

Clever (Anita Stewart) is to be sacrificed on the altar of ambition and wealth. Her aunt and uncle (Jutha Swayne Gordon, Charles Stevenson) plan her marriage to Duke Boris (Dinsley Shaw). Bucky Rain (William Dunn) is always favored by her uncle. Doctor Bills Dunn (Rudolph Cameron) is her personal choice, however, and when Rita (Eudie Jensen) has murdered Duke Boris through jealousy of his marrying Clever for her money, the course of true love is made possible. The Duke is murdered with Bucky Rain's pistol, however, while Billy and Clever are both suspected of the murder. But the crime is fastened on Rita, who confesses the deed.

"Madame Ho-Deep"
(Pathé—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

This makes an average picture, based on a story by O. Henry, entitled "Madame Ho-Deep of the Rackets." The production may be classified as a comedy-drama, although toward the end a heavy supply of melodrama is introduced with a long two-shock scene and a light on a moving train to bring in a few thrills. Chester Withey arranged the story for pictorial use and produced it with a fine regard for realism. There is a point in the light in the end which shows quite an obvious slip in detail, but in other respects his direction is entirely satisfactory.

Seena Owen is featured in the title part and creates a notable character. A. D. Sears heads the support. Much of the comedy can be traced to James Harriot, who creates a laughable character as Willis Cooper.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Octavia (Seena Owen), a society girl with a string of suitors, elifs Westlake (A. D. Sears) and marries the ancient Colonel Beaucoup (F. A. Turner). Westlake, unknown to Octavia, secures a position as manager of the Colonel's ranch. The Colonel dies shortly afterward, and Octavia discovers that he has left her practically nothing but the ranch. She bewails West and discovers Westlake in charge. He has determined not to let her heart run away with her head again, but when the villainous overseer (Sam De Grasse) interferes, there is nothing for him to do but play the hero.

Pauline Starke, Kate Bruce and Jennie Lee have other roles.

"Clover's Rebellion"
(Vitagraph—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

This is a tense chapter of continued mysteries, well sustained, keeping the audience guessing at every turn in a manner which has marked this serial throughout. Bridge Bentley tries to take advantage of Philippa's love for her father to trick her into marrying him, but fails through Dick's watchfulness. The masked stranger has little to do with this episode, which gets its on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Steven Du Peyster (Charles Ray), a young millionaire, bets with an attorney, Blackridge (J. Barney Sherry) that he can exist in the tenements on six dollars a week. In his new surroundings Steven becomes acquainted with Ruth (Sylvia Bremer) and half a dozen folk in various stages of poverty and despair. Ruth is artful on some charge not altogether clear. Steven, in attempts to regain some of his valuables held by Blackridge, in order to provide counsel for the girl discovers that the lawyer is a ruse. He acts as prosecuting attorney in the trial and drops the case when Ruth seems willing to accede to his suggestions. He writes the note which Ruth makes public. Du Peyster, his bet won, enters on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Jack Gilbert, Elvira Well, Dorcas Matthews, Aggie Herring, Josephine Hendley, Carolyn Wagner and Walt Whitman are others in the cast.

"Mystery of the Double Cross," No. 12, "The Riddle of the Cross"
(Triangle—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

This is a tense chapter of continued mysteries, well sustained, keeping the audience guessing at every turn in a manner which has marked this serial throughout. Bridge Bentley tries to take advantage of Philippa's love for her father to trick her into marrying him, but fails through Dick's watchfulness. The masked stranger has little to do with this episode, which gets its on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Steven Du Peyster (Charles Ray), a young millionaire, bets with an attorney, Blackridge (J. Barney Sherry) that he can exist in the tenements on six dollars a week. In his new surroundings Steven becomes acquainted with Ruth (Sylvia Bremer) and half a dozen folk in various stages of poverty and despair. Ruth is artful on some charge not altogether clear. Steven, in attempts to regain some of his valuables held by Blackridge, in order to provide counsel for the girl discovers that the lawyer is a ruse. He acts as prosecuting attorney in the trial and drops the case when Ruth seems willing to accede to his suggestions. He writes the note which Ruth makes public. Du Peyster, his bet won, enters on a life of reform work with Ruth as his partner.

Jack Gilbert, Elvira Well, Dorcas Matthews, Aggie Herring, Josephine Hendley, Carolyn Wagner and Walt Whitman are others in the cast.

"The Neglected Wife," No. 1, "Beyond Recall"
(Balboa—Pathé—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

There is more plot to this picture than has been usual in some "serial" offerings. This episode, by itself, has all the dramatic elements of a complete story, well acted and smoothly presented by Ruth Roland and a highly competent supporting cast.

Pauline Starke, Kate Bruce and Jennie Lee have other roles.

"An Amateur Orphan"
(Pathé—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY GEORGE N. SHOREY

The underlying idea in this little play is clever, the poor little rich girl being willing to change places with a less "fortunate" orphan, in order to escape the tyranny of an unsympathetic old governess. It seems to us Gladys Leslie at times overdoes the effervescent child-spirits business to the point of almost losing consciousness with proper adaptation to circumstances and surroundings.

Her fatal gust of enthusiasm for any and everything which does not offer the stiffing restraint of an ugly goodness, are far
THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Marcia (Gladys Leslie) gets rid of "Quincy" (her governess, Isabel Vernon) by changing places with Quincy's little niece, Jane Perkins, an orphan, when her parents (Thos. A. Curran and Joan Armour) leave her for a trip abroad. Jane is sent to boarding school, while Marcia is adopted out of the orphan asylum by the Bentons. Dave Benton (Roy Haller) the black sheep of the family finds his first inspiration in Marcia. Later Dick (Chester Morris), a lover from the city, visits the Bentons, who are farmers, and Dick and Dave then become rivals, and Marcia helps both, until on a final choice she choses Dave as her life partner, first, however, purposely spoiling his selection by the directors for a big prize he so dearly desires.

"A Royal Rogue"

(Triangle-Krejotty—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

A THK ending puts an upshotastic climax on this two-reeler which for the rest of its length runs at an unusually fine pace. The ending has a house-top chase, an automobile shooting up in the air on a track of water, and a stone wall. Excellent and with lighting action, this wild climax is one of the best ever seen.

"Should She Obey?"

(Arizona Company—Eight Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. MCGRATH

THIS second multiple reel feature film to be finished by the Arizona Company was given its premiere in Chicago at the La Salle theatre. It is a propaganda picture, a philippic against the divorce evil of this country. As it has reached the screen it shows what that the Arizona Company had promised for it is true. Time, effort, money and intention have been invested in it, and its particular nature and the scope it covers seems to make it an ideal state rights picture.

In the striving to parallel the action and moral with the statistics and actual tragedies chronicled in recent American life the producers have not neglected to sustain the necessary story interest, and one can sit down and enjoy the picture without having an opinion either way. But there is one thing certain, it is a brave and powerful smash at the divorce evil of the present and an appeal to humanity to save women from being martyrs and slaves to an arbitrary marital vow.

To one who reads the news columns of the daily papers and possessed of a good memory, much of the action of the picture is recognized as being founded on a social scandal of the upper crust that received much notoriety some years ago. Because of the necessity to show the many tragic offshoots of unhallowed and poisoned marriages and easy gotten divorces the story branches off from its central theme into several tangents, all with moral bearing climaxes.

It is pictorially prefaced with captions and pictures depicting the growth of the evil and the activities of those States and bodies of lawmakers who have started already to stamp out the evil. Such political personages and solons as Governor Emmett Boyle, of Nevada; Lieutenant Governor Sullivan, Senator Boul, Senator Huskey, Chief Justice McCarren, all of Nevada; former Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara, of Illinois, many nationally prominent welfare workers and clergymen are shown.

The picture was directed by George Siegmann, former associate of D. W. Griffith, and the story was arranged by Walter Howey.

"The Hand That Rocks the Cradle"

(Universal—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

DESPITE License Commissioner Bell's protest, the Universal Film Company secured an injunction from the Supreme Court and screened the latest Lois Weber picture, "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle," at the Broadway theatre last Sunday night. Miss Weber in a mild fashion advocates a sort of "selective" birth control, hence Mr. Bell's telephoned protest, which came too late to take effect before the Sunday exhibition.

The picture, outside of its theme, which is in New York City considered more or less illegal, is harmless to the point of being lethargic in certain places. Miss Weber works on the "show 'em" principle in great detail. A character may mention an occurrence and so make it perfectly clear, but Miss Weber must accentuate the matter by visualizing it by way of the fadeout. This process of production results in something of an undue expansion of footage.

The subtitles in many cases contain facts and figures that startle. An emotional appeal made by Miss Weber in her character of Mrs. Broome in which she says: "If the lawmakers had to hear children they would change the laws," stirred a certain portion of the audience to applause. The "if" there is rather a big thing. It might be to better effect to advocate woman suffrage instead. Many of the subtitles convey the impression that it was because of them that Mr. Bell voiced his protest.

Doubtless "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle" will stir up considerable comment if it can make its way to the screens of picture theatres. Any offering that terms the course of nature "often perverted" is bound to set people talking. Miss Weber, assisted by her husband, Phillips Smalley, has molded her picture on facts and propaganda constantly in use by advocates of birth control. It is not a picture thrown together helterskelter with merely an eye to its sensational possibilities, but one on which considerable thought and care has been expended. It is a pity that it runs to such unwarranted length.

As for the story, it is straight propaganda and contains few scenes in any sense dramatic. Its chief forte is its subtitles, which certainly enlighten and often make one gasp.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

Mrs. Broome (Lois Weber) is watched by the police because she spreads literature advocating birth control. She is arrested, but owing to the influence of Dr. Broome (Phillips Smalley), her husband, she is pardoned. She then tells the story to a married couple (Wedgewood, Novelli and Priscilla Dean) of a former servant (Evelyn Nesbit) who married and bore more children than her husband (Harry de More) could support. Later Mrs. Broome is arrested for holding a meeting. She tries the starvation system and eventually is pardoned again. The last scene shows her more or less happy with her family, reading that a bill on birth control may pass the Senate of a certain State.

"The Lad and the Lion"

(Pub. K-E-S-E—Five Parks)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. MCGRATH

PICTURESCQUE: Oriental settings faithfully made, and once again the charm of wild animal life in the picture, as only Selig knows how, make this new K-E-S-E release one of charm and a sure attraction. Not that the story—the plot thread—is absent, it is not. There is a good story with the love story made attractive by the romantic background. But the desert scenes, toasting palm-leaves, Oriental bazaars and lapping surf on silver sand of a tropical island, sort of make one forget the story trend for the artistry of the setting. And then there is the animal life that plays a big part in the picture, in fact a chief part, the lion, fang-bearing and majestic, but doing his allotted work in the photodrama with the cleverness of a terrier in a trained dog troupe.

Vivian Reed, pretty and prolific in her work always, is the star of the picture and well placed. Others in the cast are: Will Machin, Charles Le Moyne, Al Filson, Lafayette MacKee, Captain Ricardo, Cecil Holland, Gertrude Oakman and Frank Clark. Al Green directed the picture, and it is a silent but vivid attest of his ability.

THE STORY AND PLAYERS

A young sailor lad (Will Machin) is cast ashore on an island from his wrecked ship. The experience has made his mind a blank. He makes friends with a lion cast ashore in a crate from the same ship.

For many months they are sole companions on a deserted part of the island. Nearby on the coast is an Arab village where Sheik Hadji (Al Filson) rules with his daughter, Nakbla, as princess (Vivian Reed). She revolts at a proposed marriage to Ben Saada (Charles Le Moyne), chief of a brigand band.

One day the Princess Nakbla’s life is endangered by a party of Saada’s brigands in a lonely part of the island while she is out riding. The lad and the lion come to her rescue and the beast routs the would-be ravishers. The lad makes friends with the princess and an immediate bond of love springs up between them. He takes her back to her father and the Sheik thanks him and favors him with the hand of his daughter. The close of the picture comes with the lad and his Oriental princess bride happy and back in America.

“The Lad and the Lion”

(Pub. K-E-S-E—Five Parks)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. MCGRATH

"Redemption"

(Pub. by Julius Sieger—State Rights)

BUCKET by the box-office magic of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw’s name, and offering a story that may well be claimed to parallel in many respects the star’s own career, “Redemption” seems a production certain to gain its share of attention from State rights buyers. Then there is a further point worthy of commendation for the patron who goes to see “Redemption” in the amiable hope of viewing an off-color story is doomed to disappointment. Aside from the very slight suggestion contained in the theme of a woman fighting a grim struggle to bury the mistakes of the past, “Redemption” is clean and cut-out narrative.

In the role of a former dancer, now happily married and with her happiness crowned by the presence of a romping youngster, Evelyn Nesbit measures up well to the emotional demands made by the story. This, by the way, is a rather slender thread. The “man of the past” returns, of course, to burst the bubble of happiness. His bounding nature, indirectly, it brings about the death of the one-time actress’s husband. Misfortune dog’s steps still further as she seeks to earn a bare living—bringing in its train many dramatic moments—but finally she overcomes Fate and finds herself on the road to comfort as a fashionable modiste. The climax comes with the development of a romance to be twin her son grown to maturity and the daughter of the past mour of her stage days.

The presence of Evelyn Nesbit’s real son—he is a precocious younger, too—in the cast is only one of the points that will give “Redemption” an especial appeal to women. Julius Sieger has directed the production in adequate fashion, while the staging is never scrimp. For publicity purposes it might be well to mention that the actor playing Miss Nesbit’s son in his older years bears a striking resemblance to the Harry Thaw of pre-trial days. A touch of semblance to Stanford White is also found in the “heavy.”

First Three Hoyt Comedies

(Pub. by Two-Reel Reich)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM J. MCGRATH

Charles Hoyt’s comedies on the spoken stage were famous as laugh makers. The Selig Company have quietly during the past part of the year been engaged in making screen version of the principal ones of these famous old-time comedies. Three of them are ready in two-reel lengths and with a company of practically unknown, but capable people, Selig has managed to arrange the comedies for the screen and preserve most or all of their quaint and uproarious action and equally individual and Horatian titles. They are: "The Brass Monkey," "The Hole in the Ground," and "A Night and a Day."

To the most of the younger generation of motion picture fans they will be new and equally as entertaining and amusing as they will be to the older Hoyt vitaries of the past. They are comedy all the way and a bit refreshing after months and years of the present standard of motion picture comedies. They will be well come any place, for Joseph Richmond, who directed them, has succeeded in keeping all of the brand of Hoyt humor on top.

The principal fun-makers in the cast are William Fables and James Harris. Supporting them are Amy Demout, a 25-year-old ingenue type who has beauty, enthusiasm and much ability that should be developed for her benefit under Selig tutelage.

ORGANS

Any theatre owner who is using an organ alone can obtain information of importance—information which will make his theatre more popular.

This information is given without obligation; in fact it is offered with the idea of increasing your paid admissions.

Write for particulars to

CHAS. C. PYLE

707 Mallas Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
THE EASTERN STUDIOS

MAXINE ELLIOTT, who recently finished her second Goldwyn Picture, spent a week in Washington during the visit there of the French and English war envoys.

Miss Elliott is very much in the good graces of the officials of Great Britain and France, because of the work which she has done in France in aid of war refugees and in providing for the wounded and helpless.

Miss Elliott is shortly to leave for a port in Northern France and will continue her humanitarian work.

CAROL HALLOWAY is nursing painful bruises and scratches as the result of a "stunt" which occurred in the filming of the sixth episode of "Hearts of Flame," the big Vitagraph serial. The scene called for her and William Duncan, supposed to be escaping from a mine, to quit an artificial cave seventy feet up the side of a mountain and descend to the ground by means of a rope. She was halfway down the rope when Duncan had met with a slight delay—necessitated by the execution of two mountain lions which had appeared in his path—swung over the ledge of the rope. He caused the line to sway with such force as he descended that Miss Halloway was thrown against the rocks several times and narrowly escaped serious injury.

HOWARD IRVING YOUNG Astra-Pathe Scenarioist, called to officers' training camp at Fort Meyer, Va.

LAWRENCE SEMON, director who has been producing Big V comedies at the Los Angeles Studios, has returned to New York with his company and now is at work on a new series of comedies featuring James Aubrey. Semen and Graham Baker, author of the Big V stories, have just introduced a new and effective way of propelling a pie other than by hand power. In "Bombs and Blandings," they employed a strength testing machine such as is used at amusement parks—one of those where the fellow wallops a cushioned spring trigger with a mallet and a wooden block goes shooting up the tower.

In the place of the wooden block they used a pie, which kept right on going until it collided with the hero, who was sailing around in his aeroplane.

FIFTEEN minutes' work by Jane Cowl last week in a benefit performance for the ambulance fund of the Allied Relief agencies resulted in the raising of $14,000.

The collection of this money from the audience during the brief interval between the acts resulted in a patriotic demonstration rarely if ever equalled before in an American theatre.

Despite the fact that General Joffre was at the same hour meeting the French citizens of New York, and various welcoming organizations at the Public Library, and later visiting the Metropolitan Opera House to receive a gift of $85,000 for the orphans of France's soldiers, Miss Cowl's benefit brought into the theatre an audience representing the social, art, theatrical and professional worlds of New York's many-sided life.

A GENUINE camera fight of unusual violence resulted recently in injuries to two high-salaried actors in the support of Ethel Barrymore, the celebrated star in connection with her forthcoming screen version of "The Greatest Power." Harry S. Northrup and William B. Davidson, both players of note, were hurt. As a result of the "battle," Northrup has been obliged to wear a glove on his left hand during many scenes in the play, and Davidson has been unable to have closeups taken, owing to an injury to the bridge of his nose.

PEGGY ADAMS, who has been playing leads in various Edison-Conquest Pictures for the Forum Program, is a trifle downcast just at present. Her famous sunshine smile has not been in evidence since she discovered, several days ago, that she could not enlist as a war nurse.

Though born and educated in the Canadian Northwest, Miss Adams finds that even with eight months hospital experience behind her, her age—she is not quite eighteen—bars her from the service. Her only brother, by the way is a member of the Royal Canadian Flying Corps.

JEAN SOTHERN has promised to make personal appearances in all of the Marcus Loew theatres in New York City, where her pictures are being shown. Her first appearance will be at the Orpheum, when "A Mother's Ordeal," which is a Van Dyke-Art Drama, will be screened. Announcements by means of slides and heralds are being distributed at all the Loew houses, and it is expected that her popularity will draw crowds of unusual size on the appointed evenings.

MABEL TALIAFERRO, screen and stage star, has returned from Boston where she starred in Hall Caine's play, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," and has resumed work at the Metro-Rolfe Studio. The first of a series of new plays purchased for this star is "The Will o' the Wisp," a story of Ireland today. It was written by Katherine Kavanagh and will be directed by Tod Browning, who recently came East from the Fine Arts Studio to become a Metro director.

VIVIAN MARTIN completed a picture at the Lasky Studio under the direction of George Melford. Oh the following morning she appeared at the Morosco Studio completely tagged with the Morosco trade mark and prepared to star in a production under the direction of Robert Thornby.

A N Oriental atmosphere, with a background heralded as genuinely Egyptian, has been created by Max Tourneur in his latest production "The Undying Flame" in which Mme. Petrova makes her first appearance on the Paramount Program. Mr. Tourneur has exercised his facility for finding "foreign" streets in New York City for settings in this picture.

"New York is the most wonderful city in the world in that respect," said Mr. Tourneur. "It is polyglot not only in its population but its architecture represents the four corners of the earth. If one knows where to look, he can get almost anything in the way of scenic effects right in and about New York, that will represent Broadway to Hong Kong."

A RENLIVE camera fight for a pit in "Foleys and Blunders," they employed a strength testing machine such as is used at amusement parks—one of those where the fellow wallops a cushioned spring trigger with a mallet and a wooden block goes shooting up the tower.

DEGGY ADAMS, who has been playing leads in various Edison-Conquest Pictures for the Forum Program, is a trifle downcast just at present. Her famous sunshine smile has not been in evidence since she discovered, several days ago, that she could not enlist as a war nurse.

Though born and educated in the Canadian Northwest, Miss Adams finds that even with eight months hospital experience behind her, her age—she is not quite eighteen—bars her from the service. Her only brother, by the way is a member of the Royal Canadian Flying Corps.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL, June Elvidge and Evelyn Greeley will appear as the leading personages of "The Price of Pride" early in July. In this World-Picture Brady-Made Mr. Blackwell plays two half-brothers who are so much alike that one is convicted of a train holdup, committed by the other. This holdup, by the by, is said to be a remarkably realistic affair, particularly in the phase showing the bandits going through the Pullman sleeper and relieving the startled passengers of their money and jewelry.
“The Milky Way” is the Christie Comedy release for May 14, instead of “The Magic Maid” as first announced. This comedy offers the new Christie star, Margaret Gibson, in an entirely different type of role from any in which she has recently appeared. Miss Gibson’s first comedy under the Christie brand was “With the Mummies’ Help.” Betty Compson has just completed her work in the Christie comedy “Threads of Fate.” Miss Compson had a chance to wear her prettiest frocks in this comedy of society life.

Harry Ham, formerly of the Paramount productions and recently added to the Christie roster, is back from a hunting and fishing trip. He will soon begin work in another comedy.

“STAR DUST” is the name of a comedy now being filmed by Lule Warrington at her studios at Lankershim. “Star Dust” is reported to be a rollicking playlet dealing with the play acting of children in vacant lots. Peggy Custer has been borrowed from the Universal to take part in the Frieder comedy; Irma Sorter, who played in “Ben Blair” with Dustin Farnum, is in the cast, also George Hupp who has been featured in Bluebird releases, and Chandler House who has been featured in Laskey and Fine Arts photoplays. Among others who take part in the production are June Hovick, who makes her picture debut, Carl Miller, who played in “The Clock,” Louis Koff and Alexia Durant, character comedians, W. S. Hooser, who portrays old gentleman parts, and Mary Louise who was featured in “The Birds’ Christmas Carol.” Lule Warrington is directing the production and Gilbert Warrington is the cameraman.

The twelfth episode of “Vengeance of the West,” a Bluebird, featuring Dorothy Phillips on the beach near San Pedro. Al Santell, the Kaleem-Ham comedy director, is still confined to his bed as the result of a motor accident which broke two of his ribs.

“Sage Brush Law” is the title for the fifteenth episode of the Kalem series, “The American Girl,” which is in the process of completion under the direction of James W. Horns. The story is from the pen of Frederick B. Reichelt and deals with a vigilante committee, an attempted lynching and the preservation of law by the star, Marin Sais, who again has a chance to display her ability as a horsewoman.

Phil Lang, who is manager of production for the Kalem Company, has returned from a visit to San Francisco, where he held a conference with Robert Welles Ritchie, who is writing a new series to follow “The American Girl.” Mr. Ritchie was the author of the “Girl from Prison” series, and is a magazine writer of New York City. He joined Mr. Lang in San Francisco to go over the episodes of the new series at their studios.

HENRY P. CAULFIELD, who recently resigned as general manager of the Lone Star Film Corporation, is in New York, where he will complete plans for his future in the picture industry. John Jasper, until recently at the helm of the David Horsley production, takes Mr. Caulfield’s place at the Lone Star Studio. Mr. Jasper has come up through the ranks and has a thorough knowledge of every department of the motion picture business.

Alfred Vosburgh has been engaged by the Western Vitagraph Company to play the lead with Mary Anderson in the feature “The Pretender.” Mr. Vosburgh takes the place in this picture of Antonio Moreno who has left the Vitagraph.

The tenth episode of the “Hearts of Flame” serial is under production at the Hollywood Vitagraph Studio. The serial is directed by William Duncan and, when completed, will comprise thirty one reels. The principal roles are played by William Duncan, Carol Halloway, Joe Ryan, Walt Rogers and Errol Burns.

At the conclusion of the “Hearts of Flame” serial, Carol Halloway who is co-starring with William Duncan in the Vitagraph series, will be a featured lead on the Vitagraph Program.

Construction work on the studios of the Corona Cinecom Company has been ordered to begin about the sixteenth of this month by the President, F. E. Keeler. Mr. Keeler and other prominent members of the Corona Company have taken considerable
THE Balboa Company are expecting to begin a series of new features introducing new stars. Jockie Saunders, the Horkheimer-Mutual star, at the completion of her present story by Lee Arthur, will leave on a vacation. She expects to visit in the Hawaiian Islands and in the East. H. G. Steenbich, asst. to M. Horkheimer of the Balboa, is writing Miss Saunders' photoplays. Miss Saunders has already starred in three of Mr. Steen- bich's stories, "Sunny June," "The Wildcat," and one not yet named. Mr. Steen- bich has written a book and played called "Balboa."

Isadore Bernstein of the Bernstein film productions "for the clean-minded" has engaged Willar Hall, fiction writer, as scenarist, for the equivalent of Blum scenes. Mr. Bernstein is "Justice," the third of the "Seven Cardinal Virtues" series.

The Harold Lockwood Company intends to make another trip into Arizona or New Mexico for the purpose of filming scenes for their next story which is a take-off of life on a cattle range. Charlie Stalling, asst. director and location man, is now in Arizona looking for appropriate settings.

Fred J. Theaker, producing manager of the York-Melro, has been elected to membership in the Motion Picture Producers' Association of Los Angeles. Mr. Theaker is one of the pioneers of the film industry of southern California.

E D W A R D SLOMAN of the American Studio at Santa Barbara is directing William Russell in a five-reeler feature which is at present, without a fixed title. William Conklin, Kathleen Kirkham are in the supporting cast, while Frances Billington plays opposite Mr. Sloman.

Mary Miles Minter has finished her feature, titled "Periwinkle," at the American Studios. Prominent among her supporting cast is George Periolat who portrays an old headdress.

Cleo Madison has signed up with Captain Wilbert Melville for the production of a feature in which she will be starred. Captain Melville has just completed an up-to-date studio in Hollywood.

The Trinity Auditorium, Los Angeles, for the first time in a year, is playing a motion picture, the Williamson Brothers' latest feature, "The Submarine Eye." William G. Colvin, who has been a member of the West Coast, son of the Morosco Company for three years, is handling the Western bookings for the Williamson Brothers Submarine Corporation.

A CO-OPERATIVE farm, on which employ- ees of the Universal-Frindsen-Manu- facturing Company will raise potatoes, is the other staple necessities in order to combat the high cost of food and the threatened shortage that has been started in New Jersey, and plantation crops are looked under way.

A large tract of farming land has been obtained in the Fort Lee section, near the great Universal Studios, and a farming expert has been employed to teach the rudimen- tary and practical knowledge of crop raising.

SEEING AMERICA First
(Continued from last week)

Take Wrigley's sign away from Broad- way and it would look like a Kokomo cow trail, but what a lot of fun! Bill Hart will have his horse opera troupe while he is on the Atlantic sea coast if Mayor Mitchell will let him permit them to take a little six-shooter practice with the bullets! At that New York we hand it too you, for you sure do send a lot of regular dollars out to our town.

Its side street New York cafe with the alluring trancerance where you don't find film men. Drop into Mrs. Rector's tavern most any day for lunch and if they are in town you find Carl Ate, Julius and other Uni- versalities planning new con- quests for the films of the revolving globe. The UU wants the best. (Adv. for Rector's)

Lewis J. Selznick and Ben Bowles Hampton meet there to compare the notes they receive from their admiring friends who wish to warn them against each other. R. H. Bob Cochran takes on fuel there and accomplished no less a feat than accepting the resignation of Harry O. Davis who moved to a suburb—least he do it.

Any one thinking the film industry doesn't move with lightning speed, and in a few complete flip-flops every day, should have a cop- erator with C. R. Seeley, sales manager for Pathé. Stating that he might try the speed set by (Pathé) A. Parsons, who is an advertiser for the Freres.

Breaking bread—or glasses—while leaning on Rector's mahogany is a popular pastime. There are the ever present E. Mullen of Upahn, and Al- literation VanLoan, who tells of the virtues of Hoff- man-Bernstein productions. There were others but mem- ory does not serve kell what followed is hazy.

Forty-second street has no place for parking autos and for that reason many of the somers prefer Fifth and Spring. Last week we share a grease paint confidante, now this has his twin there most all out our way. Yes, fifth street would be the place to organize a film regiment—by conscription at least.

E. M. Horsin of the Balboa is writing Miss Saunders' photoplays. Miss Saunders has already starred in three of Mr. Steen- bich's stories, "Sunny June," "The Wildcat," and one not yet named. Mr. Steen- bich has written a book and played called "Balboa."
Next Fairbanks June 17—Title Is Changed

Walter E. Greene, president of the Art-craft Pictures Corporation, announces that the second Douglas Fairbanks-Artcraft offering will be released on June 17. The title of this production, originally "A Regular Guy," has been changed to "Wild and Woolly," and as its new name would indicate, the picture offers a story staged chiefly in the atmosphere of the great plains.

The real west is being used as the background, most of the scenes having been screened in Arizona and California. Under the direction of John Emerson, the picture is now rapidly nearing completion at the Lasky Studios, Hollywood, where Mary Pickford is also appearing in a forthcoming Artcraft release. In his new role "Doug" performs many new athletic stunts which he has been practicing for months, such as leaping into the saddle of a galloping horse, bulldozing a steer, riding a bucking broncho, throwing the lariat, etc.

The story has to do with a city youth whose wild fantasies of the great West eventually get the better of him. Clad in an immaculate cowboy attire such as is worn at a masque ball, he travels to the land of his dreams only to find that his outfit is as unique as it appeared to be on Fifth avenue in New York.

Co-Operative Profit-Sharing by K-E-S-E Men

EVERY salesman and branch manager is now a partner in K-E-S-E. With a monetary interest in the welfare of his own individual territory each representative, it is felt, will be able to supply assistance and service to exhibitors in a manner never before attained. It is for this reason that the new policy, creating a bond between exhibitors and distributors, has been adopted, according to announcement emanating from the K-E-S-E New York office last week.

In carrying out the policy of intensive distribution the Essanay sales force, which did excellent work in connection with the Essanay-Linder campaign, will be absorbed by K-E-S-E, Inc. Members of both organizations have been selected because of their ability not only to secure contracts, but to assist theatre managers in solving the problems constantly confronting them, as well as introducing novel and unique advertising suggestions. Realizing full well that only by increasing the business in every theatre can he ultimately secure the greatest volume of business out of his given territory, each representative will naturally act in the capacity of friend and adviser to every exhibitor with whom he comes in contact.

Because of his record as an exchange manager and as sales manager of the Linder campaign, E. R. Pearson has been appointed manager of sales for K-E-S-E, Inc. In discussing the change, Mr. Pearson said: "It has always been a desire of mine to be connected with an organization whose sales force was permanent, because of its ability, and paid accordingly, and whose rental prices were standardized on an equitable basis."

K-E-S-E declares that in the future, even more than in the past, exhibitors may regard to first treatment, equitable rentals, service beyond the mere contract specifications and a relationship which will make business dealings more harmonious.

When questioned in regard to this move, President George Kleine said: "Every one who has made a study of the distribution end of the motion picture industry has long since realized that lack of permanency in the personnel of any organization has been one of the greatest causes for dissatisfaction on the part of exhibitor and producer. In order to secure a sales organization of as near 100 per cent. efficiency as possible, and then keep it intact, we have made it possible for each salesman and branch manager to benefit in proportion to his actual sales ability."

"With every member of our sales organization taking the same active interest in his territory that he would if he owned the rights to our output for that particular district, it is very apparent that exhibitors will receive more co-operation and their individual needs will be better taken care of than ever before."

Thanhouser Believes in Showings for Critics

Edwin Thanhouser has small faith in the plan to abandon the special critics' showings now given on features before release to the theatres.

"Yes, I have heard of this agitation," said the head of the Thanhouser-Pathe Studio, "but I believe the present policy of advance critics' showings will be adhered to by the majority of picture producers. The reason is that the exhibitors do go by the trade press criticisms. It is true that a few years ago film reviewers were pretty largely synopsis writers. That was because the program situation of the time left the exhibitor no choice as to individual pictures, and a tip one way or the other from his trade paper didn't help much. What is the value of a tip if you can't profit by it? Accordingly there was no call for keen criticism and the trade press didn't waste space on it.
Heroine of Railroad Tales, Helen Gibson, Joins Universal

HELEN GIBSON, famed as the railroad girl, has signed with Universal, according to an announcement emanating from Universal last week. The actress, who has been termed by motion picture fans as "the most daring woman on the screen," is said to be at Universal City looking over scripts for forthcoming productions in which she will be featured.

President Carl Laemmle is said to have signed the contract with the "Railroad Girl" to appear in a series of two-reel pictures of railroad life, a type of photodrama that has brought her fame.

Miss Gibson first gained popularity as a rodeo rider, winning the Los Angeles championship, and appearing at all the huge cast supports Mae Marsh in Third Goldwyn

While Mae Marsh's first Goldwyn picture, the work of Irvin S. Cobb, is confined to a few persons, with but two reverts to so-called "mobs," it is announced her third production is one of the most lavish, and employs one of the largest casts yet recorded.

The production, from one of Margaret Mayo's stage successes, is reported to have great possibilities in a pictorial way and Miss Marsh will have the leading role once more in a picture of Hildon proportions.

Everett Shinn, the famous artist and stage director, together with Miss Mayo and Charles Horan are working on this picture in the Goldwyn Studios. George Hill, one of the ablest of cameramen, is photographing the production.

In the cast of this production are: Vernon Steele, Lucille Laverne, Wellington Playter, Charles Eldridge, George S. Trimbly, Lucille Satterthwate, Isabel Vernon, Dick Lee, Jennie Wethershary, Mary Kenneva Carr, Stephen Carr, John Carr, Helen Salingan, Viola Compton, Charles Riegel, Manry Stewart, Jr., Mary Herrlich, Mrs. L. Myles, Mrs. Sophiie Call, Louis R. Grissel, Mildred Call and J. B. Halls.

Art Dramas Not in Market for Scripts

Because of the many scripts which are received by Art Dramas for consideration, it announces that all scenarios intended for companies releasing on the Art Dramas Program should be sent direct to the respective company. They are: Apollo Pictures, Inc., 116 West Thirty-ninth street; Ergobraph Company, 203 West 146th street; Van Dyke Film Corporation, 215 West Nineteenth street, and U. S. Amusement Corporation, Socony Studio. The first three of New York, the last of New Jersey. These last-named companies, it is announced, are in the market for scripts containing original ideas.

Big Role for Gail Kane in Mutual on May 28

Gail Kane's second production for Mutual under her contract with American, "The Serpent's Tooth," has been scheduled for release May 28. It follows closely the release of "Whose Wife?" "The Serpent's Tooth" was written by Forrest Halsey, and scenarioized by Doris Schroeder. It was originally announced under the title of "Edged Tools." It was produced under the direction of Rollin S. Sturgeon.

Miss Kane is seen as a Puritan maid, the sweetheart of the village doctor, the bride of a wealthy New Yorker.

Selznick's Next Presentation Is

Norma Talmadge in "Poppy," an adaptation of Cynthia Stockley's charming novel of South African life, is the next Selznick Pictures release. Director Edward Jose, has finished cutting and assembling the picture, and it will be shown for review this week.

VITAGRAPH FEATURES

DIRECTED BY

PAUL SCARDON

THE ISLAND OF SURPRISE
HERO OF SUBMARINE
D2
THE REDEMPTION OF DAVE DARCY
A PRINCE IN A PAWN SHOP
THE DAWN OF FREEDOM
THE ROSE OF THE SOUTH
APARTMENT 29

A MEDITLER WITH DESTINY
LINCOLN BY THE NINE ARSENE LUPIN
THE HAWK
THE ALIBI
THE ENEMY
THE MAN HUNT
THE MELSTROM
THE MAYOR
PHANTOM FORTUNES
HER RIGHT TO LIVE
FEATURES—CURRENT AND COMING

Have your releases in by Saturday noon—The Exhibitor wants them.

Art Dramas, Inc.

Mar. 26. A Mother's Ordeal (Jean Sob dern), Van Dyke

May 5. The Secret of Virtue (U. S. Amuse.)

May 16. Little Miss Fortune (Seligograph)

May 17. The Thieves (Pathe)

May 24. Song of Suspense (Van Dyke)

May 25. The Relations (Bowery)

June 7. Charity Castle (Seligograph)

June 14. Golden Rod (Apollo)

Artcraf't Pictures

Mar. 5. A Poor Little Rich Girl (Mary Pickford)

Mar. 26. Broadway Jones (George M. Cohan)

Apr. 30. In Again—Out Again (Douglas Fairbanks)

Coming—A Romance of the Redwoods (Mary Pickford)

Bluherd Photoplays

Apr. 20. The Clock (Franklyn Furness and Arne Vernon)

May 7. Little Miss Nobody (Violet Merriam)

May 14. Trespass (Allen Holubar and Joseph Bonar

May 21. The Flashlight Girl (Dorothy Phillips)

May 28. A Baby's House (Dorothy Phillips and George Hernandez)

June 4. Big City (Francis Furness, Furness and Browne Vernon)

June 11. A Doll's House (Dorothy Phillips)

June 18. The Little Orphan (Ell Hall)

June 25. A Kentucky Cinderella (Kurtis)

Butterfly Productions

May 7. Eternal Love (Douglas Gerrard and Ruth Clifford)

May 14. The Phantom's Secret (Mignon Anderson, Hayward Mack and Molly Malone)

May 21. Like Wildfire (Herbert Rawlinson and Elsie Lullande)

May 28. Money Madness (Mary MacLaren and Arthur Mauro)

June 4. The Circus of Life (Zoe Rae, Higman Anderson, Emory Jobson and Pomery Cannon)

Fox Film Corporation

Apr. 16. The Derelict (Stuart Holmes)

Apr. 23. The Telltale Tale (Antonio Moreno and Anna solution)

Apr. 30. American Methods (William Par low and William D. Favorite)

Apr. 30. Royal Romans (Violet Merriam and Henry Walthall and Mary Charleson), Essanay

May 6. A Small Town Girl (Montague Lovett)

May 20. Heart and Soul (Theda Bara)

May 29. The Floral Payment (Nanette O'Neil)

May 27. The Silent Lie (Miriam Cooper)

Ivan Feature Productions

Mar. 18. Two Men and a Woman (James Morrison, Christine Mayo, Rube De Renier, Guy Combes, John Richard and Arnedo Lawrence), United, June — One Law for Both

Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay

Apr. 30. The Dangerous Trail (H. B. Warner and Charles Hamming), Selig

May 7. The Saint's Adventure (Henry Walthall and Mary Charless), Essanay

May 9. The Truthful Nurse (Nell Craig and Sidney Ainsworth), Essanay

May 17. The Lad and the Princess (George Cutt and Vere Reel), Selig

May 21. The Last Man (Leslie Curley), Essanay

May 28. The Mystery of No. 47 (Ralph Sydney and Laura Cohn)

June 11. The Ghost of Old Morro (Mabel Trumell and Robert Connors), Edison

McClure Pictures*

Mar. 5. Seven Deadly Sins. "Sloth" (Charlotte Walker, Shirley Mason, and Richard Mansfield), Columbia

May 28. The Duchess of Doubt (Emmy Wehlen), Rolo

June 4. Lady Parmade (Viola Dana), Columbia

June 11. The Haunted Pajamas (Harold Lockwood and Jack Pickford), Lasky

June 18. The Jette of the Season (Emmy Wehlen)

Mutual Film Corporation

Apr. 23. The Two Children (Margaret Ranbern, Powell)

Apr. 30. Whose Wife? (Gail Kane), American

May 7. The Gong Man (William Russell), American

May 7. Helen's Husband (Nanette O'Neil), Powell

May 14. Annie for Sale (Mary Miles Minter)

May 21. The Check Mate (Jacque Saunders), Harkheimer

May 28. The Women's Tonti (Kate Kane), American

June 4. Repulsion (Edna Goodrich), Powell

June 4. Shackles of Truth (William Russell), American

Paramount Pictures Corporation

Apr. 30. The Valentine Girl (Margaret Clarke Gorman)

Apr. 30. The Girl at Home (Vivian Martin, Margaret Clark Gorman, Mabel Trumell and Robert Connors), Selig

Apr. 30. The Heart's Desire (Marie Doro), Famous Players

May 3. Sacrifice (Margaret Illington), Lasky

May 7. The Primrose Ring (Mae Murray), Lasky

May 10. The Silent Partner (Blanche Sweet and Jack Pickford), Lasky

May 14. The Marcellini Millions (George Be son and Antonio Moreno), Selig

May 17. The Highway of Hops (Kathryn von Blome and House Peters), Monroco

May 21. Her Better Self (Pauline Frederick and Mildred McLean), Lasky

May 24. The Undying Flame (Mae, Petrosa), Lasky

May 28. Precious (Louise Huff and Jack Pickford), Pathe

May 31. Unconquered (Pamela Ware), Lasky

June 4. The Weary Ashes Held and Myrtle Stedman, Mexico

June 7. Give Realty a Chance (Vivian Martin and Jack Pickford), Lasky

June 11. The Jaguar's Claws (Susie Haya, Lasky)

June 14. The Inner Shrine (Margaret Illington), Lasky

June 18. A Roadside Enterprise (George Be son), Monroco

June 21. Heir of the Ages (House Peters), Lasky

Pathie Exchange, Inc.

Apr. 20. Sunshine and Gold (Baby Marie O' Neill, Edgar V. Miller and Kay Jackson), Pathe

May 6. Hinton's Double (Frederick Wards, Kay Jackson, Edgar V. Miller and Kay Jackson), Pathe

May 13. The Recoil (William Courtenay, Lil- lian Gish, William Raymond and Frank Belcher), Astra

May 20. The Candy Girl (Gladya Huletta, Helen Badgerly, Julian Barnes, William Bone, Thomas A. Curren, William Parks, Jr., and James Hutton), Thomas

May 27. The Iron Horse (Gertrude Berkley, Forest Wren, Helen Chadwick and Louise Harri

June 3. An Amorous Orphan (Gladya Leslie, Louise Vernon, Jean Armour, Chester Morris, Ray Collins and Justin Barnes), Edison

Sezlick Pictures

Feb. 23. The Argyle Case (Hobart Warwich)

Feb. 26. This Is the Girl She Pailed (Chos Kimball)

Mar. 1. The Eternal Sin (Florence Reha, Lasky

Apr. 2. The Realist Way (Clara Kimball)

Apr. 16. The Law of Compensation (Norma Talmad

May 13. The Man Who Made Good (Winfried Allan and Fannie Ward), Lasky

May 20. The Lonesome Wolf (Hassl Daw and Bert Lytell), Universal

May 27. The Nate's (Norma Talmad

May 27. The Millionaire Vagrant (Charles Hay), Ince-Kay Bee

May 29. The Girl with the Blue Eyes (Bliss Barricale), Ince-Kay Bee

May 29. Souls Only (Bliss Barricale and Lillian O'Keefe), Triangle

June 3. American—That's All (Jack Dever- saue), Triangle

June 2. White Arrow of the Blue Ridge (Bliss Barricale), Ince-Kay Bee

Vitagraph V.I.S.F.

Apr. 30. Her Betray (Allice Wykes and Fanny Moser)

May 7. The Captain of the Grey Horse Troop (Antonio Moreno and Dorothy Denison),Triangle

May 14. The Eighteenth Wife (Petrovty and Marc MacDonald), Triangle

May 16. Within the Law (Allice Wykes and Henry Morgan), Triangle

May 21. Glover's Rebellion (Allice Wykes and Burt Sande), Triangle

May 29. The Soul Master (Marie William)

June 4. The Magnificent Meddler (Antonio Moreno and Pauline Frederick), Triangle

June 18. The Question (Allice Wykes)

June 18. The Matchstick (Barrie Williams and Dorothy Kelly)

World Pictures

Apr. 30. The Page of Mystery (Carlye Blackwell, June Elvidge and Evelyn O'Neil), Selig

May 7. Mothers of France (Sarah Bernhardt, Ince-Warwick, Triangle

May 14. Moral Courage (Muriel Istrice and Arthur Ashley), Triangle

May 21. Yankee Puck (Ethel Clayton and Edward Langford), Triangle

May 28. Maternity (Allice Brady)

June 4. The Price (Carlye Blackwell, June Elvidge and Evelyn O'Neil), Selig

June 11. The Moral (Mabel Trumell and Gail Kane), Triangle

June 18. The Brand of the Curlew (Ethel Clayton and Edward Langford), Triangle
STATE RIGHTS—CURRENT AND COMING

For Manufacturers' Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News.

American News Weekly
One reel each week exclusively on Army and Navy activities.

American Standard M. P. Corp.
Apr. 7. Some Baby (Sunshine), C. 2 reels
Apr. 23, Superman (Sunshine), A. 1 reel
Apr. 28. Superman (Sunshine), C. 5 reels
Apr. 13. (`Educational Subject). 1 reel
Apr. 22. (`Educational Subject). 1 reel
Apr. 25. (`Educational Subject). 1 reel
May 1. The Wonder City (Sunshine). D. 1 reel
May 5. Jones’ Jonah Day (Sunshine). E. 1 reel
May 14. The Daughter of Darkness, Epis. 1 reel
May 19. Ghosts (Sunshine), C. 1 reel

Anti-Vice Film Company
Is Any Girl Safe? 5 reels

Argosy Films, Inc.
The Celebrated Nixie Case. 9 reels
Where D’ye Get That Stuff. 7 reels
Absinthe (King Baggott), Universal Re. 9 reels

Arizona Film Company
Should She Obey. 9 reels

Arrow Film Corporation
The Deenster (Dorvent Hall Game). 9 reels

Rex Beach Pictures Co.
The Barrier. 7 and 9 reels

Cardinal Film Corporation
Join The Woman (Geraldine Farrar). 11 reels

Century Comedies
(Featuring Alice Howkell). Billowing. 2 reels

Charter Features, Inc.
The Lincoln Cycle (Benjamin Chapin). One episode each week. 2 reels

Christie Film Company
Father’s Motto. 1 reel
With The Mummies’ Help. 1 reel
The Magic Mail. 1 reel
The Milky Way. 9 reels
His Last Pill. 1 reel

Claridge Films, Inc.
The Birth of Character. 3 reels
The Heart of Negro. 5 reels

Clune Productions
Ramona. 10 reels
Eyes of the World. 1 reel

Corona Cinema Company
The Curse of Eve (Gold Mark). 7 reels
Cosmofotofilm
Incomparable Mistress Bellairs. 4 reels
Liberty Hall. 9 reels
The Special. 7 reels
Victoria Cross. 4 reels

C. 18. 4 reels
His Vindication. 5 reels

Creative Film Corporation
The Girl Who Didn’t Think (Jane Gail). 6 reels

Dixie Films
Tempest and Sunshine (Evelyn gravelly). 5 reels
Just a Song at Twilight. 9 reels

Ebon Film Corporation
A Natural Born Shooter. 1 reel
But Blackhand Waits Man. 1 reel
Shine Johnson and the Rabbit’s Foot. 1 reel

E I. S. Motion Picture Corp.
Trooper 44. 5 reels

Enlightenment Corporation
Enlighten Thy Daughter. 7 reels

Eugenic Film Company
Birth. 6 reels

European Film Company
Fighting for Verdun. 5 reels

Exclusive Features, Inc.
Where is My Father? 7 reels

Frieder Film Corporation
The Devil’s Playground (Vera Michele) — 3 reels

Friedman Enterprises
A Mormon’s Love Story (Murray). 5 reels

Frohman Amusement Corp.
The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith, Jack Sherrill, Helen Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Coates). 6 reels

Conquest of Cannan. 1 reel
God’s Man. 1 reel

Germanic Official War Films
Germany and Its Army Today. 9 reels

Gold Medal Photographs
The Web of Life (Hilda Nord, James Cruse, George Spencer). 5 reels

Grand Feature Film Company
Rex Beach On the Spanish Main 5 reels
Rex Beach in Pirate Hannes. 5 reels
Rex Beach in Port of Spain. 5 reels

Graphic Features
The Woman and The Man. 5 reels

D. W. Griffith
Intolerance. 9 reels

Frank Hall Productions, Inc.
(Elder Lewis Production)
The Bar Sinister. 9 reels
Her Reckless Chance (Jane Gray). 9 reels

Hannover Film Company
Maciste — reels
How Uncle Sam (U. S.) Prepares. 4 reels

Harper Film Corporation
Civilisation. 9 reels

Hawk Film Corporation
Monster of Hate. 5 reels

Herald Film Corporation
Around the World in 80 Days. 6 reels

Hiller & Wilk, Inc.
The Bar Sinister (Elder Lewis Production). 7 reels
The Wrath of the Gods (Sessue Hayakawa). 5 reels

Hippodrome Film Co.
At the Front with the Allies. 6 reels

M. H. Hoffman, Inc.
The Sin Woman (Herbert Pendel). 5 reels
Bruce and Reine Davies. 9 reels

The Seven Cardinal Virtues. 7 reels

Honor System Booking Office
The Honor System (Milton Sills and Miriam Cooper). 10 reels

Jaxon Film Corporation
Strife (George LeGouer). 5 reels

“Pokes and Jabs” Comedies. 1 reel each

Juvenile Film Corporation
World War in Khartum. 1 reel
A Chip Off the Old Block. 1 reel
Chip’s Burglar. 1 reel
Chip’s Backyard Stormers. 2 reels
Chip’s Rival. 1 reel
For Sale. A Daddy. 1 reel
Chip’s Carmen. 2 reels

Kineticolor Corporation
Carouse. One Each Week

King Bee Comedies
Back Stage. 1 reel

Kulee Features
Germany on the Firing Line. 6 reels
France on the Firing Line. 6 reels
The Unborn (Bessie Bondhill). 5 reels

Edgar Lewis Productions
The Golden Woman. 3 reels
The Realization of a Negro’s Ambition. 2 reels
Trooper of Troop K. 3 reels

C. Post Mason Enterprises
The Wonderful City of the World (Sunshine). In N. Y. by Day and by Night). 4 reels

Masterpiece Drama Productions
Who’s Your Neighbor. 5 reels

Moral Uplift Society of America
It May Be Your Daughter. 6 reels

B. S. Moss M. P. Corporation
The Power of Evil (Margaret Nicholls). 5 reels
The Girl Who Doesn’t Know. 5 reels
Unconquered Shadows. 3 reels
In the Hands of the Law. 5 reels
One Hour (Selected from "Three Weeks"). 5 reels

Paragon Films
The Whip. 6 reels

Peter Pan Film Corporation
(Mo-toy Troops). 6 reels

Midnight Profits. 6 reels
